An inquiry was held into establishing a water supply for Dullingham, Brinkley, and Burrough Green. In normal times the supply of water to Brinkley was sufficient for their needs. But there was only one pump and in dry seasons the people had to go very early in the morning and wait a long time. Mrs Webb of Dullingham, said they had not been able to get enough water to wash their clothes, and she could not fancy drinking it after she saw a rat going into the well. The rector of Burrough Green considered the proposal absurd. There was no public water supply. The majority of the cottages were owned by absolutely poor people, everybody was jolly hard up, and now was not the time to put a large expense for a useless object on the backs of the ratepayers.

Housing hopes, p3

1924 02 04
Algernon Sydney Campkin was the last survivor of a family who had for several generations farmed land at Melbourn. In 1861 he was articled to a chemist and druggist and subsequently in 1868 succeeded to the old-established business of the late Mr William Brewster, an apothecary of some eminence in Rose Crescent, Cambridge, which he very successfully conducted up to the time of his death.

Old Chesterton allotments, p4

1924 02 05
Sir - I know of one Church which has but two doors for the congregation which also admits to two galleries as well as the body of the Church. Just what would happen should a fire break out? One has not forgotten the mad scramble at the old Barnwell theatre during a lantern service. It was due to overheating of the hot water apparatus, which emitted clouds of steam, which the terrified congregation imagined was smoke. Then someone shouted “fire” and there was a wild stampede for the exits, people screamed, were trampled on, and many fainted. Such an experience is not desired again. The one thing in the churches favour against a panic is that they are scarcely ever full. – “Churchman”

Herbert Robinson expansion, p3*

1924 02 06
Protection of birds, p3
Wallman, taxi cab bankruptcy, p5
Advertising Cambridge, p6

1924 02 07
Non-parlour houses, p4

1924 02 08
Greene King brewery applied for an off-licence to sell spirits, beer etc by retail at the Bury Ale Stores, Sutton. The trade in bottled beer had increased enormously since the war and the price had also increased. A pin of beer, which was 4 ½ gallons, cost 4s. before the war, now it cost 11s.; three dozen bottles of pale ale could be purchased for 7s.6d. and today the price was 15s. Licensed houses were thicker in Sutton High Street than in any other part of Cambridgeshire but people in private houses did not send their maids down to the public houses, they liked their orders delivered at the door.

1924 02 09
Cambridge council heard that 240 slum houses still remained and none had been treated except where the structural condition was so unsafe that the buildings had to be abandoned. The slums were getting worse and worse and there was no means of cleaning them. Some small cottages should be built to relieve the pressure so there might be transition from houses which were quite unfit for human habitation. But if they built such houses they would later have to spend money on sanatorium treatment. There would be no room for air space, and they would be a disgrace to Cambridge

1924 02 09
As a motor lorry, owned by Mr Parnell of Stretham and laden with 500 cans of petrol was approaching the Milton railway level crossing at a very slow speed the driver found the gates were closed to allow trains to pass. He applied his brakes, but they would not act and the lorry, which carried a very heavy load, smashed through the nearest gate, and stopped with the back part blocking the line. A coal train was approaching from Histon and a light engine from Chesterton Junction and quick action was necessary to avoid a serious accident. Gatekeeper Ernest Carter seized some fog signals and was able to stop the coal train and similar action taken by Patrol-Leader F.B. Pearson. The line was blocked for over an hour by which time the lorry was, after a small repair, able to proceed on the journey.

1924 02 09
Cambridge dancers will have a special attraction when through the enterprise of the Cottage Dance Studio, Mr Percy Cowell and his band will visit the town. Mr Cowell, well known before the war as an entertainer at the piano, is a native of the town of whom the residents are justly proud. Since his demobilisation from the RAF he has become much sought after in London and this will be his last appearance in his home town prior to an important tour

'Moriaty' film publicity says Holmes & Watson at Cambridge, p6

1924 02 11
Pentangle Club, p3

1924 02 12
A largely attended meeting at Cherry Hinton carried unanimously a resolution urging the necessity of providing a branch reading room and library. Some said they should not ask for a library at the moment when all building was required for houses but they might ask public authorities sometimes a long time before they got anything. If they asked for a public library and reading room there was some chance they might get a box of books. (Laughter)

Gas company – houses, p3
Melbourn inquest, p3

1924 02 13
'Redeem your soul', p5

1924 02 14
The principal objects of the Milton and District Smallholders' Co-operative are the purchasing of agricultural implements for the use of members, the finding of suitable markets for their produce and generally co-operating to the best of their ability. During the last year sales of milk had realised £4,869 & the earnings of the threshing machine amounted to £423.

1924 02 14

William Salmon of Ickleton, farm foreman told the court that he saw the prisoner in and field and found he had caught a rabbit. Defendant said he had a wife and three children to keep and for the past three months he had been out of work. During that period he had no income at all, because he was not entitled to the dole. He snared the rabbit because they had nothing for dinner. The magistrates said that in the circumstances they would deal leniently with him. He would be fined 10s.

Suicide of old soldier, p5

1924 02 16
Cambridge Motor Boat Club history, p3
Roads & unemployed, p6*

1924 02 17c
"I have never known the Cambridge roads to get into such a bad state as they are at present. Take Mill Road. Here we have considerable traffic and the pedestrian and cyclist are faced with the prospect of a mud bath after every shower. To go through Trumpington road is worse than driving through a ploughed field"

1924 02 18
A meeting took place at Ely for the purpose of forming an Ely branch of the National Farmers Union. Mr Street Porter said a branch existed at Haddenham and if one was formed for Ely it would be much more convenient for his district. There were four others in the Isle of Ely – March, Wisbech, Chatteris and Whittlesey. There would be no doubt that members would derive benefits from it.

1924 02 19
At a meeting at St Ives to discuss the Ouse Drainage order Mr Wheeler said there was a vast difference in draining lands below sea level and those above. The test was a simple one. If you took all the fens works away, the fens would suffer, but St Ives would not; therefore the work was for the benefit of the fen land. But the scheme proposed that the uplands should first of all pay for works done in their own district, and in additional pay towards all the works done in the fens whose works were obstructing the flow of our water out to the sea

1924 02 19c
The inhabitants of St Ives were horror-struck upon hearing the rumour that the Vicar of Hemingford Grey had been cut to pieces on the railway bridge at Hemingford Abbotts. Shortly afterwards the story was proved beyond doubt, the remains of the reverend gentleman being conveyed to the vicarage. It is supposed he was making a visit to Houghton to arrange for some special Lenten services and when on the bridge was knocked down by a pilot engine

1924 02 21
An alarming outbreak of fire occurred at Miss Bluff's premises in Crown Street, St Ives. It appears that the chimney caught fire and was allowed to burn itself out but an hour later flames were seen issuing from the top window. Attaching their hose to the hydrant at Bridge Street the firemen soon had a plentiful supply of water pouring on the fire which was extinguished, but not before it had spread to the top floor of Mr Fred Norris' house. Fortunately there was scarcely any wind to fan the flames otherwise the block of buildings between Crown Street and Merryland would no doubt have been involved. Supt Gale and several constables kept the crowd back from hampering the firemen.

Tale of lorry, p4

1924 02 22
Ely Rural council received a letter asking if they would be willing to supply the parish of Southery with water, as their supply was unsatisfactory. An arrangement might be made whereby Downham district council laid the main to Littleport bridge and a meter be fixed at Brandon creek bridge and they could have all the water they wanted at 1s. per thousand gallons. Downham could supply all the houses on the route and lay a pipe under the river to supply Black Bank Drove.

Soham steam engine, p3*

1924 02 23
A Gamlingay bird catcher was summonsed for causing unnecessary suffering to a linnet. An RSPCA inspector said he saw him near a hedge. He noticed several nets used for catching birds and that he was using a linnet with a brace attached as a decoy bird. The brace was chafing its shoulder blades. Defendant replied "I have been doing this for 50 years. The farmers pay me for catching the birds". He was fined 10s, not for catching the birds but for the manner in which he caught them

Boy burglers, p2
Newmarket taxis & Newmarket housing – N.J. 24 02 23
Foresters dinner, p3

1924 02 24
Newmarket Gas Company meeting – NJ 24 02 23

1924 02 24c
A number of stormy protests were made by members of Soham parish council. It appeared useless for them to sit representing the parish and to pass resolutions and recommendations to the County Council if no steps were taken to put matters right. The county councillor should be asked to move for the reduction of the salaries of certain officials, owing to the lax manner in which they were treated at Soham.

1924 02 25
Milk recording scheme, p3

1924 02 26
McFisheries coal, p3
Burwell deficient parents, p4

1924 02 27 Ch
'Completion of a Town Improvement': two views of the opening of the extension of Brooklands Avenue. Chronicle 27 February 1924 p.7.

1924 02 28
Guildhall cellar fire, p3
Foot & mouth disease, p3
Birch for boys, p3

March 1924 CDN

1924 03 01
The jubilee dinner of the New Street Men's' Bible Class was a most successful & enjoyable affair and a revelation to outsiders of what great things may grow from small beginning. It says much for the firm foundations of the organisation that the old name of "Bible Class" is still considered best for a gathering which has grown in numbers to between three and four hundred. Long may it continue

Newmarket Masonic temple, p6*
Newmarket licensed victuallers, p6*

1924 03 03

A large number of outgoing letters, estimated at two or three hundred, were destroyed by a fire which occurred in the letter box at the Cambridge Post Office. The last collection had been made at 11.15 on Saturday night so members of the public who posted letters between that time and 2.30 on Sunday afternoon will know what has happened if irate friends accuse them of neglect in writing.

Duxford plane crash, p5
New Street Bible Class memorial, p5
Snow, p5

1924 03 04
Ten men answered summonses for gambling on Coldham's Common, Cambridge as a result of a Sunday morning raid by the police. P.C. Rowlinson said about 10am one defendant arrived at the Ammunition Hut and soon 20 were present. He continually saw them throwing coins up in the air and stoop down and pick them up. A police officer got within 20 yards of them, when they ran in every direction. One man said he was out with his whippets, he was not gambling but had picked 2d up as he did not like to see it lying on the ground. They were fined 10s each

Speeding motorists, p3
Sutton & Chatteris football, p3*

1924 03 05
Duxford flying tragedy, p6

1924 03 05c
The St Neots Licensing Association presented a petition for the extension of licensing hours to 10.30 pm instead of 10 pm during the official summer time. They said that at closing time it was quite light and many men who stopped on their allotments or played cricket until dusk found themselves too late for a glass of beer or else had to drink two or three glasses hurriedly instead of drinking it leisurely and digesting it properly. The magistrates granted the extra time between May and August.

1924 03 06
An exhumation is usually associated with something grim and sinister, but that at Over churchyard was of a reverent and honourable nature. In 1916 an enforced sojourner owing to the German occupation of Northern France passed away and was buried in what his relatives regarded as foreign soil. Now the opportunity has arrived of having his remains re-interred in his own beloved country. A French coffin was delivered at Swavesey railway station nearly a fortnight ago. After the exhumation the grave was again filled in and the tombstone re-erected.

Concealment of birth, p5
Linton workhouse sweets, p5

1924 03 07
Willingham exhumation, p5

1924 03 08
The county licensing meeting was told there were objections to the renewal of the licence of the Blue Ball, Grantchester. There were four licensed houses in the village, the population was 489, making 122 persons per house. The trade of all houses had decreased due to the decrease of the spending power of the agricultural labourer. The tenant said in addition to managing the house, he was a brick-layer's labourer. The licence was renewed

Publicans & 'summertime', p3
Whittlesford airman buried, p5

1924 03 10
Guildhall organ rebuilding, p5

1924 03 11
Felix, the feline hero of film and song, has been doing some walking extraordinary. Habituees of the Central cinema will have noticed that until recently he had a comfortable perch on the top of the pay box. To all appearances he was quite at home there, but, lured by an undergraduate, Felix was persuaded to "keep on walking" and the result is that he is to be seen on the top of the glass cover on the roof of the Great Hall of Trinity College. He has been there for well over a week now, and it is not known when and how the powers-that-be will be able to persuade him to resume his walking

Transport workers wages, p5
Willingham exhumation inquest, p5

1924 03 12
Willingham sensation, p5
Rotary annual meeting, p5

1924 03 13
A sequel to the disturbance in the Cambridge council chamber gallery was heard when the mayor warned the public as to their conduct in the council chamber. They must not show their approval or disapproval of the proceedings of the council. There was a certain amount of irony in the caution, for at the time the utterance was made no unemployed, who apparently were the cause of the commotion on the previous occasion, were present, and the occupants of the gallery included the mayoress, a county councillor and a newspaper editor.

1924 03 13
Magistrates were told that in Sawston there were five ale houses, six beer houses with "on" licences, one beer house with an "off" licence, and one grocer's licence. It was 594 paces from the Black Bull to the Greyhound, and in between these two pubs there were eight other licensed houses. On the south side of the Morning Star was the Cross Keys and the Woolpack beerhouse. On the north side was the Commander-in-Chief and the Fox beerhouse

Guildhall organ, p5

1924 03 14
A disastrous fire broke out on the premises of Mrs Baldock, at Warboys. The local manual engine was brought out, and the Ramsey Brigade was sent for, but owing to the strong wind their task was a helpless one as the flames leapt rapidly from building to building. The fire spread to Mr Dorrington's premises, Mr Allpress's carpenters shop was burnt down and several small cottages attacked. It is some time since a fire of such magnitude occurred in the locality

Malt & Hops, Ainsworth Street, p5
Punts, p6

1924 03 15
Between 400 and 500 members of the Cambridge branch of the Transport and General Workers Union employed by local contractors came out on strike. The union has been negotiating for an increase on wages as follows: Carmen 50s. lorry drivers 65s. and motor driver's mates 55s. for a 48-hour week. The coal merchants say that wages have been based on the rate of pay to agricultural workers and instead of giving an increase they are under the impression that the time has arrived when the men should have a reduction.

Labour in Newnham, p3
Willingham murder, p5
Sir – the number of small cars in England seems steadily increasing, but the difficulty in Cambridge is the garage. At Papworth we have an industry for tuberculosis ex-servicemen to make wooden garages but many people are deterred from buying since Cambridge by-laws refer to them as "temporary buildings", as opposed to a good old-fashioned coachhouse, and the Town Council requires people to take them down again after six months use. If somebody would persuade councillors to encourage the small car the men at Papworth could earn a good living. – Elsbeth Dimsdale 24 03 15

Turned on street, p6*

1924 03 16c
Sir - A disgraceful scene was witnessed today in Great Eastern Street, Cambridge, of a poor ex-soldier and his wife and family of three, including a baby, and his furniture, being put out into the streets. The man and his wife had been expecting to go into rooms, but when it was found that they had children, they received a letter refusing to take them in. There was no rent owing, so that was not the excuse. - A Looker-on 1924 03 17

Kings chapel play, p3
St Johns, Wellington Street jubilee door, p4

1924 03 18
A serious fire broke out at the large chaff factory of Messrs Fyfe of Littleport. By the time the village fire brigade arrived the whole building was a mass of flames. Throughout the night they gave their full attention to the building but were unable to save any of the valuable machinery inside, including a secret invention for meal making, known to be the only one in the world. In a very few hours all that remained was the mangled and twisted iron frames of the machinery, all of which was ruined.

1924 03 19
Defiant parents, p3
Newmarket Laureate paddocks, p4*
Saffron Walden British Legion formed, p4

1924 03 20
The village of Cherry Hinton has been agog with excitement with rumours regarding the wealth of a sexagenarian spinster, who was removed to Chesterton workhouse infirmary. The woman has been living in a little two-roomed whitewashed thatched cottage in the Chequers yard under conditions of poverty. The amount of her wealth has been subject to considerable exaggeration and the latest rumours place the figure at about £1,000. A search revealed £140 in coin of the realm, including £15 in gold, a large number of half-crowns and many smaller coins, secreted in several places in each of the rooms of the cottage, a fact that points to her having hoarded small sums for many years.

1924 03 20
Nearly 200 claims for inclusion in the Electoral register were dealt with at County Hall. One case was that of Ida Holben of Harston. She lived in a hut in a field. It was about 14 by 12 feet and contained some furniture and all her belongings. She slept there about once a month and had been away for some time. The hut was assessed separately from the land and she was not on the register elsewhere. The claim was allowed

Photographic convention meeting cancelled, p4

1924 03 21
A wooden barn containing a straw stack was completely destroyed by fire on the farm of Mess Tebbit Bros, at Toft. Mr William Hellier of St Ives had tried to telephone the Borough Fire Brigade, but could not get them. He motored to Cambridge and met the Brigade as he was entering the town. It appears that someone else had continued to try to telephone, and had done so after 20 minutes waiting

1924 03 22
Carters strike settled, p5
Cambridgeshire vicar's jubilee, p4

1924 03 24
Messrs Bailey and Tebbutt made application for possession of the King's Head public house at Cottenham on the grounds that the tenant had let the trade go down. The licensee said he thought it was because their beer was a penny a pint dearer than that of the house next door. The owners wanted another £9.16s. in rent which he could not afford, owing to bad trading conditions

1924 03 25
Ouse drainage – St Ives, p3

1924 03 26
At Saffron Walden sessions a labourer was brought up in custody on a charge of stealing a quantity of potatoes, value 9s., the property of Richard Harvey of Littlebury. P.C. Bush said he was keeping observation when he saw the prisoner come down Chestnut Avenue with a sack under his arm; he went towards Mr Harvey's potato clamp where he stopped and commenced to put something into a bag. Prisoner pleaded guilty. He had walked miles and could not get work, was hungry and wanted food. He was sentenced to one month with hard labour.

1924 03 28
Six men were injured at the Cambridge University and Town Gas Works this morning. It appears that 16 men were engaged in the oxide of iron purifier, when an explosion occurred. Oxide of iron is used in the manufacture of coal gas, and after having been in use is revivified by the generation of heat. The explosion was followed by a fire. It was found necessary to send for the Dennis motor engine so that water could be pumped from the river

Rugby in Cambridge, p5

1924 03 29
A fire broke out at the old brewery of Mrs A and B Hall, Waterside, Ely. The building involved was the painters shop in close proximity to other old buildings. There was a large consignment of paint and inflammable materials inside at the time most of which were destroyed. If the fire had occurred in the night, there might have been a serious disaster

Ouse to pay, p6

1924 03 31c
A Saffron Walden man was summoned for making false representation to obtain benefit under the Unemployment Insurance Act when he signed on for his daughter. The manager of the local unemployment office made inquiries and found that the child had been working at a laundry and was paid. The bench looked upon it as a serious offence. He was sent to prison for 14 days with hard labour.

April 1924 CDN

1924 04 01
Although but a baby in years the Great and Little Shelford and Stapleford Amateur Sports Association has already proved itself a sturdy infant, with a promising future before it. A satisfactory state of affairs was revealed at the first annual meeting. From a small meeting of 16 people has sprung a thriving Association consisting of over 100 people.

Clarendon Street, p4

1924 04 02
Lad crushed, Saffron Walden, p5*

1924 04 03
A constables passing Messrs H. Leavis' pianoforte warehouse, Regent Street, Cambridge noticed signs of fire. The whole of the upper floor of Messrs Constable's stained glass works was gutted and the glass cracked and popped. Messrs Leavis' premises seem to have suffered from the effects of water. Pianos & portions of pianos, undamaged by fire were surrounded by pools of dirty water, drops of which fell with a monotonous slash from the ceiling.

Children not enough sleep, p3

1924 04 02c
Many local boxing enthusiasts will learn with regret that the death has occurred of Cox Griffiths, the wrestling and boxing champion. His record at wrestling was a lengthy and creditable one. He had met several champions on the music hall stage. By trade he was a blacksmith and a toolmaker but he was perhaps best known as University instructor. For 20 years he was a publican in Cambridge and recently carried on business as a bottle merchant and general dealer

1924 04 05
Saffron Walden cement accident, p3
Books set in Cambridge, p6
Lighten our darkness, p6

1924 04 07
Pictures of the boat race were shown in several local picture theatres on Saturday night. At the Playhouse the Pathe film of the great contest was thrown on the screen at 8.25. The last camera from the race arrived at the Pathe studio at about 3.30. The first copy was made at 6.30 and the journey to Cambridge was made by motor. The audience cheered and roared all the way through the picture, and at the conclusion the noise was enough to bring the roof down

1924 04 07c
Cambridgeshire county council resolved to recommend to the Secretary of State the protection of chaffinch, hedgesparrow, wren, robin and other insect feeding birds and their eggs in the parishes of Cottenham, Willingham Melbourn and Burwell for the special reason that these birds consume large quantities of insects which do enormous damage to the fruit growing districts.

1924 04 08
Mr T Garrett told Landbeach and Waterbeach Labour Party that the new Labour government had received a good press to begin with but the difficult times were now coming upon them. When something to do with mining came up in parliament there were always half a hundred miners to put the case of the men. But it was quite otherwise with agriculture. They wanted an agricultural wing 50 strong for the Labour Party. They must never lose sight of their object which was to push up the wages of the agricultural labourer and secure a fair return to the smallholder for his hard toil

Road foreman motor cycles, p6*

1924 04 09
At Ely council Colonel Archer proposed the provision of non-parlour cottages with three bedrooms. Some might say a working man was entitled to his parlour. Unfortunately it was quite impossible for farm labourers to pay eight shillings a week in rent. If the council built cottages having two living rooms the tenants would use one in which to cook and to live and keep the other one "tidy. "

1924 04 09
A meeting was held at Saffron Walden cinema to incorporate a company of the Essex Regiment (Territorial Army). Previously they had a company of the Saffron Walden cyclists battalion. Unfortunately during the war the cyclists were found to be of no further use. It was the only town of any size in Essex without a territorial representation and they wanted them to supply a company of 100 to 150 men. Several young men were afterwards enrolled at the Town Hall

New bishop, p5

1924 04 11
Newmarket Rural Council heard that Messrs Lack and sons had completed the boring of the well at Reach, and the water had been analysed and found fit for drinking purposes. It was recommended that the mayor of Cambridge be asked to declare the pump open when he attends to open the Reach fair

1924 04 11
As climax to many months efforts on the part of those concerned, the stone-laying ceremony of the Trumpington Free Church Sunday school new building took place. The outside world might not look upon it as a very big thing, that somewhere in a little village in England it had been found necessary to enlarge Sunday school, but they in Trumpington knew that it meant that the Kingdom of Jesus Christ was not falling and, if in spite of all obstacles, it had triumphed there, there was the promise that one-day it would triumph everywhere.

Vivisection, p3

1924 04 15
Mr T Peake said that at the present moment there was a library in Littleport, and he could assure them that there was hardly one book in it that he would care to find a place for in his home. For many years, he believed, it had not been used, but that did not alter the fact that there was a very strong desire for a supply of good books. The Isle of Ely County Council was a very progressive one and he was sure that the members would not dare to go to their wives and tell them they had voted against the Carnegie scheme. It was very rarely a wife got anything out of the County Council - but she would certainly get something from the libraries

Disabled drivers motor club, p6

1924 04 16
Newmarket council heard there were 139 unfit houses in the town and 34 in Exning. There were a number of families whose bread-winners work in Newmarket, but for lack of houses they had been forced to get cottages in the surrounding rural districts. The council had satisfied themselves that the demand for houses could not be met without public assistance. There was no building going on, or likely to go on in the district in regard to the type of houses proposed

Cambridge town planning, p5

1924 04 17
Burwell case sequel, p5*

1924 04 19
Councillor Few said in the most populated sections of Cambridge, where men are going out and coming from work in the early hours of the morning, it was really a disgrace that they should have to find their way in darkened streets. Alderman Starr said he was surprised to hear that the railway men were not more brave in going through the streets on dark nights. The police had electric torches. The number of men engaged on night work was very small indeed, and it would be more economical for the council to supply them with torches

1924 04 19
That enterprising organisation the Cambridgeshire Band of Hope Union, under the energetic direction of Mr and Mrs David Moore, are giving the pageant of old Cambridge, "Olde Sturbridge Fair" in the Guildhall next week. This pageant was first produced in 1914 with great success. It has now been re-written and includes a weird and fantastic scene with a witch and her retinue of Cambridgeshire imps, with which she hopes to work dire evil on Cambridge town. It is hoped schoolteachers will take parties of children to see this locally historical pageant

Wilburton cycle fatality, p5
Byron centenary, p6

1924 04 20c
Walter Flack said he was driving a tumbril cart along Emmanuel Road, Cambridge, and when he got to the corner he saw that tarring was in progress. He took a wide sweep to avoid an accident and a labourer shouted to him to get off the tar. He stopped and got out because his horse was restive and asked why he was shouting, when he was hit over head with a broom, knocking him to his knees. The wound was 11 inches long, penetrating to the bone. He was taken home in the police ambulance. John Mayes, a cinema attendant, said he was pulling the advertisement trolley of the Central cinema and saw the occurrence

1924 04 22
Easter holiday, p5
Brush with broom, p5*

1924 04 23
In the early hours of Easter Monday morning a fire broke out at Great Mortimer's Farm, Ashdon, owned by Mr Thomas Reeve. His wife was awakened by the coughing of the children and found the house was in flames. She at once raised an alarm and the police and Saffron Walden fire brigade were sent for. In the meantime neighbours succeeded in removing horses and stock from the farm buildings, and the machinery and buildings were save by their united efforts. The fire brigade arrived but owing to the bad state of the lane leading from the main road to the farm, it was impossible to get the engine up to the site of the fire & the house was entirely destroyed

St Ives town hall, p5

1924 04 24
Old Stourbridge Fair pageant, p5

1924 04 25
Six standpipes had been supplied to Fulbourn, when there were 12 houses with their own water supply. These houses had since been sold by the Charity owning them and had passed into different hands. The owner of the house to which one particular pipe was attached objected to it being used by others, and the only course to adopt was to ask the Cambridge Water Company to install a standpipe at the cost of £6 per year. Mr Jackson said there was a pipe within 150 yards of the area concerned, and he could not see why this additional pipe should be a charge on the parish. Other people had to come much further than that

1924 04 25
A consistory court heard a petition by the vicar of St Andrew the Great, Cambridge, for permission to sell to the corporation a strip of land in the church grounds required for street widening purposes. They all knew that the streets were hopelessly inadequate to deal with the volume of traffic which passed through. The only possible alternative would be to pull down the front of Christ College. If that strip of churchyard were taken and added to the street there might be less risk of accident, and the church would not press the claims of the dead at the expense of the claims of the living

Cars on King's Parade, p5

1924 04 26
The new showroom of Messrs Herbert Robinson Ltd, Regent Street, Cambridge was formally opened. There is room for the display of 15 cars at a time, and those at present on view include such well known makes as Vauxhall, Fiat, Hillman, Citroen, Daimler and Calthorpe, all of the latest type. Demonstration runs will be given, with no obligation to buy. They will take your present motor car in part exchange for a new one, and arrange deferred payments if you wish.

1924 04 26
"A regular hive of industry, without a drone" and "one of the most thrifty and industrious parishes in England" were remarks when presentations were made to the Rev John Cyprian Rust who has carried through 50 years of faithful and devout service as vicar of Soham. Looking back he had seen the closing down of several beer shops and less drunkenness was his reward. People could scarcely believe how thrifty all the women had been. They had learned to live and keep a family on 14 shillings a week, supplementing it by little gains from the commons and so on.

1924 04 28
War pensions, Papworth, p5

1924 04 29
St Ives court – cycle theft, p3

1924 04 30
Sir - Cambridge council practically excludes modest women - and men - from the new bathing place, unless they are prepared to do violence to their own decent instincts. What the council practically declares is in effect, 'Go and bathe as domestic animals do, male and female all together - they never object so why should you?' What this atrocious decision means is that decent men and modest women are to be excluded from all reasonable participation in a very pleasant summer exercise - A Decent Englishwoman

1924 04 30
The Cambridge and district Co-operative Society opened at Stansted its 19th branch. This is an up-to-date grocery and provisions shop, with smart modern front and fittings, and there is no doubt that it will meet a long felt want in the district. Business was exceedingly brisk at the shop for some time after it had been declared open and many new members were made. Previously it had been supplied by a delivery service from the Bishop Stortford branch, and the convenience of now having a shop in one of the best positions in the town will be of considerable benefit

County Boys School extension, p5
Farm foreman injured, p6

May 1924 CDN

1924 05 01
There has been considerable indignation caused in St Ives by the town council's proposals to purchase the residential property known as Stanley House on the Market Hill for £1,200 & to convert the same into a town hall and offices. It is felt by the majority of the ratepayers that the building is not suitable for such a purpose, and that the cost of converting it and the upkeep afterwards will entail a very heavy expenditure on the rates. This scheme has therefore amassed a very strong opposition on the part of several of the most influential men of the town, including medical men and solicitors. A memorial has been drawn up and signed by nearly 960.

1924 05 01
Through the munificence of Sir Charles and Lady Walston, handsome iron gates in the early English style have been erected at the entrance to the King's College grounds on the Backs. Sir Charles presented them to the college. Mr A W Elwood the maker of the gates, presented the key to Lady Walston who opened them. & 2nd p6
Rototiller demonstration, p6

1924 05 02
Ouse drainage board rate – Soham refuse, p3

1924 05 03c
Sir - I have every reason to believe ignorant people are doing all they can to prevent young ladies marrying healthy and industrious blind citizens. I have myself quite recently been robbed of a good and kind little lady, residing in Romsey town, by some person secretly informing her that if she has anything to do with me she will be having a family of blind children. Nor is this by any means the only case that I know of, and as it is a false and unfair statement, and a disgrace to any of our modern British public, the time has arrived when this sort of thing should be stopped. - One of the local blind

1924 05 03
An inquest was held on a 57-year-old general labourer, in the employ of the Cambridge Brick Company, who died as a result of injuries received in a fall of earth. Charles Peters, 62, said he was working some nine feet from the deceased in a clay pit. He was picking and the deceased was filling trucks. The front fell off from the face of the pit, two tons fell. Not three minutes before the accident he had examined the top of the pit. There were two sets of railways and the clay fell between these two. The work had been carried on for many years and all were fully alive to what might happen

Royston pageant, p5*

1924 05 05
The village of Stansted was startled by a fireball which fell near the main London Road, made a sound like a big explosion, and formed a crater several feet wide. It came up again under the roadway, with another big bang, several yards away, cut through the gas main, which burnt afterwards for two hours, knocked a motor-cyclist of his machine & travelled along a line of barbed wire for 40 yards, wrecking a wooden fence and blowing up portions of the ground. It finished its career 60 yards from where it first fell. The report was heard all over the village, and many windows were blown out by the explosion. & 7th p4*

1924 05 05
With regard to the desirability of a bridge being built over the Cam at Dimock's Cote, Councillor Taylor said not one half of the members of the council knew where Dimock's Cote was. If a bridge was built it would lead from nowhere to nowhere, and would benefit no one except those who went from the North to the Newmarket races. Alderman McArthur the bridge would provide a main road from the Midlands to the East coast. A considerable amount of money had been spent on building the road up to the river, but the War Office did not want the bridge built during the war

Blind man's complaint, p5*
Dimock's Cote bridge, p3*

1924 05 06
'Mountaineering' at St John's, p3
Buntingford mystery, p3

1924 05 07
Lacons brewery broken into, p3

'Sporting guide', p4
M. come – autosuggestion, p4

1924 05 08
Elsworth farmer bankrupt, p2
Buntingford bones, p5
Lode farmer failure, p5
West Wratting estate sale, p6

1924 05 09
Musical education, p4
Sims Woodhead memorial, Papworth, p5
Moulton baker bankrupt, p5
E.C. Bateman funeral, p6

1924 05 10
At the opening of the Sir William Dunn Institute of the Cambridge University School of Biochemistry Sir Jeremiah Coleman said they had heard a great deal lately about the horrors of cancer and the necessity for co-operative effort throughout the world to deal with that great curse. He believed that the causes of that scourge would be discovered by a student who had not been thinking especially of cancer. Why should it not be done in the building in which they were assembled that day?

1924 05 10
Coming! Bronco Bill's Wild West exhibition and mammoth circus. Broncho Bill's world famous elephants. Broncho Bill's new group of performing prairie horses and 20 other big acts. Monday next, Midsummer Common, Cambridge. The great show will also visit Royston and Huntingdon - Advert

Red Cross ambulances, p5
Opening biochemistry & Papworth x-ray, p6

1924 05 12
Council defalcations, p6
Christ Church electricity, p6
Impington Hall for sale, p6
Julian Julian retires, p6

1924 05 13
An aeroplane came to grief while alighting in a field on Barton Road, Cambridge, and the pilot and two passengers had a narrow escape from serious injuries. The plane was attached to Edward's Flying Service, which provides flights from a field off Barton road. It appears that the pilot was about to land and was manoeuvring for a position suitable to the direction of the strong wind when the engine stopped, and he was forced to land. The aeroplane crashed into a hedge and turned completely over, its back being broken.

1924 05 13
Broncho Bill's circus is always a great attraction and huge crowds attended the performances at Cambridge. The programme was divided into two parts, the first half consisting of typical circus "stunts" and the second an exhibition of the wild and woolly West. The Wild West portion of the programme consists of lassooing and rope spinning, trick rifle shooting, whip stock cracking and rough riding, the whole concluding with an attack on the stage coach by Red Indians.

1924 05 14
Dimock's Cote bridge, p5

1924 05 15

Borough accountant resigns, p5

1924 05 16
Swavesey war memorial hall was formally opened. It was a day that will long be remembered, for not only does the new hall provide a lasting reminder of those who gave their lives for the country, but it will do a lot to make those who came back much happier. Swavesey was sadly in need of a place where social and educational functions could be held with the maximum of comfort, and here this pressing need is splendidly fulfilled. A large ground floor room is capable of seating about 400 people, while there is an extensive balcony, which is fitted up as a billiards room.

1924 05 17
Wyton's Hostel, Huntingdon, p6

1924 05 19
A Belgian balloonist came down at Ely in a pond ten feet deep. He was taking part in a big race from Brussels for a £2,000 prize. He crossed the Channel during the night and had a very rough journey. His balloon is said to be the smallest in existence and the pilot had to stand all the time he was in the air. It came down at Norney farm and was pulled out by Mr Herbert Cross, an Ely farmer.

1924 05 20
A number of parents from Swaffham Prior and Reach were brought before the Bottisham police court for not sending their children to Burwell School. In order to provide children over eleven years of age with a superior education it was found advisable to reorganise the schools in that area. The county education committee has provided a motor omnibus to convey the children to Burwell. Far from overcoming the objections of the parents this bus seems one of the chief sources of objection. Other parents object on the score of extra expense for packing up their children's dinners

1924 05 21
Since the beginning of this month there has been on sale Cambridgeshire Cheddar cheese, made at the Cambridge milk and cheese factory situated in Newmarket Road. This is the outcome of the co-operative cheese making school run by the County Council in conjunction with the National Farmers Union. This new venture looks like providing a successful commercial proposition and forms a convenient means of disposing of the surplus milk produced in the district.

Stretham feast parade, p3
Royston pageant, p4

1924 05 22
An unusual accident occurred at Trumpington when a student of St John's College was returning from London in De Dion Bouton two seater car. On coming round the bend on the main road the car ran into a house with devastating results. Bricks were scattered right across the road and a gaping hole in the wall was so big that it is surprising that the whole front of the house did not collapse. Fortunately no one was in the house and the front room was empty of furniture as the tenant had packed preparatory to leaving.

1924 05 23
Great interest was taken in the opening of the new swimming bath at Littleport. The club which dates from the Coronation of King Edward perhaps did not cater for everybody, but it had done something to provide a place where the boys and girls could learn to swim. At one time it was very uncommon to see people swimming in the rivers, but now it was a very common thing. The club had provided a magnificent baths for public use and organised the annual water sports which were always eagerly looked forward to.

Cambridge girls shelter, p3
Croxton storms, p6*

1924 05 24
Isle rural library, p3
Huntingdon surveyor charged, p5

1924 05 26
Cambridgeshire Regiment colours, p6

1924 05 26c
On Tuesday night West Cambridgeshire was visited with a thunderstorm considered to have been the worst since 1913. Rainfall was exceptionally heavy, indeed in many places nothing equalling it has been experienced within living memory. At Gamlingay crops in the fields suffered severely, potatoes being washed out of the soil in many places and much land was still under water next morning. In places the potato ridges were completely washed away, and great gulleys many yards wide and several feet deep were scoured out, and many tons of earth washed away. Near Potton the main road was encumbered with great banks of soil washed down from the fields above and great gaps were cut in the bank by the roadside, down which the water and mud poured on to the road like a cataract

1924 05 27
At Reach fair, in accordance with custom, the mayor and members of the corporation forsook their dignity and became boys (and one girl) again. Following the official proclamation the mayor (H.B. Bailey) performed the opening ceremony of the new village pump. His worship pumped the first jug of water and quaffed off, or rather sipped suspiciously the first glass of it. Following luncheon the mayor repaired to the field and commenced an onslaught on the coconuts. First blood in this respect was drawn by the Chief Constable but the Borough Coroner contrived to "wangle" three with one throw. The more sedate members of the corporation contented themselves with the roundabouts

'Return of Sherlock Holmes' at New Theatre, p6

1924 05 28
Sir - it is only quite recently some considerable amount of public money was spent for labour and material on Milton Road, Cambridge, and today the passage of a traction engine or heavy vehicle of some kind has simply torn the road up, and the expenditure is to all intents and purposes rendered useless. Surely the authorities whose duty it is to control the highways should take some drastic steps to stop this sort of thing happening – A.H. Reed, Cambridge

Newmarket lighting shock, p5

1924 05 29
At Cambridge council Alderman Starr said a number of buildings in Hobson Street were coming down. It would make it a 40 feet road and they believed it would eventually become a very important thoroughfare. Unfortunately they were up against a very difficult problem at the Sidney Street end because they had a bank on one side and a college on the other. But this was really a safety point because converging traffic would have a slight obstacle to pull them up

Tithes meeting, p4

1924 05 31
Cheap petrol, p6*

June 1924 CDN

1924 06 02
Judging from the attendance at the second of the dances held on Christ's Pieces this departure has evidently caught on with the townsfolk, who attended in large numbers, both as dancers and spectators. There was, in addition, a fair sprinkling of undergraduates. With such good music as is provided, and with the dances carried through in such an efficient manner, they are bound to provide a welcome addition to the entertainments of the town and materially continue to a "Brighter Cambridge"

1924 06 03
In the list of King's birthday honours Mr Fred Hiam, the well known agriculturist, receives a knighthood. During the war his expert knowledge made him a fitting person to hold the post of Director of Vegetable Supplies and in 1918 he dealt entirely with the whole of the potato crop of Great Britain. That crop as so plentiful that some could be spared for other countries. Sir Frederick was born at Upwell, and when he was two years of age his father removed to Mepal. He then went to London to sell potatoes there and in a few years grew more than he could sell. He now owns 8,000 acres of land in the Isle of Ely

Pilgrim preachers, p3

1924 06 04
An Italian organ grinder was charged with assaulting Herbert Ager, organ grinder at St Ives. He pleaded guilty. Ager said he travelled the country with a young man from Hammersmith who had lost both arms. They had an organ. He was in Crown Street tuning his organ and while he was so doing defendant came up and hit him. Defendant said he hit the fellow because he had been playing in the town on Monday and then began again on Tuesday. He could not get any money when the other one was playing

1924 06 05
At Cambridge police court the Town Clerk applied for an order for a mentally defective girl to be sent to a certified school at Colchester. If she remained at home she might deteriorate and the parents could not give the special protection she needed. The parents declined their consent, saying that two children had already been sent and one had died away from home. The mother was much distressed and did not think the child would go willingly. The bench concluded it was better for the child to go to the school

Linton workhouse theft, p5*

1924 06 07
A distressing story of a little girl's death in her father's factory at Mepal was told at an inquest. The father was a contractor and farmer. He had a Lister electric engine and plant which was used for cooking meat in bad weather. There was an ice box to it, and they were also able to make electric light for his own purpose and to grind sausage meat. He saw his daughter go across to the shop. A little while afterwards he went into the granary and saw his daughter hanging by her hair.

1924 06 07
The landlord of the New Inn Swavesey was summoned for riding a cycle without a light. It was on the night of the village feast and he was seen hanging on to a motor cycle, with two other cyclists at the time. Defendant explained that he lit his lamp against the Black Horse. He took hold of his friend's shoulder, who was on a motor cycle, and his light went out against the Sun public house owing to a bump in the surface of the road, where it was being repaired. Fined 5s.

1924 06 10
Ye good people of Harston enjoyed themselves right merrily in the grounds of Harston manner when country revels and a pageant were held on behalf of the village hall building fund. The entertainments are part and parcel of a great endeavour throughout the whole country to make our village life more attractive, and to add to the moral welfare of our communities in an age where the attractions of city and industrial life tend to depopulate our country districts and to lower the standard of moral as well as physical health.

Waterproof Whitsun, p6

1924 06 12
An eleven year old schoolboy was charged with stealing five boxes of chocolates, a quantity of sweets and oranges, and a tin of salmon the property of Mrs Susan Bird, confectioner, High Street, Soham. On Friday night the articles were safe in her shop window when she locked up at 10 o'clock. The defendant was standing against the same pane of the window that was afterwards found smashed. The boy said: “I broke the window with my hand”. He had been sentenced at a previous court to three strokes with the birch rod. He was sent to an industrial school until he is 16 years of age.

1924 06 12
At Linton Rural District Council the chairman said the County Council wished to take over the roads at present controlled and repaired by their council, and pointed out the County had already taken over the main roads in Linton district, and were keeping them up at a cost of £165 per mile, whereas Linton council were maintaining in a good state 100 miles of road at a cost of about £70 per mile. It was agreed that the present system worked very well and they should resist any attempt to take over their roads

Proportional representation, p3
Late Hatterseley, p3

1924 06 14
Stretham – Stanley builder shot, suicide, p5

1924 06 14c
On Thursday last we published a description of a lad who had been missing from his Newmarket home. Before 10 o'clock on the following morning a telegram was received by his parents stating that he had been seen in Cambridge. The mother at once took train, and on the arrival found the lad safe and well. It appears the boy had determined to run away from home. He made for Cambridge and, getting a lift on a brewers dray, arrived at the town. The parents wish to thank the Cambridge Daily News for publishing the description which has been the means of relieving their anxiety as to their boy.

1924 06 16
Many in Cambridge associated with Poor Law work will regret the death of Mr Luke Hosegood, who for 37 years was master of the workhouse in Mill Road. He was appointed schoolmaster in 1870 when there were 150 children at the Workhouse, and when tuition had to be provided for them there. In April 1883 a serious fire occurred in the men’s infirmary. His brave conduct and self-possession was the means of preventing any loss of life. In recognition of his prompt work and meritorious conduct in rescuing some of the inmates he was presented with a testimonial

1924 06 16
We regret to announce the death of Mr James Odell Vinter, one of the ablest and best known public men in connection with county administration, licensing and agricultural finance. He founded in 1869 the firm who carry on an extensive wholesale coal distributing business. He was also the author of the sliding scale of pay for the County Police, based on the price of bread, much appreciated by members of the Force

Motor cycle accident, Christ’s Lane, p3

1924 06 17
A shocking and revolting case of carelessness and callousness on the part of a mother was revealed at Bottisham police court. An NSPCC inspector said he saw two younger children in a very dirty and neglected state. Their bodies were verminous and their clothing, which was filthy and ragged, emitted a very offensive smell. He went on to describe the perambulator in which he saw the baby child and the shockingly filthy conditions prevailing in the only bedroom in the house. The mother was sentenced to a month's imprisonment without hard labour.

1924 06 18
There was a large meetings of Ely ratepayers when the proposed electricity schemes were under consideration. It would be possible to use a 30-watt lamp for 22 hours for a penny. All-electric cooking resulted in an average consumption of 360 units per head per annum, the cost being approximately £2.5s. for each person. If a public bath could be erected adjacent to the electricity works, the exhaust heat from the engine could be very economically utilised and be ample to cover the utmost requirements of the baths.

Fitzwilliam Museum Marley galleries, p5
Stretham garden fete, p5

1924 06 18c
The inquest took place upon the body of a Soham farmer and publican who was found hanging dead in a granary. His son saw him the previous day and there seemed nothing the matter with him, but when he asked if he would come with him to his work deceased replied he had "water springs" (biliousness). He had been attended for bronchitis and his one trouble was that he could not walk as far as he used to, his legs being rather bad. As deceased did not return for dinner that day he searched for him. The far end of the granary was dark and he was going to strike a match when a boy opened the door and he saw deceased hanging from a beam.

1924 06 19
Adolphus Ward, Peterhouse death, p5
Solicitor bankrupt – Kleno co, p6
Upware smallholders failure – Creek, p6

1924 06 20
The funeral of the late Mr Jabez Gurteen, head of the well-known manufacturing firm took place at Haverhill and was the occasion of a remarkable display of sympathy and respect. Flags were flying half-mast at the parish church, the town hall, & Chauntry Mills (Messrs Gurteen's factories) and all places of business in the town were closed during the funeral proceedings.

Suicide Walter Cross, Soham farmer & publican, p5*
Leys School sanatorium opened, p6

1924 06 21
Profound regret will be felt in Cambridge at the news of the tragic fate of Mr George Leigh Mallory in the Mount Everest Expedition. He won a scholarship at Magdalene and was very well known in the University as assistant secretary of the Local Lectures Syndicate.

Workhouse fire recalled, p6*
.
1924 06 23
A dispute which was caused by a puddle of water resulted in an assault case coming before Cambridge court. Mrs C- stated that Mrs P- threw some water down in front of her house in Clement Place, witness asked her to sweep it away, but she refused. Mrs P- then rushed at her and held her hands while Mrs S- hit her in the face. When Mrs P- let her hands go defendant struck her with a broom and caused blood to flow. She objected to the water because she had just scrubbed down the front of her house and children were paddling in it

1924 06 23

Some half-score useful horses were offered for sale at Cambridge's Midsummer Horse Fair. Included in the vehicles offered for sale was one Ford touring car – this strikes a progressive note – an attractive living waggon with rubber-tyred wheels, a pair-horse brake, a dog-cart and a governess cart were also offered, good prices being obtained for the majority

AAA championships, Abrahams, Woods, p4
Midsummer Fair, p4

1924 06 24
Photographers mecca, p3*
Moriaty death, p6
Cecil Sharpe death, p6
Saffron Walden boy sleeping workshop, p6

1924 06 25
Midsummer horse fair – car, p5*

1924 06 26
A meeting of Ely ratepayers to consider the proposed scheme of electricity was told that in some towns the Electricity Company made a practice of putting in a light into a small cottage where it would not be possible for the tenant to pay the current rate. The light was put in the living room at a standard rate of £1 per year. It meant that every house had a light and used it because it was cheaper than oil lamps. The engineer said the rate was 6d per week per 30 watt lamp.

1924 06 27
For the provision of an excellent ground the members of the recently-formed Haverhill Primitive Methodist Church Tennis Club are indebted to the generosity of Mr Edward Darking who has kindly placed capital accommodation at the disposal of the club in Greenfields. At the opening he spoke of the pleasure connected with such a pure and clean game as tennis. The two double courts were then occupied by clubs formed by the West End and Old Independent Churches who gave an exhibition display

Trumpington Street paving, p3
Ortona buses, p6

1924 06 28
Midsummer Fair
Library local and drama collection, p6

1924 06 28c
Cambridge men have become very prominent in the photographic world. Famous are the remarkable examples of colour photography produced by Mr F.J. Stoakley, and the fine examples of pictorial photography by D.J. Scott, Palmer Clarke and others, not forgetting the clever natural history studies by Mr W. Farren. Cambridge is also noted for its very large numbers of lady photographers.

1924 06 30
Jardwick rag & bone man, p3

1924 06 30c
As one of Thurston's traction engines was nearing Fenstanton the middle of the three trolleys it was drawing was noticed to be on fire. The flames quickly spread and the organ of the motor scenic railway, was soon well alight. As no water could be procured sand from the gravel pits was thrown over the fire but the flames proved too strong and the whole organ and the trolley upon which it was mounted completely collapsed. It is suggested the outbreak was due to a spark from the engine which found its way through the protecting wire gauze on top of the chimney.

July 1924 CDN

1924 07 01c
It was alleged that because a Milton smallholder did not have a fried egg with his breakfast of fried bacon, fried onions and milk sop he assaulted his wife, striking her with his cap, a frying pan, and his hand. The magistrates, after a lengthy hearing, dismissed the case and gave both parties some excellent advice and warned them not to appear at Court again.

1924 07 01
Abbey United Football Club's record for the first three seasons of its existence is one of which they are justifiably proud. After winning Div.III and Div.II of the Cambs League in successive seasons, the club finished last season runners-up to St Ives in Div.I and failed to do the "hat trick" by a single point

Police presentation, p5
Swaffham Prior parents strike, 6
8 o'clock closing, p6
Workhouse refusal, p6

1924 07 03
New infirmary building, p5

1924 07 04
Ely magistrates were occupied for some considerable time when an assault alleged to have taken place on a train came before them. The complainant, a poultry dealer, said he entered the restaurant car and asked for salmon. The attendant came back and said "The chef says you cannot have the salmon, as we may eat it for dinner". He was offered Welsh rarebit but did not know what that meant. This seemed to annoy the steward who struck him under the chin. Another poultry dealer said that some of the waiters were saucy sometimes, but she always put them in their place.

Linton vagrants, p5*

1924 07 05c
The Chief Constable reported that during the last quarter 40 indictable crimes were reported for which 18 persons (one female) were charged. Of these four were discharged, one imprisoned, one whipped, six fined, three bound over, one committed to industrial school and two committed for trial. 1,245 vagrants were relieved. At Linton certain action had been taken to make it a place that tramps had no wish to go – and the result was that neighbouring workhouses had an undue number of tramps on their books.

1924 07 05
Building dispute, p5
Whippet racing, p5
George Mallory, p6

1924 07 07
Builders strike, p5&
Harlton police request, p6

1924 07 08
The quality of the entertainment presented by the People's Theatre, East Rd, Cambridge, by Mr James Weight is, with occasional lapses, "getting better and better". Messrs Harvey and Taylor's "Boom" company provides enough laughter in the two hours' programme to make even "Dismal Jimmy" unbend. Miss Dorothy Owen, is a charming soubrette with a speciality as a clever child mimic, and Will Osborne, a light comedian, is no stranger to Cambridge. He did much concert work on behalf of Addenbrooke's Hospital in the war days 24 07 08

Royal visit Papworth, p5
Newmarket building strike, p5

1924 07 09
Papworth royalty filmed by Pointer, Victoria Cinema, p5

1924 07 11
Within the space of a quarter of an hour three casualties were admitted to Addenbrooke's Hospital last night. The first was Mr Sidney Fuller of the Toll House, Beck Row. He was loading a truck on a light railway when it tipped and fell on him. While at the Conservative fete at Madingley Mrs Eliza Armitage slipped and broke her right leg and Jack Everitt of Cheveley Hall (3) was conveyed for treatment of a broken leg sustained by falling on a heap of stones

1924 07 11
King's Meadow and Fellow's Garden made an ideal setting for such a gay function as the Cambridge Pageant and Gala held there yesterday. The chief attraction was the pageant depicting Stourbridge Fair in 1450, a brilliant affair for which the Women's Institutes were responsible. Over 500 performers took part. Among the gay throng were monks and nuns in the sober habits of their orders and an undergraduate or two. Morris dancers, jongleurs and mummers, with a dancing bear have a merry performance

Newmarket sports, p5*

1924 07 12
Cambridge is shortly to lose a rendezvous which has become very popular in the years succeeding the war. I refer to the "Dug-Out" which, with the Black Swan public house next door (in Guildhall Place) has been sold to the University Catholic Association. It is their intention to transform the premises into a centre for Roman Catholic undergraduates

1924 07 15c
Matters appear to be practically at a standstill in connection with the local building dispute. Meetings of each side are being held but any possibility of a joint meeting seems as far away as it was a week ago when the strike began. A demonstration organised by the building trades operatives and the Cambridge Labour Party was held on Parker's Piece

1924 07 14
About 380 spend a very enjoyable evening in the picturesque grounds of "Primrose Croft", Primrose St, Cambridge when a very successful al fresco open-air dance was held there, Sewell's orchestra providing the music. The grounds ere prettily illuminated with fairy lamps, Chinese lanterns and the like, and every provision was made for the comfort of the dancers. The lighting scheme has been considerably improved. The next dance will take place on Wednesday

Student demonstration, p3*
Death Professor Marshall, p3
Two Haverhills, p4

1924 07 16
Albert Sory told Saffron Walden magistrates that he lived in a railway carriage bungalow with his invalid mother at Arkesden. He was awaken by a noise outside and saw defendant tear down the fence and throw the gate at the bungalow and then he came along with a stick and smashed eight panes of glass. P.C. Butcher said defendant told him he did it because the bricks on which the bungalow had been built belonged to him, and he would have them. He "would either burn the place down or pull it over"

1924 07 17
Anxious to help their fund for the provision of a new Sunday schoolroom the Wesleyans of Witcham rose to the occasion when a garden fete took place in the Hall Gardens. Mrs McFall said Sunday schools of the present time were unlike those of years ago, when the younger children were taught in cellars beneath the churches. Little children looked to their teachers and they should set a good example by leading pure and holy lives

1924 07 17
A new allotment society was formed in Cambridge at a meeting of applicants for land in the Vinery road allotments. Mr Newman said this particular land had been allocated for allotments under the Town Planning Act and the 11½ acres would be allotments for ever. (Applause). It was to be hoped they would be made to look very beautiful and that uniform fencing would be erected. The Central Allotments Council hoped to eventually take the whole of the allotments from the Town Council and would be able to run them much better.

1924 07 18
The Cambs Horticultural Society are deeply to be commiserated with upon the continued bad luck in the matter of weather, which permanently dogs their footsteps. It would indeed be a rare and welcome occasion is they were one day to chance upon a fine afternoon and evening for their annual show; but one fears that some of the members might not survive the shock.

1924 07 21
A sad story of how an old employee of the University and Town Gas Company, bravely endeavouring to carry on with his work, although not in a fit state to do so, died practically "in harness", dropping dead in Huntingdon road was told at the inquest on the body of a man aged 59. Witness said deceased complained of his heart and said he could not help with the push-cart. Dr Apthorpe Webb said the only wonder was that he was able to do any work at all in the condition he was in.

1924 07 22
The large body of photographers from the Royal Photographic Society who visited Cambridge recently were much impressed by some very artistic coloured portraits in the window of J. Palmer Clarke's establishment in Post Office Terrace. They are something quite new, and of a very high artistic quality, as nearly like oil paintings as camera portraits are likely to be made. The method of colouring is the personal work of Mr C.E. Goodrich

1924 07 24
A rule has been established that all jockeys riding in steeplechases must wear a "Safety First" crash helmet. Congratulations are due to the enterprising Cambridge firm of Messrs Herbert Robinson who specialise in the production of "crash helmets" for the motor racing enthusiast. Realising the steeple chasing jockey was running the risk of losing his life they once again "got down to it" and have now been appointed sole suppliers of their own patent helmets to the National Hunt Committee

1924 07 28c
After a good deal of discussion the County Council agreed that the salary of Mr H. Morris, the Education Secretary be increased to £800 per annum. In the absence of the Chairman of the Education Committee (Coun. H.W. Hurrell), Coun. Fordham said that if they treasured Mr Morris fairly, he thought they would be able to retain his services for a good many years. He had been offered another much better post, but preferred to remain in Cambs.

1924 07 26
When the list of Cambridgeshire men who fell in the war was being compiled for the Memorial Chapel in Ely Cathedral there were many expressions of regret that the Borough itself had no official record of names. Most of the parishes have their own lists but there is no complete list of Cambridge names other than the sheet published at a popular price by the C.D.N. some two or three years ago, and now to be seen in the Free Library. Now there is a proposal for the provision of a roll of names in the Guildhall

1924 07 26
In the early hours of the morning the sound of tramping feet, accompanied by singing and cheering in the vicinity of Tenison Road, Cambridge, indicated that the Cambs. Territorials were returning from camp. The fact that rain set in just as they were marching out of camp, soaking them to the skin before they entrained, and that they again encountered rain at Cambridge did not seem to dampen their enthusiasm in the least.

County council salaries, p5*

1924 07 28
Builders lock out, p3*

1924 07 29
Shotgrove manor, near Saffron Walden, with a history that goes back to the days before the Norman Conquest was sold for the owner, Lady Adele Meyer, and realised £44,000. The present mansion was built in the reign of Queen Anne. Besides the mansion, the estate, which extends to some 1,080 acres, includes several farms

Prof Horrox, p3
Sidney Street setting back, p4

1924 07 30
Ely Urban councillors reported they had inspected 18 cottages in Bray's land & Newnham Street. In every house they found that the windows fitted badly, let in rain, and were very draughty. The tenants complained that they were unable to keep their goods in the larders, owing to the windows being fitted with perforated zinc, that let in the dust. A letter was read, signed by 19 of the tenants, relative to a reduction of rents which were 9s a week for the parlour type and 7s per week for the non-parlour type

1924 07 30
For a considerable time past there had been a desire on the part of many residents to acquire a suitable site for the creation of an additional 18-hole golf course and recreation ground. After inspecting several sites one on the Babraham estate was offered on favourable terms, a site which James Braid, the famous professional, declared as eminently suitable. A capital of £10,000 is required for the erection of a club house and, later on, hard and grass tennis courts and bowling and putting greens will be added. It is proposed the house shall have a thatched roof to conform with other roofs in the locality

1924 07 31
The West Cambs Fruit Growers' Association inspected Mr Robert Stephenson's new cold storage premises and fruit plantations at Burwell Little Fen. It is divided into four cold chambers, a packing shed and engine room. A large Cutler grader is to be installed. The engine and plant for cooling include a big Blackstone oil engine and Petter oil engine. The stores will accommodate about 600 tons of fruit

Captain Cook divorce, p5

August 1924 CDN

1924 08 01
The land problem has been one of the pressing anxieties of our country for many a long year, and to it has been added more recently the question of general unemployment. The jubilee presentation made by the employees of Messrs Chivers to the managing director, Mr John Chivers, is consequently of special interest, as being a tribute to one whose energy, enterprise and foresight have done so much for agriculture and manufacture. The firm now farms about 6,000 acres and gives employment to some 3,000 people in the factory and on the land. Where tens were employed, hundreds are now busy and happy and contented workers, many of them enjoying, and many of them qualifying for a stake in the business as co-partners.

Enclosing wash, p3

1924 08 02
Shippea Hill fire, p5
Folk dancing, p8
Advertising Cambridge, p6*

1924 08 04
Motor ambulance, p4

1924 08 05
A huge crowd witness Cambridge Mammoth Show events. The Rodeo displays, which were expected to be a great attraction, were disappointing. The only part of the programme that created any real enthusiasm were the steer riding, steer wrestling from an automobile and broncho riding. Montana Bob, the world's champion steer rider was the chief performer. He had no easy task in overtaking the steer and even when he had done so he had considerable difficulty in bringing it to the ground. In doing so the steer trod on his arm but he was in sufficiently good form to ride the bucking broncho a few minutes afterwards

WEA 21st, p3*

1924 08 06
A sturgeon which was caught in Hemingford Grey Mill pit was the subject of interest to a number of spectators at the MacFisheries depot in Petty Cury, Cambridge. It is understood to be the largest fish that has been caught in the locality for some years past. It weighed 185 lbs, was 8ft ½ inch in length, measured 38 inches round the girth and was 19 inches across the tail. It is though the fish reached so high up the river owing to the recent floods. The tail, fins and certain parts of the intestines were removed to the Zoological Laboratories and portions of the flesh and skin will be returned to Hemingford Grey

Struck by lightning, Eversden, p3

1924 08 07
References to the building strike was made at Cambridge Trades Council and Labour party showing that the strikers were prepared to continue the fight. They had got 1,200 operatives on the streets and there were as solid today as on the day they came out. They had not had a bricklayer or carpenter "ratting". This was the fifth week of the strike and they were not afraid if they had to continue for 20 weeks. They were going to back up the Executive and were going to win

Stone age discovery, p3

1924 08 08
Folk dance – Morris, p6*

1924 08 09
A message broadcast from 2LO last night stated that the 16-year-old son of the Rev Dawson Bolton of Haddenham, known as "Sonny", is missing. His height is five feet and he has dark hair with scar under right eye. Information should be sent to the Ely police, through Scotland Yard

Lady Mayor, p6

1924 08 11
Folk dances, p8

1924 08 12
After extensive alterations and repairs the Rendezvous cinema, Cambridge, which will now be known as the New Rendezvous, was reopened. Considerable improvement have been made in the appearance of the interior and the seating is now most commodious. At the head of a long and attractive programme is “The Cabaret Dancer” featuring Rudolph Valentino and Mae Murray. The film is good entertainment but one looks for a little more acting, especially on the part of Valentino who, as the lover, really fails to impress

Ely band concert, p3

1924 08 13
Proposed golf club, p4

1924 08 14
Linton court motor bikes, p5
Burwell flooding, p6

1924 08 16
There has been quite a fluttering in the political dovecotes at the nomination of a lady as Mayor of Cambridge. There are some anti-feminists who cannot bear the idea of a woman taking any prominent part in public life. It has been suggested that if the Liberals were determined to have a woman Mayor they should have chosen Mrs Keynes, but one can imagine the outcry if an attempt had been made to bring her back to the Council by way of the Mayoral chair

1924 08 16
Here is a piece of information that will interest those of an inquiring turn of mind. The Cambridge Public Free Library is now on the telephone and the Borough Librarian, Mr W.A. Fenton invites inquiries by 'phone on any subject. The idea is to place the whole resources of the library at the disposal of any person seeking information by phone - in fact to set up an Information Bureau

1924 08 18
A new telephone call office has been opened at Bartlow. The fee for the use of the call office, including communication with any exchange within a radius of five miles will be 2d. and it will be possible to communicate with any exchange in the United Kingdom upon payment of the call office fee, plus the appropriate trunk fee. For instance the total cost for a three minutes' conversation with a subscriber at Cambridge will be 6d and at London 1s.8d.

1924 08 19
Swimming club, p4

1924 08 20
Robert Fuller told Newmarket court that he was an agricultural labourer. He was working with James Jaggard on the Ness road, Burwell for the County Council when defendant rode up on his pedal bicycle and called them two lazy devils. He replied "If I am lazy, you must be lazy as well" whereupon defendant threw his bicycle on the ground and struck him. Defendant said he was sitting in his front room having breakfast when he saw these two men on the road doing nothing. He told them "you are wasting the ratepayers’ money. I could do more after tea that you are doing". He was a substantial farmer and annoyed to see the men wasting their time. When he though Fuller was going to strike him with a shovel he struck to protect himself. He was fined £1

Mrs Charles Lucas death, p5

1924 08 22
A dispute over the sale of a grocer's and baker's business at Duxford led to a long hearing at Cambridge County Court. Albert Andrews, The Stores, Duxford said he had had the business for six years, and desired to get rid of it, on the ground of ill-health. Defendant looked over the premises and offered him £175 for the stock and goodwill. His furniture came to the house and defendant used to come into the shop, but did not say he was dissatisfied with anything. On June 4th defendant had sent a letter and refused to complete the purchase as there was no permanent right of way to get to the back of the house and the warehouse.

1924 08 22
Much interest centred in the band concert and sports meeting held on the Vinery Road Recreation Ground, Romsey Town, Cambridge. The band contest attracted five entries – March Railway Silver Prize Band, Manea Silver Prize Band, Royston Town S.P.B., Soham Comrades' S.P.B. and Letchworth Town S.P.B. There were two contests, a march selection, won by Royston, and a test piece when only four points separated the last three bands, the winners being Soham.

Perils of stableman, p5

1924 08 23
Sir – Last night on leaving the Theatre I came up Corn Exchange Street & Guildhall Street. There was not a street lamp alight. Park Terrace, admittedly a narrow and fairly dangerous corner was worse than being in a wood in the country. Many of the by-street lamps are not lit at all. It gets dark now soon after 8.30. Have we to be in by then? Cambridge is being advertised as a holiday centre. Do people on holiday have to be in by 9 o'clock, and not go to any place of amusement – 'One who is some time out after dark'

1924 08 25
Cambridge building trade operatives decided to return to work tomorrow. Their grievance was that Cambridge should be graded as a 1s. 6d. town and not 1s. 5d. They viewed with dissatisfaction the result of the settlement of the national building trades dispute as it affects Cambridge and are returning to work only under protest and in expectation for regrading to be considered in a sympathetic manner

1924 08 26
Mr S.A. Barfield, town crier of Billericay, Essex, has resigned and has been presented with the bell he used for 40 years. A disconsolate resident once offered, through him, a pork pie for the safe return of "a fair-haired girl about 30". Another notice he was asked to cry read: "Lost, strayed, or run away: a short stout woman, supposed to have run away with the lodger. Anyone who finds her and brings her back will be well rewarded for their trouble"

1924 08 27
The Ely Urban District surveyor reported he was called by Atkin, the sewerman, who said that the flap at the sewage works had been let down by boys and that the whole of the town sewage was being held up along the low level. It was impossible to open the flap against the water and he had an opening or grip cut across the river bank from the main sewers in the grass yard, to let the water escape into the river. There were four inches of sewage and water in the bottom rooms of some of the houses. He also reported that the conveniences on the market place were completed satisfactorily and the keys were in his possession

1924 08 27
Concerning the parking of motor cars on Ely Market Hill at night the police have no objection provided no obstruction was caused. On rare occasions a large lorry or two came into the town late at night and was placed by the side of the Corn Exchange. They always left early next morning. In the case of all cars and other vehicles left on the hill, which were likely to be a danger to pedestrians the drivers were requested to move them at once.

Swiss laundry fire, p5
Shippea Hill fire, p6

1924 08 28
Haddenham was full of excitement when a crowd of about 250 residents turned out and resented the appearance of an auctioneer who had come to conduct a sale under duress for Ouse Drainage Board rates. The auctioneer made preparations to commence the sale. Then things began to get lively, and ancient eggs made their appearance and amid roars of laughter the auctioneer stood like a hero spattered with yolks of many hues. They came from all directions and showered all over him. Through all the auctioneer tried to carry on. There was a plentiful supply of "ammunition and many of the eggs made their mark on people who did not expect them

1924 08 28
The Medical Officer told Newmarket rural council that numerous wells at Soham had been found to be polluted with sewage and unfit for drinking purposes. "At present I have a list of 41 wells all of which have been condemned. As long as these wells are available to the public they will be considered as a potential source of danger. If the council take no action they are accepting a grave responsibility as any may be the starting point of an extensive epidemic of water-borne diseases"

1924 08 29
Narrow escape, p3

1924 08 30
A notable Newmarket figure has passed away. Mr Robert Rodrigo served an apprenticeship in the stable of the late Mr Tom Jennings and about 1870 became a trainer at Middleton Cottage with a string of sixteen racehorses. He became the Newmarket correspondent of "The Sportsman", "The Sporting Life" and "The Sporting Chronicle". He was a sound judge of horses and of men & his turf career was as successful as it was honourable

Duxford air crash, p3

September 1924 CDN

1924 09 01
Under the auspices of the Haverhill Motor Ambulance Fund provision has been made for removal of patients to Addenbrooke's Hospital by means of a motor lorry that has been adapted as an ambulance, this having been equipped with a stretcher secured in position by springs. Circumstances have arisen that have made it impossible to for this arrangement to be continued. There were two alternatives, the purchase of a new ambulance at a cost of £160 or the possibility that one might be obtained on loan from the Home Service Ambulance organisation.

Brighter buses, p4

1924 09 02
Florrie Forde at New Theatre, p3

1924 09 03
Sugar Beet Ely (& 4th p6)
Bourn bells, p4

1924 09 04

In accordance with the age-old custom the Fair of Stourbridge was official proclaimed by the Mayor. Also in accordance with custom, within recent years at any rate, there was no outward signs of a fair. The spectators consisted of little knots of "idle persons" but far from being ordered to depart their presence was encouraged by showers of golden-coloured coins thrown by the Mayor

Mobilising for peace, p5
Petrol prices down, p5

1924 08 08
Rodeo fiasco, Jersey, p5

1924 09 09
My fiancée said she would like a photograph of me. I was shown into a room that appeared to be an artist's studio and the artist himself appeared and produced a camera from somewhere. The man had the effrontery to treat his business as though it were an art. He shifted a blind or two in the glass roof, put a few deft folds into a velvet curtain at one side of me and returned to his instrument. I was about to adjust my features to the desired expression when I heard something click. I looked up and saw the idiot had actually exposed a plate.

1924 09 09
Mr Ernest Gates, whose munificent gift of £33,000 to complete the endowment of a School of Pathology at Cambridge University was announced last week, is one of the magnates of the Yorkshire wool industry, who do big things in a big way and employ their ample financial resources lavishly for beneficial purposes. His only son is now at Corpus Christi College.

1924 09 09
This week sees the close of the variety season at the New Theatre. There have been some good shows, which have been justly popular. In fact the varieties, as a whole, have proved so attractive to Cambridge people that many have expressed a desire to have the season extended for another two or three weeks. A great comedian is Will Fyffe. To hear this star of the Alhambra and Palladium is to be reduced to a state of collapse by the laughter his wit produces. He is a comedian with a future – and a Scotsman at that.

Newmarket Road – Heath Lodge paddocks, p5

1924 09 10
At a meeting of the Hornchurch parish council a communication from the Air Ministry was laid seeking permission to divert certain footpaths which cross the site they have acquired for the erection of a large aerodrome capable of accommodating at least 500 aeroplanes. The aerodrome, midway between London & the East Coast is to be part of a scheme for the aerial defence of London. During the war the site was used as a temporary aerodrome and pilots stationed there brought down the first four Zeppelins

C.H. Evelyn-White, death of son, p5

1924 09 11
During the restoration of the ancient church of Abington Pigotts, many interesting features have been discovered. The north door is original and bears the marks of the bullets of the Civil War period. A dignified and well-proportioned west arch, which has been bricked up for over two centuries, has been opened out. The tower has almost been rebuilt to save it from collapse. The costs have been heavy and the village consists of only three farms and 30 labourers' cottages.

Apple grading station, Cottenham, p5

1924 09 13

Central School in Cornwell, p5
Policeman potatoes, p6

1924 09 16
Haverhill church parade, p3
Ely blaze, p5
Eagle tavern outing, p5
Haddenham Ouse drainage rates, p6

1924 09 17
Mr E.W. Edwards and a friend were walking along the Bank when suddenly he saw the vivid reflection of the Ely fire. He remarked that it was lucky that there had been no outbreak in Prickwillow, as there had been another fire that evening at Chettisham. He had hardly finished his sentence when his companion turned and said, "There is a fire in Prickwillow. Look at the blaze". Mr Edwards would not believe it until someone rushed up and informed him that his motor works were on fire. An effort was made to get the motor vans out of the blazing building but it was found impossible to open the locked double doors.

1924 09 17
George Mansfield gave evidence that he started a motor service from Burwell four years ago. He bought a new bus this year. At the Swan corner in Bottisham an Ortona bus passed him and pulled on the bend, making him wait or go bumping over the green. Eventually he passed by going on the path. The Ortona was in the habit of passing him and then going very slowly in front. Defendant said Mansfield started a bus to run in front of the Ortona and take away their customers and the firm would not stand that.

Barrington blacksmith death, p6

1924 09 18
A 14-year old Ely schoolboy was summoned for driving a one-ton motor lorry at Wicken without having a driver's licence (he being too young), and a lorry driver for the American Oil Company was charged with aiding and abetting him. PC Harrison, the Wicken constable stopped the lorry and the man replied, "I only let the boy drive a little way. This will get me the sack". The police considered it a dangerous practice to allow boys to practice driving motor vehicles on the road.

1924 09 19
Haddenham sale sequel, p3*

1924 09 20
The installation of the first apple grading and packing station in Ely, which has not been completed at Cottenham, should prove a great boon to local fruit growers. It is rather unfortunate that the apple crop is so light this year but it is confidently expected enough apples will be produced to give the venture a good start. Each grower's apples will be graded separately and the one with the largest percentage of first grade will receive the best price. The impression that appears to exist that all growers would receive the same price, independent of grade, is entirely erroneous.

1924 09 20
Much interest was evinced in the wedding which took place at St Barnabas church, Cambridge. The bridegroom, PC Frederick Lilley is a member of the Borough Fire Brigade. A surprise awaited the bridal pair as they came from the church. On either side of the door were lined several firemen who with their axes formed and archway. But the greatest surprise was to find the Dennis fire engine gaily be-ribboned standing outside the church door. Both were hesitant to take their seats on the engine, but showers of confetti urged them on.

1924 09 20
Large prices were realised at the sale of the old established herd of pure-bred dairy shorthorns bred by Mr C.R. Adeane, which was held at Babraham Hall. This celebrated herd was established 28 years ago. The original object was the formation of a herd of dual purpose animals, combining constitution, milk and flesh. The cows are excellent milkers. The top price was 340 guineas, whilst another cow fetched 210 guineas. The average was a little over 81½ guineas apiece

1924 09 21
Surely the weather in 1924 harvest has given the farmers cause to grumble, when one sees the golden straw of the end of July now turned to what resembles old thatch. Very much has been stacked somehow, and when thrashed it was probably "sniff a bit". Crops generally are above the average and prices are better, but the gathering is so prolonged that farmers and labourers are tired to death of harvest work. Apples are almost a failure. Pears are fair, but almost unsaleable

Romsey Labour Club meet funding, p5
No more war demonstration, p6

1924 09 23
Milk plunger, p5

1924 09 24
Sidney Atkins lost some fowls from a hen house in a grass field on the Witcham Road, Mepal. The door was locked. It appeared to have been lifted off the ground. On the following morning PC Baker was passing the Ship Inn at Sutton, and looking over the wall saw some pullets which corresponded with those missing. Amid much struggling and crackling Atkins swore to each of the birds as he handed them to him out of a hamper.

1924 09 25
Plans for the erection of a wharf to the proposed sugar beet factory on the river near the Queen Adelaide Bridge at Ely were agreed. A second request was to fill up the disused Roswell Pits with the mud that settled out of the water with which the sugar beet would be washed. Instead of useless pits they would one day have some very good garden ground.

Rival boat builders, p6

1924 09 26
Purchase electricity supply, p5

1924 09 27
Nowadays telephones are accepted as belonging to the general order of thing that are, and even the proverbial small boy ceases to be curious. Businessmen alternately regard the telephone was an infernal nuisance or an indispensable instrument. Telephones were curiosities in 1878 when an undergraduate at Pembroke College fixed up two between his digs in St Andrew's street and a little summerhouse at the bottom of the garden. These were absolutely the first seen in Cambridge.

Haddenham filthy attack, p5
Labour meet Newmarket, p5

1924 09 29
Six Mile Bottom memorial, p5

1924 09 30
Sidney Stokes, gamekeeper of Pidley said he saw defendant come on the land with two dogs. They put up a rabbit which he shot and put in his pocket. Two more rabbits were put up, but he missed them. Defendant then looked round and saw him so he called out "It's no use, Tom. I know you. Witness asked him for the rabbit in his pocket and defendant gave it him. He was fined 30s.

October 1924 CDN

1924 10 01
Haddenham new drainage rate, p6

1924 10 02
Newmarket council discussed the erection of 12 non-parlour houses in The Rows. The Ministry would not approve them unless the fixed bath was placed in a bathroom, but they could make one by putting a partition in the scullery. Mr Challice preferred a brick copper to a gas one: "If a woman has a bit of rubbish she can burn it and keep the copper boiling. A gas copper is all very well for a lady who has a handkerchief and bit of chiffon to wash and sends the rest to Cambridge or elsewhere. But it is not the most economical for a heavy wash"

1924 10 02
When workmen arrived at a pair of council houses in the course of erection on Cambridge road, Lt Thetford, they found there had been intruders during the night who had helped themselves pretty freely to what they could find. Tools belonging to Mr Robert Rayner of Stretham and Mr Cornwell of Ely were missing. A considerable amount of timber, asbestos sheeting and other materials had been removed and a new door displaced from its hinges and taken also.

1924 10 03
Cambridge Town Football Club opened their season of dances at the Rendezvous. Full use was made of the new lighting effects that have been installed. There were some 200 present, dancing to music provided by Mr Percy Cowell. A very popular feature was a Paul Jones' dance; it will be remembered that these proved popular last year and there is no doubt that they create amusement. The organisers hope the dancing public will give them good support and further assist the club to pay off the debt on the Milton-road ground.

1924 10 04
Violent barking by his dog around Mr John Cooke, a tailor, of Norfolk St., Cambridge, at an early hour in the morning, and finding his bedroom full of smoke, he made a thrilling escape from the building. Going to the window he shouted for help and a neighbour threw him a rope. He secured the rope to a window frame at the back of the room and then lowered himself to the ground

1924 10 04
The 1924-5 edition of Spalding's Directory for Cambridge shows progress has been made with the development of various building estates and we find for the first time the names of Hawthorn Way, Harvey Goodwin Avenue, Haig Road joining Chesterton and Cam Road, and Coleridge Road which is the name given by Jesus college to the new road between Cherryhinton road and Romsey Town.

Estate to crown, p5

1924 10 07
Dr Davis made an appeal in aid of the Ely Red Cross Massage Clinic, an institution to provide the poor with the benefits of massage and medical electricity. It had been found difficult for patients to attend Addenbrooke's Hospital for treatment and for the staff there to administer treatment owing to the ever increasing number of outpatients. It also saved time and expense and, in the case of a fracture or dislocation to the leg, a patient would have to forgo treatment altogether if it was not for this local institution. The clinic had had numerous cases of accidents and relied solely on local charity for its upkeep

Swaffham Prior sale, p3

1924 10 08
Two hundred children are in attendance four nights per week at the play centres at Barnwell Abbey and New Street schools. There the number attending exceed the accommodation and the staff, one woman had 98 children to look after & voluntary help was continually breaking down. Alderman Starr asked if they were taking children from parents who wanted to go to the pictures. The centres were established some years ago under voluntary control, the Education committee providing accommodation, light and heat.

1924 10 09
The ladies who braved the elements and flocked to the University Arms Hotel had a treat such as the feminine soul loves. The middle of the large dining room was empty except for a small dais. A band discoursed dance music, and to the strains of a waltz there floated into the room a vision of beauty in a delightful blue and silver frock, trimmed with fur. She was speedily followed by another in black crepe de chine and yet another in a straight simple afternoon dress. They all went through a set programme, pausing as they entered, posing gracefully and making various graceful movement to display the Babylonish garments, and finally vanished through the entrance. All this was done with a detached, almost mechanical air, for was it not a mannequin parade organised by Miss Poupard.

1924 10 09
A Stapleford grocer told the bankruptcy court that he had started a small business pushing a barrow round the surrounding villages selling groceries, with about £3 capital. He just managed to make a living and thought he was solvent. He opened a shop last February in the hope of extending the business but it proved a failure. An auctioneer made him an offer for the business which realised £7

Linton police – airman's wife, p5

1924 10 10
Abington Pigotts church reopening, p5

1924 10 13
Those who are interested in the possibilities of farm work in Australia will be pleased to learn that the Australian migration authorities will interview applicants under the assisted passage scheme at Cambridge employment exchange. The country has room for tens of thousands of men settlers. For the farm worker who seeks richer rewards for his labour this rich young country has a special interest. It offers the thrifty and industrious the way to farm ownership and independence

1924 10 13
Saffron Walden council adopted the recommendation of the Water Committee to make a charge of 5s. a year on all users of hose for washing cars or carriages, in addition to the present rate.

Election – Lucas Tooth, p5

1924 10 16
The new motor ambulance which is being purchased by public subscription at Haverhill was on view for several hours and inspected with interest by a large number. It is the latest single-stretcher model, with new type low Ford chassis. There are special shock absorbers fitted to all wheels, balloon tyres to the rear wheels & electric lighting throughout. A seat is provided for an attendant

1924 10 17
Holiday Snaps. Why don't you make lantern slides of your holiday snaps. You will be surprised what pleasure it will give the youngsters to see themselves on the screen. Call and ask us about it. The winter evenings are coming on. Get ready for them, and make the youngsters happy. W.F. Turner, the Camera House, Trinity St, Cambridge – advert

1924 10 18
The Conservative candidate's meeting at Girton was marked by uproar. The rowdy element consisted chiefly of youths. About midway through Capt Briscoe's speech, Mr Thurlbourne, a prominent member of the Girton Labour Party entered the room and was greeted with great enthusiasm. He asked a number of questions but the answers were lost in the uproar

1924 10 18
The beginning of term finds King's college chapel out of action. A more dreary scene of ruin than the appearance of the choir could not be imagined. But it is only due to the insertion of hot water pipes and radiators underneath. Meanwhile the striking line of side chapels provides at once an altar and a church and thus has the unique experience of possessing the choir all to itself.

Babraham golf club, p5

1924 10 20
Noisy motor cycles, p3
Thanks for bike, p5

1924 10 21
The Cambridge Library committee proposes to transfer the local collection to a more easily accessible position. At the present time it is shelved on the gallery in the committee room and few people realise the wealth of material to be found. It is proposed to transfer all bound volumes to the shelves in general, but it would be fatal to allow unlimited access and it is suggested that frames be fitted with brass wire lattice. The whole collection requires to be classified so that readers may see at a glance the extent of material on any subject

1924 10 22
There was a large attendance at the election meeting at Gt Wilbraham, the schoolroom being filled. An unruly situation developed when Capt Briscoe attempted to leave, his exit being barred by a crowd of antagonists. With the aid of a police constable and a few supporters the candidate managed to reach his car and drove away amidst a derisive howl from the mob

Littleport fatal accident, p5 (inquest 25th p5)

1924 10 23
Sir – I see the Conservative press protest against the "rowdyism" at their meetings. This is the only way any audience can protest against statements which it knows to be travesties of the truth. I would like to know if Sir Douglas Newton approves of the actions of his "unofficial bodyguard", that band of British Fascists of the aristocracy who frequent his meetings. Does he approve of them assaulting defensive women as happened at Romsey Town – G.H. Crouch

1924 10 24
Folk dance display – Morris, p5

1924 10 26
Barton Parish Council they repaired fences around the recreation ground to keep the cattle in but defendant chopped down the gatepost. Six months ago he had a trench dug to improve his drainage and consequently the recreation ground was getting very marshy, the grass had got very sodden and there was a very bad smell. They had had numerous complaints

Red men of Romsey, p6

1924 10 27
How a slight cut to the hand resulted in the death of a Doddington coalman was told to the Cambridge coroner. Some coal had fallen from a sack on to his hand and fingers. His wife did not bathe it because he was a man who just washed a cut and did not tie it up. He later complained on a pain up his arm and went to bed. A doctor said he had a poisoned arm. He died in Addenbrooke's Hospital of blood poisoning.

1924 10 29
The new Town Hall at St Ives was formally opened by the Mayor. The imposing building is in the centre of the Market place. Ald. Warren said that it was 50 years since the Borough was incorporated. He was pleased the council had never allowed politics or religion to divide them and he hoped they would continue to carry on the old traditions and not conduct their debates in any acrimonious manner.

1924 10 29
Polling opened quietly this morning. Almost every village East of Cambridge was prominently placarded with bills exhorting the electors to "Vote for Briscoe". In the course of three hours our representative encountered numerous motor cars displaying Capt Briscoe's colours and only met one solitary car bearing the Labour colours. In very few places was there any show of Labour placards but some of the younger generation sported the red emblem and shrilly shouted advice to "Vote for Garratt"

1924 10 29c
At Fulbourn a considerable increase in the number of early voters was reported. Capt Briscoe's colours and motors were well in evidence. At Balsham a cluster of children displayed scraps of red ribbons and shouted, "Vote for Garratt". A tramp was seen addressing a road sweeper near Abington and urging, with all the persuasion of his kind, the necessity for England to return a Labour government. In the course of his oratorical effort the 'gentleman of the road' beat the air with a bag containing his worldly possessions. Shelford and Stapleford as usual made a great show of the pink and white but near the centre of the village a red flag was conspicuously displayed by the roadside – on a tar burner

1924 10 30
County declaration – outside County Hall, p5
St Ives auctioneer death, p6
Princess Mary visits Tapestry works, p6

1924 10 31
Lauries new arcade, p7

November 1924 CDN

1924 11 03
Sir – One evening a friend and myself decided to spend an hour at the Central Library. No sooner had we entered the building than the eyes of the watch-dog firmly covered us and continued to do so the whole of the time we were there. We took our seats and my friend took from his pocket one of his own newspapers and began to read it inaudibly. This was too much for the watchers who came forward and told him to replace the newspaper in his pocket, adding that newspapers and books bought in by the visitors were not allowed to be read in the library and writing was only allowed when copied from the papers and books there. – "Economy, impartiality and courtesy"

Tale of motor lorry, p3
Polling station humour, p4

1924 11 02
The first of a series of film displays with the object of educating public opinion of certain dread diseases was held in Newnham. Of all the dread diseases which devastated civilise countries to-day, venereal diseases were perhaps the most serious. A centre was established at Addenbrooke's where treatment was free and secret. Since 1917 the number of attendances was 11,905. The disease was so serious as to warrant the most vigorous propaganda. The responsibility of parents in the education of their children in sex matters ought not to be shirked.

Magnetic pillar, p5

1924 11 05
Four R.A.F. men had an exciting experience in an aeroplane crash at Barway. The Vickers Vimy developed engine trouble and a landing was made in a stubble field. For a score of yards the aeroplane ran along the ground at the rate of nearly 80 mph and all would have been well had not a four-foot dyke barred the way. The machine crashed into the opposite side of the dyke, its nose penetrating the earth. The impact caused the 'plane to swerve completely round and almost turn a somersault. Fortunately it rebounded on a even keel and the airmen were able to alight, only one sustaining slight injuries

1924 11 05
A feature of the concert given at St Paul's Institute was the debut of Mr Sydney Coulson's dance orchestra in Cambridge. The band comprises Mr Percy Stock (violin), Tom Boyce (saxophone & banjo), Harry Hunt, late of the New Theatre Orchestra (drums) and Mr Sydney Coulson (director) at the piano. With the dance season here the need for a good dance orchestra grows ever greater and there is no doubt that the Coulson band will be in great demand.

1924 11 06
The night of the 5th of November was clear and calm, and there was a bright moon to light the way of revellers – ideal conditions for a "rag". So evidently thought a large crowd of undergraduates and townsmen that gathered on Cambridge Market Hill in hopes. Police stood around in little groups taking a giving chaff good humouredly with the crowd. Squibs and occasional small rockets broke the peace and were heralded by faint cheers and feminine shrieks if they happened to go off in the press. The first intimation of anything interesting was the sight of a small youth, pale and very troubled looking, marching up St Andrew's street, firmly held by a constabulary hand.

Chesterton tailor's affairs, p3
Wet season & last straw, p3

1924 11 07
Counc. Doggett said Coldham's Lane was a veritable slough lately and almost impassable. Its condition had got to such a pitch that one ratepayer proposed to sow it with potatoes. Mr Rowley said £100 of material had been put on the road and they were hoping to get a grant I future. There was an extraordinary amount of traffic on the lane. It was not right to spend this money just for the sake of a cement company. In the ordinary way there was no more traffic at Cherry Hinton than there was at Teversham

1924 11 08
Cambridge undergraduates were busy today selling poppies. They were stationed in the centre of the town and in all the main thoroughfares leading thereto. Among their number were several very persistent in their efforts and "held-up" anybody – pedestrian, cyclist or motorist – who was not wearing a poppy. By way of pushing business a group of undergraduates hired a donkey and barrow, attired themselves as costers – complete with "pearlies" and other effects and went around the town rattling money boxes

1924 11 09
Cambridgeshire County Council adopted a commendation as to the construction of a bridge at Dimock's Cote. Ald Howard gave a history of what had taken place since September 1914 when the Ministry of Transport promised to pay two-thirds of the cost. In the minds of some people the bridge was not required. But Cambridge would benefit because congestion of traffic in the town would be relieved and in addition they would be opening up a very large area of valuable agricultural country. Coun. Taylor was convinced the idea was absurd. For one thing the road was too twisting for fast traffic. The bridge would need constant renewal and maintenance would cost thousands a year.

1924 11 10
Councillor Mrs Hartree was elected first lady mayor of the Borough of Cambridge. She accepted the honour as a representative of the women of Cambridge who desired to work side by side with the men in the service of their town. She had consulted some authorities, and some of the women, and it had been decided the best mode of addressing the Mayor would be "Mr Mayor" as usual. (Hear, hear and applause).

1924 11 10
Councillor Hurrell said they wanted to establish central schools in the county instead of sending children into Cambridge. It would be cheaper and give a much more effective education. Ald Jackson said it seemed to him that the idea of having a central school at Foxton would never come into being. The main idea was to take the children from Shepreth and send them to Foxton, and the parents would not have it. The distance between the villages was a mile, the bigger children were able to walk that far. That was the main objection – they would be walking leather out all the time. The parents had a hard job to make ends meet without that extra expenditure on leather.

1924 11 11
An interesting and impressive Armistice Day service was held at Clare College. The service preceded the opening of a memorial building – and extension of the college – and the unveiling by the Chancellor of the University of the roll of honour of 198 men of Clare College who fell in the war. The building was designed by Sir Giles Gilbert Scott. The ceremony included a simple commemoration, which the College has undertaken to perpetuate. The deed requires that every year on 11th November the Fellows and undergraduates, properly gowned, should assemble and the Master deposit a wreath.

1924 11 11
The visit of Mr G.K. Chesterton to lecture on "The Superstitions of the Sceptic" attracted a large audience to the Guildhall. He began by saying that a rumour had gone round suggesting that the individual who would appear would not really be G.K. Chesterton, but somebody disguised as that notorious character. He continued: "Some of you may still entertain a suspicion that the figure you see is really that of a slim undergraduate disguised with pillow and portions of doormat, and so long as you don't attempt to rush the platform and try to tear out the stuff, I am quite content you should remain under that impression" (Laughter)

1924 11 13
The deepest regret will be felt at the death of Mrs A.C. Steward, wife of the Master of Downing College. From its foundation in the dark days of 1915 she was the life and soul of the Cambridge Tipperary Club which did much to help and cheer the sorrow-stricken women of Cambridge during the anxious years of war-time, ever-ready to advise and console. When peace came they continued the club to be a centre of social enjoyment and of mutual improvement for all women without distinction of class, creed or political opinion

Live till 200, p3

1924 11 14
Compensation was approved in respect of six licensed houses, which have been closed. They were The King's head, Cottenham, The Dolphin, Waterbeach, The Little Rose at Swavesey, The Coach and Horse, Linton, The Morning Star at Sawston & The Duke of Wellington in Cambridge, licensee Mr A.S. Scales where compensation was agreed at £1,000.

1924 11 17

E.S. Montagu death, p3

1924 11 18
Massage scheme, p3
Mz Paddocks development, p5

1924 11 19
Little Barford, near St Neots, s village of 150 people in the heart of an agricultural district, has been selected as the site of a big new electrical undertaking. In this small village, at present devoted almost entirely to rural pursuits, it is intended to erect a large generating plant to supply electricity throughout an area of more than 1,600 square miles. The proposed station will cover about 43 acres and it is intended to erect houses for the workers in the neighbourhood

Bottisham vicar departs, p5

1924 11 20
Stretham school managers protest, p5

1924 11 22
A deputation from the fire brigade attended Soham Parish Council. They reported that when the recent fire occurred at Mr Horley's shop instead of calling the firemen someone forced open the fire station door and took out the Minimax fire extinguishers, one of which was damaged, while another is missing. The standpipe was also removed from its place and put behind the engine. Had it been a large fire this would have caused delay. It was agreed that only the recognised members of the Fire Brigade have the right to open the fire station door

1924 11 22
The Isle of Ely County Council had been in communication with Norfolk in regard to the reconstruction, repair and maintenance of Welney suspension bridge, which was in a very bad state. Councillor Peake said "I always fell the bally bridge will go down when I am going over it". The bridge belonged to the Ouse Drainage Board and if nothing were down they would do temporary repairs and make the bridge fit for traffic for 600 years and the tolls would remain.

1924 11 24
The death occurred at his residence, Devonshire Road, Cambridge of Mr William Saint. Born at St Ives in 1851 he came to Cambridge and started business as a builder in Hooper Street. In 188 he transferred to St Barnabas Road where the present works are situated and in 1918 it was turned into a limited company. A flourishing concern has now been built up, but the builders' strike in the early months of this year had a serious effect and gave him a great deal of worry & hastened his end

Police poor & needy fund, p6

1924 11 25
Sir – To my thinking there are, for a town the size of Cambridge, too many useless trees by half: trees that are neither useful not ornamental. Take a walk along Grange Road and look at some of the expensive villas there being ruined by trees planted in the small space of ground around them, blocking out the air and harbouring all kinds of insects. Where can you take a walk and get a view of a glorious sunset or beautiful landscape. Your vision is marred by a lot of unnecessary trees. I think a good purpose would be served if hundreds of trees were cut down and sold as cheap firing to many poor people – "An old lover of Cambridge"

1924 11 26
Agricultural wages, p3

1924 11 27

Mr Mettlebury gave a short sketch of the beginnings of Fascism in Cambridge. It had started with a group of men who went with St Douglas Newton at election time to ensure him a good hearing. Some were merely there in the hope of a 'scrap' but others had ideals. After this group had formed into the Cambridge Fascist Society assistance had been offered to various candidates, including Mr Firth as Constitutional Labour Candidate, to ensure them a hearing free from organised rowdyism. He felt confident that British Fascism in Cambridge would prevail.

1924 11 28
The Fiery Cross, which has been circulating throughout the dioceses of England since the beginning of the year, was met at the gates of St Mary the Less, Cambridge, on Thursday night by a full choral procession. It came from St Luke's Chesterton and proceeds to Tilbrook, Hunts. Wherever the fiery cross goes it has a perpetual stream of watchers. It may be described as a missionary pilgrimage, an intercession for the conversion of the heathens in England

December 1924 CDN

1924 12 01
Thank to the efforts of the Rector, the Rev. C.H. Evelyn-White, restoration and repair work has been going on at Rampton church. The rector has held the living for thirty years and has devoted himself to beautifying the church during the whole of that time. The Lord Bishop of Ely dedicated the new east window erected in memory of the men of the village who fell in the war. Other work includes the re-roofing of the south aisle and the re-building of the east wall, during which many interesting relics were found.

1924 12 01
Sir – Having lived in Derby Street, Cambridge for nearly ten years I can faithfully describe its condition. During this period not a stone has been laid on the road. On rainy days each house occupier has his own lake situate along the front. After long years of passive submission a "round robin" was sent to the authorities asking if they will lay a path for us. The answer came this week. If the tenants will pay 6s.9d. per foot frontage, all's well, as it is, in the opinion of the Council, a private street – E. Frost

1924 12 02
The question of a parking place for buses and private motor cars was discussed at some length by Cambridge town council. The Watch Committee suggested that Drummer Street should be used as a parking place for motor cars and buses. The Surveyor submitted a plan which included taking in a portion of Christ's Pieces. It was resolved that the scheme should not be entertained and a proposal be considered for constructing a parking place on Butts Green

1924 12 04
Progress is being made in connection with the erection of a bridge over the river at Chesterton but the Surveyor is overwhelmed with work. It is two or three years ago when the owner of the land necessary for the proposed bridge at Pretoria road said he was willing to sell the land at a reasonable price. Over 800 people had paid for season tickets to go over the ferry and the council got something like 25s a week in odd halfpennies for casual passengers.

1924 12 04
Stormy scenes were witnessed at the meeting of the Cambridge Trades Council and Labour Party when a resolution preventing Communists, Liberals and Conservatives from being delegates was discussed. Mr Overton explained there was no Communist party in Cambridge until March 1923. A long and bitter fight had occurred at every meeting over some phase of Communist work and this had gone on for 12 months. It got so bad that the Committee received letters from several trade unionists asking them to put a stop to the trouble. There was such a great difference between the Communist Party and the Labour Party as to make it impossible for them to work in the same organisation.

1924 12 05
Cambridge Council have asked the Ministry of Health if they are prepared to grant a subsidy in respect of wooden houses. Coun. Stubbs asked if they intended to build the workers wooden rabbit hutches to live in. Coun. Briggs said it was a retrograde matter, they ought never to touch such a thing as wooden houses in 1924. Councillor Ambrose said they were not putting houses up because they had not the men to put them up. There were rows of houses waiting for men to come along and finish them off. If they put up a wooden frame construction they would do any amount of good.
Making up of roads, p3
Parking cars, p5*

1924 12 06
There is considerably less unemployment in Cambridge. The figures at the Labour Exchange show that last year there were 806 on the live register and today it is 490. There are 200 men on relief work and the Committee have five jobs on which they could start in the near future as a means of absorbing men who might become unemployed through other work ceasing.

1924 12 06
The Town Clerk reported the receipt of a petition against the erection of a bridge over the river at Walnut Tree Avenue, Cambridge. It stated that the present extensive outlook of considerable beauty across the Commons was much appreciated by the residents and this would be practically eliminated by the approach to the proposed bridge. The value of property would be considerably depreciated.

Roadmen's wages, p3

1924 12 08
The heavy rains of the past few weeks have made the roads in the Saffron Walden district in a very bad state. The Wimbish-Thaxted roads resemble miniature rivers. At Upper Langley Green an old resident said that he had never known the roads to be in such a bad state before. In some places the roads have lately been made up, but the heavy rains have turned the surface into quagmires of mud & sand.

Saffron Walden unemployment, p5

1924 12 10
Boisterous demonstrations were witnessed in the West End of London when hundreds of Oxford and Cambridge undergraduates celebrated the annual Rugby match at played at Twickenham. There were lively scenes in His Majesty's Theatre during the performance of "Patricia", when some of the students threw glasses and four climbed from a box on to the stage and rung down the curtain. Their action was resented by the rest of the audience, including the Cambridge fifteen who played no part in the disorderly proceedings

1924 12 11
Varsity rag sequel, p6
Hanging on to lorry, p6

1924 12 12
Mr C. Phillips was born in Victoria Street Ely and started to work on the railway as an engine cleaner at Peterborough in 1876. Last year when rounding a bend near Ely, he saw one of the crossing gates left shut across the line. Unable to arrest the progress of his locomotive he crashed through the gate, part of which hung on the buffer, the other part being flung through the gateman's front window. A piece broke the Westinghouse brake pipe on the engine and caused the brakes to act. Nothing daunted Mr Phillips set to work to repair the damage, placing a penny in to stop the leakage and in five minutes the train was under way again

Christmas in shops, p5

1924 12 13
Mr C. Mapey told the Cambridge Commercial Travellers' Association that the Chamber of Commerce were advocating factory sites in the town but he would dislike to see Cambridge take on that commercial aspect her saw in the north. He believed that in time Cambridge would be a suburb of London. It was only an hour and a quarter's run from the City and in a short time they would see the Jesus College estate so developed they would not know it. The mayor said there was no need for a factory town to be hideous if they thought what they were doing when they built the factories.

Christmas, p5

1924 12 15
'Moggy' hunting, p5
Christmas – Hallack, p6*

1914 12 16
Christmas, p6

1924 12 16c
The Maypole Dairy establishment in the Cury, Cambridge, is probably one of the few shops in the town which will not experience a great deal of extra Christmas trade, because their food products are so largely in demand throughout the year. The high quality of their Maypole butter, May Queen margarine and Maypole flaked beef suet is so well known and appreciated that it is regarded a necessity and not just a Christmas luxury. Hence the good trade all the year round.

1924 12 17
At Ely council the clerk read a letter asking that in view of the fatal drowning accident they should minimise the grave danger to the public through there being no warning notices that the continuance of Forehill to Waterside leads to the river. There were a lot of strangers who, when descending Forehill mistook it for Back Hill and kept straight on, instead of turning into Broad street. A car stopped on the edge of the river recently. He suggested a lamp with ruby glass and white letters bearing the words "Stop! Danger. The River"

Death Cox, Trinity porter, p5

1924 12 19
Speaking to the Cambridge Motor Club the Mayor said that today it was quite easy and within the means of most people to get a motor car. In 20 years they would have thousands more cars on the road and what conditions were we likely to have with regard to traffic and the storage of cars? Police had made it easy for those who wished to park but in a few years' time every place would be filled and they would require something like Parker's Piece to provide parking accommodation for Cambridge.

1924 12 19
Sir - we in Clarendon Street, Cambridge, are pleased to see the road being repaired, but cannot something be done to prevent the inhabitants being awakened at half-past-three in the morning? At this unearthly hour the steam rollers are stoked up and this continues every half hour and it is impossible for anyone in the vicinity to get any sleep. If I were to make such a noise so early I should be promptly called to order by the police for creating a nuisance -W. H. Thompson

1924 12 20
A serious outbreak of fire occurred at the workshops of Mr Frank Morris, builder and carpenter, of West End, Ely. The Ely City Fire Brigade under Lieut-Col G.L. Archer, immediately rushed to the scene. The wind was now conveying flames towards houses, some being of thatched roofs, but bands of willing helpers took up their positions on ladders, while others rushed along with buckets of water to pour on the outbuildings and thus stop the fire from spreading. The yard was a scene of destruction, some of the workmen searched for their tools but could only find a few that were burnt and twisted almost out of recognition.

1924 12 20
Claimed to be the biggest club of its kind in the county, the Waterbeach Parochial Share-Out, Sick Benefit and Insurance Society divided up £1,330 among its 564 members. Preceding the share-out, 170 sat down to tea, and the proceedings were rounded off by a concert. The society owes its origin to a desire to dissociate share-out clubs from the publichouses. It was founded in 1917 largely by the efforts of the clergy and has been attended with such gratifying results that members are hoping to see similar societies spring up in other locations

1924 12 23
The Policeman in his time plays many parts, but it is doubtful if he ever plays such a delightful part as members of the Cambridge Force did when the distribution of gifts to the poor and needy took place. PC Hagger acted as butcher. Aproned in the approved style and armed with a steel and murderous knives, he chopped and boned joints of meat with a happy smile. Sergt Sharman wrapped up good things, struggling with newspaper and grease-proof paper and slippery meat. Policewomen Jude & Carnegie Brown dealt with the milk and looked after the children. Every recipient met with a cheery wish for a Happy Christmas and all took their gifts with a smile and profuse thanks

Woman Doctor at Addenbrooke's, p5
Cambridge Santa Claus, p5

1924 12 27
Dr Living death, p5
Are you a Bolshy, p5*
Cambridge town and Newmarket Christmas morning, p5
Christmas stockings, p6
Christmas at Cambridge railway, p6

1924 12 29
Christmas Newmarket workhouse, p5*

1924 12 30
New Year rockets, p6

1924 12
Hatley St George water, p6
Isle coursing club, p6

1925 Cambridge Daily News

I have scans of these articles, diary checked, extra stories added Century

January 1925 CDN

1925 01 01
As midnight approached a small group of about 200 brave souls gathered on Parkers Piece, huddled together waiting for 1925. Fierce wet gusts swept by, the old year was going down fighting stubbornly. As the hour approached a silence fell upon the crowd. A minute before there was a flash and a whizz and 1924 split into a thousand coloured lights in the sky. As the first chimes of the Catholic Church battled with the wind there came another flash, a soaring, roaring trail of light into the sky – 1925 had come.

1925 01 01
The festive spirit was properly infused into Linton workhouse during Christmastide. The gaily decorated dining room might have been mistaken for a fancy dress ballroom. Streamers stretched from corner to corner while the artificial butterflies settled on the curtains looked quite capable of fluttering on to the artificial roses which embroidered the wainscoting of the room. The wireless set and gramophone each played their part in providing entertainment during the day.

Romsey Town dance, p5

1925 01 02
The C.U. & College Servants Club have organised their first ball in the Large Room of the Guildhall. It was attractively furnished with cosy chairs and settees ranged round the sides of the hall. The brilliance of the lighting was toned down by the judicious use of red shades attached to the electric globes, by which means a pleasing mellow light was thrown upon the dancers. The front of the platform was covered with masses of palms, ferns and other foliage plants. Sydney Coulson's orchestra provided the music for the 1925 01 02

Messrs Bidwell & Sons report that for really small unrestricted building plots the demand has been very good indeed and there are signs that it is increasing. This demand comes in part from speculative builders but also from private individuals wishing to build houses costing from £350 to £500 on their own freehold.

Professor Ward injured, p5
Arthur Rutter death, p5*

1925 01 03
Schoolmasters complain that the wireless fascination is becoming a menace to education. It is the exception for the schoolboy not to interest himself in wireless and it is he who in a vast number of cases, has installed it in the home. The youthful enthusiast usually makes his own set and prefers to occupy himself in this way to poring over home lessons. Sometimes however there is no convenient place in which to do his homework if the rest of the family want to listen to a loud speaker. This should not be allowed by parents, and there is the alternative of the silent head-phones.

Tea for 3,000 children, p5
Clarendon Street improvement, p6*

1925 01 06
West Cambridgeshire fruit, p3
Great North Road crime, p5*
Tipperary club, p5

1925 01 07
One of the six new sugar beet factories is now in course of erection at Ely. It will be the fourth beet sugar factory in the country with a capacity of 1,200 tons per day. Over 160 men are employed upon the site and the foundations for the factory are ready. When the factory is complete 600 men will be employed. A supply of 10,000 acres of beet on contract for three years is required and 5,000 acres have already been secured

1925 01 08
Bankruptcy Frank Day, tailor, p5

1925 01 09
The Matron of Saffron Walden workhouse reported unfavourably on the effects of a wireless set. All of the inmates are in bed by 8 o'clock and it was thought that the class of entertainment provided before that hour would be unsuitable for them and would do harm to the sick in the infirmary. A gramophone could be moved from ward to ward. If a gramophone was provided they did not want noisy records, but old-fashioned family tunes. It was hoped the public would pass on any old records they did not want.

1925 01 10
The final contingent of happy kiddies crowded into the Drill Hall, East Road and emulated the example set by their predecessors. The clamour of half a thousand happy young lungs and energetic tongues was present throughout the proceedings. Cheery children of all ages participated in the scenes of revelry, four-year old toddlers giving utterance to their gratification with gurgles of joy as sincere as the shouts of the elder children were loud.

Assisting private housing, p6*

1925 01 12
Police houses, p6

1925 01 15
Old Chesterton cycling club, p6

1925 01 16
The third and final distress sale ordered by the Ouse Drainage Board took place. 25 lots including crops, gold watches, bean drill, milk cooler and other articles were offered for sale but they were all withdrawn, as the bids did not go beyond one shilling. The first lot to be offered was a sporting gun. After the crowd had sung "Rule Britannia" a shilling was bid. The lot was withdrawn. The next lot met a similar fate. The crowd then gave a pathetic and heart-stirring rendition of "Shall we gather at the river". After this the proceedings were enlivened by a series of solos played by the happy possessor of a tin trumpet. A silver biscuit barrel was next. Instead of bidding the crowd sang(?) "To be a farmer's boy" and "John Brown's body" followed by "Tipperary". When the auctioneer called for "three cheers" for the Ouse Drainage Board the response was "three boos"

Farm workers wages, p3

1925 01 17
County Ball, p5
One-way traffic, p6

1925 01 19
A fire broke out in the Grand Jury Room at the Shire Hall which destroyed all the woodwork and furniture. It is a large room is situated at the front of the building on the Police Station side and contained a table and some chairs. A stairway leads from it to the grand jury gallery in the Crown Court and it was through the fire roaring up these stairs that damage was done to the court by smoke and steam.

1925 01 19
Petty Cury and Market Street, Cambridge, today commenced their career as one-way streets with the object of relieving congestion in these streets whose narrowness has ever been the subject of discussion. Petty Cury will only be used for vehicular traffic towards Market Hill. At present these regulations do not apply to bicycles. A policeman agreed that someone was bound to make a mistake – "It wouldn't be Cambridge if they didn't", he said

Breaking charity boxes, p3
1925 01 20
Street danger, p3
Angry farmers, p5*

1925 01 21
Certain alterations are to be made in the railway station at Cambridge. The L.N.E.R. propose to extend the main line platforms at each end so that the whole of long trains may be accommodated. The goods yards on the Cherry Hinton side are to be re-arranged and extended for the storage of carriages. Up to the present the old Newmarket line had been used but this is being handed over to Jesus College and the Corporation in connection with the building of the new arterial road from Cherry Hinton to Romsey Town

1925 01 22
The well-known Cambridge brewery business which has been carried on for 28 years in Panton Street by Messrs Bailey & Tebbutt is to change hands. They acquired the brewery in 1897. At that time they were carrying on the Granta Brewery under the name of "Robinson & Tebbutt". Mr Bailey's late father was owner of the Star Brewery. The business has now been acquired by Messrs Greene, King & Sons.

1925 01 23
The County Education committee recommended that the proposals for the extension of the existing Soham Grammar School building be not proceeded with, that the buildings be disposed of and that the council sanction the purchase of "Beechurst" and a site of seven acres. The building to be adapted to provide for six classrooms and a chemical laboratory for approximately 160 pupils, and house accommodation for the Headmaster and eight boarders.

1925 01 24
Soham Grammar School, p3

1925 01 24c
Two Linton labourers were summoned for making false representation to obtain unemployment benefit. They lived six miles from the Labour Exchange and were allowed to make their claims by post. It was found that when claiming out of work pay they had been employed two days as beaters and had received 5s.6d. per day, with beer and lunch. They were sent to prison for three weeks with hard labour

1925 01 27
Fulbourn Hospital, p3*
Haverhill motorist, p5*
Sale, p5*

1925 01 29
Hardwick allotments, p2*
Legal paradox, p5*
Royalty at Newmarket, p5*

1925 01 31
If there are any readers contemplating building or purchasing houses in Cambridge they may be interested to note that the Corporation are prepared in suitable cases to offer a subsidy of £100 per house or an advance on mortgage of an amount not exceeding 90% of the value of a house not exceeding £1,500. Loans must be repaid within 20 years at the rate of 5% per annum.

Riverside rates, p5
Ely death trap, p5*
Brooklands Avenue trees, p6

February 1925 CDN

1925 02 02
The county council were told by Councillor Tebbutt there was no great need to provide for houses for the police, because the police were well paid and in a much better position to get houses than many other people in the county. Coun. Webb said they all knew the police were a most deserving body and jolly good fellows but he did not believe they wanted to pay as little as 3s.6d. A week rent when the ratepayers had to pay 15s.6d. Ald Howard thought authorities should provide houses for their own policemen. At present police were occupying houses which were badly needed by other people

1925 02 02
Soham Grammar School debate, p5

1925 02 02 c
A man employed with the Cambridge Window Cleaning Company met with a nasty accident. He was cleaning the windows of the Union Society building when he felt his extending ladder slip. Under the impression the ladder was about to collapse he jumped for the ground but fell on some spiked railings which surround the area, one of which entered his thigh. After the accident the Union Society gave orders for the removal of the spikes so as to prevent a similar accident occurring again.

1925 02 02 c
Fulbourn Hospital medical superintendent reported that at various times concerts were given to the patients, but they seemed to like cinema performances more than anything, and he was looking forward to the time when they had a cinema there. He was told that the hospital was ideally situated for a wireless installation. Diet was satisfactory and the farm supplied all the milk required, also fresh vegetables and pork.

1925 02 02 c
Messrs G.P. Hawkins Ltd were summoned for employing five young women and a lad of 17 in their bakery at Parsonage Street, Cambridge on a Sunday. They had been asked to come in to do some finishing work that had got behind owing to the Christmas rush. The Inspector of Factories admitted that the bakery was in many respects ideal and that if the work had been done at the Dorothy Café it could have been done without any interference. Mr Hawkins was always opposed to Sunday work, although it was well known that other firms opened on Sunday.

1925 02 02 c
The rector of Hardwick said that the rectory garden had been used since the rectory had been built 75 years ago. It was the nearest piece of arable land. It temporarily ceased to be used as a garden owing to a change of incumbents and the outbreak of war. Then the rector went on war service and did not return to his duties in Hardwick. In 1920 the rectory garden was included in a demand for allotments and nothing was said to him when he was appointed. He had been pressing for its return since 1922. He was now buying for his house vegetables that should be grown on the rectory garden.

1925 02 02 c
A recent advertisement in the C.D.N. offering a house to let brought 131 replies the first day. After three days the figure reached was 412. Quite an interesting commentary on the number of people who want a house and the power of the C.D.N. as an advertising medium

1925 02 03
Chesterton Hall Estate housing, p5

1925 02 05
Flight-Lieut Cairns of the Duxford Flying School was injured in an accident whilst flying at Steeple Bumpstead. About noon the plane was observed to be in difficulties and crashed towards the ground. The airman jumped from the machine when near the ground and although he escaped death he was found to be suffering from somewhat serious injuries when admitted to Addenbrooke's hospital.

Ely girl guides, p3

1925 02 06
Cambridge Housing and Town Planning committee recommended the council purchase land at the junction of Milton Road and Kings Hedges road for £2,400. It was light soil, very suitable for the erection of houses. The Council had never bought land at such a cheap rate. Ald Starr said a very serious objection was that Milton Road was not sewered up to that point and it would cost something up to £8,000 to lay the sewers required.

1925 02 06
The recommendation of the Watch Committee that Cambridge Town Council purchase for the sum of £5,500 the Fountain public house, St Andrew's street, for the purpose of extending the police and fire brigade stations was not adopted. Coun. Few said they had heard a lot about not being able to afford works of utility, now they were proposing to buy premises and pull them down, thereby using skilled labour which might be used in building houses. Coun. Kenney asked if the brigade needed to be in such a prominent position

1925 02 06
Cambridge council considered the application of Mr J. Sanders of Petty Cury, seedsman, for a licence to sell certain poisonous weed-destroyers, vaporising compounds and insecticides. It had been said they must not allow seedsmen to sell these compounds because people might buy poisons in order to kill their wives. (Laughter). It was not much good buying them from a chemist unless he had expert knowledge of gardening, whereas a seedsman could advise on their best use in the garden. The licence was granted

Romsey Labour Club, p3

1925 02 07
Councillor Macey's motion in favour of members of the County Council being allowed to smoke in the committee room did not find much favour. A councillor stated that members of the Ouse Drainage Board smoked in the Council Chamber, and added, amid laughter, that this was about all they did do.

1925 02 09
Sports works strike, p5

1925 02 10
Cambridge University Senate agreed that no member of the University shall be allowed to keep or use a motor car unless he obtained a licence through his college. If any tradesman or keeper of motor garage shall let out any motor car or motor cycle for hire to any person in statu pupillari he shall be liable to be discommuned. Anyone who houses upon his premises a motor vehicle on behalf of a member of the University must furnish a written description to the Junior Proctor.

Sunday buses, p3
Gale, p5

1925 02 11
Village college scheme, p3

1925 02 12
What was aptly described as "a wonderful ideal" is expressed in a memorandum drawn up by Mr H. Morris, the County Education Secretary, entitled "The Village College". The aim would be to establish in about 10 centres a system of village colleges which would provide for the co-ordination and development of all forms of education – primary, secondary, further and adult, including agricultural – together with social and recreational facilities. They would provide a nursery schoolroom which would serve for use as an infant welfare centre.

Stretham fatality – Ernst Howard, 5 years – Barnardos child

1925 02 13
The Bill to electrify Cambs., Beds & Hunts comes before Parliament this session. A great generating station will be erected at Lt Barford. At first they propose to develop the central area including St Neots, St Ives and Ely & to give a supply in bulk to Cambridge and Newmarket. To help the electrical development of the railways it is proposed to link up with the transmission lines of the North Metropolitan Electric Power Supply Company and to afford a supply to the main railway lines within the area

1925 02 14
Horticultural Society centenary, p3

1925 02 14 c
Celebrating the Lent Races gave gownsmen the traditional excuse to break the bonds of conventional conduct and create some hectic scenes on Saturday night. From the viewpoint of roughness the 'rag' proved to be one of the worst during recent years, and the endeavours of the police to impose limitations on some of the more disorderly acts were not received with the good-natured co-operation which usually characterises such outbreaks. Besides having their helmet knocked off, several constables received nasty kicks about the legs and one was taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital with injuries to the head.

1925 02 16
The Community Council heard that village halls were of many different types. Some had been designed as assembly rooms only, as at Whittlesford; some were only suitable for social club purposes, as at Burrough Green; some attempted to serve both these purposes by dividing the main space with temporary partitions, such as Bourn; others contained both an assembly hall and club room sunder the same roof, as at Trumpington. The provision of a village hall did not mean that the social life of the village was satisfactory.

Constables assaulted, p5*
Sidney Sussex fire, p5

1925 02 17
Mikado at Ely, p5
Linton licencing, p5

1925 02 18
"There is a town which men call Cottenham", said a speaker at Cambridge Union Society, "and those whose brains are wearied with much study repair to that paradise for relaxation". A man took to beagling for the avoidance of burgling, to steeple-chasing for the avoidance of stealing and to fox-hunting for the avoidance of foppishness. And yet there were those who preferred the blandishments of study to the sports of the open air. For the sake of scholarship it was his hope that fox-hunting, steeplechasing, beagling, fishing and other sports of the field would ever flourish in England

Road fund licence, p3
Ely Tower House evening, p6

1925 02 19
For the University Pitt Club ball the Guildhall has always been very cleverly decorated. The Large Room served as ballroom, the orchestra seats hidden behind tapestry hangings. There were close on 400 dancers. As a buffet the Small Room has seldom looked better. Supper was served in the Corn Exchange, access to which was gained by means of a covered way connecting it with the Guildhall.

The fare provided was most appetising. Our representative gazed with pardonable envy upon a well-dressed boar's head, a swan with a waxen neck and other fine fare.

1925 02 20
Linton RDC heard that the village most in need of cottages as Balsham – which was really in a sad plight. Under the Addison Act the council had chosen a building site there, but the purchase was never completed, partly owing to the cost. They had now been able to get the promise of two really good sites to be given to the council and they would be able to build six cottages at a rent of 4s. (20p) a week

1925 02 20
Mr Frank Vince from Ely was about to start his car in his garage when the engine back-fired and the petrol tank caught alight. Mr Vince's first thought was of the petrol tin on the footboard in close proximity to the flames. In removing this he stumbled, and some of the petrol splashed over him, and he was immediately enveloped in flames. His wife snatched sum rugs from the floor, covered him in them and extinguished the flames but not before his left arm and hand had been badly burned.

1924 02 21
W.C. Bull death, p5

1925 02 24
Undergraduate plus fours, p5
New hard tennis courts, Jesus Green, p5 (& 27th p6)

1925 02 25
Daddy long legs plague, p3

1925 02 26
The Cambridge Tipperary Club celebrated its 10th birthday when the President gave an address on its history and work during the war period. She described the visit of Her Majesty the Queen when some 300 members who had lost husbands or other relatives in the war were present. The Queen shook hands with many of the bereaved, and spoke words of sympathy and comfort. Towards the end of the war it was not found necessary to open the club as frequently. The spirit of the club was one of mutual help and as long as that remained the club would be blessed.

Reflections on ragging, p5

1925 02 27
Awe-inspiring monsters of a prehistoric age came to life before the eyes of a Cambridge audience. This seeming miracle was accomplished by a remarkable "fake" film made as the result of intelligent imagination based on authoritative facts and followed a lecture entitled "Digging for Dinosaurs". The extraordinary film depicted these gigantic mammals roaming through the interior of Africa as they did thousands of years ago. The film, which is certainly the only one of its kind, materially helped the audience to visualise what these dinosaurs were actually like.

1925 02 27
Despite a shower of rain a number of tennis enthusiasts were present on Jesus Green when the Mayor opened Cambridge's first public hard tennis courts. They are situate opposite Strange's Boatyard and a part of the council's plans to develop Jesus green into a recreation ground, with facilities for a variety of games. Directly adjoining are the grass courts, nearby is the bowling green whilst further afield cricket pitches are being laid. All these will be in use by May.

Clayhithe bridge, p6

1925 02 28

We regret to announce the death of Mr Cyrus Johnson, the well-known portrait painter. He was the youngest son of the late Mr Elijah Johnson who founded the Cambridge bookselling firm in Trinity Street. Born at Cambridge he was educated at the Perse school and afterwards studied in Paris. He exhibited at the Royal Academy as a portrait painter in 1877 in which branch of art he achieved much distinction. He resided in Cambridge from 1916 until last year. (funeral 5th Mar p6)

Comberton institute, p5*

March 1925 CDN

1925 03 02
In the course of his address on "How to carry on a village library centre" Mr Milner said that at Cottenham he tried to hire a warm room and did not hurry people. Some librarians mixed the books with the hope that a borrower would be led to read a non-fiction book. But that was a trick which would probably make a person stop away from the library. The librarian should not spend his time issuing books. He had far more important work than that – to talk to borrowers and interest them in books. Mr Chapman, Whittlesford, spoke of choosing books for borrowers and said he had been greatly praised for giving people good books, when he knew nothing about the books (laughter)

Littleport robbery, p5
Human wreck, p5

1925 03 02 c
Shrove Tuesday was something of a gala day for the people of Comberton with the opening of the billiard room. This new building is capacious, comfortable, bright and airy. Although it directly adjoins the main body of the Village Institute it is sufficiently secluded to ensure quietness. The opening as performed by Lady Blenkinsop who said Comberton was the most progress village in the county. Having declared the room open she took a cue and made the first stroke with it.

1925 03 03
Gas & Atlas Stone strike, p5
Balsham cottage fire, p5

1925 03 04
"We will shoot you – if you come up here". This was alleged to be the threat of two men who barricaded themselves in one of the bedrooms at the Marquis of Granby Hotel, Littleport at 2am and were eventually arrested by the police. The prisoners were charged with stealing a cash box containing about £100 in notes, gold & silver.

1925 03 05
The county coroner conducted an inquest on a married woman of Whittlesford, whose body was found in a well near her house. A boot repairer gave evidence that about 5 am his wife had gone down to light the fire. At 6.15 the fire was not lit so he started a search. He found the gate leading to the well open. He drew a pail of water and saw that it was thick and stirred up. His son went down and found her at the bottom. The well was about 42 feet deep. An extra rope was got and she was pulled up. She appeared quite dead and was cold.

1925 03 05 c
A good many questions were asked at Cambridge bankruptcy court concerning certain boot-repairing machinery. Debtor said he had worked for Messrs Freeman, Hardy & Willis and later commenced business on his own account as a boot repairer in Mill Road. There was an electric motor and combination finishing machine, which cost £44. There was also a patching-machine. He had been pressed by creditors so he sold these machined to get money to satisfy them. The machines had not been removed from his premises and he did not tell his creditors he had sold them. It was untrue to say that gambling was one of the reasons for his appearance in that court.

1925 03 05
Many columns have been devoted to the first volume of biography of King Edward VII whose last year of training was spent in Cambridge where he hunted and played tennis. One phase of undergraduate recreation which he especially favoured was the A.D.C. At the club's premises in Jesus Lane the Prince was an appreciative spectator of the farces and extravaganzas to which their programmes were confined and his favour secured the club a fuller academic recognition than it had enjoyed before. Later he accepted the office of Honorary President and revisited from time to time, presiding in 1880 at the Club's 25th birthday

Dr Palmer birthday party, Linton
Wood Ditton carter, p6
Atlas Stone strike, p6

1925 03 07
Fountain licence transfer refused, p3
Steel houses, p6
H.J. Stuart Brown etchings of Ely, p6

1925 03 09
Cambridge Watch Committee report that it is not practical for the fire engine to be got out of the Fire Station until the escape has first been removed, and valuable time is of necessity lost in responding to calls. It is also necessary to provide accommodation for a number of firemen to live on the premises. It will involve the demolition of the Chief Constable's house and the conversion of the old mortuary, which could be utilised to greater advantage than at the present time

1925 03 09
The bright idea was to unveil a 'statue' of Eros on Cambridge Market Hill, but they did not appear till quite three-quarters of an hour late. The crowd got tired of waiting and certain of their number pelted some adventurous spirits perched on the Market cross with oranges, and this little incident led to a general exchange of soft and 'squashy' fruit. Oranges gave place to tomatoes, which were followed by eggs and bags of flour. Besides being unpleasant, practice of this sort is dangerous. 25 03 09

1925 03 09
William Asplin applied for the renewal of the licence of the Sun, Waterbeach, owned by the Star Brewery. The house was used by travellers for lodging accommodation, also by grooms travelling with stud horses. There were three clubs which met on the premises, the Foresters, Shepherds, and a share-out club. They catered for two 'horkey' dinners a year. The tenant also carried on the business of carrier and grew fruit and vegetables for sale. It was 70 paces from the White Horse, which was a fully-licensed house, did a better trade, and had better accommodation.

1925 03 09 c
We regret to announce the death of Alderman W.T. See. He entered the office of the late Mr James Catling, auctioneer valuer, house and estate agent, with whom he served for 25 years. He gave up his work and devoted himself to music and became well-known as a teacher or organ and piano playing. He was conductor for many years of the Cambridge Choral Society. About three years ago he re-entered business life, going into partnership with Mr P. Freeman, under the name of Messrs See & freeman, estate agents, Alexandra Street, Cambridge.

1925 03 10
Lamb Hotel Ely baby, p3

1925 03 11
Shepreth strike, p5

1925 03 13
Messrs Bodgers of Sidney Street, Cambridge intended to reconstruct the interior of their premises, constructing a new shop front. Cambridge Council Surveyor suggested that the firm put the premises back 11 feet as required for their street widening policy. The Council must legislate for the future and in view of the serious traffic problems must attempt to widen Sidney Street. They would pay the proprietor half the cost of the land at the present time and the remainder when the setting back took place. Some of the committee felt these terms were not as favourable as those offered to Messrs Sainsbury and Woolworth.

1925 03 14
Five Harston lads were each fined 2s.6d. for playing football in the highway. PC Carlton said there was only a small piece of grass near the White Swan and this was unfit for football purposes. During the summer cricket was allowed in the Park, and at one time Mr Arthur Hurrell let the boys play football in the meadow, but owing to some wilful damage being done he withdrew these facilities.

1925 03 14
Machinery was whirling, wireless valves were glowing, loud speakers were in full blast, a cinema lantern was projecting pictures, steam was hissing, and electric sparks were crackling in the Cambridge University Engineering Laboratories when 1,000 guests attended a conversatione to mark the completion of the equipment of the new laboratories at Scroop Terrace. It is only necessary for the front lecture room block to be erected ere the whole of the building will be complete.

John Wesley, Stretham death, p7

1925 03 16
The funeral took place of Mr Alfred Whitaker, for 37 years headmaster of Exning schools. His sudden death cast quite a gloom over the village where he had passed such an active life and where nearly all the inhabitants had passed through Exning School under his tuition. In all public movements for the benefit of the village he had been active and prominent and was always anxious for the well-being of Exning and jealous of its reputation. He will be greatly missed in all branches of village life.

1925 03 16
The “Tivoli”, Cambridge’s new cinema on Chesterton Road will be opened on Thursday and many people have been speculating as to what it looks like inside. A representative of the CDN who had a look around came away very much impressed with the general air of comfort and the attractiveness of the interior. Over 600 people can be seated in the body of the hall and gallery. It has comfort, excellent lighting and excellent decoration. If you want a private box for six people you may have one for the sum of 15s.

1925 03 17
Cottenham parish council elections, p5
Tivoli to open, p6

1925 03 19
Public meetings, largely attended by employees at East Anglian Cement Works, Shepreth, now on strike and their wives, were held in the village hall, Shepreth. For various reasons the unions had lapsed and as soon as that happened the Kaiser of Shepreth took advantage of it to use the whip hand severely in reducing the wages of the work-people he employed. Now the union was trying to retrieve the damage that was caused by the workers leaving their organisation.

1925 03 20
Cambridge Chief Constable reported that the present motor ambulance is showing signs of wear and in need of a thorough overhaul. It had travelled upwards of 13,000 miles and conveyed 1,500 patients. It had cost was £800, the chassis was second-hand. During this time £700 has been received for its use by private persons. The committee recommended the purchase of a new motor ambulance, built by a special ambulance body builder, at a cost not exceeding £1,000.

1925 03 20
Described as "Chesterton's super cinema", the Tivoli made its debut before the Cambridge public when there were two opening performances. Elaborate, cosy, artistically lighted and efficiently ventilated, Cambridge's sixth cinema has every justification for expressing itself in superlatives. It has a courteous staff pf brown-uniformed attendants, an excellent orchestra and a screen sufficiently large to do justice to the most elaborate film productions. The projection last night was not perfect, but this was merely a matter of adjustment.

St Hilda's colliery band, p7
Funeral John Wesley, Stretham, p8
Robert Sayle staff, p8*

1925 03 21
Free cigars, p6*

1925 03 23
Pony with mange, p5

1925 03 25
The County recommended that where it becomes necessary to provide a new public elementary school for a parish by reason of the Managers of a non-provided school closing the school or failing to secure recognition of it as an efficient school, three-fourths of the expenses incurred may be charged on the parishes which in the opinion of the council are served by the school. If people knew the greater part of the expense of building a new school would fall on the parish they would bring pressure to see the old school was repaired.

1925 03 26
First season difficulties were revealed at the annual meeting of the County School Old Boys Rugby Club. Already the venture has 40 members, unfortunately the time-honoured trouble of getting members to pay their subscriptions has been experienced and the season was concluded with an adverse balance. The wet weather militated against the activities of the club and difficulty was often experienced to turn out a full team. However high hopes are entertained for substantial success in the forthcoming season.

Undergraduates mad escapade, p5

1925 03 27
The death of the vicar of Lode occurred under tragic circumstances within a few yards of the Vicarage. He was walking along the right had side of the road. A motor oil delivery van, belonging to the Anglo-American Oil Company had just turned the corner from the direction of Bottisham. William Sargent, a blacksmith said he heard the hooter sound and the driver shouted. The motor van was only going about two miles an hour when it passed his shop. The vicar was lying between the two near side wheels, the front wheel had passed over his head.

Shepreth cement strike, p6

1925 03 28
The stamp machine attached to the door of the General Post Office in Cambridge is such a boon that I hesitate to complain. But on no fewer than five occasions I have found the penny slot fail to act correctly. On the first occasion the machine delivered me two penny stamps for one copper. I was wondering what to do when another purchaser came along and slipped a penny in the slot without result, so I handed one over. The next time I received no stamp for my penny, and wiped that off as a loss. On the third occasion I got two stamps for the price of one, so cried "quits". For those who like a little speculation these stamp machines are ideal

Lode vicar inquest, p5
Wireless and Cambridge professor, p5

1925 03 31
The manager of the Co-operative Society, Ely, told the court he had missed small sums of money from the employee's leather cash bags, which had been hung up in the office for the men to give customers change. The police gave him two bags containing marked coins – two single shillings, four sixpences and twelve pennies, which he hung up in the cashier's office, then locked up and left the premises. Police kept watch and saw defendant climb over a fence at the rear. A few moments later he returned. He was arrested and found to have the marked coins

Isleham vicar death, p3

April 1925 CDN

1925 04 01
Photographic enlargements, p3*
Darwin's coffin, p5

1925 04 02
Most people in Cambridge saw the giant R.33 airship as she passed over on her flight from Cardington to Pulham air station, Norfolk. Those who were not aware of the intended flight were attracted by the noise of the engines and were rather surprised to see the ponderous vessel instead of a battalion of aeroplanes. She passed over Cambridge at about 8.30 and proceeded via Newmarket. The flight was of an experimental nature and on arrival at Pulham the R.33 carried out a number of air manoeuvres.

Suppers go west, p5

1925 04 03
Newmarket council heard that work on the Rows housing site was proceeding slowly owing to illness amongst the men. At one time half the bricklayers were away. The first pair of houses have now been plastered, and some of the joinery fixed. The third and fourth pair are roofed in, and stairs are fixed in the third pair. Of the sixth pair the brickwork has been carried up about three feet above the floor level. Foundations have been dug on the Stamford street site and the specifications drawn up for the Laureate Paddocks site.

1925 04 06
Paper increases to full size (smaller from Jan 5th)
Widening road – churchyard wall, p5

1924 04 07
Listening in, p5

1925 04 08
To celebrate the 25th anniversary of the well-known motor firm of King & Harper, nearly 200 people attended a reception and dance at the New Rendezvous. Mr King, the senior partner said: "In 1897 or 1898 I saw a motor for the first time. It was a De Dion tricycle brought from Paris by the Hon C.S. Rolls who was then up at college; he also brought a French mechanic to take care of it. He lent me his tricycle and mechanic and we drove it to Ely and back without a breakdown. This made me anxious to learn more about motors"

1925 04 08
A general meeting was held with the object of forming a bowling club for the city of Ely. They had one club in the city, but being a political club, it debarred some from playing the ancient game of bowls. They had had a green offered to them by the Sports Association on the Paradise Recreation Ground, near the position where the winning post was placed on sports' day. Part of the green lay on the cycle track. The turf was the best in Ely.

Flying cinema, p5

1925 04 08 c
Cambridge Board of Guardians discussed the question of securing the repayment of the relief granted in loans to those concerned in the building strike in August last year. Mr Branston said he was not sure they had acted legally in giving relief to able-bodied people who were on strike, all they could do was to relieve the wives and children of those men. Several of the men started to pay the loans back by instalments and had stopped for the reason that other people were not attempting to pay back the money they had had. Others stopped at the instance of "so-called friends of the unemployed" who seemed to do nothing but stir up trouble.

1925 04 09
Two attempts were made to stop an armed motorist who broke into Daisley's shop at Coronation Street, Cambridge, & stole a quantity of chocolates, cigarettes etc. A car travelling at high speed was seen by a constable at Bishop's Stortford. Shortly after PC Dodson of Harlow police station was notified of the approach of the car. Dashing out of the police station in his pyjamas he stood in the middle of the road and signalled the car to stop. It continued its course and the constable had to jump very quickly out of the way.

1925 04 09
PS Newell told the court that he saw the prisoners and, becoming suspicious, enlisted the services of various well-disposed people in Littleport, and surrounded the Marquis of Granby Hotel, which was to all intents and purposes in a state of siege. He invited the men to come out of their room but the reply he got was, "If you attempt to force the door we shall shoot". In fairness to the prisoners it should be said that when they were arrested no forearms were found upon them. In their endeavour to get away they had drawn the bedstead up to the window and knotted the sheets with the view of lowering themselves to the ground.

1925 04 11
About 120 members of the 1st Cambridgeshire Regiment are spending the Easter weekend under canvas at Madingley. The Cambridge-St Neots road acted as part of the front line of a British force which was endeavouring to repel an invader marching on London. The Norfolk Brigade was ordered to take up position from Oakington to Comberton. The work was carried out under service conditions & proved exceptionally difficult on account of the wooded nature of the country in front

1925 04 11
Good Friday dawned damp and dismal. Parker's Piece was the great gathering place of the merry makers. In accordance with custom many people produced skipping ropes and skipped away to their hearts' content. Old men & maidens, young men & children – likewise grand dames – jumped up and down to "Salt, mustard, vinegar, pepper" and similar meaningless jungles. Hawkers of balloons, ices, fruit and sweets had secured "pitches" at the East Road corner and did good business. Ices, yesterday morning – b-r-r-r!

1925 04 11
The Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen organised their annual tea and concert in the Co-op Hall. Mr W. Few presided over a company of 400 and announced there would be a meeting to form a local branch of the ASLEF Women's Society. They must not think they were all going to be President. The greatest curse of Labour and all societies connected with it was that everybody wanted to be top dog

1925 04 13
The employees of the East Anglia Cement Company, who are on strike at Shepreth, visited Cambridge. They marched in procession to Parker's Piece where a platform was in readiness for a mass meeting organised by the Cambridge Trades Council. On the arrival of the strikers a very large crowd quickly gathered. The speaker protested against the idea that because the wages of agricultural labourers were low, those of cement workers should also be low.

1925 04 16
A score of people assembled in St Bene't's church. Cambridge, for the purpose of hearing the John Mere commemoration sermon preached and benefiting materially as well as spiritually by sharing in Mere's benefaction to the extent of sums ranging from twopence to 3s.4d. Mere died in 1558 and gave certain property to the University. The Vice Chancellor should preach a sermon in grateful remembrance for which he is to have 3s.4d. for his labours. In failure of the sermon the penalty of 10s is to be levied by the churchwardens upon the university.

Fire Over, p5

1925 04 17
Histon pig sale, p5

1925 04 18
Tributes to the success with which the Universities of Britain had grappled with the difficulties resulting from war conditions is paid in a report. They have had to put their academic houses into some kind of repair after the storm of war by filling the gaps in their staffs and improvise measures for dealing with an unexpected influx of students, many of whom were of an unusual type, the special produce of the war. Under the Government scheme for higher education of ex-Service entrants, over 26,000 men were assisted with grants to take courses of study. They can be little doubt that the demand for University education will continue to grow in volume and intensity.

1925 04 18
When attempting to pass one of Messrs Course's St Ives motor buses near the New Inn, Swavesey, Mr James Tanfield who was riding a Douglas motor cycle combination collided with a telegraph post. The bus had been keeping in the centre of the road, and in trying to pass he ran his cycle on to the grass roadside, the wheel of the sidecar remaining on the road. The front wheel ran into a draining grip and caused the machine to collide with the post.

1925 04 18
On entering Sutton church the vicar found the vestry on fire. On a large oil stove had been stacked the majority of the church archives, the church registers, vestry carpets, surplices and other articles, all of which were ablaze. Further investigation showed the contents of a decanter of wine had been sprinkled all over the church, the marriage register being soaked with it. Candle grease was found over nearly every pew and a vulcanite pipe-stem was wedged in the belfry door lock. The offertory boxes containing money had been left intact. Had Canon Woodard not arrived when he did the church would probably have been burnt down

1925 04 20
Swavesey accident, p6*

1925 04 21
The borough surveyor reported that the reconstruction of the cells at the refuse destructor had been completed and it was now taking all the town's refuse. Under the old system there were three "topmen" and six "shovellers" employed to feed the cells, now no shovellers were necessary and all men were doing similar work. He recommended they should be called "chargers" and should all receive the same amount of pay

1925 04 21
The Isle of Ely football committee secretary reported that Manea had written to the Sutton football club, endeavouring to make a fixture for their last match and eventually Sutton made a date, but later wrote to say they were unable to raise a team. The club was a particularly difficult one to deal with. They were the most unbusinesslike club in the Isle. Wednesday 26th April

250,00^{0th} Ford car, p6

1925 04 23
Record of war, p5
Garage fire, p5

1925 04 25
In 1908 the County council started a programme of reconstructing the roads in the county, but they forgot about Cambridge. Nothing had been done apart from a few roads in the middle and it was only recently that they realised there were motors on the roads. Newmarket Road had been made up in the old way and in a few weeks potholes appeared. The problem was the motor traffic. The money that was being raised by motor taxation was being spent for purposes it was never intended to be spent on. They must have the money for the roads from the proper quarter, namely motor taxation.

Ely woman council, p6

1925 04 27
Over council and Over Church of England school were visited by members of the County Education Committee. The average attendance at the first is 75 and the cost of staffing is £590, and at the Church school 41 and the cost £395. They did not require to be either financialists or educationalists to realise that it was much better to have one school in a village of that sort, but the voluntary school managers were unable to agree to the transfer of the older children to the council school. The religious education given in the council school was as good as any in the Church schools and public opinion would prevent such a state of things in the future.

1925 04 27 c
Haddenham folk were in a happy mood when a social was held in the Church Hall to celebrate the opening of a new branch of the Ely Co-operative Society in the village. The new premises, which were erected by Mr H. Feast, a local builder, comprise departments for groceries, provisions, drapery & boots. Years ago the Co-operative tree was planted in Ely, and first of all it branched out to Littleport. Later came the Sutton branch, then one in Ely.

1925 04 28
Salvation Army hall, p5*

1925 04 29
Educational attendance case, p5*

1925 04 30
Thomas Parnwell death, p3

May 1925 CDN

1925 05 01
A picturesque ceremony took place at the Central Girls' School when the May Queen was crowned. The school was tastefully decorated with bluebells, cowslips, buttercups and violets. The girls, attired in white dresses, sang songs of spring. Queen Gwendoline Marshall abdicated and the Mayor proclaimed Effie Few as the new queen. After her enthronement the new Queen's subjects paid homage by placing flowers at her feet.

1925 05 02
May Day in Newmarket was bleak and cold, nevertheless the children kept up the old custom of garland weaving and garlands of various shapes and sizes were carried through the streets by young people with an eye to the largesse of passengers. At Sussex Lodge the custom of giving prizes for the most artistically woven garlands still prevails. The purple anemone, that locally grows only on the Devil's Ditch, furnished splashes of dark colour among the light yellow primulas, marsh marigolds and buttercups.

1925 05 02
After nearly 700 years – except for a period during the Great War – services are again to be held in the Leper's Chapel at Barnwell. The chapel is the property of the University by whom permission to use the building was readily given. Negotiations have also had to be conducted with the owner of the field, so that a right-of-way may be obtained from the road. The services will be regular and open to the public. Members of Westcott House are now busy at the chapel removing some of the ravages of time as the building remains just as it was left at the end of the war

1925 05 02 c
A Fordham smallholder was summoned for not sending his daughter to school. Mr Savidge, attendance officer, said the excuse was illness. The father told him that if he came again he would throw him in the drain. As the girl was now 14 and over age an attendance order could not be made, so witness asked for a fine. The father had three other children. He was fined 10/-

1925 05 04
Large crowds witnessed the Cambridge Labour and Co-operative Party's May Day demonstration on Parker's Piece. It was addressed by E.V. Watering. He said the cement workers had been on strike for eight weeks and not a single man had retracted because they had received magnificent support from the Labour movement. At a recent meeting of the Cambridge section of the Fascisti movement he had been alluded to as a "breeder of strikes". So far as the Shepreth dispute was concerned he denied that statement. The strike was brought about by the directors of the East Anglian Cement Company and only after every possible avenue leading to arbitration had been wiped away that the men forced the issue by striking.

1925 05 05
Monday was an important day in the lives of Roman Catholic members of the University. The blessing of the chapel at Fisher House took place and was followed by a luncheon. Fisher House is on the site of the Black Swan, one of the oldest inns in Cambridge, and the Dug Out. It has been turned into the residence for the chaplain and the old billiard room at the back has been adapted to serve as a chapel.

1925 05 06
Henry Curtis death,

1925 05 08
Alleged indecent attacks on young girls in Ely have caused considerable alarm. Twice police were within an ace of capturing the individual but the man escaped. They finally accomplished the arrest by a clever ruse. Mrs Hillier, wife of a police constable went out into the darkness on her mission to save young girls from being molested. Without any warning a man attacked her, a struggle ensued and she blew a police whistle, pursuing him as he tried to escape down the street. Police sergeant Newell was in the near vicinity and the man was caught. Mrs Hillier was congratulated upon her plucky act in the interests of justice.

1925 05 09
The funeral took place of Mr William West of the Art Department of the University Press. He was a versatile artist of considerable ability. His sketches of old Cambridge are numerous and beautiful & some may be seen in the book entitled "Cambridge re-visited" by Mr Arthur Gray, while many others have never been published. During the war he was much in request at the First Eastern General Hospital where he made valuable records of unusual aspects of certain diseases

1925 05 12
Great success marked the Jubilee celebrations at Ely of the founding of the Girls Friendly Society, over 1,400 members and associates from all parts of the dioceses attending a festival and thanksgiving service in the cathedral. A picturesque scene was presented when the procession with their magnificent banners and emblems passed from the Palace Green to the cathedral. The catering of Mr Vernon Cross of Ye Olde Tea Rooms, Forehill, was excellent.

1925 05 12
The opening of the new Guildhall organ marks a fresh era in the history of Cambridge music. The old organ had no virtues but many vices. The pitch was wrong, much of the tone was bad, the action quite defective and the general scheme and plan quite unsuited for the purpose and room for which it was designed. Erected in 1882 by voluntary subscription it had become almost unplayable. Both the heating and ventilation of the room were bad and gross variations in the temperature had the effect of putting the organ out of use with an orchestra and even of rendering certain stops unusable with others.

Rook shooting, p6

1925 05 13
Revised plans for the proposed open-air school in Cambridge show that instead of four classrooms there should be three and one large rest shelter which when not in use for rest could be used as a classroom. There would be a shed for manual instruction for boys and a small building for instruction in cookery and laundry, of efficient size for about a dozen mentally defective girls. The ends of the classrooms would be fitted with patent sliding and folding windows so that the whole extent of the ends can be opened or closed at will.

12mph speed limit, p5

1925 05 14
The minds of motoring undergraduates in the University are greatly perturbed over certain proposals which have been made for the total prohibition of motor vehicles by junior members. The proctors state that "a few undergraduates use their cars and motor cycles after dark to drive undesirable young women into the country and they consider it their duty to prevent them". It is ridiculous for them to walk the streets after dark chasing pedestrian undergraduates for having no caps whilst boisterous merry-markers rush by in cars.

1925 05 15
The Ouse drainage question is still a burning topic in Soham. Two bailiffs visited a farm at Soham fen to demand rates amounting to £29. Apparently the money was not forthcoming for one of the bailiffs went over to a barn and taking down a halter which was hanging just over the top of a mangold cutter said, "I seize this". A tall, well-built young lady of 16 also seized hold of the halter, and a struggle ensued during which she struck her arm against the mangold cutter, bruising it. Another young lady then came on the scene and struck the bailiff on the nose, causing blood to flow. Farmers think the Ouse Drainage Board was forced on them by the Government and that Soham is being asked to pay for works which benefit other towns who were not asked to contribute.

1925 05 16

The Rector of Hardwick was fined 10s. for assaulting a farm labourer. It was the outcome of considerable friction between the Rector and his parishioners over the right-of-way of a roadway leading through the Rectory grounds to a farm. The Rector claims he had the right to turn back people whom he considers objectionable, whereas villagers declare the road to be public for everybody's use. Complainant said that when he was part way down the road the rector had rushed out of his garden with a four-tined fork and said: "You are not going this way". He was pushed into the hedge and the tines of the fork probed through his coat. The rector said he thought the man was going to make one of his flying rushes and raised the tool to defend himself.

Newmarket Road dust, p6

1925 05 19
New Guildhall organ, p5
Stretham feast week, p5
Soham Beechurst purchased, p5

1925 05 20
The County Education Committee recommended the purchase of "Beechurst" for the purpose of carrying on a central school at Soham to provide an education of a secondary type for boys of the ages of 10 to 16 years. They also recommend the closing of Soham Grammar School and the disposal of the property. People who were not attached to Soham Grammar School for sentimental reasons would in time become just as proud of "Beechurst". Coun. Beales said that if they could give their boys a good rural education and they could leave and help their parents, that was what people would appreciate.

1925 05 20
Cambridge Poor Law Guardians considered installing wireless apparatus at the Institution. Mrs Keynes said some members were not entirely satisfied that it would be a very great boon to the inmates, partly because of the nature of the entertainment and partly because the best part of the performance usually came on after their inmates had gone to bed. The chairman handed round copies of the "Radio Times" to enable members to see the types of programmes given. Messrs Allin's estimate for a six-valve set with five loud speakers was £65. Chesterton Institution had installed three loud speakers and they were appreciated.

1925 05 21
Two shopkeepers occupying adjacent premises in East Road, Cambridge, appeared before magistrates. Frederick Peak, a wholesale confectioner said a big Smith's van pulled up outside his premises to deliver some tins of potato chips. His neighbour came and complained about the van standing near her door. He was carrying ten tins of chips, stacked as high as his chin, when she put up both her hands and deliberately knocked them from his arms. Two lids came off and the contents were spilled. On another occasion she threw soapy water on him from an upstairs window.

1925 05 22
Stapleford parishioners are working hard to raise sufficient funds to build a vestry for their church. For two years various efforts have been devoted to raising the required £450. Plans have been drawn up and it is hoped to commence building within a year or so.

Tobacconist fined, p5

1925 05 23
The Cambridge University Senate discussed the latest proposal that undergraduates shall not have motor vehicles during their first year of residence. It would cut down the number of vehicles in the busy narrow streets and give first year men a better chance of settling down to college life. It would prevent them wasting so much time rushing about, and they would form other habits, rather than motor-cycle habits. Opponents say the scheme is impracticable and against the ideas of modern development

1925 05 22 c
Shortly after midnight a small band of cyclists sallied forth from against the Senate House en route to join several thousand of fellow-wheelmen at Meriden in a memorial service to cyclists killed in the war. A cyclist from Royston joined the party at the Caxton Gibbet cross-roads where a halt was called to don capes. On the sharp bend approaching St Neots a two-seater car, with lamps alight, was embedded head-on in the hedge and a near-by telegraph pole leaning at an alarming rate. Nothing was to be seen of the occupants and the cyclists carried on to Bedford, which was reached about 3 am

1925 05 25
Alimond Denson, of Broad Street, Ely, applied for possession of a cottage next door to his house. He lived with his mother, father and two sisters who carried out a tailoring business at the same premises. There was one large room downstairs. One part was used for his photography work where the public went to have photos taken, while the other was used as a fitting room by his sisters. Upstairs there were two rooms and a box room. There was only one old lady living in the cottage that contained eight rooms. She had not paid the rent. They had offered her a house down an alley and said she could serve cups of tea over the fence to the footballers.

Cambridge to Mereden, p6*

1925 05 27
Mentally-deficient boys, p5

1925 05 28
"I promised the little girl at work that I would bring her some flowers" was the excuse which a 14-year-old errand boy offered to magistrates for wilfully damaging a laburnum tree at Victoria Great Jubilee Memorial Pleasure ground, Chesterton Road. The magistrates took a lenient view of the offence and fined him 3s.

Footballers merry. P3

1925 05 29
Cambridge Guardians were told that their forefathers built the present infirmary as a test house for the able-bodied, but now it was becoming half hospital and half almshouse, and so they needed better accommodation now than they did. Mr Sells said he had every sympathy with the poor but they had to recognise that their inmates were better housed, better fed and better clothed than 75 per cent of the poor of Cambridge. If expenditure was embarked upon it would have to be found by the working men of Cambridge. The new building was not urgently needed.

1925 05 29
Cambridge councillors were told that the present electricity generating station was out of date. Today was the day of the big power station and what was desired was a load throughout the day and night. Users had been told they could not have the supply they wanted because the Company did not want too many to take it on. But the more the electricity was used the better it would be for the health of the town. An outsider was knocking at the door and he was coming with current cheaper than they could supply.

1925 05 29 c
A Burwell publican came up for public examination at the bankruptcy court. In 1895 he was working for a man as a farm labourer and cab driver, also for the vicar of Burwell as groom and gardener. In 1897 he began business as a publican and took the King William. The only experience he had had was serving at a house where he had previously worked as a jobbing man in the yard. He bought a horse for haggle-carting purposes and to use in a fourwheeler & while he was carting his wife looked after the business. Trade at the pub got slack and the carting business was also a failure. He borrowed £40 from the Provincial Union Bank, Ipswich to pay the brewer.

1925 05 30
A schoolboy told the inquest that he was on Great Wratting school steps. Albert --- was playing about and swinging on the back of a four-wheeled coal dray. He was swinging with his hands when his foot caught in the back wheel. Deceased could not get his foot out and he was pulled down and the wheel went up his leg and shoulder and grazed his head. The dray was stopped and the driver lifted the deceased from the ground and took him into the schoolroom. The driver said his dray contained two tons of coal and 3 cwt of pollard to deliver at the kennels of the Newmarket and Thurlow Hounds. The coroner said the driver was in no way to blame and seemed to have done all he could.

1925 05 30
Some interesting competitions in clay target shooting were held on Messrs Gallyon's shooting park, at Moor Barns Farm, Madingley Road, Cambridge. They were the first of the kind to be held in the Eastern Counties and attracted a good attendance. A new automatic trap which has just been installed on the ground gave general satisfaction. This is the first time that a trap of this kind has been used in Cambridge and proved its value, not only from the economical point of view, but also for accelerating the competition.

June 1925 CDN

1925 06 02
Telegraph excuse, p5
Wonderful Whitsun, p6

1925 06 03
The chairman of Comberton parish council said that since 1919 they had been without a recreation ground in the central part of the village. Previous to that year a meadow was hired annually at a rental of £7. This sum was paid by the amount received for the herbage on the old pleasure ground situate on the boundary of the parish. This had never been used for recreation purposes and was useless. The parish council now wished to sell it and devote the proceeds of the sale towards the purchase of a new recreation ground at Pennie's Close, but the owner refused to negotiate. They sought compulsory powers for its acquisition.

Hotel de luxe?, p5
Glimpses of old Cambridge, p5

1926 06 04
Bygone Cambridge, p3

1925 06 05
Cambridge council was told that the Brunswick school did not exist at the present time because the Borough surveyor drew attention to the giving way of the building, and they first of all had to pull down the Boys' School because it was dragging the other part down, and eventually they pulled down the Girls' School. The girls were in temporary premises at Paradise Street School and the boys in Fitzroy Street. They had to bear in mind that a new bridge was going to be built at Walnut Tree Avenue some time – (laughter) – and when that was done they would have to accommodate some children from old Chesterton.

Shop front, Newmarket Road, p6

1925 06 06
Very many residents of Cambridge who in their leisure moments wander round the Market Place to see what literary treasure may there be picked up will be interested in a movement set on foot by prominent members of the University to do honour to Mr G. David, the well-known bookseller, who has had a stall there for close on thirty years. A luncheon will be given in the Old Combination Room, Trinity College in appreciation of the conspicuous service he has rendered to the cause of humane letters.

1925 06 06
"I cannot go out the backway or the front door without she throws some insult at me. I cannot knock a nail into the wall, she threw two pails of water over the taxi-sidecar that was standing in the road, and if a taxi is left there she goes for a policeman", said Mrs Ellis Riseley of Russell Street, Cambridge, the wife of a taxi-sidecar owner in enumerating some of the failings of her neighbour. In reply the neighbour said they kept a couple of taxi-sidecars outside the house from early morning until late at night, she was simply throwing a pail of water over the pavement for the sake of cleanliness because of all the oil and petrol which came from the taxis.

Undergraduate motor cycles, p5
Punch on Littleport, p6

1925 06 08
While reading the Athanasian Creed on Sunday morning, the Rev A. Campbell Yorke, rector of Fowlmere, was seized with a heart attack and expired almost immediately. He was 74 and by a tragic coincidence was making preparations to retire from active ministry. He had ministered in Australia and New Zealand until 1897 when he came to England and took the living in Fowlmere

1925 06 08
The Bishop of Ely formally opened Stanton House, the new Cambridge Shelter for Women and Girls at Glisson Road. The Home is open day and night, not only for what are generally known as "rescue cases" but for all those who find themselves stranded in the town without means of getting lodgings. Many cases are brought by the police. The inmates stay until they can be restored to their friends or arranged for in suitable institutions. Originally started in 1854 by a few undergraduates it has several times been temporarily closed down on account of financial difficulties and as often re-opened at the request of town authorities

William Farren accident, p5
Rampton and Cottenham school, p6

1925 06 09
Speaking of the need for a Bath House in Gwydir Street, Cambridge, Dr Laird said the only houses in the area with baths were 50 being built by the Corporation in Vinery Road and about 80 houses in Guest, Willis and Collier roads. A very small proportion of the houses in Cambridge had baths. The absence of such facilities was a contributory cause of disease. The Ministry wished to defer it because they thought bricklayers should be employed on housing schemes and hesitated to sanction schemes that would take bricklayers from houses.

1925 06 10
A vision of 300-ton vessels using the river to bring goods into Cambridge from abroad was conjured up by Rotarian Alfred Winship. This could not be done however until Baitsbite and Bottisham Locks had been enlarged and made efficient. His idea was to have a ship canal. Rivers had to be enlarged in any case for drainage purposes. Barges approaching 14 feet wide already used the lodes and farmers were already talking about getting Scotch seed potatoes by river.

1925 06 11
Soham cinema lamp, p3
Immaculate 'Mays', p5

1925 06 12

Artists exhibit – F. Griggs, H. Bushberry, G. Brockhurst, p5
Motor van Russell Wright fire, p6

1925 06 13
Pymoor church's Diamond Jubilee was a proud day for the little village. The church and the school which adjoins it were built by Frederick Fisher in 1865 and opened and dedicated by Bishop Browne. Since that year members of the family have contributed towards the adornments of the church. A gloom was cast on their rejoicing because their old friend, Mr George Darby was leaving them after 36 years of residence and going to grace Lt Downham with his presence.

Dinner to David, p6

1925 06 16
The May Week programme of concerts and balls is now in full swing and there were a number of functions at various colleges. About 300 guests attended Gonville & Caius College Ball. It was lit with rose-shaded electric lights, which cast a pleasing subdued glow over the room, while four large electric fans and two large ice-blocks kept the atmosphere cool. Contrary to the general practice, ladies took part in the programme submitted by St Catharine's College Musical Society. The chief woman artiste was Miss Maud Johnston, while there was a fair sprinkling of ladies in the orchestra.

1925 06 17
Littlebury blacksmith death, p3
A.C. Benson death, p5

1925 06 18
Betting raid, p5

1925 06 20
Swavesey church is a very fine structure, nearly 600 years old, and work of restoration has been carried out during recent years under the supervision of the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings, but much remains to be done. The roof of the north and south aisles are in urgent need of attention, work involving a heavy expenditure. At the annual garden fete and sale of work Miss Lucy Dunn recalls that during her residence in the village there were great floods, necessitating the use of planks and boats to move from the houses.

1925 06 20
The "one-way" traffic system in Petty Cury, Cambridge, has now been in force for so long that most people have come to regard it as a settled thing, but the regulation has to be formally approved by the Minister of Transport. The only criticism is that ordinary bicycles should be included in the term "vehicular traffic" but the Chief Constable takes the view that to prevent these riding both ways as at present would cause more trouble than the change would be worth.

1925 06 20
At the Leys School Jubilee Speech Day the Chairman of Governors thought that all interested in the school might congratulate themselves on the steady, distinguished and continual progress in all directions. In scholarship and in sport they held their own. The Leys Mission in London had been acknowledged to be the finest public school mission, alike in its premises and activities, in the world.

1925 06 22
Yet another precedent was created by the Mayor (Councillor Mrs Hartree) when under Midsummer Fair was officially opened in the presence of a good crowd. This is the first time in its long history that the Fair has been opened by a lady. There followed a liberal scattering of shining coppers and children, their elders as well as Fair hands pushed and scrambled in the dust to securer the coveted coins. The roundabout horses were soon laden with merrymakers while housewives, for a more serious purpose, haunted the innumerable crockery stalls in search of bargains in china.

1925 06 23
Library – Rouse Ball, p3
Balsham fire, p5*

1925 06 25
Dr Searle of the Cambridge Fish Preservation and Angling Society said wholesale destruction of fish life was going on. Fish in the Granta were being destroyed by washings from tarred roads and by netting. There were 500 anglers in one club in Cambridge and 200 in another. Anglers from Sheffield came down frequently and caught undersized fish and threw them out on the bank

Stretham garden fete, p5*

1925 06 26
Centaur scramble, p4

1925 06 27
A somewhat alarming rumour as to four men engaged in harvest work in West Fen, Ely, having been poisoned after drinking beer, has gained ground in the last day or two. It appears they were working in a field and had stopped for refreshments. Each drank some beer from a bottle, which evidently had previously contained paraffin oil. Afterwards the men complained of pains in the stomach. Three recovered sufficiently form the attack to proceed with their work but the fourth was not so fortunate and medical attention had to be obtained.

1925 06 29
Rampton parents, p5

1925 06 30
Midsummer Common nuisance, p5

July 1925 CDN

1925 07 01
A very important addition to the garage accommodation of Cambridge is the new depot just opened by the enterprising firm of Messrs King & Harper in Hills Road. It is situated just off the busy centre of the town so that people who are timid can drive up without much trouble and receive attention without being hustled by the police. King & Harper sell so many cars that it is quite impossible for them to give the service at Bridge Street to all the people who wish to come to them. In front of the garage is a petrol filling station from which four different kinds of petrol can be obtained at a moment's notice. Two large wash-downs have been provided which owner-drivers may use for the purpose of washing their cars.

1925 07 02
Cement industry, p3

1925 07 03
In June 50 years ago Court Alexander of the Ancient Foresters was started in the Alexandra Rooms. They did not make much headway however. In 1882 Brother Littlechild was appointed secretary and held the office until 1915. They changed their headquarters several times and soon got on a sound footing. Today their total funds were £6,341 & their sick and funeral fund was worth £5,238. The court was going on very well indeed.

1925 07 03
The annual swim through Cambridge may be said to rank as one of the finest races witnessed since its inception. There were 37 competitors, including 14 ladies. The course followed by the swimmers from the Old Mill, Mill Lane to Strange's Boathouse, Jesus Lock, via the Backs of the colleges is approximately 1,360 yards. The town turned out in force at every point of vantage to watch the progress of the swimmers. H.P. Lavender passed the winning post barely five yards in front of Miss Lavender amidst the applause of the onlookers.

Comberton fair, p5

1925 07 04
A device which would prove invaluable in any Cambridge home is the Permutit Household Water Softener. A lecturer said Cambridge water is good except for the large amount of chalk, which is responsible for the hardness of the water. He demonstrated with the aid of the apparatus how hardness could be eliminated and a water produced which was softer than rain water but without its disadvantages.

1925 07 06
As from July 1st all policemen will live rent free, the Chief Constable reported. The need for a police house at Harston was very urgent because the owner of the house which the policeman now occupied had been waiting until the officer moved before he could get married. The new Cambridge town planning scheme was bringing a road from Cherry Hinton to the Ditton and Horningsea road and they wanted a site on the Cambridge side of the new road. At Burwell the police house was complete, with the exception of the water supply

Scout rally, p5

1925 07 07
The Ministry of Transport inquiry into the one-way vehicular traffic scheme in Petty Cury & Market Street, Cambridge, was held in the Guildhall. There was a very small attendance. Cambridge suffered, in common with other old towns, from the traffic problem. There had always been a great deal of traffic in these streets and the congestion was very serious. Both streets were used by motor buses. There were no objections but a great body of people wanted the regulation to cover bicycles as well as other vehicles.

Silver Winkle club, p6

1925 07 08
Fenton presentation, p5

1925 07 09
A traction engine driver was fined for assaulting Octavia Bocock, farmer and a well-known cricketer of Ashley. He had seen the man with his traction engine on the road near his pond where it had stopped to take water. He had no right to do so without permission. The driver said he had permission from the foreman to take two or three pails of water as he could get plenty of clean water at Lydgate. Bocock said he would stand in front of the engine until he paid him 5s. but the driver drove on.

1925 07 09 a
A large portion of the Horseheath Estate, extending over 1,000 acres will be offered for sale by auction. It includes four farms and numerous cottages and small holdings. The most important is Horseheath Park Farm which has been in the occupation of the owner of the estate, Mr T. Wayman Parsons for a number of years. The farm could be readily converted into a capital stud farm, and it is interesting to note that a Derby winner, Plenipotentiary, was trained on the Horseheath Estate.

1925 07 11
Great interest was taken in the wedding in King's College chapel of Dr John Roughton and Miss Alice Hopkinson. Only two weddings had previously taken place in the chapel in the last 28 years. The bride wore a beautiful dress of cream satin with seed pearls and diamantee.

1925 07 11
Part of a boot supplied by a Cambridge firm has led to the identity of an officer who fell in the first year of the war. During the work of exhumation and reburial recently carried out in France there was discovered part of a boot stamped with the name of Messrs G. Dewberry & Son of Sidney Street. An examination of their books showed it belonged to a pair supplied to Lieut. R. Walmesley, late of Magdalene College, whose family lived in Huntingdon.

Chivers factory, p3
Percy Salmon book, p6
Methodist march, p6

1925 07 13
At Saffron Walden town council it was reported that the electricity scheme was now complete and a constant supply could be obtained at any time during the day or night. It was thought that the increase in the cost of the scheme had been the fault of the consulting engineer. The original estimate was for £6,000, now it has amounted to £10,000. In time they would be as proud of their electricity undertaking as they are of their gas undertaking

1925 07 14
Tipperary club, p6
Cinema exhibitors outing, p6

1925 07 16
Charabancs, motor cars and other vehicles of transport conveyed hundreds of people from miles around to Shippea Hill on Sunday evening to listen to Gypsy Smith who was paying his annual visit to Messrs Chivers' factory. So dense was the throng that scores were left outside and he adjourned to the open air where between 1,000 and 2,000 persons strove to get within hearing distance of him. Touching scenes were witnessed during the proceedings, causing many a man and woman to weep unashamed. It was an inspiring service which will live in the memories of those who attended it.

1925 07 17
The acquisition by Jesus College of the old Newmarket Railway has enabled them to develop the Station building estate by the construction of Coleridge Road, and they are offering freehold land in suitable plots for the erection of private dwelling houses in open and healthy surroundings, with ample garden ground. Coleridge Road has been constructed by the college at great expense & is the first in Cambridge constructed of reinforced concrete. Lots are offered at prices from £225 to £250.

Ely burglary, p5

1925 07 18
In the year 1625 Nicholas Ferrar, Fellow of Clare Hall, formed a religious community at the Manor House, Lt Gidding and on Tuesday descendants of the small sect flocked to Huntingdonshire's pretty hamlet to witness and participate in the services. The two morning services were poorly attended, but by the afternoon several hundreds of people had assembled for an open-air meeting to hear an address on the community which the late Dr A.C. Benson had written in anticipation of speaking at the celebrations.

1925 07 18
The R.A.C. has now opened an additional local office at no.1 Bene't Street, Cambridge, in the heart of the town, and will be of service not only to residents but also to visitors, who will find information about the colleges and other points of interest. A spacious reading room is provided for the use of associate members. The office will cover the counties of Cambridgeshire, Huntingdonshire & Bedfordshire.

Chesterton footbridge, p6

1925 07 20
The Saffron Walden Rotary Club received its charter of membership of the Rotary Clubs of the world. Over a hundred members and guests attended. From today Rotary would be an established thing in the district. Men however intimate with one another had more chance of being so when they became fellow-Rotarians. The movement had no class, creed or politics and therefore all members were equal

1925 07 20
Albert Fuller of London told Saffron Walden county court he had viewed an inn at Littlebury, but did not make an offer for is as it was unacceptable. He later went to the Eight Bells public house, Saffron Walden and agreed to buy it for £225 to include billiard tables & furniture, plus the brewer's inventory of another £200. The money would be returned if he was not accepted by the brewers as tenant. A day later his wife was taken ill and died. The brewers did not accept a tenant who had no wife or grown-up daughter. The judge ordered his deposit of £25 to be returned.

Lt Gidding celebration, p6

1925 07 21
An accident of a very serious nature occurred at Ely Sugar Beet Factory. A man named White was near the railway line when the dinner bell rang. A general rush is made by the workers for their various meal places and it is thought the man had left some of his tools on the permanent way. Shunting was taking place but he thought he could get his tools in time. However he fell with the result that one of the engine wheels passed over his leg.

1925 07 22
The annual show held under the auspices of the Wilburton Women's Institute and village took place at St Peter's Hall. "Without a doubt the finest show ever held in Wilburton" was the remark made by the horticultural judge. Here were staged come of the finest specimens the district could produce. Some fine black currants were exhibited by Mr J. Sneesby, Mr W. Norfolk swept the board with some perfect tomatoes & Mrs Healey Wilson had a mauve colour table decoration which claimed first prize.

1925 07 23
Thunderstorms swept the country. When the storm was at its height, a four-valve A.J.S. wireless set at Manor Farm, Orwell was wrecked and considerable damage was done in the sitting room where it was installed. The set was switched off at the safety switch but notwithstanding this the lightning passed through the set and there was a loud explosion, parts of the set being scattered all over the room.

1925 07 25
Another great improvement has been carried out over the Old West River at Stretham Ferry. This is a great boon to motorists for the structure takes the place of one of those old, narrow, hump-backed, awkward bridges which are veritable death-traps in these days of rapid road travel. The new bridge is at an easier angle, provides room for two vehicles to pass each other and affords a fair amount of visibility of approaching traffic. It should tend greatly to diminish the danger of a spot which has long been a bug bear to travellers on the Ely road.

1925 07 25
Rumours were afloat in Ely that the whole of the employees at the Beet Sugar Factory were out on strike. The trouble was in fact only in the carpenters' section. Some had been working as many as 100 hours per week & bearing in mind that such a lengthy period of employment was detrimental to the men's health officials had decided to limit the maximum number of hours to 56 and employ more men. This led to unrest among the carpenters 180 of whom "downed tools"

Zanzibar hoax, p6
Newmarket

Road improvement, p6
Icecream barrow, p6*

1925 07 27
Ely R.D.C. received a petition from Haddenham ratepayers protesting at the great inconvenience caused by the want of water for domestic purposes. But Mr Camps said the petition came as a surprise as they had a public meeting to decide whether they should have piped water and 150 electors were present but only one person voted for it. There was a strong feeling against but if the matter could be remedied by cleaning out the wells the people would appreciate the kindness of the council.

1925 07 28
Keynes engagement, p5

1925 07 29
The Vicar said he had a vision. Littleport was growing. There were houses in which people lived that were not suitable for habitation or for a sick person to be kept in, especially a mother who was about to be confined. He wanted to see a hospital with four or five beds where expectant mothers could go to and be watched over with loving care, freed from the anxieties of home troubles. With a doctor and a trained nurse at hand the mother would be afforded untold relief. Littleport could rise to the expense and carry the scheme through.

1925 07 29
Sir. I was stopped by an aged and indignant citizen who drew my attention to the insertion of wooden pegs about a large proportion of Christ's Pieces. It seems that a large slice is to be taken off for the accommodation of motor cars and buses. Seven or eight lime trees will have to be cut down. It is vandalism to sacrifice a shady pleasance in the centre of town in order to make a motor park. Must Christ's Pieces be mutilated? – F.E.Y.

1925 07 31
For an hour and a half Cambridge Town Council discussed the question of taking a portion of Christ's Pieces for the parking of 'buses and private cars. Strong opposition to the scheme was forthcoming but in the end the council agreed. The site will conveniently accommodate 12 buses and at least 35 cars. It would apply to country bus services only, of which there are nine belonging to the Ortona bus company and three belonging to other persons. The whole of the Ortona country service buses, which now stand on Senate House Hill will be removed to the new parking centre.

August 1925 CDN

1925 08 01
CHRISTS Pieces mutilation, p5
No more war preparations, p6
New Labour club, p6

1925 08 03
Mammoth show, p3
No more war, p3

1925 08 04
Mammoth show, p3

1925 08 05
The wedding took place in the Registrar's room at St Pancras Town Hall of Mr J. Maynard Keynes, the well-known political economist & son of the Registrary of the University and Councillor Mrs Keynes, to Mlle Lopokova, the famous Russian dancer. A slight graceful figure in a light fawn Kasha costume and a tight-fitting brown straw hat, she was recognised at once by the crowd as she arrived in a taxicab with Mr Keynes. A woman enthusiast showered them with confetti – an ordeal they survived with smiling grace.

Obstructing traffic, p4
1925 08 06
Ugly council houses, p4*

1925 08 07
Sir – the proposed garage on Christ's Pieces has called forth a crop of protesting letters; let them be directed against the ugly, barrack-like Councils houses at Chesterton and Cavendish Avenue. The majority of the houses are literally a blot on the landscape, badly designed, dreary and poverty-stricken, they are eyesores to every passer-by. Yet they are being built without a word of protest, while the cutting down of a couple of trees evokes a regular storm of indignation – Kappal

1925 08 07
Sawston's sewerage system being in level country it constantly needs flushing and for this purpose the Parish Council has been paying labour. A scheme was now proposed by which water would be raised by windmill pump on land standing in the highest part of the village to flush out the pipes. At Linton people emptied refuse into the gutterways so that the matter ran into the river and accumulated there.

1925 08 08
The Corporation seems to have stirred up a good deal of indignation by their proposals with regard to the Drummer Street "motor park". In a town like Cambridge it certainly seems unwise to do anything that may detract from its attractiveness. A suggestion has been put that the 'park' should be established on Butt's Green and not at Drummer Street at all. A petition has been presented to the Mayor asking her to call at Town's meeting and it is hoped that the request will be acceded to.

Health, p3
Broadcasting Cambridge, p6

1925 08 10
Sir – Much has been written about the street lighting of Cambridge. Emmanuel Road, Emmanuel Street and Drummer Street are all under repair and consequently all the main road traffic has to proceed via Clarendon Street or New Square. Yet in the whole length of these roads not a single lamp is lighted at nights. In fact in the whole district there is not one lamp. Isn't it time that something was done to instil a little sense into the heads of those who direct the town affairs? It is false economy to make the streets danger traps for motorists, cyclists & pedestrians. – F.I. Cowles

1925 08 11
In the House of Commons reference was made to complaints by hundreds of listeners in Essex that since the removal of the high-power station of the BBC from Chelmsford to Daventry, their crystal sets have been rendered useless. In view of the fact that these sets were in a large number of cases, in the possession of comparatively poor people, the Postmaster General was asked to take steps to ensure that the wireless news shall become audible in Essex.

1925 08 11
A serious fire occurred at Sandons Farm, Ashdon. It was first noticed in a motor house which contained one lorry and a farm tractor. The Fire Brigade were handicapped by an inadequate supply of water but were able to save several buildings. Had the brigade been called by telephone from Ashdon they could have arrived earlier, but instead a messenger came by road and in consequence much valuable time was lost. This is the largest fire in the district for some years.

Christs Pieces, p5

1925 08 12

Ely was nearly dry from noon on Monday to 11am Tuesday owing to the city's water supply from Isleham having been held up through the bursting of a main at Stuntney, where water spouted two feet into the air. Residents were warned by Mr R. Wayman, the city's blind crier, that water should be used carefully. The lower part of Ely was more fortunate as the reservoir on Cambridge Road contained 80,000 gallons. This was run off at slow pressure and they were kept supplied until about 7 pm.

1925 08 12
Ely wants a pied piper. For weeks past allotment holders in Barton Fields have been missing produce such as peas & broad beans and have attributed the blame to two-legged thieves. But much 'stolen' produce was found stored between a rhubarb bed & a rubbish heap, where a big rat was acting as sentry. In the evening an army of rats of all sizes was seen to emerge from an adjacent ditch & begin to remove their plunder to a spare 'storehouse'. One horticulturist says they leave tracks which are so distinct one would think that sheep had been making their way over the plots.

1925 08 12
The protest meeting against the taking of part of Christ's Pieces for parking motor vehicles attracted a crowd of over 2,000 people to Drummer Street & was marked by a remarkable climax. After a resolution of protest had been passed the crowd voted a desire to take it to the Mayor that night. Speeches had been delivered from a four-wheeled waggon and the shafts were quickly manned and the waggon containing councillors who had spoken was dragged at a good pace to the Mayor's house in Newton Road. Something like a 1,000 people followed in its wake.

1925 08 13
Christs Pieces letters, p6

1925 08 14
Ely whirlwind, p6

1925 08 15
Christs Pieces encroachment – map, p6

1925 08 17
Christs Pieces debate, p5

1925 08 18
Jack Hobbs feat, p5

1925 08 20
Members of the veterinary and medical sciences cemented feelings of professional friendship with the laying of the foundation stone of the Field Laboratories, Milton Road, in connection with the Institute of Animal Pathology which is to be erected in Tennis Court Road, Cambridge. Recent benefactions to the University of £100,000 from Mr Gates, the Rockerfellow Foundation & the Corn Repeal Act Fund are to be drawn upon for the erection of the new unit. The vice-chancellor remarked jestingly that he was relieved that it was proposed to keep the greater number of animals here, "some little distance from Cambridge & from where I live" (Laughter)

1925 08 20
It was agreed to form a Cambridgeshire Walking Club to create more interest in this class of athletics. This would make walking more popular and they would be able to have club walks. Mr Fell said he had tried to get a club going for the past 24 years and was pleased to see that the young men were now taking a great interest in the movement. A man that ran round the track knew very little about the man who walked round, he said.

District housing week, p3

T.B. Hunt, photographer, found with wounds to throat, p5*
Silver cup, p6

1925 08 22
The Ely council chairman said he had no idea things were so bad in Haddenham and that people had to walk half a mile to fetch water. Mr Hepher said there was plenty of pure water in the parish, but not a good distribution. It would cost something like £7,000 to take water as far as the Cross Keys and about £10,000 if a supply was taken another mile and some who signed the petition would drop out. Mr Darby said they should consult Haddenham before they enforced the silly expenditure on the village.

Hobbs film, p6
Cambridge snobbish?, p6

1925 08 24
As the result of an open-air meeting on Parker's Piece efforts are being made to form a Ratepayers' Association whose first business will be to contest the legality of the Cambridge Town Council's action in encroaching on Christ's Pieces for the purpose of providing a parking place for motor vehicles. This was absolutely illegal. Within twelve months the continual movement of vehicles on what was virtually a made-up bog the road would drop six inches. The Ortona Bus Company will be the first people to say they have been pushed into a rotten corner that is of no use to them.

1925 08 25
At the Institute of Journalists conference it was suggested that Cambridge University should experiment in founding a faculty of journalism with a view to raising the standard of journalism and journalists. But Cambridge had no teachers who could deal with journalistic matters and if they were to institute a diploma which did not include knowledge of the inside working of a newspaper office it would give little weight behind a man applying for a job. Cambridge turned out the raw material and it was up to the journalistic profession to get the men they turned out.

1925 08 27
With regard to water supplies in the Newmarket rural district 83 of the 103 water samples taken for analysis were reported to be polluted. In Soham where about 100 houses were supplied from 56 polluted wells, 53 have been connected with the public water main and now of 1,123 structurally separated dwellings 860 are supplied from the mains. At Bottisham 12 samples taken from different wells at the north end of the village all afforded evidence of pollution. In Linton a new public well has been bored into the chalk & consideration has been given to the provision of a new public well at Milton which it is expected will shortly be proceeded with.

1925 08 27
By the passing away of Mr John Young of Witchford Cambridgeshire has lost what is believed to be her last Indian Mutiny veteran. Born at Sutton in 1840 he possessed all the British fighting spirit of his grandfather who had helped the Duke of Wellington overthrow Napoleon Bonaparte at Waterloo. He was a 15-year-old boy when he joined the army and two years later left for India where the never-to-be-forgotten mutiny was in progress. Often he would tell of the siege of Lucknow and the massacre at Cawnpore almost as graphically and vividly as any historian could write. On one occasion two men, one on either side of him, were shot down by the rebels, he himself sustaining no injury.

1925 08 27
Such good progress has been made since activities first commenced in October last that it is expected that the Ely Beet Sugar Factory will be fully erected and equipped within the next four weeks or so. The whole frontage of the river has been concreted and unloading berths provided for 30 barges. There are farmers situated several miles from a railway station but near the river and the Factory Company are having their own fleet of steel barges which will be towed by tugs propelled by oil engines. Two overhead cranes, worked by electrical power, can be run along the quayside and used to empty the barges.

Ratepayers association formed, p5

1925 08 29
Sir Charles Walston expressed pleasure that the Air Ministry were anxious to avoid pollution of Offa's Brook by petrol or oil from Duxford airfield. For a great many years inhabitants of Newton had drunk the water from the brook & he had never heard of any case of typhoid in the locality. Now by strange coincidence, within a fortnight of the examination of the sewage system of the aerodrome by Ministry experts, two cases of typhoid had occurred. "With all due respect to the expert opinion of these Ministries", he said, "the combination of oil and sewage effluent may be favourable for the breeding of dangerous bacilli"

School MoH report, p3
Duxford air crash, p5

1925 08 31
Air crash inquest, p5
New Theatre annual report, p6

September 1925 CDN

1925 09 01
Whatever the merits of the controversy which the site of the Jesus Green Baths aroused a few months back, there can be only one opinion as to the usefulness of the baths themselves. Thousands of happy, healthy hours have been spent there this season; in the last four months 20,000 tickets have been issued for male bathers alone. With such vast number of swims it is inevitable that mishaps should occur. Mr W. Clee states that 25 rescues from drowning have been made. In most instances bathers of indifferent ability have ventured into deep water and then lost their nerve at the thought of not being able to swim to the ladders. In addition nine children have had to be pulled out of the river opposite the bathing sheds. Despite a warning board children persist in paddling and frequently venture into water that is too deep.

1925 09 01
There is an epidemic of scarlet fever in the district and the Newmarket fever hospital is full. Some patients are being sent to Cambridge Fever Hospital at an expense of 2½ guineas a week. At present the accommodation for nurses in the hospital is so limited than nurses have to sleep in the wards used for cases brought in and suspected of infectious disease before any fever has developed. The Hospital Board are strongly in favour of providing more accommodation for the nurses but the slow progress of the Newmarket Housing scheme and the fact that there is practically no unemployment in the building trade has rendered it inadvisable to divert labour to the extension of the fever hospital

1925 09 03
Linton Rural District Council congratulated themselves on the latest movement in their house building campaign. Houses are to be built at Balsham at £400 or less apiece – assuming free sites can be obtained. On these conditions rents of 4s 6d a week are to be charged and the cost to the rates is only a farthing in the £. They were also likely to be able to build houses at West Wickham and Carlton and there were vacant sites at Sawston & Hildersham. The Government would give £12.10s a year for 40 years for every cottage built.

1925 09 04
Linton poor law guardians, p3

1925 09 05

In spite of the difficulties caused by the long drought in June and July and the recent heavy rains, the harvest in most districts will be up to the average; one or two even say it will be better. At Cherry Hinton twelve hours incessant downfall on August 4th have delayed the end of the harvest in some cases. Potatoes, mangolds and sugar beet look well on the low land where sown early, but otherwise they were checked by the drought and will prove a light crop. At Cottenham plums are a variable crop and light except in a few orchards where we hear of wonderful crops

1925 09 05
Sir – When are Fulbrooke and Owlstone Roads going to be taken in hand. The longer they are left the greater the disgrace to companies who cut channels across the roads and never filled them in properly. Grantchester Meadows beyond Marlowe Road does not win much praise from foot passengers, and it is the approach to the most popular walk around Cambridge. As someone has rather neatly said 'The road to Paradise is a path of difficulty'

1925 09 07
Enthusiastic scenes marked the close of the Brass Band Contest in Cambridge Guildhall, which was won by the Cambridge Railway Silver Prize Band, the only local competitors. When the result was announced there was a furore of applause from the large audience present, and the bandsmen themselves momentarily lost their heads in their enthusiasm. The dignity of the large hall, which had rung for well nigh two hours with the blare of brass instruments was quite forgotten. Hats were thrown high into the air and trombones and cornets waved to delighted friends among the audience.

1925 09 09
Pointed speeches and noise in plenty characterised the public meeting held at Haddenham to discuss the question of a water supply to the village. A few weeks ago a petition signed by over 100 residents was sent asking for a supply. Pandemonium reigned at the back of the room, there being so much noise that speakers could not make themselves heard. The proceedings were temporality transformed into a wordy conflict between leather-lunged 'waterites' and 'non-waterites' near the doorway and it was several minutes before peace was restored. Mr Peacock said he was never out for water just to wash his car and have his bath. They should ask people who had dyke water not good enough to drink about the matter. Mr Camps said that if they wanted water they should have their own reservoir.

1925 09 10
There is to be no change in the wages of agricultural workers over 21 years of age for the next twelve months. The County Wages Committee have decided that labourers are to receive 30s for a 48-hour week as from November 1st, and 30s for a 51-hour week commencing March next year. That is a continuation of the rates now prevailing. The workmen's representative pressed for £2 and a 48-hour week all the year round.

Ely cycling, p5
Roof-topped buses, p4

1925 09 11
Gog Magog blaze, p5
Torchlight tattoo, p5

1925 09 12
Newmarket Urban Council considered handing over the administration of certain allotments to the Newmarket Allotments Association Ltd. The allotments to be handed over are the Ditton allotments, the White Gate allotments, the Railway allotments & the Field terrace allotments. The Association is to pay an annual rent of £190 a year and to maintain the hedges, fences, roads and boundary stakes in as good order & condition as now. Two entrances at the bottom of the Field Terrace road would be stopped up which would leave additional plots of ground surplus to requirements, but the Council may offer these for sale as building plots at some future date.

1925 09 12
At Ely police court Albert Coulson of Stansted was summoned for driving a locomotive at a speed over the two miles per hour limit on the highway at Littleport. Police Sergeant Moon said he considered defendant was travelling at eight mph, and he got on his bicycle, caught up and stopped him. The latter said he was doing four mph and could not do eight mph. The policeman said he had seen locomotives go even faster than that. Fined 10s

Riskitt & Betty, p6

1925 09 14
A party of Cambridge people had a nasty experience when returning by charabanc from a trip to Yarmouth. When about two miles from Newmarket the petrol pipe broke and some petrol became ignited. Passengers jumped from the car which belonged to Messrs Brown Bros of Abbey Road, Cambridge, but only slight damage was done and the only person injured was a lady who sprained her ankle. A second car was following and some of the passengers were transferred to this. The damaged car was patched up and both proceeded to Cambridge.

1925 09 15
The East Cambridgeshire Motor Cycle and Light Car Club held their motor cycle 'Rodeo' at Fordham. The track was in good condition and some really exciting racing was witnessed. The events included Balloon Bursting, Ski-riding, Potato race, Polo match & Egg and Spoon Race. Riding Mechanical Lizzie - this was a pole mounted on two wheels and D. Muggleton gave a splendid exhibition of riding whilst drawn by a motor cycle. He survived one round, but on the second he fell off, and the wheel collapsed, to the intense merriment of the spectators.

1925 09 17
No-one at the wheel, p6

1925 09 18
The danger arising from coins being thrown on to a theatre stage was emphasised when a man was fined £1 for damaging an electric bulb in the New Theatre. The bulb was splintered and flying glass might have gone into the eyes of the artistes and cause serious injury. Defendant said he threw two halfpennies to a comedian because he did not like the song he was singing. He did not know a bulb was broken.

Central dance hall, p5
Share-out clubs, p5

1925 09 19
Cambridge Town Council will consider a report as to the sale of houses to persons having little or no capital. Purchasers would pay a weekly sum, being more than the normal rent and the house would be conveyed to him when he had paid an amount equal to the difference between the cost and the mortgage. The weekly rent for a three-bedroomed house, sale price £600 would be 11s. If the purchaser paid 16s a week the property could be transferred and the mortgage executed after two years.

1925 09 21
Library lectures, p5

1925 09 23
Two memorials of former members of the congregation were unveiled at St Barnabas church. The first was a tablet in memory of Mr William Saint. There were several sacred buildings in Cambridge which spoke of his skill and work. A stained glass window was dedicated to James Ringe who rose to the rank of express engine driver on the passenger train from Cambridge to York. It was the work of Messrs McLean-Leach & son.

1925 09 23
Mr Taylor, employed by Messrs Pamplin Bros. of Cherry Hinton as a steam roller driver told the court he stopped the roller and living van near Bartlow cross-roads for the night. He left the van locked. In the van was half a pound of cooked ham, four eggs, half a pound of butter and a quarter pound of Brooke Bond's tea. Next morning the door had been broken open and the provisions taken.

1925 09 23
Sturton Street Methodist church hall was packed when Mr W.J. Parr gave an interesting talk upon "Memories". 50 years back Sturton Town was a new district of Cambridge. He remembered having to wade through water and mud ankle deep, and being often carried over the roads by his parents. He reminisced about the singing and parading of the streets by the Primitives, then known as 'Ranters' who went out singing 'Hark! the Gospel news!' He urged the young men and women to carry on and in the coming 50 years get a larger church, which they greatly needed.

1925 09 24
Coun Porter said councillors might not realise what an old crock the ferry over the Cam at Chesterton was. When one went over in rough weather the water had to be baled out and the sides of the ferry shook. At the time of the fair the ferryman would not risk taking over a crowd of people because it was so dangerous. Children were taking a very great risk in using the ferry and the council taking the greatest risk of all in not taking steps to prevent somebody being drowned. The ferry was obsolete, it should be condemned at once and done away with.

1925 09 25
Pure feed for fish, p5
Canterbury Street bungalows, p5

1925 09 26
The great annual rat hunt week, organised by the Ministry of Agriculture, will take place in November. Already brigades of Boy Scouts have been enlisted for this Great War. Rats are more numerous this year, having returned to their winter quarters in the towns earlier than usual owing to the cold snap and early harvesting.

1925 09 26
Five donkeys and two horses composed Stourbridge Horse Fair. Year by year this once famous animal sale had dwindled. Twenty years ago there were about 100 animals brought to the Fair. As far as the main fair is concerned there are a few more booths than there were last year. The licence allows the Fair to last six weeks. Actually it goes on for three days.

1925 09 26
Chesterton council heard of overcrowding in Great Wilbraham. In one instance a man was living with his wife and 12 children in a house containing one bedroom. In the same yard was a house of four rooms in which there were generally 16 people sleeping. The owner said the overcrowding occurred subsequent to the letting of the houses and under present tenancy laws it was impossible to get rid of the occupiers without providing other accommodation for them

Sale Isleham & Fordham – Fyson, p5

1925 09 29
Ely police concert, p5

October 1925 CDN

1925 10 01
The problem of safety first in the Cambridge streets was addressed by the University Vice-Chancellor. "The motor habit, when it becomes an obsession, induces a state of mind out of harmony with the best traditions of Cambridge. The alarming increase in the number of motor vehicles called for some legislation and regulations prohibiting the use of motor vehicles by undergraduates in their first year have now been approved. Total prohibition may become a necessity but I prefer to think so drastic an act may be rendered unnecessary by loyal acceptance of the reasonable restrictions which have been sanctioned".

1925 10 01
The ceremony of laying the foundation stone of the new Evangelical Free Church at Swaffham Bulbeck was performed. Four big stones were laid and a number of bricks, the donors having each given a guinea towards the church fund. The site was given ten years ago and it is estimated the church will cost £850. Captain Tinton made a plea for the retaining of the mission hall, little would be got for it if it were sold and it might be utilised as a social amusement institute for young men. Mr Selby said that it was in 1900 that the Free Church Wardens' Society was formed with the object of providing a building for Nonconformists to worship in and when the building was opened it is hoped all the debt may be cleared off.

Through East Anglia in a lorry, p3

1925 10 02
The new Harvey Goodwin Home for Boys which has been erected at St Luke's Park, Victoria Road, Cambridge under the auspices of the Church of England Society for Providing Homes for Children (Waifs and Strays) was formally opened. The house is a fine, red brick building, capable of housing 35 boys and stands on a splendid site, and within its own grounds. The Bishop of Ely spoke of the work of sending boys from these homes to the Dominions under proper supervision.

1925 10 03
In October when summer time is over, people turn again to books, and now there is a library in every village the population of rural Cambridgeshire need not be at a loss for occupation, recreation and means of improvement during the winter evenings. Borrowers will be glad to learn that many additions have been made. The well-stocked agricultural and horticultural section has been enriched and books on basketry, rush and straw works, hat-making and other home crafts added. Radio enthusiasts have been catered for and there are works dealing with the construction of receiving sets. A large number of books have recently been withdrawn from circulation as a result of careless handling by readers.

1925 10 05
An inquest was held at Soham on the body of a boy aged 3½ who was killed by being run over by a threshing machine. The father said he was a healthy child and had often been with them in the yard and roadway when they were working. He was told an accident had happened and saw his boy lying in the road with his feet towards the grass and his head towards the crown of the road. His little head was crushed flat. The jury agreed that boys were very troublesome and would not keep away from engines. The only way was to give them a touch of the whip, but that would cause trouble with the parents. The jury handed their fees to the father of the deceased lad.

Lorry in flames, p5

1925 10 06
Haverhill motor ambulance, p5

1925 10 07
A Whittlesford man was seriously injured in a motor cycle accident. He was driving his machine on the Huntingdon Road towards Cambridge with two girls on the pillion seat when, near the Madingley turning, he ran into a cow which, with several others, was on the road. The motor cycle overturned and the passengers thrown from the machine. The Borough Police ambulance was summoned and the man and the two girls (who had luckily escaped with cuts about the knees) were taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital where it was ascertained that the man was suffering from a fracture at the base of the skull.

1925 10 08
A Cambridge man who has been at one time or another general labourer, cook, dock labourer, railway worker, amusement caterer, ice-cream vendor, toy retailer, fish merchant, wholesale biscuit dealer and greengrocer, appeared for his public examination in bankruptcy at Cambridge. He had come to Cambridge in 1916 and started an "amusement arcade" in Mill Road. The amusements consisted of automatic machines, darts, games etc. He used to go round public houses with his automatic machines, half the profits were to go to the pub and half to himself. Soon after he opened business the police issued a summons against him and he scrapped four or five gaming machines.

1925 10 08
It is reported from Oxford that the Oxford trousers are rapidly passing, and that plus fours are to reign in their stead. According to a leading tailor they will be in brown shades of Scotch and Shetland tweeds, with shirts, collars stockings and pullover jumpers to harmonise. The day of the vividly coloured jumper is over. The hard felt black hat is also regaining popularity. There have been inquiries for brown bowlers, and they may return to favour

1925 10 09
A crowd of 500 farmers watched with interest a demonstration of sugar beet lifters at the College Farm, Duxford. Altogether there were 10 lifters and as quite a number of growers had not made up their minds as to which lifter they were going to purchase the opportunity of inspecting various machines materially assisted them in making their choice.

1925 10 10
Spalding's Directory, p6

1925 10 12
Saffron Walden loss of corporation horse, p5

1925 10 13
A remarkable demonstration in scientific shoe-fitting is being conducted in Cambridge by Messrs Faulkner and Son, the high-class bootmakers. Gentlemen are invited to have their feet examined by the X-ray pedoscope to determine which of the 54 distinct sizes they require. Gentlemen who do not require shoes at the moment are invited to have their pedal extremities X-rayed so that their size can be registered for future use.

1925 10 14
The principal item dealt with by the County Education Committee was the decision to recommend the scheme for a village college at Sawston. Six villages are catered for in various ways and the provision of a new building would cost no more than the patching up of the existing of the old one. The senior school would provide for 200 boys and girls with rooms for instruction in practical subjects (woodwork, metalwork, cookery, laundry and housewifery, including mothercraft)

1925 10 15
Speaking at the dance organised by the National Fascisti at Cambridge its President made an appeal for more University members of the party. It was not an organisation of hooligans but advocated that this country should be ruled entirely by those of British birth and British descent and not by aliens. They were not prepared to allow Jews to join. They had the courage of their convictions and were prepared, if necessary, to meet force by force. The dance was an unqualified success. There were close on 300 present.

Littleport diphtheria, p3

1925 10 16
The Ely Beet Sugar Factory was officially opened by the Minister of Agriculture. It is about a year since activities in connection with the erection of the factory commenced. Gradually large tracts of arable and pasture land have disappeared beneath the industry of the contractors and today there are well over two acres of buildings on a site of 66 acres. The average number of men employed in building operations had been nearly 1,000 and the wages bill alone had amounted to £100,000. During the factory campaign now commencing they would employ about 500 men.

1925 10 16
The handsome village hall which has been erected by the people of Little Shelford as part of their memorial to the men and women who served in the Great War was opened in the presence of a fairly large company. It has seating accommodation for over 300 persons. A stage has been provided for plays and behind is an operating box so that cinema shows can be given. A kitchen, dressing room etc are also attached. The hall was a record of the great united effort made by everybody in the village, men and women, young and old, for King and Country & was inspired by the same spirit of unity that had won the war.

Fascists formed 15 August, p5

1925 10 17
During the last few days undergraduates have been busy taking out licences for motor cars and motor cycles under the new regulations made with a view to decreasing the traffic in our narrow streets. Undergraduates are not allowed to use any motor vehicle before 12.30 in the morning or after 8.30 at night. An amusing rumour is that proctors are to patrol the streets in a motor car, followed by 'bulldogs' on motor cycles, but there is no necessity for such 'flying squad' methods as garages are to report any undergraduate who has his car out during the prohibited period.

1925 10 17
Something of a new departure is to be made in the outward appearance of the Pro-Proctor and his satellites. Commencing next week he will patrol the streets on foot but minus cap and gown, and the 'bulldogs' will wear some less conspicuous headgear than 'toppers'. It is said that some students will keep their motors outside the town and cycle out to fetch them but should any resort to such expedients they will probably receive an unpleasant surprise.

1925 10 19
A comprehensive scheme for the provision of parking places in Cambridge will be laid before the Town Council who are empowered to authorise any part of a street as a parking place, though no charge can be made for parking cars in the public streets. Sites include Trumpington Street opposite the Leys School, Maids' Causeway, Lensfield Road, King Street & Jesus Lane. In Pound Hill it is proposed to allocate space for parking motor buses from St Neots and St Ives

1925 10 19
Mr T. Musgrave Francis said they had been in search of a site at Harston for the provision of a policeman's house for a long time and had not been able to get one. Eventually they were offered one outside the village and, whilst the price was high, they felt they must accept it. Now, however, Mr Arthur Hurrell had offered the Chief Constable a most suitable site as a gift to the county. They could not have a better site and he moved a vote of thanks.

Hawkin's fire, p5

1925 10 21

Little Downham parish council are hoping to brighten the main parts of their village by means of acetylene gas lamps but they want the money to do it. In expectation of support for such a project they arranged for a public meeting, but scarcely a dozen ratepayers put in an appearance. The idea is to revive a custom started in 1911 when acetylene gas was generated at the Pound, Town End and voluntary subscriptions met the financial obligations. Since the war the gas plant has been lying idle and the lampposts have served only for supports for the weary, but now it is trusted the scheme may be revived.

1925 10 22
There was another 'battle of the bridges' at Cambridge Town Council when the question of the erection of bridges across the Cam was brought forward. With the opening up of Mill Road there were people who only got ten minutes home to dinner owing to delay at the ferry. The Paving committee recommended that the footbridge at Pretoria Road be proceeded with and that a temporary footbridge be erected at Dant's Ferry pending construction of a vehicular bridge. It was dangerous to go over Victoria Bridge and they must have a new vehicular bridge if only to modify that danger.

Soham water scheme complete, p6

1925 10 23
Unemployment, p6

1925 10 24
Wesley House, the new Wesleyan Methodist post-graduate theological college which has risen on a site in Jesus Lane, was formally opened. It was five years ago that the Wesleyan Methodist Conference decided to set up the college at Cambridge and a site was purchased from Jesus college. The architect, Sir Aston Webb, has carried out a pleasing design in red brick. The building comprises accommodation for 29 students. The work of the college has been carried on for the past four years in hired buildings

Toll of roads, p6

1925 10 26
Sir – in the course of clearing the refuse from the household dustbins the employees now have instructions to sort out all empty fish, fruit and other tins from the refuse and leave them behind for the householder to dispose of how he may. This regulation may not be a hardship for those who have a spacious garden where they can dig a hole and bury their tins. But we, the ratepayers of Petersfield Ward, blessed with councillors who have suggested homes in the fields for our poultry, ask them in their wisdom to be good enough to provide us with a home for our empty tins – A.M. Morley

Archery, p5

1925 10 29
Papworth fire, p5

1925 10 30
Chesterton RDC was told that it was very well supplied with water but five parishes had no public pumps, three had private supplies and one relied upon artesian wells where they had 13 wells continuously running. They should take powers to prevent that water running to waste. At Stapleford the council had bought land for the erection of houses but the Cambridge Water Company area did not include the village and although the main passed in front of the land they had no right to supply water.

1925 10 31
Mannequin parade, p5*
House refuse, p6

November 1925 CDN

1925 11 02
A dispute between the Vicar of Meldreth and his Parochial Church Council over the repair of the church and churchyard has come to a head with a petition for a faculty. In 1919 the churchyard was in a scandalous condition and had been made the dumping ground for the village. It contained old boots and tin cans and had been allowed to become infected with jackdaws and bats. Somebody shot the jackdaws from time to time and dead bodies lay about. It had never been mown and tombs were obliterated with brambles.

1925 11 03
Theft of socks, p5
Victoria Cinema tour mix, p5
Isleham church window, p6
Battle of bridge, p6

1925 11 04
Sir – if all the grumblers would combine to get the custodian of the Histon Road cemetery, Cambridge, a better wage they would do some real good. Each man begins cheerfully and willingly, but how can he be expected to keep a good heart and pay for auxiliary labour out of a 25s. wage. Every man who had taken the job has gone out owning himself beaten by a starvation wage. I heard one say he had to buy his own grass-cutting machine and bedding-out plants. Even with a house thrown in the job appears to be more a 'man-trap' than cemetery. – 'Anti-Fat'

1925 11 05
Pearl Lambeth – Barton, p5

1925 11 06
The Vicar of Shepreth's action in placing upon his church door a notice drawing attention to a pamphlet entitled "Work or Starve" was severely criticised at a meeting of the strikers in the East Anglian Cement Company dispute at the village hall. Mr Watering, the men's organiser, gave an account of a somewhat stormy interview with the Vicar and announced his intention of writing to the Bishop over the use of the church door as an advertising medium to divide the strikers. It seemed hardly possible that the dispute had been in progress thirty-five weeks. Only when Colonel Tebbutt was willing to meet the men's representatives and agreed to the approved rate of wages would the strike come to an end.

1925 11 06
Cambridge usually expects a 'rag' on Guy Fawkes' night but this year's affair was of a harmless character, plenty of noise being the chief characteristic. Fireworks galore were discharged and the Market Hill was occasionally lit up with flame-coloured flares. But this was rather a tame sort of amusement for undergraduates and they proceeded to accomplish the now stale feat of extinguishing the gas lamps in the neighbourhood of the Hill. Some undergrads took it into their heads to relight the lamps in the centre, which enabled one of their number to climb the fountain on the top of which something indistinguishable was placed. This being done out went the lamps again, coins being the smashing factor once more.

1925 11 06
Two fires caused damage to the extent of thousands of pounds in Cambridge and both are believed to have been caused by fireworks. It was particularly unfortunate that one occurred a few moments after the other, for the second was a much bigger conflagration than the first, and the fire engine was not then available. The first was to a corn stack in Natal Road but the other was at Messrs Kidman & Sons' wood factory yard and workshops in Abbey Walk. The outbreak occurred at the end of the building nearest the Coldham's Common allotments, but it quickly spread along the rafters and within ten minutes there was no earthly chance of saving the building. The roof of St Columba's Mission Hall was soon alight and the outskirts of Simper's rope works also began to blaze.

Crossing white line, p5
Cycle club jubilee, p6

1925 11 07
There are at least two very happy married couples in Cambridgeshire today. In Melbourn there dwell Mr & Mrs John Preston Hall, who were married 68 years ago. They have lived in the same old-world thatched cottage in Drury Lane for 65 years. He is a working carpenter and at one time there were seven of his people all over 70. In Horningsea are another married couple whose name, curiously enough, is Melbourn, who celebrate their diamond wedding. Mr Melbourn worked on one farm from early boyhood until a few years ago. Hearty congratulations to both couples on their wonderful record

Mayor Mrs Hartree year review, p3

1925 11 09
The adjourned sitting of the Ely Consistory Court severely criticised the Vicar of Meldreth. The vicar said he felt plans by the Parochial Church Council regarding the church path was an attempt to interfere with consecrated ground and the graves of the dead. It was monstrous to disturb the dead who cannot take care of themselves and he stood for the dead in his churchyard. It was impossible for him to attend meetings of the church council owing to the attitude of one of the members. Everything connected with the council, the parish and everything else he was always finding fault with and complaining. It was impossible for the vicar, as chairman to attend any longer. So he gave up.

1925 11 09 c
Three undergraduates were fined £2 each for extinguishing street lamps. James Haynes, a watchman said he saw the gentlemen approach Drummer Street. They overturned the brazier containing his fire and he had to put the fire out because the tar on the pavement commenced to flare. He saw them turn out the light of a lamp in Emmanuel Street. Two of them hoisted another up to do this. In Short Street they turned out three more lights and another five were turned out along Victoria Avenue.

1925 11 10
Three-card trick, p5 (& 12th)

1925 11 11
With commendable solemnity Cambridge honoured England's dead. Never before was the Two Minutes Silence so well observed in the busy parts of the town, a striking testimony to the increasing reverence which is attached to this impressive ceremony. Many wore their poppies as an outward sign of their remembrance and heads were reverently bared as the first maroon boomed forth from Parker's Piece. Except for a few instances of chronic forgetfulness or callous disregard the silence was complete

Fen Drayton smallholdings, p3

1925 11 12
During the Newmarket race meeting season gangs of card twisters took out railway tickets to cover the period and 'worked' the trains between Newmarket and London. People were enticed to play, or if they refused, they were in serious danger of being assaulted. A Cambridge undergraduate was deprived of two banker's cheques, valued at £10, by the three card trick whilst playing in the train. As a result two men were sentenced to four month's imprisonment

1925 11 13
Cambridge dog show, p3

1925 11 14
"We the undersigned, convinced that all disputes between nations are capable of settlement by diplomatic negotiation, hereby solemnly declare that she shall refuse to support or render war service to any Government which resorts to arms". The declaration having been signed by members of the University they called a public meeting. The hall was nearly filled with undergraduates but a section of the audience showed their displeasure by continual interruption. Mr G.L. Trevelyan spoke of the horrors to be met in the next war, and was greeted with the remark: "No they will kill us nice and cleanly in the next war".

1925 11 14
Rarely does a stranger pay a visit to Cambridge in term time without commenting on the extraordinary number of bicycles to be found here. But apparently we cannot claim the record for the number of bicycles in proportion to the population. The number of push bicycles in Bedford is computed to be five to every six people. They have no tramway system and an inadequate service of omnibuses. On market day bicycles are propped against every wall and in one place they were almost two deep for 150 yards.

New Chesterton Institute 40th party, p6
Cottenham fruit picking station, p6

1925 11 16
Tango at Liberal Club, p5
Cottenham slaughterhouse, p5

1925 11 17
Mr Sidney William Washington, of Littleport, was a member of the crew of the great submarine M1, which was reported to have sunk with all hands off the Devonshire coast. It means the breaking of a happy romance, for only three months ago he was married. To the young wife and his parents the news came as a great shock. They first gained the sad information from the daily newspapers and official confirmation was forthcoming from the naval authorities when a letter was received that no hope was entertained for the crew's survival. An invitation was extended to them to attend a funeral service at Portsmouth. In Cambridge the deepest sympathy will be felt for Mrs M.G. Philpott, whose eldest son was aboard the M1 when she made her last dive.

Ely flower & feather show, p3

1925 11 18
Enormous interest was taken in the result of an inquest on an 11 year-old boy, the son of a college servant, who was killed in Victoria Avenue, Cambridge, by being knocked down by a motor car driven by an undergraduate of Emmanuel College. He had driven a hired Morris Oxford car with defective brakes at an excessive speed round the bend of the road and on the wrong side. The student was committed for trial on a charge of manslaughter

1925 11 18
The 100ft high chimney stack which has stood for close on 300 years on the site of the old disused flour mill at the corner of Mill Lane and Granta Place, Cambridge, was pulled down. A platform was erected at the base of the stack which rises from the now dry river bed, and fuel in the form of straw, wood and corn was placed thereon. The whole was then soaked with paraffin oil, a match applied and the work of destruction begun. But the old giant took a deal of shifting and it was not until the flames had licked about his feet for over a quarter of an hour did he sway and crash to the ground amid a deafening crescendo of falling masonry.

1925 11 18 c
Foreign missions take an important place in the religious life of Cambridge, and the reports from China of the shocking ill-treatment and martyrdom of missionaries at the hands of the Boxers, have been read with grave anxiety and pain in this town. The fate of Mr & Mrs Herbert Dixon has greatly exercised the minds of their many friends and it is now recognised that all hope of their having escaped is past. They were for some months in Cambridge, residing at Mill Road and when leaving were recipients of presentations from the congregation of St Andrew's Street Baptist church. Another melancholy case is that of the sister of Mr Doggett of The Farm, Cherry Hinton but Miss Gregg has escaped and is now on her way home.

1925 11 19
Major D.J. Fryer, prospective candidate for the Isle of Ely, speaking at a Labour meeting held in the Ely Co-operative Hall, said he was so ashamed at Mr Winston Churchill's reduction of the super-tax and income tax that he gave £123, which he was saved from paying, to the Shepreth strikers. It was nonsense, he remarked, to pretend such men as himself needed relief. The Government should start at the other end of the scale.

Mania for bicycles, p3

1925 11 21
In Cambridge, as throughout the country, the sad tidings of the death of the Queen Mother were received with feelings of profound sorrow. The flags on the University buildings, colleges, churches, municipal buildings were half-masted, and at various places of entertainment the audiences, on hearing the news announced, stood in silence while the National Anthem was played. The Mayor moved a vote of sympathy with their Majesties King George V and the Queen on the loss of their mother. To every Englishman the name of Alexandra has stood for love and sympathy.

Share-out clubs, p3
Queen Alexandra & Cambridge, p5
Cambridge learns about itself, p8

1925 11 23
C.L. Tebbutt death, p5

1925 11 24
Mr John Berry Hobbs, the English, Surrey and Cambridgeshire cricketer, was honoured by his native town when over 400 sportsmen from all parts of the country gathered at the Cambridge Guildhall to meet 'the greatest batsman of the age'. Four well-known County captains, including three former leaders of England, accepted invitations and all paid tributes to the master batsman. Autograph hunters were busy during the evening and Mr Hobbs, Mr Warner, Mr Leveson-Gower and Mr Fender must now be suffering from writer's cramp.

Tipperary club, p5

1925 11 24 ES
L.N.E.R. installing a coaling plant at white moor to be operated mechanically, constructing a triangle for engine turning purposes, providing additional water facilities 50 11 24(2)ES

1925 11 25
Sir – is it not time that attention was drawn to the question of homework meted out to the boys at the Cambridge and County School? Is it right that boys of tender years, between the ages of 10 and 16 should, after doing a day's work at school, sit up night after night till the hours of 10, 11 and even 12 o'clock, pouring over lessons long after their brains refuse to function. If parents complain to the school the boy subsequently bears the brunt of it. I should like to know if other parents are experiencing the same difficulty – A Parent

1925 11 26

A Soham farmer was summoned for employing a child under the age of 14 years 'in such a manner as to prevent him attending school at Soham'. The school attendance officer saw a number of children working in a field picking potatoes. The farmer said he was most anxious to get his crop in before the frosts and he employed all the men and women he could get. The school had closed for a fortnight on account of the scarcity of labour so he did not think there was any harm in employing children. He was fined 10s.

B. Campkin presentation, p3
Captain Tebbutt inquest & funeral, p5*

1925 11 26 c
At the close of the public examination in bankruptcy of Dr - - of Bottisham the official receiver said he had received a resolution of sympathy passed by all the debtors' creditors – all except the money lenders. He was a medical practitioner and had invested all his capital in the practice, which he continued successfully until the war. About three years ago he got into financial difficulties and had recourse to money lenders; he had been in their hands ever since, sometimes borrowing from one to repay another.

1925 11 27
Acclaimed as the Swedish nightingale in 1850 and taking the world by storm, Jenny Lind has been re-born in 1925 in the person of Frieda Hempel who gave her celebrated 'Jennry Lind' concert in Cambridge Guildhall. A most enthusiastic welcome was accorded by her many admirers for besides having a glorious voice, she possesses great beauty, enhanced last night by white satin rose-trimmed crinoline and her beautiful fair hair parted in the middle.

1925 11 28
Drummer Street parking, p8
Queen Alexandra's visits to Cambridge, p8

December 1925 CDN

1925 12 01
Sir – The scenes on Sunday night in Petty Cury & Market Hill, Cambridge are disgraceful. Low hobbydehop youths and flat-chested flappers congregate and parade, whistling and shouting after each other and using language that would shame Billingsgate. Surely the police can put an end to such disgraceful proceedings – A.E.C.

Defiant parents, p5

1925 12 02
The overnight frost in Cambridge was sufficiently severe to ensure another day's sport for skaters. At the Cambridge sewage Farm, Milton Road, where the ice had a thickness of about two inches, skating was continued with safety and there were quite a number of people, chiefly Varsitymen, "making gay while the ice holds". The popular plus four suit and warm pull-over, is just the thing for this kind of sport, but one noticed a number skating in ordinary suits.

1925 12 04
Sir – I must utter a strong protest against the action of some person in authority in the town in trying to put a stop to skating on the Corporation Sewage Farm at Milton. It does seem a pity that when the opportunity for such a splendid form of recreation occurs only once in a generation, that some kill-joy should throw hot water, in this case, on such inexpensive pleasure for the public, with notices of 'keep off the ice', barbed wire entanglements, and a policeman taking the names of trespassers on skates. There were hundreds taking the risk of being prosecuted rather than miss the opportunity of such splendid sport - Bertram Pearson

Skating, p58
Ely deanery fire, p3

1925 12 05
Sir – in reference to letter concerning the so-called 'flat-chested flappers' parading the streets on Sunday evenings, I am afraid the person who named them as such must be either a very-narrow-minded person or a gouty, flat-footed individual. He may perhaps recall that these flappers may be shut up in shops and factories all the week and are only too pleased to get a little fresh air and recreation in Sunday evenings – 'One of the so-called flat-chested flappers'

1925 12 05 c
Sir – I must thank 'One of the flat-chested flappers' for corroborating my remarks as to the disgraceful conduct of the motley mob to be found in Petty Cury on Sunday nights. I should not advise anyone, particularly a young lady, in search of fresh air, to visit the Cury then, for the atmosphere is 'too blue' to be healthy, and reeks of cheap cigarette smoking, indulged in by ill-bred youths and flappers alike – A.E.C.

1925 12 05
Lively scenes took place at an intended auction sale of goods distrained on the instructions of the Ouse Drainage Board for non-payment of the rate. Some 30 men attended the sale at Scales' Hotel, Milton Road, Cambridge. As soon as the auctioneer opened the sale there was loud cheering, followed by a continued hubbub. Accordions were played more or less melodiously, the shriek of penny whistles rent the air, and mouth organs and toy trumpets added to the general pandemonium. A Welsh pony was trotted out from the stable, it's back covered with a large Union Jack and was run to and fro to the sounds of much music amid a constant flow of racing terms. It was also sternly admonished to 'keep its tail up' and was confidently dubbed next year's Derby winner. No bids were forthcoming.

1925 12 05
Regular services were resumed in the Leper chapel last summer, conducted by members of Westcott House. If these services are to be continued a proper floor (there being at present no other floor than beaten earth) and some form of heating apparatus are necessary, while the condition of the interior plaster, which is continually dropping, calls for immediate and careful repair. This means the raising of a considerable sum of money and it is estimated that £300 will be required.

Queen Alexandra at Cambridge, p8
Rendezvous film hirer bankruptcy, p5*

1925 12 07
The advent of Father Christmas in Cambridge marked the approach of the festive season. He entered the town by means of the railway line. Crowds of young and old alike assembled outside the station and as the train steamed in a vision of scarlet and white, with a long white flowing beard, was seen at the window. The coach that awaited his arrival might have featured in the pages of some Hans Andersen's story with his coachman resplendent in his green and gold livery, a footman in blue, & two trumpeters attired in old gold facings and velvet breeches. To the sound of a fanfare of trumpets and the strains of the band he started on a triumphal tour of the town. On his approach to his temporary home at Heyworth's stores in Burleigh Street he was officially welcomed to 'Treasure Island'

Polo players & horses, p5
10 mph speed restriction, p6

1925 12 08
Jesus Green pavilion, p3
Heifitz at Guildhall, p5
Car on fire, p5

Ely skating, p5

1925 12 09
The public examination of the film hirer of the Rendezvous Cinema was held at the Cambridge Bankruptcy Court. He had taken over the lease from Mrs Mason in June 1924 with Mr Wallace Lester and managed the business on behalf of the partnership. The concern never made any profits. He started with a salary of £10 a week and as the concern did not go very well it was reduced to £5. The cinema took about £90 a week, and wages and other expenses amounted to £120 a week, so that there was a gross loss every week.

1925 12 10
Guildhall bill hoardings, p5

1925 12 11
Motor speed regulation, p8

1925 12 12
The Cambridge Women's Welfare Association was formed recently to bring a knowledge of birth control methods within reach of poor mothers. It is a rule that every woman attending must be seen by a doctor and the Cambridge Centre, Fitzroy Hall, Wellington Street has both a lady doctor and a certified midwife in attendance. The London Society for the Provision of Birth Control Clinics began its work in a small way at Walworth and now has centres at North Kensington and Wolverhampton as well as Cambridge. At Walworth 5,275 separate cases have been dealt with since its work began in 1921.

1925 12 12
Discussion took place on the proposed Ten-Mile Speed Limit through Cambridge. Whether such a limit is workable or not, we have got to find some way of minimising traffic dangers. Cambridge and Oxford stand apart from all other towns by reason of the very large number of young men possessing motors, and Cambridge is worse than Oxford because out thoroughfares are so much narrower. Undergraduates – if they are the chief offenders – have to be made it realise it is not so easy to 'damn the consequences'. If heavier penalties and suspended licences will bring about the desired improvements well and good. If not more drastic measures must be sought.

Gt Wilbraham overcrowded houses, p5
Allotments, p8

1925 12 14
Saffron Walden speed limit, p5
County bowling association formed, p6

1925 12 15
Haverhill ambulance, p5
Xmas in shops, p8

1925 12 16
Fordham water scheme, p5
Xmas – Winton Smith, p7

1925 12 17
Two large bundles of rabbit-skins, one consisting of what is known in the trade as 'fresh pulled' skins and the other of what an expert witness described as 'summer rubbish' were exhibited in a Cambridge court. Percy Wheatley, skin merchant of Staffordshire Street, Cambridge claimed £18.14s. for alleged breach of contract. He had agreed to pay 4s.6d. a dozen provided they were fresh pulled off., but he found 90 per cent of the skins were 'summer rubbish'. He produced two bundles of skins and held them up for the judge's inspection, pointing out the difference. His Honour gave judgement for the plaintiff.

Rendezvous cinema affairs, p5
House families, p5

1925 12 18
Sir – regular users of the main road between Milton and Cambridge have occasion to complain of the unsatisfactory working of the Milton Road Level Crossing. The gates are practically never open to the users of the road, the average being about once in twenty that one can get through. The L.N.E.R. say that on account of the heavy traffic on the line 'the gate-keeper is justified in keeping his gates across the public road in the normal position'. The dangerous and almost prehistoric state of the avoiding cutting is utterly unfit for modern traffic & is nothing short of a public disgrace. – P.W. Essex

New tennis club, p6*
Children sent workhouse, p7

1925 12 19
A confetti-strewn pavement outside St Philip's church, Romsey Town, told the tale of a happy romance of ripe old age. The wedding was that of John Crane, a 78-year-old Argyle Street bricklayer, and Mary Ann Sparrow of Madras Road, aged 72. The couple walked to church and the bride, who looked the picture of happiness, was given away by Mr James Taylor, who also acted as best man. The romance is quite a short one, but this is not the first adventure in matrimony for either. Both are wonderfully active and healthy and do not look their age, while Mr Crane still pursues his occupation of a bricklayer. When interviewed after the wedding Mr Crane replied, "I don't remember what has happened, but we are both very happy"

Waterbeach share-out societies, p7

1925 12 21
Dr Radio – Addenbrooke's, p7

1925 12 22
Romsey Town's champion girl sprinter, Kathleen Fabb, was presented with the silver cup which she won at the Crystal Palace. She competed in the first Annual sports held by the English Schools Athletic Association and came first in the 100 yards race for girls under 14, thus being the proud champion of the country in this event.

1925 12 23
A meeting of ratepayers protested against the compulsory attendance of the children of Rampton at the elementary school at Cottenham. They object to their children, whom they cannot afford to appropriately clothe and feed, having to tramp long distances to school through slush and mud and in all kinds of weather. The children need extra clothing and boots, and the food they have to take with them costs more than if they were fed at home

1925 12 23
The Isle of Ely County Council claimed £37 for arrears of rent of smallholdings at Tower Farm, Lt Downham. The defendant said he had three acres of sugar beet, one acre of mangolds, two acres of brank, a fowl house with about 100 fowls, and agricultural implements. He had advertised to sell his stock but in consequence of bad trade withdrew them. He had a valuable horse for which he had been bid £70 that he had sold for £24.

1925 12 23
A referendum was taken in the village of Fordham on the question of providing a public water supply in place of the present methods of landlords supplying their own properties by means of private wells.

This was not sufficiently decisive and it was decided to take a poll of the village. By a majority of four to one Fordham has refused it. The result was quite expected. A few wells have been found to be polluted but they only need to be deepened and the top soil kept free of sewage. Between the two streams the soil is boggy and the water polluted by decaying vegetation.

Exning bier, p2*
Fascisti at Rendezvous, p5

1925 12 24
Oxlode washland, p2
Santa Claus & twin brother, p5

1925 12 28
Well, Christmas had come and gone again and all that remains are the parties and indigestion. Christmas isn't like it used to be. It never was. With the world changing so quickly it would be surprising if, outwardly at any rate, Christmas did not change with it. But although nature may not give us what the Christmas card designers have led us to believe was the traditional Yuletide weather, what is more important is that the Spirit of Christmas is still with us and is indeed stronger than ever. On Christmas Day the football match between Cambridge Town and Thurrock was witnessed by a crowd of about 1,500

1925 12 28
The many hundreds of people who crowded Market Hill to see the meet of the Cambridgeshire Hunt on Boxing Day morning will have an opportunity of trying to pick themselves out in a special film at the Victoria Cinema. The photography is extraordinarily good and the picturesque scene well depicted. The spectator gets good views of various sections of the crowds and the huntsmen are seen partaking of the refreshments supplied by the Mayor. Later as the Hunt moves off we see them in King's Parade.

Child died Xmas day, p5

1925 12 29
The Water Engineer submitted a scheme to Ely RDC for the extension of water supply to Haddenham. He recommends the erection of a reinforced concrete water tower with a capacity of 100,000 gallons as the existing towers at Littleport and Sutton. The site chosen is the corner of a field at the back of the Rectory House, abutting the bowling green. There are other convenient sites but this is nearer to the existing pipeline and enables it to be laid straight to the tower without unnecessary curves or awkward bends.

Don deprived of readership, p5
Ely housing sites, p5

1925 12 31
The RSPCA prosecuted a Linton man for overdriving a sow. He had been given the job to drive the animal to a farm where it would be used for stock purposes. On arrival the sow was so exhausted that it died within a minute. The man said: "I took an hour to get her there. She started 'blowing' before I got out of Green Lane and she was a trouble all along the way. I have driven a good many pigs, but she capped the lot for 'blowing'." He was fined 13s. 6d.

Overdriving sow, p5*

1926 Cambridge Daily News

I have scans of these articles

January 1926 CDN & Ely Standard (ES)

1926 01 01
1925 was sent from among us, and 1926, was ushered in by the century-old custom of firing two rockets on Parker's Piece at midnight. A small band of townsfolk gathered to attend the funeral obsequies of the dying year. At ten minutes before midnight Mr A. Deck arrived with the rockets and the crowd stood in silence. Then the bells of Great St Mary's were drowned out by a mighty rushing noise, a whiz and a bang and 1925 had gone. Then as the first chimes of the Catholic Church reached the ear there was a second whiz followed by another loud bang and 1926 was here.

Property market, p2
St Matthew's Piece, p5

1926 01 01 ES
Water supply scheme extension to Haddenham, Wilburton, Thetford & Stretham; main will continue direct through Stretham where it will turn north at the Mission Hall and follow Front Street and High Street past the church to the windmill at the crest of the hill where it will diminish to 3in diameter; the whole village will be controlled by suitable valves, and hydrants could be fixed at convenient distances. It will then follow the main Ely Road –26 01 01 & (2) ES

1926 01 02
One has been glad to see the new sign posts erected in various parts of Cambridge for in these days of ever-increasing road traffic we want to make it as easy as possible for motorists who pass through our town. As originally erected one directed travellers to Bedford along King's Parade and through Magdalene Street, but when it was pointed out that the traffic through the town should be diminished as much as possible, this offending arm was removed.

1926 01 02
Mrs Angelina Dunn Gardner, of Fordham Abbey, left £1,500 to the Fordham Parochial Church Council for the purchase of a suitable piece of land and the erection thereon of a Church Hall to be used primarily for occasional services or the moral, physical, social, intellectual and spiritual interests of the inhabitants. She directed that the building should bear a tablet of stone recording the gift and its object.

1926 01 02
An outbreak of smallpox has occurred and a young man of March has been isolated. Recently he paid a visit to Cambridge where he attended a market. He became unwell and three days later spots began to appear on various parts of his body. On Boxing Day the doctors arrived at the opinion that the case was clearly smallpox and the man was removed to March Isolation Hospital and 20 'contacts' have since been treated.

St Matthew's Piece, p6*

1926 01 04
Newspaper men at dinner, p3

1926 01 06

Alderman Few asked a question as to the condition of a teacher's house at Westley Waterless. The rent appeared to be fixed at £6 per annum. Was the place fit to live in? Mr Fordham said it was a very small house, let to an uncertificated teacher. One woman lived by herself. There were two living rooms, two bedrooms, a scullery, and an entrance through the schoolroom.

1926 01 07
Further manifestation of the stubbornness of parents in the Bottisham area against sending their children to school at Burwell was forthcoming when a number of summonses for non-attendance were heard. One case was adjourned in order to consider whether the County Council would sanction a child remaining at Swaffham School, where there was plenty of room. One parent contended it would be detrimental to the health of his children, who were delicate, to go to Burwell. If the girl was allowed to go to Reach school for a year he would be prepared to send her to Burwell after that, if she grew out of her delicate condition.

Post office children's party, p5

1926 01 08
Ely and low-lying parts have luckily escaped any serious encroachment from the flood waters passing down the River Ouse. On Monday the river reached it's highest at 16 ft 9 ins, the normal being 13 ft 6 ins. Denver sluice was a godsend, for had it not been for the fine manipulation of those sluices another two to three feet would have been recorded at Ely. Along the 100 ft Bank however and between the Old and New Bedfords, the flood water stretches for at least 20 miles. Many parts around have suffered, but no serious damage is reported.

1926 01 08 ES
Fen floods: abnormal rise in rivers follows heavy downfalls … wash-lands miniature seas; Ely area escapes serious flooding due to Denver Sluice. River rose from normal level of 13ft 6ins to 16ft 9ins; in 1915 it had been four feet higher, a year later a record flood with levels 20ft 10in. Had it not been for the new sluices at St Germans flooding in Middle Level would have been more serious. The banks have not been tested for six years and the dry summer of 1921 must have had a very bad effect on them. The pumping engines have been working unceasingly – 20 01 08 & (2) ES # c.29

1926 01 11
Cambridge Railway Clerks' Association annual dinner heard of the serious commercial encroachment which road transport is making upon the railways. It was entirely unfair that railway companies should have their business taken away from them by this new form of transport. The country would have to make up its mind whether it was going to have an efficient railway service or an inefficient, anaemic railway system hampered by this new form of competition with which it was unable to compete. Railwaymen were getting very restless about this question

1926 01 12
The proposal to establish a parking-station in opposite Brookside in Trumpington Road, Cambridge, is meeting with opposition. Residents resent the possibility of charabanc crowds congregating in front of & gaping into their windows. The scheme will interfere with their privacy, comfort and peacefulness; the noise caused by the arrival and departure of motor vehicles would create an intolerable nuisance; the outlook would be entirely spoilt, & the value of the properties seriously depreciated.

Cattle Market closed, p5

1926 01 13
Miss Maisie Fry of the Gogmagog Golf Club is one of the seven winning beauties in a "Daily Sketch" beauty competition and will receive a prize of £50. She is typical of the English girl, with fair curly hair and a well-built, girlish figure. Living a secluded life at the old club house nestling at the foot of the Gog & Magog Hills, her success came as a great surprise to her. She entertains very strict views upon the use of cosmetics. When the cheque arrives she intends to purchase a new cycle.

Thomas Ivatt, Cottenham death, p5

1926 01 14
Boxing Day mishap, p6

1926 01 15 ES
Studying village history … great deal of interest but doubtless whether a better scheme could be evolved anywhere than in Cambridgeshire. Based on assumption that the best plan is to work through the village schools and teachers. The headmaster of Foxton, H.W. Saunders is an expert and under his supervision the County have set up a comprehensive series of courses in local history for rural teachers. They are held weekly on Saturdays in Cambridge and will extend over a year. All courses are very largely attended by the head teachers and staffs of the village schools. It is hoped teachers will begin to compile local histories of their villages. An information bureau has been set up at Foxton with Dr W.M. Palmer. It distributes materials to assist teachers and gradually collates all the materials obtained to compile a reliable local history of Cambridgeshire. Assistance is give without charge … translations made of Latin passages, transcription of Old English, Manor Rolls … and existence of valuable date made secure. Considerable help has been given in the University and by Cambridge antiquaries and CUP assist to publish 'History Teacher's Miscellany' and 'Documents relating to Cambridgeshire villages'. County Library says demand for village and county histories cannot be fully met; books and pamphlets are read from cover to cover and we cannot have too many of them 26 01 15(2) ES # c.43

Ely by the sea; work at the Hundred Foot pumping station – steam engine worked day and night for a week; work installing the new oil plant proceeding – 26 01 15 ES # c.29

1926 01 16
There were lively scenes in East Road, Cambridge, when another "sale" of goods distrained by the Ouse Drainage Board for the non-payment of rates was to have taken place. A "jazz band" quickly attracted a crowd to the scene and the sight of 30 men attired in top hats, paper hats etc, caused considerable amusement. Some had toy trumpets, some hunting horns, some penny whistles while a few motor hooters added to the "harmony". Attempts to conduct the sale were drowned in a general uproar and all the lots were withdrawn.

Ely women conservatives, p5

1926 01 18
Sir – Years ago the owners and residents of Brookside, Cambridge, planned and built their houses. Naturally these men were entirely ignorant of the future introduction and rapid growth of motor traffic and innocently planned their property to the main road in the form of a large parking place. Necessity soon decided that man should chose sites as parking places for stationery traffic to shelter from danger, load and unload etc, out of the busy road. Now an avaricious council espied the large ready-made parking place and coveted it, causing its lawful owners such 'nuisance' as will eventually drive them from their homes. – Sympathetic Ratepayer

1926 01 18
The spectacle of a heavily laden steam waggon careering backwards down Fore Hill, Ely, was witnessed by a large number of people. The waggon, owned by Messrs Clark and Butcher of Soham was conveying a large quantity of flour and the driver was unaware that as it was freezing the road surface resembled a sheet of uneven glass. All went well until the waggon had reached the top of the hill but then although the rear wheels were revolving they were not 'biting' the surface of the road. It came to a stop and began to slip back. It gathered momentum and presented a curious sight, the rear wheels revolving in the opposite direction but with no effect. Sliding past Ye Olde Tea Rooms it skidded along the pavement and came to a stop a few yards past the Rose and Crown.

1926 01 18
Skating has been in full swing over the weekend. The Cambridge Sewage Farm has been the rendezvous of the majority of skaters and on Sunday over 500 skaters were 'on' in the afternoon. Mr Nicholls' field in Grantchester Meadows was flooded and many skaters availed themselves of the opportunity it offered, whilst others went over to Swavesey. Hundreds indulged in winter sports on the slopes of Royston Heath, tobogganing and ski-ing were general

Motor bus fire, p3

1926 01 19
Shepreth labour party, p6

1926 01 21
An action for breach of promise of marriage was brought against a Littleport cinema proprietor. In 1923 he started a concert party known as "The Passing Fancies" at Littleport and toured a great number of places, the woman going with them. In the August he bought the cinema hall for £2,000 and she assisted by taking the money. In January 1924 he had received a box containing his mother's effects. He picked up his mother's engagement ring, put it on her finger and said, "That's your engagement ring". She had heard of his marriage in September 1925. The man said that she was one of his "passing fancies". The jury awarded her £400 damages.

Plough horses unfit, p3

1926 01 22
Joseph Canham, p5

1926 01 22 ES
The rural water supply estimates – 26 01 22 & (2) ES

St Ives bus catches fire, destroys house – 26 01 22(2) ES

Sutton water tower – main water pipes burst owing to flood and thousands of gallons pout out – 26 01 22(3) ES

1926 01 23
"I want to remind you that the Labour Party is not a party of Bolshevists, or Communists, or Anarchists, or anything like that. Most of us are simple, honest, straightforward men and women. We have absolute confidence that our party is the part of the future", said Major Freyer at a well-attended meeting organised by New Town Ward Labour Party. He added: "I can assure you that the Liberals and Conservatives on Cambridge Town Council are practically the same." He believed the essential services such as water, gas and electric power, and transport should be community-owned.

1926 01 23
The Jockey Club appealed against the assessment of their racecourses and training grounds at Newmarket. They have 20 appeals spread over various parishes and are claiming that the gross estimated rental and rateable value of the property are excessive. The cost of training was "getting on for double" of that of 10 years ago.

Rural dilemma, p3
County Ball, p5
Bailiff 'crowned', p5
Ely RDC water, p7

Town & county council, p8*
Conan Doyle, p8*

1926 01 27
The adventures of a lady's new coat, ordered through the post were traced at Linton police court. From Worcester the coat journeyed on its appointed way until reaching Whittlesford station. Charles Walker, a parcels porter, said he conveyed the parcel from the train to the parcel office. It was later placed in the booking hall to await delivery. When the carman came for the parcels this one was missing. It was later found at the 48 mileage on the Duxford siding.

Maintaining district roads, p5

1926 01 28
A Haverhill labourer sued his employer under the provision of the Agricultural Wages Regulation Act of 1924 which fixed the wages for East and West Suffolk at 7d an hour. He was offered a reduced wage of 18s per week which he was told he might either take or leave. He did anything that came along including hoeing wheat, making faggots, raising stone, spreading manure and turning over and tying up flax put in the field. He had occupied a cottage owned by his employer but gave it up when it was in bad repair. He could not remember that he had the delirium tremens and that he pulled the tiles off the roof.

Linton milkman, p5

1926 01 29
Stretham manor estate purchased, p3
Cossack rag, p3

1926 01 29 ES
Charles Howard spent 39 years of his service with the Great Eastern Railway Company at Haddenham. Marvellous changes have taken place on the railway since he joined as a clerk at Godmanchester in 1875. "When I came to Haddenham in 1887 the platform was only about two bricks high. I had that altered so that people could conveniently step into the carriages, as they would be able to do at any other station. Before that was done we used to have to keep a pair of steps to enable elderly people to climb into the carriages. Younger people could, of course, do without the steps. "In those days we had a brick siding to cope with the tremendous brick trade which was done by Mr Jewson's firm". He touched on the development of the fruit growing industry and said that in those days the gooseberry was the principal fruit grown. Now people went in for growing all kinds of fruit and large quantities were dispatched by rail. Prior to Mr Howard there had only been one other station master, Mr Jacobs, who was there for 21 years. When four years ago there was an amalgamation of the railways, Mr Howard was given control of the stations at Stretham and Wilburton as well as that of Haddenham, and to mark their appreciation the staffs of the three stations presented him with a beautiful clock on his retirement. He intends to spend the rest of his days in a beautifully situated house which they have had erected on the Aldreth Road named "Herewake". The house stands well back from the road, and is fronted with an excellent bowling green – 26 01 29(2) & (3) ES # c.26.2

Joseph Tokins retired from Barraway sidings signal box, Soham – 26 01 29(4) # c.26.2

Stretham Manor Estate purchased by Fred Hiam – 26 01 29(4) ES

Attempt to solve Ouse problem; commission's far-reaching proposals include barrier at King's Lynn, elimination of Magdalen bend, pull down Seven Holes Sluice at Earith, enlarge Old Bedford River. Welmore Lake Sluice in decrepit condition and must be replaced. Causeways leading to Sutton Gault and Mepal bridges are liable to inundation and impede rapid discharge of water; should be raised on piers. Relinquishing liability for Mepal and Welney bridges – 26 01 29 ES

1926 01 30
"A general feeling of dissatisfaction at Harston as to the supervision exercised in quite an epidemic of scarlet fever in the village led to some questioning at Chesterton Rural Council. A child had been sent home too early from the Isolation Hospital and infected other members of the family who were now suffering from scarlet fever. Provided there were no traces of peeling or discharges form the ears and nose after six weeks isolation it was considered safe to allow a patient to be discharged. The parent had kissed the child on the station platform when it was discharged from the Hospital and did not realise how dangerous that was.

1926 01 30
The County Council is to make representation to the LNER about the difficulties occasioned by the gates at level crossings being unreasonably kept closed across the road. There were places where the gates were closed for a few minutes and at other where they were shut for something like 20 minutes before the passage of a train. Councillor Pearson said it was not the fault of the gateman. He knew of a gate-opener who was 'on' for 24-hours a day and the barber had to call to cut his hair. It was not fair to ask a man to be on duty so long having regard to all the traffic on the roads at the present day.

1926 01 30
An unusual sight was seen in Cambridge when a hare at full tilt careered through our crowded streets from the direction of Huntingdon Road. Ignoring the police signal at Northampton Street 'pussy' tore along Bridge Street and through the crowded traffic towards Hills Road. When last seen the hare was still running. Some employers must have had a shock to see how fast their errand boys could travel when there was something to chase!

Don Cossack choir, p8

February 1926 CDN

1926 02 01
Housing in Cambridgeshire, p5

1926 02 02
Red Cross massage, p3

1926 02 03
Ely workhouse, p3

1926 02 04
The clerk of the Conservators of the River Cam read a letter from the bank with regard to their debt. The overdraft was £3,842, in addition to which there was a loan of £4,000. The value of the Conservators securities appeared to be about £1,500. It may be better to ask the Corporation to lend them the money

1926 02 04
Ald Raynes told Cambridge town council that the centre of local government was gradually shifting from the Guildhall to the County Hall. Mr Neville Chamberlain would in time abolish the rural councils. Town councils would be given delegated authority to function under the supervision of the county, which would be a very serious thing.

1926 02 05
Coun Few said they were very proud of the houses they had built in Vinery Road and Coleridge Road, but they were now proposing to build houses that in a few years would become a slum area. They would be spoiling Cambridge if they built non-parlour houses with only one living room. They ought to consider the women who had to live in those houses. "We men only pop in and pop out, as it were, we are only lodgers; it is our working women who have to put up with them all the time. I call that type of house unfit for human being to live in as far as the wife and children are concerned", he said.

St Matthew's Piece, p5

1926 02 05 ES
Successful fruit-packing station at Cottenham: illustrated feature – 26 02 05 ES

1926 02 06
The circumstances attending the death of a stableman in the employ of the Cambs Hunt, who lived nearly two days with a broken neck, were inquired into by the Borough Coroner. The man had ridden his horse into a field to allow a steam waggon to pass, and when he turned the animal round it kicked and threw him. The horse was a hunter and perfectly quiet, a lady had ridden it. He died in Addenbrooke's Hospital

1926 02 08
Parking on King's Parade, p6

1926 02 10
A railway accident occurred near Ely station. The 9.41 pm slow passenger train for Cambridge was proceeding to what is known as the branch up-road platform of the station, to get on to the main line. At the Dock junction the engine collided with the side of another engine which was drawing a goods train at a slow pace, bound for London. Both engines were of the large type and the impact resulted in the engines and a number of trucks and carriages being derailed. Fortunately there were only a few people in the passenger train – only five or six and no one received anything worse than a shaking.

Addenbrooke's Hospital wireless gift, p6

1926 02 11
Bottisham publican, p3

1926 02 12
An unemployed labourer pleaded guilty to stealing a packet of ten Player's cigarettes, value 6d, from an automatic box. He placed in the machine a farthing that had been cut down at the edge to the six of a sixpence and by this means obtained the pack of cigarettes. George Lay, tobacconist of Burrell's Walk, Cambridge, said he had placed marked packets in the machine after finding farthings, pieces of lead and foreign coins in the money box.

Hunt ball, p5

1926 02 13
"The town dweller is rapidly becoming the most helpless of living creatures; he drives a tramcar or minds an automatic machine; she buys the family dinner ready made in tin or packet. Country folks are hastening to follow suit, and all the resources of the State have to be called upon in order to resuscitate agriculture and the rural industries," says the Chief Scientific Adviser to the Ministry of Agriculture. He pleads that proper instruction in some useful handicraft should run concurrently with the teaching of reading and arithmetic in our elementary schools.

1926 02 13
I am glad to record that the projecting clock near Downing Street, Cambridge, which for many years pointed to "twenty to three", has now been removed. St Paul's church clock, which was badly damaged by a storm last spring, is in such a useful position between the town and the railway station that we would be glad to see it going again. It hardly seems fair that the repair should fall upon the church, when it exists largely for the passers-by

1926 02 13
Mr John James Withers, C.B.E., was elected Member of Parliament for the University of Cambridge. The Vice-Chancellor attended at the Senate House between the hours of 10 and 11 to receive nominations, Mr Withers was the only person nominated and at 11 o'clock declared him duly elected. A small body of interested members of the University was present and Mr Withers turned up in time to hear his election announced.

1926 02 15
Cambridgeshire Rural Community Council resolved to purchase three four-valve loudspeaker wireless receiving sets at £20 each, to be sold to villages. They also asked the Women's Institute to sponsor a set, and they had recommended the villages of Orwell and Elsworth. Orwell however, in view of their village hall enterprise, preferred to wait. Ickleton Men's Club had agreed to take one and it had been ordered and would be installed immediately.

1926 02 16
Papworth colony, p3
Cottage dance studios, p5
Newmarket cinema, p5

1926 02 17
Saffron Walden slums, p2
Milton smallholdings & threshing machine, p3
Dr Swann death, p5 & 15th p6

1926 02 18
Much of the water supply for Fordham is derived from shallow wells in close proximity to groups of cottages, pit privies and refuse heaps. Almost all the 104 wells are liable to gross pollution and unfit for drinking purposes. In addition a few houses are dependent upon unfiltered water from the river. The Medical Officer of Health regards this as a grave potential danger and is of the opinion that the only way of dealing with the matter is to provide an ample and pure supply for the whole village

Chesterton fire pump, p5

1926 02 19
Linton RDC received an application on behalf of Clare College to a subsidy for the erection of a pair of cottages at Ickleton. Mr Brocklebank said the grant was to enable cottages to be built which could not be built if the grant were not given. He could not conceive that the Mater, Fellows and Scholars of Clare College were unable to afford to build these cottages. The council applied for permission to borrow money for the erection of 12 cottages in the parishes of Carlton, West Wickham and Hildersham.

Comberton Institute, p6

1929 02 19 ES
Stretham:
Isaac Asplin retires as postman; b. 1853, joined army and served in Afghan war; letter-carrier Mr T. Swan, then postman for 24 years. In 1910 he climbed up steeple of church – 26 02 19(2) ES

Soham Barclay's Bank opening – 26 02 19(2) ES

1926 02 20
Sir – there is a need in Cambridge for duly authorised and well-informed guides in order that numerous visitors may be properly conducted over the colleges. The qualified guides should be supplied with a badge and a fixed charge made for their services. They would be allowed in college buildings and other places where at present visitors are not admitted. Intelligent disabled soldiers might be available for such a job – A. Macintosh

1926 02 20
Sir – Cyclists and motorists who frequent the road to Sandy will probably have noticed Barton church tower, nestling amongst the trees. It is in need of considerable repairs. The east and west walls are badly cracked. There is a peal of five excellent bells which it is considered unsafe to have rung with the tower in its present condition. Barton is a small and poor parish. We have raised £200 for repairs but are stuck for the last hundred. Perhaps some of your readers may feel inclined to help us. – J.C. Carter, Vicar.

Three stamps for 1/2 d, p6

1926 02 23
Spotlight on car, p5
Huntingdonshire farmers oppose Government, p5

1926 02 24
Amateur photographers will find a warm welcome at the exhibition of the Cambridge Photographic Club. Mr Langdon-Davies has a very nice collection of oil prints, which show great artistic feeling; his local scenes include St Clement's church and the University Press. Mr L.J. Jarman has a set of six prints, particularly pleasing is his picture of snow on the Backs. Mr R.H. Bullen has four exhibits, of which "Fairy Barges" strikes one as perhaps his best. The Misses M. & A. Johnson were bold enough to invade the precincts of the club and were awarded with two excellent impressions of Mr R.T. Bellamy, one being inscribed "The minutes of the last meeting"

1926 02 25
A remarkable story of how a young coloured traveller bought war decorations for sheer vanity & wore them at the Green Hill public house, Linton, was related at Linton Police Court. Defendant was a native of Trinidad, the son of an eminent K.C. in the West Indies. He asserted he had joined the West Indian Light Horse in 1920 and went to France, but then admitted he had bought the medals in Clapham for 1s.11d.

1926 02 26
Householders in Chesterton Road have petitioned Cambridge Borough Council to lodge protest against the speed at which vehicles of the Ortona Motor Omnibus Company are driven down the road. "The effect of the excessive speed at which these jolting juggernauts are driven is to produce an intermittent earthquake which is doing great damage to our houses". They should not be allowed to exceed 10 mph, increasing to 15 mph when pneumatic tyres are fitted. The present indulgence, which allows solid-tyred vehicles to bump along at 20 to 25 mph, is altogether unreasonable, they claim

1926 02 26
Sir – as a business man obliged to use the railways I wish to draw attention to the lack of punctuality of trains from the St Ives branch at Cambridge station. The 8.25 pm is invariably anything from a quarter to half-an-hour late, generally waiting ten minutes at Mill Road bridge whilst room is being found to run up to the platform. There is a rumour that the Ortona Motor Bus Company is shortly linking up with the National Bus Company at St Ives. The railway companies grumble about road transport competition, but it is their own fault and they have a remedy by being more punctual with the passenger service – H.G. Parker

1929 02 26 ES
Model dairy: March farmer's enterprise – H.G. Morton – detailed article – 26 02 26 ES 1926 02 27

College gardens, p2

March 1926 CDN

1926 03 01
Omnibus service, p6

1926 03 02
The motor ambulance service in Cambridge continues to prove of great benefit and increased demands have again been made both for accidental and private cases. An additional motor ambulance has been purchased and has proved of great assistance. The number of calls received was 701, 175 to accidents and cases of sudden illness in the streets and 526 to private removal cases. The Watch Committee have excused payment in several cases of private removals, where the persons were in necessitous circumstances. The ambulances are available at any hour of the day or night upon application to the Central Police Station or Fire Station.

Dangerous pistol firing, p5

1926 03 03
Conservators future, p5
Burwell school parents, p5

1926 03 04
Eighteen huge elm trees, which stood in a row on the north boundary of St Neots Common, were blown down in last night's storm, carrying away many telephone wires and completely blocking the road.

Huntingdonshire agricultural protest, p3

1926 03 05
At the Licensing Session Mr Eric Pointer made an application for a new music and dancing licence for the Assembly Rooms, Market Passage, Cambridge, from 1pm to midnight. A complaint had been received on the grounds of the noise being more or less a perpetual nuisance. During term time the noise and hubbub had been almost unbearable. Not only was there shouting and yelling, but there was hammering as if someone was tacking something up. There was plenty of accommodation for dancing – the Central Hall, the Guildhall, the Corn Exchange and the Dorothy – and this new licence was unnecessary. The application was refused

1926 03 05
An application was made for the renewal of the music and dancing licence of the Rendezvous, Magrath Avenue, Cambridge. Several residents objected on the grounds of noise very late at night caused by cars, people talking, and the band and the magistrates in renewing the licence curtailed it until 11 pm. Mr William Evans said the dancing was absolutely letting the whole district down. There were working men living in the area and their rest was being disturbed by motor cars until 1 o'clock in the morning. People promenaded outside and he had known them sit on the step in front of his house to do their courting.

1926 03 05 ES
Miss Alison Philip of Edinburgh has been appointed to librarian of the Isle of Ely County Library. There were 49 applicants for the post and four of the candidates were interviewed. Miss Philip impressed the Committee very favourable and she presented excellent testimonials.One wrote: 'As the daughter of a country parish minister, she gained an intimate knowledge of village life and, besides taking over a school in an emergency for over a year, she established a village library which now has over 1000 volumes. Her tastes are literary, and she is extremely well read. On the grounds of business ability and knowledge of village life and of books, and of very find character, I recommend her for the post'. Miss Philip was educated at the George Watson College. She went for a year to Brussels, and has since travelled for a short time in India and Canada

Isle of Ely County Librarian, Alison Philip, appointed – 26 03 05 ES, picture – 26 03 12 ES

1926 03 06
Described by one witness as coming out of a cloud of dust at 50 miles per hour, a motorist was fined £20 & had his licence suspended for a year for driving a motor car to the danger of the public. Ernest Carter, the crossing keeper at Milton, said he noticed a car coming from Cambridge at a fast pace. As it went over the rails the passenger in the back seat bumped up about a foot. There was quite a lot of traffic about. James Foreman, a bricklayer, noticed a car flash past him. He was slightly deaf and had he turned round he would have been knocked down.

1926 03 06
The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr Winston Church, has come and gone, but alas! he has not revealed any Budget secrets, so we must possess our souls in patience a little longer. His speech at the University Conservative Association dinner lasted for one hour and 43 seconds, according to a gentleman with a stopwatch, and nearly the whole of it was devoted to the menace of Socialism. Perhaps the least cheerful point of his speech was that it would take the whole of the remaining three-quarters of the century to recover from the harrowing events of the first quarter.

Mrs Pankurst and Cambridge, p6*

1926 03 08
Sainsbury half holiday, p5
Milton theft hay, p5

1926 03 09
It is with great please that we are able to announce the arrival of what is hoped will be a satisfactory and lasting settlement of the long-drawn-out dispute between the men at the East Anglian Cement Works at Shepreth and their employers. Yesterday, a day after the anniversary of the beginning of the strike the men agreed to accept terms for the resumption of work offered by the Company. The Company cannot employ all the men immediately but the manager will be instructed to start as many as possible.

1926 03 10
Open Air School, p3

1926 03 11
Prof B.M. Jones told a meeting: "I look forward to seeing in my lifetime a state in which flying is as safe, and has the same order of expense as railway travel, carried out at an average speed of 200 miles per hour, night and day". Up to the present the amount of flying done was not sufficient to affect the ordinary man in the street & the flying industries were small but aeroplanes were reaching the stage when they could take part as a real world force. He feared there was a big future for aeronautics if there was another war

1926 03 11
The Bankruptcy court was told a woman had taken the Glengarry Hotel, Regent Street, Cambridge, in January 1921. It was entirely a licensed University lodging house for the students of Downing College only and continued so until 1924. It had not been successful owing to the college being unable to fill all the rooms. Subsequently she converted it into a private commercial hotel and made a profit of about £2 a week. The major part of the deficiency arose while it was a lodging house.

1926 03 12

A Cambridge school girl died of small-pox at the Infectious Diseases Hospital, Mill Road and as a result the East Road Boys', Girls' and Infants' Schools have been closed for at least a week for disinfection. The Medical Officer strongly advises people to get vaccinated. The last outbreak occurred in 1921 when a man was affected. There was also an isolated outbreak in 1919

1926 03 12 ES
Isle Librarian: Hoped a local would have got job: –'Sir. The appointment of a Scotch lady as Librarian for the Isle of Ely has occasioned some heart burning as it was hoped the position would have been a secured by a resident of the county. There appears to be quite a Scotch and North of England favour amongst the officials of the County Council, who will doubtless welcome in their midst another compatriot from the land of the mountains and the glen. But still the County Council would do well to remember the claims of applicants in this district when another minor post is open for competition, even if their qualifications are not as high as some of the candidates from other parts of the country. Surely out of 40 or more candidates, there could have been found a Fen man or Fen woman who could have undertaken duties of County Librarian efficiently and to the satisfaction of the officials. Yours faithfully a Supporter of the Scheme' 26 03 12(2) photo

Ely Cottage Hospital debate – 26 03 12(3)(4) ES

1926 03 13
To the average man, a mannequin parade presents characteristics which combine to embarrass the most strongly minded. He is overwhelmed with the importance of the occasion and metaphorically "smothered" by the bevy of beauty which confronts him. No cheque book could have been greatly taxed at Messrs Sayle and Co's two parades as the moderate prices were an outstanding factor. It was an excellent demonstration of what really can be done for a modest expenditure and record attendances marked both the morning and afternoon displays. We look forward to a parade of men's wear, when the ladies may blush in their embarrassing minority!

Shepreth strike, p6

1926 03 15
Much damage was done by a fire which broke out in a shop occupied by Thomas Stubbings, a dealer in new and second-hand furniture at the corner of Tanner's Lane and Sand Street, Soham. The firemen soon got to work, but the fire had such a hold that nothing could save the contents so they turned their attention to saving some of the five houses adjoining. There was a shed at the back of the shop in which were stored a quantity of paraffin but by keeping the building wetted this was saved.

Modern dancing, p5
Girl Guides helpers, p6

1926 03 16
Hudson's Pampisford Brewery applied for the renewal of the licence of the Dog and Gun public house, Saffron Walden. Inspector Ridgewell said there were three licensed houses within 100 yards and the situation was generally bad. There were no sanitary arrangements on the premises. There had been a decrease in trade from 61 barrels in 1921 to 41 barrels in 1925. The principal trade was done on market day when they supplied dinners and bread and cheese. The persons using the house were generally working class. The licence was renewed.

1926 03 16
Newmarket council considered an application in respect of a proposed new cinema at Stamford House, High Street. Mr C. Reeve said the council should consider their own "white elephant", the Memorial Hall, on which they had lost £200-£300 a year. And they ought not to take building men off the necessary work of building cottages for the people, this application could wait. Mr Dring said it was time there was something more up to date; the application would improve the house and employ labour. There were plenty of men to build the cottages and build the cinema as well. The licence was granted.

1926 03 17
At Newmarket council Mr Dring called attention to the case of small-pox at Cambridge and asked what measures of protection there were against the disease being imported into Newmarket. Small-pox might be brought in railway carriages. Could these carriages be disinfected. The Medical Officer said it had not been overlooked.

Old Cambridge lecture, p5

1926 03 18
The Rural Council heard that Sawston had enlarged and new cottages were badly needed. The Chairman thought they would be built for the factory hands & it was wrong that the taxpayer should be asked to shoulder the burden for the increasingly prosperous factory. Mr Bowers said if the Council wished industries to increase and prosper it was up to them to provide new homes for workmen. Men would not seek employment where no proper houses were to be found. Mr Eccles said the cottages were wanted for people who were at present living in hovels.

1926 03 18
Sir – I shall be grateful if you will allow me to call attention to the urgent need of a gramophone for Stanton House (Cambridge Shelter for Women and Girls). There can be no doubt as to the desirability of providing counter attractions for the girls who seek amusement in the streets but it is not easy to do so without some form of music. An unused gramophone (or still better, an old piano) would be most thankfully received – Shirley Blanch

Rock allotments, p6

1926 03 19
Melbourne Place rookery, p3

1926 03 19
Disastrous Soham fire, furniture shop Mr T. Stubbings, Sand Street – 26 03 19 ES photo – 26 03 19(2) ES

1926 03 20
Water certificate, p5
Abolish queues, p6

1926 03 22
Stretham & Mepal football, p5

1926 03 24
The action of the Master of the Cambridge Workhouse in ordering without authority the fixing of five extra wireless plugs evoked an indignant discussion. The Wireless Committee reported that they had provided for 12 plug points, one of which was in the Master's dining room. He had ordered five extra, including one in his drawing room and another in his bedroom. Mr Lofts asked: "Does the Master want singing to sleep" (Laughter). They did not consider it necessary for the Master to have three plugs in his own quarters and they should be removed.

Melbourne Place rooks, p5

1926 03 25

Damage to the amount of about £3,000 was done by a fire at a large granary in the station yard at Royston. It was very difficult to get a sufficient pressure of water and the whole of the vast storehouse was soon in flames. A railway elevated siding became involved, the metal rails twisted into grotesque shapes by the great heat. Nearby were some petrol tanks belonging to the Anglo American Oil Company; a band of volunteers secured the cans of petrol and deposited them in some gardens at a safe distance from the fire

1926 03 26
A dissertation on a chimney delivered in a pompous manner was one of several features of the meeting of the Cambridge town council. They sat for just over four hours without a break and on many occasions feeling ran high. Clashes between Labour members and others were frequent. Everyone was tired and hungry but a proposal to adjourn for a cup of coffee was defeated and the Council proceeded to the bitter end. Two Aldermen and several Councillors rose and left the room as Mr Purvis was speaking about repairing the chimney shaft at the sewage farm.

1926 03 26
At Cambridge council discussion took place upon the proposal to purchase some land at Coldham's Lane where St John's College were prepared to sell 21 acres for the sum of £5,250. They could get 86 houses and there would be land for allotments at the back. At this stage Councillor Briggs returned to the Council Chamber with a paper bag and members of the Labour party were soon seen to be eating chocolate. Councillor Amies drew attention to the "picnic party" and asked them to make a little less noise. (Laughter). Councillor Edwards: "I think they might practice Socialists and pass it along". (Renewed laughter)

Regent Street widening, p6

1926 03 26 ES
Middle Level propose pumping station at St German's – 26 03 26(2)(3) ES

Sutton fire, George Clark, High Street – 26 03 26(4) ES

Ely car parking proposals – St Mary's Green, Barton Square, Market Square – 26 03 26 ES

1926 03 27
At the County Agricultural Committee Mr Amos said a tremendous amount of damage was done by rats and at the University Farm they had recently killed between 1,000 and 1,500 of them. Mr Taylor said a rat jumped on one of his students and scratched his face. They had killed 5,000 rats since harvest, they are all over the fields. Mr Pearson: "I think everybody who had land should be paid 1d or 2d per rat. Nobody has got the time to catch rats unless they are paid for it."

A.E. Pink death, p6

1926 03 29
Something of the progress of Trade Unionism in Cambridge was indicated at a meeting of the Workers Union at which 150 members participated. Twelve years ago there was hardly any trade unionism in the town, with the exception of the craft unions. Agricultural workers had met with tremendous disappointments. The Wages Board had sent the wages of agricultural labourers up from 12s (60p) a week up to £2. Then had come the scrapping of the Board, wages went down to 25s (£1.25) and the worker was faced with the wreck and ruin of his home. The men had lost faith in trade unions.

1926 03 30
A splendid film of the Boat Race was screened at the Playhouse on Saturday evening and received a great reception from crowded audiences. Added interest was shown by the inclusion of pictures of the

"Go-Ahead" wireless car receiving the copy of the film for Cambridge outside the offices of Pathe Gazette. It came with musical accompaniment as the loud speaker was giving forth the Daventry programme and when broadcasting in Wardour Street, London, the road was blocked by people who stopped to gaze at the novelty and to listen in.

1926 03 31
Drainage Wicken rectory, p6

April 1926 CDN

1926 04 01
The annual meeting of Swaffham Prior parish council turned out to be quite a passive affair. Mr R. Cooper said they wanted a school and there would never be any peace and quiet in the village until they got one. The parents who sent their children to Burwell only did so on sufferance. The grouping scheme had been brought about to suit the pockets of the "money-grabbing" ratepayers. They had been "diddled" out of their school and the labouring parties had been put down as if they had no sense.

1926 04 01
A mysterious stranger is reported to have appeared on the main road between Cambridge and Peterborough and distributed something like £200 in sums of £5 to unemployed men he had met. The procedure of the highway benefactor is to enquire how far they have walked, offer them a cigarette and present them with a sealed envelope which he says contains a charm, and if handed over any counter will bring good luck to the bearer. "We regarded the whole thing as a joke", said one of the men, "until we opened the envelope and found five £1 notes in it. We passed one of them over the counter of the first eating house we came to, and it certainly brought me luck in the shape of a good square meal"

Parish constables, p5

1926 04 02 c
A friend brought me in a letter this week to show how widely the C.D.N. circulates. It came from Copiapio, Chile, and asked for a copy of the "House Hunters Guide", "as advertised in the 'Cambridge Daily News'". No charge is made for this guide, so that the recipient will not have to pay cash on delivery.
1926 04 02 ES
New Hundred Foot Pumping Station opening – 26 04 02(2)(3) photo (5)ES # c.29

New sluice at Denver: new eye with latest machinery – 26 04 02(4)

1926 04 03
The system of 'C.O.D.' does not seem to have caught on to any extent locally. The Post Office says there had not been more than a dozen parcels delivered under the system. It is obvious that if the practice becomes general it will entail considerable extra work. If people do not happen to be in when they arrive, or if the cash is not available then the parcel will presumably have to go back where it came from.

New Inn, Oakington, p5

1926 04 06
Florrie Forde at New Theatre, p6*

1926 04 07
John Mere benefaction, p6

1926 04 08
Fordham motor 'rodeo', p3
Express kills horse, p5

1926 04 09
The annual report of the Cambs District Milk Recording Scheme records the total number of herds was 96 and the number of cows 1,168. The maximum yield of milk given by a cow was 16,194 lbs. It was with regret that members heard that Mr A. Macarthur has decided to give up the Hall Farm at Bottisham. He was the first chairman and the owner of one of the finest herds of heavy-milking commercial cattle in the Eastern Counties. The Rev C.H. Brocklebank is leaving Bartlow & Col. W.F. Northman has disposed of his herd to Major S.G. Howard of Kirtling.

1926 04 09
Residents of Ely who visit the riverside must observe a great change in the scene as compared with a few years ago. Then basket makers, with a crowd of women 'peelers', would have been busy making baskets and peeling the reeds in order to cope with the summertime demands upon the industry. But now the scene is a very different one. Only a mere handful of men and women are found employment and the industry is threatened with extinction. This it is stated is due to the importation of foreign goods, which can be shipped into the home markets and sold at similar smaller cost than it actually takes to make the baskets in Ely. Mr Oliver P. Scott, 70 has been associated with the industry ever since he was a schoolboy and told A reporter that he could trace his relatives who have been basket makers in Ely since 1710. "When I was a boy", he said, "the industry was a fairly prosperous one, but just before the war, and particularly since, it has declined considerably. With foreign goods coming in from Holland, France and Germany, and with the reeds being imported from Africa, the business is absolutely ruined in Ely. There was a time when I used to supply one firm alone in London with 7,000 baskets of different kinds, and now I don't send them one. Before the war I used to employ nine men making baskets, but now I only employ three and a third of the number of women peeling rods which are used in the construction of the baskets." Mr Scott, who is the last surviving member of his family, has about 26 acres of land which he devotes to the growing of reeds, but since the industry has become so bad he has turned six acres down to grass, which pays him better. The peeling of the reeds cost twice as much today as it used to do. Illustrating how foreign competition was killing the trade, Mr Scott said that what were known as picking up baskets were being put on the market by people from Holland at 9d each, compared to 1s 2d which english makers were bound to charge. "It costs me", he explained, "sixpence for making the basket alone, and over and above that I have to pay for growing the weeds, peeling, weeding, cutting and drying them, so you will see I have not much profit out of them." Mr Scott was firm in his belief that it was nothing but foreign competition that was killing the industry, which could only be saved by a tax on the importation of foreign goods
26 04 09 ES

1926 04 10
A thunderstorm broke over the Saffron Walden district, the lightning and thunder being particularly severe. The fire brigade was called to Ringer's Farm, Newport where three stacks were ablaze. An eyewitness saw a flash of lightning pass between the stacks. Farm workers attempted to fight the flames but although there was plenty of water, they were completely destroyed. Several large trees were burnt. The fire could be seen for miles around. The Saffron Walden brigade was composed of ten firemen under the command of Major F.W. Acland and were on duty for ten hours

1926 04 10
Steps are being taken to set up an "Organisation for Maintenance of Supplies" committee in Cambridge. It is a non-political organisation for enrolling and classifying lists of volunteers for the use of the Government in the regrettable event of a general stoppage of the essential public services. One may be quite sure that such volunteers would be readily forthcoming in a grave emergency, but for the sake of efficiency it is thought better to have personnel ready beforehand. It does not question the right to strike but exists to prevent the mass of the population being victimised by a far-reaching strike that affects the well-being of the community.

1926 04 11 c
Anglesey Abbey, the fine old historical residence, is to be offered for sale. Founded by Henry I, the Augustinian Monastery was one of the first of its order in England. After passing through various hands the estate became the property of the Rev John Hailstone, Vicar of Bottisham, who beautifully restored the house in 1860 and whose representatives after his decease sold it in 1888 to the present owners, by whom it has been completely modernised.

1926 04 12
Saffron Walden council had visited the slum houses in the town, and they were slums indeed. Coun Tanner suggested writing to a certain member of the House of Lords who owned property in the town and ask him if he would be prepared to replace 16 new houses for the existing ones. If the matter were nicely put to the noble lord, who was a millionaire, he would no doubt be willing to accede to the request. In any case there would be no harm in doing so.

1926 04 13
An "Organisation for Maintenance of Supplies" Committee for Cambridge was the outcome of a meeting held at Christ's College, its aim being to enlist and classify volunteers for the use of the Government in the event of a general stoppage of the essential public services. The questioners included Coun W. Few, President of the Cambridge Trades Council and Labour party who declined to allow his name to go forward as a member of the Executive Committee.

1926 04 14
A meeting was held at Prickwillow for the purpose of inaugurating a new troop of Boy Scouts. The vicar said scouting was not new to the village, a troop having been in existence in the time of Father Kingdon, their old vicar. There was a good number of young people and it would be a good idea if they could band them together. It was said that a boy had a spice of the devil in him, but he had also a spice of an angel, and it was the object of the movement to bring the latter to the top.

1926 04 14
Sawston Boys' School was crowded to do honour to Mr J.C. Falkner who recently retired from the headmastership. Commander Eyre of Sawston Hall, who made the presentation, expressed amazement that any man could have endured schoolmastering for 33 years! The Commander has only been in residence since 1925 but Sawston people have already learned to appreciate him as one who is sincerely interested in their welfare and the relations between the villagers and the Squire are of the very happiest. Mr Falkner said it was impossible to refrain from mentioning those lads – nearly 40 of them – from the school who had died in the service of their country and the audience stood in silent homage

Smallpox, p5
Policeman stops horse, p6

1926 04 15
Elsworth baker, p3
Hovis bread, p3
Milton smallholder, p5

1926 04 16
PC Bird told magistrates he saw the defendant riding a motor cycle in James Street, Cambridge. He was standing on the saddle and with his hands on the handlebars. Witness told him he had no control over the machine, and he replied "None whatsoever". There were other machines in the street and some children playing on the footpath. Defendant who pleaded guilty said: "I did not think there was any harm in doing it in a quiet street near my house", he said. Magistrates took a lenient view and dismissed him with a caution.

1926 04 16 ES
New Welney bridge tender £6,350, to replace Suspension Bridge – 26 04 16 ES

1926 04 17
Carnegie, Sawston, p6

1926 04 19
Mr J. Ramsey Macdonald, M.P., the leader of the Labour Party visited Cambridge and laid the foundation stone of the Labour Club and Hall in Romsey Town. A meeting in Romsey Council School was crowded with an enthusiastic audience. A brisk sale was done in red rosettes and on the table was a vase of magnificent red geraniums. Over the platform was a banner bearing the words "Labour offers you true friendship". In the evening he attended a dinner in the Lion Hotel where he spoke mainly on the achievements of the Labour Party

1926 04 20
Beer responsible, p6

1926 04 21
Cambridge Mammoth Show Society expressed indignation at the council for "abruptly refusing" the use of part of Midsummer Common on August Bank Holiday for the first time in 22 years. It cost £700 to maintain the racing track but it was no use unless they raced upon it. The council had refused permission to the only society who could afford to spend money in putting a hoarding around the track and ensure gate money. They obviously did not desire over 20,000 people should enjoy themselves on Jesus Green.

1926 04 22
An inquiry was set up into the working of the Cambridge Workhouse laundry. They were doing wrong with the washer, boiling the dirt into the clothes instead of rinsing it out. Soap was not put in properly, the waste steam was wrongly used, and there was waste in connection with the hydro. They had wooden rollers in the mangle and people swore about their buttons coming off. They could save two tons of coal a week. When this was done the engineer and the two girl workers should be given a bonus.

1926 04 23
Lady Newton, wife of the Cambridge MP, opened the new hall of the East Chesterton Ward Conservative Association, situate in Union Lane. It is completely equipped with cloakrooms, kitchen, stage etc with electric light and ventilating fans and other modern appliances, and an excellent floor has been laid for dancing. They are going to cater during the summer for flannel dancing and during the winter will run the hall for dances, whist drives and a smoking concert. A gentleman had promised a full-sized billiard table and another given them a cheque for a piano.

1926 04 23 ES
Flood danger in Middle Level: Middle Level Engineer's report on St German's & flood danger – 26 04 23 & (3) ES

Ely Urban Council; Prickwillow Road 'disgraceful' – 26 04 23(4)

1926 04 24
The old Theatre Royal, Barnwell, has been acquired for a repertory theatre. The auditorium is to be reseated and the stage remodelled and equipped on modern lines. It will have its own company of actors and actresses and a play will be presented each week during term. Mr Herbert Prentice of the Sheffield Repertory Company will be resident producer. The building will be known in future as the Festival Theatre and it is hoped to establish with it a training centre of dramatic art.

1926 04 26
Coun Unwin asked what steps could be taken to avoid the dangers to traffic on the blind and awkward corners on the main road through Histon. At Stone Corner the road including the pathway was about 15 feet wide and it was quite a blind corner. Imagine two Ortona buses each measuring about seven feet wide, meeting each other there. It would be an expensive job to take down the buildings which were close to the edge of the road. Perhaps a bye-pass road would be a better alternative

1926 04 26
An inquiry was held into the provision of two underground public conveniences at the junction of Milton and Chesterton and Newmarket and East Roads where there would be an island in the middle of the road. The Inspector asked whether they had designed the roof to carry the weight of a heavy motor lorry; it would be a very simple matter for a lorry to jump a kerb on a foggy night as had happened at Southend when people had been injured. He also raised the question of a convenience for women and the Mayor said the matter had been very carefully considered by the committee who were anxious to get on with the work as quickly as possible.

Mammoth show, p5

1926 04 27
50 years with Morley pawnbrokers, p3*
Underground conveniences, p5*
Footbridge, p6

1926 04 28
Charles Wright, Stretham dies, p3*

1926 04 29
Farmers & summer time, p3*

1926 04 30
A machine something of the nature of a glorified cash register which will save the services of three rate collectors is to be purchased for use in the Cambridge Council's Treasurer's Department at a cost of £220. It really was a most extraordinarily effective machine which really eliminated the human element of error and would deal with errors when they were pointed out to it. (Laughter). Anyone who had any knowledge of scientific management would know they were the machines of the future. It would have to be specially adapted in American to meet the Cambridge circumstances.

Building land, p2
Jesus Green pavilion opened, p5*
Wireless licences, p5

1926 04 30
A serious fire occurred on the premises of Mr Herbert Warren, The Grange, Wilburton which resulted in the complete destruction of a motor garage and an almost new four-seater Morris Oxford car. Mr Warren was starting his engine in the garage when it backfired and ignited the petrol in the carburettor. The car immediately burst into a dense volume of flame and it was at once realised that little or nothing could be done to save it. At the time Mr Warren was without assistance, otherwise the car might have been withdrawn from the garage and thus saved the building. Unfortunately, before assistance was forthcoming, the petrol tank exploded and the heat was so intense that it was impossible to get near. So violent was the explosion that it was heard a mile away.Practically the whole of the village were attracted to the scene and, thanks to a good supply of water, and a willing band of helpers, their efforts were successful in preventing the flames from spreading to the adjacent buildings. Word was sent to the Ely Fire Brigade; the men were immediately summoned and the steam raised on the engine. But so splendidly did the inhabitants fight the flames that they had of the outbreak well under control and were able to extinguish it before the arrival of the firemen. The outbreak occurred within a few yards of Mr Warren's residence, which escaped harm. 26 04 30(2) ES

Charles Wright, of Orchard House, Stretham farmer obituary – 26 04 30 ES – photo – 26 04 30(3) ES

May 1926 CDN

1926 05 01
The Trade Union Congress has decided upon a general stoppage of the vital services at Midnight on Monday. The London Gazette declares that a state of national emergency exists; the distribution of food, water, fuel and the essentials of life are threatened. Mr Lloyd George, who came down to Cambridge to deliver an address, said they were under the shadow of a great industrial conflict of unknown magnitude. Every citizen would feel it was his duty to support the Government of the day in the organisation and facilitating of the essential services of the nation.

Ickleton miller, p3
Lloyd George in Cambridge, p6*
Cherryhinton new church, p6
Woodcuts of Cambridge, p6*

1926 05 03
Cambridge is the administrative centre for East Anglia for the arrangements being made to meet the National Strike emergency. Mr F. Morris Warren of St Ives is the district coal officer. There are three Food Officers who will deal with complaints relating to the supply of provisions. The big job of the moment is the securing and registering of volunteers willing to help in any way with the maintenance of essential services and supplies with a recruiting office in the Guildhall. The Mayor of Cambridge, Ald Edward O. Brown, said: "Today we stand on the edge of an important crisis in the history of our nation. A dark cloud is overshadowing the life of our people. I appeal to all our people to prepare for sacrifice, and remain steady. God grant it may be averted"

1926 05 03
A public meeting organised by the Cambridge Trades Council, the Labour Party and the Co-operative Party was held on Parker's Piece and for an hour and a half speeches were addressed from two red wagons to a crowd numbering about 5,000. They were for the most part attired in red hats, scarves and rosettes and almost encircled by red banners. Lloyd George had said when the miners came back from the war they would find a country fit to live in but they had been asked to accept a reduction in wages and an increase in hours. Socialists were out to help the poorer classes. The meeting closed with the singing of the Red Flag.

1926 05 03
Cambridge had a Mock Funeral today, after a lapse of many years. Undergraduates, dressed in outrageous attire, paraded the streets of the town and marched to the station to observe "funeral obsequies" to two Trinity men who have been sent down for a breach of college discipline. The procession made its way to the college to collect the "corpses". On arrival however they found their unfortunate colleagues had made use of their newly-acquired wings and flown, but nothing daunted the party proceeded to the station headed by a drum-major and a figure in clerical attire. Amongst the occupants of the horse-drawn 'hearse' were two musical geniuses with a banjo and saxophone.

1926 05 04
Cambridge and the crisis, p2
Strike special, p5
Coal deliveries, p5

1926 05 05
Strike effects, p3
George Robey at Cambridge, p3
Railwaymen's views, p4

1926 05 06
Strike news, p3
Otto Wherle death, p3
Trades council and strike, p4

1926 05 07
Cherryhinton Free Church, p2
Cambridge appeals to premier, p3

1926 05 07 ES
The General Strike locally; its effect on transport; good stocks of food and coal in district. Conditions at Ely – 26 05 07(2) ES

Lakenheath Drainage Commissioners test new old driven pump which promises to cut costs by 50%. Coal used previously using beam engine erected in 1846 and before that a windmill driving a scoop wheel. Has Gwynnes 'Invincible' centrifugal pump – 26 05 07(3) ES # c.29

Motor cycle crashes into crowd at Ely Sports Association competition – 26 05 07 ES

Soham Nursing Association annual meeting – 25 05 07 ES

1926 05 08
Cambridge station looked exceptionally bright this morning. Undergraduates in gaily coloured blazers added colour to the scene. The train services are gradually improving and great keenness had been shown on the part of undergraduates in bringing down supplies from London for the Station refreshment room. Tilly, the popular little tea shop girl, remarked while serving hot coffee and doughnuts to hungry undergraduates that she had never seen such cheerful and plucky workers as the volunteers who visited her counter during the General Strike.

Strike issues, p4
May Queen, p4

1926 05 08
The effects of the general strike were brought more closely home than hitherto. In many a Cambridge home the housewife found she had less to "manage on" and tradesmen large and small found their takings considerably decreased in consequence. Parties of undergraduates who had been doing volunteer work were seen coming home for a Sunday rest carrying kit bags over their shoulders. The University has further postponed examinations so that a clear three weeks interval for study will be allowed after the present emergency has ended. A further contingent of 30 undergraduates left in cars to take up tramway services in Hull; the windscreens were protected with wire netting.

1926 05 10
Five hundred of the Civil Constabulary reserve, mostly undergraduates, left Cambridge early this morning for duty in the East End of London. An advance party of 100 went off yesterday. The journey was made by road, the procession of cars stretching for a distance of nearly a mile. In addition some are cleaning carriages at Paddington and Waterloo stations and others unloading cargo at Tilbury Docks. A large number are at dock work and engineering jobs at Hull, while a small contingent is at Grimsby employed at the quayside. A number of Girton and Newnham girls are working as cyclist messengers in the district

1926 05 11
Six hundred of the new Civil Constabulary Reserve, mostly undergraduates, are leaving Cambridge to take up duty in London. It is a paid body, organised and administered by the War Office. They wear plain clothes, armlets and tin helmets & carry truncheons. The force will be on duty chiefly in the East End of London and will serve for the duration of the strike. People at Saffron Walden are putting up with the inconvenience with good humour; coal has been rationed and shopkeepers asked not to supply more than their normal quantities. Volunteers are doing duty at the Anglo American oil dump. At Sawston paper mills 70 men returned to work out of a total of 150 on strike

1926 05 11
The Recorder gave his judgement on the appeal of residents of Brookside, Cambridge, against the council's order authorising part of Trumpington Road as a parking place. They anticipated noise from the vehicles and their attendants who would gaze into their windows. They also thought it would be used for charabancs and omnibuses. Having heard the evidence and visited the spot he was satisfied that the fears are to a great extent groundless

Railway accident, p3
Reach fair, p3

1926 05 12 c
The Paper Mills at Sawston have been running ever since the General Strike was declared, the manager said. "Although half the men were out the other half remained loyal. Many of those who went are now offering their services, but it is impossible at present to find work for them". Little effect has been felt at the Papworth Tuberculosis Colony. Lorry drivers have got all supplied through from London without mishap, and there is no shortage of newspapers, the "British Gazette" having been obtainable in good numbers. Undergraduates were seen today delivering coal. All were attired in morning dress. Their labours will leave abiding marks.

1926 05 12
When the news of the end of the General Strike was broadcast on Market Hill, Cambridge enthusiastic cheers broke out. "What rotten luck!" an undergraduate was heard to remark, "I only started work to-day and was looking forward to driving a lorry up to Town". "Never mind, old boy", cynically replied his companion, "They'll be out again in a few weeks". "I'm glad it's all over", remarked a flapper, and then added demurely, "All the 'Varsity boys will be coming back". In many parts of the town children were carrying flags within two hours of receiving the news.

Birth control, p2

1926 05 13
The situation was quiet at Romsey Town this morning, the railwaymen concerned in the new crisis patiently waiting developments which are taking place between the railway companies and the various unions in London. At the Co-operative Hall a telegram was read instructing the Cambridge men to remain out on strike until the unions got satisfactory assurance with regard to the men's reinstatement

Fordham kola, p3
Rat campaign, p4
Rev Bywaters, Haddenham, p4
Back to work – CDN & strike, railwaymen, p5

1925 04 14
Cambridge and new crisis, p3
Tribute from Royston, p3*

Stortford rail crash inquest, p4

1926 05 14 ES
End of the General Strike; effects comparatively little felt; railwaymen remain out – 26 05 14 ES

1926 05 15
Fulbourn Hospital, p3
Local railwaymen back to work, p5
Strike and Cambridge, p4

1926 05 17
St Ives Town Council expressed feelings of profound relief at the cessation of the General Strike. St Ives had responded nobly in voluntary service and all classes had loyally carried out any duty required of them. None of the council employees relinquished their duty and no single case of lawlessness or friction had occurred in the town. The committee of ladies who had supplied refreshments at all hours, night and day, to transport drivers should be especially mentioned.

Undergraduates' part in strike, p5

1926 05 18
The Cambridge Joint Emergency Committee wish to place on record their gratitude to the many friends who have helped the men who were on strike; the ministers and clergy who lent rooms and the members of the University who gave lectures and concerts, helped in the club rooms and took parties to see the colleges. Many lent their cars to distribute the "British Worker". By means of the Strike Fund the committee have been able to relieve many cases of distress. The last gathering took place in the Co-operative Hall which was crowded with hundreds of women who enjoyed their entertainment.

1926 05 18
Messrs Bidwell were to have offered the Anglesey Abbey estate for sale by auction but have announced they have been successful in selling it privately. We understand the purchaser is Captain H. R. Broughton. It was actually sold during the General Strike and now that the prospects for the country are so much brighter and confidence restored there is a pronounced revival in a general investment in land. At Haddenham 18 acres of accommodation land were sold to Mr J.C. Parnell of Stretham for £650.

May Races postponed, p5

1926 05 19
Newmarket Emergency Committee reported that although the General Strike was declared off yet the coal strike was still on. They allowed several appeals for extra coal in the cases of sickness or young children. There were 487 tons of house coal, 320 tons of steam coal and 97 tons of coke on sale. The Master of the Workhouse had a good supply and the Guardians would probably allow coal being sold in small quantities.

1926 05 20
Stretham annual feast was in progress when an 11-year-old boy ran from behind a stall and attempted to cross the road. At the same time a large motor van was passing and before any warning could be given the boy slipped under the wheels, which passed over his body. Dr Howe was sent for immediately and the boy, under the care of P.C. Waghorn, was removed in an ambulance to Addenbrooke's Hospital where he lies in an extremely critical condition

1926 05 20
Cambridge court heard that when an undergraduate came to Magdalene College he brought with him a bay gelding, worth £200, which was placed in stables in Cambridge and hunted with the Cambs Hunt and the University Draghounds. In December an agreement was reached with the L.N.E.R. for the carriage of the horse to Berwickshire. During loading into the horsebox at the station it lurched forward, fell out and broke its spine.

Stretham Hospital Sunday, Charles Wright gives £1,000, p6 26 05 20

1926 05 21
Newmarket food control, p5
Littleport doctor Edward Willis' bankruptcy, p6

1926 05 21 ES
River Board meeting – 26 05 21(2) ES

Isle of Ely County rising expenditure; increased costs of roads. Proposals for improving two corners on Cambridge Road; at one to fell six trees (Hiam to keep timber) and the other R.T. Wesley gave up strip of his garden – 26 05 21(4)(5) ES

Large six-wheel motor lorry carrying 12 tons of potatos sinks into road at Mepal – photo – 26 05 21(7) ES

Ely railway station photos during and after strike – 26 05 21(9) ES

Pumping station for Middle Level outfall to proceed despite opposition – 26 05 21 ES # c.29

1926 05 24
An appeal for the modification of the ban on gramophone music has been addressed to the Vice Chancellor on behalf of a party of musical undergraduates. University orders forbid the playing of gramophones in punts on the river during the May terms and gramophone music has been banned from certain colleges altogether. "We have no wish to express any opinion upon the playing of jazz records but suggest the playing of good music, such as the London String Quartet, by students in their hours of relaxation on the river could do nothing but enhance the beauty of the surroundings and the taste of the modern young man", they say.

Death – poison mistaken for port wine, p3
Gogs fete, p4

1926 05 26
A journey to London and back in an invalid chair is something of an achievement. This is how Mr H.D. Davies, son of Dr Davis of Histon, spent the Whitsun holiday. Starting from home at 10.30 am Sunday, he reached London at 7.30 pm having stopped at Royston en route for dinner. Early next morning he had a run into the city. He returned to Cambridge safely at 8.30. Mr Davis has ridden in his chair for two years or more but had never been father than Saffron Walden before. His chair was "the ordinary standard pattern" and he could travel at a rate of ten miles an hour, "But of course I have to go slow uphill", he added.

Strike volunteers, p6
Mammoth show, p6

1926 05 27
Cambridge councillors agreed to allow the Mammoth Show Society to use part of Jesus Green on August Bank Holiday, on the understanding it is the last occasion they will be permitted to use it. No roundabouts are to be allowed on to the show ground. It was amazing that when ratepayers' money had been spent in laying out one of the finest recreation grounds anything should be permitted which would plough it up again. The Mammoth Show Committee seemed to be trying to convince the public that the council were trying to deprive them of a show. It had got bigger than a town of this size need for a single day

1926 05 27
Sawston is feeling the ill-effects of the general strike. Of nearly 150 who left the Paper Mills, nearly 70 are still out. For about a week the union members remained solid, but after this some began to return to work. A condition of any that are re-engaged is that they would sign a declaration that they would have nothing more to do with any union. A good many employees have worked at the mills for many years but the formation of the local branch of the union is quite recent, having started in April 1925.

1926 05 28
Cambridge councillors heard that in 1912 a piece of land in Shelley Row, together with the house adjoining was given anonymously to the Corporation as a perpetual playground to the children of Castle End. It was assumed that the rent of the house would be available for the upkeep and improvement of the playground. £80 would be required to make a really satisfactory playground; it was resolved to spend £20 on putting the ground in order

Papworth Nonconformist chapel, p2
Ely allotment theft, p6

1926 05 29
Cambridgeshire Nursing Association considered it must be a great strain on a nurse to have to go long distances on an ordinary bicycle. If they were supplied with motor bicycles they would be able to get to their cases sooner and cover a larger area. The expanse ran to about £11 or £12 per year but there was a possibility of taking on fresh villages through a great ease with which a nurse could travel from one place to another

Mammoth Show, p6
Cambridge and coal shortage, p6

June 1926 CDN

1926 06 01
A demonstration of ju jitsu was given in Cambridge by Mr A.J. Morgan and C.W. Boxsell who deputised for Professor Saddington and the son of Professor Sitton, the old University boxing instructor. A carpet about five feet square was requisitioned for a mat and Professor Saddington supplied ju jitsu costumes. The proceedings opened with a demonstration of "Kime-no-Kata, or ju jitsu self-defence methods. This was followed by methods of defence against an armed assailant which was loudly applauded. A display of ju jitsu wrestling literally brought the house down.

1926 06 01
Now that the excitement of the General Strike has passed away it may be of interest to note the effect of the strike upon local employment. Messrs Pye have only had about 2½ days short time but at the Cement Works the coal difficulty has resulted in a spell of enforced idleness for some of the hands. The Saxon Company's employees are being given their usual holidays on full pay and since short time started have been given work turn and turn about on repairs but unless the coal comes along there will be no more work for the present.

1926 06 02
Mr Ramsay Macdonald, ex-Labour Prime Minister and Leader of the Opposition will not be one of the recipients of honorary degrees at Cambridge. His name was included in the Grace to come before the Senate but certain members intended to "Non Placet" it & a flysheet was to be issued declaring this intention. News to this effect reached Macdonald who signified that he did not wish it to go forward unless it was absolutely unanimous. Opposition was more or less spontaneous because he was a party to an illegal act in bringing about the General Strike.

Police sports, p5
Haddenham Hospital parade, p6

1926 06 03
Stag skeleton in Cam, p5

1926 06 04
Longstanton fete, p3
Alf Pope, Wicken farmer, suicide, p5
Sawston paper work strike, p6
Women peacemakers' pilgrimage, p6

1926 06 04 ES
Isle of Ely County Library seeks donations of books – 26 06 04(3) ES # c.77.7

1926 06 05
Ramsey McDonald degree, p6

1926 06 07
A large crowd assembled in the grounds at Cherryhinton Road, Cambridge to see the daring leap from an aeroplane by Mr Geoffrey V. Peck. The descent was made with a Guardian Angel parachute from an aeroplane travelling at nearly 100 mph and 1,000 feet high. Crowds rushed to the adjacent field where Mr Peck had landed; he was surrounded by eager autograph hunters and signed innumerable photos. Passenger flying was very popular and the pilot will loop the loop and corkscrew at a slightly higher cost. The two aeroplanes belong to the Southern Counties' Aviation Company and are quite reliable so anyone who would like to fly should avail themselves of this opportunity.

Conservative fete, p5

1926 06 08
Sir – the aeroplanes which make daily trips from a field off the Cherryhinton Road, Cambridge, are becoming something of a nuisance. They have been here nearly a month and show no signs of going away. They fly low over the houses and are even more of a nuisance on Sundays. A quiet residential district like the Rock Estate is not an appropriate district for amusements of this kind which should be carried on over open country, far from places where people live and work – John Bousfield, Cavendish Avenue.

Big Brother movement, p6

1926 06 09
Sir – you published a letter complaining of the noise and inconvenience caused by aeroplanes at present operating from a field on Cherryhinton Road. These 'gypsy' aircraft companies which tour up and down the country giving joy-rides are educating the country up to aerial transport. They are giving people an "air-sense" which is essential before aviation can become at all general; people have to be made to realise how extraordinarily safe flying is even at present, when several problems of control have yet to be completely solved – S.V.C., Christ's College

1926 06 09
Newmarket surveyor reported the correspondence he had had with the Automobile Association with respect to the signs relating to 10 mph limit through the town. They alleged that a prosecution had taken place for exceeding the speed limit which had arisen through a motorist proceeding from a side street where was no sign. He said two of the speed limit indication signs, one in the Avenue and one in Rous Road were now down and it was resolved that they be re-erected.

1926 06 10

A large bus belonging to Messrs Bowyer and Topper of Ely was returning from the Soham Grammar School sports, and was filled with Ely citizens, mostly ladies. Some distance from Stuntney a motor lorry, proceeding in the same direction, made an attempt to pass. The bus driver pulled off to the left but the lorry drove too close, knocking the hub of one of the wheels off. The bus turned to the left and rushed into the dyke, falling on to its left side with its radiator embedded in the bank. The occupants were in a serious plight with seats collapsing and broken glass flying about in all directions. Most of the ladies suffered from shock and it will be some time before they will recover from it

1926 06 11
The Mayor of Cambridge told members of the Special Constabulary that the general strike had come as a "staggerer" to him. They had had to appoint various officers to control the various department of work – the food, transport, coal, volunteer service and Special Constabulary. It was impossible to forget their service and the willingness to help their town and country. No one on May 3rd knew what lay before them. They had been as near to revolution as they would ever be, but they faced the situation as Britishers should. What would have happened had the people been disloyal and untrustworthy he could not bear to think.

Premier dance hall, p5

1926 06 11 ES
Stretham Wesleyan Chapel renovated – 'costly but not showy'; built in July 1885 and until recently never renovated; redecorated by Routledge Bros, cream, carpets; special service – 26 06 11(2)

Stretham successful fete, Rectory; three-mile marathon race; names stallholders; sports – 26 06 11(2)

Ely flooding, Minster Place – photo – 26 06 11 ES

Sutton old people tea – photo – 26 06 11 ES

1926 06 12
St Ives Housing Committee heard reports on defective houses. One house in Wellington Street was so dilapidated that a demolition order was necessary. A large heap of manure had accumulated in a hovel at the back and outside buildings were in a dilapidated condition. It was difficult to deal with properties which were defective when it was known that the owners were not in a flourishing financial condition. There was not the slighted doubt that the housing problem was a serious one. It was imperative to do something for people who could not pay high rents.

May Week prospects, p6
First lady cyclist, p6

1926 06 14
Saffron Walden council heard that 52 houses in Hockley's Yard. Ingleside Place, Bridge Street, Castle Street, Camp's Yard, East Street, Long Row and Museum Court were beyond satisfactory repair and should be condemned. The following sites are available and can be purchased if the council decide to proceed with the housing scheme: Little Walden Road, Radwinter Road, Thaxted Road and Seward's End. Eight houses should be erected in each site

1926 06 15
One of the contingents of Women Peacemakers who are converging on London from various parts of the country arrived in Cambridge. Meetings had been held in village after village by the side of the war memorials. They were met by members of the local Pilgrimage Committee and proceeded to the Market Hill where an impromptu meeting was held. They carried various banners and red and blue flags. Mrs Rackham said the gathering recalled the great Women's Suffrage Pilgrimage of 1913 when crowds gathered on the same spot. The Pilgrims leave for Saffron Walden tomorrow.

1926 06 16
A meeting of the Women's Peacemakers' Pilgrimage was attended by a large audience at Cambridge Guildhall. In the next war they would have aeroplanes dropping poisonous bombs that would destroy civilians who had never been near the firing line. They must create such an atmosphere of repugnance that the nations dare not go to war. There were hundreds of people in Newmarket who were not yet converted to the idea of the League of Nations and it was their duty to make converts of al who had not yet joined them.

1926 06 18
Chesterton RDC 200th house, p5

1926 06 19
So far May Week has been a pale and melancholy ghost of its former self. What with the powerful counter-attraction of Ascot, the fact that a good many of the men have already "gone down", the restricted train service and the gloomy uncertainty of the weather, Cambridge is having a bad time just now and tradesmen, hotel and lodging-house keepers, boat-proprietors and others who look to May Week to bring a little much-needed grist to their mill have received a severe blow. Usually May Week comes before Ascot, and visitors to the Mays have been accustomed to go from Cambridge to Ascot. Now that Ascot is over there seems to be no reason which the process should not be reversed.

Castle Hill, p6

1926 06 21
A Dry Drayton lad named Arthur Goodfield was playing with a ball on his way to school when it rolled into a hedge. On going to find it he found two coins lying in the soil and his teacher told him they were 5s. pieces. When school was done he returned to the spot and further search revealed sovereigns and half-sovereigns. A thorough search was later made by all the boys of the school and nearly £20 were recovered. The latest date on the coins is 1893 and they may be the proceeds of a burglary committed nearly 30 years ago.

Cambridge housing & sales, p5
Quy farm sale, p6

1926 06 22
The science of air manoeuvring was demonstrated at Duxford Aerodrome when a rehearsal for a part of the Hendon Air Pageant was carried out by R.A.F squadrons based at Duxford, Northolt and other aerodromes. Fifty-six planes, six squadrons and nine machines took the air at a given signal. The display was witnessed by a number of civilians who were smothered in clouds of dust when the formation was about to take to the air and on landing.

1926 06 24
Councillor Briggs said he was very pleased the Committee were raising the wages of men working at the Cambridge Sewage Farm by about one farthing an hour. He remembered when there was skating on the farm the chairman said it was dangerous, because there were germs about. (Laughter). These men were there daily and were engaged in a dangerous occupation, and a very unpleasant one. The men got 38s. (£1.90) a week, and extra for sludge work. They had the best of conditions. (Laughter). They had a shed which they ran into when there was a shower. What better conditions could they have? The rate for farm labourers was 30s a week (£1.50)

1926 06 24
The Coroner held an inquest into a lady who died at Newmarket from burns suffered in her bedroom. She had petrol in bottles that she used to clean her hair. She was very proud of her hair and had a little spirit lamp and curling tongs. She had a "toupee" of her own hair, which she was always cleaning. The toupee was now missing. The chauffeur said he had given her two pint bottles of petrol; she did not say what she wanted them for. Dr Gray said there was a very deep burn on the left side of the head. He thought she was caught in a petrol explosion and collapsed.

1926 06 25
Bus accident Stuntney, p5

1926 06 25 ES
Mepal chapel new porch – photo – 26 06 25 ES

1926 06 26
Midsummer Fair shows no sign of declining popularity. The increase in motor travelling facilities has tended to swell the number of visitors. The crockery and curtain stalls seemed more numerous and attracted large crowds nightly. One feature which appears open to criticism is the increasing number of gambling devices. A good deal of effort has been taken to put down such devices in public houses and some of the things at the fair are at least as dangerous. They place temptation in the way of young children who do not go to public houses and are not likely to meet it in any other way.

1926 06 28
The King paid a special visit to Papworth Colony & proceeded on a lengthy tour of the industrial side of the colony, visiting the carpenter's & trunk shop where he was presented with a specially made pigskin trunk and purchased another. He then proceeded to St Peter's hostel, the sign writing, printing, upholstery and cabinet shops and eventually inspected the huts in the south park.

1926 06 29
King at Papworth, p5
Quy farm sold, p6

1926 06 30
Lively scenes were witnessed when Cambridge was "invaded" by visitors from Soham who came to protest against the sale of goods distrained by the Ouse Drainage Board from Barcham Farm for the non-payment of rates. No one could mistake their "leader", Mr A.E. Elsden, who was attired in "cap and gown" and wore a large buttonhole of sweet Williams, supplemented by a rhubarb leaf. Another wore a slightly battered "topper" and enthusiastic supporters had rattles, concertinas and "screechers". A blind man in charge of a street organ had been hired and did his work thoroughly.

1926 06 30
An inquest was held on the body of a man killed by a tube train at the Bank Station on Saturday morning. He was to have been married at St Barnabas church, Cambridge, on Sunday morning. The bride and her friends arrived at the church but found no bridegroom awaiting them, and after lingering some time had to return home. It was some time later they learned through a paragraph in a Sunday newspaper that he had been killed on the underground

1926 06 30
Last Sunday was observed as Feast Sunday at Stuntney when £14 10s.3d. and 457 eggs were collected for Addenbrooke's Hospital by the villagers. This is an extremely creditable effort in view of the small population. This year a horse-drawn wagon was decorated with evergreens and flowers by members of the Mothers' Union. The vehicle, which was lent by Mr Ambrose and driven by Walter Fretwell , represented a hospital ward. A procession headed by the church choir marched through the village singing hymns

July 1926 CDN

1926 07 01
Health of borough, p6

1926 07 02
An application was made for the closing of a footpath known as the Top Footpath at Cherry Hinton. There was no opposition. Mr E.G. Pamplin, the owner of the premises through which the footpath runs, had agreed to put in suitable repair an alternative route which had been almost impassable in winter and in wet weather. He would also pay over to the Parish Council the sum of £100 to be applied as they chose. When the back lane was put in repair it would be over 50 yards shorter than the present route which was really dangerous for children from cyclists.

1926 07 02
It is not generally realised that human beings can get foot and mouth disease and when the scourge attacks them it is far more serious than when it attacks humans. This announcement was made by the Minister of Agriculture in justifying the recent "carcasses order". "I do not imagine we have found the sole cause of the outbreak, but we have probably found the most important cause. In the last month we have had only six outbreaks; this is the lowest we have had since September", he said.

Swim through Cambridge, p5
Otto Wehrle death, p5 (funeral 7th p5)

1926 07 03
Three village shows, p5

1926 07 05
Cam Upware drowning, p5 (inquest 6th p5)

1926 07 07
Ely Burial Board received a letter to say that the Privy Council had passed an order closing Stuntney churchyard. Its care and maintenance transferred to the Parochial Church Council who could recover the cost from the overseers. But they thought that as the Burial Board was used to the work they would ask them to undertake it. It could be done by those who did the work at the cemetery. This was agreed. The renovation of the cemetery was being proceeded with satisfactorily.

1926 07 07
A visit to the Industrial Trades Exhibition of Household Requirements at Cambridge Corn Exchange is well worth while. Housewives will be interested in a gas saver by which three sets of pans can be heated on one jet. At the Nugget Boot Polish Co's stall "boots" will clean your shoes free of charge. Messrs Robert Sayle have armchairs and some luxurious baby carriages while Messrs Miller & Sons are displaying pianos and gramophones.

Wilburton Hospital Sunday 26 07 07

1926 07 08
Meldreth mystery, p5*
Hay at Ely, p5*

1926 07 09
Death in ditch, p5
Swavesey gipsy fair, p6

1926 07 09 ES
Wicken drowning tragedy – photo Albert Breed who rowed boat to rescue Arthur Betts and Lawrence Caswell; Stanley Caswell drowned – 26 07 09 ES; Wicken church service 26 09 10 ES

1926 07 10
Pymoor roadman knocked down by horse, p5
Great air race, p5

1926 07 12
Princess May at Clare College, p5
Saffron Walden housing, p6

1926 07 14
Sir – Words fail to describe the condition of the river during the past week or so. As soon as the Long Vacation begins the edict goes forth – the weeds must be cut. They rise idly to the surface and drift at the mercy of the wind and stream. They collect along the banks, they form floating islands that attract all to the other flotsam and jetsam of the river. The rower is helpless against them, his oar must be laid aside. I vainly assayed to reach Baitsbite but had to tow my boat through a clinging mass of ribbon weed, Canadian pond weed, flannel weed etc. For more than three hours I carried on the unequal struggle but then walked home a sadder man – M.A., Cantab.

Charles Wright of Elford Closes, Stretham, leaves £67,229, Sarah Wright, Orchard House, executor, p5
Steam lorry accident, p5

1926 07 15
The citizens of Ely were all excitement when it was learned that a big bullock had run amok. The animal was being driven near Forehill when owing to the intense heat the animal began to act in a dangerous manner. The owner dropped to the ground, letting the animal rush madly over him. In Lynn Road the bull put its head through the window of the George and Dragon; it hesitated at the Electric Cinema where they were showing the "Rodeo". One gentleman who had hunted buffaloes in America took to his heels. Various men were now after the animal which was finally landed into a field in the Downham Road.

Christs Pieces dance, p5*

1926 07 16
Cherry Hinton pageant, p3

1926 07 16 ES
Charles Wright, Stretham farmer of Elford Closes, left £67,229; sister Sarah Wright of Orchard House exec. 26 07 16(2) ES

'Cambridgeshire Times' agent since first publication, J.G. Washington of March; first sale 1872 when 'Isle of Ely Gazette' ; started as errand boy, then apprentice to printing trade, compositor. Paper printed on six different machines – 26 07 16 ES # c.04

1926 07 17
The Star Brewery applied for the renewal of the licence of the Crown beerhouse in Wellington Street, Cambridge. There were seven fully-licensed houses and three beerhouses within 260 yards. They had lost the licenses of the Woodman's Arms & Crown and Anchor in Newmarket Road in 1907 & 1910, the Oxford, Crispin Street in 1916 and the Priory Tap in 1911. The brewery had rebuilt and brought the Crown up to date in 1914 but as the tenant's family increased the trade was neglected: It was not a good thing for a house of this kind when there was a lot of children running about.

1926 07 17 c
Trade at the George the Fourth public house in East Road, a beer drinking, working-class residential neighbourhood, had been carried on for years without complaint. There were about 20 persons living there every night of whom 16 had been there from one to 12 years; one old man, aged 83, had been living there for ten. Housing conditions in Cambridge are very bad, there were 700 or 800 applications for houses at the present time. It was difficult to see what was going to happen to these people if the license was withdrawn and the pub closed down

1926 07 19
One of the greatest enterprises of the age in the fen district in draining 16,000 acres of land has been accomplished by the Burnt Fen Commissioners with the formal opening of the new oil power plant at the Lark Pumping Station at Prickwillow. The Blackstone engine connected to a Gwynne centrifugal pump will cost £400 a year to run, a saving of £1,000 over the old steam plant

1926 07 21
A flannel dance is taking place at the Royal Air Force Station, Duxford in aid the station memorial fund. Dancing will take place in one of the hangars and the Station Jazz Band will provide the music. A handsome triptych has been erected in the camp chapel and the chaplain hopes to add a brass inscription plate with the names of those who have been killed on the station since the official declaration of peace.

Rev Ward leaves Ely, p5

1926 07 22
The County Architect reported that a proper set for the foundation piles at Dimock's Cote Bridge on the Stretham to Wicken road was not obtainable at the depth of 40 feet provided in the contract, but by continuous driving a set was obtained at 65 feet. If the whole of the 38 piles had to be driven to this depth the additional cost would be about £2,500. By driving the piles intermittently there was every reason to believe a set could be obtained at a less depth with many of the piles and the cost would be proportionately reduced.

1926 07 22
The story of how a young Wicken labourer met his death through the sudden discharge of a double-barrelled sporting gun whilst conversing with a civil engineer at the new bridge being erected over the River Cam between Wicken and Stretham was told to the Cambridge coroner. He had told his mother "I think I'll go and have a shoot" on the land of Mr A. Hall who had told him anytime he wanted a couple of rabbits he could have them. The gun was an old type that he had bought off a pal. A surgeon said it was a very difficult case to handle, miles from anywhere; only if medical assistance had been at hand within a few seconds would the case not have been beyond recovery. A verdict of accidental death was recorded

1926 07 24
Members of the 1st Battalion, Cambs. Regiment have been attending a voluntary camp at Madingley, situated at View Park and surrounded by sturdy trees, the main belt of which was responsible for saving the camp being blown down during a storm. One evening the Commanding Officer was approached by a private who announced he had been sent for the white-wash brush. He replied: "I supposed you want to paint the Last Post", then turned on his heels and sought the retirement of the officers' mess to conceal his mirth.

1926 07 23 ES
New oil power plant at Lark pumping station; danger from flooding – 26 07 23 & (2)(3)(4) - pic ES # c.29

1926 07 26
Cambridge Housing Committee received an offer from Messrs Underdown Ltd to erect a pair of demonstration concrete houses on Council land, at a cost of £690, the Council to take over the houses when completed if satisfied with them. If they are not prepared to take them over Underdown are willing to purchase the land on which the houses are erected at a price to be agreed.

1926 07 26
The County Wages Sub-Committee considered an application from a meeting of roadmen for an increase of 5s. per week and for them to be paid weekly instead of fortnightly. Coun Garratt spoke of the delay caused by sending out cheques once a fortnight and said they did not get it until after Saturday dinner hour or on Monday. A cheque was difficult for roadmen to cash, and the only way was by going to a public house. That meant he had to have a drink. Other councils paid cash and they could do so if a clerk was sent round to various points in the county. It was resolved not to increase wages and that payment should continue as before.

Norfolk Street manslaughter, p5

1926 07 27
Premier Dance Hall, p6

1926 07 29
Cambridge Workhouse committee considered the question of the laundry; while the engineer had been in charge a saving had been made in the laundress's salary, but not on the coal. Mr Francis said there had been much talking about the subject; everybody was interviewing everybody else. A great many misrepresentations had been made and the whole matter was very unsatisfactory; they were putting the laundry people in a most unfair position. It was the most serious case they had ever had to settle.

1926 07 29
Loss of business through the reduction in agricultural wages, expenses through illness of his first wife (who had died) and the high rate of interest to moneylenders were given as causes contributing to the failure of the landlord of the Golden Lion, Bourn. It was an agricultural district and wages were small while the cost of living was as high as when the men were earning twice as much. He had an unfortunate experience of being convicted for selling alcoholic liquor to a guest during prohibited hours; the guest eventually committed suicide owing him £20

Burrell's Walk, p4

1926 07 30
A large building at Isleham, forty feet high, used as a stables and barn and belonging to Mr Fred Robins, collapsed . Three horses which were inside were killed, being entirely buried in the debris. Mr Victor Driver, who is in charge of the horses, was just outside the door and so escaped by a few yards. Four other horses had been taken out just before. The dead animals were dug out in the evening.

1926 07 30
James Diver told an inquest that they were cycling home together from Chivers' factory. Two trains were about to pass the Impington level crossing; he waited by a lamp post and the deceased went to the gates and stood there. Owing to the noise of the trains neither heard the approach of a bolting horse; its knees hit deceased's bicycle and knocked him into the gate, which was broken in half.

1926 07 30
The Ouse Drainage Board is to apply for a grant of £70,000 in aid of works in the South Level district. Sir Frederick Hiam said that the money was only available for four years & if they neglected to take advantage of it their rivers would not get done. The greatest opposition was because the Littleport and Downham district would not pay as much as the other areas. He was a landowner in that district and would make up any difference rather than see the scheme fall to the ground.

Steep Bumpstead farmer bankruptcy, p2
Electricity conference, p8

August 1926 CDN

1926 08 04

The East Cambs Motor Cycle and Light Car Club organised a grand motor rodeo at Fordham. They are fortunate in having people whose names are household words where grass track racing is concerned. Mr H. Smith's machine burst into flames, but a Pyrene was brought into action in time to save it and the owner was able to resume in later races. Events such as trick riding, ski-riding, chariot racing and plank jumping were received with acclamation. At the conclusion a ladies' race was suggested and if they had not quite got the speed they had at least got the proper racing attitude.

1926 08 05
Littleport tragedy, p5

1926 08 06
Mr Blake, of the National Union of Printing and Paper Workers spoke of the situation in Sawston. There were 35 members still out on strike but the firm refused to meet representatives of the union or to reinstate them. An article in the "Workers' Weekly" had claimed the union had deserted the men but he had done his best to brighten the lives of the Sawston workers. A person in the village connected with another trade union was endeavouring to induce workers into their ranks. These were "despicable tactics".

1926 08 06 ES
Prickwillow splendid show – 26 08 06(2) ES
Fred Hiam employees tea and sports, Prickwillow – 26 08 06 ES

1926 08 09
A Country Dance party on Christ's Pieces, organised by the English Folk Dance Society who are holding a Summer School in Cambridge, attracted a large audience. The party comprised some 500 dancers from America and all parts of England whose dances such as "Rufty Tufty", "Newcastle" and "Sellenger's Round" took one as far back as 600 years. The natural and care-free movements were a pleasant relief from the Bunny Hug, Cakewalk and Charleston.

1926 08 10
The County Medical Officer reported that more than 400 schoolchildren are systematically re-examined on accounts of varying degrees of malnutrition. Treatment mainly comprised the provision of malt and cod liver oil, and in some of the worst cases, maintenance for some months in an open-air school. With separation allowances and the revival in trade after the war improvement was rapid and the proportion of subnormal children dropped, but in the last three years the figure had trebled to about 12 per cent.

1926 08 11
Blythwood Mansion, Stansted was completely gutted by a fire. Sleeping in the house were Lord Blythe, his nephew and eight servants. All these were trapped in upper rooms. Lord Blythe was rescued by his nephew who tied a rope around him and lowered him to the ground from a window. The Butler, Mr Albert Hackwood instructed the footman to telephone for the fire brigade and subsequently rescued the servants. One girl fell as she had one foot on the ladder but he grabbed her legs. His Lordship said: "If it had not been for him everyone would have been burned to death. He discovered the fire, helped to rescue everybody in the house and acted with the most cool courage anybody could possibly have displayed"

Swavesey accident, p5
Library report, p6

1926 08 12
A woman was fined 5s for breaking bylaws under the Housing of the Working Classes Act, 1885. She owned land at Clavering occupied by caravan dwellers. There was no supply of drinking water and the sanitary arrangements consisted of four posts driven into the ground and covered with sacking.

There was a stream of running water which was fit for washing and making tea, but unfit for drinking; if necessary drinking water could be obtained from the village pump, half-a-mile away.

1926 08 13
Cream of traders, p5

1926 08 14
Sir – Folk medicine is bound to die out. The substitution of district nurses for the village handywoman as the repositories of most medicinal secrets and customs is tending to do away with the customs and traditions of the good old times. The members of Women's Institutes know a great deal about the subject and old family recipe books will contain interesting matter. I am trying to collect everything I can & shall be glad to hear from correspondents – Mark Taylor, Norwich.

1926 08 14
Herbert Diver, caretaker of Milton Hall, told the court he noticed the lead from the roofs of the laundry and dairy was missing. The ridging had also been taken off the coal shed and accumulator house. In the laundry he had missed the copper. The prisoners said: "We did it sir. We had not much money to buy food with. It was either that or starving". They were sentenced to six months' hard labour

Adult school, p7

1926 08 16
Earthquake shocks of unusual severity were felt on Sunday morning. In Cambridge occupants were awakened by the rattle of windows, crockery and furniture. Two residents in West Road were aroused from sleep by the oscillation of their beds; a lofty wardrobe continued to shake and its contents to rattle for some time. Railwaymen on night duty said the telegraph poles rattled and the windows of signal cabins shook. Several residents of Huntingdon felt three tremors

1926 08 16
Saffron Walden Council debated whether 48 new houses should be erected, as they only had twelve months to complete the whole scheme and obtain the subsidy. The houses could be built for £420 each and would be let at 5s.3d. (26p) a week. Knowing how badly houses were required it was proposed to erect 24 as a first instalment in the Little Walden and Thaxted road, and consider building another 24 in six months' time.

1926 08 17
New Theatre – Marie Lloyd junior, p3

1926 08 18
A Duxford aeroplane crashed on the Gog Magog golf course, killing the pilot. The fatality occurred on the first tee, the machine first hitting the road and crashing through the hedge; as it struck the ground it burst into flames and was soon reduced to ruins. Bullets were flying around all over the place. Some time after the accident the pilot's tunic was found with a fountain pen and letter, both only slightly damaged. His hat was found intact and inside this was his name. We understand he had recently inherited a large sum of money

1926 08 19
A thorny question which seemed to have everybody guessing was investigated at the County Court, the matter at issue being an alleged encroachment near Stapleford railway bridge. Plaintiff said he had purchased the old toll house, double tenement and barns in 1925 and soon after a quickset hedge had been planted eighteen inches from his property. The little bit of land was nearly valueless for the purpose of agriculture but was not valueless to him. The judge said it was always desirable in a dispute between neighbours to settle the case if possible; he thought the hedge should be set back one foot.

Tenancy cases, p5
Breast of chicken, p5

1926 08 20 ES
Ely R.D.C.; new road at Lt Downham. Haddenham well, 26 08 20 & (2)ES

Earthquake felt locally – 26 08 20(3) ES

1926 08 21
A father's objection to his child having to attend another village school to receive elementary education was related to the court. Rampton School was now a junior institution and children over 11 years of age had to go to Cottenham. An offer of a bicycle had been made in order that the child should attend school, but this was refused, as had an offer of 15s. (75p) per year in lieu of a bicycle. The judge warned that the child might be sent to an industrial school and would have to remain there until he was 16.

1926 08 21
Dear Sir – Do you think you could use your influence to get August and September kept free from holidaymakers and visitors to Cambridge. Landladies and most traders could do with the rest & business premises require internal cleaning and lime-washing which cannot be done while going full speed. The students hang on so long now during vacations, and the position is not as it used to be – A Trader. No one would be more pleased than journalists if conferences came a little less thickly, but the presence of hundreds of delegates presumably means benefit to some people and a big effort has been made in recent years to advertise Cambridge as a holiday resort to help tradesmen in the "lean time".

1926 08 21
Sir – A steam driven lorry was proceeding along Histon Road, Cambridge, when suddenly the covering over the goods was blazing on top, as a result of a hot cinder being thrown up from the fire of the engine. This happened right outside one of the long-since obsolete hand manual lock-up sub fire stations. It would be of enormous advantage if they contained something more effective such as buckets of sand, hand patent chemical appliances, a hatchet or two, a crowbar and a couple of extending ladders and if the key might be procured from an obliging near-by resident – A. Burlton

1926 08 25
St Ives Breton fair, p5

1926 08 26
As a result of a police raid at Coldham's Common, Cambridge, nine men were summoned for gambling with coins at a game known as "heading 'em". PC Northrop said he watched them for a few minutes but could not say whether individuals had actually spun any coins or laid any money down. The men dispersed but were caught by other officers. The Mayor pointed out the seriousness of the offence; they were liable to be punished as rogues and vagabonds and fined £25 or sent to prison for three months. Two were fined £5 each

1926 08 28
Chesterton Guardians' Coal Emergency Officer said the emergency would be on for another month and they should buy another 200 tons for the needs of the district. The villages were still suffering from shortage and farmers had no coal to thrash with. That morning he had three smallholders from Milton begging for coal. He had managed, through the kindness of Mr Warren, to let them have three tons. In future as soon as there was any indication of the likeliness of a strike they should take precautions.

1926 08 28

The Post Office proposes to bring into operation a scheme for using obliterating post-marks on letters for commercial advertising, but is meeting opposition. The teetotaller may object to having his letters stamped with an invitation to drink whisky. Many firms print advertising matter on their envelopes and wrappers and this would be obscured by the official post mark advertisement. It would be worse when circulars posted by one firm were delivered bearing an announcement that its competitor's goods were the best.

1926 08 28
Sir – Probably the hardest-worked and the poorest paid college servant is the kitchen porter. In full term he puts in from 13 to 14 hours a day and at the end of the week if he draws 25s. (£1.12) (his food included) he may consider himself lucky – and perhaps the less said about the quality of some of the food the better. They get few tips – an average of 4s. (20p) a term, and perhaps nothing, and in all probability have to stand off during the Long Vacation. These men are honest and trusted servants who should be paid a living wage – A British Worker

1926 08 28
A Haddenham man was summoned for driving a horse and trap without lights. Defendant said he was going to Hillrow and had the usual off-side light on his cart. Between the Chequers public house and the war memorial the rim of the wheel caught the screw that turns up the wick, which evidently made the lamp go out. He was in the act of lighting it when the constable came up. A fine of 7s 6d was imposed and defendant asked for leave to appeal against the fine. The Clerk: "You talk too much".

1926 08 30
The report on the Bishop Stortford railway accident during the General Strike says that the country was on the whole admirably served by the volunteers who undertook responsibilities of various kinds. In this case the district locomotive superintendent at Cambridge was left with one driver and a clerk, out of a staff of 600 men. By degrees a little band of volunteers was got together, all of whom were necessarily unfamiliar with much that they would encounter. The driver involved in the accident was under test to be qualified and had worked trains satisfactorily for some days. The actual circumstances which developed were of a type which would not be expected, though the results were very regrettable.

1926 08 30
The Coroner has heard from the Secretary of State about the disposal of coins found under a hedge at Dry Drayton by children. It had been suggested it was property stolen from the post office kept by a man named Frederick Walker in 1896 and been buried by the person who had stolen it. Neither the Treasury nor the Postmaster General proposes to claim the coins and agree they should be distributed among the finders.

1926 08 30
Sir – the average wages of porters in college kitchens before the war were about ten or eleven shillings per week of 85 hours. At that time they got more money in tips than now. I have known many kitchen hands whose pay per hour worked out at three-farthings to a penny. Today they have a pension scheme (I believe at 65) but few live to that age. Some of the humane employers now pay wages during Vacations having come to the conclusion that an employee wanted something to eat, even when resting in the purer air of Parker's Piece – A.D. Somme

September 1926 CDN

1926 09 01
Jack Jones at Ely, p6

1926 09 02
A retired Cambridge postman's many years of labour in the postal service was acknowledged when Mr Amos Edwards was presented with the Imperial Service Medal. He entered the service 41 years ago as postman at Pampisford and was transferred to Cambridge. For the last ten years he was a mail-messenger – he conveyed in horse-drawn vehicles mails from the Post Office to the Railway Station and back – until the motor vehicles were introduced. He then went back as a postman

Ely horses ordeal, p5

1926 09 03
Capt Ronald Leavey, who was burnt to death when an aeroplane he was piloting crashed and burst into flames near Leatherhead, is not unknown to Cambridge. Two months ago he visited Cherry Hinton where he took many passengers up at different times for pleasure flights, and also accomplished many noteworthy feats of daring in the air. His untimely end will be regretted by all who met him.

1926 09 04
L. Caswell boating tragedy, Wicken, p5

1926 09 06
Harvest reports, p3
Bucken old palace, p5

1926 09 07
A white-hot meteor of gigantic size rushing towards the earth from out of space at a speed of 40 miles a second, is believed by scientists to have caused the vivid flash which illuminated the country from London as far north as Yorkshire and the loud bang which followed it. It is thought probably that the meteor exploded at an altitude of about 40 miles above the earth and showed the Midlands with a spray of molten metal. At Hull and other towns the streets were lit up by a green light for five seconds and windows shaken by the explosion. Detailed observations are being anxiously awaited so the exact point of at which the explosion occurred can be calculated.

1926 09 07
A vivid flash followed by a terrific explosion occurred last night and at about the same time various people in Cambridge declare that they, too, saw a peculiar flare in the sky. No noise was heard. A police constable described the flash as lasting from five to six seconds and as making it appear as bright moonlight. Miss G. Gould, who was in charge of the coffee stall on Market Hill, said the whole of the sky in the south was lit up for about five seconds by a blue flame. A member of the "Stop! Look! and Listen" company said she noticed a vivid flash from her dressing room window.

1926 09 08
A professional photographer claims he was the author of one of the greatest hoaxes ever perpetrated on scientists and astronomers in this country and that he alone was responsible for the "meteoric" displays thought to have been seen all over England. "The lights were caused by the ignition of bags of ordinary photographic flashlight powder which I sent into the air attached to gas-filled balloons. Three sets of balloons were sent up, one from Beaconsfield, one from Bradford and one from Birmingham", he said. The article in the Daily Express is illustrated by a photograph of a real meteor in the act of exploding taken at the Solar Physics Observatory at Cambridge.

Workhouse room stank, p5*

1926 09 09
An article on the London "Daily News" gives an impression of Great and Little Wilbraham. After a thrilling account of the pursuit of poachers by the squire's foreman, the schoolmaster and ex-Police constable Walls, now a blacksmith, the reporter tells of his experiences in the village bakery. The squire's shepherd, turned 70, can sing 'something wunnerful'. "I can being singing at six in the morning and finish at ten at night, and never sing the same song twice", he said. "They be old songs and some of 'em ud take a time. 'The Old Cow Shed' takes 20 minutes".

1926 09 09
Ely Councillors discussed government regulations requiring every cowkeeper or purveyor of milk to be registered and all who keep cows must have cement floors. It means that the cows kept on fen farms, to employ labour, would have to be sold. A man would not be able to keep his own cow in his own yard or sell his own milk. It appeared a lot of tomfoolery and was helping the foreigner instead of those at home. It was agreed to protest against the order.

Invention of sugar beet loader, p3

1926 09 10
St Ives Council River Committee reported that a cross head had given way at the Staunch, wrecking one of the gates and causing a fall in the river; repairs had been carried out. They communicated with Mr Simpson, the owner who replied: "There seems to be some misunderstanding. Your council rent the staunch which comprises the lock and pen. In times gone by the lock had only one pair of gates (the second being put in when the navigation was restored about 1850). The barges came up the river and made fast just above the pen and flood gates; the gates of the pen were then shut and the flood gates lowered, and when sufficient water had come down the boats proceeded to the next lock. Would the council care to buy the whole structure? They would then not have to spend money on other people's property"

Military tattoo, p5

1926 09 10 ES
Manea or Charlemont – account of Thomas Neale 'Ruinous state' – 26 09 10(3)(4) ES

1926 09 11
Cambridge Women's Housing Association has been formed to assist in the supply of houses for the town and, in particular, to meet the urgent demand for the provision of more housing accommodation at an economic rent for the educated woman worker and others. It proposes to purchase suitable houses and convert them into self-contained flats of one, two or three rooms with kitchenettes. At a later stage it is hoped to build a residential club. Already nearly £1,000 has been subscribed.

Trumpington village hall, p6

1926 09 14
At Cambridge Education Committee Ald Starr said that recently children had gone to school showing signs of chicken-pox. Were proper steps taken to prevent them going to school? Dr Dalton thought a very big mistake had been made in excluding an enormous number of children because they happened to be in a house where chicken-pox was. Children were excluded where necessary but in cases like mumps and chicken-pox it was very much better to let the children go to school. When it came to more serious diseases like measles it was a very different matter

1926 09 15
Considerable interest was taken in agricultural circles in a demonstration of stubble cleaning on the University Farm, Huntingdon Road, Cambridge. It had the dual object of acquainting farmers with the instruments available for such work and of bringing instrument makers in touch with them so they may visualise what improvements are required. Light land was used in the morning and heavy loam in the afternoon and included both tractor and horse work by a variety of instruments, though the exhibition was in the main concerned with tractors.

1926 09 16
Sir – Will the Transport Authority please have a look at Mill Road junction with East Road, Cambridge. Corners are being rounded off and visibility increased in many parts but at this extremely busy point efforts seem to have been multiplied to prevent a safe flow of traffic. The large block of lavatories and the telephone kiosk form nuclei for masses of trees, shrubs and large flowering plants which entirely obstruct the view. Everyone enjoys greenery and colour, but in this instance they are in the wrong place, without doubt, and call for removal – "Safety First"

Noisy motor cyclist, p5
Ely cycling Russell Wright cup, p6

1926 09 17
P.C.Q – "Please Charleston Quietly" is the plea of all real dance lovers as was evidenced at the Rendezvous Ballroom, Cambridge, when demonstrations of the new Flat Charleston Waltz, Tango and Fox-Trot were given. In its new form, with all distasteful kickings and stampings eliminated, the Charleston will appeal to the most fastidious. The Rendezvous with its new decoration, improved sitting-out accommodation and the popular Nobby Clark and his band is assured of an even greater following.

1926 09 17 ES
New sugar beet loader invented by T.W. Clarke, Ely – 26 09 17 ES

1926 09 18
Sutton straying animals, p5
Cambridgeshire walking club, p7
Old writing at Ely, p8

1926 09 20
West Wickham property, p6

1926 09 21
Wallis' garage fire, p5*
Cottenham fen farm, p5
Silver jubilee – changes over 25 years, p6

1926 09 22
Newmarket Urban Council has relaxed severe restrictions on the sale of English coal and is to increase permits to meet the requirements for the race weeks. It was also decided to commence full street lighting. But the regulations on the use of light for the purpose of advertisement and display allowed no exceptions and they prohibited all lighting beyond the minimum required to carry on the business or protest property. Although restrictions might be relaxed it is still of the first importance that all householders observe the utmost economy in the use of coal.

Coal directions, p5

1926 09 22 c
Deep regret will be felt of the news of the death of Councillor H.W. Hurrell of Newton Manor. A staunch Conservative he took a prominent interest in public affairs and was chairman of the County Education Committee since 1922. During his period many of the elementary schools have undergone great changes. He will always be remembered for the Newton School of Metal Work where boys produce beautiful works of art in copper, brass, silver and pewter which are sent all over the country as well as to America and India. "It is one of the finest things the village ever had", said a resident.

1926 09 23
Cambridge Guardians received a complaint from a resident in Gwydir Street: "How much longer have we to put up with the filthy, stinking smoke which is belching forth from the Workhouse chimney in Mill Road. My little girl is delicate and it makes her so ill that I have to take her out of the house as the smoke penetrates every room, besides killing the flowers in our little garden and making our washing filthy". The black smoke was terrible and had made people ill. The Workhouse Master attributed the trouble to steam coal which had to be used.

1926 09 23
Cambridge Workers' Hospital Fund raised nearly £3,900 last year but expenses of Addenbrooke's Hospital were liable to increase. They were now installing new operating theatres, two of the women's wards were being remodelled to provide sanitary annexes and in the near future they would have to build a new ward on the top of Victoria. This all cost money and unless their income was increased they would have a drop in efficiency. It was a worry to know where the money was coming from. One bright spot was the parades; before the war they only received £600 from them, this year it would be over £4,000.

1926 09 24
A young man in Newnham Street, Ely, was digging sand from a pit and was using his pickaxe somewhat freely, when he struck a human skull. A further removal of the earth revealed the whole skeleton; around it was found very ancient pieces of pottery. Many years ago an old public house with the sign of The Cherry Tree stood on the spot and it was an occasional rule to have a "dust up" before some rowdy parties broke up at night-time, but the skull showed no marks of violence, except where the pick had come into contact with it. The remains were collected and carefully reburied.

Savings movement, p5
Melbourne Place cottages, p5

1926 09 24 ES
Ely angler T.A. Martin reminisces; Marquis of Granby fishing club started 1906 – 26 09 24 ES

1926 09 25
Rampton parents, p5
Hoaxing scientists, p6*
Longstanton & church, p6

1926 09 27
Another housing scheme, p5
Botanic Garden work, p6

1926 09 28
An article in "Country Life" relates to the house, no.21 Madingley Road Cambridge in a choice spot beside the Backs which is included in an auction sale. "Everyone knows that building is costly, but there will be curiosity as to how as much as £6,000 could be spent in building a house in which the chief accommodation consisted of only six bedroom. Some four years ago an American laid out that sum on the house which is he now vacating. The auctioneer have orders to treat on the basis of market value, not cost, so someone will get a bargain".

1926 09 28
We understand that Sir W. Graham Greene, K.C.B., of Harston, has been approached as to his standing as an Independent candidate for the vacancy on the County Council. He has had an interest in Harston since 1893 but official engagements at the Admiralty and Ministry of Munitions have prevented him hitherto from passing as much time in the County as he would have liked. His sisters, Miss Mary and Miss Helen Greene are well known for their public and philanthropic work and the new hall at Harston is largely due to their efforts.

1926 09 29
Murder & suicide, blazing car – Marshalls, p6

1926 09 30

The idea of demolishing a couple of dilapidated old houses in Melbourne Place to erect workshops and a caretaker's house at the Central Council School appeared repugnant to several members of Cambridge council but were adopted by a large majority. They contain kitchen, basement, one room on the ground floor and two bedrooms, one very small. The basements are unfit for habitation and very damp. There were no stoves. It would cost £100 to renovate the interior and exterior. The Mayor said it was not the time to demolish houses when there were 600 on the waiting list. Why were they unfit for habitation? They were half-buried by the rubbish from the school.

1926 09 20
Cambridge Town Council passed a scheme to provide houses to be let at a rent of 5s or 6s per week for people who cannot afford to pay more, and especially those with large families. A Utility Society is to lease building plots from the Corporation at nominal ground rent for the erection of the houses, the cost of which would not exceed £450 each. It was an effort to help men with families of three or four children who earned 35s or 45s a week & could not pay 7s 6d a week rent

1926 09 30
At the Newmarket Police Court a solicitor on behalf of Greene, King & Sons, brewers, said there was a real difficulty in Ashley in obtaining premises for the sub Post Office and he proposed that it should be attached to the Crown Public House. In order to do this it would be necessary to carry out structural alterations. Nobody could enter the public house through the Post Office, or the Post Office through the public house. If it were possible to get another property it would be desirable to do so as the language at a public house was not always of the best

October 1926 CDN

1926 10 01
Economy in gas, p2
Vice Chancellor retires, p5
Burwell fire, p5
Omnibus motion, p6
Dutch houses, p6

1926 10 01 ES
F. Hiam complains about delays in sending vegetables from Shippea Hill station – 26 10 01(2) ES

New drag-line dredger does work 40 men, Middle Fen Commissioners – 26 10 01 & (3) ES # c.29

1926 10 02
A mild sensation has been caused at Hemingford Abbots by a notice on the Rectory Gate. "Young persons and others have adopted a style of dress which is immodest and most objectionable. I disapprove strongly of the short skirts, bare necks and bare arms and hope women will wear more to cover themselves. In fact some cannot be said to be sufficiently clothed. I trust all women not to come to church so attired". It is the work of the rector's warden, Col. Charles Linton, a brisk, short, military-looking man who belongs to the Victorian era & speaks his mind bluntly.

New milk tank, p3
Cherry Hinton free church opening, p6
Swallowed by county, p7
Bus shelter, p8

1926 10 06
Waterbeach centenary, p5
Meteor, p6
Photographic record, p6*

1926 10 07
A public inquiry on the Cambridge Town Planning Scheme heard of problems with dust from the cement works. If the works were increased the dust must increase and if the material was ground finer it would be more difficult to collect. The smell from the Gas Works was merely unpleasant but the dust actually affected the health of the people who had to breathe it; they had the dust on their lungs and were permanently affected by it. The Company did not admit that the dust from their works is, or ever had been injurious to health.

1926 10 07
By the death of Mr Henry Flanders, chemist of Mill Road, Cambridge we feel we have lost a friend to whom we could have gone at all times for advice. We admired his knowledge and tact and the way he treated everybody alike. There was no distinction between rich and poor in his shop. He was the poor man's guide, philosopher and friend. We who have in time of many ailments sought his friendly counsel have come away relieved by his cheery words. When it happened – fairly frequently – that a poor client had not at the moment the cash ready he would invariably say, "Oh, yes, yes, that's all right"

1926 10 08
The Lord Lieutenant of Cambridgeshire opened the newly-acquired hall of the Cottenham British Legion. The branch, which numbers over 100 members, was formed in January 1923 and a short while ago received a substantial grant from the United War Services Funds which enabled them to take over "Pepys Hall" as their Headquarters. They had given a lead to other villages in the way of halls and if others followed the villages would be "snowballing up" in the getting of halls

Globe-trotter in Cambridge, p5
Prickwillow tenders, p5

1926 10 08 ES
Ouse Drainage Board objections to £140,000 South Level scheme – 26 10 08 ES

1926 10 09
Strawberries in October! Such a sight in the front window of Sambridge's in Petty Cury, Cambridge, promoted a CDN representative to ask some questions. They were grown within 15 miles of Cambridge on one of Messrs Chivers' farms and were picked that morning. In the future we may get English strawberries all the year round. Experiments are being carried on all over the country. And the strawberry season is reckoned to close in the middle of July! Life is full of wonders and disappointments!

Histon elm tree, p3
'Secretly damaged' workshop, p4

1926 10 11
Rail crash, Adelaide, p5

1926 10 12
Miss Olive Edis whose photographic portraiture is well-known in Cambridge has come again to St Columba's Hall. The collection is the fruit of many visits to Cambridge during recent years. There is an interesting collection of colour plates, some being fine examples of the Lumiere plate and others in the new gum-grain Agfa plate. The scarlet gowns make effective touches of colour and the portraits include Sir Arthur Shipley at the gateway of the Lodge at Christ's and a fine head of Sir J.J. Thomson which gives a far more natural portrait than most of his paintings, with colour. A view of King's College from the Backs is an exquisite example of what Miss Edis can do in landscape work and portraits of children and well-known nonagenarians and centenarians play an important part. # c.65.5

Rampton parents, p6

1926 10 13
Dr W.M. Palmer is chairman of the joint committee of the Cambridge Antiquarian Society and the Cambridge Photographic Club which is engaged in the formation of a collection of photographic records of old buildings and other objects of interest in the county, particularly those which are likely to disappear. He displayed 160 lantern slides made by him during the last two years of old houses, taken from the outside and from the inside, and a number of old photographs showing buildings now vanished and costumes that are no longer worn. The record will be of great value to the historian a hundred years hence.

1926 10 13
On Cesarewitch day Newmarket was invaded by big crowds and apart from the well-laden trains, large numbers of visitors were conveyed from all directions by motor vehicles and the new stand afforded a fine vantage point for thousands who have hitherto had to pack themselves into confined space. The volume of wagering by the general public is probably the smallest on record. That does not mean that there are not vast fortunes at stake over the race, because there has been some heavy wagering by some of the wealthy owners and when one looks at the list of owners and notes it includes names of eight or nine millionaires such a state of things is not surprising.

1926 10 14
Willingham flower show, p6

1926 10 15
The old Albert Institute, Grafton Street, Cambridge was the scene of great enthusiasm on the opening of new headquarters for the Cambridge Boy Scouts' Association which will supply a much-felt want. Afterwards the presentation of medals for athletics and swimming took place. An enjoyable sing-song followed and then a meeting of leaders who discussed the uses to which the headquarters could be put. Meanwhile refreshments were served to allay the pangs of hunger caused by such enthusiasm. Lantern slides on India and China were shown by Assistant Commissioner W.B. Gourlay and the evening closed with everybody in the best of spirits.

1926 10 15 ES
Turning beet into sugar – photos of unloading beet – 26 10 15(2) ES

Ely railway smash signal box – photos - 26 10 15 ES

1926 10 16
Car footboard alight, p3
Ashley post office, p3
Rampton appeal, p7

1926 10 18
Stretham Red Lion inquest, p3
Obsolete parish courts, p6*

1926 10 19
Cambridge sensation, p6

1926 10 20
Land fit for rabbits, p6*
Slum housing, p8*

1926 10 21
Ely bankruptcy, p3

Sawston general strike, p6*

1926 10 22
Soham Parish Council say that as their fair and feast were still wanted by the public the question of its abolition did not arise. Enquiries showed that many years ago the tolls had been taken by the Lord of the Manor, but certainly during the past 50 years he had neither taken tolls not exercised any control. They have no knowledge by what rights the stalls are placed in the highway though a search had been made of old parish books and documents.

St Giles parish room, p7

1926 10 22 ES
Ely stationmaster, H. Everson, retiring – 26 10 22 ES

1926 10 23
The Officers' Training Corps range on Grange Road, Cambridge, has been closed down, having been condemned by a Military Board on account of the danger to Coton. The Cambridge University Rifle Association will for a time carry on shooting at the Territorial range on Coldham's Common. But there is a likelihood of this range being closed down too in the near future because the new road in course of erection will come up behind the butts. A united effort will be made to secure a sufficiently large area of land for the erection of a new, full-sized range.

Ambulances, p3
Fen Causeway, p6

1926 10 26
The Imperial War Graves Commission has undertaken on behalf of the Belgian Government to erect headstones over the graves of deceased members of the Belgian Forces in various cemeteries, including Cambridge. They will be made in Belgium and forwarded to this country for erection. There are two graves of Belgian soldiers in the Cambridge Borough Cemetery, two bodies being interred in each grave, and permission was given for the erection of the headstones.

Workhouse buildings, p6
Electricity line, p6

1926 10 27
An important new block is about to be opened as an extension of the Cambridge Poor Law Institution. The Mill Road workhouse received its first inmates in September 1838; just before Christmas married couples and the aged women arrived, and the sick and infirm were brought 'in fives' from the Poor-house of St Sepulchre and St Mary-the-Less. As tea was then 3s.3d. a lb 'small beer' was allowed in its place and sometimes given in excess so the quantity was limited to one quart daily per inmate. It has served with certain alterations and additions for three generations but now is inadequate for present requirements. The new block contains sick wards, maternity wards and nurseries. It will prove very useful and be a credit to the town.

Council houses, p6*

1926 10 28
Fen Causeway, p6

1926 10 29
The name of a well-known onion – Nuneham Park – as a fitting one for the new recreation ground at Newnham, because of the many tears it has caused on the ground of cost, was suggested by Councillor Edwards at Cambridge council. Another name proposed was Lamentations Land as a perpetual reminder that they had been guilty of the most extravagant and wilful expenditure of public money. Finally the Council decided on Lammas Land. It would signify that the ground formerly opened during certain seasons of the year was now closed permanently against any private owner's rights and the public had the rights for the whole of the year.

1926 10 29
The Ministry of Health has been informed that in Dry Drayton meat, bacon and other foodstuffs sold from travelling motors and horse vans were contaminated by dust, petrol etc. The Council could do little in the matter. If the people found that their food was unclean they need not buy it from the vehicles about which the complaint was made.
Straying buds, p5
Speeding Ouse, p5

1926 10 29 ES
Beet factory effluent – 26 10 29 ES

1926 10 30
Cambridge Borough Surveyor submitted four schemes for the lay-out of land at the Cattle Market. The site comprised 11½ acres and was purchased about 1884 from Jesus College. The west side was used for vehicles of those attending the market, the east side was partly used for allotments and the question had arisen of developing part for conveniences, a free library and an abattoir, which was most important. The Railway Company wanted to provide up and down platforms at the station. It was unlikely the bridge would be widened for railway traffic was decreasing.

1926 10 30
Two aeroplanes from Duxford Aerodrome came down on Coldham Common, one being overturned and considerably damaged. One of the machines in a flight of five passing over Cambridge was observed to be in trouble. The single seater fighter had been engaged in firing practice at the Wash. He made a good landing, coming to rest near the bathing-place with just a buckled wheel. A similar machine went to its assistance but was not so fortunate; it struck some bumpy ground and turned right over, coming to rest flat on its back with the wheels in the air.

1926 10 30
How does the cost of living at Cambridge today compare with the pre-war days so far as an undergraduate is concerned? A writer in the Morning Post says "With an income of £210 a year, I went down at the end of my fourth year owing a year's income; and my debts were accounted for by entertaining on a rather lavish scale during my last year. I know post-war undergraduates with an income of £250 who went down owing nothing." He says that nowhere in the world has the cost of living risen less & adds that University expenses are surprisingly reasonable.

Balsham British Legion, p7

November 1926 CDN

1926 11 01
The Mayor of Cambridge (Ald E.O. Brown) addressed the New Street Men's Bible Class, which was the outcome of the Ragged School. He took them back to the old school, before the new road to Sturton Street was made, and visualise the children that assembled outside. The teachers were devoted to their work. There were working parties where shirts were made for the boys and petticoats for the girls. Public houses were numerous, rows and fights were the order of the day. There were fighting men prepared to take on all comers, rat catchers, beer tasters. Those days had passed and gone, and they were benefiting from the seed that was sown by the devoted teachers many years ago

1926 11 02
Sir Arthur Conan Doyle presented a "creepy" evening among ectoplasms, spirits, and the like at St Catharine's college, Cambridge. The hall was crowded with an audience of dons and undergraduates to hear the famous novelist talk on "Psychic Experiences". He had postponed an earlier visit as the college was in mourning for its Master & his doctor had ordered him not to come now because of a bad cold. But he had disobeyed, thinking that if for the second time he did not materialise – laughter – they would imagine he had no objective existence at all. He showed a photograph of the crowd round the Cenotaph on Armistice Day; above a small band of spiritualists hung a vapour comprising faces of young men killed in the war.

1926 11 04
No little excitement was caused when an undergraduate, fully-clothed and wearing cap and gown, jumped off the Magdalene Bridge into the river, using an umbrella as a parachute. A film record of the exploit was taken by Lord Burghley, the famous athlete, who had his baby film camera mounted on the top of his motor car. The undergraduate, being hard up, had hit on this idea as a way of getting money and has netted enough to keep him for a week or two in pocket-money

1926 11 05
Rentokill advertisement, p3
Rag, p8
Great retreat, p8

1926 11 05 ES
Ely beet factory's seven tugs and 100 barges – 26 11 05(2) # c.26.3

1926 11 06
Ely Guardians new ward, p3
Drummer Street, p6*

1926 11 08
Walking cyclist, p3*
Duxford court martial, p5
'Raggers' appreciation police, p6

1926 11 11
For two minutes Cambridge stood still in silent homage to the glorious dead. Everywhere the Great Silence was religiously observed. As the hour approached a general atmosphere of expectancy enveloped the whole town until just before the great moment arrived a significant hush seemed to fall, and those in the street trod softly in fear unless they should disturb the slumbers of the sacred dead. As the bells of the Catholic church struck the hour a faint boom followed by a reverberating explosion from the direction of Parker's Piece announced that the fateful two minutes had arrived, and traffic and pedestrians came to a simultaneous standstill.

C.U.M.S. children's concert, p3
General Strike sequel, p6

1926 11 12
The Rev G.A. Studdert Kennedy, M.C., better known as "Woodbine Willie" spoke at the great Armistice Day at the Cambridge Guildhall. It was packed for the meeting and some hundreds were accommodated in the Corn Exchange where they heard the proceedings by loud speaker. There was a tradition growing up round Armistice Day which was bound to have a great deal to do with the making or marring of the human race in the future. War was a great folly, a great madness, a great tragedy. "I will love the things for which they died; and I will hate with a bitter and lasting hate the things that brought them to their deaths", he said.

1926 11 12
A deeply moved audience cheered and sang when some forty local heroes of the Great Retreat, some in uniform and all wearing their medals, lined the stage at the conclusion of the first performance of "Mons", the great war film, at the Central Cinema, Cambridge. It was a memorable scene and showed very clearly how much Cambridge admired the part they played in the immortal episode. By special invitation 100 men of the Cambridgeshire Regiment also witnessed the performance. Some of the Cinema staff saw war service and were displaying their medals. "Buttons" sold his chocolates and cigarettes wearing two medals won by his father, who was killed in the war.

Undergraduate shell-out, p5

1926 11 12 ES
Ely High School comes of age – 21 years of progress feature – 25 11 12 ES

1926 11 13
Poppies, p5*
Undergraduate escape, p6

1926 11 15
Poppy record, p5*

1926 11 16
Cossacks, p6
Etchings, p6*

1926 11 17
Casuals admission, p6

1926 11 18
Bookmaker claim, p6

1926 11 19
A Cambridge dispenser claimed he used drugs to make up "pick-me-ups" for undergraduates in the morning. The judge: "Do they require 'pick-me-ups' in the morning?" (Laughter.) "They do things now that we never thought of". He made them up out of his head, usually mixing three tinctures. They were drunk in a wineglass of water. They were used every day during term time. The undergraduates looked something of a wreck in the morning and owned to having had a little refreshment at night. (Laughter.)

1926 11 19
When the new Festival Theatre in Newmarket Road, Cambridge, opens on Monday a fresh phase in the history of the Drama in England will have commenced. Without destroying the principle of the old Theatre Royal, with its memories of the old Regency days, the promoters of this new venture have so adapted the building that it is the most modern and up-to-date in England. The new stage gradually merges into the stalls by a series of shallow steps, behind is a revolving middle stage backed by a raised and sliding backstage with the cylindrical cyclorama as its background. The lighting will be a special feature and the theatre will be warmed by a central heating system.

Complaint undergraduate, p5

1926 11 19 ES
Mr & Mrs George Richardson of Top Street Stretham celebrate golden wedding. Wife Eleanor only child late John Savage, born in the snug little house she now occupies; has piece of wedding cake. Mr Richardson sign writer; has done Stretham, Sutton and Wilburton clock faces. Changes in sign writing. Wesleyan local preacher 26 11 19ES & (2) – photo

1926 11 20

The County Agricultural Organiser gave an interesting lecture on the destruction of rats at Lt Shelford village hall. People did not pay enough attention to the rat menace. There were far too many rats about Cambridge for his liking and if they held a Little Shelford Rat Week it would do a world of good. Everybody should kill rats whenever they got the change. If each person killed one a week it would be doing some good.

Lansbury speech, p3

1926 11 22
Many people have asked how it is that the CDN is able to get later news in its columns than can be obtained in the London evening papers sold at the same time on the streets of Cambridge. This is due to the Creed System of news-getting, by private wire installed between our offices at Cambridge and the Press Association Offices in Fleet Street. The news is collected, sub-edited and sent to the telegraph room where an operator transfers the scrip on to a paper slip in Morse for transmission. At the CDN offices a Creed receiver transfers the signals on to a paper tape which passes through a printer and is transposed into script at an average speed of about 80 words per minute. The operators at each end of the wire are able to talk to each other in Morse for the purpose of queries.

1926 11 23
Festival Theatre opening, p6

1926 11 24
A Kedington farmer was summonsed for the recovery of wages due for harvest work. The men knew they were to be paid on acreage but they did not know how much per acre until they had finished. All they had to do was the carting and that took 14 days. The usual amount for a man to take at harvest in the way of carting was 30 to 35 acres but in this case they averaged only 19½ [AND A HALF] acres for which they were paid £6 17s which was 7s per acre for with 6d extra. If a man was not employed during the whole of the harvest period on harvest work he was only entitled to a portion of the bonus.

1926 11 24
Addenbrooke's Hospital has launched an appeal for funds to start a scheme of radium treatment, which is invaluable for the treatment of malignant diseases but cannot be generally administered because of the very high cost. At present they have to pay for the hire of a supply of radium and apparatus when it was needed. About £900 is required to obtain a minimum supply and the necessary apparatus. Once obtained it could be let out on hire and produce an income. It would be the most valuable gift the hospital could receive. Cambridgeshire is not a rich county but there are people rich enough and beneficent to make the gift.

1926 11 24
The Cambridge Electricity Supply Company is one of the oldest in the country, having been formed in 1892. It was the first in the world to adopt condensing steam turbines, now used everywhere in all large electricity generating stations. A suitable site for the generating station had to be found where large quantities of water for condensing were available and as the Corporation had insisted this should be within the Borough the site on Quayside was chosen. By 1900 the site was too cramped and is now somewhat obsolete. They must decide whether to provide an up-to-date generating station or purchase a bulk supply from elsewhere.

1926 10 25
Sir – At my home we have adopted the penny-in-the-slot system for the use of gas. One would think that, after placing a penny in the meter, we had fully paid for the gas to be consumed until the light fails. According to the collector it is not so, for having taken what he finds in the meter he demands two or three shillings more. This appears to me to be a slip-shot way of doing business and I hope gas consumers will raise a strong protest – "A Gas Consumer". Sometimes the users of the penny-in-the-slot machine get some pennies returned – Ed.

Pick-me-up allegations, p6

1926 11 26
Workhouse dance, p8

1926 11 27
The Cambridge Central Conservative Club in Market Passage was gutted by fire in the early hours of the morning. There were a large number of trade premises nearby and the task of saving the club, with flames nearly 100 feet high, appearing a hopeless one the Fire Brigade concentrated on confining the conflagration to the one building. Had there been a strong wind a centre of shopping would have been destroyed. The Central Hall, which had been booked for many social events for months ahead, suffered severely. The billiards room, which contained four splendid tables also suffered considerably; two of the tables fell through the floor. The club was opened in February 1888

Electricity supply, p8

1926 11 29
Rural Community Council, p3
Conservative Club fire, p7

December 1926 CDN

1926 12 01
A Dullingham youth pleaded guilty to a charge of assault. Complainant said he was driving at night when the defendant, who was standing in the road, fired a pistol in his face. The powder scorched his face all down the side and he was obliged to pull up his car because he could not see. The wad of the pistol hit him in the face and was like a lot of hot pins going into his face. The lad said he fired the pistol for a lark so that the sound of the revolver would make the motor driver think he had a burst tyre. The pistol was confiscated.

1926 12 02
The official testing took place of the bridges along the new road through Coe Fen, The Fen Causeway. They are Snobbs' Bridge, Flood Water Bridge and the River Bridge. The last is the most important and five steam rollers and one steam tractor, together weighing 63 tons were driven across it, passing each other, thus making 63 tons rolling weight, equivalent to about 100 tons dead weight. The Cambridge Borough Surveyor and councillors boarded a punt and viewed the deflectometer under the bridge, which gave a satisfactory reading. The foundations consist of 100 piles of 40 feet length, weighing about four tons each

1926 12 03
Ely Guardians heard a complaint from a vagrant of a shortage of accommodation in the casual ward of the workhouse which was full up with Beet Sugar Factory employees who paid 1s per night. There was no registered common lodging house in Ely but the workhouse was for destitute people and not for those with money in their pockets. But some of them concealed what money they had. If they filled the casual wards with people with money what were they going to do with the poor chaps who really were down and out? Some of the casuals were looking for work. If the Beet Factory did not take them on they would only go on the land and take jobs from agricultural labourers. Last year there were 60 or 70 living at the Jam Factory. The matter was left to the discretion of the Master

1926 12 04
Cambridge people who have relatives abroad will be interested in the scheme for sending Christmas cards by cable which is being "pushed" this year. Originally inaugurated by the Eastern Telegraph Company they are now becoming the rule. Greetings may be sent to South Africa, Australia, China, Japan and South America. The minimum charges are for messages of ten words, the rate being 5s to Australia. The telegrams will be delivered on seasonably-designed forms.

Boatbuilder's action, p4

1926 12 06
Electricity, p8

1926 12 07
Two houses were destroyed as a result of a fire which broke out at Willingham. A young man named Cecil Denson noticed a fire at the back of a house in Church Street occupied by Walter Munns and found that a beam of an outhouse and the thatch was on fire. The alarm was raised and the occupants taken to safety, some of the furniture also being removed. Willingham Volunteer Fire Brigade turned out but soon the house was ablaze, as was another thatched house next door occupied by Mrs Hopkins, a widow.

Peace message, Cambridge & Newmarket, p6

1926 12 08
There have been complaints of certain effluent entering the parish ditches at Histon and Impington and Messrs Chivers had approached Cambridge Borough Council to draw up a scheme whereby sewage could be taken by means of pipes to the Cambridge sewage farm. The parish council had not been asked to be parties and it raised the question whether they should work jointly with Chivers. It would cost a considerable amount of money. There had been talk of Histon and Impington being taken over by the Borough of Cambridge. If so the cost would be borne by the whole of the people in it, to the great advantage of the village. Extensive building was going on and it would not be long before they built up to the boundary.

1926 12 08
Ely ratepayers association discussed traffic in the streets which is becoming absolutely dangerous. One-way traffic was not nearly so necessary as in towns such as Cambridge and there would be opposition. It would be very difficult to manage. The best way was to have special parking places for the buses where they could drop off passengers. The problem would be solved if buses were parked in the Palace Green. There have been as many as 25 different vehicles in Market Street and 14 cars in the Cattle Market. Mr Rickwood said the trouble was from people putting their carts in the main streets; they were often left outside public houses from 10 am to 4 pm and in Brays Lane it was nearly impossible to pass.

Ickleton church hall, p5*

1926 12 09
Fen Causeway, the new and important link between Newnham and the rest of Cambridge, was opened by the Mayor. The bridge and its approaches were gaily decorated with bunting and presented a colourful scene. The project of relieving Silver Street traffic had started as long ago as 1904 and discussion had gone on for nearly 20 years before the Town Council approved the plan in 1923. Nine proposals had been put forward and had it not been for the urgency of the unemployment question the same position would have existed today, only instead of nine there might have been nineteen different schemes (Laughter)

1926 12 10
Soham Grammar School – Beechhurst, p3
Businessmen & cars, p6
Slums a blot, p7
Rents Kings Hedges & Suez Road, p8

1926 12 11
Ely traffic, p3

Electricity station or bulk supply, p5

1926 12 14
Banham gifts, p8

1926 12 15
A Haslingfield youth, serving an apprenticeship at Messrs King and Harper's, Cambridge, had a miraculous escape when a car in which he was seated fell 19 feet from a lift in the garage to the concrete floor beneath. The lad, who had little experience of driving, got into a light car which was in the lift and endeavoured to reverse it in order to park it on one of the upper floors. Instead of putting it into reverse, he put the gear in the first speed and the car, shooting forward, turned a complete somersault, crashing on to the concrete floor below, with the driver underneath. The car was badly damaged and the youth taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital.

1926 12 16
Sir – As a member of the Cambridge branch of the College of Nursing I should like to say a few words against the profession being organised on trades union lines. Nursing is not a trade, it is a profession. It seems the thin edge of the wedge for discontent, strikes and everything that undermines the proper spirit of the work. Nursing would become a "mundane job" instead of a "noble profession" and so all the greatness would be lost out of the service – D. Clarke, Royston

1926 12 16
The Cambridge Camera and Wireless Co. of Alexandra Street offers a very complete range of component parts or complete wireless sets. The famous Pye sets can be seen in their windows, also the self-contained "Britamax All-Wave" receivers. Specialities of this firm include reliable, but cheap, H.T. batteries, valves and loud speakers.

1926 12 16
It may not be generally known to the Cambridge public that Mr Carne, the manager of the Playhouse, Mill Road, is the "Victor Carne" who figures in the record list of the Vocalion Gramophone Co. He has recorded "The Holy City" and "The Star of Bethlehem" for their Christmas list and these and other of his records are obtainable at Messrs Leavis's, Regent Street. Wireless enthusiasts will no doubt remember the many times he has sung from London and Daventry.

1926 12 17
"Daisy Lee" was summoned for professing to tell fortunes to the wife of P.S. Hillier of Ely constabulary. She made a picturesque figure in court and said she was a member of the old and well-known family of Gypsy Lee. She was born in a caravan and called a gypsy. She carried on a business as a "character reader" and had stood in Ely Market Place often on market days without any complaint being made. Mrs Hillier said he had visited Lee's caravan at St John's Farm, Ely, had handed over a half-crown and been told to make a lucky wish. The gypsy then told her she had had a lot of worry and trouble – which was not true – and that she had a very good husband. The Bench fined Lee £10 and 10s costs and said she "must consider herself lucky they had not given her three month's hard labour". The money was paid forthwith

Waterbeach share-out club, p6

1926 12 18
Struggle in train, p5
Tramps, p7
Unattended cars, p8

1926 12 20
Premier Dance Hall, p6

1926 12 21
Saffron Walden magistrates heard an application on behalf of a number of licence-holder for an extension of hours on the occasion of the share-outs of the respective slate clubs. The houses had a large number of members – some as many as 150. Many of them were bricklayers working out of the town and it was not possible to commence sharing out before 7.30. It was 10 o'clock before it was finished and up to 11 pm the members desired to have refreshment and a "sing-song". The police said they had no objection. The application was not granted.
Electricity supply question, p8

1926 12 22
Colonel Archer told Ely council that the congested state of the streets on market days was growing serious because of the large number of buses. Brays Lane had to take a very large share of the traffic because it was a short cut to the Beet Sugar Factory and was dangerous. The Chief Constable said there were three kinds of vehicles: the farmers' carts, the private cars and the motor 'buses. He did not think they could compel the farmer to put his cart some distance from where his horse was. They did not want to drive trade away. The only solution was there must be no parking of private cars other than in places specially allotted to them; the council must decide where these should be. All setting-down and taking up of bus passengers should occur between the junction of Lynn Road and Market Street and the Sun public house.

Newmarket fever hospital, p3
Haddenham Cross Keys hanging, p5

1926 12 23
Haddenham publican hanged, p6

1926 12 24
We regret to record the death at his residence of Mr Thomas Strangeways, Lecturer on Special Pathology in the University and Director of the Research Hospital. He did a good deal of research in rheumatoid arthritis but had recently been very keen on the cultivation of animal cells in the test tube and was one of the pioneers in this work

Wireless, p6*

1926 12 24 ES
Gorefield motor garage destroyed by fire – 26 12 24(3) ES

Haddenham inquest on William Dearman, landlord Cross Keys, Hillrow – 26 12 24 ES

1926 12 28
Christmas Day and the two following days will be fully occupied in the good old-fashioned way; then will come the reaction and the question will arise, what to do with the children. Pearl Lambeth will help to solve that problem by presenting her annual children's' pantomime, "Betty and the Fairies", at Cambridge Guildhall together with a spectacular ballet and a good old harlequinade to follow. The programme certainly looks attractive and it is hoped that Cambridge will accord her bumper houses as a reward for her enterprise.

1926 12 28 c
Expectations of a white Yuletide were not realised this Christmas. The weather Harlequin at the last minute performed one of his celebrated quick-change acts and brought a sulky drizzle which lasted all day. The visit of the Helder football team from Holland proved a considerable attraction to the Town ground on Christmas morning and there was a fair attendance at the local Derby between the Abbey and the Swifts. Apart from this there was little to tempt folk abroad and happy family gatherings round the home fire, fortunately replenished since the resumption of work in the coal mines, were the order of the day.

1926 12 29
Mr J.G. Davies of Histon had another long jaunt on his two-speed hand-propelled invalid chair just before Christmas. He left Histon intending to go to Manchester but when he arrived at Leicester decided to come back again. A considerable part of the journey was done by night and he had several little adventures on the road including a collision with a milestone and being thrice stopped by tramps, one of whom threatened violence. "He became so wild that as I could not defend myself very well in my chair I had to resort to the gun which I carry with me on these little journeys and, pulling it out, I threatened him with it, so he cleared off, to my relief", he said.

1926 12 29
The Agricultural Wages Committee met to receive objections to the reduction of the minimum wage of special classes of workers under 18 years of age from 30s to 27s a week for the customary hours for men employed as horsemen, cowmen or shepherds, and limiting the minimum wages of 12s provided for boys under 15 years to boys of 14. The committee could extend the definition of overtime to include work on particular days. This had been done in the case of special workers in glasshouses in Hertfordshire where all work after 12 o'clock on Christmas Day was treated as overtime.

1926 12 29
A pleasing little ceremony took place at Hildersham when the Mayor of Cambridge (Ald J.S. Conder), who is a native of the village, was presented with an address. Though the population has decreased somewhat of recent years, the inhabitants make up by enthusiasm what they lack in numbers and the mayor received a very hearty welcome back to his old village. The rector said that if anybody had attempted 25 years ago to predict that the Mayor of Cambridge would be a native of Hildersham they would have been disposed to ask in wonder: "can so great an honour belong to so small, so poor and so unknown a place?" They believed that the honour which had been conferred upon him would live in the annals of the village

1926 12 31
The Great Ouse River Board heard that a number of stages had been erected on the banks of the Ten Mile River and the Wissey for loading sugar beet. The banks in many cases had been cut. Furthermore in loading the beet on to barges a quantity of earth was allowed to fall into the river. It should be made clear this should not be done without the approval of the Board. Sir Fred Hiam proposed notices be printed so the factories could sent one to each farmer who contracted with them to supply beet.

Newmarket workhouse wireless, p6

1927 Cambridge Daily News

I have copies of the articles summaries or marked, they seem not to have been scanned*

January to December 1927
Includes articles appearing in the Ely Standard

January 1927 CDN

1927 01 01
The Christmas holidays passed off very pleasantly in Cambridge and the great majority of workers no doubt appreciated to the full the four days' respite from their labours. But the arrangements with regard to closing on Tuesday were far from satisfactory, the multiple shops being the main cause of trouble. For traders who deal in perishable goods the problem is difficult and some did not see their way to agree to the fourth day. With such confusion it was hardly to be expected that any considerable section of the public would go shopping on Tuesday and it is doubtful if those who did reopen then found it really worthwhile.

Stokesley laundry, p3
Welcome 1927*

1927 01 07 ES

An old bargee's reminiscences: canal traffic in the fens 60 years ago by Isaac Collett; Waterman's hours – all hours. My father used to put me on the horse while the man rested on one of the barges. Sometimes he would shout "Boy! You're asleep" and I would answer "Well I may be, I didn't have any rest last night".

I remember when 10,000 tons of coal were taken from the Nene at Wisbech to Cambridge for the Lighting Company there. It used to go through the Wisbech Canal, having been brought to Wisbech my sailing ships (and afterwards steamers). The sluice keeper, Benson Woolhand, used to take so much money that he daren't go to sleep. You could not get canal shares for love or money. The charge made was 6d per ton and we kicked up several 'rows' about it, because we used to charge freightage for gravel at so much a yard and had to pay at the rate of 1½ tons per yard – the eighth being what we paid for carriage

The last time my gang of lighters came through the Canal, I came from Whittlesey with a cargo of gravel for Elm Bridge. I went to Jessop, who then kept the lock, because the sluice doors were locked. He said 'Yes – they have been locked and they are going to keep locked. The Company's closed the canal'. I asked him what I was to do with the gravel and he answered "I don't know". So I said I would go and see someone. I went to Jackson's office – Mr Edward Hugh Jackson – and the clerk there declared "It's private property, we can do as we like. We shan't open it any more"

With us gangling so, Mr Jackson came in … he said "It doesn't pay". I fired up and challenged him: "It paid in your father's time – you made fortunes out of it". He said, "I shan't open it if you argue for a month". I then said "I shall be here tomorrow morning with a certificate demanding £10 a day for as many days as you keep me outside". He said, "You'll get nothing if you do – we have nothing".

"I thought I could walk, but the clerk got to the lock first, and the gates were opened for me immediately. There was not enough water that night, but we got through the lock next day and discharged the cargo at Elm. That was the last time the local gates were opened. I told Mr Jackson, incidentally, that he must have an Act of Parliament to close the canal".

Here Mr Collett broke off to descant on the serious position that would arise if the sea gates burst and allowed the tide to flow in. It is his serious opinion that in such a case Elm, Fridaybridge and Emneth would be flooded. He remembers when there was a flood from the Canal which extended to St Augustine's Church. That same Sunday night Sutton Bridge dock 'blowed'. He was fetched out on the Monday morning and literally never 'took his shoes off; until the next Saturday night.

This led Mr Collett to shed an interesting sidelight on local history. He saw the Sutton Bridge dock catastrophe from a special point of view. He had told the contractor when he was building the dock of the risk he was running in not adequately protecting the entrance gates. There was an apron extending out 60 ft but this was a delusive protect5ion. On this particular Sunday evening as the resul of the great weight of water, the piling began to give way and the quicksand boiled up until a hole was made, and the water started boring under the threshold. Mr Collett was called in to drop clunch down to fill the hole, and although 220 tons were deposited in one night, the hole was deeper than ever in the morning, and all the labour had been ineffective.

The antagonism that was created between Wisbech and Sutton Bridge was well indicated as Mr Collet continued his narrative.

"Wisbech were 'dead' on the Sutton Bridge dock", he said. "They wanted it at Wisbech, but the gunny part was that as soon as the dock 'blew' they came to Wisbech for help. They knew I had a cargo of clunch here – as a matter of fact there were 220 tons belonging to the Wisbech Corporation. The dock people thought if they could get that it would hold the breach. They came and made me an offer, but I said, as it was for the Corporation, I did not know whether I should be justified in letting them have it. They said, 'Go and see the Mayor'. Ald. Ford was Mayor at that time and Mr Poole the Surveyor. I went and called them both up, but, knowing how keenly they opposed the dock being at Sutton Bridge, I had little hope of getting permission. However, what the Mayor said was, 'Now you have the chance of your life. We will let you have the clunch all right, but you must charge your own price for it'"

"You may bet your life I did" (proceeded Mr Collet, with evidence relish as the memory of the deal). "I told them my price – and it was a little bit extra, and all they said was 'Bring it all' – they were so anxious to get it. But when I got it there it melted away like snow under a mild rain"

Mr Collett was commissioned to get all the gangs of lighters he could find to rush clunch down to Sutton Bridge to save the dock. After three days and nights of it – travelling in trains and every other way to get to the owners, he felt he could not go on. The clunch was dropped on the sill and in front of it during the ebb of the tide. "I took a good mess of the stuff down, but I didn't expect it to stand – I said it wouldn't. And I was right"

"I was there", he went on, "when they put the 'Gallant' in the dock and 'went on', and was so pleased to see the first ship got in. When I got there on the Monday morning I never saw a man more 'cut up'. He sunk some month there!"

Mr Collett often travelled from Wisbech to Northampton – 121 miles by water, and he was familiar with every inch of the way. There were some hazardous journeys when the floods prevailed, and he remembers mooring barges to the railway bridge at Peterborough when the sleepers and metals were lifted out of position. In such difficult days he took risks, and on one journey netted £100 which he characterised as a slice of good luck.

His memory of Whittlesey Mere is of a different place from what it is today, because there could be storms there then were by no means pleasant things to have to weather. His father carried the stone to make the first road when Whittlesey Mere was drained, completing three trips a week – which was not losing any time.

The drinking capacity of the bargemen is well exemplified in several anecdotes Mr Collett tells, but one of the most amusing of his stories deals with the vicissitudes of a trip when the floods carried a gang of lighters into the churchyard at Water Newton. The lighters had got adrift and were fouling the gravestones, when the parson came along and declared he would rather have any of the stones damaged than a beautiful marble memorial which was in imminent danger. Everything was done by Mr Collett and his men to prevent this being broken, but in his anxiety the parson began to swear. Somebody reproved him for his impatience and instanced the behaviour of Job under his afflictions. "Job", ejaculated his reverence – "he never had a gang of lighters in his churchyard" – 27 01 07 ES

1927 01 03
The Cambridgeshire Chief Constable reported he had carefully considered the question of the retention of the parish constables and hoped the committee would agree to retaining them as he felt they were quite worthy of the duty they were called upon to do. Many members of the force were from time to time taken for special duty in connection with racing. On such occasions it was important to have parish constables. It gave a sense of security when the regular members of the force were away. In the prospect of a riot or disturbance when a regular policeman was not at hand, the parish constable was the one man for organising some method of maintaining order.

Corn Exchange roof, p5

1927 01 04
A part of twenty Cambridge undergraduates who are paying a social visit to New York are providing the citizens and police with incidents amusing and sometimes thrilling. One borrowed a fast sports car and gave the police an opportunity of testing the pace of their large red car. Chased down Fifth Avenue he was able to turn into a side street while the heavier police car was compelled by its momentum to continue straight on. By the time it had returned he had disappeared into the intricacies of Greenwich Village and was lost. He has also dived into the Hudson River, in order to do which he had to cut a hole through the ice which was six foot thick.

1927 01 05
College servants ball, p6

1927 01 06
Cambridge council agreed to spend £7,653 on the reconstruction and widening of Victoria Avenue. The scheme was criticised on the grounds that it would tempt motorists to increase their speed along the avenue. The Surveyor said that the railings should go back an extra 11 feet as far as the trees, making the road 55 feet. Chesterton wanted a vehicular bridge at Walnut Tree Avenue which would carry much of the traffic, but this had been coming for the last 35 years and it had not come yet (laughter).

1927 01 06
Sir – I am surprised to find the facilities for the Cambridge business man to play golf are so small. They can never get a round as the courses are so far from the town that they cannot get there. It is not everybody who can afford a car or motor cycle. They would welcome a municipal or public golf course near Cambridge and I am sure if the Town Council could entertain the idea of establishing a course it would be a paying concern – Robin

1927 01 07
Fuel officer, p6

1927 01 08
At Hildersham dances play an important part in the evening's entertainment. The foxtrot, which is universally accepted as the most popular present-day dance, has to bow its head to the valeta and the lancers, both of which appear to be great favourites with the inhabitants. One seldom hears of these dances nowadays and few would believe that young people participated, and what is more, enjoyed them. It is a village not ashamed of indulging in what the inhabitants like – however old the dances may be.

1927 01 08
Mr A.E. Stubbs said that housing conditions in some part of rural Cambridgeshire were worse than in any other parts of England and were a national scandal. Race-horses were better housed than some agricultural labourers. He knew cottages that one would not put a pig in where there were six, seven or eight people in two rooms; where a curtain had to be drawn across a bedroom for a mixed family of boys and girls, and where a woman had to put the food in an old tin trunk at night or there would be no food in the morning owing to the depredations of the denizens of the forests – rats ran over the beds and ate the food.

1927 01 08
A verdict of "Accidental Death whilst in the course of his employment owing to an error of judgement on the part of the driver" was returned on a Soham roadman. He was at work with a steam roller on the Stetchworth to Dullingham road. A motor car came along, ran over the rough gravel and stopped twelve yards passed the roller. This had occurred hundreds of times; if a car came over rough metal in high gear it often stopped. The roadmen always helped & had given them a push. This time the driver, instead of getting into third gear, somehow got into reverse and on letting in the clutch the machine ran back and crushed the man between the car and the road roller.

1927 01 10
Police at church, p6

1927 01 12
C.E. Goodrich spoke of 'Some joys and sorrows of a professional photographer'. A very irritating thing that every portraitist experienced was when a lady bought back her proofs with the statement that neither she nor any of her friends knew for whom they were intended; no one recognised them, in fact. On one occasion the complaint was met by a profuse apology from the photographer for having in error sent her another lady's proofs. Woe to the photographer who, catering for the general public in a moment of inspiration sought to apply some of the principles of art by suppression of some surplus furniture so as to allow the face of his sitter to become the centre of interest, for he would be thought to be working with a defective lens and not giving value for money. – 27 01 12

1927 01 12
The Chief Constable, Mr R.J. Pearson said that when he came to Cambridge there used to be only one or two policemen on point duty, whereas now there were seven or eight. The force had not been increased so one had to scheme accordingly. During the past year nearly 2,000 bicycles were found in the streets; up to Thursday morning there were 300 at the Police Station but 70 had been claimed that day. One seldom saw a drunken man in the streets and returns showed they were one of the best towns from this point of view.

Victoria Avenue, p3
1927 01 15
Rating compensation, p6*

1927 01 17
Deep regret is felt at the news of the death of Mr Frederick James Stoakley, chief laboratory assistant at the Chemical Laboratory for fifty years. He made a life-time study of colour photography and made the first 'three colour' photograph seen in Cambridge. He was one of the first to handle the Autochrome plate and produced some remarkable renderings of chemical objects. He was in great demand as a lecturer on colour photography and his photographic studies have been exhibited in all the big exhibitions. He was one of the founders & past President of the Cambridge Photographic Society

Ouse drainage, St Ives, p3

1927 01 18
H.L. Hughes spoke on how town planning could be improved. The last 100 years have seen an enormous increase in population and as a result town planning if not a problem for the future but more for the immediate present. The traffic, the sewers, the gas or electricity all have to be thought of. There are roads from the foot of the Gogs to Shelford and Stapleford which only contain one or two houses along them. Buses may pass the door but one has to go miles for a doctor, a church or a school. In a few years' time people will not live in such places and these houses will be left to fall down and spoil the approach to the town

1927 01 18
Newmarket U.D.C. received a letter from Lord Glaney for the tenancies of six of the cottages now being erected on the Burwell Road, Exning. He had contracted to sell his estate at Lackham and would shortly be removing his establishment to Exning and required the cottages for the accommodation of his domestic staff. Mr Dring said he quite appreciated the fact that Lord Glaney was a big ratepayer but the council was building these cottages for the working class, not for gentlemen's servants. If he wanted to bring his servants here surely he was in the position to build his own cottages for them. Major Griffiths said they might meet him by letting him have two or three.

1927 01 19
Newmarket pavior, p5

1927 01 20
A claim by a Cambridge motor engineer and taxi-cab proprietor against an Indian student who met with an accident while driving a hired car was heard in the County court. He had hired the car for the afternoon and agreed to pay 25s. (£1.25) plus the cost of the petrol and oil and accepted full responsibility for the safety of the car. He had the misfortune to collide with a motor cycle and sidecar at the Abington crossroads. The car was taken to Messrs King and Harper with instructions to repair it, but they were not quite satisfied their charges would be met. Plaintiff told the court the car had been brought to him with a view to being sold; the owner wanted £70 for it. He had paid £36 but one never knew the condition of a car after an accident.

1927 01 21
A.E. Stubbs, organiser of the Workers' Union gave a family budget from a farm worker's wife. Rent 3s., coal 3s., milk 2s., meat for a family of five 5s.8d., groceries 8s., oil and candles 1s. 4d. bread and flour 5s. 3d., insurance 9d – a total of 29s. One shilling was left to provide clothes, boots, household things that wore out – such as bedding, pots, pans etc.- doctors' bills, clubs, papers and finally holidays at the seaside every year. What a disgrace it was that, whilst the land provided a good living for landlords and farmers, the farm workers had to exist on a standard lower than a pauper

1927 01 21 ES
The County Library successfully launched; 45 centres established. The demand for books exceeds the supply. March demands for books drains 'Rural Scheme'. The working of the March branch was hampered by the large number of people who congregated there during the hours it was open. There were a thousand borrowers and they could imagine the rush and difficulties for the Librarians. They changed over 300 books in three hours on Friday night – 27 02 21 & (2) ES

Stretham veteran carrier's death – Edward Lowe regularly driven into Ely as carrier upwards of 68 years. Death of Edward Lowe … at little cottage in Berry Green where he had resided for 28 years. He was born in Stretham 81 years ago and was the third son of Mr & Mrs John Lowe. For 65 years carried on his business as carrier to and from Ely, having started at age of 15. Oldest member of Baptist Chapel, member Ancient Order of Shepherds for 60 years. He leaves two sons and two daughters - photo – 27 02 21(3)(4) ES

1927 01 22
With the extension of the Trans-Atlantic telephone service it was appropriate that the first "call" from Cambridge should be to one of the leading American universities. A room at Sidney Sussex College had been fitted up with plenty of receivers and the Vice Chancellor of Cambridge University and the President of Harvard exchanged greeting. Sir Ernest Rutherford then spoke to the President; he said: "We have snow on the ground in Cambridge. Have you also snow". "No I wish we had", was the reply. All were surprised at the clearness of the reception although occasionally it was difficult to distinguish a word owing to the loud volume of sound. Nevertheless effective conversation was possible, there being an entire absence of atmospherics.

Gwydir Street baths, p6
Newnham roads dispute, p6

1927 01 24
The Cambridge Albion Band and the Cambridge Town Bank have decided to amalgamate and will be known in future as the Cambridge Silver Band. They proposed to buy a complete set of new triple silver-plated instruments made by Messrs Hawkes, London with the now famous 'Profundo' basses as played by the St Hilda Colliery Band. This would greatly improve the tonal qualities of the band; there was not another band in the Eastern counties with such instruments.

1927 01 24 c
Additional County council expenditure on first-class roads is due to increased heavy traffic seriously damaging the roads. This is particularly evident when the subsoil is clay. The council is to contact the Minister of Transport for an additional grant. To widen an existing metalled carriageway one foot would cost £270 per mile. It was agreed that the road from Willingham to the county boundary near Earith, and from Over church towards Willingham should be declared to be main road.

1927 01 25
The County council considered the possibility of joining with other counties to establish a maternity home within the curtilage of a hospital. There was an arrangement with Addenbrooke's Hospital for cases of difficult confinement to be admitted at an agreed payment per case. But as there was no maternity department they were placed in a general ward & there was great difficulty in finding space

1927 01 25
A Lt Downham farmer died after a serious accident at his home. He had been attending to his electric lighting plant and his clothes had caught in the large fly wheel which threw him violently to the floor where he was found unconscious. He had been a great sportsman. Those who attended Pymoor Sports could never fail to be impressed by his inspiration. He was always a "live wire" and offered a field as a playground for youngsters.

1927 01 26
Downham inquest, p5
Stoaksley appreciation, p6

1927 01 27
Swavesey RDC have built eight houses under the assisted scheme and sites had now been selected for six houses at Swavesey and four at Conington which was plenty for that village. Over did not require any and Boxworth and Lolworth had 16 thoroughly good cottages and there was no need for fresh houses. They had the Bourn water supply put on. The cost to supply water to Hatley St George would be about £40; were they justified in laying such a large burden on a small village with only about a dozen cottages.

1927 01 28
Chesterton RDC considered filling up the pond at Girton. Half belonged to the Wellbrooke Laundry, over which the Parish Council had rights, and half to the Charity Trustees and if the pond was filled in it was essential they should waive their rights to it. The matter was urgent because the Laundry, which abuts the pond, had extended their premises. There was a quantity of building material they were anxious to get rid of which could be used in filling up the pond.

1927 01 28 ES
Tragic death Mr G. Darby of Lt Downham, entangled in electric light engine … miller and farmer – 27 01 28(3)(4) ES; tribute, what he did for Pymoor – 27 02 11(3) ES

1927 01 29
The rector of Offord Cluny has died from injuries received in a heroic effort to save his ancient rectory from destruction by fire. He had just retired to bed when he was startled by cries from his wife who had gone into an adjoining room for a Turkish bath. The bath is enclosed in a wooden cabinet and heated by a methylated spirit lamp which suddenly burst into flames. The rector fought the fire until he had overcome it – but at the expense of his life

Newnham allotments, p6
A.G. Almond death, p5

1927 01 31
Field artillery, p8

February 1927 CDN

1927 02 01
The Cambridge Borough Surveyor reported that he had asked the authorities of St John's College if they would consent to the fence between the spinney and footpath leading to the bridge at Burrell's Walk being set back. The Bursar said they were prepared to give up the spinney, containing 1,225 square yards, for the use of the public. It was resolved to accept the offer with thanks and that the land should be placed in charge of the Commons Committee. Magdalene College are prepared to set back and re-erect the old wall in Magdalene Street on condition the Corporation would contribute £160 towards the cost. Coun King drew attention to the desirability of pedestrians being directed to keep on the left of the pavement, but no action appears to have been taken.

1927 02 01
The Rendezvous placard trolley, which has so many times gone its rounds of the streets of Cambridge advertising "thrillers" and "heart appeal" stories at this cinema met with an ignominious fate at the hands of undergraduates. It was seized by a party of merry gownsmen and pulled in triumph down Hertford Street and Magdalene Street where they sought to dispose of it by pushing it into the river. It fell on to the landing stage moored at this point but with undamped ardour the undergraduates endeavoured by their united efforts to confine this "publicity agent on wheels" to the cold depths of the Cam. Then, the last rites having been performed, the revellers went on their way rejoicing.

1927 02 01
Thirty years ago the Salvation Army tried to come to Newmarket, but they were not well received. Now the town had reformed and was holding out its arms to them. They had only been at work there for three years but already had outgrown their little tin hut and were now launching a fund for the provision of a new permanent home

1927 02 03
Housing – health – beds, p6

1927 02 04
The Rendezvous Dance Hall asked for an extension of the dancing licence. The hall was built in 1909 as a skating rink and there was then no houses in Magrath Avenue. Those who came to live there afterwards came knowing the hall was there. From 1912 it was used as a variety and picture hall and in 1915 was commandeered for the War Office. In 1919 it was returned and conducted as a dance hall and cinema. In 1925 magistrates decided it should be open until midnight but there were complaints that people leaving made a noise with their motors & cycles. It was the best dance hall in Cambridge and now no one ever dreams of a dance ever terminating until 12. The Guildhall and Masonic Hall had licences until 2 a.m.
Coleridge Road cycle sheds, p3
Baths while you wait, p6

1927 02 05
A stranger, p3
Fourpenny baths, p8

1927 02 07
A momentous event in the history of extra-mural teaching at Cambridge University was marked by the opening of Stuart House. Standing in Mill Lane it is a beautiful house and a worthy addition to the architectural wealth of the town. It is named after the Right Hon. James Stuart, Fellow of Trinity College, who founded extra-mural teaching work in the University and was largely responsible for its extension to other parts of the country.

1927 02 08
The Great Chesterford Rat and Sparrow Club dinner was told that 2,845 sparrows had been killed, against 7,135 in 1925 and 6,527 rats against 8,600. The society was doing good work in keeping down the vile rat. The sparrow was also a pest but it did good when in search of caterpillars. They hoped the other side of Saffron Walden would form a club as it was hardly fair that one district should take steps to keep down the number of rats and sparrows and others do nothing at all.

1927 02 09
60-years after, p5
Cambridge architecture, p6

1927 02 10
Since the Cambridge Conservative Club in Market Passage had been destroyed by fire there had been many busybodies who knew exactly what was going to happen to the club premises and the site. The Chairman could now tell them: it was going to be rebuilt and rise like a Phoenix from the ashes. A very satisfactory arrangement had been made with the Northern Insurance Company and they had today received a cheque from the company.

Workhouse name, p3

1927 02 11
Visitors grievance, p6

1927 02 11 ES
E.R. Fyson of Soham, social and philanthropic labours – obit – 27 02 11(2) ES

Death Edwin Norman, pioneer Haddenham Fruit Grower – 27 02 11(3) ES

The water supply for Haddenham, Stretham and Little Thetford was practically all derived from surface wells; they were all contaminated and the water derived from them was in every case unfit for drinking purposes, an Inquiry was told. Analysis from Haddenham, where there were eight wells - six public and two private - were all highly polluted: they all contained organic matter. Only one which came from a deeper well at Hinton Hall was satisfactory. A member of Haddenham Parish Council asked if two of the samples were taken from Wolden Well and from outside Mr C. Searle's house at Hill Row. Would it be possible to find two pumps in the parish where you could get more impure water than from these pumps? These two wells should be filled up and two others dug with a pump further up the lane preventing any of the fluid coming from the farmyard into the well. Mr Porter said there had been no epidemics for 50 years and they had the biggest percentage of old age pensioners in the area. Mr A.E. Wright of Haddenham said he had lived in the village for 30 years and considered the water supply fairly good. He objected to the scheme on economic grounds: the land was saddled with such a burden of taxation at the present time that amounted to £1 an acre and any additional burdens were almost impossible to bear. 10 out of 11 members of Haddenham parish council were against the scheme.
In Stretham three samples were taken, two from public pumps and one from a well which supplied the council houses. The sample from the public pump in Top Street showed a very bad analysis. The water was polluted with sewage and unfit for drinking purposes. The other one, taken from a pump near the school, was satisfactory, the water was unpolluted and fit for consumption. The sample from the Council Houses well was also satisfactory and fit for use. 25 people had signed a petition for water but half wished they had not done so
A sample from a well near the school at Little Thetford showed it was contaminated and unfit for drinking purposes. There had been no epidemics but the present supply was a real danger to people.

Wilburton enjoyed an unlimited supply of water of its own. There were upwards of 100 houses there every one of which had its own supply. – 27 02 11 ES

1927 02 12
Some eighty or more men and women cycled, "bussed" or walked over to Histon to watch jam made on a large scale at Messrs Chivers' Orchard Factory. It was the first organised visit by the Cambridge Workers' Educational Association. They felt the last word had been said in mechanical efficiency without in any way de-humanising the workers who seemed cheerful and busy. Numerous question were plied as to the conditions of labours, the psychological effect of repetition work and the way in which a one-time seasonal trade had been brought to its present stage of regular employment all the year round. The next visit is to the Tapestry Works.

University Labour candidate, p8

1927 02 14
The Rural Planning Sub-Committee is preparing a scheme to submit to Cambridge Council – not only for the area around its borders but including all the villages from Histon to Stapleford. It was important at a regional survey should be made now, before unconsidered development complicated the problem too much. Questionnaires sent out to the Women's Institutes had brought valuable suggestions of things to be preserved. The County Council was considering a comprehensive scheme.

Pentacle club, p6

1927 02 16
The work of maintaining a pictorial record of the streets and buildings of Cambridge is greatly facilitated by modern photography and much credit is due to those enthusiastic amateurs who perpetuate these important historical records. There are some excellent examples of the work of the Cambridge Photographic Club on exhibition at the Borough Library and the short time required to view the photographs will not be wasted.

1927 02 17
Grange Farm, Grunty Fen, Stretham sale, p2

1927 02 18
A suggestion to the Chief Constable that a small parking place should be made in Tennis Court Road, Cambridge, may lead to archaeologists being less inconvenienced than hitherto. One of them was summonsed for obstruction. PC Hagger stated the defendant put his head out of the Museum of Archaeology & explained he used his car to take specimens to the museum for demonstration purposes and it was difficult to know what to do with it during the lecture. He was fined 10s.

1927 02 18 ES
The Isle of Ely County Council received a letter from Ely R.D.C offering part of a field in the parish of Stretham if the County were prepared to construct a new road across it, connecting the road to Wilburton with Cambridge Road. They are prepared to agree to the road and to take it over as a main road provided the width be 60ft. The Surveyor submitted a plan showing the new road which had been approved by the Ministry of Transport who would make a grant of 50%. It was left to the Surveyor to arrange terms with Mr R. Bent respecting the frontage of his property on the new road – 27 02 18 & (2) ES

1927 02 19
The newly-formed Cambridge Housing Society has lost little time in getting to work. It has obtained a site in Green End Road, Cambridge and plans for 22 hoses have been approved. The houses are to cost about £420 each and are to be let at a weekly rental of 5s.6d. It is hoped to have them complete by September.

1927 02 19
Ely Rural District Council have offered the County Council part of a field in the parish of Stretham if they are prepared to construct a new road across it connecting the road from Wilburton to Stretham with the Cambridge Road. It would be a main road, 60 feet wide and the Ministry of Transport would make a grant of 50%. The Surveyor said there had been an alarming increase in road traffic during the winter months with a consequent increase of damage to the roads.

Portrait of David, bookseller, p8

1927 02 21
A craze for driving cars lead to the appearance at Cambridge Police Court of two youths who were charged with stealing petrol and oil used while having a joy ride in stolen cars. Terence Gray of Gog Magog House said he had left his car at the Sun Street parking place, Newmarket Road, Cambridge; when he went for it it was missing. The Chief Constable said he had received numerous complaints from people who had left their cars there. The prisoner said: "I did not intent to steal it. I have a craze for driving cars. We have had three".

1927 02 23
The dedication and formal opening of the new buildings of Soham Grammar School at "Beechurst" took place in the conservatory in the presence of a crowded assembly. The people of Soham were very proud & jealous of their school. They now had the opportunity for providing a secondary school with a rural curriculum to fit its scholars for a rural career. It showed the value parents attached to the education given in that school as the farmer would keep his son at school just as long as anybody else.

1927 02 24
Lt Downham farmer bankruptcy, p5
Soham cycle agent, p5
Workhouse name change, p6

1927 02 25
"The first marriage according to the new Prayer Book" was solemnised in Cambridge when an undergraduate "bride" and "bridegroom" were joined together in unholy matrimony on King's Parade. The blushing bride with the bowing bridegroom was preceded by a piper and a clergyman who was wearing "flannel bags" under his surplice and carried a doll's sunshade. The bride's dress was a pair of white lace curtains and she carried a large bouquet of Brussels sprouts. The bridegroom wore a dilapidated silk hat and a red nose – and carried a banana. They stepped into a waiting carriage followed by a motley through of ludicrously attired "relations and friends"

Wilbraham pit collapse, p5
Wicken concert, p6

1927 02 26
Lord Bledisloe said there was knowledge emanating from Cambridge University which was of unparalleled benefit to agriculture and was unequalled in any part of the civilised world. This was a district of very good land – when it was not under water – (laughter) – and of good farmers who were on the road to bankruptcy. They were passing through the most critical period the industry had to face since the depressing times of the 1890s, but the knowledgeable farmer could keep his head above water and be proud of doing it.

1927 02 26
Compared to other towns Cambridge is badly off for fire equipment; we have only one motor fire engine whilst other places have two or three. The Chief Constable has recommended the purchase of a new "Dennis" 250-gallon Light Type Engine at a cost of £880. It will be more useful in the narrow streets than a larger type whilst the "First Aid" attachment can be got to work so expeditiously that small fires would be put out before the main hydrant could be coupled up. Will the council be convinced or will the question of pounds, shillings and pence be uppermost in their minds?

1927 02 26
Hearty congratulations to Mr A. Townsend, the Assistant Town Clerk, who has completed 50 years' service with Cambridge Corporation. Hard work and a cheerful disposition have contrived to keep him young. The Town Clerk presented him with a silver cigarette case. Two more officials have completed 40 years' service. Mr N.C. Hedge joined the Town Clerk's department as an office boy and never left, while Mr H.E. Foster joined at the same time but later transferred to the Treasurer's office.

March 1927 CDN

1927 03 01
Dr Francis Shillington Scales one of the foremost radiologists in the country has died. He was appointed medical officer in charge of the X-ray department at Addenbrooke's Hospital and made much of the apparatus himself. He had an extensive private practice in the special branch of medicine to which he had elevated himself, and had an elaborate X-ray apparatus installed at his residence in Adams Road

Fire engine, p3
Maintaining district road, p6

1927 03 02
March railway works, p4

1927 03 03
Sir – I read of the sale of the old-established grocery and provision business of Hallack and Bond. It is regrettable that the ownership of another great business passes away from Cambridge. To many the name has been a by-word and a guarantee of quality and good service through the personal supervision of people resident in Cambridge. This must become a serious menace to the welfare of the town and all good citizens should avail themselves of the service ably rendered by locally owned firms - Loyal Citizen

1927 03 03
The chief engineering feature of regional planning will be a new ring road all around Cambridge about two miles from the centre of the town. One length would be a road running north and south joining the Hills Road with the Newmarket Road, a length of about three miles. Certain roads and bridges were contemplated to obtain an inner ring road around the central portion of the town. Mr C.H. Tebbitt said that what had been done haphazard in the villages was the joy of the countryside and he wondered what would have happened to these beauty spots if they had been regional planned.

1927 03 03
An important step in the activities of the Cambridge Trades Council and Labour Party was taken when approval was given for the purchase of premises in Norfolk Terrace for party headquarters at a cost of £975. The building was a substantial one with a very large hall & offices. There was a large piece of ground suitable for a bowling green. They could have a hall over the top of the present building and convert the bottom portion into a really up-to-date club. It would serve as a real "home" for members of the party.

Police 'ambush' motorists, p6

1927 03 04
The Ely Medical Officer said an epidemic of influenza had started on the male side of the infirmary with no means of isolating the cases. There were 30 cases in the male sick ward, six inmates in the House who could not be admitted to wards for lack of accommodation and two nurses on the House staff. In addition they were asked to take in nine cases of influenza from outside on one day. The closing of the female side of the infirmary to visitors, except in cases of extreme illness, had delayed the spread of infection for some weeks, but it had now broken out on that side too. There were 12 deaths in the infirmary, three directly due to influenza

1927 03 04
Cambridge Library Committee recommended that steps be taken to provide reading rooms in Chesterton and Cherry Hinton. At the time of amalgamation in 1911 it was one of the conditions that Chesterton should be given a public library. At Cherry Hinton they had in 1924 prevailed upon the council to provide a public reading room. It was hoped to set up a small reference library at each. Suburban Cambridge was growing rapidly and they were a necessity.

Linton Shepherds' war memorial, p3
Coldham's Lane houses, p5
University Arms ballroom, p5

1927 03 05
Corpus undergraduate suicide, p5
Cambridge military band, p6
Baldwin at Cambridge, p8
Cambridge novel, p8

1927 03 07
Wilbraham chalk pit fatality, p6

1927 03 08
Police report, p6

1927 03 09
Dr William Mortlock Palmer addressed a meeting of Cambridge Antiquarian Society. About 20 years ago a photographic record was started by the Society, chiefly at the instigation of Dr Allen, who was an enthusiastic and skilful photographer, Palmer reported. But the exertions of one man were not able to overcome the inertia of the mass of indifference which then existed on the subject, and the record did not get very far. Such progress as was made was almost entirely due to Dr Allen. The record had now been started again and the Society had been fortunate to secure the active assistance and co-operation of the Cambridge Photographic Club and an exhibition in the Museum of Archaeology in March 1927 featured a number of photographs they had given of houses in Duxford and elsewhere. But one did not need to be a photographer to contribute. Palmer urged members to "Go into any village shop and buy as many different picture postcards of the village as you can – particularly those issued before the war". They would accept any size of print or negative, large or small, but preferred half-plate, quarter-plate or postcard size, even bad prints if they showed an object no longer in existence. Palmer singled out the example of J.H. Bullock's arrangement of his pictures. He numbered prints according to the number of the plot on which the building stood, as given on the large-scale Ordnance Survey map. Care should be taken to be exact in the name of the village, street or place
He showed about 140 slides representative of photographs taken by one individual or begged, borrowed, bought or stolen by him for others during the last four years. They were classified in groups such as churches and other places of worship, monastic buildings, ancient houses, houses associated with persons or events of importance, general views of streets, village greens etc, water mills and windmills, dovecotes, sundials, stocks and pounds, ancient earthworks, Roman roads and ancient trackways, old customs and ceremonies, rural occupations, characteristic landscapes, notable trees, fords and bridges, ruins, ornamental ironwork etc. There were other groups for church plate and University and college buildings – and he thought there were enough people of culture and leisure to undertake that part of the record which related to these buildings in Cambridge. A slide was shown of a peasant's house at Meldreth built in 1722 at a cost of £29.18s.11½ and another photograph showing the various items making up that amount. Another showed an old wheat hovel or storehouse, Meldreth, with in the background the chimney of the house in which Dr Palmer was born – and as a boy he used to hunt for hens' eggs under the hovel. There were views of old workhouses at Leverington and Dullingham while a photographic curiosity was a slide of a wax paper negative showing Mr G.N. Maynard sitting in his garden at Duxford in 1860. Others showed some fine old watermills, notably the mill at Shepreth which was bunt down a few months ago, Topcliff Mill, Meldreth to which much romance attached and Quaker's Mill, Meldreth, burnt down more than 20 years ago. A number of slides were taken from pictures by Mr Maynard of some interesting old customs and ceremonies, including Valentine's Day, May Day, harvest home and other quaint old scenes at Whittlesford and the Green Pea Feast at Sawston in 1899 and rural occupations such as saffron picking at Whittlesford in 1845. One of most interesting showed house at Hildersham pulled down in 1866 and a group of people in the characteristic dress of the time in the garden, including the curate playing croquet in a top hat. Other pictures included the old High House, Hildersham, the old course of the river at Hildersham before the water was diverted for the mill, a haymaking party at Hildersham in 1891 and the "Furrills" or Furze Hills, Hildersham.

J.M. Keynes honoured, p8

1927 03 10
An inquest was told how an 82 years old lady, who had fallen, was moved about from one institution to another until she had, against her relative's inclination, to find a last refuge in the Cambridge Workhouse Infirmary. Addenbrooke's Hospital had said she was noisy and disturbing the rest of the ward and could not be detained. She was sent to the Infirmary from which she was removed to the Devonshire Nursing Home by her relatives. But they said that whenever she moved she cried out very loudly on account of the pain and was too noisy to keep. So she was returned to the Infirmary where they diagnosed a broken rib.

Cheveley, Dullingham water, p6

1927 03 11
Cambridge Women Citizens' Association heard that a cats' shelter should be provided in Cambridge for the reception and humane destruction of neglected, starved diseased and homeless cats. Mrs Norman Mason said last year 478 cats were brought to the home but the council had now ordered the shed to be taken down. Now if a pet cat was brought in they had nowhere to keep it and it had to be chloroformed.

Hard labour for BA, p5

1927 03 14
Pungent remarks were made at Saffron Walden council on the unsatisfactory rail services on the L.N.E.R. There were widespread complaints about unpuctuality and persons had threatened to leave the district in consequence. The time taken by the railways to deliver coal was scandalous and in many cases men had been stood of because it was impossible to get delivery of goods. The railway companies were given a charter by the Government and if they were unable to provide a better service they should be compelled to hand over control to someone else.

1927 03 16
Cambridgeshire Education Committee discussed Swaffham Prior Church of England School. The church trustees were prepared to build a new school for junior children and infants, the older children being sent to Burwell. A deputation wanted a Council school, suitable for all classes and ages but it was not their policy to do that sort of thing.

1927 03 16
The owners of the Playhouse, Mill Road, Cambridge, have just completed negotiations for the sale of that cinema to a syndicate who are said to be the owners of the Central Cinema and the Tivoli. We understand that the transfer will take place in September. The Picture Playhouses Ltd, who owned the Playhouse, also have property in Sussex Street and they are also disposing of this.

Farren bird photography, p6

1927 03 17
Electricity failure, p6
Chrishall fire, p6

1927 03 18
A donkey of diminutive proportions caused a good deal of excitement in the Fen Causeway, Cambridge. A CDN reporter saw it pulling a small four-wheeled cart on which was seated a well-built young fellow. Then he heard shouts and was amazed to see the driver lying on his back on the pavement and the little animal vigorously stamping on him with its tiny hoofs and making lunges at him with its teeth. Passers-by hastened to the young man's help by which time the donkey was standing as quiet and unconcerned as though it had been rooted to the spot all its life. It then obediently carried its owner to Addenbrooke's Hospital to receive treatment.

1927 03 18
An exceptionally well-attended meeting of Royston ex-Service men enthusiastically agreed to form a branch of the British Legion. The election of officers took place including President Lieut-Col E. Phillips, chairman Lieut-Col Danyon, secretary H.G. Harris and committee members E. Bonnett, A. Woods, H. Mowberry, C. Wilkin & W. Blows

1927 03 18
Landwade church is small & dates back to the 15th century but today there is only Lord St Davids and a few labourers in the congregation. Some wonderful old armorial glass which was taken away by the Cotton family has now been handed back. Its re-erection will enormously add to the interest of this unique old church but the stonework of the window is so much decayed that it will have to be restored. The summer services begin usually on Easter Sunday but this year, owing to the repairs, it will not be possible to open so early in the year.

1927 03 19
Undergraduate singers and musicians are distinguishing themselves just now. Following the enjoyable broadcast by the Trinity Madrigal Club I hear that the Quintaginta Band are to appear at the Holborn Empire during Boat Race week. Mr Charles Gulliver who heard them whilst on a visit to Cambridge has made them "a tempting offer" to appear in one of his halls in the Eastern vacation. The salary, however, is not stated.

1927 03 20
It must be 25 years since the seats and fences of Clare Hall Pieces were burnt on the Cambridge Market Hill. With the increasing number of visitors the lack of seats on the Backs is often felt and now that Cambridge attractions are being advertised the placing of seats in this favourite spot, where so many visitors go to view the west elevation of King's Chapel would be appreciated by many.

Dr Palmer lecture, p6
Cottage for three shillings a week, p6

1927 03 21
Micawber, Tony Weller, Uriah Heap and other famous Dickensian characters stepped on to the Cambridge Guildhall stage. Their creation in the flesh was the result of the wonderful art of Bransby Williams, the world-famous impressionist and Dickensian who was making his first appearance in Cambridge. It was all very wonderful and did more to establish an image of the great novelist's creations than the most imaginative reader could ever have gained from reading the books from whence they came.

1927 03 21

The Charleston shows no signs of waning in popularity at the Premier Dance Hall, Chesterton, and still reigns supreme among the habitués there. In fact this dancing habit has become so much of the place that one sees more uniformity in the style than at any other hall in Cambridge. On Saturday evening Manning's Band were in their usual good form and played extremely well. Miss Robinson must be one of the last jazz pianists in the town at present.

Parish constables – policewomen, p3
Fort St George ferry, p3

1927 03 22
The Chief Constable has no objection to private motor cars parking on Ely Market Place, but did object to motor 'buses. If they allowed one 'bus to park there it would be difficult to stop others, and there could not be any hardship for a bus setting down passengers at the Public Room for a dance and then parking at Barton Square or St Mary's Street. Market Square parking was for use by private motor cars only and only available on days other than market days and fair days.

Hallack & Bond, p5
Fashion parade, p6

1927 03 23
Tragedy on line, p5 – inquest 24th p5
Sussex Street site sale, p5

1927 03 24
Cambridge Guardians were asked whether they were prepared to receive maternity cases in their new ward, and if so at what cost. There was a great shortage of maternity accommodation; negotiations had been going on at Addenbrooke's and arrangements made for a maternity ward to be built. Even then there would still be a need for beds at the institution. In a town the size of Cambridge a separate maternity home was needed.

1927 02 25 ES
Ely recent modern shops – A.V. Bonnett, confectioner – photo – 27 02 25(2) ES

Soham Grammar School new building opened – 27 02 25 & (4) ES

1927 03 04 ES
Lighter side of fen floods: cartoon by Harold Painter – 27 03 04 ES

1927 03 26
The death of Col Thomas Walter Harding, the High Steward of Cambridge, will occasion widespread regret. He was a most agreeable person, blending a courtly dignity with a rare courtesy and kindness. He purchased the beautiful Madingley Hall in 1903 and two years later took up residence. He found time to bring out a romance entitled "Tales of Madingley" in 1912, which has been widely read. In 1901 he presented a jewelled badge for the use of the Mayors of Cambridge. The Mayoral chain was presented by his father in 1890.

1927 03 28
Drama festival, p4

1927 03 29
Panoramic view Cambridge, p3

1927 03 30
Comberton, which made itself laugh very heartily over a mock trial two years ago, staged a similar piece of amusing make-believe when the village institute put on the dignity of a "police court" and the Vicar sat in judicial pomp over the hearing of a sensational burglary case involving the theft of a pearl necklace. The "prisoner", who described himself as "a bit of a farmer and a bit of a dealer, said he was in the habit of collecting eggs by aeroplane. He admitted having a drink at Eversden – "such a slow place" - and admiring the barmaid. He was discharged and advised in future to keep clear of bars and barmaids

Parish constables, p5

1927 03 31
Cost of living, p6

April 1927 CDN

1927 04 01 ES
Stretham: Church wall widening and improvement is now complete and thus a dangerous corner has been disposed of. Motorists have always found this a trying bend to negotiate and more than one has come to grief here.

1927 04 02
The Overseers of Cambridge have come to an official end & the passing of this ancient institution was celebrated at the Dorothy Café. It used to be their duty to help any poor person by granting relief without asking any questions, to be called in cases of suicide and take charge of mental cases. When they rated houses it was remarkable the very small value owners placed upon their own property. They sometimes felt it would not have been a bad thing if they could have bought the house at the price just stated by the owner. (Laughter). They had been in existence about 300 years they were handing over their duties to a Borough going back 700 years.
Free library books, p6*
Expiring overseers, p8

1927 04 05
Cambridge Council will debate the site of King's and Bishop's Mill, Mill Pool. Two years ago the buildings were dangerous and have been demolished. They had a scheme to beautify the area by leaving it open & constructed a new weir with facilities for getting boats from the lower to the upper river. Now the University has offered to purchase the site for erecting lecture rooms.

1927 04 05
A small group had a very enjoyable trip to London on one of the new Varsity Pullman motor coaches which it proposed to run daily between the metropolis & Cambridge & Oxford. The handsome saloon coach provides plenty of elbow and leg room for 20 passengers, completely enclosed and protected from the weather. Small mahogany tables can be raised at will for dining and other purposes. Balloon tyres and four wheel brakes are fitted and at all speeds the coach travelled smoothly and steadily. The journey to the West End was accomplished in 2¼ hours.

Cinemas & Good Friday, p5

1927 04 06
Great St Mary's church council replied to the Corporation's plans to widen St Mary's Street. They cannot sanction obtaining a faculty for the proposed work as increased heavy motor traffic coming so close to the church will be a very real danger to the safety of the foundations and fabric. Widening the street would create a death-trap and they propose to adopt every means in their power to prevent the scheme being carried out.

Histon roads, main road, p3

1927 04 07

Workhouse windows, p6
Broadcast interference, p6

1927 04 08
Under an Act of 1877 the Prison Commissioners took over Castle Hill, Cambridge, together with the prison from the County Justices. The prison itself has been loaned to the Record Office for the reposition of certain deeds etc. The hill could be visited by application at the old prison gates, but few availed themselves of this. Now the Cambridge Antiquarian Society suggested it be handed over to the Corporation as public open space

1927 04 08
The Cam Conservators reported they had got the Fort St George ferry up, but it sank again. It was impossible to do anything with the boat and impossible to get another one. They had agreed to employ a man to do the work but could not undertake the risk. At lunchtime too many people crowded on to the boat and a man could not order them off. The Conservators had carried on the ferry at a loss for years. They had a contract to take the people across the water and had to do something. Chesterton people felt they had been badly treated.

Haverill farmers, p2
Burwell footballers, p3
'Venice in Cambridge' – mills, p7*

1927 04 09
Cambridge councillors debated whether part of the King's and Bishop's Mill site should be sold to the University to erect new lecture rooms. The Corporation should not sell its property in this way; it should do so on the public market. They might get a higher offer from a firm who would like to put up a Woolworth building but they wanted an appropriate end to the Backs & such improvements would give an almost Venetian effect to the whole of the Backs river. To consider turning the site into a recreation ground with railings and white paint would be most regrettable. They should pull down the remains of the mill so that everyone could see what the site looked like when the fag-end of the foundations was up. It would expose some quite ugly buildings which would not be hidden by any plans before them

1927 04 09
In view of the increasing numbers of road accidents and increased road traffic, the British Red Cross and the St John Ambulance Association are endeavouring to cover the country with road ambulance stations consisting of (a) motor ambulance stations, (b) first-aid detachment with equipment and (c) posts where a haversack of first-aid equipment will be kept. It is hoped to have the scheme running during weekends and Bank Holidays. There must be a number of young people in Cambridge who have qualified in first aid who can come forward to help in this great humanitarian work.

Schoolboy foxtrot, p7

1927 04 12
Two Cambridge taxi men applied for hackney carriage licences to ply for hire at Newmarket, particularly during race week. Both had invested all their spare capital to purchase three cottages in the town, having been persuaded this would enable them to obtain a licence. The Clerk said four others had also applied. If was manifestly unfair. Newmarket men were supplying the town's wants for the other 44 weeks of the year, during which time they were often standing idle. Yet when the races came and they expected to recoup themselves they were rushed off the road by these men from Cambridge who brought in their fares and wait to take them back at night. They want to compete with Newmarket cabmen on the streets. The licences were refused.

1927 04 12

Saffron Walden councillors considered taking steps to keep a portion of the Common in a fair condition as a playground for children in castle Street and that the sales usually held there be discontinued and held adjoining the Slade. The Lord of the Manor would have no objection. The committee had done nothing in the matter, not even allowing a steam roller to be run over that part of the common. But if the children were herded together there would be more fights than there are now.

1927 04 13
The proposed appointment of a woman as county instructress in poultry keeping did not find favour with the County council. It was not a suitable job for a woman to go round to many of the outlying farms and it was questionable whether she would be able to get to the meetings in the villages as well as a man. Ald Jackson said poultry on the farm today were not being taken so much advantage of as was possible and if a woman was appointed it would spoil the whole thing from the start. Women looked after poultry on the farm and it had been argued it was best to have a woman to teach the subject. But he never knew a woman yet who sent for a woman doctor to treat her when she was ill (laughter)

1927 04 15 ES
Manea licensee's suicide: Joseph Austin at White Horse Inn – 27 04 15(2) ES
New Middle Level dredger at work at junction Twenty Foot and Nene River; built by Priestman, one of the most modern machines –

1927 04 16
Hot cross buns, p8
Poultry instructor, p8

1927 04 18
An inquest returned that a Lt Shelford woman found in a well had committed suicide while of unsound mind following an attack of influenza. She had had two lapses of memory. A month ago she had lost her memory for a day and "woke up" in the evening and found her way home after the people in the village had been looking for her all day. Then she had gone to the butcher's but did not arrive and woke up to find herself in the main road in the dark eight miles from home. On Friday they noticed the lid of the well was open and looking down they saw her with her head under the water.
Royston to Cambridge walk, p4

1927 04 19
Sir – there are a large number of persons of both sexes who are intensely interested in aeronautics and would welcome the formation of a light aeroplane club. Learning to fly in this way is moderately cheap and invigorating. This county is specially suited for flying as in almost every village several fields may be selected which would make excellent landing grounds. – R.C. Jonas

Territorial training, p3
Easter holiday, p4
Collision, p6

1927 04 21
A farmer of Skippers Hall, West Wickham was successful in a house possession case brought because of arrears of rent. The tenant said the place was in bad repair, the floors were in a bad state and if he had not wired them the windows would have fallen out. The farmer said there was nothing wrong with the house and he had done the repairs. The rent was 2s.6d. a week

1927 04 22
Cambridge Guardians discussed provision of suitable accommodation for the Assistant Master by adapting the aged men's dormitory. His present room was nothing but a pig-sty and they ought to be ashamed to house their servant in such quarters. If he were given the proposed quarters he would be in a better position to carry out his duties. But there were undergraduates living in rooms no better and thousands of men and women living under worse conditions. The Master had suggested he could put four old male inmates in a bedroom which was not considered suitable for one person. Who was going to "rule the roost" – the Master or the Guardians?

1927 04 22 ES
Littleport – M.J. Duncombe, manager Lloyds Bank leaving – 27 04 22(3) ES

Death P.c. Samuel Fincham of March; born Lt Downham, fought WWI – 27 04 22(5) ES

Trooper-Sergt Watson of Wilburton in Shanghai Police – photo – 27 04 22 ES

1927 04 23
Why does skipping always take place on Parker's Piece, Cambridge on Good Friday and Easter Monday? An old man of 83 remembers skipping there as a boy of five or six and his father apparently did so before him. It seems that Good Friday used to be the publican's "day out" and they used to repair to the Piece for a game of bat and trap, while their youngsters amused themselves with a skipping rope. We don't hear much about Bat and Trap nowadays but the skipping goes on as of yore.

1927 04 23
There is quite a fluttering in the political dovecotes of Cambridge over the Government's decision to give the Parliamentary vote to women at 21 on the same terms as men. This may produce as many as 15,000 new votes. The strongest criticism comes from Cambridge Conservatives who fear for the effects on their own prospects at the poll. In the county very few young girls remain in the country but take up positions in the towns and so do not come on the county registers. Seeing the new bill would bring in women nine years younger, and in addition a number of women of 30 years of age who have not now got the vote, it is estimated the number of new women electors at 5,000.

Whippet racing, p3
Cambridge and cocktails, p8

1927 04 25
Night raids hen houses, p5

1927 04 26
Exning diamond wedding, p6

1927 04 27
"It does strike me as a little odd that neither the University nor town had done anything to preserve relics of old Cambridge. So much has left the town and is now scattered all over the earth. I should like to see the Borough start a scheme to preserve what is found and keep together for the study of old Cambridge anything that turns up". This wish was expressed by Dr Louis Clark, curator of the University Museum of Archaeology and Ethnology. When one visited other places one did feel that there was a serious lacuna in the civic life of Cambridge.

1927 04 27
"I feel it should be the utmost endeavour to get townspeople now existing in Burrell's Walk out of those hutments and into council houses with the greatest expediency", said A.C. Taylor, the Independent candidate in the Castle Ward by-election. He was gravely concerned with the sanitary conditions of the place and while the huts served a very useful purpose years ago they were never intended to be permanent abodes of civil population. There were some worse cases in Cambridge but for young people with families the cramped conditions and colourless surroundings did not make for the bringing up of bright, healthy children.

Conan Doyle spiritualism debate, p6

1927 04 28
Linton RDC was told that houses, which had cost £900 to build, were now being valued at only £300. There were houses in every stage of decay, many of them past repair. They were owned by private owners who received such a low rent that they did not feel like spending money on the preservation of their property. Owners were reluctant to spend money they would never get back. People were leaving the villages and flocking to the towns and how could you keep them unless you build houses for them to live in. There were places where cottages had not been built for 20 years.

Kirtling farmer failure, p6
Littleport grocer failure, p6
Bartlow bridge, p6

1927 04 29
Crowds of people thronged to Papworth Everard on the occasion of the opening of the new Wesleyan Chapel, which is up-to-date in every respect. The funds had been mainly raised by a visit of Gypsy Smith, a sale, and a gift from the Home Mission Department. Mr Inskip offered a word of warning: In small congregations quarrelling could be a cause of trouble. They should work together to make this venture a success. Many people come to Papworth on account of their health and will come to the chapel with hearts full of thanksgiving.

1927 04 29
Mill Road Baptist Church, Cambridge, was packed when a new organ which has just been installed was formally opened. There was a time when a church of that sort would not have had an organ at any price. It appears to be a good all-round instrument and some of the stops are beautifully mellow. The organ was built by the local firm of Messrs Miller & Son, Sidney Street, and they have certainly made a splendid job. They have used some of the pipes of the old organ and worked in the old with the new excellently.

1927 04 29
The stone-laying ceremony in connection with the new hall at Hills Road Wesleyan Church, Cambridge took place. It will be a single-storey building but with a view to enlarging later, if necessary. Mr C. Kerrridge and Mr W.A. Gray, members of the church, are the honorary architects and the building is being done by Messrs J.R. Bennett & sons. Too often had they had to work under most depressing and unfavourable conditions. The Young Men's Fraternal had increased from five to nearly 50; if they did not make provision for these young fellows others would step in and reap what they had sown.

Ouse Drainage bill attacked, p5 & p6

1927 04 30
Part of the club room of the Footlights Dramatic Club above the Masonic Hall in Corn Exchange Street Cambridge was damaged as a result of a fire with flames coming through the roof. It was fortunate it was discovered early or it would have worked round to a little stage where inflammable material might have created a more alarming blaze. It is feared some photographs of former members of the club have been destroyed. The water came through the ceiling of the Masonic Hall and the fine dance floor was soon flooded. The Rodney Dramatic Club had engaged the Hall for a dinner dance and it may not be available for part of the function.

1927 04 30
A demonstration of a new British invention which insures motorists against tyre trouble was given at Messrs Saints' garage, Newmarket Road, Cambridge. The Otomatic Service is a powder composed of particles of raw rubber and cork and flakes of mica which is inserted into the inner tube of a tyre through the valve hole with a small quantity of liquid formalin and water. When the tyre is inflated and the car put in motion a thin film is distributed inside the tread which automatically seals any puncture which may occur. In event of a burst the inner tubes will be repaired free of charge for 12 months, no matter how numerous the bursts, provided they are not over three inches in length.

Ely bowls new rink, p7
Spiritualism debate, p8

May 1927 CDN

1927 05 02
Twelve people were rendered homeless and lost the whole of their possessions as the result of a fire at Pampisford. The conflagration was on College Farm and two adjoining cottages were involved. . There is just one wall and two chimney stacks left standing. The walls of wood, which are hollow with a canvas covering inside, and the thatched roof blazed with great fierceness. One family consisted of seven persons, the husband, wife and five children, while there were five in the other cottage and they had to escape in their night-clothes. They are now homeless and clothes-less. The only property saved was a chair, a perambulator and a toothbrush

May Day demonstration, p6

1927 05 03
Frost free crops

1927 05 04
Businessmen in Cambridge are brought into closer touch with Paris by the acceleration of the Southern Railway's night service, Southampton and Havre. As the result of close co-operation with the State railway of France and the mutual alterations of timetables, the double journey to Paris can now be made with only one-day's absence from England and the traveller is allowed about nine hours in the French capital. The acceleration results in a saving of 84 minutes on each journey.

Littlechild & Foster retire council, p6
Burwell row charity, p6

1927 05 06
Cambridge Guildhall was packed for "Welcome Home" and jubilee celebrations organised in honour of Gypsy Smith, the world-famed evangelist, who has just returned from Australia and New Zealand. The Gypsy told of some of his experiences during this last tour and recounted again how he was converted in the little chapel in Fitzroy Street. A telegraph of "much satisfaction" was received from the King and he was presented with a history of Cambridge. The Mayor said that 50 years of service was a wonderful record. He was the missionary and evangelist to the English-speaking people and had probably spoken to more of the English race that any person, living or dead. Cambridge ought to be particularly proud as his career had started here.

1927 05 06 ES
Isle County Library progress – 27 05 06 ES

Superstitions of Cambridgeshire fens. The age of superstition is not yet over, and many of the following odd notions, which are extracted from a book published in 1620, are yet to be met with amongst people in Fenland.
That it is a sign of ill luck to find money.
That to dream of gold is good luck but of silver ill.
That it is very bad luck to have a hair cross one in the highway.
That when the cat washes her face over her ears we shall have a great quantity of rain.
That when a candle burns blue it is a sign that there is a spirit in the house or not far from it.
That if a man stumbles in the morning as soon as he comes out of doors it is a sign of ill luck.

That when the left cheek burns it is the sign somebody talks well of you, but if the right cheek burns it is a sign of ill.
That it is a sign of death to see someone in the house where crickets have been for many years if on a sudden they forsake the chimney corner.
That it is a very unfortunate thing for a man to meet early in the morning an ill-favoured man or woman, a rough footed hen, a shaggy haired dog or a black cat.
That it is ill luck for any man to give a pair of knives to his sweetheart for fear it cuts away all love that is between them. 27 05 06ES

1927 05 07
The Festival Theatre in Newmarket Road, Cambridge has opened a roof garden. In warm weather there could hardly be anything more pleasanter than a meal on the roof preparatory to seeing the performance below and there is not the slightest doubt that it will be a great attraction to visitors. The view is not extensive, it is true, but the surroundings are novel and amongst undergraduates it will certainly be "the thing to do" as often as funds permit.

Women co-operative jubilee, p7
Bowls openings, p8
Cheap houses, p8
Cambridge Independent Press to start pictorial record, p8

1927 05 10
It is just 50 years since the Cambridge Mission began its work in Delhi and the event was marked in Sidney Sussex Chapel. The two young Cambridge men who went out to Delhi in 1877, the Rev Edward Bickersteth of Pembroke College and Mr John Murray of St John's, were charged to help to the missionaries of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, and the fruit of their labours have been carried on by the Cambridge Brotherhood. No mere recital of the details of its organisation can give any idea of the interest and the romance of the Cambridge Mission. It owed its inception largely to Dr Westcott and has given to India outstanding missionaries and a host of devoted workers. It affords unique opportunities for Christian service to the Indian people in one of their greatest and most historic cities. The wonder is that it is not better supported by Cambridge men, past and present.

Good news – lino, p3

1927 05 11
An 18-hole putting green on Jesus Green, Cambridge, was opened by the Mayor. This is an innovation so far as the town's open spaces are concerned and promises to be a great attraction. There was a good attendance of aldermen and the chairman said that many of them played golf, and he understood that everyone who played golf could swear (Laughter). The Mayor said he did not play golf and they could assume from that there was another thing he could not do. Cambridge owed the initiation of the green to the generosity of Col Tebbutt who promised £150 if such a green was provided. It had cost £200. The Mayor played the first round and won by three holes.

1927 05 11
Fifteen years ago the Mayor, as plain Mr J. Conder, suggested that that Lammas Land at Newnham, might be turned into a recreation ground. "I little thought it would come true", he confessed when he opened the said Lammas Land to the general public. This latest recreation ground will supply a long-felt want. The habits of the people had improved and one reason was the provision of suitable recreation which enabled them to enjoy themselves in a healthy and happy way.

1927 05 11
The complete story of the Festival Theatre in Newmarket Road was told by Mr C. Harold Ridge to the Cambridge Rotary Club. It had sprung from the kindred interests of Mr Gray, Mr Prentice and himself. They had spent a couple of years in London searching for a suitable building to start a repertory theatre but regulations made it impossible. They considered Sheffield but eventually the Barnwell Theatre was taken. They wished to present some of the great number of plays which stood no chance of being publicly performed elsewhere. There was no room for actors who wanted to be waited on at the Festival Theatre. All were expected to make themselves useful, putting their hands to stage carpentry and before one performance were washing down the stage steps. They worked seven days a week and 14 hours a day, and everyone was frightfully keen.

Clara Butt, p8
Ortona advert – picture, p3
Addenbrooke's Hospital new building, p6
Fen Drayton meeting, p6

1927 05 12
The foundation stone-laying in connection with the new houses being built by the Cambridge Housing Society at Green End Road, Milton Road was performed by the Master of Trinity. The Society was formed to provide houses for people with larger families who are not in a position to pay council house rents. Overcrowding produced bad results and in Cambridge there were 200 condemned houses which could not be scrapped because there were no other houses in which to put the occupants. It was hoped that what was spent on these houses would be saved on gaols, workhouses, hospitals and other institutions.

C.H. Ellis market toll collector, p6

1927 05 13
Cambridge councillors proceeded to the site of the open-air school which, when completed, will provide accommodation for 120 physically and 50 mentally defective children. The two departments will be quite separate. They read of children who were excluded from school owing to ill-health and many were running wild in the streets without education or discipline. The remedy was a day open-air school where they could receive the treatment they required – open air, good food and rest, while at the same time their education would be continued. Vinery Road school had been opened in May 1916 with 20 children and benefits had far exceeded expectations. When this new school was finished they would look back with amusement on the tent used as a classroom and the first wooden shelter which was still in good enough condition to be moved there.

1927 05 13
The foundation stone of the Brunswick School in Walnut Tree Avenue, Cambridge was laid. It will provide accommodation for nearly 1,100 children. The Mayor said it was unfortunate, perhaps, that the other Brunswick School fell down but this was a better building. When they compelled children to go to school there was an obligation to see the building provided as much fresh air and sunlight as possible. They hoped that with the extra communication which some day would make traffic over the river easier for schoolchildren (laughter) Chesterton people would send their children to that school

Lino sale, p3
Housing contractor bankruptcy, p7
Cambridge & Cambridgeshire re roads, p8

1927 05 13 ES
Littleport disastrous fire at engineering works of Henry Judd, Ely Road; all destroyed – 27 05 13 & (2), photo (3) ES

1927 05 14
Mr Oswald Mosley, Labour MP for Smethwick, was howled down when he attempted to address a meeting under the auspices of the Cambridge University Labour Club at Cambridge Guildhall. Some 300 undergraduates congregated as the back of the hall and shouts, cat-calls, and cheers were almost continuous, completely drowning the speakers' voices. Mr Mosley, exerting his powerful voice to the utmost, battled gallantly for a hearing for half an hour but eventually sat down and the meeting was abandoned.

Tale of tablet, p8
Undergraduate film, p8*
Chesterton Hall estate verges, p8

1927 05 16
Trinity Hall Boat Club centenary, p8

1927 05 18
Property purchase, p5
Cattle on Coldham's Common, p6

1927 05 19
Guardians wood cutting, p6*

1927 05 20
Prompt action by a young Ely man averted what might have proved serious damage at an Ely railway bridge. The fire occurred at the Cresswells bridge over the River Ouse. The bridge, which is an iron structure, has a large amount of wooden sleepers, well pickled, and it was here the fire originated with flames rising seven feet into the air. Realising that a train was due to pass over he attacked it with pails of water from a tank close by. His first idea was that it was caused by a passing steamer or barge on the river but it is now thought it was started by a spark or hot cinders falling from a passing engine.

Public libraries, p6
Burrells Walk & Library, p6*

1927 05 20 ES
Stretham Hospital Parade – account & photos from Rectory Wall in High Street – 27 05 20 & (2) ES

Water cart in Lt Downham, cut off by burst main – photo – 27 05 20(3) ES

Crossing Hundred Feet Wash – new railway bridge, timber replaced by concrete and steel; skeletons found during construction – 27 05 20 ES # c.26.2

1927 05 21
Boy in Cam – Gerry, p3
Burrells Walk huts, p7

1927 05 23
The coming of age of Viscount Hinchingbrooke was celebrated at Huntingdon. Luncheon was served to the tenantry & Colonel Chichester, Chief Constable, on behalf of the tenants presented Lord Hinchingbrooke with a magnificent travelling clock and weather barometer. In the evening the house staff and employees on the farms and gardens were entertained to tea at which his Lordship was presented with a handsome silver inkstand. The band of the 5th Hunts Battalion, Northants Regiment played for dancing.

1927 05 24
There is one day in the whole year when the little village of Reach throws off its cares and takes a holiday all on its own – the day of its fair. And this year the day re-captured its old spirit of joyous abandon and merry-making. The roundabouts soon had a load of laughing councillors who rode their wooden steeds with schoolboy enthusiasm, the coconuts went over at a merry pace to the accompaniment of civic cheers while the bell of the test-your-strength machine was rung time after time by the strong men of the party, the Mayor of Cambridge showing himself to be a past-master at the game.

1927 05 26
Fordham seedsman, p3
Soham pastor bankrupt, p6

1927 05 27
Perse Girls pageant, p3
Ouse Drainage Board payment, p6

1927 05 27 ES
The old Welney suspension bridge has disappeared from view and in its place has arisen and imposing modern structure. Welney Suspension Bridge was a unique old span of which nothing now remains but its age-worn buttments standing side by side with the concrete pillars of an imposing successor. The new bridge with its huge concrete supports strikes a lordly note in its very rural surroundings. It carries across the water a 30-foot roadway on each side of which a graceful arch of concrete will divide the traffic from the five-feet wide footpaths at the extreme sites of which pedestrians are guarded from the river by fencing of attractive design. The bridge is of the same style as the new structure across the Ouse at King's Lynn although it requires only one span. The disappearance of the Suspension Bridge, which had a particularly interesting history, removes an impediment from the progress of the users of the road. No more when they pull up before the outstretched hand of the toll gatherer, brakes will cease to be applied before the gates of custom and pedestrians who even had to produce a penny for their passing will now go on their way in peace. The new bridge is complete but is closed for making up the approaches. A steady gradient of 100 yards is being made on each side of the approach road and the large quantity of earth are being moved from adjoining land by means of a miniature railway.The original bridge was built in 1826 by the Rector of Welney at his own cost. A 99 year lease was granted by the Bedford Level Corporation which has since been merged with the Ouse Drainage Board. The bridge had fallen into a very bad state of repair and about 15 years ago the owner offered to hand it to Norfolk and Isle of Ely County Councils, together with a sum of money to relieve him of the responsibilities. The offer came to naught and the owner spend money in repairs, putting in a new floor and causing the structure to hang on to the time the lease expired. Then came a move for the new bridge. All agreed the bridge was in a dangerous state and had to be rebuilt and an estimate of £15,000 was submitted by Norfolk County Surveyor. Happily this estimate was substantially reduced later on. The Ministry of Transport agreed to pay half the cost and the Ouse Drainage Board, Isle of Ely County Council and Trustees of Marshall's Charity also contributed. The Ministry have insisted it should in future be a free bridge – 27 05 27 & (2)& (3), photo (4) ES

1927 05 28
A new private road – Sedley Taylor Road – will be opened shortly leading from the Hills Road via Luard Road to Long Road. It has been constructed under the supervision of Messrs Bidwell & Sons, acting on behalf of Trinity College on whose building estate the road is situated. It opens up a large number of building sites in this popular residential district. The late Mr Sedley Taylor was a distinguished Fellow of Trinity and well known for his foresight in promoting the establishment of school dental clinics in Cambridge, the first in the country.

Littleton House school, p3
County & Borough, p8
Pillion-riding, p8

1927 05 30
Buses are taking people right through Regent Street into the town and, once there, they make their purchases at the nearest shop. Now Regent Street tradesmen have organised a shopping week & made their windows more than usually attractive. They claim to be the "Street of Specialists' Traders" & boast the only taxidermist in Cambridge and many more lady hairdressers than any other street. A slogan is being used: "You get what you want and want what you get in Regent Street"

1927 05 31
Regional Town Planning, p6

June 1927 CDN

1927 06 01
A remarkable story of the exploits of youths in temporarily appropriated cars, which were subsequently abandoned, was related to Cambridge magistrates. Two teenage boys were charged with stealing a Morris Cowley motor car to the value of £80, two gallons of petrol and a quantity of oil. The lads were guilty of a "foolish prank" It was evident that they went out for what was called a "joy ride" and had no intention of stealing it

1926 06 02
Death J.B. Bury, p3
Red Indian chief, p4

1927 06 04
A Cambridge Swifts Football Club player was suspended for a month for threatening the referee following his receiving "marching orders" in the final of the Cottenham Nursing Cup. Mr Smith, the referee said the player threatened to smash his brains out after the match after he had ordered him off for deliberately kicking the centre-forward of the home club on the thigh.

1927 06 04
The Mercury Press has produced a verse by Quentin Nelson, in which an undergraduate learns that a road is to be built across Coe Fen, and gives vent to his feelings: "Every frog and every toad, Will croak damnation to your soul!" Well in the first place we don't speak of Coe Fen Road now – it is Fen Causeway – and secondly most of us believe the Fen is being appreciated more nowadays that ever it has been in the past. Still Mr Nelson's poetic outburst is none the less interesting because we do not happen to agree with him

1927 06 04
Right alongside Fenner's cricket ground in Cambridge is a dumping pit for horse droppings and sweepings of the street. The authorities empty this store in mid-afternoon which permits visitors to get the full flavour of the town. Now orders have been given for the labourers to get to work before 9 a.m., but there is a slip – they forgot to give orders not to fill the receptacle while play was in progress! Would it not be possible to have the hole finally closed and let the entrance to Fenner's be clean pleasure?

Whitsun, p6
Rhymes of the river, p8
'Grit', p8

1927 06 06
Demonstrations of hostility against the Vicar of the Essex village of Manuden have been staged on alternative nights in the village streets outside the Vicarage since he returned from London, where he had married within a month of the death of his wife, the nurse who had been in attendance during his wife's last illness. A crowd numbering about 300 armed with petrol cans, pieces of sheet iron and a bugle, made as much noise as possible. One said: "we are trying to show the displeasure of the village and will carry on in order to move them out". A neighbour said: "This mobbing is in very bad taste. The vicar has done nothing wrong morally and legally in marrying again".
Wednesday 5th June

1927 06 07
Foxton tableau, p6

1927 06 08
Chief Os-Ke-Non-Ton, a prince of the Mohawk tribe, gave a fascinating song recital of North American and Red Indian music at Cambridge guildhall. Arrayed in the picturesque costume of his race he rendered invocations, incantations and war whoops of various tribes and concluded with a selection of primitive Red Indian music to tom-tom accompaniment, and a demonstration of making fire by rubbing sticks together. The local arrangements were made by Messrs Miller & Son.

800 choristers, Ely Cathedral, p6

1927 06 09
Cambridge Undergraduates took upon themselves the duty of opening "Joanna Southcott's" famous box on the Market Hill. A crowd of mammoth proportions assembled. A melancholy dirge was heard from Petty Cury and there appeared a party of pipers and following them in one of Dale's lorries came a weird array of 24 "bishops" and a delegation of "Mormons" wearing huge straw sombreros. One "archbishop" proceeded to open the box, producing several layers of red tape, a teddy bear, a pair of old football boots and a number of bananas with which he pelted the crowd. The "rag" was organised to provide funds for the Cambridge Fruiting Campaign to help strawberry pickers in the Wisbech area.

1927 06 09
"Grit" is an undergraduate film taken by a little Cine-Kodak and projected by the Kodascope at the Tivoli Cinema. It is believed to be the first serious attempt in an English University to obtain experience in the technique of film production and is one of the first amateur films to be exhibited in the country. It has been directed by Mr Dennis Arundell and we get some good views of Cambridge streets and colleges. It shows how the stroke of a college crew is kidnapped so his boat might not go head of the river.

1927 06 10
The Chancellor of the Diocese of Ely presided at a Consistory Court when the Vicar of Ickleton asked for a petition for the casting of all the bells of the church. It had originally been decided that only one be re-cast but the bell-founders advised they should all be done and the work had been completed. This was rather serious. On account of their wrongful action the bells were lost forever and no order would restore them. The churchwardens were suspended from office and the Vicar reported for acting in a most improper way

Undergraduate prank, p5
Burrells Walk tenancy, p7
Rag photos, p8

1927 06 11
Rag sequel, p5
Rag filmed, p7
CUMS concert broadcast, p8
'Grit' film, p8
'Ian Hay', p8

1927 06 13
One of the largest crowds in memory witnessed the last of what may go down in history as the "Microphone Mays". Both banks of the Cam at Ditton presented the spectacle of an unbroken line of sightseers. There were three men up a tree at Ditton Paddock; they and their friend the microphone were telling all England what was happening and theirs was truly a romance of the tree tops. One wonders how many old Cambridge men were listening-in to a drama in which they once played a part.

1927 06 13
Jesus College were the fastest rowers on the river and deserved to succeed in the May Races. As in other years a huge bonfire was lighted in the grounds of the college and the undergraduates celebrated the return of the Headship by dancing round the flames, shouting and singing. The "orgy" was kept up to midnight. The revels were watched by a large crowd of townspeople and some of the merrymakers engaged in good-humoured banter, amusing them with impromptu speeches.

1927 06 13
A great deal of interest was taken in the private performance of Strindberg's "Miss Julie" at the Festival Theatre, Cambridge & the house was packed. The play was to have been produced earlier in the term but owing to its public presentation being banned by the Lord Chamberlain it had to be withdrawn. Banned plays create more interest and discussion than they deserve. There is nothing very terrible about a count's daughter running away with his footman & we agree with Mr Gray that it is difficult to find any reason for the Censor having frowned upon the piece.

May Week memories, p3
Gamlingay lady burnt to death, p5

1927 06 15
Three well-known Cambridge sportsmen who have completed their academic careers distinguished themselves by spending part of the night in the grounds of one of the women's colleges and part in another. At midnight on Saturday they climbed into Newnham, taking with them a tent which they pitched in full view and were not discovered until they were all snug in "bed", when they commenced community singing. Newnham Dons became alarmed and phoned for the police, who turned them out. They then motored to Girton, scaled a twelve-foot wall and pitched the tent. They were not discovered until the early hours of the morning when the earliest risers amongst the lady students saw the strange sight in the middle of the court.

Vagrants increase, p5*

1927 06 15 c
Cambridge station had a very busy weekend. Over 4,000 travelled on Saturday to visit the Midsummer Fair. Extra carriages were attached to all incoming and outgoing trains and late special trains were run to Haverhill, Newmarket, St Ives and Great Chesterford.

1927 06 16
Wyatt accident, p4

1927 06 17
Feaf & dumb institute, p8*
Ouse Drainage bill, p8

1927 06 18
Kings Hedges houses, p3
Isle MP opposes Ouse Bill, p6
Reserved spaces for council cars, p6*

1927 06 20
Conservative fete, Gogs, p5

1927 06 21
Huntingdon Road junction, p5

1927 06 22
Cambridge slums, p6
Mammoth Show wound up, p6*

1927 06 23
Student extravagance, p5
Playhouses, p8

1927 06 25
Neither Borough nor County ratepayers can have much cause for satisfaction over the roads controversy between the councils. It is a thousand pities that things should have been allowed to reach such a pass. If both councils only stood by the lip-service they have given to the supposed good relations between them, then the present deplorable state of affairs would never have arisen. Now the matter will be fought out to the bitter end. Even if Cambridge wins their case the County can maintain the roads through the district councils.

1927 06 25
When the honours degree men were presented to the Vice Chancellor there was distinct evidence of a movement to break down the tradition of wearing evening dress. Many graduates were in morning dress and soon the sight of men walking about the streets of Cambridge at noon in evening dress will be a thing of the past. The old statutes prescribed that recipients of Bachelors' degrees must appear in black clothes and since the war impecunious undergraduates found their only black suits were their dress clothes. The new statute states that dark clothes must be worn which brings in the lounge suit. The evening dress tradition is not very old and rests on nothing but undergraduates' customs.

Gipsy Smith jubilee, p6

1927 06 27
An inspection of the River Rhee from Guilden Morden to Cambridge showed banks were much overgrown and a number of trees had fallen into the stream. There was only one foot of water in the river in places. There are two mills in use, at Guilden Morden and Grantchester. One at Harston had not been used for a year and at Barrington no work had been possible for some years and the channel was blocked up. The river at Shelford was in a most dilapidated state

Midsummer Fair trains, p3*
Midsummer Fair accident, p4

1927 06 28
Her Royal Highness, Princess Mary, visited Papworth Village Colony and opened the new Guides' and Scouts' headquarters, a hut of asbestos and wood, which has been erected by men of the settlement. The village was en fete, flags flying from nearly every house and a large crowd assembled to welcome the Royal visitor.

1927 06 28
Princess Mary at Papworth, p5*

1927 06 29
Hundreds of Cambridge people forsook their beds very early and hied them to various natural observation points in the hope of seeing something of the eclipse. Most of the roads leading to some elevated point in the surrounding countryside had a stream of cars, motor cycles and push cycles. In Cambridge itself people were seen in the streets gazing skywards and framed in bedroom windows wrapped in eiderdowns and blankets. But generally speaking the eclipse was eclipsed by clouds.

1927 06 29

Many will regret the death of the Rev J.C. Rust, Vicar of Soham. In 1863 he was admitted to Pembroke College when there were never as many as 30 undergraduates in residence. They might have excused their absence on the river by pointing to the fewness of their numbers but passed the resolution "That so long as there are 18 men in the college, Pembroke shall keep two boats on the river" and Rust was made cox. In 1874 the college living of Soham fell vacant and he was instituted. He was elected chairman of the Parish Council on its formation in 1895 and appointed a member of the first County Education Committee. He was vice-president of the British Esperanto Association and preached the first sermon in Esperanto.

1927 06 30
The memorial sports pavilion in the recreation grounds at Fordham was formally opened by Viscount St Davids. It was erected to the memory of the late Mrs Dunn-Gardner in the grounds she gave to the parishioners. The building contains two spacious dressing rooms, for the Cricket & Bowls clubs. Fordham possessed one of the best recreation grounds in the whole of the Eastern Counties, what they had to do was to improve the ground and keep it tidy. What they would like in time to come was an athletic ground

July 1927 CDN

1927 07 01
Sir – in a recent issue it was suggested that a visiting sewing maid should be able (at 2s.6d. for three hours) to earn from £2 to £3 a week. Possibly if she had no domestic work to do for herself and were an expert machinist and dressmaker she might, but it means working eight or nine hours to reach even £2. The eye-strain is the worst part; I do fine mending and needlework, chiefly repairs, at 8d or 9d an hour and can make only 13s. a week. I believe charwomen are better paid – "A poor sempstress"

Stretham garden fete, p5
Sempstress' lot, p7

1927 07 02
Sir – the work has been started to widen Victoria Avenue, Cambridge, from the Four Lamps to Victoria Bridge. The roadway when finished will be wide enough for vehicle traffic to proceed four abreast. The Bridge will not be so wide as the road and heavy traffic may mean serious congestion. Some suggest the road over the bridge may be made wider by making the footpaths overlap the river. If this were done the narrow road on the north side would be an obstacle and as this roadway cannot be made right through to Chesterton Road this scheme should never go forward – E. Clayden

MoH smallpox, p6

1927 07 04
St Ives tragedy, p5

1927 07 05
"A state bordering on perfection" is the report of the Cambridge Public Dental officer on the treatment of elementary school children during 1928. 642 parents had written to refuse treatment for their children but we shall slowly educate the public that dental treatment for children is well worth while, he says. The improvement in the condition of the teeth has advantageously affected the physique of the children – in 1908 17 per cent of the Cambridge children were or poor physique, whereas in 1925 only 1.8 per cent were found to be so.

St Ives tragedy, p5
Histon Baptist Smith minister, p5

1927 07 06

School discipline, p6

1927 07 07
The Conservators of the River Cam considered a scheme to make the river navigable for cargo boats up to the Quayside near Magdalene Bridge. Mr Banham had recently bought a vessel for conveying cargo and at present it can only come as far as Jesus Lock. There had been no traffic for years and the state of the river was very bad. There was a possibility that the river could be dredged but the Commons Committee had taken a lot of trouble to make Jesus Green a beauty spot and would not sanction the deposit being placed on the Common.

1927 07 07
Eight people were rendered homeless as a result of a fire which involved two old-fashioned cottages in High Street Waterbeach. They were built of brick and plaster with a galvanised iron roof over thatch. In one, containing five rooms, a pantry and a wash house lived Mr & Mrs Cudworth and their five children, while the adjoining cottage, occupied by Mrs Hole, consisted of four rooms. The Waterbeach Fire Brigade was soon on the scene but the supply of water from neighbouring pumps soon proved inadequate. Meanwhile a band of willing helpers assisted in removing furniture & some money which Mrs Hole kept upstairs.

Peace demonstration, p6

1927 07 08
Messrs Galloway and Porter, Cambridge, whose business operations extend to all parts of the world, have formed a private limited company. Mr Charles P. Porter, for many years sole proprietor, becomes chairman. He is well known as a Cambridge councillor and was formerly chairman of the Free Library Committee. His clients range from queens to factory boys and include foreign and colonial libraries extending to every part of the globe.

Gipsy Smith on Jazz – Cherryhinton Road Free Church, o8

1927 07 09
There is a waiting list at Addenbrooke's Hospital of 23 men, 56 woman and 7 children and it is felt that a new ward on top of Victoria would ease things. It is now necessary to close a ward for cleaning and that means keeping out patients. The hospital is working practically all the time and considerable inconvenience is caused in many ways. The doctors have to have all their meals in the Board Room and when this is being used for holding an inquest they have to wait

1927 07 09
The Long Vacation promises to be as full as ever of conferences, congresses, summer schools and the like. It is sometimes said these conferences cause a good deal of distraction to residents in Cambridge but they bring trade to the town and give an immense amount of pleasure, and perhaps, edification, to those who confer in the pleasant surroundings of Cambridge.

1927 07 11
Newmarket burglers, p5

1927 07 13
Addenbrooke's Hospital propose to build a children's ward with 22 beds and it was thought the children would enjoy being nearer the street and that passers-by would enjoy seeing the children. The X-ray department is at present very cramped; they had already decided to obtain fresh X-ray apparatus and the place wanted extending. Seven bedrooms for the medical and surgical staff could be built above it. The present staff numbered four but before long they would need six. It was a difficulty as to how the staff was to get into the main building but a covered way could be made.

1927 07 13

Fifteen hundred representatives of Young Cambridge gave a display of drills, games & folk dancing on the Town Football Club ground and provided an audience of 3,000 with a most delightful entertainment. The event was organised by the Cambridge Elementary Schools' Sports Association. Their annual sports meeting is always a great success and this display is another feather in their cap.

Last stretch of tram lines removed from St Mary's street [3.6]
Wicken suicide, p3
Electricity supply, p5

1927 07 14
The history of the Ouse Drainage Board since it was formed in 1920 could not be said to have been a success. There was a revolt on the part of the uplanders who declined to pay the drainage rate and it was impossible to recover the funds necessary. The Board had an overdraft from the bank of £65,000. Twelve county councils and four boroughs opposed the plans. A gathering of the "warring hoards" at Cambridge was unanimous on one thing, and that was that the Government should step in. It was obvious that some measures must be taken

Unemployed – Ely beet, p6

1927 07 15
Burrells Walk houses, p5
Wicken Fen appeal, p7

1927 07 15 ES
Floods: streets inundated at Soham, Littleport & Isleham houses flooded – 27 07 15(2) ES # c.12.5

Ely café-museum, Ye Olde Tea Rooms operated by Vernon Cross – 27 07 15 ES

1927 07 16
It will interest many people to know that the authorities of King's College propose pulling down the railings in front of the college on King's Parade but are a little timid about what might follow this step and have consulted the Town Council. The Watch Committee was asked to enter into an agreement not to take any portion of the land between the railings and the college buildings for a parking place. They have reassured the college that they have no power to establish parking places on private property.

Ouse drainage, p3
New fire engine, p6
E.R. Vincent leaving for Oxford, p6
Elm Tree licence, p6

1927 07 19
Swavesey railway station was the scene of an accident. A horse and empty cart belonging to Mr Jabez Day, farmer and fruitgrower, was standing near the up-platform when the horse backed the cart into a large pile of baskets of fruit, upsetting the contents, and then fell on the line, dragging the cart with it. A train was rapidly approaching the station & the leading coach struck the horse and cart. The coach was derailed, the cart reduced to fragments of splintered wood and the horse so badly injured that it died in a short time. A breakdown gang from Cambridge soon cleared the down line on which both up and down trains had to travel, piloted by Mr H. Whitehead, the Swavesey stationmaster.

Green End housing, p3
New cinema, p6

1927 07 20
Village fairs by roadside, p6

1927 07 21
A showman was convicted for obstructing free passage of High Street, Lode. A farmer said he was driving his car and had to pull up as a roundabout was half-way across the road and a crowd of people and little children near by. A fair had a definite legal origin but a feast was an individual enterprise by proprietors of the amusements and there was no possible right to obstruct the highway. But at Bottisham the feast was held opposite the church and a feast and a fair were really one and the same. It was an occasion where the inhabitants who had left the village came back for a short time. He had visited for ten years and had a statement signed by the vicar and most of the inhabitants who were in favour of the feast being held on the same spot.

No more war, p3
Sutton trader bankruptcy, p8

1927
Cambridge Motor Club social service campaign is being continued this year and a number of inmates of the Cambridge Poor Law Institution were taken for a half-day circular trip to Royston and then on to Duxford where the party visited the Flying School and hangars. Special arrangements had been made for spectacular flying and three fighting scout planes took part in some remarkable stunts

Newton Walston memorial, p3
Palmer CAS photo lecture, p7
Fort St George house, p8

1927 07 23
There was a good deal of grousing before the inhabitants of Chesterton had a footbridge over the Cam at Dant's Ferry. Now they have got one they have found something else to grouse about. At five minutes to eight every morning the instrument workers at Pye's are hurrying to work from the other side of the river. They curse and groan, trip and stagger under the burden of carrying their bicycles up and down a steep double flight of steps. Sooner or later some panting person carrying a bicycle will fall backwards or pitch into the river. The bridge was not made for cyclists who should get up earlier and ride up Victoria Avenue.

1927 07 23 c
Cambridge council considered the erection of advertising boards by the Empire Marketing Committee at Corn Exchange Street, Market Hill, Drummer Street, Butts Green, Northampton Street and the Cattle Market. But the path in Corn Exchange Street was only five feet wide and it would be dangerous if people stopped there to look at it. They would have to put up another sign, "Safety first. Passengers must not stop to look at this advertisement". (Laughter).

1927 07 25
Councillors said that not allowing village fairs to be held on the grass at the side of main roads was an "autocratic measure" designed to safeguard "wretched motorists" and restrict the liberties of the subject. At Harston a large crowd of caravans gathered at the side of the road at a very dangerous curve where there was a lot of traffic. The fair was on the very verge of the road and it was impossible for any vehicle, especially at high speed, to pass without danger to those attending the fair. There were three constables on duty but even so the danger to children was very great .The proprietors of roundabouts had the option of a field but would not go there as long as they were able to go on to the roadside.

Newmarket poor law wedding, p5
No more war demonstration, p6

1927 07 26

A remarkable demonstration of the new "Bibendum Comfort" tyres was given at "The Backs", Queen's Road, Cambridge. The test consisted of driving a car along the road at about 38 mph and bursting the inner tube of the back tyre by means of a special device. The car was driven to the same spot at about 30 mph with the tyre half deflated and then purposely skidded and again with the tyre fully deflated. These tests were particularly severe, the car skidding right round, leaving skid marks 25 feet long, but the tyre never budged from the rim.

St Luke's church retirement, p3
Fort St George house, p6

1927 07 27
Rotary house, p6

1927 07 28
Ely housing committee found a case where 17 people were using one W.C. and that sort of thing could be dealt with. More difficult were houses that were absolutely dangerous and unfit for the habitation of pigs. It would be a good thing if they made an example of a couple of cases and pulled down the houses to show that the Council had the matter in hand. Water supplies and the cheap manufacture of soap had done a great deal to encourage people in the ways of cleanliness and they now wanted better housing conditions for people to live in.

1927 07 29
Messrs Hunt Bros, millwrights, Soham, sued Thomas Peake, corn merchant of Littleport, for work done. Defendant owned a mill at Littleport and had there two sets of stones. He needed a new bottom stone and a workman went to the mill and took the dimensions. But some mistake was made and the mew stone was found to be three or four inches too thick. That was a fatal defect. Their case was dismissed.

Cherry Hinton dusk, p8

1927 07 30
A young man, fashionably attired in a brand new plus-four suit paused at the cigarette machine outside the New Theatre, Cambridge, and inserting a sixpence drew forth a packet of cigarettes. Instead of shutting the drawer in the orthodox manner he turned his back on the machine and applied pressure by a retrograde movement. "Snap" went the drawer, taking with it about six inches of the seat of the young man's voluminous "bags". Finding himself held captive he appealed for sixpences to release the drawer but none would do the trick. "Debagging" was out of the question and the prisoner would not hear of being "cut away". After twenty minutes one bright person tried the very obvious idea of pulling the handle of the drawer and he was released amid loud cheers.

Putting green, p6
Americans & guides, p6

August 1927 CDN

1927 08 01
Lloyd George at Cambridge, p3

1927 08 02
Fire broke out in the garage of Mr George Rolfe, motor mechanic in Market Street, Newmarket. The danger to Primrose House Stables was so imminent that the butler got into telephonic communication with Cambridge Fire Brigade but by the time they arrived, 50 minutes later, Newmarket Brigade had got the flames well under control. The garage was completely burnt out and four motor cars destroyed. So great was the heat that some of the glass windscreens melted and ran like tallow. It is suggested that the fag-end of a cigarette may have been smouldering among the cushions of a car until the fire reached the petrol

Band of Hope to Clacton, p4

1927 08 03
A well-known figure in Cambridge and Histon, John Guilliam Davies, has died. Mr Davies, who was a cripple paralysed in the lower limbs from a very early age, gained considerable notoriety for long distance journeys in his two-speed, hand-propelled invalid chair. Last December he travelled to Leicester and back, a distance of 150 miles and previously he had journeyed to London.

Stretham band, p5

1927 08 04
German wreath cenotaph, outbreak WI, p5
Witcham grocer bankrupt, p6

1927 08 05
Fulbourn Hospital Visitors agreed that the farm was no longer large enough and more land was required for production of milk. At present 27 acres of land was hired at a fairly high rental. The price of the Cauldle Corner Farm was excessive but there were very excellent buildings and it practically adjoined hospital property. If they enlarged it was only fair to the inmates that they should have proper work to do and they should have a farm in which they could take interest.

1927 08 05 ES
Strengthening Hundred Foot River bridge – photo of train crossing - photo – 27 08 05 ES

1927 08 06
The death took place of Mr Edwin Samuel Fisher, who was head of Downing College kitchen for nearly 50 years, having commenced his career at the early age of 13 when he became an apprentice in St John's College kitchen. While still at school he had worked under the famous chef M. Bruvet when he presided over the Downing kitchen. Mr Fisher had a very trying time during the war, at the outset of which the college suddenly was called upon to house some 90 Territorial nurses, for whom meals had to be provided in the college hall, and later he had, under great difficulty owing to rationing, to provide in a similar fashion for officer cadet battalions.

1927 08 06
Mr Lloyd George's tour in the rain of some of the Cambridgeshire smallholdings was evidence of his anxiety to gain first-hand knowledge of the problems faced on the land today. He described as "marvellous" the development of the holding of Mr David Easy, who started with three-quarters of an acre and now has 200 acres and a herd of 30 cows. Tea, taken at Mr Street's farm at Landbeach was "like a family party" and Mr Lloyd George found considerable interest that some of the articles placed before him for consumption were home grown or home-made. The tour continued to Cottenham and Willingham.

Vacation conferences, p6

1927 08 08
Mrs Whipple death, p6

1927 08 09
A butcher's shop belonging to the late Mr Fred Harrison of St Ives, with house, domestic offices & slaughter house was auctioned. Bidding started at £500 and quickly rose to £950; the Peterborough Co-operative Society eventually securing it for £1,000. A freehold old-fashioned thatched cottage at Hemingford Grey, the property of Mr A.V. Woods, was sold for £330

1927 08 10
The indiscriminate erection of bungalows along our main roads came in for criticism at Cambridge Rotary Club. Dr Charles Searle spoke of "these miserable little bungalows" but John Few said the residents might have been ordered out of a bad cottage by the Medical Officer of Health and it was often a question of expense. There were development schemes for certain parts of the outskirts of Cambridge but no planning scheme for the whole town, it was important that what was done should be done with care.

Maternity home, p6

1927 08 11
There was a large attendance at the stone-laying ceremony of the new Parochial Hall for St John's Church, Cambridge. The object is to supply a building for Sunday School work, social and other parochial gatherings. The building would have been of a different type but for the fact that part of the site has been acquired by the Corporation for making a roadway from Blinco Grove to Cavendish Avenue.

1927 08 11
A man was arrested in connection with the burglary at Norman Bradley's Fitzroy Street premises where entry had been made by forcing apart the iron bars of a window. He was traced and identified by fingerprints left on a glass panel inside the shop. They had been sent to New Scotland Yard for examination. The jewellery, which amounts to £239 has not yet been recovered.

1927 08 11
Cambridge Guardians decided to erect a barbed wire fence four feet in height on top of the wall adjoining Perowne Street to prevent casuals escaping from the Institution. The Master said there was supervision when the men were at work but they escaped when the Labour Master was at breakfast. He was afraid they would get over the cemetery wall even if this work was done. They got out of prison these days so they could not hope to keep them in the Institution. Mr Stubbs thought it was brutal to erect barbed wire.

1927 08 12
An outstanding feature in the reconstruction of our new premises at 2, Market Hill, Cambridge, are the windows which are unique for a grocery business and compare in style with a London west-end store. We welcome an opportunity of showing you a store fitted and stocked in the most complete and scientific manner and where prized traditions inherited from our predecessors (Messrs Hallack and Bond) are upheld and carried forward with modern equipment. Shoppers may actually see their coffee roasted and ground. International Stores, the greatest grocers in the world. Advert.

1927 08 13
Duxford sergeant at court, p5
New Theatre lighting, p6
Novelist is Mayor

1927 08 16
Negus jubilee, p6

1927 08 18
Linton RDC has been made a council under the Rural Workers' Act. This provides a grant of money, not for repairing cottages, but for enlarging them and making buildings which were faulty more perfect. They were empowered to make a grant of between £50 and £100 either as a donation or a loan. Conditions were set up and if any were broken the owner was liable to repay the grant with interest.

1927 08 19
A meeting for re-starting a Scout troop in Ely was held at the Shack, Nutholt Lane. The old troop was starting on a new footing, under a new name and most probably in a new type of uniform. Every boy would have to pay 2d a week, whether he was absent or present. Mr Morton was in charge and anything to do with the troop would be his matter. The Scoutmaster was not an officer of his Majesty's Army; he was not a schoolmaster or a clergyman. He was the big brother of the troop.

Lt Downham fight over horse, p5

1927 08 20
Sympathies go out to the President of Magdalene College and all concerned in the tragic motoring accident near Godmanchester. Cambridge is the poorer by the loss a lady of high ideals who had devoted much of her time and energies to the advancement of women. She was an experienced and extremely careful driver who had taken three-quarters of an hour to cover 14 miles and there cannot be the slightest suggestion of reckless driving or excessive speed. 30 mph is reckoned a safe speed, provided there is a clear, straight road but the consequence of a momentary swerve may be fatal. There is no doubt that nowadays few people stand in greater jeopardy than those who venture on the road.

1927 08 22
Street lights, p3

1927 08 23
Fennings, Ely carriage builder, p5

1927 08 23 c
Four persons from Cambridge who were on one motor cycle were fined at Highgate for dangerous driving. It was stated that one man rode in front on the petrol tank, a girl was seated on the tank, another girl was on the saddle and a man rode on the carrier. PC Squires, from Cambridge, said that neither of the men did any work and their favourite pastime was to take out girls for pillion rides.

1927 08 25
An empty furniture van belonging to Mr R.W. Finbow of Hooper Street, Cambridge, was proceeding to Kentford when it suddenly burst into flames. Mr Fred Saunders of Histon, who was closely behind, obtained a fire extinguisher but the flames had secured a great hold and this proved of no avail. Other motorists and an A.A. scout rendered every possible assistance but their efforts were in vain and the van was soon reduced to charred ruins.

1927 08 26
Mr Dick Atkin of Ely UDC was pursuing his duties down at the bottom of a manhole in St Mary's Street, with the trapdoor up. "I heard a lot of crashing up above and for the moment thought the whole place was going to collapse around me. I was in complete darkness for over 20 minutes and wondered what had happened until someone pulled the horse's tail out and gave me a little light to go on with", he said. It appears a horse was standing patiently when it was struck by a car; its offside leg and hind quarters went down the hole and completely stopped the opening up. After half an hour's struggle the animal was pulled safely from the hole and daylight restored to the imprisoned man

1927 08 26 ES
The growth of March – few towns have made such progress in the building of house in recent years; new site for 100 houses on Upwell Road - photo feature – 27 08 26 ES

1927 08 27
Bidwells open Ipswich, p5
Library assistance & periodicals, p6

1927 08 29
The season 1927 is likely to be long remembered by agriculture generally. And those recollections will be anything but pleasant. Nor is the weather entirely responsible. Wheat came up well, but on heavy land we had a bad set in the spring, the land being sodden with wet, and late frost most nights played havoc, from which recovery was impossible. Some fields of spring oats are good but are mostly tangled by adverse weather conditions and difficult to handle. There are some excellent crops of sugar beet but when growers note the profits made by the beet factories and compare it with their own year's accounts one fails to see the justice in the contract price offered – R.L. Fuller, Wicken

1927 08 30
A man was convicted of stealing two gentlemen's overcoats from a motor car outside the Conservative Club, Saffron Walden. Mortimer Medcalf, farmer of Copt Hall Farm, spoke of leaving his coat in his car which he valued at £3 5s. and Arthur Dix said he had also lost a pair of gloves and a 2-foot rule which had been in his coat pocket. PC Turner said he saw the prisoner wearing both coats. He said he was a travelling mat mender and could not get lodgings. He took the coats because he wanted one for the winter. He was badly in drink at the time. The prisoner had a very bad record and was sentenced to three month's imprisonment on each charge.

Child scalded tea, p6

1927 08 31
Mr John Goddard has been railway stationmaster at Fordham for 18 years and taken an active part in village affairs. He is now retiring and the sum of £44 was raised by his fellow villagers, some of whom were blessed with an abundance of this world's goods and some who had no such encumbrances. As stationmaster he had been the friend of all, helping to forward everybody's traffic with the greatest despatch and the least amount of friction.

September 1927 CDN

1927 09 01
Sir. I wish to protest against the almost intolerable nuisance caused by the beating of college carpets on "The Backs", which is robbing not a few of us of all possibility of quiet thought and study. A vast number of visitors can hardly carry away an agreeable impression of a place where their ears have been so persistently assailed and affronted. Why cannot the Colleges do what is done by all the great hotels. The resources of modern science and ingenuity lie equally open to them. Why then these means of barbarism? – Thomas Thornely.

1927 09 01
The foundation stone of two new cottages were laid at the Cambridge Victoria Friendly Society's Institution in Victoria Road, Cambridge when. One is to house the nurse-matron and the other will be for an extra inmate. They have been made possibly by the generosity of the late Miss Emily Flack. They will be one-storey buildings containing a living room, a bedroom and a scullery. The nurse's cottage will have a bathroom in addition. It was only right that old people who had worked all their life and exercised thrift by belonging to a Friendly Society should in their old age find a haven of rest, said the President, Dr E.H. Parker.

1927 09 03
Chesterton folk looked very happy at the opening of the Pretoria Road footbridge and there was a fairly large crowd on both sides of the river. The bridge has been a very long time coming. There is an old proverb: "Bridges were made for wise men to walk over, and fools to ride over". Cyclists should remember this and the warning of the penalties awaiting those who do not dismount when crossing the bridge.

Soham motorist, p3

1927 09 05
James de Rothschild candidate, p6
Stourbridge Fair opened, p6

1927 09 07
A "rag" by four Cambridge undergraduates in Bedford has cost them the suspension of the degrees (the gaining of which they were celebrating) for six months. A constable in Regent Street, Cambridge saw the defendants at two o'clock in the morning 'larking about' with a lifebuoy and notice board belonging to Bedford Military Band. They regretted what they had done; this kind of thing might be all right in Cambridge, where it was understood, but that it would not be tolerated in Bedford. It was within the power of the college authorities, in the event of them being convicted of a felony, to prohibit them from taking their degrees at all which would be a lifetime penalty and debar them from taking any post under the Government - in the Civil Service, Army or Navy.

1927 09 07
What may be regarded as the most important news ever announced to wearers of glasses in Cambridge has come to hand. Mr H.C. Moscow, late Principal Optologist and Optometrist to Dr Hamilton's Institute of Optics, New York, U.S.A., has made arrangements to visit Cambridge. He is an enthusiastic young man who has made a remarkable success in demonstrating America's latest scientific optical methods of Eyesight Testing and Refraction Correction. There is no charge for admission to his demonstrations and consultations at the Guildhall and he will freely and generously give his advice to all those who seek his art. He is in a position to prescribe and supply Eyeglasses and Spectacles at hitherto unheard-of prices.

1927 09 07
During the holidays a good deal of wanton damage had been done to the wall and outbuildings of the Romsey Council School. The plots of ground adjoining – a no man's land at the present time – enabled young people with very little else to do to try to climb the wall. On top of that the caretaker had received notice to vacate his premises and was now in Burrell's Walk. That was a long way from the school. The council will inquire of the Bursar of Jesus College as to the cost of purchasing the site immediately next to the school.

H. Downie, Ely death, p5
Library 'misunderstanding', p5

1927 09 08
Cambridge Guardians said the number of casuals received into the Institution had been increasing year by year. A position had been reached on crowded nights when the number had reached as many as 117 men. It was quite obvious that extra accommodation had to be found and a place large enough to ensure the two night's detention – a great deterrent to the work-shy tramp, and to provide suitable work for the casuals. A farm had been found near the village of Cherry Hinton, in some ways the ideal place, but the project would be expensive.

1927 09 10
There are 270 afflicted blind and crippled girls in the schools in connection with Mr John Groom's Cripplegate and Flower Girls' Mission. They make the most beautiful flowers for all decorative and artistic purposes, producing indistinguishable copies of nature's product. The Cambridge Guildhall will be occupied by an exhibition of artificial flowers. The girls will be seen at work and those who visit will be astonished with all they witness. An opportunity will be offered of purchasing at prices within the reach of everyone.

1927 09 10
A poem had been received on the subject of carpet beating on the Backs. "One noon two hypochondiacs, Were strolling through the Cambridge Backs. Said one: It seems to me that I hear smacks, And slaps and thumps and bumps and hacks, Distinctly and nerve racking thwacks, My ear drum's split, my limbs relax. It seems to me we'd best make tracks, Till carpet beating's off the Backs"

Eyesight specialist, p7
Guardians' problem, p8*
WWI Chippenham, p8*,

1927 09 14
A large stone coffin of the 10th century pattern was unearthed at St John's Farm, Ely, where once there was an old monastery, part of which is still standing. Recently a very old employee intimated that something of unusual interest could be found in the garden. Digging operations commenced and it was not long before a large stone slab was discovered. The coffin had been cut out of a block of Barwick rock. Inside were bones of more than one person.

1927 09 13
Waterbeach vicar, p6

1927 09 14
Engines at Ely, p3
Ely stone coffin, p5*

1927 09 15
The question of water supply was becoming more and more serious, Linton RDC was told. In one side of the district there was no water. The ponds were all very low, and the people were drinking out of roadside drains water which was impregnated with decayed vegetable matter. There was no even water enough for cleanliness, and something must be done. But the other side was plentifully supplied. Sawston people would object to paying for Horseheath or Castle Camps. The question was whether they should go on digging wells or whether it was possible to take any other measure which would be more perfect or less expensive

1927 09 16
Sugar beet farms, p5

1927 09 17
Street improvement operations are taking place at the corner of New Square and Fair Street, Cambridge. The corner house occupied by Mr Woodley Betts, the dentist, tends to obstruct the view of traffic and work has started on demolishing it. It is proposed to round the corner by pulling down the present house and building another with a rounding feature. In this way a good deal of ground will be thrown into the public roadway and the line of vision greatly improved.

1927 09 19
Premises in Peas Hill, Cambridge, may be acquired for the purpose of extending the Guildhall. Trinity Hall, the owners of nos 15 & 16 will sell for £5,500; Mr Sennitt will sell no.17 for £3,500, the price to include compensation for disturbance of the business and the tenant to have the option of hiring the premises until required by the Corporation. Corpus Christi College has agreed £2,200 for no.19. The Council is to apply to the Minister of Health for sanction to borrow the sum of £11,700 for the purchase

1927 09 19
Three pianos were badly damaged by an outbreak of fire in a warehouse behind shop premises opposite the Porter's Lodge in Magdalene Street, Cambridge and it was only through prompt action that a considerable amount of the old property in the district was not destroyed. An oil stove was kept alight in the warehouse used by Mr W.J. Moore, music dealer, to prevent the instruments from becoming damp and in some way this was responsible for the outbreak.

1927 09 20
Stourbridge Fair, p6

1927 09 21
Sir – The other evening I had occasion to be motoring on the Soham-Wicken road. The increasingly heavy traffic has reduced it to such a mess of pot-holes as to prove a nightmare to the driver. Although the car was carefully driven, more than once it was shaken from one side of the road to the other. Someone suggested that the holes would be filled when there were enough bodies to do so. Unless this road is soon repaired I fear many folk will be described like this: "They drove along the Soham-Wicken road, and, behold, when they arose next morning they were all dead corpses" – Much Perturbed

1927 09 22
Petrol caused quite an explosion at a meeting of the Cambridge Town Council. For some time the Corporation has been obtaining petrol at the rate of 11d. per gallon and the Public Works committee now recommend that 200 gallons be obtained at 1s. 1d. Some members objected to paying more and suggested the change had been made because the cheaper grade was of Russian origin. Were the housing committee going to stipulate that no Russian wood should be put in houses they are building? The cheaper petrol was known as Power petrol and used by all the large firms in Cambridge.

Sir Arthur Shipley death, p8

1927 09 23 ES
10th-century stone coffin discovered at St John's Farm, Ely – photo – 27 09 23 ES

1927 09 24
The terrible secret of Power petrol discussed by Cambridge councillors is out. All motorists have felt the power of the grip imposed by the combine firms who sell at 2d per gallon more than those refiners outside their ring. Power petrol is manufactured at the refinery of the Medway Oil and Storage Company at Isle of Grain, Kent. Supplies of raw material come from all over the world – including Russia and Romania but the petrol is as British as any other and more British than the large majority. I have not noticed many places in Cambridge where they sell Power petrol. Very few seem to retail it, although certain large garages take bulk supplies.

1927 09 24
Damage estimated at £2,000 was caused by a fire which broke out at the Cambridge Motor Service Co. Hobson Street. The night watchman found that motor cycle department, which also stored several cars, was alight and among the vehicles which were badly burned were a Bugatti racing car, an Austin Seven, a Trojan van and a number of motor cycles and bicycles. Some people returning from the New Theatre were attracted down Hobson Street and watched the Fire Brigade at work.

1927 09 24
Almost everyone in Europe was in debt and could not meet their obligations, Sir George Paish told the annual conference of the National Savings Movement at Caius College, Cambridge. The great distress of unemployment was entirely brought about by the failure of people to make the savings they should make. They were spending their money on luxuries, on motor cars. "Can we afford all these motor cars? Can we afford to do what we are doing today and neglect the more important things", he asked. The Savings Movement was not a class movement. They wanted to create the opinion in all classes in favour of saving and in favour of more and wiser spending.

Duxford plane crash, p5
ASLIB conference, p6
Corporation plate sale, p8

1927 09 26

Duxford plane crash inquest, p6

1927 09 27
New Theatre report, p6

1927 09 28
Cambridge Photographic Club celebrated its 25th anniversary. They were doing admirable work in conjunction with the Cambridge Antiquarian Society in securing a preserving a photographic record of various places which might disappear in course of time. Ald Starr said he had joined Hills & Saunders as a lad in 1880. They used wet plates at that time and had to coat them and sensitive them, and they would not keep for more than a few hours.

1927 09 29
Members of the Cambridge Labour Party showed a justifiable pride in their new "home" which was officially opened by their prospective Parliamentary candidate. A somewhat dilapidated one-storey building in Norfolk Terrace, latterly used as a knitting factory, has been transformed in a wonderful way into bright, comfortable and well-equipped premises, although the walls are unfinished owing to the plaster not yet having been set sufficiently.

1927 09 30
Crowds of people were unable to gain admittance to the new Labour Hall in Norfolk Street, Cambridge for the pageant 'The Temple of Vision'. It represents the ideals of the Labour Party in eight episodes. These took rather an inordinate time to get through but the show was exceedingly entertaining. The relative merits of co-operation and private enterprise were contrasted and the performance was punctuated with frequent and enthusiastic applause.

12-hour road race, p7

October 1927 CDN

1927 10 01
St Ives RDC recommended a bonus of £50 be paid to collectors for the Somersham and St Ives districts. Mr J.L. Barton, speaking against the proposal, said that on a previous occasion he stated that University men were willing to take the position at 50 shillings a week. Things were no different today. He knew a case of a Cambridge University man who was so pleased with an offer of 50 shillings a week as a milkman that he was taking it.

Animated pictures, p6

1927 10 03
Weston Colville Hall sale farming stock, p6

1927 10 04
A motor road sweeper and street cleaner was demonstrated in Jesus Lane, Cambridge. The makers claim it has a small capital outlay, low operating costs, small turning circle and ease of control. The brush can be lifted when not in use and sprays fitted to damp down dust in hot weather. The machine worked over 150 yards of road which had been specially covered with a layer of refuse. It showed a fine turn of speed - with the brush not in use it can do 20 mph - and the rubbish was quickly and neatly removed to the gutters. Compared with the horse sweeper now used it is much superior.

1927 10 04
Theophilus Philip Starke, a boot and shoe maker, told magistrates that two men called at his shop in Regent Street, Cambridge, and said they had come about the sun blind, which needed repair. They borrowed a ladder and appeared to do the work. He paid them 25 shillings but his suspicions were aroused by the way they "scuttled off". The blind was examined by an expert who found practically nothing had been done to it.

Abandoned baby, p8

1927 10 05
Hildersham inhabitants turned out in force to hear the Mayor of Cambridge, J.H. Conder, talk of the village as he remembered it 50 years ago. There used to be a parish herdsman as the cows belonging to various people all went into a common herd. A great fire had broken out in two places at once. The Rectory farm buildings, tithe barn and Manor Farm barn were burnt down. A large house called the "Rookery" was standing empty and was pulled down so the bricks could be taken to build a new barn. This was a great pity because the house was a very fine one.

1927 10 05
Cambridge Photographic Club had made progress with the photographic survey of the county and over 100 prints were produced. There was still a great deal to be done and this should be regarded as one of the most important parts of the club's work. A collection of photographs of Cambridge was exhibited in the Public Library. The East Anglian Federation had held its summer meeting in Cambridge, but the weather was not in favour of photography.

192710 07
The Medical Officer told Ely Guardians he had nowhere at the Institution to put infectious cases. Recently they had a refractory tramp in one ward, two lunatics under observation, both of whom required extra assistance, and had no means of isolating them. He had one case in the bathroom and another in the general ward, which upset the inmates. It was illegal to keep children in the House and some years ago they had turned the isolation hospital into a children's home which now housed 11 children and they might get an influx of two families with five or six in each.

Hils Road Wesleyan Church hall, p8

1927 10 08
A fire broke out in the stackyard at Further Farm, Stretham fen and eight were totally destroyed. Considerable difficulty was experienced in getting the fire engine to the farm owing to the condition of the drove, but with the help of three horses from the farm this was accomplished. Mr F. Oakey drove from Ely in his motor and arrived before the firemen. He dashed into the flames and drove out a practically red hot tractor from between the blazing stacks into a place of safety. Luckily a good supply of water was available from the dykes which had been filled by opening the dam at Morton's Farm.

1927 10 08
Members of Cambridge Corporation paid a visit to the gasworks to see for themselves how gas is produced. They were greatly impressed. The Mayor said: "Some of us have grown up in the belief that essential services should belong to the public but no matter who owns them when we have efficient managers things are done well". The Vice-chairman of the Gas Company said that the Town Council and the Gas Company both exist to produce gas. "It may be that the Town Council gas is more lethal than ours!"

Charles Kerridge death, p6
Radio Society reformed, p8

1927 10 10
No woman has photographed more Royalty or distinguished people than Miss Olive Edis, the well-known expert in the production of monochrome and colour photography. She has her third annual exhibition in Cambridge, although she has worked in the town for some 20 years. One wall has a display of portraits of well-known Cambridge people but the greatest attraction will be the colour photography of local scenes

Boxworth rector death, p6

1927 10 11
The Prime Minister is expected to visit Barrington to open the new cement works. A distinguished company of about 100 will journey from London by special saloon carriages and the light railway direct to the works. The new works are already turning out great quantities of cement and when the second kiln is complete will be one of the largest cement works north of the Thames. About 200 men will be employed there permanently and it is expected that from a country village Barrington soon will be transformed into something like a small industrial town

Wilburton accident, p6
Market Street fire – Smart, p8

1927 10 12
No longer does the Oxford or Cambridge "Bobby" walk about in fear of his life and his helmet, no longer does the local publican wax fat on healthy young thirsts and the tailor bemoan bad trade. Undergraduates are changing their "manners". The "sloshing" of policemen is out of fashion. Roaring ribald songs between great draughts of ale is simply not "done". Nowadays slovenliness in dress is revolting. This is the age of "refinement". Nowadays the undergraduate "works off" high spirits by "rushing about the country on wheels" – so said the Warden of All Soul's College, Oxford

Croxton school, p6
Goodrich talks Photographic Club, p7

1927 10 13
Sir – I see that Mr Baldwin is so delighted to find an undertaking which is employing more men rather than turning them off, that he is coming to open the new cement works in Barrington. I wonder if he will ask where the 200 men who are going to be employed are to be housed. I doubt if 20 houses have been built in neighbouring villages since the war and there is a long waiting list of people not connected with the works. A large proportion of the men at present employed are being lodged in houses where there is no proper accommodation for them, and if another hundred men are to be taken on shortly the congestion will be appalling – G.T. Garratt, Barrington

1927 10 13
Considerable progress has been made with the restoration work in old buildings at Buckden Palace, partly demolished many years ago. The destroyed north wing of the Gate House is now to a great extent rebuilt on the old foundation. The material used is largely old, having come from Stanwick Hall, Yorkshire, the lately demolished house of the Duke of Devonshire.

William Le Keux death, p5

1927 10 14
Pre-war dances, p8

1927 10 14 ES
Wilburton double fatality – Alfred Alsop and George Gillett hit unlit stationary motor lorry with their motorbike on Wilburton Road; inquest at Red Lion – 27 10 14(2)(3)(4)(5) ES; photo 27 10 14(8)

Further Fen Farm Fire. A disastrous fire involving the complete destruction of six large stacks of hay and corn occurred at Mr Bagel's Further Farm, Stretham fen, late on Thursday night. With such fury did the stacks burn that grave fears were entertained for the safety of four of the stacks which stood in close proximity. Fortunately, it was a comparatively still night otherwise to whole of the ricks and sheds must have been destroyed. The fire was discovered by Mrs Constable, wife of the farm foreman, who saw a great sheet for flame shoot suddenly into the air and run right across the top of six stacks. She immediately sent her son, Henry Constable, to Stretham on his bicycle to summon the fire brigade and the fire bell was sounding in Ely about 10 o'clock. Within five or six minutes, the whole of the brigade assembled at the fire station and were soon speeding along the road to the scene of the fire, the approach to which is extremely difficult to negotiate. The motor was able to draw the engine to a point near the new bridge which is in course of erection between Wicken and Stretham and from here had to be drawn along a rough drove by horses. The stacks stood in the yard close to a bountiful supply of water with which the firemen were able to concentrate their energies on preventing the flames from reaching the stacks and the shed that had not been reached. With the help of farmhands and Mr. Bagel they succeeded despite the intense heat and blinding smoke. Fred Oakey of King William IV pub, Ely, had rushed out to the farm to render assistance and saved a tractor which was almost red hot. He succeeded in doing this by getting other helpers to pour water over it in order that he might grip the tractor. Others devoted their attention to saving a drum and elevator which escaped with no more damage than a scorching. Several pigs were housed in close proximity to the fire, near which also stood an unoccupied cottage, and it was deemed expedient that these should be driven for safety into an adjoining field. Completely circling the yard in which the fire was raging were tall trees many of which must have suffered and intensified the fire had there been any wind. Such quantities of water did the brigade pour on the fire that at one time there was practically two feet of water in the yard and to enable this to flow back into the dike on the edge of the yard, a gully had to be cut. The Brigade was occupied between 15 and 16 hours in quelling the outbreak and were provided by Mr. Bagel with food and warm drinks. The cause of the outbreak is not known. 27 10 14 ES photo – 27 10 14(6) ES

New bridges: the two bridges under construction are now nearing completion. The one over the River Ouse is practically finished with the exception of making up the approaches. That over Cam not quite so forward

1927 10 15
Baldwin not to open Barrington, p3

1927 10 17
A slight failure occurred at one of the Electricity Supply Company substations and for about half-an-hour people living in Mill Road, Cambridge and not equipped with gas were feeling their way in the darkness. Temporary confusion reigned at the Gwydir Street baths where the weekly ablutions were being performed. All the baths were occupied and the bathers found themselves in a somewhat awkward predicament. One gentleman spent some time looking for the soap. But the situation was overcome by the prompt action of one of the attendants who sped to a nearby shop and purchased some candles.

1927 10 17
The new ballroom in the University Arms Hotel, Cambridge, with is delightful atmosphere, its perfect spring floor and super-modern lighting, welcomed the first of its dancing parties to a first-class dinner-dance equal in every way to the Savoy Hotel or any other London night-club. Splendidly rehearsed the Cambridge University Arms Hotel Band played all the latest music from London and New York. It was supplied by Stanley Miller whose Cantabrigians have already made good impressions on the Cambridge public

1927 10 17
Cambridge Co-operative Society opened its new model dairy at Sleaford Street. The manager, Mr J. Quincey said they were now retailing nearly 400 gallons a day. They served the purest and cleanest milk possible. "People say they want milk straight from the cow. But if they only saw the cleaning machine when it was taken to pieces it would surprise and probably stagger them to know the filth and dirt which came from the milk, even though they were getting the best milk from clean producers".

Soham police, p7
Parish constables' insurance, p7

1927 10 18
Cambridge Planning Committee considered a letter from the Cambridge Co-operative Society asking for St James Road to be renamed Sleaford Street. They agreed to take steps to this end. The Housing committee agreed that Triplex stoves be installed in the 112 houses being erected on the King's Hedges site and that work proceed with distempering 24 timber-framed houses on the site.

1927 10 18
The County Education Committee approved the erection of a village college at Sawston. The basis of the institution is a Senior School which will be an elementary and not a secondary school. This will provide an advanced education for older children and pay special attention to practical instruction, particularly woodwork, domestic subjects and gardening. They were anxious to give a really good education on a rural basis. It was an experiment that was practically unique. The name 'village college' has been chosen for a building which provided for both elementary and adult (including agricultural) education and at the same time would be available for social activities.

Corporation petrol, p5
Papworth scouts, p8

1927 10 19
The Ely coroner sat for four hours at the Red Lion, Stretham to inquire into the death of two men who met with a tragic end whilst motor cycling to their homes. The constable at Wilburton said he had received complaints respecting a motor lorry stationary on the Wilburton Road. He made an examination of the rear lamp, which was not alight so he obtained some oil and lit the lamp. Mr Warren later asked for permission to go and put some lights on it. Dr Charles Howe of Haddenham said he received a telephone message that two men had run into a stationary lorry and found the bodies lying on the grass beside the road.

Wilburton Road tragedy, p7

1927 10 20
The Chief Officer of Ely Fire Brigade reported on the fire in Stretham fen. It was in a most inaccessible place and they had difficulty in getting there. The lorry lamps were absolutely useless; any new lorry should have an electric lamp. Mr Harvey asked if the firemen got extra for the night hours. They put in a lot of time and the insurance people must be obliged to them for saving what they did. He thought they were not paid much for it. If there had been any farm hands to help they would have been away seven or eight hours earlier.

Wilbraham chalk pit fatality, p8

1927 10 21
King's Mill site cleared, p8

1927 10 21 ES
Wilburton fatality inquest, Stretham P.c. Saberton questioned – 27 10 21 & (2) ES

Black Bank station master A. Porter, retires. Started as telegraph clerk at Audley End – details of instrument. Then moved Newmarket, Cambridge, Lynn etc. To Black Bank in 1899 where spend 28 years. There was no siding at Pymore, which later erected. Station Yard considerably improved; formerly it so narrow that the heads of horses hung over the fence when loading against the trucks and a piece of land acquired. A new siding to cope with sugar beet trade. Since August 1921 he also had charge of Chettisham station. – 27 10 21(3) ES # c.26.1

Ely Rural Water Extension to Stretham, Haddenham, Wilburton and Lt Thetford … 'a monstrous proposition'. They could not afford to bring Grunty Fen in – it was the most badly-off place in the district. Having regard to the present great depression in agriculture and the difficulty in collecting the present rates, they should not proceed. – 27 10 21(4)&(5)

Laying Ely electric light cable, Barton Road – photo – 27 10 21(6) ES

1927 10 22
An extremely lively meeting was held at Matthew's Café in connection with the Cambridge University Labour Club's first meeting. Mr Jack Jones, M.P. was the speaker. The room was overflowing with undergraduates and women students of various political sections. Sugar was thrown, red flags exhibited and cries of "We want Jones" contributed to the general laughter and talking. Although interrupted countless times he managed to make his audience listen to what he had to say.

Pictures of Week series starts, p6
Housing shortage, p7
Tram line, p8

1927 10 26
Cambridge councillors spent a couple of hours observing the capabilities of another motor road sweeper, the "Karrier" Patent Road Sweeper, Sprinkler and Collector". It was first tried in Jesus Lane where a large quantity of newly fallen plane tree leaves were thickly scattered about the roadway and had drifted to a depth of four inches. A quantity of road sweepings had also been laid and pressed down firmly by passing traffic. Some of this and patches of horse droppings proved very difficult to remove and the large leaves presented a serious problem. A great quantity of the leaves was removed and lifted into the tipping truck at the back of the vehicle but some of the leaves spun round with the brush and were deposited on the roadway again behind it.

Grantchester village hall, p6

1927 10 28
Chesterton RDC considered the proposed erection of a bridge at Twenty-man's Ferry, near Cottenham. An application was received from Wilburton parish council that the bridge should be erected and the road be put in good repair. It would relieve the traffic from the Ely main road and relieve the congestion which was very acute on that road. They ought to get the feelings of the Cottenham people; the bridge would be a bigger benefit to them more than anybody else.

Tugs & Beet factory, p6*

1927 10 29
The fascinating experience of lunching in Cambridge in the atmosphere of our Elizabethan forefathers is made possible by the opening of new rooms at Messrs Matthew's Café in Trinity Street. They have acquired the two upper storeys of the building & turned rooms which were formerly part of a lodging house into a charming medieval retreat. The original beams and window frames remain as well as some beautiful old carvings and the rooms have been furnished in the style of the period, pains having been taken to securer faithful reproductions even down to lamps and pewter pots.

Ashley water, p3
Gale, p5
Bike parking, Sidney Street, p8

1927 10 31
Scrambler accident, p5

November 1927 CDN

1927 11 03
A man was charged with stealing a sack containing one pair of men's breeches and a shirt from the taproom of the Three Pickerels public house at Mepal. Henry Thomas Smith told the court he had gone to the pub with his bag, put it under a seat in the taproom and then gone into another room. When he went for his sack it had gone. The accused said: "I thought it was my mate's bag so I picked it up and took it away. When I saw Bill I found he had got his sack. It was a great mistake, and, on my oath I never stole it". He was fined £1.1s.8d

1927 11 03
A catastrophe was narrowly averted at Cambridge workhouse when the boiler "sprung a leak". Had the trouble not been promptly detected an explosion would have inevitably occurred. This was the second occasion during the week and it had only to be incapacitated for the laundry, heating and cooking to be at a standstill. The trouble was caused by an accumulation of chalk deposit from the water. It would not have occurred had the apparatus been cleaned out at regular intervals. The sooner they got rid of the boiler and chimney the better.

1927 11 05
Sawston village college, p5* & 7th p6
J.W. Snelson death, p7

1927 11 06 c
A verdict of accidental death was returned at an inquest into a labourer from Tan Yard, Northampton Street, Cambridge who died as the result of injuries sustained in a motor accident. John Mayes, cinema attendant at the Tivoli Cinema said deceased was pulling a handcart; he was in the shafts on the river side of Chesterton Road. He saw the left wing of the car hit the cart and the man went right under the car. William Tams, a photographer, estimated the car's speed at about 25 miles an hour. PC Brown said he saw the handcart being used to lever the car up in order to lift it off the man. The boy said "Some --- fool ran into me; don't let mother know".

1927 11 07
The County Council considered possible legislation to facilitate the conversion into hard metalled roads of fen droves, green lanes or similar roads which by reason of insufficient hard material were not fit to carry traffic at all seasons of the year, including private roads, occupation roads and roads set aside under Enclosure & Drainage Awards. At present it was nobody's duty to look after such roads and what little work was done to them was largely wasted. If the Government was going to do anything to encourage agriculture it could not do better than to improve these roads.

Twentypence bridge proposed, p3*
Sawston village college, p6

1927 11 10
Streets of Cambridge, p5
Linton water supply, p7

1927 11 11
Poppies! They were everywhere. The streets of Cambridge were ablaze with them. They were on every coat, in every conscience. Their spirit turned the town into a red riot of remembrance. As the day wore on the poppies grew thicker. A great army of 2,000 undergraduates sold the emblems with an enthusiasm which was unbounded. Early in the morning they were at their posts with their trays of flowers and collecting boxes and all through the day carried on their merry money hunt. Many played the role of highwaymen, boarding buses and holding up the traffic.

Bishop Stortford beet, p3

Jack Overhill, p5
River rescue Ely, p8
Dullingham shepherd, p9

1927 11 12
The Ouse Drainage Bill was rejected by a Joint Committee of Parliament. It was proposed to construct training walls, embankments, sluices and deepening channels and rate – differentially as between uplands and lowlands – the whole of the watershed from Oxford to the Wash. It was the adequacy of even this elaborate scheme and the apportionment of the cost which provoked strong opposition. Experts reported that if the proposals were not carried out "the danger of the district returning to its original condition of swamp is very real".

1927 11 12
Gloucester Street workshop for disabled soldiers in Cambridge, opened by Princess Mary last year, is represented at an exhibition at the Imperial Institute. Their stall contains all kinds of basketwork, knitting and other things made at the workshops. At present there are eight men working there. All are of over 60 per cent disability through the war, and one is of over 90 per cent. The workshop can never be a paying concern but good work is being done in enabling the men to earn sufficient money to keep them "off the dole". Colonel Willis, the secretary or Miss Brearley, manageress and instructress, would be pleased to see anyone interested.

1927 11 14
Rural planning – cottages, p6

1927 11 15
Two of the proudest men in Cambridge are Mr H.A. Hagger and Mr F.C. Fuller who were in charge of the stall of the Disabled Men's Workshop, Gloucester Street, at the Imperial Institute. It was the only stall attended by the actual men who made the goods and the contents were completely disposed of by mid-way through the week. The Queen bought a pair of heather-mixture socks and a waste paper basket. The Duchess of York bought a fancy rush stool remarking "It will do for Princess Elizabeth for the nursery". By the time the Prince of Wales visited they had nothing left to sell him.

Undergraduate death, p6

1927 11 16
Remarkable scenes in which an undergraduate fainted were witnessed at the Cambridge Union Society debate on the desirability of a wider knowledge of contraceptive methods. Ladies were excluded from the Hall for this debate and the gallery, which is usually used by them, was completely filled with undergraduates. A speaker referred to the effect of an overcrowded population on the poorer people. It was only by birth control that they had been able to keep up their standard of living; the issue was quantity of population against quality. But the best education a child could get was to grow up with brothers and sisters. The debate concluded that a wider knowledge of contraceptive methods was in the interest of both morality and social welfare.

1927 11 17
Described as one of the finest shop sites in Cambridge, no.3 Petty Cury was offered for sale by auction. The shop, now in the occupation of Mrs Kemp as a toy and fancy warehouse, was offered with vacant possession and is freehold. The auctioneer mentioned the tremendous difference that would be made to the Market Square end of Petty Cury by the opening up of a big new shop at the corner. Bidding quickly rose to £7,350 but did not reach the reserve price and was withdrawn. Immediately after the auction it was sold privately.

1927 11 18
A fire completely destroyed the premises of Messrs Norton and Naylor, electrical engineers, at the rear of 9 Staffordshire Street, Cambridge. It was a large wooden structure used as a store and workshop, situated in a yard at the rear. It contained a large quantity of electrical fittings and a car, which was garaged there at the time was reduced to a complete wreck. This morning the derelict car stood in a setting of charred and blistered framework whilst among the debris was the frame of what was once a bicycle as well as numerous bulbs.

1927 11 21
Cottenham man at dance, p6

1927 11 22
Syd Greenall, the famous fen skater and professional champion of 1901, has died of double pneumonia. He was born in Cambridgeshire 42 years ago. At Belle Vue Kennels, Manchester, last summer, he was bitten by a dog and said, "This will kill me". Greenall was not only one of the world's fastest skaters, but was also a fine figure skater.

1927 11 23
The Cambridge Photographic Club exhibition contained 120 entries made in connection with the scheme for providing photographic records of objects of interest in the county, most of them thatched cottages which are not unlikely to disappear. Whittlesford, Balsham and Toft provided the largest numbers, these being villages to which excursions were organised during the summer months.

1927 11 25
The awkward position of the members of the Ouse Drainage Board on account of the rejection of the Drainage Bill led to lengthy discussions. The uplander, the fenlander and the lowlander were opposed to that Bill, the forces against it must have been tremendous and the rejection was a surprise to the Government officials who drafted it. They hoped that the new Bill that came forward would be from the fen people themselves, the trouble with the last one was that it came too much from above

1927 11 25
It was a memorable day in the history of St John's Church, Hills Road, Cambridge with the opening of the new Parish Hall and Sunday School. The hall, which is dedicated chiefly to the use of young people, is a fine building of red brick and is situated on the site of the old Mission Church in Blinco Grove. The Women's Union have made themselves responsible for the porch and entrance, raising £130 & money for the electric light has been raised by Miss Gwatken and her Bible Class.

1927 11 25
A Cottenham drain had got into a very bad condition and was an offence, councillors heard. The matter had been raised in 1913 when the owner of the house was prosecuted and the magistrates had decided the drain was a sewer. At Ivatt Street there was a main road and a private street and two blocks of six houses nearby. Every pair of houses had a gully into which they threw refuse and that drained into the cesspool. The drain had got into a very bad condition and was an offence to all 12 houses, but the owner declined to take any steps.

Chesterton Road fatality, p5
Ouse Board's future, p6*

1927 11 25 ES
Isle roads and bridges; includes new road from Downham to Welney; at present were fences and gates across the bank for letting herbage in sections, these should be removed. Concrete Road laid to carry traffic to Beet Factory. Dimmock's Cote Road to be main road. Mepal Counter Bridge reconstruction. – 27 11 25 & (2)(3) ES

Stretham: estimate of W.T. Rayner for rebuilding a boundary wall and shop front in connection with an improvement to the main road accepted. Correspondence on abolition of feasts and fairs on public highway, more particularly with proposals for the discontinuation of the annual Feast in Stretham; Isle take no action but write Home Office requesting opinion of Secretary of State – 27 11 25(2) ES

1927 11 26
Chesterton RDC received the layout submitted by Cambridge Estates Ltd for a new building estate in the parish of Impington. They had acquired 30 acres of land. The estate a considerable frontage to Arbury Road. It could be drained mainly into Milton Road by a new road to be called Hurst Park Avenue. It would be developed uniformly on garden suburb lines with wide roads & grass verges.

1927 11 26
The Isle of Ely County Council intends shortly to remove the constable stationed at Coveney to Wimblington and the police station would be abolished. The Coveney beat would then be amalgamated with Witchford. They discussed suggestions that the Isle and Huntingdonshire police forces should be amalgamated, but they did not know whether one Chief Constable could be able to give the same attention to two counties as he had given in one. The County Medical Officer preferred to have a Smith Premier typewriter to any British make he had seen, but Coun. Buswell said it would not do.

Littleport rats, p7*

1927 11 30
The annual concert and prize distribution of Slepe Hall School took place in the Corn Exchange, St Ives when a large gathering enjoyed a delightful programme of music provided by the staff and pupils. The certificates and prizes won by the girls were distributed by the Principal of Homerton College. She urged parents not to withdraw their girls, whenever possible, until the end of their school time, as a completed education was more necessary than ever in the new world and urged the girls to choose something for their future life which might be to them a vocation, no matter how bold such an enterprise might seem.

December 1927 CDN

1927 12 01
A portion of the estate of the late Mr Benjamin Jolley, comprising practically the whole of Great Eastern Street, Cambridge was offered for auction. There was a large company and prices ranged from £120 to £142 each. Ten houses in Gwydir Street fetched £2,250 but nos.38-42 Cherryhinton Road were withdrawn.

1927 12 02
Shelford Amateur Sports Association held their boxing competition in the Village Hall when the building was packed to its utmost capacity. The best fight of the evening was that between A.C. Manser (RAF) and C. Stubbings (C.A.B.C.), both men fighting the whole bout without easing for a moment. Manser, despite the handicap of a cut eye, gamely stuck to his task and was warmly applauded for his spirited show when Stubbings was awarded a well-deserved decision.

1927 12 02
The Coroner was occupied for some time inquiring into the death of an Automobile Association patrol scout who collided with a motor lorry at Sawbridgeworth. He had been a scout for two years and previously been a despatch rider in the army. He had ridden a motor cycle for 13 or 14 years. A lorry driver said he was just pulling up to light his lamps and heard a crash. He was travelling at about ten miles an hour. He found the scout had run into the offside front mudguard of the lorry and damaged the oil box. The lorry was a three-ton Fiat and averaged 12 miles per hour.

1927 12 02 ES
Middle Level pumping scheme; Ministry's offer funding for new pumping station at St Germans withdrawn: would be pumping against the tide and 30 miles from danger area at Whittlesey Mere – 27 12 02 & (2) ES

1927 12 03
According to the Master of Bailiol, not even a Scot can now manage in Oxford on less than £200 a year unless he had not enough to eat. But £250 should suffice for anybody. One undergraduate thinks a man can do "fairly comfortably" on £300 a year, providing he had not expensive tastes. A Cambridge Fresher says he has spent £150 on college bills, £30 on furniture, clubs £16, clothes £30, books £13, tips £15, gate fines £2 this term. If he goes on at the same rate for the next two terms he is in for an expensive first year!

Lofts Hall estate sale, p3

1927 12 05
A fire which might have spread with serious consequences broke out at the Ely Beet Factory. The canteen, which is a wooden building used for sleeping quarters, was discovered to be on fire at 12.57 am and within 20 minutes a considerable portion was burned to the ground. Immediately on discovery of the outbreak a telephone message was sent to the police and they gave the alarm to the Ely, Cambridge and Littleport Brigades. Within 11 minutes Ely brigade was out of the station and arriving at the scene found the place burning very fiercely. They played on it with water from the Ouse, which flows by the factory. Fortunately the flames did not spread to the sugar store, which stands close by. All the occupants of the sleeping quarters managed to escape uninjured with the exception of the nephew of the canteen manager who sustained bad burning injuries to the face.

1927 12 06
Cambridge Councillors heard that Mr D. Page had been appointed to act as pindar at a wage of £2 18s. 2d. per week, which included 5s, the value of the cottage now occupied by his predecessor, Mr C. Everitt. As he was unable to occupy the cottage at Coldham's Common there was a difficulty in locking and unlocking the gate and it was agreed that Mr Everitt be paid 10s a week for such services.

1927 12 06
Alfred Seaman, of Lt Chesterford told magistrates he was driving a steam tractor and saw a lorry proceeding towards Saffron Walden. The lorry was travelling about 25 mph and he gave it plenty of room to pass. He looked back and saw it crash into the Eight Bells public house. William Wright said he did not understand much about speed but the lorry was travelling at a terrific rate, which caused it to skid. PC Little said there were marks which showed it skidded 27 yards before it mounted the pavement and crashed into the doorway of the public house.

University Press, Trumpington Street improvement, p6

1927 12 07
Sir – the death of Mr Alfred Lander has cast quite a gloom over the Sidgwick Avenue – Silver Street bit of Cambridge. For many a year his familiar figure stood in all weathers under his big old tree, sheltered by the wall, generally accompanied by a robin or dog, his special friends. A casual passer-by might suppose he did nothing but stand there holding his broom, but he was a very useful man. To the best of his limited ability he was famous for going messages and taking care of this and that – and all this above and beyond his 'professional' work as a crossing-sweeper (the only unofficial one in the town). So afflicted, but such a simple, kindly and cheery soul; accident made him a cripple in his childhood, and life must have been a long struggle but of late things have been brighter again for him – A mourner

1927 12 08
For some times the rivalries of various motor bus drivers plying for hire between Newmarket and Burwell have been particularly keen, and there has been some trouble that has got as far as the Police Court. A bus driver employed by Albert Norman of Exning said he had got to the corner near the church at Burwell when an Ortona bus passed, going 30 mph, and cut right in front of him, which necessitated him jamming on his brakes to avoid an accident. The driver told him: "If you don't let me pass I shall smash the back of your bus in. That is just what you little people want, so that you can get a new bus". The magistrate said the rivalry among the bus drivers was a danger to the public and must cease.

Littleport jeweller affairs – Davies, p7

1927 12 09
Sentence reduced, p3
Motor services, p6

1927 12 09 ES
Ely Beet Factory canteen gutted – 27 12 09 ES; photo – 27 12 09(2) ES

1927 12 10
Time was when "a village library" implied a shelf or two of antiquated and goody-goody books which had been discarded and presented by bygone residents who had fixed opinions as to the literary fare appropriate for villagers. Nowadays the books sent each quarter to a village can be selected by the residents, and their quantity and quality have only one limit – the demand that exists. There is a branch of the county library in every village, which means that everybody can now obtain any book needed for study from the Central Library for Students. The amount spent on a free library service which benefits every person in the community is not likely to be grudged by ratepayers.

Cambridge prison, p5*

1927 12 13
The Home of Mercy in Christchurch Street, Cambridge continues to do valuable work for girls in need, both in material matters and spiritually. It is almost always full & parents of the inmates express their gratitude for the care in training the girls. Eighteen have been admitted during the past year and eight have been provided with outfits, earned by good conduct marks, and placed out in service. Four have been certified under the Mental Deficiency Act, two returned to their friends, one refused to stay and one died of meningitis. Several have been baptised, confirmed and admitted to Holy Communion; some had to be taught even the Lord's Prayer and many are admitted in a low condition of mental and bodily health.

Wide roads, p5

1927 12 14
The new font cover of Balsham church is the work of the Rector, Canon H. Burrell and has taken eight years to build. It is a magnificent structure, reaching about thirty feet from the ground, and hangs from the roof. It is a telescopic: the upper portion is suspended as a permanent canopy over the font and the lower part, which acts as the lid, is hung to it by a system of steel wire ropes and pulleys. For the balance weight a 9.4 naval shell has been used.

1927 12 15
A conference is to discuss the problem of the accommodation of tramps at Cambridge workhouse. In 1926 there was an alarming increase of over 5,000 which they hoped was due to the general strike but this year the number had been exceeded. They could deal with 60 male tramps but on one night had 118. They had to sleep on the floor, between the beds and in the corridor and the arrangement for bathing, searching, disinfecting and washing clothes became hopelessly inadequate. The solution may be found in an agreement between the Cambridge and Chesterton Union to pool resources

1927 12 15
Cambridgeshire County Council has written to the Cambridge Workhouse Infirmary committee saying that a general authority could not be given for dentures to be supplied to defectives maintained in the Institution. But if they were necessary in special cases they would authorise the expense to be incurred. It was decided, with expressions of satisfaction, to furnish the names of the inmates requiring dentures, together with the estimated cost.

A.E. Wright, Stretham, death, p7
Hinxton schoolmistress assaulted, p8

1927 12 15 c
Some of the best-known makes of motor cars are to be seen at Cox's Motor Company, Cambridge, the firm being agents for Armstrong-Siddeley, Riley and Vulcan. Their showroom windows always attract the person interested in cars and accessories and just now they are making a special feature of Riley models, including the San Remo saloon at £265 and the Monaco model at £285. They also specialise in the Lea-Francis cars.

1927 12 15 c
Many a charming gift can be purchased at a chemist's shop. Ladies always find scent very acceptable and at Messrs Campkin and Sons, Rose Crescent, Cambridge, there can be obtained a choice selection of perfume. Soap and bath salts in dainty packages, or toilet brushware are suggestions that may help to solve the gift problems for those whose pockets are not very deep.

1927 12 16
2mph motoring, p3*
Fishery board, p5
Snailwell plane crash, p5

1927 12 16 ES
Ely Market Day crash – lamp standard in front of Lloyd's Bank – 27 12 16(3) ES

Land drainage: report of Royal Commission: general drainage rate should be amended, catchment areas – 27 12 16 & (2) ES # c.29

1927 12 17
Conservative club, p8*
Shepherds, p8

1927 12 19
Coxton Hall fire, p8*

1927 12 20
Skating, p5*

1927 12 21
Glacial morning, p6

1927 12 23
Newmarket Guardians refreshments, p7
Sandwich man, p8

1927 12 24
Thousands of bottles of old ale, specially brewed for Trinity College and matured in the college cellars, have been sent this Christmas to Cambridge men all over the country. Trinity Audit Ale is declared by brewers to be the finest known. Every year there is a big demand for it, but not a bottle is allowed to be sold to the public and only present and past members of the college are allowed to buy it. The ale is matured for two years before it is sold and treated with all the care of an old wine. The recipe of the drink, which until fairly recently was brewed in the college itself, is kept a secret.

Chesterton library, p11

1927 12 27
Christmas in Cambridge was of the good, old-fashioned sort. A dreary, drizzly, cold and miry Christmas Eve gave way to a fine rain which gradually changed to sleet and the wind began to rumble hollowly in the chimneys. About noon a few snowflakes made their appearance and by two o'clock the snow came swirling down, the air was filled with large flakes and the outer world was whitening rapidly. Every tree and shrub was a picture of wintry beauty and many of the eaves of the houses carried a fringe of slowly-dripping icicles.

1927 12 27
Cambridge Conservatives who, following the disastrous fire in Market Passage in November last year, have been accommodated in temporary club premises in Petty Cury, returned to the splendid new club which Phoenix-like has risen from the ashes of the old premises. As before there is a fine lounge billiard room with four tables on the top floor, and a fine lounge and smokeroom with secretary's office and card room adjoining. Two new rooms will be used as a reading and writing room and a committee room. The colour scheme is brown and buff. The ground floor is not yet complete but will consist of a large hall with a spring dance

1927 12 27
Many of the main roads in the county were blocked with snowdrifts from six to ten feet deep over Christmas. Trains, motor buses and cars were held up and travellers stranded. The wheels of the mail vans were equipped with chains with the result that hold-ups were uncommon, though one van on the Histon – Milton Road had to be dug out. A thatched cottage at Melbourn collapsed about seven o'clock in Sunday evening. The bedroom end of the house fell out, but, happily, Mrs Greig was in the bottom room and escaped injury. She would not move however until the policeman came on Monday morning. She is now living in a cottage just opposite.

1927 12 27
The Ortona motor buses had a terrible time in the blizzard. Two buses were stuck in snowdrifts out Newmarket way, one near Teversham corner, a Willingham bus on the Huntingdon Road near the Five Bells, a Caxton bus near Toft and a Saffron Walden bus near Whittlesford station, where they remained many hours. Another bus got nearly to Sawston before it got stuck and had to be dug out and the Fulbourn bus could only get as far as the Robin Hood, Cherry Hinton. Relief gangs were sent to the rescue of the stranded vehicles and they were being dug out and coming home one by one.

1927 12 28
Blizzard, p3
Xmas, p6

1927 12 29
Snow, p5

1927 12 30 ES
Snow: Wilburton Road closed to traffic, Military Road impassable, Old West River frozen bank to bank – 27 12 30 ES

1927 12 31
A serious fire broke out at the Edison Bell Gramophone Factory, Huntingdon, as a result of which 400 employees, the majority girls, are thrown out of work. The flames spread with great rapidity and as the majority of the buildings were of wood they were soon caught in the blaze. The works are the property of Messrs Hough Bros, the well-known gramophone record makers of Camberwell and have been in existence a little over three years. They have also added the manufacture of wireless appliances. Lost in the fire were many valuable stocks of records and electrical apparatus.

County to buy gaol, p6

Please make what use of this you may. Kindly remember where it came from – www.mikepetty.org.uk

1928 Cambridge Daily News and Ely Standard [ES]

I have scans of the articles summarised or marked *

January to December 1928

January 1928 CDN

1928 01 02
When Mr Arthur Deck fired the second rocket on Parker's Piece on New Year's Eve it was his parting shot, for he was performing the ceremony for the last time. A century-old custom, with which three generations of the Deck family have been associated, will fall into abeyance. Before the war the rockets used to be sent up at the entrance to King's College but in 1913 the stick attached to one of the rockets fell through a glass roof of a college and did appreciable damage so he changed the scene of operations to Parker's Piece.

1928 01 02
The Home Secretary has decided to discontinue the Cambridge prison on Castle Hill and has offered it to the County Council for £4,812. The buildings consist of a central block comprising laundry, workshop, kitchen, labour cells, ladder store, hospital, photographers' hut, execution shed, schoolroom and governor's house. The Office of Works wishes to lease the main buildings to store their records in. This would not prevent the council in the future from building a new county hall on the prison site.

Toft floods, p3

1928 01 03
Floods, p5

1928 01 04 c
At the annual dinner of the Cambridge Motor Club Mr King said that 32 years ago there was only one motor car in Cambridge, the owner being the Hon C.S. Rolls, then a student at Trinity College. He had seen him riding in the car with a friend with another man walking in front with a red flag. The speed was two miles an hour in the town and four miles per hour in the country. He did not know what some of them would do if that regulation came in force again.

1928 01 05
The rapid thaw has caused one of the worst floods at St Ives for many years. Low-lying parts of the town are flooded. The scene at the old bridge was a magnificent one as the ice on the river broke up into huge masses and hurled themselves with considerable force against the old buttresses, becoming piled up for many feet. The iron railway bridge near Enderby's was only a few inches higher than the water level. Wadsworth's steps and Mr Day's boathouse were washed away and some of the boats damaged. The floods extended for many miles.

1928 01 05
The Old West River at Stretham Bridge was brimming over by mid-day. Several of the cottages near the bridge had been invaded by the water which was lapping each side of the road & trickling over the top of the banks in one or two places. The water on the west side of the road was above the level of the roadway and was only held back by the low bank at the side of the road, through which it was forcing its way in thin trickles. A gang of men was busy stopping the leaks with gault but in one or two places a few inches of water lay partly across the road.

1928 01 05

Hardwick is the poorest parish in the district. The road in the centre of the village was not fit to be called a road at all. It was one of the most dangerous, treacherous, roads in England & was getting narrower. Application for purer water had been made in March 1899 but it was still unsatisfactory. They had applied for eight houses in 1919 but none were built. There were people in the village at present times whose children were living in other houses.

1928 01 06
A gale swept through Cambridge & telephone communication to all places was lost, with the exception of direct traffic to London. Three large windows at the front of Eden Baptist Church, Fitzroy Street, were blown in and the wreckage smashed three front seats in the gallery. The flag staff at Great St Mary's church snapped under the pressure of the high wind. Cyclists who attempted to battle against the elements were almost stationary on their machines. In Hills Road an errand boy was blown from his bike and sustained a cut knee. In the flooded areas the wind whipped the water into whirling maelstroms.

Lordship farm, p5
Deaf, p6
1928 01 06 ES
Grave flood dangers, 33 engines fighting River Ouse water – 5ft 4" above normal.
At Stretham Ferry Bridge the river overflowed banks on Tuesday morning but authorities were able to deal with the emergency. At Cottenham Lode the water was flowing over the banks.
The situation made worse by the big ice flows which were working their way into the Ten Mile River and work hampered because of the inability to get stores to the dredgers. In Sutton and Mepal districts snow still piled high on the roadside and in the fields.
The road from Littleport to Welney, a distance of six miles, is impassable, the floods being too great for any vehicular traffic to pass through.
The Causeway at Mepal flooded for nearly a fortnight and communication established by means of motor buses and boats – people had to be rowed across to the Mepal side of the road in a boat then taken by another bus. Boat work undertaken by John Waters but when the water was nearly 2ft 6" deep he was forced to discontinue, not so much on account of the tremendous rush of water which swept over the road but because of the tremendous ice floes – had the boat been struck it would have been holed. Gigantic masses of ice have hurled themselves over the road, carrying thick wooden posts as though they were matchwood. Some 20 men, unable to cross because of the ice, had to spend a weary time in an endeavour to reach their homes at Mepal. They were compelled to journey to Chatteris by car and from then proceed via Somersham to Bluntisham Station, where they entrained for Sutton. They then had to walk to Mepal.
Ice made the road between Sutton Gault and Earith Bridge extremely difficult for horse and motor traffic and on reaching Earith Bridge the road to Earith was completely under water. A small holder stated that in order to feed his cattle he had to board a train at Bluntisham and come that distance to get to Earith Bridge Station, which, had the road not been impassable, would have been a mere stone's throw. One man took the risk of going over the road in a motor lorry. This took three-quarters of an hour as the driver had to dismount and push away masses of ice. It was so thick that light motor cars actually crossed on it between Earith and the Hermitage.
At Prickwillow water is only a foot off the top of the bank; the pumping engine is working at full pressure. At the bridge the bank has been made higher with a miniature mud-bank and a considerable amount of water lies between the bank at the Anchor Inn. On Tuesday night water began to ooze through the bank near the Inn and buckets had to be used to clear the cellar. The new pumping engine is working at full pressure and Mr Fred Stannard, the engineer has had a very busy time looking after this important draining plant. The river outside the engine is only a foot below the top of the bank. The old engine is not being used at present but it may be necessary to call it into use at any time. The banks were weakened by the hot summer of 1921 and have not had any pressure of water against them since. It is about 30 years since such a flood was experienced near Prickwillow.
At Littleport, near Sandal Bridge, the river is flooded considerably and the water is level with the railway line - 38 01 06 & (2) ES # c.12.5 # c.29

Stretham:
Floods: after some 120 hours freezing the thaw has left Stretham a miniature island. An excellent view of the floods could be obtained from the New Bridge at the Gravel.
Some excellent skating was enjoyed … Mr Cyril Parish had a miraculous escape. With a number of friends we was skating over the ice-covered river when without warning he found himself up to his neck in water almost twelve feet deep. B. Langford rush to his assistance and was able to prevent him sinking and slipping under the ice, saving his life

1928 01 07
Everybody's buying parachutes. They are war-time parachutes purchased from the Air Ministry and are being sold at the business establishment of a well-known Cambridge alderman. A friend of mine dropped in to purchase one and was interest to note the date and place of origin stamped on each. The inscription in black lettering reads: "W. Holmes and Son Ltd, Orwell, Cambs". The date was 28th November 1918, just after the Armistice. It is a curious coincidence that these parachutes made for war purposes a few miles from Cambridge had come back nine years later to be sold in a Cambridge emporium for the practical uses of motor car covers, dust-sheets, tents and the like

1928 01 07
A fire broke out at a bungalow at Caldecote known as 'South View', home of John Smith, a market gardener. The building which was of two storeys consisted of four rooms and a lean-to attached. Owing to its exposed situation and the strong wind that was blowing the fire blazed with great fury and pieces of burning material were blown towards Manor Farm. Police and villagers did what they could but as its interior was match-boarded it was impossible to save the bungalow, which was completely destroyed. Only the iron framework and corrugated iron roofing and part of the lean-to is remaining. Even the concrete slabs of the walls were levelled to the ground. It was warmed by a stove, the chimney of which went up through the flooring of the bedroom above and it is believed that the high wind drawing up the fire in the stove overheated the pipe.

1928 01 07
A break 35 yards long in the bank of the Little Ouse River, two miles below Wilton Bridge near Lakenheath, occurred shortly after midnight. The Ouse Drainage Board engineers are on the spot with boats laden with gault and a gang of men are working hard to stop the leak. The floods are still rising in the Fen district. The situation is serious but no further breaks are reported. The banks are being carefully watched and weak spots have been strengthened and it is hoped they will hold out.

Castle Mound, p8
New Year rockets, p8

1928 01 09
An outbreak of small-pox is reported at Doddington Workhouse; there are six cases at present. The first was that of an ordinary casual and since his entry into the Institution four other male inmates and one nurse have been stricken with the disease. As there is no isolation hospital or isolation ward the situation is viewed with alarm. We are asked to emphasise that the Institution is closed to all tramps.

Longstowe carrier, p5*

1928 01 10
During the gales the terrific wind partly demolished the Baptist Chapel at Needingworth, a large brick and tile building erected in 1861, and rendered the remainder of the structure unsafe. The tiles were blown in all directions through the air and wrecked property all around. The plate glass windows of Mr Bedford's shop opposite were broken and Mrs Bedford's kitchen stove (an Eagle range) was shifted about two feet by the heavy concussion of tons of falling masonry. Windows were also smashed at the houses of Mr R & W.J. Senescall which adjoin the chapel on the other side. Several trees were also blown down and the telegraph wires were broken.

1928 01 10 c
A meeting was held to consider collaboration between the Cambridge and Chesterton Unions in the alleviation of the tramp problem. For some reason very few tramps go to Chesterton but very many go to Cambridge which is very seriously overcrowded. The indoor poor of the two unions should be managed by one committee who would gather together all the sick, all the babies, all the children and all the tramps and distribute them between the two existing union houses as seemed most convenient.

1928 01 10
The Toft carrier, Mr John Chapman, lost his balance when getting into his cart while owing to a strong gust of wind, and fell heavily, striking his head on the ground. For the past 43 years as a carrier and egg and poultry dealer he has regularly attended the Cambridge market on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Although 78 years of age he was a man of exceptional vitality, able to carry on his business with all the energy and vigour of his former days.

1928 01 10
An inquiry was held into proposals to alter the charges for stalls on Cambridge market. There were 112 stalls, 64 of which were interior stalls but some, particularly those at the four corners of the market were more valuable than others. The present charge was 2s. 6d. per day and it was proposed to increase it to 6s. 10s for corner stalls, with frontage stalls increased to 4s.8d and the interior stalls raised to 3s. 4d. But the proposals had not been received with enthusiasm by the traders.

1928 01 10
Reports from the flooded areas in the Fens show that the water is gradually subsiding. The position at the break in the bank of the River Wissey at Hilgay was unchanged. Water was still pouring through the gap and no attempt could be made at present to stop it. The arrival by rail of 10,000 more sandbags is being awaited. Men are in readiness to begin work on filling the gap as soon as the water level admits. At present the rush of water is too great.

1928 01 11
An inquiry was held into Cambridge council's application to borrow money for the purchase of property in Peas Hill for an extension of the Guildhall. There was an increase of administrative staff and the offices were not adequate to enable the duties to be carried out efficiently. With the acquisition of the property the Corporation would hold the entire island site which would facilitate the suggested scheme for the reconstruction of the Guildhall. They had been met in a conciliatory spirit by the owners of the property and a favourable provisional agreement had been arrived at.

1928 01 12
The condition of the boiler house chimney at Cambridge Workhouse which was erected a year ago was discussed. A fire had been lit two days after the work was completed when it should not have been lit for 14 days & the chimney had cracked because the cement was not dry. The Guardians tried to find who had given the order but the person responsible was not discovered. Mr Kidman's foreman said he had found the fire alight and the pipe leading to the brickwork was white hot. The chimney had been put up because of complaints of smoke from Gwydir Street but they only had to look to see a chimney double the height which got the same complaint.

1928 01 13 ES
Swollen fen rivers. Highest water levels for many years.
Littleport streets flooded, City Road residents gained access by walking over a plank from the garden of George Cox's home to a wagon stationed in the middle of the road. People wished to visit Mr Cox's shop had to use back door. Occupants of The Holmes had to be recused and carried to safety, then stayed with relatives.
Ely high water – so large was crowd on High Bridge it was like a seaside promenade.
Stretham: one topic 'Would the banks hold the tremendous amount of water. Acres of land flooded, water several feet deep on Military Road smallholdings. Town allotments flooded as were those in Grunty Fen. The engines have been working continuously, day and night. The engines working continuously to combat the water. The Military Road engine had two or three feet of water on Sunday but this was pumped out after several houses and the floor re-cemented in order that the engine might continue to pump. The water was actually running on to the road at Stretham Ferry but remedied by sault and sand bags. Gale: chimney pots and tiles dislodged, hen-houses were minus roofs. One shed at the old tennis court was completely swept down; stacks blown down in farmyard Prickwillow much anxiety for safety of banks. The Isleham bank showed signs of 'slipping' but gault gangs remedied it. Watchers were out all night testing the banks and soil was carted from the Shell Farm and Putney Hill to strengthen weal placed. It is many years since the parapet of the bridge was removed so as to enable the men to ship the gault by the lighters

Gale sweeps the fens; bathing huts at Ely blown into the river, telephone service disrupted, four breakdowns on railway between Ely and Cambridge. On line to Downham Market linesman had to wade knee-deep in water; it is twelve years since the lines were so badly disorganised
Damage at March – trees blown down, property suffers
Littleport station flooded a foot deep, hundreds of bags placed beside river, floods in Mr Purdy's premises and in front of Mr Cox's shop.
Wissey breaks its banks, 1,000 acres flooded; people leave homes and farmers save cattle
Sutton area danger, men rushed to strengthen west bank of Counter Wash drain. Road to Chatteris from Mepal flooded for a foot, Mepal Causeway had now been flooded for 20 days
Middle Level floods higher than since 1916. Old Bedford reached highest level since 1897; gates at Salter's Lode, which open automatically, could not open owing to the wind, combined with the fact that the Sutton and Mepal and Manea and Welney Drainage Districts were discharging water into the river by powerful centrifugal pumps installed in past three years in place of the old water wheels.
Great quantities of ice in Old Bedford but gale blew it to the opposite bank; men near Mepal Engine could heard the cracking of the ice on the other side of the Wash, half a mile away
At Sutton houses suffered damage; flooded washes turned into a raging sea. High waves rolled and crashed against and over the banks. The spray was thrown high into the air, a rolling, mist-like cloud hanging over the wash area as far as the eye could see.
Haddenham: F. Norman's garden wall, Linden End, blown down. Thatch and an iron harrow (put on top to keep the thatch on) was blown off. Vine House damaged, a walnut tree blown down at Hinton Hall. The 'Hare and Hounds' inn sign blown down. Gable end of Wm Savidge's bungalow (recently built) was blown in. A mustard stack belonging A.D. Palmer, was carried away and strewn on neighbouring fields. The top of G. Bearcock's office was blown off and a hanging lamp blown over the top of the house into the road.
Wisbech football grandstand wrecked. – 28 01 13 & (2)(3)(4)(5) ES
Flood photos, Littleport and Mepal – 28 01 13(6) # c.29 # c.12.5

1928 01 14
Fordham sale, p7
Market tolls, p8
Denver sluice, p8

1928 01 16
Sir – there are a great many dangerous corners in Cambridge. Burleigh Street corner is dangerous on account of the Eden Baptist Chapel standing in the midst of this busy thoroughfare. I suppose this chapel has been in existence from time immemorial, but as times are now and as traffic grows bigger and bigger, there certainly ought to be something done to remove this obstacle from this blind corner – E. Claydon

1928 01 16
At day-break a four-roomed house at West Street Comberton suddenly collapsed while the occupants and their three small children were still in their beds. Both the upper and lower rooms at the north end, where they were sleeping, completely collapsed. One of the beds was precipitated partly into an adjoining yard and two of the ceiling joists fell heavily right between the two elder children sleeping in their beds. That they all escaped serious injury is a miracle. The greater part of the furniture was subsequently got out by willing helpers. Hundreds of people came and viewed the damage during Sunday.

1928 01 17
Dry Drayton fire, p6

1928 01 18
Pinehurst school fire, p6
Isleham drain, p8*

1928 01 21
Rage in West End, p5
Railway journey, p6
Camilla Carlisle wrote 'Silver Throne', p6
Poor men at Cambridge, p6

1928 01 23
Ald L. Tebbutt objected to proposals for a bridge over the Old West River at Twentypence Ferry. Cottenham would be linked to two villages in the Isle of Ely – Wilburton and Haddenham, but he did not see that even Cottenham had very great interest in the matter. It was a very awkward road from Cottenham to Cambridge through Histon. There were so many corners at Histon – it was one of the worst places in the country. If they spent the money in putting Histon straight it would be of much greater benefit.

1928 01 23
An interesting discussion in regard to the future of Cambridge Prison and the Castle Mound took place at a meeting of the County Council. The Home Secretary would convey it to them for £4,812. The County did not want the mound, which was more closely connected with Cambridge than the rest of the county. All persons interested, including the Borough Council and the Cambridge Antiquarian Society would be consulted when its future was settled. Something was also said about the possibility of removing the County Hall in Hobson Street to the Shire Hall site.

1928 01 23
It was with feelings of justifiable pride and deep gratitude that the Unitarians of Cambridge assembled in their new Memorial Church, Emmanuel Road for its dedicatory service. It stands as a perpetual memorial to the memory of Mr G.W. Brown. The church has been designed by Ronald P. Jones who was responsible for the Church Hall in 1922 and follows the normal "college chapel" design. Prof Burkitt referred to the difficulties the movement experienced in the '80s when services were held in the smoky atmosphere of a billiard room in Green Street.

1928 01 24
Police box, p3
Abbey Road bridge, p6

1928 01 26
Ely traffic scheme, p5
Workhouse firewood, p8

1928 01 27
The Ouse Drainage Board discussed the breach of the bank of the River Wissey. It was said the cause was the action of the sluice-keeper at Denver in not opening the new eye during the floods. But the reason it had not worked was that the frost was so severe; the sluice was pulled up and great difficulty was experienced in getting it down as the grooves were covered with ice. When the thaw set in the door was eased and had worked splendidly ever since. The floods were caused by the large flow of water down the Cam and the other three rivers into the Ten Mile. It was the highest flood ever recorded at Denver Sluice, three inches higher than in February 1919

1928 01 27
Cambridge council discussed recommendations to build a bridge over the river at or near Abbey Road. An inner ring road would circle the town on the outskirts which was necessary in view of the ever-increasing traffic and congestion in the centre of Cambridge. They suggested that a direct by-pass road be constructed by linking Chesterton Road with Milton Road

1928 01 27 ES
Stretham – interest in proposed water scheme; residents believe there is sufficient supply. District Council's scheme would cost £6,000
Meeting agreed to test well in the centre of the village. Investigate whether a private scheme could be worked at less cost; several meetings discuss at great length. Decide to work a private scheme provided obtain co-operation with the village at large and provided there was sufficient water in the springs. They arranged with Messrs C. Lack of Cottenham, experts, to test well near the Old School. Were some good wells but many houses did not. There was a little village which had its own works costing a third that charged by RDC.
If they had a private scheme only those who used water would have to pay. They had water in the centre of the village, a stream that had been running for ages – the one with which the mortar was mixed when the Church was built.
Rev Stitt: there are springs on my premises – beautiful, like champagne.
RDC scheme wold run a line through Stretham, turn north at Mission Hall and follow Front Street and High Street past the church to the windmill. Several side-streets and back lanes will have lines - details - 28 01 27 ES

1928 01 28
Finding that the spire of St Clement's church, Cambridge was in a dangerous condition a small army of workmen are busy erecting scaffolding. The pinnacle above the tower is to be taken down and will not be re-erected. A hole in the spire about ten feet by three feet is visible from the road and it is believed that the trouble was caused by the recent gale. The spire is a later addition to the church, having been erected in 1832 according to instructions under the will of William Cole of Milton.

1928 01 28
Cambridge borough council considered plans from the Cambridge Estates Ltd for the construction of roads and sewers on the Hurst Park Estate which has an acreage of 30 acres, nine being in Cambridge and 21 in the parish of Impington. It is proposed to erect approximately 190 houses. Ald Raynes thought the public who were considering purchasing plots should be fully aware of what they were doing. Only a small portion of the estate was within Cambridge and the rest was in the Chesterton Rural District Council's area who did not have a single bylaw affecting buildings or the construction of roads

Bridges, p8
Castle Mound, p8
New Year rockets, p8
King's Mill, p8*

1928 01 30
The story of the Chesterton ghost has attracted crowds of people to the pathway skirting the Willows and there were quite 200 spook-hunters waiting for something to turn up. Of course nobody takes the story seriously and even children have braved the darkness and the barbed wire fences to join in the hunt. All sorts of practical jokes have been played and one enthusiast sallied forth with a sheet until people started throwing things! Someone said that the ghost was defunct, having been shot by a policeman. But if the spirit doesn't materialise on the Willows it most certainly will in a licensed establishment in the adjoining Cam Road

February 1928 CDN

1928 02 02
Stuntney will, p6
Bottisham drunkenness, p6

1928 02 03
A rabbit hunt was organised at Linton and a large number gathered to enjoy the sport provided. There were about 80 men, most of whom were armed with stout sticks and about 50 dogs of all sorts and sizes. The affair, which has now become an annual event, attracted people from all parts of the region. The hunt started from Green Hill and within 200 yards the first kill was made. Up to lunch 18 rabbits and one hare had been killed and afterwards they went to Payne's Pasture where rabbits were in abundance and kills numerous.

Haverhill trader, p3
Dunlop tyres, p8

1928 02 03 ES
Wentworth church dedicated memorial to Queen Victoria: crucifix in central panel of East Window – 28 02 03(2) ES

Adelaide Village Institute opened – 28 02 03 ES – photo – 28 02 03(3) ES

1928 02 04
The tea given to old folks at the Comberton Institute was one of the pleasantest and most enjoyable functions ever held in the village. About 80 persons responded to the invitations. The long rows of tables had been arranged by the lady members and a plentiful supply of flowers and plants added to the cheerful scene. Many of those present were over 80 years old, the oldest being Mrs Ann Marshall who is 88. After a sumptuous repast the tables were cleared for dancing and tobacco freely distributed for the men and oranges for the ladies. William Huckle, who is 83, gave a step-dance with the vitality of a youth of 18.

1928 02 04
Justices turned down an application for the removal of the licence of the Elm Tree, Orchard Street, Cambridge to premises proposed to be erected at the junction of Milton Road and Green End Road. The Elm Tree was redundant and not necessary for the needs of the locality and there were over 100 people in favour of the new site. Large numbers of houses were being erected in that area which would be inhabited by people who would not be able to afford a wine cellar of their own and have to go to a public house for their bottle of beer. But the residents were people who had been taken from the slums; their incomes were very small and there was no margin for drink in their budget.

1928 02 04
The first annual report of the Cambridge Housing Society shows they have built 22 houses at Green End Road to be let at an average rent of 5s.6d. per week. Twenty-two families with 91 children are accommodated and thus given the chance of growing up in healthy surroundings in houses with three bedrooms, modern sanitation and good gardens. But there are still problems of providing modern houses for poor families at rents they can reasonably afford

1928 02 06
The football fraternity in Cambridge will regret to hear of an accident to Mr Cecil Cannon, the Town goalkeeper, who was overcome by fumes from a geyser in the bathroom of his house. He is greatly concerned about being indisposed in view of the Town's amateur cup-tie with Stockton at Milton Road next Saturday. Although this is only his first season he is a goalkeeper of exceptional ability, his name having been suggested more than once for international honours. All readers will wish him a speedy recovery and hope soon to see him in his accustomed position between the "sticks".

1928 02 07
Twentypence Bridge, p6

1928 02 08
While a labourer was cleaning out a ditch some distance from the road at Pidley he came across what he thought was a large stone. At first he took no notice of it and kept on digging, but on examining later he found that it was a human skull with a complete set of teeth. Digging further he came across most of the larger bones of a human body, but none of the smaller, and as they were in a heap it does not appear that a complete body had been buried. Many years ago there was a spinney where the bones were found, which was used as a gypsy encampment.

Lion Hotel waiter death, p5
Coal horses, p5

1928 02 09
Red Lion understaffed, p5

1928 02 10
Throwing chips, p7

1928 02 10 ES
C.W. Horn defeated in world speed-skating competition in Switzerland – 28 02 10 ES # c.38 : skating

1928 02 11
During the storm which raged with unusual severity over Bishop's Stortford lightning struck the parish church steeple at Takeley and set the old building on fire. The church was a beacon of light which could be seen for miles around, flames shooting out from the steeple. It was evident that the cross surmounting the steeple had been struck, the supporting king-post being well alight and the lead running down the sides of the roof faces. Crowds of villages watched from the churchyard. The vicar, who was greatly distressed at the unfortunate occurrence, sprained his ankle in attempting to assist the firemen and had to be conveyed to the vicarage in a car.

Cambridge Preservation Society formed, p8

1928 02 13
Licenced houses, p3
St Ives motor weed cutter, p5

1928 02 14
Sir – seeing that Sawston village has now been supplied with electricity for lighting, heating and power, I would like to express my sincere appreciation of this great boon to our village. I am delighted with the light in my house; it is clean and healthy and the supply is excellent. The village streets are now well lighted and it is a real pleasure to walk out in the evenings – William Resbury

Ely parish enlargement, p6

1928 02 17 ES
Middle Level Priestman dredger foundered during blizzard on Christmas night near Benwick. Floods cover it five feet. Dams driven across the river and salvage started. Water pumped out and water in pontoons was baled out. Then the upper timber dam began to give way due to the pressure of the up-river water. However at the critical moment the dredger, which weights over 70 tons lifted so that the dam seepage was a matter of little concern. 28 02 17(2) ES

Ely R.D.C. meeting: S.A. Cross of Stretham complained of depositing of refuse; H.W. Harris wrote re Pump Lane, considerably number of heavy lorries were passing over the roadway and could only recall one occasion during the past 18 years when any stones had been put down. – 28 02 17(3)(4)(ES

Branch Bridge across River Lark connecting Adelaide with Sand Hill, collapsed into river; had been weakened by recent floods and winds. Was over 100 years old – photo – 28 02 17 & (6) ES # c.44.75

1928 02 18
Three Cambridge youths appeared in court for unlawfully being in possession of a .45 Colt revolver and not having a firearm certificate. One said he had bought the revolver from a hairdresser in Berkshire; he thought it was only a relic and sold it to the second defendant. He said he never had any ammunition and had offered to sell it to the third youth who said he would buy it if he could get a licence for it. The Magistrates looked upon this as a very serious matter; defendants could be fined £50 or sent to prison for three months, but they did not think they had the revolver for any evil intent and the case was dismissed.

1928 02 18
Grantchester's new village hall was opened. The building, which adjoins the Reading Room, is of steel with a stage, kitchen and cloakrooms. Mr Adeane, in declaring it open, expressed the hope it would not only be a social rendezvous, but a place where political differences were left outside. It was desired to renovate the old reading room and start a small museum and a library. Babraham had a village hall 25 years ago, largely due to the enterprise of Mr Adeane who had also started a wood-carving centre there.

Motorists hospital treatment, p8

1928 02 18 c
A women's section of the Cambridge branch of the British Legion came into existence at a meeting held in the Guildhall. Since 1921 they had been growing at a tremendous rate and now had 745 branches of the women's section. It was a national organisation which welcomed applications for grants for training widows in employment and for assisting orphans in train journeys to school. The mayoress (Mrs E.W. Amies) was elected President with Mrs Turner as Chairman, Mrs Cutlack as secretary and Mrs Salisbury Woods as treasurer.

1928 02 21
Henry Percy Bowler, undergraduate of Pembroke College, was summoned for driving a motor car at a dangerous speed in Chesterton Road, Cambridge. Sergt Nelson, who admitted he had never driven a car, stated that defendant drove at 35 miles an hour round a corner on the off-side of the road. Defendant said he drove behind a small saloon car until he saw the road was clear and then passed it, his speed was about 27 miles an hour. The make of car was an H.P.B. and he assembled it himself. He bought the engine, which was 20 h.p. in 1912 for £6. A fine of 10s was imposed.

Town planning, p8
King's Mill site, p8

1928 02 22
A porter's sensational dash in front of an express train, travelling at nearly 60 mph, and a thrilling rescue, was witnessed by amazed onlookers at Waterbeach station. The Express from Ely was thundering into the station when the signalman saw a man standing in the level crossing gateway. The wicket gate can be locked by a lever in the signal box but he dared not lock it with the man standing where he was, as the result would be to crush him badly. The man, who was deaf and has poor sight, then began to make a crossing. The oncoming train was less than 20 paces off when Goods Porter Ernest Curtis rushed across the line and held him between the two sets of metals while the Express dashed by. The situation was so serious that onlookers thought both men had been killed.

Comberton Institute, p8

1928 02 23
A Duxford builder was charged with stealing three gallons of Ethyl petrol, value 4s. 3d. and a petrol tin from a garage at Whittlesford. The man said he had gone to the garage for a quart of oil and saw this special petrol. He had never seen it before and thought he would try some. He picked up a can within full view of the pumps and emptied it into his tank. He put another into the dickey, which was left open. After leaving the garage he went straight to London.

Motor tyre business, p6

1928 02 24
Some time ago an application was made for the use of the Green End pond at Cottenham as a dumping ground for the parish, and permission was given. At a later meeting a communication was received from about 40 inhabitants living in the vicinity of the pond protesting and an inquiry was called. Only a few people attended but a further petition said it was the "one beauty spot" and that Cottenham "could not afford to lose its picturesque entrance". (Laughter). Chesterton council confirmed their decision that the pond be filled in.

Corporation salaries, p3
Guardian amalgamation, p6
Town planning, p6

1928 02 24 ES
March marshalling yard – photo – 28 02 24(2) ES
Stretham:
New road joining the Cambridge and Wilburton Roads was opened; three dangerous corners which have been the scenes of numerous motoring mishaps will be avoided. The road will be a great asset to the tenants of the new Council Houses at 'White City'. These homes have lately been erected. An R.A.C. hut has been installed at the Wilburton Road end, with suitable signposts. – 28 02 24 ES
Wesleyan rally
Serious accident Frank Bridgeman, a pupil at the Scientific Schools, Cambridge. Was working on radial driller when arm caught in machinery. Hand and arm severely torn and cut.
Hospital Sunday arrangements – 28 02 24 ES

1928 02 25
Lloyd George at Cambridge, p6

1928 02 26 c
In the past Ely had enjoyed mild prosperity but this would not last unless the Government came to the rescue of agriculturists. This was a manufacturing and mechanical age and Ely must be prepared to take her part in it; manufacturers should be encouraged to come down and build factories outside the city, encouraged by being generously treated so far as assessment of rates was concerned.
Peterborough was none the worse for factories, said Major Gordon Fowler. But agriculture was the premium industry and employed the biggest number of hands.

1928 02 27
For the last two weeks the famous King's College Choir has been struggling on in a depleted state owing to the illness of the juniors and as a result the daily evensong service has been suspended. About a fortnight ago some of the 16 choirboys became ill with mumps and on Sunday the service was carried through by the adult members only. It is the first time for well over 20 years that these services have been suspended in this way.

March 1928 CDN

1928 03 01
The object of the Great Chesterford Sparrow and Rat Club is that all members shall kill one fully-fledged sparrow for each acre, with one rat for every two acres of his occupation during the year, and that 29 sparrows or 10 rats be the minimum contribution. Any member not killing the requisite numbers will be fined a half-penny an acre; the money going towards the cost of the annual dinner. During the year 5,989 rats and 3,126 sparrows had been killed.

1928 03 01
An interesting debate on "the flapper vote" was held at the Liberal Assembly Rooms, Cambridge. In many spheres of life women were giving valuable service yet they could not have the vote until they were 30 years of age. But the modern girl knew practically nothing about politics. Give the woman of 21 the vote and they would out-vote the men – was that fair? ("Yes"). If women got the vote then the country would only be just "flapping" about. The vote should be used properly and a group of giggling girls could not do that.

1928 03 02
Public house licences, p5
Coal mine, p8

1928 03 03
Magdalene College hopes that a start will soon be made on the building of a new court on the opposite side of the Street. Plans have been drawn up for a three-sided brick court open to the river, traditional in style. The flank parallel with Magdalene Street will not interfere with the existing shops, but the thoroughfare is long overdue for widening and from the remodelled bridge there would then be a noble prospect of the new court with a lawn or gravel forecourt separated from the pavement by a low parapet.

Pubs fate, p2
First Eastern General Hospital, p8*

1928 03 05
Over 1,000 Scouts raised their voices in a Zulu chorus when their Chief, Sir Robert Baden-Powell attended their mammoth rally at Cambridge Guildhall. They packed the hall nearly to the point of solidity including Sea Scouts and University Rovers and some 600 Wolf Cubs. The Chief Scout was accompanied by Dr Eastman, the Great Chief of the Sioux Indians, who is commissioner of the Scouts of America. He wore complete Redskin garb with the traditional head-dress of eagles' feathers. The scouts were very interested in his tomahawk.

1928 03 08
Plans were submitted for a proposed new slaughterhouse at the rear of the White Hart Hotel, Ely. The Medical Officer pointed out the unsuitable position - there were 17 dwelling houses within 200 feet. The council had been very lenient in refusing to condemn existing slaughterhouses on the ground it might be a hardship to the owners, but the granting of a new licence was entirely different. It would be a great disappointment to a man who was starting a fresh business and a public abattoir was out of all reason as the ratepayers would have to find a lot of money for the benefit of four or five butchers. The application was refused.

1928 03 08
A meeting was held to resuscitate the Cambridgeshire Miniature Rifle Association which had lapsed since 1914. It was a fascinating sport and if they got hold of young fellows and taught them about a rifle they became enthusiastic supporters. After the war there was a great apathy about shooting but now great keenness was being shown

1928 03 09

Parish constables, p6

1928 03 10
An inquest into the death of a student at Emmanuel College, Cambridge, was told he had been attending a meeting of the Twelfth Club, a literary society which held a dinner once a year. Afterwards he went to a student's room and whiskeys and soda went round in the ordinary way. He was a scholar of great promise and it was to be regretted that someone out of youthful folly had filled his glass with neat whisky. He had slipped down in one of the courts sustaining severe injuries. It was quite possible that the fresh air affected him.

1928 03 10
A man told Cambridge magistrates he had been asked for some side screens for a motor car. He got into a Morris Oxford car in Drummer Street parking place, Cambridge, and drove it as far as the cemetery. He took the side screens out, rolled them up in a rug and sold them to an Ely man for a £1 note and an electric motor cycle lamp.

Eastern General Hospital, p8

1928 03 13
Great damage was caused by fire at Southill House, Bedfordshire, the country seat of the famous brewery family of Whitbread. It is a beautiful country mansion and stands in the finest and most extensive part on the county. A fire spread to half-a-dozen neighbouring rooms including the billiard room. The maids and domestic staff had an exciting time and the girls went off over fields to arouse the employees living in different parts of the estate. The staff cleared the mansion of all valuables, including many fine portraits in oil. There was one casualty. A man was carrying a Gainsborough valued at £2,000 when he slipped and the picture fell with a crash. A light was brought and it was found that the man had accidentally put his foot through the picture.

1928 03 14
Dr O.R. Ennion, p5

1928 03 16
Bourn diphtheria, p7

1928 03 17
Bullet in bedroom, Chesterton, p8
Widening streets, p9

1928 03 21
Imps greet Sir Clifford Fox, p8 (& 22nd p8)

1928 03 22
A remarkable story of how a Willingham flower and fruit grower took a farm at Whittlesford in order to get his two sons set up in farming and lost £2,600 over it, was told at the Bankruptcy Court. In 1881 he'd set up as a nurseryman and flower and fruit grower and bought additional land, but lost a considerable sum in a malting business in Ware. In 1920 he set up his two sons as farmers at Whittlesford New Farm. The cause of his failure was four barren seasons through the weather.

1928 03 22
A farmer at Pond Farm, Witchford, said that bad seasons, a fall in prices and land difficult to deal with in unfavourable seasons were among the cause of his failure. Other causes were the high cost of labour, and the Ouse Drainage Board. He took over the farm in 1915 and his father later bequeathed him some land, which was hired as smallholdings, but the tenants, surrendered it because they could not carry on. But he had an idea he could make it pay. He cleared the land with engine cultivation and ploughing but the drought set in and he got scarcely anything. Then a wet season 'did him down' and he surrendered the farm to the landlords because he was unable to pay the rent.

1928 03 22
Sir – May I draw attention to a new form of pastime which should be nipped in the bud before some fatality is recorded. I refer to the increasing practice of boys using roller skates in the streets and on the pavements. This afternoon two lads were careering along Regent Street amongst the traffic. Other towns have already taken action to put a stop to this new boyish craze and it is to be hoped that Cambridge will do likewise – "Safety First"

1928 03 23
Cambridge councillors debated the deplorable behaviour of certain members of the University. In the places of entertainment bad language was frequent and disorderly acts occurred in the streets. At the present time special constables were composed entirely of tradesmen and at certain times of the year the year the Chief Constable should try to enrol University fellows, tutors and dons. The proposal was rejected.

1928 03 24
Sir – may I appeal to rookery owners who find it necessary to keep down the number of rooks to have their eggs taken with sectional rods. This is far better than shooting a number of helpless creatures who need not have been born. It is so cowardly to shoot the poor rooks as they sit on the edge of the nest. Bang! and a nest full of helpless creatures is blown to pieces with a shotgun. Could anything be more revolting and unsporting. – "Play Fair"

1928 03 24
The Women's Institutes Home Crafts Exhibition at the Guildhall features a display of the rooms of village homes, the furniture and other smaller articles of which had been made by the villagers themselves. A sitting room had been made by Balsham members, including a carved sideboard, tables and chairs, a settee made out of boxes and cushions, and a screen made by 23 men. The Barton group showed a bedroom with a wash-hand-stand with marble top. Even the soap was home-made and a pair of candlesticks were made of cotton-reels.

Crossing sweeper, p8

1928 03 26
Boat race crews, p8

1928 03 27
On Saturday was laid to rest in Chesterton churchyard the last surviving child of the Rev Michael Gibbs, once Treasurer of St Paul's cathedral. He was appointed to Barrington in 1835 and found the church in decay, rain pouring through the roof and the north door gone. All this he repaired but when the villagers saw the door replaced they remonstrated, saying "But where are our cattle from the green to go in winter?" He also got a thatched school built.

Motor cycle advert, p6

1928 03 28
The largest bombing aeroplane in the British service, the "A" came down on Newmarket Heath and was exceedingly fortunate to make a safe landing. P.C. Bacon saw the aeroplane cross over Newmarket and turn back. It was evidently in distress for it had a strong searchlight turned on the ground as if seeking a landing and was firing red warning lights from its signal pistols. The descent was rather hurried and the plane bounced ten feet into the air from the impact with the earth. One of its two engines had ceased to work; mechanics put it right and stopped a leak in a petrol tank and the plane resumed its flight.

Balsham school, p8

1928 03 29
Bottisham dogs, p8

1928 03 30
Owners of land served by Twentypence Road, Cottenham agreed to offer the sum of 30s. per acre as their share towards the cost of making the road a public highway as part of a scheme to make a through route to the Isle of Ely. The Isle of Ely & Cambridgeshire County Councils are considering the erection of a bridge at Twentypence Ferry.

1928 03 30 ES
Stretham: Further improvements: road opposite the Cross widened down the street opposite the village pump where the old wall has been pulled down and a lower one built further back. The workmen will now start operations on J. Garner's shop, thus making the main road a safer thoroughfare for the ever-increasing amount of traffic passing through the village. W.S. Rayner was the contractor

1928 03 31
A special issue of the Daily Mail dated 1st January 2000 has been printed in conjunction with the Ideal Home Exhibition. It contains quite a lot of news about Cambridge, including the Inter-Varsity Air Pushball Match which was won by Cambridge in front of a crowd estimated at 2,250,000. On the same day there was a 'Varsity girls' boat race in a covered-in stadium in Battersea Park. An air raid undertaken by undergraduates after a rugby match, which showered the women's colleges with confetti and a host of miscellaneous garments, has led to a complete ban on aeroplanes. The Aeroplane Proctor is to visit every private aerodrome in Cambridge to see that all undergraduates' machines are put out of action for the term.

1928 03 31
The latest issue of 'The Outlook' includes an article on motoring in Cambridgeshire. The writer found out country very much to his liking: "Although the roads can provide the motorist with nothing exciting in the shape of hairpin bends or sudden gradients there are pleasantly wooded heights and good level stretches that open up good possibilities for leisurely exploration. A country rich in scenic charm, it hides some of England's loveliest old-fashioned villages & yields the motorist a bumper measure of road delights". After this we shall expect a big invasion of motorists in the near future!

April 1928 CDN

1928 04 03
Photographic exhibition, p6

1928 04 05
The official testing of the new bridge over the River Cam at Dimmock's Cote took place. It is 216 feet long and 25 feet wide, constructed of ferrous-concrete throughout and is designed to carry the Ministry of Transport standard loading. This bridge, together with the bridge over the Old West River, completes the road which was constructed in the early years of the war for military purposes and provides direct communication between the Midlands the East Coast, opening up a large area of agricultural land between Stretham and Wicken. It will be open for traffic on April 16th.

1928 04 05
During dredging operations a short sword, believed to be of 14th century origin, has been recovered from the Cam. The weapon, which was sharper than one would have expected, was found near the corner of Saxon Road and will be handed to the Museum of Archaeology. Two traders' tokens of ancient date were also found in the river bed.

1928 04 05
The Cam Conservators had met Pamplin Bros who suggested using two of their steam tractors, one working at each end of Stourbridge Common, to barrow and roll the spoil deposited by dredging operations and prepare it for a seed bed. It will also need one or two horses with chain harrows to get at the small weeds. It was suggested that to make a good job of it and turn it into a recreation ground a drainer should be used. This would get rid of the water on the Common and make it quite dry.

1928 04 07
The sun worked overtime to make Good Friday a glorious harbinger of Easter-tide and all Cambridge was out of doors. Parker's Piece proved a popular children's playground, and the East Road end, where the quaint survival of Good Friday skipping is to be seen every year, was alive with the babel of children's voices. The inevitable ice-cream carts and sweet stalls did a good trade, and so did the stalls selling gaily-coloured windmills. A 6,000 crowd, which broke the Milton Road ground record, saw the Town beat Ipswich in the Southern Amateur League, while there was a very good attendance at the whippet races at Station Farm.

1928 04 07
A jobbing gardener was given half a stone of potatoes to plant on Chesterton allotments, but the owner was disgusted to find that only two rows had been planted and accused his workman of planting someone else's acres with his spuds. The jobbing man came to the conclusion there was only one thing to be done to prove his innocence and proceeded to dig up the potatoes. All but three were found. An inquest is now being held to decide whose is the responsibility of replanting what will be a very valuable crop of early spuds.

1928 04 10
The organisers at Foxton took the bold step of holding their garden fete on Easter Monday. In addition to many side-shows and stalls there was a football match, a push-ball match causing heaps of amusement, and a concert by Pearl Lambeth's Rosebuds who delighted the audience with their dainty work, whilst the fete was wound up with dancing in the evening. Foxton was not generally called a rich village, but it was rich with people who could work. The movement for collecting for the village hall was only started two years ago and they had already obtained £600

Cambridge – Royston walk, p6

1928 04 11
NUT conference,

1928 04 13
Sir – I protest against the ejection of Mr Pauley and his family from the ferry house, Midsummer Common. They have done their best to find a house but without success. The man and his son worked the ferry over the river, night and day, including Sundays, and in all weathers for the convenience of the Cambridge ratepayers, thus filling one of the most monotonous jobs; the man for 35 years and the boy for 16. On the completion of the footbridge they are completely cast over, no compensation being paid and no pension. To send people adrift in this matter is neither a moral or Christian act – Charles Porter.

1928 04 13
Dancers and band musicians thronged to a dance band contest at the Rendezvous in Magrath Avenue, Cambridge. Eleven bands took their turns on the platforms. Each played a fox-trot and a waltz. A fault with several bands was that the violinists showed a tendency to overdo their parts. Judging was by popular vote and the results were: 1st Cambs Mental Hospital Dance Band, 2nd Jack Vivian's Dance Band & 3rd Sid Parsley's Dance Band. The winners, who previously were practically unknown to the dancing public, played in confident style and nicely together. The band is a six-piece and undoubtedly more will be heard of it.

1928 04 13 ES
New Ortona garage, Ely: a massive garage on modern lines with massive sliding doors to accommodate 16 of their large vehicles. The rapid development of Ely has encouraged the company to establish their first depot. It has swallowed up most of the smaller concerns. It will be managed by J.C. Parnell. No fewer than 10 buses operate. Have coaches for private hire – 28 04 13(2)(3) ES # c.26.46

Massive bridge at Dimmock's Cote to open 28 04 13 ES – photo – 28 04 13(4) ES

1928 04 14
'The Times' has published a picture of the proposed new Cambridge University Library from the provisional designs prepared by Sir Giles Gilbert Scott. For some years past the imperative need of additional rooms to accommodate the never-ending increase of books has been urged but the enormous cost of erecting an entirely new library on another site – the old playing field of King's and Clare Colleges - presented what seemed an insurmountable difficulty. Even if the proposed scheme is realised it provides for only one-half of the projected library and involves a debt which will not be cleared for 50 years

1928 04 14
At Cambridgeshire magistrates court two Willingham men were convicted of stealing potatoes from their employer, farmer Thomas Langan, and each fined 10s. A London motorist was convicted of not having a road fund licence at Hauxton; the last licence had expired in June 1927; fined £10. A Dry Drayton man pleaded guilty to using a wireless set without a licence; he was unaware he needed one for a crystal set; fined 10s. Two Cottenham men were convicted of riding bicycles without lights and fined 7s.6d.

1928 04 14
Newmarket council considered the question of standing places for motor 'buses and recommended the present arrangements in St Mary's Square should remain in force for the time being. This class of vehicle is likely to get more numerous on the road and certain portions of the Fordham roadside should be defined as hackney carriage stands for the setting down of passengers. It having also been suggested that St Mary's Square might afford a suitable site for a motor-park, but having regard to certain manorial rights existing there, it was resolved that the solicitors representing the Lord of the Manor be invited to attend the next meeting.

1928 04 14
A Suffolk teacher said that when she first went to the school she had a great deal of trouble from a dozen big boys of 14. They overturned desks, tied up the schoolroom doors on the inside and broke nearly every window. This annoyed her and she talked it out with them. They said they wanted a man teacher who could thrash them. The mistress in the next village thrashed her boys and they were taunted because their mistress did not thrash them. "I fetched the thickest luggage strap I could find and got somebody to try it out on me first", she said. "Then the boys came up and each one had the strap eight times on each hand. Every big boy had to have the strap because the others wanted him to know what it was like. There were no further tricks".

1928 04 14 c
I enjoyed a couple of rounds on the Cambridge putting green on Jesus Green and found quite a lot of patrons there. There are some folk who think that putting is only a temporary craze and will not enjoy continuing prosperity in the same way that tennis and bowls do, but a single tennis court takes ten years to pay for itself while the first putting green paid for itself within the first year. The committee has received a petition for a similar putting green on the Lammas Land, but they are a little timid about having a second one prepared until they see whether the success achieved last year is repeated. The rockery being constructed at the entrance to Lammas Land is being made from pieces of old and disused cattle troughs from Midsummer Common

1928 04 16
One of a block of five cottages at Saxon Street caught fire. The fire originated in the thatched roof of two cottages occupied by Alfred Foreman and his family of five persons. The adjacent cottages were occupied by Mr Elliott and family of four, Mr Edwards and family of two and Mr Allard and family of four. The Newmarket District Fire Brigade was called out and in spite of the difficulty of the time – all the firemen were at dinner – and the difficulty in getting a motor to take the engine, the response was commendably prompt. In spite of the high wind they were able to save entirely two of the cottages but the others were completely burnt out. Shortly before the fire a traction engine passed along the road & a spark from this may have caused the fire.

1928 04 18
A deputation of seven men from Isleham walked over to the meeting of Newmarket Guardians to ask the Board for work. Five are married men with families and four in receipt of out-relief. Mr Samuel Moore said he had heard of certain parties obtaining relief when they had £60 in the house. Some men left regular jobs to get a shilling more and then when the new job came to an end they were out of work. A land worker who had a good job should stick to it. This was the time of year when men were wanted on the land. The men said they had tried everywhere to get work.

1928 04 19
At the diamond jubilee celebrations of the Cambridge Co-operative Society the Chairman, Mr G.J. Golding, said he wondered what the people concerned with the little business in City Road, Cambridge, sixty years ago would think of the Society today with annual sales of £190,000, a membership of 16,000, 20 branches and 370 employees. Half the population of Great Britain, directly or indirectly, was now within the Co-operative movement

1928 04 19
Members of the Cambridge Horse Club spent a jolly time at their annual dinner. It was formed 35 years ago when there were a great number of hansom cabs and horses and flys in Cambridge and if a man lost a horse he went round from house to house and collected. Some people thought that was rather objectionable and a man named William Wallis conceived the idea of a club for people who owned horses. It only cost 1d a day to join and they still had 50 members; when they considered the increase in motor traffic it was feather in their cap to know they stood safe financially. The Chief Constable said Cambridge was losing horses very rapidly but he hoped they would not all disappear.

1928 04 20
Car removed, p8

1928 04 21
A furnishing establishment and four other shops situated on the corner of Darthill and Dartford Roads in the centre of March were burnt to the ground. They were Mr H.S. Greenhall's furniture shop, a millinery shop of Madame Furban's, the Cambridge Modiste, a cleaner's shop of Mr Layton, Mr Fletcher's hairdressing saloon and a dyer's establishment. Most of the structure was of wood and the flames quickly spread. The conflagration illuminated the whole town and the work of the fire brigade was watched by crowds of people rudely awakened from their sleep. Buildings at the back of the shops had been pulled down as the erection of a music hall on the site is in contemplation.

1928 04 21
There is one evening in the year which the inhabitants of the little village of Wicken always anticipate with much pleasure. This is the night when Mr Reg Alsop recruits his annual concert party. Long before it was due to begin the hall was well filled and those who could not find seats stood just outside the entrance whilst others had a cheap evening and listened from outside. Mr Alsop had again done his native village well, a fact they were not slow to appreciate. He was in his usual good form and sang 'Shopping' and 'The Good Little Boy'

1928 04 21

The new Road Transport Lighting Act calls upon users of motor cars or cycles to see that proper lamps are provided – at least two white lights in front and one red at the rear for cars and one each for cycles. After rear lights for cycles we must expect them soon for pedestrians, especially on country roads. Already there is a safety walking belt on the market with reflectors at the front and back. Pedestrians will protest, as the cyclists have done, but it will be of no avail. Motor traffic is increasing, road dangers are increasing and 'Safety First' is the order of the day

1928 04 23
Brinkley tractor accident, p6

1924 04 24
County Hall, p5

1928 04 25
A case of great importance to the motoring public was heard at Bottisham. The publican of the Prince Albert, Quy was summoned for taking two gallons of motor spirit petrol from a Dominion pump, putting it in a Shell can and selling it as Shell. He had a pump outside his house of Dominion spirit which was inferior to Shell; it was 1s a gallon and Shell 1s 2½d. A Shell employee said he asked for a two-gallon can of Shell and took it to Newmarket police station where he asked it to be sealed. But they did not want to take sides in the matter. It was analysed and found not to be Shell. Defendant said his daughter had sold the petrol and did not know the difference between the various types of spirit.

1928 04 26
There were three genuine cases of overcrowding at Horseheath. In one house with two bedrooms there were six children and three adults; in another with three bedrooms there were eight adults and three children, while in a third there were four adults and five children. Other houses were in a dilapidated condition.

Soham smallholdings, p3

1928 04 27
The Ouse Drainage Board heard that great damage was done to the banks of the rivers during the January floods and some £15,000 will be necessary to put them in the state they were previously. The Ministry should be induced to make some contribution to the cost. The flood, which was accompanied by a strong gale, damaged 47 miles of the banks of the main rivers and 16 miles of the smaller rivers and lodes. Mr Tebbutt said that during his knowledge of the river for 50 years only on three occasions did he remember as much flooding as on the last occasion. It was exceptional.

1928 04 27
Cambridge Town Council granted licences to Messrs Brown Bros for a new Lancia saloon motor coach and the Westminster Coaching Services for three additional coaches. Coun. Doggett asked if the vehicles were fitted with pneumatic tyres and if they would not licence any with solid tyres from the point of view of wear and tear of the roads and the comfort of travellers. It was only a matter of time before solid tyred vehicles would be barred from using the roads at all. There was a nuisance with regard to bus tickets being thrown down in the roads and the Ortona Motor Bus Co are to be asked to provide receptacles for bus tickets on the buses plying in Cambridge.

1928 04 27 c
Coun Edwards called attention to the quality of certain scavenging brooms and said one was worn down in eight hours. Coun Kenney: "I think the council will be pleased to know that our roadmen work so hard". (Laughter). The brooms were 'simply awful' and not suitable for the job. But the best broom had been selected, it was not the cheapest, costing 21s. 6d. per dozen. Each broom lasted 14 days and it was an exceptional circumstance it one went wrong in eight hours.

1928 04 27 ES

Disastrous March fire; five shops completely gutted at junction Dartford Road and Dartford Hill; only property saved with the Pavilion Theatre – 28 04 27(2) ES

South Level Board meeting – diesel engine had run 1,144 hours, longest run 182 hours. Boilers in use 17 years. The Mile Engine basin not wide enough but too much needs excavating to use hand labour – 28 04 27 ES

1928 04 28
Less than 20 years ago I was doing journalistic work in a Hobson Street office. In those days there was no County Hall opposite, nor talk of one. It was begun only 15 years ago and if anyone had been asked how long it would remain the County Council headquarters he might have answered 'A hundred years at least'. But so great has been the extra work thrown on the Council that already the building has been outgrown and plans are now to be prepared for a new building on the Castle Hill site. There are now 86 officials and ratepayers may ask if such an army of officers are really necessary

Fulbourn cottage, p6

1928 04 30
New County Hall, p6

May 1928 CDN

1928 05 01
Mikado, p6

1928 05 02
Preservation of Cambridge, p8

1928 05 03
Cambridge Guardians considered allowing the inmates of the Institution to go out on Sunday afternoons. The patients were bolted and barred in the institution for the whole of the week, with the exception of about four hours. During the fine summer afternoons they would be better by being allowed out and enjoy the sunshine. The service in the morning was very nice and very bright and there were few on the Board who attended places of worship twice on Sunday. But the Rev. Batley said it was perfectly disgraceful. The decision was deferred.

1928 05 03
Cambridge was visited by a thunderstorm characterised by some very heavy peals of thunder and very sharp flashes of lightning. The chimney of a house at 54 St Barnabas Road was struck. Mr Easton, a Mill Road cycle agent, said his family had not left the back bedroom more than two minutes when they were startled by a terrific explosion. The electric light failed and they found that a bedroom fireplace had been blown out into the room and lay smothered with dust and soot on the floor.

1928 05 04
The Headmaster's house at the Leys School had a narrow escape during a storm when an elm tree standing about 40 feet from the house was struck by lightning. Although there is a large cedar tree between the house and the elm, the explosion was so severe that 13 windows were broken. The tree appears to have escaped much damage as it is still standing, through good-sized pieces of bark have been stripped off two sides. Queens' College chapel was also struck and the top of the small cross of the west end was knocked off.

1928 05 05
Littleport floods, p7
Water supply, p7
Warning signs, p8

1928 05 08
The work of the Cambridge Birth Control Clinic was explained to Cambridge Women's Welfare Association. The foremost difficulty was the absence of a contraceptive method so simple and effective as to meet the needs of the over-tired, feckless, under-housed, unintelligent or mentally-deficient woman. But although they should do something to enable people to have just the children they could manage, their methods, generally called 'birth control', were disgusting and filthy. There was danger in the free use of contraceptive methods by unmarried young people. They might be getting to the morals of the poultry yard.

Harston pub destroyed, p8
Bassingbourn fire, p8

1928 05 11 ES
Dairy Houses Church is district church for the parish of Littleport St Matthew. At its erection it was not given a name but lately suggestion that a title more worth than just 'Dairy Houses' might be given. It has been renamed St Mary the Virgin – 28 05 11 ES

Death of James Smart, former world champion skater – obituary – 28 05 11(2) ES

1928 05 12
Landing ground, p8

1928 05 14
The Cambridge Social Hygiene Council discussed how to interest young men in the development of the proper sex outlook. Their attendance at lectures and film displays was poor and the majority were undergraduates who clearly came to hear and learn, for their conduct was unexceptional. The meetings for women were attended by about 200 each day, a good part of them adolescent middle-class girls and young married woman, a type not often seen at such meetings.

1925 05 16
Newmarket chestnuts, p7

1928 05 17
Undergraduates were packed like sardines in a tin at the Cambridge Police court when King's College and Trinity College were fined for employing male servants without having in force licences as required. It was unthinkable that such bodies should attempt to evade payment but they had received no reminder from the County Hall. This was not an acceptable excuse: they were large and responsible bodies accustomed to regularly employing a number of servants and should be more scrupulous than ordinary citizens to see the duties were paid in proper time.

1928 05 18
Scenes of unprecedented excitement marked the arrival of His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales at Royston. From an early hour the streets were packed with eager and excited crowds, despite rain and hail falling heavily, and every house and shop was gaily bedecked with flags. The guests' reserved stand was packed to capacity and the meadow behind was one mass of people. A roar of cheering went up as the Prince arrived to open the new children's ward at the Royston and District Hospital. Later he travelled to Papworth Village Settlement and opened the new Village Hall and Memorial Cottages

1928 05 18
The Vicar of Foxton has received remarkable letter from the Church Council requesting him to resign and, from the pulpit on Sunday he made a statement in reply. "The choir is at a standstill for the want of hymn books, the lead on the roof needs to be replaced, the heating apparatus is out of order, the gates are falling to pieces, the lamps are dangerous and a valuable old chest is falling to pieces. We have no parish clerk, no one to ring the bells, the clock is unwound, the churchyard a disgrace. When the Church Council have completed all these duties it will be time for them to turn their thoughts to throwing stones at their vicar".

1928 05 18
In the spring a motorist's fancy turned to the thought of a new car and the Cambridge public have the opportunity of inspecting the whole range produced by the well-known Vauxhall firm. These are attractively displayed in the spacious showroom of Messrs Herbert Robinson & Son, Regent Street. The staff has been augmented with chauffeurs, salesmen, mechanics and service engineers under the charge of the assistant car sales manager of Vauxhall Motors. The models on view include the Princeton tourer, £475; Bedford saloon, £495 and Kimpton coach-built sports saloon, £695

Charles Moden, Stretham, unfit horse, p5
60mph at Witchford, p8

1928 05 19
Newmarket is becoming a town of clubs and the publicans are becoming alarmed at their multiplication. The new social club of the Beacon Lodge of Oddfellows will make nine in the town – the Jockey Club (which is the most exclusive club in the world may hardly be counted in this category) -–the Subscription Rooms, Masonic Hall & Marlborough, Conservative & Foresters clubs. In addition are the Astley Institute and Racing Lads' Institute but at these no excisable drink is sold and they are entirely for stable lads and stablemen.

Market parking, p8

1928 05 21
Herbert Spalding, parish constable of Landbeach, said he went to Milton feast and had a turn at a penny-in-the-slot machine. He started with 7d and got down to a penny but then won 8d and finished with 3d profit. He found it better to let the machine run and not press the controls. There were 15 automatic machines in the booth and men, women, boys and girls were using them. Some players used the knobs and some did not; it did not seem to make any difference. The games were chance and not skill. A fine of 5s was imposed on the proprietor.

Bridge Street excavations, p3
Motor smash, p8

1928 05 23
A Cottenham farmer said that heavy post-war losses in connection with heavy stallions were the chief cause of his failure. He had started about 30 years ago at Mitchell Fen near Twenty Pence Ferry. During the war his farming operations were successful and he bought four shire stallions. But after the war horses went down slump, the country was flooded with horses from abroad and farmers would not breed horses. So he had his stallions on his hands and sold them; the four together for which he had paid over £350 did not make more than 80 guineas.

1928 05 24
Ely council decided to open the Barracks Field in Silver Street to the schools for organised games. Ely was very badly situated for child life; the streets were narrow and motor traffic made things worse for children to play on the streets. This was a most ideal spot and they could find another field suitable for the council's horses. But their horsekeeper got no half-day on Saturday and if the horses had to go out of town it would be impossible for him to put them out to grass.

1928 05 25
Damage estimated at £1,000 was done in a fire which broke out at the S.P.Q.E. garage in Old Station Road, Newmarket. Mr Montague Cooper, who sleeps on the premises of Messrs Bedwell, music dealers, was awakened by the crackling of the fire and the smashing of glass. He informed the police who were soon on the scene and burst open the garage doors and found three motor cars in flames. They were the property of the Rev. W.G. Softley (Primitive Methodist minister), John Boardman and George Hogg. Six other cars were removed, amongst them one belonging to Mr Compodonico.

1928 05 25
Amid scenes of enthusiasm the Mayor of Cambridge opened the new Coleridge Road recreation ground which has just been completed at a total cost of £7,000. It was in September 1925 the Corporation bought the ground for the public and ever since then the Surveyor and his merry men had been preparing it. By the autumn they would be able to play football on it and by next summer cricket. They wanted to make a garden as well and if any person felt disposed to present them with a dozen flowering trees the council would make good use of them. Critics said it was not wanted but in the future many would be grateful for it. It would keep the children off the streets and from the danger of the traffic.

1928 05 25 ES
Stretham Hospital Parade, Haddenham and Wicken bands; wagon headed 'Hunstanton Convalescent Home' with sand castle and children wearing bathing caps; Hospital ward & 'Accident'. W. Parish's motor lorry used as a platform for service on cricket field. At hospital the services were in full swing, day and night, the operating theatre made ready for arrival patient … this would not happen if the hospital became state controlled because when the state got hold of anything they had to fill in forms from A-Z– 28 05 25&(2) photos – (3) ES

Stretham:
Feast: in years past the stalls and vans have been allowed to stand in the street; this year they were all on the cricket field – 28 05 25(4) ES

Picture of four foxes with George Fairchild at Hill Farm, Haddenham – 28 05 25(5) ES

1925 05 29
Sunday buses, p4

1928 05 30
The work of repairing the fabric of St Ives parish church, which was seriously damaged by a British aeroplane on 23rd March 1918 having been completed, a service of thanksgiving was held. The Bishop of Ely said it was hard that the burden of repairing a church should fall upon our generation, but we inherited these priceless treasures from those who had made sacrifices in days gone by. About £600 was still required for rehanging the bells and replacing the clock

1928 05 31
Milk, p8

June 1928 CDN

1928 06 01
The Clerk of Milton Parish Council drew attention to the cess-pool known as the pond and urged that the only way to remove this eyesore, which was a menace to the health of the village, was to fill it up. The pond, being on a bend in the road was a danger to traffic on dark or foggy nights. The road was a County thoroughfare and it would be to their advantage if the pond were filled up.

1928 06 01
Cottenham pond had been filled in at a cost of £42. The figure was quite staggering but an excellent job had been made and the village beautified so the expense was warranted. An insanitary place had been cleared away – there had been talk of typhoid two years ago – and it was more economic than cleansing the pond in the long run. But it seemed that Cottenham had made a dump for their rubbish and charged the District Council with it. Nearly every village had a pond and they would all want them filled.

Clayhithe bridge, p8
Stretham speeding, p5

1928 06 02
Whitsun customs, p7

1928 06 04
It is estimate that 15,000 people attended the annual County Conservative Fete in the beautiful grounds of Harold Gray's estate on the Gog Magogs and the event was a bigger success than ever. The well-organised non-stop programme of amusements included sports, side-shows, a rabbit show, motor-cycle and whippet racing and made it impossible for there to be one dull minute from two o'clock in the afternoon until eleven at night, when the round of pleasure came to an end with a grand fireworks display.

1928 06 05
The first paid Marconigram was transmitted on June 3rd, 30 years ago. It was sent by Lord Kelvin who was visiting Senatore Marconi's experimental wireless station on the Isle of Wight. In order to illustrate his belief in its commercial future, Lord Kelvin insisted upon paying one shilling for a wireless telegram to be sent to Sir George Stokes at Lensfield Cottage, Union Road, Cambridge.

Auckland Road school traffic, p8

1928 06 06
As a result of much discussion it has been decided that Papworth should be the 'Papworth Village Settlement', and not the Cambridgeshire Tuberculosis Colony. The name had grown up by itself and the name of the county was no longer applicable. There was a continual need for more cottages as men, and women also, leave the sanatorium and desire to enter the village community.

1928 06 07
There was a thin line of spectators all along the towing path from the Railway Bridge down to Grassy Corner for the May Races, and the enclosures on the Ditton side were by no means deserted. The way to go to the races these days seems to be by motor car; visitors prefer to rush there by road instead of wandering there by river. Balloons and fantastic curio dolls did their best to give a carnival atmosphere and a loud speaker attachment to a gramophone on one of the motor launches emitted dance music. One of the best views was obtained from the five 'planes which flew inquisitively over the river in formation, wheeling and turning like giant silver birds.

1928 06 07
A dealer who kept a stall at Cambridge market and said that a few years' back he was taking big money and making a profit of £7 a week, ascribed his failure to a variety of causes. They included bad weather, law costs and keen competition since Woolworth's Stores had been opened. He bought a Ford lorry but it caught fire as he was going to Lakenheath for a sale and all the goods were burnt at the roadside.

1928 06 07
A Newmarket man told how the coal strike of 1921 caused him to give up his greengrocery round and take to selling peat. He 'made a pound or two' while it lasted and afterwards bought a truck of coal and started as a coal dealer. He did pretty well until the railway strike but then his coal was hung up and he never earned a penny for a month. He had nothing to do except sell a little coke and wood which did not bring £1 a week. He had a Ford motor lorry on the hire purchase system which cost him £128, besides which he had to pay a man to drive it.

Haddenham & Addenbrooke's Hospital, p6
Pymoor & Oxlode sports, p7

1928 06 09
A meeting was held to protest against a proposal to close the public footpath leading from Bartlow to Bartlow Church and close to the historic Bartlow Hills. There had been an attempt to close the path 25 years ago and another attempt last year. The path was partly in Cambs and partly in Essex and a parish council meeting had given Linton R.D.C. the right to close it. If it were closed it would keep the majority of Bartlow parishioners from the church. The dead had been carried down that footpath and to many it was sacred. In these days of traffic they wanted to be able to walk down footpaths and enjoy true nature.

Uniting Ely parishes, p7

1928 06 11
The District council was told that the Hon Gerald Agar-Robartes had agreed to let the council have a site for some new cottages at Arrington. But he had now written a letter: "I have been thinking over the site for the cottages and am afraid they would not look well unless they were thatched. If the Council are not willing to thatch them they would have to build further down the road." However the other site was very unsuitable because there was no water and there was a very obnoxious ditch running near it.

1928 06 11
There are now 12 men on the books of the Cambridge Disabled Soldiers Workshop in Gloucester Street. Three have had the right arm amputated, seven the leg and of the remaining two one suffered from the effects of gassing and injuries to the head and the other from severe injuries to the abdomen. Half were employed up to the 48-hour week and the maximum wage was 36s a week to the foreman. In addition to the basket and rush work and wool knitting they were developing the knitting of silk stockings, jumpers and ties, the re-upholstering of chairs and the making and renovating of mattresses

Scarlet fever, p5

1928 06 12
May Week, p6

1928 06 13
Sir – a few flourishing factories would do more to enhance the prosperity of Cambridge than any future benefit from its dependence on the University. All the colleges possessing the necessary facilities are building with the object of accommodating their own students, which will mean a financial loss to many residents who depend on a lodging house for their meagre livelihood. It is high time the lodging house keepers organised for the mutual protection of their interests, otherwise pleasant landscapes will prove poor consolation for genteel and grinding poverty - Pessimist

1928 06 15 ES
Sufficient water in Stretham: Lack's report satisfactory; well in centre produced 2,000 gallons a day; that not sufficient, would consider 10,000 ample and that could be got by sinking a fairly large well. Electricity will shortly be available and this could power a small pumping set so a large water tower would not be needed - 28 16 15 ES

1928 06 16
Cambridge has probably more gramophones than any other town of corresponding size. Many people thought that with the advent of wireless the enthusiasm for gramophone music would diminish but this is far from the case, as a walk by the river on a sunny day will show. It would not surprise me to learn that all gramophone records have been broken during the May Week with a sale greater than ever before. Mr Noel Coward, the 28-year-old genius has recorded the music from the revue, 'This Year of Grace' at the London Pavilion

1928 06 16
Damage estimated at £100 was caused by a fire which broke out at Swavesey. Smoke and flames were seen coming from the premises of James Prior, a furniture dealer of Boxworth End. Neighbours and men working in the fields brought pails of water and rendered what assistance they could and the Swavesey Fire Brigade were soon on the scene with hose and hydrant. A Morris commercial van, a horse trolley and sheds were burnt as also a lot of furniture, fruit baskets and carpenter's tools. Thatched cottages nearby were in great danger owing to sparks and a man named Thorp climbed on to the roof from where he played water. The fire is believed to have been caused by two little children playing with matches.

1928 06 16
St Ives Fire Brigade was called to a surprise false alarm. The engineer was at the Brigade Station in 3½ minutes, the captain was on the scene in uniform in four minutes and one hose was soon playing on the building. Two hoses were then tried but the force of water was quite inadequate, only reaching about 20 feet. The manual engine was put on the Quayside but it was found that the present fire engine would not be of any use in case of a fire. A demonstration should take place with the steam engine offered for sale to the council.

1928 06 17 c
Sir – the residents in Bridge Street and Magdalene Street, Cambridge, have just passed through a hectic week of sleepless nights, caused by the traffic and University men returning from balls etc all hours of the night, and just when we expect to get a little quiet and rest after May Week the Corporation start their offensive. If the street must be paved in a week why not let the men work from 7 am till 10.30 pm instead of dragging them out of their beds at 3 am and keeping other people awake as well? Why all the hustle. Is it to save the buses making a wider detour? – Harry Langdon

1928 06 19
Barton Hospital parade, p7
Tenison Road gun, p8

1928 06 20
Sir – I happen to live opposite the field-gun in Tenison Road. It is not a relic of the Great War but a captured trophy from the Boer War. To me it represents history and the enormous sacrifices made by the pick of our population. Our war memorials tell our children of a great deliverance. Had we been defeated no doubt we should have had more hideous monuments, probably statues of the Kaiser and the boastful Hindenburg, at which some of the pro-Germans could kneel. Let these small tokens that speak of victory over injustice be preserved for all time – C.J. Challess

1928 06 21
Fen Ditton school has been inspected but no attempt should be made to improve the existing buildings. Improvements would cost £1,800 but owing to the cramped nature of the site it would be a waste of money to try and patch up the old school and far better to spend a bit more and have a new one. It was possible that the population would increase and if a suitable site was available Horningsea School could be grouped with it, with a consequent saving in salaries.

Sunday buses, p5
Bartlow footpath, p7
'Casual' employment, p8

1928 06 22
The Cambridge Borough Librarian reported that a reader at the Central Library had been detected in cutting out a coupon from a daily paper, and that he had refused the reader permission to use the libraries until the matter was referred to the Library Committee. They approved his action and decided that the reader in question be excluded from the libraries and reading room for a period of six months.

Betting raid, p5
Coldham's Lane houses, p8

1928 06 23
As others see us, p8

1928 06 25
Rifle range, p8

1928 06 26
The annual shooting competition between the Cambridgeshire Regiment and Ely Divisional Police took place on the Butts, Lynn Road, Ely. The 'boys in blue' are to be congratulated in making such a good show against their brethren in khaki who are at present in actual training and the police were only 47 points behind their rivals. Capt D. Harper of Ely acted as hon. butt steward for the police and Sergt-Instructor Jackson fulfilled the like office for the 'Terriers'

1928 06 27
Mary White, alias Zeta was charged with using palmistry and crystal gazing to deceive at Midsummer Fair. Two policewomen gave evidence of visiting her tent and paying 3s to have their hands examined. But she had applied to the Borough Surveyor for the ground, six foot by four feet for a palmistry tent and had enclosed 5s for premium. She had a letter giving her permission to stand as palmist. Why was the ground let for business which was said to be illegal. The Bench decided to convict, but with no penalty.

1928 06 28
Mr & Mrs Burling of Milton were in their house during a thunderstorm. The aerial of his three-valve wireless set was attached to a large tree and the other end to the front of the house. Suddenly there was a tremendous clap of thunder and a noise like an explosion. The room was full of sparks and fire; he heard his wife scream and saw her hair was on fire. With great presence of mind he put out the flames and carried her into the next room. The curtains were alight and two of the wireless valves were completely broken.

Soham council housing, p3

1928 06 30
The proposed Twentypence Ferry Bridge would cost £8,000 and the road £9,300. The Government Road Board would give 75% and the chief landowners £1,500. Then there was the road from the church to the Jolly Waterman which would have to be brought up to second-class standard. It might seem a large amount but it would relieve some of the traffic from the Ely to Cambridge road. But was the District Council wise in incurring a debt of £2,000 when in six months' time they might cease to be a road authority as the County Council was going to take over all the roads.

1928 06 30
The quay at Littleport was becoming considerably worse. It had been erected about 30 years ago by the officers of the South Level Commissioners but they could not ascertain whether they paid or whether someone else provided the money. Mr Martin had spoken to representatives of the Ely Sugar Beet Factory, who used the quay, and they would be prepared to contribute. If the quay tumbled in it would block up the river. If it was their property they were bound to maintain it. But they did not know if it was their property or not.

1928 06 30

Fire destroyed two thatched cottages which stood by themselves in an orchard in Springhill at Widdington. Being of thatch, lath and plaster they quickly succumbed once the flames obtained a hold. One, known as 'The Nest' was occupied by Miss Pitcher, a school teacher who was away at the time. The tenants of the other cottage were sitting down to dinner when Mr Hanchett, a roadman, came to the door and said 'Madam, your house is on fire'. The cottagers carried their goods and chattels to the safety of an adjoining field. Standing amidst the remains of their earthly possessions, they made a pathetic picture as they watched their old home crumbling away.

1928 06 30
There appears to be every prospect of the 'siege' of Bridge Street being the quickest job of its size and character carried through by Cambridge Corporation for many years. The tradespeople whose business is greatly affected by the stoppage of traffic are in agreement as to the magnificent way the men on the job are working under the constant supervision of the Highways Inspector, Mr J. Gambling. There are between 100 and 150 men working in three gangs and already the big sewer is laid and 'Speed with efficiency' appears to be their slogan

July 1928 CDN

1928 07 02
Barnardoes, p6

1928 07 03
Mock auction, p5

1928 07 04
A verdict of accidental death was returned at the inquest into the Rev Henry Atkinson, vicar of Wilburton who died from the effects of injuries received in a collision with a motor car. The Vicar was accustomed to riding a bicycle and was going to fetch some hymn books for a Guild meeting. The driver said he saw a man on a bicycle with a leather Gladstone bag on the handlebars; he seemed to lose control and it went across in front of him. The jury expressed the opinion that a high hedge which obscured the view near the entrance to the Vicarage drive should be cut down to a reasonable height.

1928 07 04
The Clerk of Swavesey District Council read an anonymous letter expressing surprise that Swavesey was more highly rated than any other parish in the district. The Chairman said that it was a very expensive parish and if ratepayers were not satisfied with the efforts of the Council to keep the place in a sanitary condition they would have to get a qualified man able to drain the fens and who would be an additional expense. The statements were misleading and Council should take no notice of what they saw in the papers. If every little thing going on was reported they had better say nothing.

Wilburton fete, p7

1928 07 05
Newmarket roads, p8

1928 07 06 ES
Wilburton vicar's tragic death – hit by car outside vicarage – 28 07 06 &(3) ES
Shippea Hill stack fire, Littleport Brigade late; phoned at 8.45 but did not hear bell; lack of hose pipes – 28 07 06 &(3)
Stuntney new sports and gala – 28 07 06(3) ES

Stretham water: report to RDC, no action taken – 28 07 06(2) ES

1928 07 07

Wicken church fete, p3
Girton burglary, p5
Argentine visitors, p6
West Ham invasion, p6

1928 07 09
Close to the windmill on the north side of Milton Road, opposite Chesterton Hall Crescent, occupying one of the highest and healthiest sites in the locality and surrounded by spacious lawns and trim walks stands the new open-air school for defective and sub-normal children. It is an ideal school, admirably adapted to its purpose and planned and equipped on a generous scale, a veritable children's paradise. The opening ceremony was an open-air function. Open air schools for delicate children have come to stay and in the future all schools will probably become open-air

1928 07 10
Clean milk competition, p8

1923 07 11
1,700 women members of the West Ham Central Mission Women's Meeting descended upon Cambridge on their annual outing. The huge party arrived in 56 motor coaches which drew up in a long line in Queen's Road. In a solid mass they came over King's Bridge like an army of Amazons on the march, some expressing disappointment that the Cam was not as wide as the Thames. But as they entered the cool sanctuary of the chapel there was a continuous stream of enthusiastic remarks. The chairs were quickly occupied with mothers with their babies. We doubt there was ever such a scene in the historic chapel before.

Stuntney sports, p3

1928 07 12
Sir – everyone associates Cambridge with a stream of young life spending the happiest and most fruitful years of their youth. But at the same time another stream of men is seeking in Cambridge some 'odd jobs', something to provide a few coppers. And does the crowd of the 'upper ten' realise the conditions under which their unfortunate brothers spend their nights? In the casual ward at the workhouse inmates are unable to get to sleep owing to the room swarming with mice, which scamper up and down the floor and run over the men on the beds. Surely the authorities could cleanse the room and eject the army of mice. How can such a condition of things exist in a 'seat of learning' where the laws of health are studied – Mary Higgs

Workhouse water, p8

1928 07 13
The Henny Farm, near Ely, was offered for sale by auction. Described as 'one of the best farms in the Ely district' it has the advantage of being close to the Ely and Soham railway, adjoining Barway siding. It has an excellent house and homestead, five cottages, main water and a hard road through the farm. It was bought by auction in 1904 for £13,000 and a considerable sum has been spent on improvements. Seven years ago it would have made £20,000 at least. But the opening bid was £5,000 and it failed to reach the reserve price of £9,000 – under £20 an acre.

1928 07 13 ES
Stretham: Church clock out of action through some material having fallen from the spire; morning service held in Parish Room – 28 07 13 ES

1928 07 14
West Ham women, p6

1928 07 16

Thousands of people flocked into the old-world village of East Harling but there was little chance of getting into the court room where men well-known in the racing world were summoned to answer charges relating to cock fighting. They included defendants from Newmarket and Swaffham Prior. A horsebox had been fitted up for the fighting, with a red carpet on the floor and a ring of baize covered boards. Two birds had been prepared, each armed with a pair of artificial spurs. The defence said there was no case to answer. Cock fighting has been one of the oldest English sports and there was a great deal of misconception about the cruelty. But it has been prohibited by law since 1849.

Hilton fire, p6

1928 07 17
The New Theatre became a wireless studio and, with those present as the studio audience, a variety concert was broadcast from Cambridge. It had all the features with which listeners are so familiar, with exhilarating dance music, full-blooded radio melodrama and the much-maligned talk. "Just a Broadcast" introduces Mr Sidney Firman and his London Radio Dance Band. Cambridge wireless fans who have listened to the band's efforts over the ether will welcome the opportunity of seeing this sketch which takes listeners to the other side of the microphone and purports to show them what really does happen in a wireless studio. Mr Firman's items are announced through a dummy microphone in the approved radio style and the 'effects' in the wireless play are not the least amusing features of their turn.

Queen at Wimpole, p5
King's Mill sale, p6

1928 07 18
Most people in Cambridge have been affected by the closure of Bridge Street. Now it has reopened and buses and other vehicles of various types are passing along the greatly improved streets. Tradespeople whose business has been affected have taken a page in the CDN to inform the public that the 'Battle of Bridge Street' is over and to call attention to some of the goods in which they specialise.

1928 07 18
The future of the Bell public house, Botolph Lane and the Plume and Feathers, Park Street, Cambridge was considered by the Licensing Committee. The Bell was difficult for police to supervise. It had no downstairs accommodation for the tenant and meals had to be taken in the smoke room during closing hours. The renewal was refused. The Plume and Feathers had little accommodation and was frequently congested with a few customers. It had been done up and the yards had been covered over. The trade had gone up and was better than the Maypole.

1928 07 18
An important scheme for the making of a new road from Cottenham to Wilburton and the erection of a bridge over the Old West River near Twentypence Ferry will come before the County Council at their next meeting. They considered a petition from inhabitants in Horningsea and Waterbeach that the council should take over Clayhithe Bridge and abolish the tolls but are unable to recommend the purchase of the bridge at present. It was only 11 ft 6 inches wide and could not be widened without being rebuilt; it would only carry a vehicle of an axle load of eight tons and the approach roads were difficult.

Clayhithe bridge, p6*

1928 07 19
Ely Urban Council considered the advisability of obtaining a motor ambulance. Cases were frequently happening where a person was ordered off to the Hospital at once. Last week frantic efforts were made to find an ambulance but the only vehicle that might be termed an ambulance was being used at a funeral and they had to telephone to Cambridge for one. This was a standing disgrace to Ely. Their friends at March had purchased a first-class ambulance for £880 and Soham had one.

1928 07 20
Cambridge councillors recommended Robinson Crusoe Island should be cleared of dilapidated buildings and overgrown trees. Two rustic footbridges should be thrown across the stream and the island let for use either as a tea garden or for boatsheds. The place was in a deplorable condition and if something were not done there would be no Island to discuss. The surface was low and if the river were at the ordinary level it would be under water. It should be turned into a beauty spot rather than the dirt spot it was at the moment.

Stretham assault, John Sadler, p3
Ely ambulance, p6

1928 07 20 ES
Ely Wesleyan church organ rebuilding fund – 28 07 20 ES
Stretham fete to pay for spire repairs – considerable damage done to clock and spire by brick work, repairs needed; evening services held on Rectory lawn 28 07 20 ES
Stretham: Steeplejacks busy repairing spire of the church

1928 07 21
Greyhound racing, p3
Ellen Terry, p6
Boat race, p4

1928 07 23
Ainsworth Street fire, p5
Famous band, p5

1928 07 24
The inhabitants of Barton evidently believe in the slogan ‘Unity is strength’ for practically all of the organisation in the village amalgamated and held a flower show and fete. No fewer than ten groups took part, representing all types of village life, including the W.I., Nursing Association, quoits, football and cricket clubs, boy scouts and the Institute for the Blind. Pilbeam’s Band was in attendance and provided an enjoyable programme of music

Griffinhoof death, p5

1928 07 25
Motorbike noise, p8

1928 07 26
Burwell Parish Council called attention to the need of a shorter route between Burwell and Wicken now that Dimock’s Cote Bridge had been opened to traffic. Although the villages were only two miles apart the present distance by road was 8½ miles. This could be remedied by the hardening of the first droveway and making 30 chains of a new road. It would reduce the distance for all traffic that had to pass via Fordham and Stretham and be a great saving of time and expense to road users which would pay for itself by lessening the mileage of road used

Town football club ground, p6

1928 07 28
A great cosmopolitan army has invaded and captured Cambridge. It is no new thing this descent by the legions from overseas but probably never before have they been drawn from so many nations or corners of the world. The ‘Backs’ heard such a murmuring of strange tongues as would have puzzled the most expert linguist. One reason was the International Geographical Congress attended by members of fifty nations, but ever since the 'Long Vac' started foreign visitors have poured into Cambridge, nearly all armed with cameras and a determination not to miss anything. They saw the river girl – and her flannelled companion – brought out by the heat wave; she was there at the punt pole with her light bright frock, so cool, so self-possessed and efficient, and even in this heat – no shiny noses.

1928 07 28
Members of the Cambridge Drawing Society made a strong plea for the preservation of the character of the King's Mill site, protesting against the Council's scheme for the demolition of the old Mill-race and the erection of a weir. They are thankful that proposals for a tea garden and rustic bridge were not passed but feel its unique character will be utterly destroyed. The two King's and Bishop's Mills were amongst the oldest things in Cambridge, and a monument of romance. A cascade was all very well for Bedford or Tooting but was out of keeping with the spirit of Cambridge.

Clayhithe drowning, p5
Fair Street, p6*

1928 07 27 ES
Black Bank station improvements, weeds replaced by flowers; inspection. Signalman said when he started 30 years ago they averaged nearly 5,000 trains per month; worked 12 hours per day, wages £1 per week and out of that wage brought up a family of seven – 28 07 27(2) ES # c.26.2

1928 07 31
Ely readers will learn with regret of the death of Mrs Elizabeth Cross, widow of the late Mr F.T. Cross of Forehill. She was born at Little Downham but for over 40 years had carried on the confectionery and bakery business at Ye Olde Tea Rooms, Ely and also at the Pem Café, Trumpington Street, Cambridge during the last two years. Of a kindly disposition she will be missed for her generosity to the aged residents of the almshouses who for many years have received a large hamper of delicacies at Christmas. She leaves at son, Mr Vernon Cross, and a daughter.

Mill site – Preservation Society, p8

August 1928 CDN

1928 08 02
Sir – the north end of Robinson Crusoe's island, Coe Fen, is occupied as a boatyard, the oldest centre for boating for the Freshers' river and a very charming spot. The southern end is occupied by the old ferryman's cottage and his garden, now derelict, but there are still standing upon it a large dilapidated greenhouse, a poultry yard, now deserted, and a neglected summer-house with a privet hedge. There are a dozen fruit trees, now dying because their feet are in the water, and a number of rose bushes. The neglect of the garden is due to a subsidence which allowed the river to flood it and turn it into a marsh. The cottage, before the iron bridge was built, was a licensed house and those who liked to refresh themselves with a glass of beer were ferried across the river free of charge – C.F. Clay

Burwell cottage, p6

1928 08 03
After a long period of inactivity the Stretham Sports Committee was reformed about six weeks ago and the outcome of their endeavours was a very successful show and sports on the Recreation Ground. This was formerly one of the most popular held in the vicinity and should all future events be as well arranged this enviable position will be soon regained. There was not a dull moment in the whole of the proceedings. The cycle events produced some keen tussles between S.G. Scott and W. Johnson and in the running events R.G. King of Soham took the hundred by a close margin.

1928 08 03 ES
Expensive schemes approved by Isle of Ely County Council; new bridges. Includes new teacher's house at Fridaybridge; new bridge at Mepal and Dog-in-a-Doublet; Twentypence Bridge costs to be shared if Ministry contribute; Welney-Downham Road reconstruction far from satisfactory, would not be taken over as 'main' road – 28 08 03&(2)(3) ES # c.44.47 # c.44.65

Stretham: Steeple-jacks: a good many who thought they possessed all the faculties of a steeplejack endeavoured to scale the lofty church spire on Sunday morning in the same way as the steeple-jacks who are now at work repairing the steeple; they all reached the chalks safely – by steps from inside the church. But when they came out into the open about half-way up the Church, a different problem faced them. Ladders were fixed from the chalks to the summit. Many of the aspirants climbed four steps of the ladder and then hastily dismounted. Only two – Leslie Badcock and Cyril Parish – reached the top and from there a fine view could be obtained of the surrounding countryside – 28 08 03(5) ES

Middle Level pumping station at St Germans to proceed; Old Bedford Barrier Bank to be heightened from Welmore Lake to Earith 28 08 03(4) ES # c.29

1928 08 06
A thirty-ton stack on the farm of Mr R. Mailer at Boxworth caused considerably anxiety when it caught fire. It stood in close proximity to a number of others and to the buildings of what is one of the largest farms in the neighbourhood. The whole stack had to be dragged to pieces with steel hawsers and traction engines before the fire could be effectively dealt with. The firemen arrived about 4 am and did not return to Cambridge until 7.35 pm. To add to their discomfort heavy rain began to fall shortly after they arrived and continued throughout the greater part of the day

1928 08 06
The quietude and peace of Sunday evening on the Vinery Road Recreation Ground, Cambridge, was rudely broken when some half-dozen pigs from a neighbouring sty, having burrowed beneath the dividing fence, burst violently on to the ground. At once they started to uproot flowers, dig holes in beds and generally make a nuisance of themselves. The custodian and several other men flung themselves on the invaders but the wily porkers were too much for them and a game of catch-as-catch-can over flowerbeds and paths, around clumps of perennials and bushes began. As if by magic half the juvenile population of Romsey Town began to drift on to the ground. After half an hour's strenuous efforts the invaders were recaptured and restored to their proper place and peace again reigned over the trampled beds and broken bushes.

1928 08 06
The verger of the parish church at Warboys found that six brass candlesticks and six brass vases were missing from the altar. The candles had been removed and laid on the Communion table. Entry had been obtained by prising open a leaded window at the south end of the church. This is the second time within 14 months that this church has been broken into.

1928 08 07
Soham recreation ground, p4

1928 08 08
Burwell Hospital parade, p6

1928 08 09
Rumours spread in incredibly short time to the effect that a Cambridge charabanc had met with a serious accident in the neighbourhood of Hunstanton and that many of the passengers – the numbers varied between 13 and 20 – had been killed and others were injured. Mr A.G. Brown of Messrs Brown Bros, the Lord Astor Motor Coach Company, had an anxious time as one of his charabancs had taken a party from Papworth Everard to Hunstanton. "I would give a £5 note if I could find the man who started the rumour", he said. It was a cruel hoax and caused unnecessary anxiety to very many people.

Cambridge fatality, p5
W. Heffer death, p5

1928 08 17 ES
Stretham: Plague of insects at Newtown Council Houses, Ely Road: at Mr Badcock's, no.1, millions of 'Black Jacks' damage vegetables and flowers; are working through all the gardens

From Aug 16th 1878: Welney wedding – Mrs Naomi Groce and John Rumble of Upwell; he had been married six times and the pride three times – 28 08 17 ES

1928 08 14
Cambridge has lost a popular and familiar figure by the death of Mr James 'Jessie' Collins. He had an intimate knowledge of the antecedents and lives of almost every one of the inhabitants of 'The Boro' – the Castle End district - and was a character quite of his own. For 40 years he was employed at St John's College, rising from the position of shoe black to deputy head porter. He will be buried from St John's College, which he has served so faithfully and so long and today he lies in state in the college chapel – a fitting end to a remarkable life

1928 08 15
Ely fire brigade were engaged for nearly eight hours dealing with an outbreak at Hinton Hall, Haddenham where a group of stacks containing about 40 tons of this year's hay was involved. As they were situated in the middle of a group of farm buildings, the firemen had their work cut out. A good supply of water being available from a pond the brigade played two lines of hose on the blaze and they can be highly commended on their smart work

1928 08 15
Cambridge University has lost yet another distinguished son, by the death of Baron von Hugel, founder of the University Catholic Association. In 1883 he was appointed curator of the Museum of Archaeology, to which he had presented a unique collection of Fiji war instruments. Then commenced a period of service which will never be forgotten. He raised the money required for a new building and played a prominent part in the collection of local antiques, carrying out extensive excavations at Girton. During the War the Baron took charge of the Belgian refugees in Cambridge and received a medal.

1928 08 16
Sensational statements affecting the whole system of combating tuberculosis were made by Dr P.C. Varrier-Jones, medical director of the Papworth Village Settlement. The current system of dispensaries and sanatoria, where seriously damaged patients are crowded together, waiting for a cure which never comes, supported by medicine which prolong a pathetic and fruitless existence with nothing by failure at the end of it, is founded upon a wrong reckoning, he said. There should be provision of suitable employment under sheltered conditions, with facilities for treatment when required.

1928 08 16
Mr J.M. Barr of Wisconsin, an American beekeeper of great repute was the guest at the apiary established at Manor Farm, Lt Shelford. Several patterns of hives were shown, including one of an American type and here Mr Barr, in trying to pick up a bee from the alighting board received a sting. His host, Mr Clay had to apologise for the unfriendly reception accorded to the distinguished foreigner. The company then adjourned to tea in the garden room, a spacious verandah which just accommodated the whole party of 30 people.

Troublesome dogs, p6

1928 08 17
A terrible accident, occurred at Shepreth when the 10 am express train from Cambridge ran into a motor lorry at a level crossing, all the coaches being wrecked. The train was derailed the fireman killed and the drivers of the train and lorry seriously injured. The lorry, which was loaded with cement, was crossing the East Anglian Cement Company's level crossing at the same moment as the express was approaching. There was a terrific impact. The cement on the lorry flew up in the air so that to men at work at the station it seemed like the smoke of an explosion. After the impact the petrol of the lorry was ignited and in a short time was a blazing mass. The train continued for more than 100 yards, ploughing up the track, the carriages toppling over into a neighbouring field.

1928 08 17 ES
Stretham: Plague of insects at Newtown Council Houses, Ely Road: at Mr Badcock's, no.1, millions of 'Black Jacks' damage vegetables and flowers; are working through all the gardens

From Aug 16th 1878: Welney wedding – Mrs Naomi Groce and John Rumble of Upwell; he had been married six times and the pride three times – 28 08 17 ES

1928 08 18
Mr A.J. Kerr of Downing College, Cambridge, a passenger on the train involved in the smash at Shepreth crossing said: "Next to our carriage was a horse box, which was completely smashed, only the wheels being left. At the time of the collision a horse was in the box. It was thrown to the other side of the line, where it lay for some little time with a considerable amount of wreckage on top of it. Then it scrambled up and bolted down the line"

1923 08 20
There is one thought uppermost in everyone's minds, and that is the level crossing collision at Shepreth and the almost miraculous escape of the passengers. The accident must surely be without precedent in the records of railway disasters in the comparatively small number of casualties compared with the damage to the express. It is almost incredible that with nearly 100 passengers aboard the train not one of them was killed, though the engine fireman and the lorry driver lost their lives. The disaster is bound to raise afresh the question of level crossings such as that at Shepreth which is an occupation crossing opened and closed by those who use it.

1928 08 20
It is a far cry from the White House, the home of American President Calvin Coolidge, to the old-world village of Cottenham. Some time back one of the Coolidge family unearthed the fact that they had originated in the village and the Rev Robert Moline instituted a search in the parish registers. He has sent the President a leather bible with a picture of the parish church on the back and a photograph of the original entry of the baptism in 1604 of little John Coulledge. The family emigrated to America in 1631.

Haddenham suicide, Mill End, p6

1928 08 21
The funerals of the two victims of the level-crossing disaster at Shepreth, the fireman of the engine and the driver of the motor lorry, took place at Cambridge. The passing of each cortege along Mill Road was watched by a number of silent sympathisers. Owing no doubt to the rain comparatively few people had assembled when the procession of the lorry driver passed from Romsey Terrace. Heads were bared and traffic stopped, an Ortona bus remaining stationary until the party had passed. A short while afterwards the cortege of the fireman turned out of Suez Road. It was headed by railwaymen, then came the bearers followed by a motor hearse, the top of which was covered with beautiful wreaths.

1928 08 21

Rail inquiry, p5

1928 08 24
An important improvement in East Cambs will be effected by the new road which it is proposed should be made from Burwell to the Wicken main road in Heditch Field. It would relieve the main road through Fordham of a considerable amount of traffic and assist an agricultural area. Newmarket R.D.C. has appointed a special committee to deal with the matter

1928 08 24 ES
Littleport railway station fire – 28 08 24 ES

1928 08 25
After the Ministry of Transport Inquiry into the tragic rail smash at Shepreth it now remains for steps to be taken to prevent the recurrence of such an accident. It was no one's business to pilot vehicles or foot passengers over the level crossing but was left to drivers to use ordinary care. Among the women passengers was a lady travelling to Finsbury Park, and she had with her a basket of eggs. After the smash, of course, she transferred with the other passengers to a relief train. When he arrived at her destination a railway official asked, out of curiosity, if he might look in her basket. Not one egg was broken!

1928 08 28
Witchford inquest, p6

1928 08 29
Sir – much has been written on the subject of the talking film; there is very little likelihood of any such startling innovation. The public would not want it, the difficulties of training whole casts of actors whose vocal abilities were not commensurate with their facial gifts would prevent it. But there is a real demand for audible film: News of the Day – public men making speeches will be seen and heard and personalities enhanced. Dramatic effects will be heightened by the production of 'noises' such as storms. Music Hall and revue sketches or 'star' turns will offer welcome interludes between the silent film plays and incidental music become an integral part of film production and not be left to the mercy of the local cinema orchestra – N. Sandeman, House of Commons.

1928 08 29
Sir – the bottom of Jesus Green swimming pool is in a very slimy condition and the shallow end practically useless for learners as they dare not venture away from the side. The custodian does not think there is a simple remedy; I suggest weighted cocoanut matting or a layer of sand. The custodian is successful with learners but he does not go into the water and hold them up with his hands but has a belt and rope and supports them from the bank. He has to be paid for his trouble and it is not everybody who can afford to pay – W.H.F.

1928 08 30
Newmarket Council heard that the Stewards of the Jockey Club felt the cost of purchasing and maintaining fire equipment should be paid for out of the rates, and not by voluntary subscriptions. But if a fire occurred at the grand stand, which was worth perhaps £100,000 their fire engine would be called upon to go and it seemed a great pity the Jockey Club could not contribute £250 towards the cost of an engine. The increase of housing and the storage of more petrol rendered the risk of fire greater and the need for a well-equipped brigade more pressing.

1928 08 30
Four London men had an amazing escape when a motor lorry overturned and caught fire at the Gog Magogs. The heavily-laden lorry was descending the Linton side of the hill when the steering mechanism gave way and the vehicle, careering down the road like a drunken man, skidded for about 50 yards, struck the grass verge and completely overturned. The engine burst into flames and the chassis became involved, but the men managed to extricate themselves, having sustained only minor injuries. Some obstruction was caused by the derelict vehicle which was eventually removed by a breakdown gang from a Cambridge garage.

1928 08 31
Lecturer collapses, p8

September 1928 CDN

1928 09 01
A case of typhoid occurred at Caxton Police Station. The patient, a woman, had been away from home a week or two before becoming ill and it would be extremely difficult to trace its origin. Various ditches and drains in the district were in an unsatisfactory condition. Likely sources of infection such as drainage and milk supply were being investigated. There had been no other case of typhoid in the county for 2½ years. Two cases of scarlet fever occurred at Papworth Everard; the patients have been removed to Cambridge Isolation Hospital & the house disinfected

1928 09 01
Motoring friends have remarked that they consider the new island and lamp standard at the bend of Victoria Avenue, Cambridge, a danger to road users, and although the Corporation's object was to prevent accidents they may do more harm than good. The motorist who was unfortunate enough to crash into the standard this week had his vision partially obscured by heavy rain but it would be the easiest thing in the world for a stranger to meet with an accident there. Because of the green background of the trees the standard is not visible to motorists until they are nearly on top of it – why not paint it white?

1928 09 01
Sir – if you walk into King's Parade, Cambridge you see on your right, stretching almost indefinitely to Trinity Street a long varied row of shops – tailors, photographers, booksellers and cafes – in fine all the indications of the necessities of modern life. You may linger before window displays of the latest dance record, buns and cakes, photographs of college eights, and books and books. You notice the windows reflect your new summer suiting and admire its fashionable cut. Yet turn round and your gaze encounters minarets and towers, white gleaming the sunshine. Great walls, vulnerable with tradition, frown coldly down at you and you feel absurdly out of place in your flannel trousers and double-breasted coat – "Awe-struck"

1928 09 05
Ald Conder said the country was buzzing with town planners; the Cambridge East town planning scheme was drawn up by Cambridge Borough Council and covered part of Chesterton RDC area. It reserved certain land for allotments so the owner sent in a claim for compensation to the Town Council; as the land was in Chesterton they forwarded it to the RDC who decided to release it from allotments. So if one authority town planned an area outside its own boundaries it was possible that what had been done at great expense could be undone immediately it became inconvenient to another. That was the general trend throughout the country.

1928 09 05
Planners suggested there should be a belt on the west side of Cambridge where, if there were any development at all, it should be very sparse. Most of the land belonged to the colleges and it would be a good thing if they got together and put their estates into the hands of an association so that land which would be sterilised would be balanced by other where development was allowed. Ribbon development was bound to continue but there should be a very wide belt between the road and the houses. While people could buy frontages to public roads at about £2 a foot they did not mind going out a few miles.

1928 09 05

Cambridgeshire gets its quote of "Weary Willies" – the wandering fraternity and ne'er-do-wells – who, homeless and penniless, are content to patronise the various casual wards or 'spikes' and seek shelter at the expense of the ratepayers. I recall a visit to Cambridge 'spike' when bread and water was all we received in the way of sustenance and a stiff task of wood sawing or stone-breaking was expected in return. The 'spike' at Ely was, however, always regarded as a 'cushy' one. Today the tramp has a comfortable mattress to rest on, a hot bath, clean towels, nightshirt and sometimes a safety razor. On leaving he is provided with bread and cheese to sustain him on his journey.

1928 09 05
All applicants for admission to Cambridge workhouse are searched for contraband goods – not a pleasant task for the porter, and anathema to the tramp, who endeavours by all the tricks in his calendar to outwit the searching fingers of the official. No tramp is supposed to take in any tobacco, pipe, matches or money but to place them in his kit which is returned on discharge. But "Weary Willie" dearly loves a smoke; his stumpy pipe he will conceal in a toe of one of his big boots, in the other he places his matches or a selection of 'kerbstone mixture' – cigarette ends picked up in the streets - and Cambridge in Term provides him with a plentiful harvest.

1928 09 05
Money is often 'cached' outside the workhouse, the tramps burying the coins in the sides of some bank, below tree roots or behind loose wall stones. Another means of concealment is to embed some small coins in the pieces of soap "Weary Willie" generally carry; but a casual ward official has adopted the practice of probing every piece of soap with a hat pin and often comes across hidden treasure. Coins are also concealed in the mouth and an old tramp 'Long Amos' bemoans to this day the accidental swallowing of a sixpence while taking a bath in Royston 'spike'

1928 09 05
In a tramp's kit, carried in a dirty sack, you will find a curious collection of articles. Foremost is a 'drum', a large tin can fitted with a wire handle in which to brew hot water or black, strong, smoke-scented tea over a 'yog' (stick fire) by the roadside. Other articles include strips of cloth, known as 'toe-rags' used for binding round the feet in lieu of socks, pieces of old leather, rubber and a variety of nails for cobbling boots, a broken-bladed knife and a rusty spoon. He will also have a tin box holding a collection of 'hard-up' and a number of sheets of out-of-date newspapers gathered from rubbish heaps – "Weary Willies' Library"

1928 09 06
Labour library, p6

1928 09 07
Northampton Street picturesque houses, p6

1928 09 07 ES
Random notes on Barway – 28 09 07(2) ES

The County Library; how it caters for various interests; books for farmers by Miss Philip, County Librarian: The long dark evenings will soon be with us, when even the farmer has time to read. There is, at the county repository, an interesting collection of books written by experts on every branch of farming. Several Isle of Ely farmers have read and profited by such books as "Dairy Cattle and Milk Production", "Soils and Fertilisers", "The Growing of Lucerne" and "The Home Doctoring of Animals". We also have the report on the marketing of potatoes, fruit, eggs and poultry Books are sent by post to every bona-fide borrower and a postcard to the County Library, March, will bring you a list of available books from which you can make your choice. I do not want our useful books to gather dust on the repository shelves. Miss A.M. Philip, County Librarian for the Isle of Ely. 28 09 07(2) ES

Railway crossing Hundred Foot River, south bridge nearer Black Bank now being constructed – account of progress – 28 09 07 ES

1928 09 08
Harry Lauder's reminiscences, "Roamin' in the Gloamin" includes many references to the son he loved so well who was an undergraduate at Cambridge where it was his intention to take his degree as Bachelor of Music. Harry was in Australia in summer 1914 and it was arranged that John should join him for the Summer Vacation. Within five days of his return he was ordered to rejoin his Territorial Regiment and went to France. Harry was playing in his first revue in London when the news came through that Captain Lauder had been killed in action.

Hobbs pavilion, p6

1928 09 10
Captain Harry Spencer, the famous balloonist, was killed while attempting to release a balloon piloted by his son which had descended on the roof of a house belonging to Rugby School. He became affected by the escaping gas and rolled off the roof. He was responsible for the design of the famous parachutes with which he made hundreds of descents and in 1922 his son and daughter, then 14 and 16 years of age, made simultaneous parachute jumps with him at Cambridge from a height of 3,000 feet.

Haverhill fire, p6*

1928 09 11
The Cambridge works of Messrs W.G. Pye, the well-known scientific instrument and wireless apparatus makers were entered and the workshops and office ransacked. The works consist of several blocks of buildings extending from Cam Road to St Andrew's church at Old Chesterton. The visitor got into the transformer shop and then into a corridor by means of a hole which had been made in the wall for the fixing of a checking clock. Practically no damage was done and only a small sum of money is missing. It appears he was not a wireless enthusiast because none of the wireless parts were taken

1928 09 12
A mass meeting of milk producers is to decide what to do in the present crisis. Cambridge is fortunate in that a number of the local dairymen are also cowkeepers and able to supply a certain amount of milk independent of what they get from the farmers. The farmers are considering setting up milk depots in Cambridge in the event of no agreement being made with the retail trade, to ensure that milk continues to be delivered. But the Co-operative Society who supply the town with 5,000 gallons a week say the farmers couldn't carry out the distribution – 'it wouldn't be very sweet by the time the customers get it'

1928 09 14
About 50 children from Milton Road school, Cambridge journeyed by special Ortona bus to visit the industries of Sawston. Two groups called on the paper mill where the various processes were explained while another was piloted through the glove factory by Mr Hutchings whose patience in giving so many simple explanations calls for commendation. They joined forces to visit the works of Messrs Thomas Evans to see the various processes skins go through. During the journey home childish voices exuberantly declared that they would live in Dixie, where the hens lay omelettes. School was reached at 8 pm

1928 09 14
The Rev Charles Harold Evelyn-White, who has been rector of Rampton for the past 31 years, has announced his retirement. His work in connection with the restoration of the parish church, carried out under circumstances of exceptional difficulty is outstanding. He spoke of the wrench it would be for him and his wife to tear themselves away from both place and people.

St Ives fire, p3

1928 09 14 ES
Stretham: False alarm – cry went up that Mr J. H. Martin's farm at the Gravel, was on fire. Many rushed down the Military Road on any conveyance that was obtainable and more still heard the Fire Engine rattle past. The 'fire' turned out to be the old remains of a mustard stack Influx of visitors. Year by year the village is increasingly invaded by holiday markers at this season. This year a record number of people have visited. Probably this is due to the improved travelling facilities, such as the daily 'bus service to and from Cambridge and Ely, and also weekly trips from popular seaside resorts such as Hunstanton, Yarmouth and Skegness

1928 09 17
Standing on the site where 60 years ago business commenced in a small thatched cottage, the Sawston Co-operative Society's attractively reconstructed premises were officially opened. The old exterior has been pulled down and an up-to-date imposing front substituted. The Assembly Room upstairs has been dispensed with and the whole floor made into a spacious furnishing department. The Boot Department, which was formerly incorporated into the drapery section, is now entirely independent. Since 1867 so much trade had been done that if members had left their dividends and interest to accumulate it would have been possible to buy all the property in Sawston and allow the members to live in their houses rent free.

1928 09 17
Augustine Crossman, manager of the A.R.C. Knitting Works, Abbey Walk, Cambridge told the court he had left his Morris Oxford car at the Drummer Street parking place and when he returned it was missing. When found next day the spare wheel had been changed, the tyre being seriously damaged. The inner tube had been taken out and put under the rear seat. The body of the car had been strained, one of the doors leaving a gap when closed and the bonnet had dropped away from the radiator. A quantity of petrol and oil had been used and a pair of sun goggles stolen. The damage came to something over £10.

1928 09 18 c
Newmarket R.D.C. Corners Committee inspected the corner at the junction of Pound Lane with Church Street, Isleham. They were of opinion that an improvement could be effected by the removal of the frontage wall to the site of the Pound, which abuts on the corner, & by leaving the site open to the highway. The Parish Council is to be asked to remove the wall with the possibility of a builder carrying out the work in exchange for the materials. They then inspected a corner at the junction of Fordham Road and Red Row Soham and recommend that tenders be obtained for taking down 12 yards of concrete wall and rebuilding a new frontage five yards further back.

1928 09 19
Newmarket Rising Sun, p6
Gransden show, p8
Greyhounds Cowper Road, p8

1928 09 20
Soham – Wicken road, p3*
Greyhound racing, p6

1928 09 21
Cambridge Housing Committee was told some of the bays of Council houses in Romsey Town had been pulled down and rebuilt after they had been occupied. Rumours that a government inspector had been down and condemned some of the work were quite wrong. It was not a question of work being badly done but it could be seen as one passed down the road that they were out of the vertical. (Laughter). The clerk of the works responsible was no longer in the employ of the council

1928 09 21
Cambridge Watch Committee granted Messrs Brown Bros a further licence for a Lancia coach to ply for hire at Drummer Street on condition that only one of their buses is to stand there at any one time. But Ortona had six to 14 buses there at a time & Messrs Brown advertised fares at 6d to a shilling cheaper. Ortona paid the Council £250 towards the rates but if the public was being charged extra it was time this was dispensed with. A custom had grown up amongst police and other to give Ortona preference because they sent buses to various places, whilst the others went to only one.

Hazel, Stretham, horse, p5*
Victoria Avenue lamp, p5

1928 09 21 ES
A very wonderful engineering feat was performed on the London and North Eastern Railway on the main line between Manea and March when the old bridge across the Hundred Foot River was removed and a massive steel structure installed in its place. All in the space of one day. To those unfamiliar with the achievements of modern engineering science the task may well have appeared to verge on the impossible. Yet it was can accomplish practically according to plan and the line, which was closed after the passing of the Mail Train on Saturday night was reopened to traffic on Monday morning with the new bridge in place of the old. The immensity of the undertaking can only be adequately realised by those who visited the scene. And they were an immense body. Despite the fact that the place is an isolated one in the middle of the fence between Manea and Black Bank people from a wide area around flocked to the spot. And most of them must have marvelled at what they saw of the accomplishments of engineering skill. The old bridge was pulled away on ball bearings and afterwards the new structure was similarly drawn into position. Though that's easily stated that task was by no means simple for great weights had to be moved, and so far as the new bridge is concerned had to be moved with exactitude. The size of the new bridge may be imagine from the fact that it has a span of 135 feet with side girders to the height of about 23 feet, the whole weighing no less than 330 tons. The new bridge had been constructed during the preceding seven weeks and spanned the river close to the old one on the Welney side. The massive girders were unloaded from the railway tracks by means of cranes and were slung over the side of the old bridge. And the work proceeded until the whole rigid mass was completed. Then came the major task of substituting the new bridge for the old. The old bridge was a lifted by hydraulic jacks and railway lines placed with ball bearings between them. Then steel cables were attached old bridge drawn out. The next thing was to prepare the site for the new structure and the transfer of the new bridge begun. Several times it had to be stopped while adjustments were made but gradually it got nearer to its final resting place. Then the approaches had to be made up and the permanent way restored. The first train was a goods train from March to Bury St Edmunds which passed at 6.20 am. The new bridge forms part of a larger scheme to reconstruct the line over the washes which in winter are flooded. And now a similar project is being carried out on the other side of the Wash. When the familiar old timber bridges have disappeared a final length of railway built to modern standards will take their place. They have rendered splendid services.
Since the train wait was first carried across the Wash one ever present risk has been that of fire. In dry weather watchman have had to be on duty day and night guarding against the danger. Started by embers from the fire boxes of passing engines, small fires have often been discovered and duly extinguished. 28 09 21(2) ES # c.26.2

1928 09 21
A Jangling of the Bells. Last July an alarming incident happened. When Mr. A. Pope was attending to the flowers in the churchyard se was startled by a great crashed in the tower and a jangling of the bells. He informed the Rector who, with the Parish Clerk, Mr. B. Parish went up to the tower to find out the reason for the noise.
It appeared that a great block of stone used to keep the weather vane steady had broken away from the iron support on which it had been swinging for many years owing to the corrosion of the iron. This stone had fallen on the oak beam that protected the bells and had smashed it to matchwood.

The Diocesan Surveyor said the spire was in a highly dangerous condition and at once drove off to see the Bishop in order to get his permission to close the church for divine service until the spire was again safe. He was able to secure the services of Mr. W. Prentice, the well-known steeplejack of Southend who happened to be in the neighbourhood.
It appears that owing to the swinging of the large block of stone at least 30 feet of the spire was twisted and in imminent danger of falling. This danger had been looming over the church since 60 years ago, when certain repairs were done after the spire had been struck by lightning.
The necessary repairs are now almost completed and the spire, which is a well-known example of the beauty of medieval art will soon be again a beautiful landmark for the countryside.
But the sum of at least £350 pounds has to be found to defray the cost.
The parish is wholly agricultural and although a loyal response to the appeal for funds is expected it is hoped the situation may make a large appeal to all those who desire to keep up ancient landmarks and preserve ancient buildings. The Bishop has headed the list of subscribers – feature and photo – 28 09 21 ES

1928 09 24
Sir Horace Darwin, a son of Charles Darwin, died at his home, The Orchard, Huntingdon Road, Cambridge having been in failing health for some time. By his passing we have lost yet another distinguished son of inventive and scientific genius and a personality who will be much missed. A former Mayor and chairman of the Cambridge Instrument Company, he was much interested in the training of mentally deficient children and helped to establish a home for them at Girton

1928 09 25
F.W. Mills, engraver death, p5

1928 09 27
The most disastrous fire seen in the fens for some years originated in West Fen Farm, Ely. Owing to the bad state of the road the Brigade experience considerably difficulty in getting close to the fire. The flames were twenty feet high and showers of sparks floated about in all directions. In the midst of the blazing yard was a valuable drum and elevator which was practically reduced to scrap iron. The glow of the fire was noticed for miles around and many people who saw it motored or cycled to the isolated scene.

1928 09 28
Charles Coborn, the veteran comedian famous for his singing of "Two Lovely Black Eyes" and "The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo" recalls an early visit to Cambridge: "We were drummed out of Cambridge a day before we had arranged to leave because of having infringed some Medo-Persian law of the Vice- Chancellor by stationing ourselves on market day in some prohibited place". He also met two gypsy brothers named Smith who lived in caravans and supported themselves by chair mending. One was father of the now well-known Gypsy Rodney Smith.

Impington burial ground, p8
Rendezvous ballroom reopens, p8

1928 09 29
"Every member a sportsman and every sportsman a member" is the motto of the Cambridge Town Football Supporters' Club which came into formation at a meeting at the Liberal Assembly Hall. They did not want supporters to grouse about players because they had not done the right thing, they left that to the Football Club. Supporters should not call out to the referee or players during a match and they wanted to stop the use of any bad language.

1928 09 29
The Chief Constable of Huntingdonshire, Capt J. Rivett-Carnac, is learning to fly and proposes to buy a Moth aeroplane. He said he was learning for fun: "Although in these small planes you can take off and land in any field you cannot often get from door to door within a county any more quickly than by motor-car. Only on very rare occasions do I foresee the need of an aeroplane for my official duties"

Chair of Dentistry, p8

October 1928 CDN

1928 10 01
Conditions at the University Library have become more and more serious and in 1924 a Syndicate recommended a new library on a new site. Land was bought and plans prepared by Sir Giles Gilbert Scott, estimated at £500,000. But it was possible for them to finance only half that amount. Now an offer has been received from the Rockerfeller Foundation of a sum to enable the building of the complete library without delay.

1928 10 02
The advent of the Michaelmas Term finds hundreds of "Freshers" faced with the problem of choosing a suitable wardrobe for University life. Grey flannel "bags" have come to be universally associated with the 'Varsity man and he would be well advised to include two or three pairs in his outfit. Plus-fours however are nowadays almost as popular as they are particularly adapted to an undergraduate's activities. It is best to choose a really good tweed mixture of a fairly bright pattern.

1928 10 03
The chairman of the Ouse Drainage Board came in for some heckling at a meeting at Cottenham. After the disaster in Southery Fen in 1915 and 1916 the work of the Board had saved the entire South Level from being flooded last winter. But Mr Wright-Graves said the value of the land had been brought down from £25 to £10 an acre. The tax was more than the occupiers could bear and it would be better to have a flood once in seven years.

1928 10 05
Cambridge Council of Share Out Clubs celebrated a 'life' of 20 progressive years at a commemoration dinner. In 1908 it took seven or eight weeks to pay out a death claim because the Secretary collected a "penny per nob" from each individual member, now they were paid within two days. There was not a finer insurance system to which one could belong. There were now 89 clubs and a membership of 4,360 and in five years they had paid 260 claims amounting to £2,571.

1928 10 05
Negotiations have been concluded for a fusion of interests between the Oxford Playhouse and the Festival Theatre, Cambridge and J.B. Fagan and Terence Gray will be jointly responsible for the policy of both theatres. There will be an interchange of companies between Oxford and Cambridge and the ultimate aim will be the setting up of a theatre in London. When the ensuing term is finished the Oxford Playhouse will be demolished and an entirely new theatre constructed.

1928 10 05
An inquest at West Wickham heard how a roadman met his death by falling from the back of a steam roller. The driver said the deceased had been sitting on the tool box at the back of the engine, which was towing four vehicles. At church corner the man was all right but when he got round the corner a man shouted at him and he ran back to find his colleague dead on the road in a pool of blood. The body was left lying in the road for an hour before a policeman came and it was moved. The coroner said that if people found a man hanging or anything like that it was their duty morally to cut him down and try and save his life. It was not necessary to wait for a policeman.

1928 10 06
New University Library, p8
Grantchester discovery, p8

1928 10 08
"Ain't it all right and all", jubilantly exclaimed a man in working attire after looking round the new Cambridge Labour Club at Romsey Town. This remark expresses the general appreciation of the handsome and well-appointed new premises which have been built in their spare time by members of the various trade union organisations to provide the Labour Party with a home of its own. It is nearly 2½ years since the foundation stone was laid by Mr Ramsey MacDonald and since then work has been going on steadily on nights and Sunday afternoons. The men have been putting their hearts as well as their backs into the work and the result is a club-house of which the builders may well be proud.

1928 10 10
New potatoes, p6
Ely bus problem, p7
Concert losses, p8

1928 10 11
The churchwardens of Hauxton brought a suit against Mr J.H. Stevens of Brookside Cambridge for repairs to the chancel of the church which was at present very much out of order. The roof was sagging, rafter rotting and there were tiles off. Mr Stevens was now owner of various lands, the profits of which had been used in the past to pay for repairs. But he was not the lay rector or he would have the right to sit in the principal place in the chancel. He had paid tithe but had not been told of any responsibility to repair the chancel, if he had known he would not have bought the land.

1928 10 12
Linton housing needs, p7
Balsham water, p7

1929 10 12 ES
Isle of Ely County Library success, school library appreciated, funding problems means Librarian post only part-time but working six days week – 28 10 12 &(2) ES

1928 10 13
Histon cemetery, p7
Notorious burglar, p8

1928 10 15
Willingham Ouse meeting, p2*

1928 10 16
In Salisbury Villas, Station Road, Cambridge is an embryo Missionary School of Tropical Diseases and Hygiene. Since its inception 85 missionary candidates have received instruction in anatomy, bacteriology and medicine to enable them to care for their own health when far from qualified aid and alleviate sickness and suffering on the field where they will be working. It was founded by the Rev. E.S. Fellowes-Farrow and housed in rooms in his private residence.

Guyhirn accident, p3
Chesterton police station, p8

1928 10 17
Sangerr's circus, p7

1928 10 18
Cambridge Guardians have sanctioned the provision of a cinematograph at the Poor Law Institution. A Kodascope machine will be installed and a subscription raised to cover the cost of £1 a week. The provision of music on cinematograph or wireless was just as much part of the Institution as providing medical and dental treatment. The also considered the installation of a system of telephones

Pointer's sale, p6

1928 10 19
The ancient parish church of Caxton has long been in a sad state of decay. The chancel, nave and tower, floor, walls and roof have been unsafe for some years. Last year toadstools were growing at the foot of the pillars, which were green with fungus, and ivy grew through cracks. Huge lumps of plaster continually falling from the ceiling have made it dangerous for worship in the nave. Water poured through the roof in twenty places, the walls were crumbling and the floor in the last stages of rot. Scarcely a pew can be used again and hardly a rafter is free from rot. The population is small and consists of agricultural labourers but they have already raised £100 and now appeal for funds.

1928 10 19
The 'Cambridge Chronicle' newspaper applied for a renewal of the lease of their printing works in Market Hill. For the last 100 years they have carried on business there, they were the best-known works of the kind and if they were obliged to quit the machinery and plant would be very costly to transfer. But the owner said she intended to pull down the premises to carry out a scheme of development.

Mortuary, p6
Victora Avenue refuse, p6

1928 10 20
"There are probably a large number of people in Cambridge who would like to pull down half the colleges for street widening purposes and more who would be entranced by a design for a new King's College Chapel, done by the Borough Surveyor and suitably embellished with pagodas & geraniums", claims The Observer. The article includes the headlines 'A Threat to Cambridge. The Vandal on the Backs. Blackpool-on the-Cam'. It reveals how ignorant they are of modern Cambridge opinion.

1928 10 20
Judgement was given in the case brought by Hauxton Parochial Church Council relating to the liability to repair the chancel of Hauxton parish council. After investigation of ancient documents it was found that liability for such repair devolved upon the person who owned certain lands. Although he denied that he had been made aware of this when he brought the land, Mr Stevens had paid certain sums to the vicar, which had been another part of the responsibilities specified. It was therefore adjudged that he was indeed responsible for the repairs to the chancel.

Swaffham Prior pump, p7
Abbey church porch, p8

1928 10 22
Haverhill Literary Institute committee drew attention to the very small sum placed in the collection box at the Reading Room during the year. It had always been the rule that the Institute should be open to non-residents but they would be expected to show their appreciation by contributing something towards the expenses. Judging from the amount received the privilege was not valued very highly as the average income was twopence-halfpenny a week. The reading room was used very largely by outsiders, especially on market days. Such habitual users should become members

1928 10 22
Viscount Ennismore, the Cambridge undergraduate who is the son and heir of the Earl of Listowel, has decided not to use his title. In future he wishes to be known by his family name as plain "Mr Hare". The Viscount, who is at Magdalene College, has been talked of as a Socialist but he definitely denied belonging to the Labour Party. "I am a member of the University Labour Club, but we are merely a body of young men interested in progressive politics. It is a matter of conscience: I feel I have enjoyed an unfair advantage and believe that titles are an artificial distinction", he told a CDN reporter.

1928 10 22
Newmarket was deeply shocked by the news that Mr Fred Archer, the well-known racehorse trainer and nephew of the famous jockey, had been thrown from his car and killed in collision with a stationary bus in Woodford High Street. Mr Archer was alone in the car, a big limousine. Until recently he trained for Lord Glanely at Newmarket. His greatest achievement was the winning of the Grand National in 1925 with Double Chance, a horse given him by Anthony de Rothschild as being useless for racing but which went on to win eight races.

1928 10 23
What is probably the largest single deal in Cambridge business property ever known has just been completed. A well-known local young man has purchased property with frontages in Market Hill, Petty Cury and Sidney Street and this will be developed by a company consisting of Cambridge people. It includes premises occupied by the Craft Shoe Company, the Cambridge Chronicle offices and printing works and Boots the chemist. As Messrs Boots recently secured a large amount of property in Petty Cury and Sidney Street it would appear that big changes will be seen in this part of town when both sites are developed.

Tipperary club, p6

1928 10 24
Downing Place fire, p6

1928 10 25
Pointer sale, p6

1928 10 26
Abbey church porch, p6

1928 10 26 ES
Ely de-luxe motor ambulance, gift of F.L. Harlock; has electric lighting, fully-enclosed driver's compartment etc – 28 10 26 ES

1928 10 27
There is much speculation regarding the £42,000 Cambridge Market Hill deal; a large cinema and café are spoken of, but there are no details at present. It would be for the benefit of the town if the whole island site could be taken over by the Corporation; then as the leases run out it could be cleared and would provide a magnificent site for municipal buildings. Road traffic now demands that all building operations should be planned for what will be needed in the future, with a wider Petty Cury, Market Hill and Sidney Street. Something of the sort must eventually be done unless it is the intention to remove the Guildhall and market nearer the station.

1928 10 27
A Lolworth couple were sentenced to six months hard labour for wilful neglect of their four children. They were extremely dirty and verminous and their clothes, the shirts in particular were almost incredibly dirty. The boots were so bad it would be better if they went barefoot. Their beds consisted of old sacks filled with flock and covered with ragged blankets and coats, they were saturated and smelt abominably. The husband was a good working man but the woman made no effort to keep the house or her children clean, and was something of a millstone round his neck.

1928 10 30
Undergraduate drunkenness, p6

1928 10 31
A disastrous fire resulted in the almost total demolition of the famous old water mill at Grantchester. The flames spread with such rapidity that within 30 minutes the position seemed helpless. The interior was just like a flaming cauldron, presenting a fiery beacon for miles around. The fire originated in the engine room where there was an oil engine, chemical extinguishers were tried without result. The men were beaten back by the smoke and flames; several were unable to save their coats and three bicycles had to be left to the flames. The only lives known to be lost were those of a cat and her kittens but it is thought some rats were also trapped, judging by the squeaks that were heard during the progress of the fire.

Histon stone corner, p8

November 1928 CDN

1928 11 01
Sir – in last nite's paper it was sed there is a lot of drinking in the Kolleges and someone asked what does the waiter think of it. The waiter thinks it's a dry job, that's all – just a job and a boiled shirt and somebody's second-hand dress suit. The yarn about Kollege feasts is all rot: there is a lot of drinking – they drink enough water to drown three or four Rev Gentlemen – Sam

1928 11 02 ES
Ely accommodates England's greatest beet factory, employing 670 men: photo feature – 28 11 02(2) ES

St Germans pumping station authorised – 28 11 02(3)(4) ES # c.29

Coveney church to hear broadcast from Canterbury Cathedral – 28 11 02 ES

1928 11 03
The Lord Lieutenant, Ald. C. Adeane said that a fatal accident at the Babraham cross-roads might have been prevented had they put up motor caution signs but the County Council had declined to do so. With the increase in traffic and speed of motor cars a grave responsibility rested upon them, such signs should be erected at all dangerous points. At another dangerous cross on the Great North Road at Eaton Socon the side roads had now been brought into the main road at such an angle that it was virtually impossible to have an accident and something similar should be done at Babraham.

Childrens' toy fund, p3
Bourn school, p7
Cambridge aeroplane club, p8
Prohibition candidate, p8

1928 11 05
Rail smash, Holme, p5
Barrington cement works, p5*
Electricity, p5*

1928 11 06
Sir – I apologise to the many residents of Histon and Impington who responded to our invitation to witness a demonstration of phono films from our Conservative Association touring van. Owing to the obviously organised attempts to cause damage to the van and its valuable machinery by the continuous throwing of large fireworks I considered it unwise to give the demonstration. We advocate the fullest freedom to all political parties to place their propaganda before the public but the opposition which was meted out to us that night, under cover of the fog, was unworthy of any body of Englishmen – Walter W. Light.

Wilburton vicar, p4

1928 11 08
Paderewski pianist, p6

1928 11 10
Soon after daybreak the advance guard of the thousand undergraduate poppy sellers sallied forth to all quarters of Cambridge, determined to beat the record figures reached last year. The warmth of their enthusiasm was sufficient protection against the keen frosty air, and scorning overcoats they patrolled the lonely streets and waylaid those hurrying to business. They were so cheerfully importunate that only a modern Scrooge could have refused them and most people seemed only too willing to pay off another small instalment of their war debt.

1928 11 10 c
Carnival conditions prevailed in Cambridge where the poppy-decked shoppers met amusing spectacles on all hands. On no previous poppy day has undergraduate ingenuity been so fertile. Chief among the many attractive schemes for money squeezing was "Banger's Circus" in which an unidentifiable animal with 'flannel bag' legs, and a monkey led on a chain by a top-hatted ringmaster were noticeable. The procession was disorganised when the monkey developed a thirst and dashed into the Angel, dragging the not-unwilling circus master with him

1928 11 10 c
An explosion in Lensfield Road, Cambridge brought people to their doors and it was seen that the cover of a large manhole in the pavement had been blown into the air and flung on the roadway where it had smashed. Fortunately there was no one near at the time and no personal injury. Even a horse standing by attached to a milk cart was untouched and apparently unperturbed by the untoward happening. The manhole contains GPO telephone cables; two employees were at work at a smaller manhole, about 80 yards away. They were applying a blowlamp when the explosion took place; it is thought the two manholes are connected and the flame must have ignited gas.

1928 11 12
Trinity Hall window, p5
Brockett, lab assistant, suicide, p5

1928 11 13
The bringing of the electricity supply to villages is not without its difficulties; the erection of power lines by the Bedfordshire, Cambridgeshire and Huntingdonshire Electricity Company would seriously effect cultivation and put the agriculturalist to more expense. It was reasonable that poles should be erected down green lanes rather than across a field planted with fruit. The lines had already ruined one of the most charming parts of the county. But others felt people would not object if that meant it prevented the supply coming into their area.

1928 11 15
Sir – As a motorist who has travelled 18,000 miles on English, Irish and Continental roads by day and night since April last I protest against the statement that there are few roads on which it is safe to drive at 30 mph after dark. The efficiency of modern cars, brakes and headlights, the invaluable illuminated night signs and the sound state of the road surface make such speeds perfectly safe at night in uncrowded districts. The night motorists one great menace has been the un-illuminated rear of the push cycle, but they are now required by law to carry a rear reflector thus eliminating any danger in this direction –Sir William L. Williams, Malcolm Place, Cambridge

George Asplin, Stretham, accident, p6

1928 11 16

Newmarket cycle accident, p5*

1928 16 C
Nearly 400 dogs of all sorts, shapes and sizes were on view at the Cambridge Canine Society show. Pekinese classes were well filled, while Cairn terriers were a very nice lot. Fox terriers too provided strong classes and West Highland terriers made a very good show. A splendid lot of cocker spaniels were headed by a beautiful black, Pilot of Cambs, shown by Mr A.J. Storey who took the cup for the best gun dog. An Irish wolfhound, shown by Mr J. Nagle, was outstanding and took the club cup, although Miss Cross' St Bernard ran it very close.

1928 11 17
The great gale which swept the country blew down trees, damaged roofs and caused damage. The most serious loss is the removal of the roof of the grandstand on the Cambridge Town Football Club's ground. The cross at St Barnabas church was carried away but no person was injured in its fall. Hoardings on the LNER Railway's property near Cambridge station have been razed to the ground and the line was blocked by a signal that was blown down near Waterbeach. At Trinity College the famous 'Sedgwick Elm' in the Fellows' Garden was partly blown down. At Ely two large sheets of lead were lifted on the roof of the cathedral nave and a huge chicken shed in Lynn Road was completely demolished.

1928 11 19
Rignall accident, p5

1928 11 20
A meeting for clothing workers was arranged at Haverhill to reform, a branch of the Garment Workers' Union. It should never have been allowed to go out of existence but during the slump of 1921-22, when trade union assistance was needed more than ever, the workers fell away. What the union was asking for was one penny an hour more for girl workers, a halfpenny an hour for men and a week's holiday a year with pay. Once there was a branch at Haverhill members could depend on being looked after by the union if trials and tribulations came.

1928 11 20
Earlier we gave details of a £42,000 deal in Cambridge Market Hill; now we can reveal proposals to build a super Victoria Cinema that will accommodate about 1,800 people and embody all the latest improvements with the most comfortable seating and an excellent orchestra. Large waiting lounges will be included to accommodate all queues in the building and protect patrons from the weather. A luxurious café restaurant is also promised. We are unable to state whether apparatus for 'talkies' will be included but no doubt if this art develops sufficiently well in time this new asset will not be overlooked.

1928 11 20 c
The executors of the late Mr P.P. Gilpin are to sell the famous racing establishment, Clarehaven at Newmarket, where a winner of practically every big race, save the Cambridgeshire, has been trained. It practically adjoins the Limekilns and is convenient for both sides of the heath. The property includes a gentleman's house, a splendid range of 40 loose boxes, beside yearling boxes, hack stables etc and is complete in every detail.

1928 11 20
Sir – I watched a Cambridge policeman on point duty outside Woolworth's and was struck by the smart way in which he held up, or signalled on, vehicles. I saw him stop the traffic to allow a lady with a child in a push-chair to cross the road, lead a child over and pull to safety a woman who was in danger of being run down. I asked him whether he often had to pull people out of danger and he told me: "These village folk are not used to town, and one has to expect such things" – M. Bowyer

1928 11 20

Members of the Cambridge public who have been mystified by the appearance of wooden huts in various places will be interested to learn they are police telephone boxes. They will be small sub-police stations. Each will contain a telephone in a cupboard which the public can use to get in touch with the Central Police Station, but not for general calls. The box itself will only be accessible to the police. Thirteen are to be erected

1928 11 22
1928 has been a bad year for the prevalence of diphtheria with over 100 cases in Cambridge, resulting in 14 deaths. There have been 37 cases in elementary schools since September and six have ended fatally. Taken early the disease can be treated with a serum but parents are liable to mistake the first symptoms for those of a slight cold, a sore throat or the mumps. There is no traceable cause for the outbreak and personal contact, not insanitary conditions, is a primary cause of its spreading.

1928 11 23
The Isle of Ely County Council has taken over the road across Mepal Causeway as a main road but have no responsibility for a concrete viaduct. But, recognising the great delay and danger to the public when the road is flooded, they are prepared to find 25% of the cost. During floods last winter traffic was held up for three weeks; it was impossible to get a boat across and 40 workmen from Mepal had to walk eight miles after a day's work, travelling from Bluntisham to Sutton by rail. If the viaduct was built it would be one of the greatest improvements since the Council had been in existence.

1928 11 23 ES
New bridges for Isle of Ely: tenders for bridges Dog-in-a-Doublet, Boot's Bridge near Wimblington, Twentypence and at Mepal with a causeway across Wash; during floods traffic was held up for three weeks and 40 working men had long walk,; Sutton School closed by clergyman who had no power to close it – wanted children there so could take swabs of infectious diseases – 26 11 23 &(2)(3)(4) ES

1928 11 24
Almost every aspect of undergraduate life will be seen in the new 'talkie' film now in course of preparation. The director is an old Cambridge man and he has persuaded the authorities to permit the general public glimpses of the interiors of some of the most sacred institutions. Certain 'dons' whose names are household words are interested in the project and will describe the characteristics of some of the fine old buildings while in one scene the star part will be played by a popular University hairdresser whose saloon and waiting clients provide the setting.

1928 11 26
Hinton Avenue trees, p5

1928 11 28
Many parsonages in the Ely Diocese were too large picturesque 'white elephants'. They were expensive and the upkeep was quite out of proportion. The incumbent must repair and often improve it, but he could not sell it or even fell the timber in the grounds without permission. Trustees should be established to classify properties, sell or re-model and improve them. A list could be drawn up with the prices fixed and agents who wished to buy would know where to go. But this would mean more officialdom and be a step in Socialism. And nothing was said about security of tenure; the work of the clergyman was hard and this mischievous and wicked interference would make it harder still.

Diphtheria, p6

1928 11 30
Chesterton RDC would never sanction the erection of petrol pumps which encroached on the highway. But the danger was not so much encroachment as the arm of the pump blocking the footpath and causing women with perambulators to go out on to the road. They were also told that during the recent gale the total loss in their 374 houses was one pane of glass and three slates. This was a matter for congratulation.

December 1928 CDN

1928 12 01
In the administrative areas of Cambridgeshire County Council there is only one town, Cambridge; the population of the town and county area are almost equally balanced. In ordinary circumstances Cambridge would have been made a county borough with all the advantages that accrue, had it not been that this would paralyse local county government. As a result it has had to suffer and remains under the control of the County Council, a body which is almost entirely rural in character. Under the new rating assessment Cambridge will find some 70% of the money but has fewer representatives on the county council than the rural areas; this is an intolerable position the Cambridge MP told the House of Commons.

1928 12 05
The number of cases of venereal diseases in the Isle of Ely has increased; of those attending the centre at Cambridge the number ceasing treatment before their cure was completed was more than last year. Poverty was no bar to treatment since railway fares are paid to all necessitous cases on application and laboratory facilities are provided free of cost to all Isle medical men. Six beds are reserved at Addenbrooke's Hospital for in-patients' treatment for these cases and unfortunately there had been more call upon them during the year.

1928 12 05
A passenger train travelling from March to Cambridge at over 40 mph crashed through one of the level crossing gates at Milton during dense fog. A motor lorry was practically on the rails. The engine driver appears to have been ignorant of the accident until he stopped some distance from the gates to await a signal. He then sent the fireman back to see what had happened. The passengers were unaware of any mishap. The Milton gates seem to be ill-fated. Numerous similar accidents have occurred there.

1928 12 06
A Little Downham baker told the bankruptcy court that he had bought the business for £900, but there was little trade, the weekly takings averaging £15. The majority of the business was the bread round. He took over two horses and a cart, but one horse had the colic and the other a stroke so had to be shot. He did the baking when he was able and produced about 12 stones of bread a day. Sometimes he had no profit at all. He blamed his failure on keen competition – there were four bakers in the village, much too many for the size of the place.

1928 12 06
Members of the Ely Musical Society were cut with flying glass and bruised about the body in a motor bus crash. They were returning from Downham Market along a winding road when the front wheel of the bus skidded and it charged two trees. Luckily Mr Medcalfe, one of the Ortona Company's most careful drivers, stuck to his wheel which saved the situation very considerably. They were taken to a farmhouse and the driver went on the pillion of a motor cycle to Ely to get help. Another conveyance was sent to convey the unfortunate singers home but a heavy fog hanging over the fens made it difficult for traffic to proceed.

1928 12 06
For some time Cambridge bowlers have felt the present facilities were not attractive enough and they ran the risk of losing fixtures with first-class counties because of the state of the greens. Now an anonymous donor has offered a lease on ground in Brooklands Avenue; it would not require a great deal of levelling. The act was one of extraordinary generosity and should allow the formation of Cumberland turf greens and other sporting attractions.

Ringing door bells, p7

1928 12 08
Sir – Undergraduate fashions have changed since I came up to Cambridge in 1877. I never saw an undergraduate wearing knickerbockers nor carrying an umbrella and on our heads we had to wear hard felt hats when not wearing cap and gown, winter and summer. Perhaps half a dozen men would venture out wearing straw hats but they were spoken of as 'snugs' – strange and weird people. Of course straws were worn by men who had gained a place in their college boats and was part of the rowing costume, but not worn in the streets. We all had to look smart and well-dressed, with no slouching about with hands in trouser pockets. What a change! – Senex

Ramsden Square lamps, p5

1928 12 10
The fine building in Newmarket High Street known originally as the Victoria Hall was built 31 years ago on the site of the Greyhound Hotel and cost £80,000 to erect. No expense was spared to make it equal to the West End Hotel. A theatre, a Turkish bath, a ballroom and garden with fountains were added. But it failed because it was too good for the needs of the place. It was bought by Barrington Lynham, a flat race jockey, who has made this huge hotel pay. A cinematograph now occupies the theatre and it has been the venue of dances, dinners and presentations. Now it has been sold. The Victoria Cinema will be carried on in conjunction with the Kingsway Cinema and the Victoria Mansions will be a residence for well-to-do persons who can afford to rent a flat with every accommodation in the centre of the metropolis of the Turf.

Cambridge Home of Mercy, p3

1928 12 11
Cambridge councillors considered the provision of a car to replace the Ford at present used in the Highways Department. They agreed to transfer the Austin used by the Borough Surveyor and authorise him to obtain prices for the purchase of a new car. Subsequently he submitted estimates for a new Austin in part exchange for the old Ford car from Messrs Marshall & Co, Jesus Lane (£285.2s) and Herbert Robinson, Regent Street (£276). They are to accept the Robinson's offer

Old Corporation documents, p8

1928 12 12
Women having been granted the Parliamentary vote the Cambridge Committee for Equal Citizenship celebrated this great event. Invitations were sent out to all members of the Cambridge Women's Suffrage Association to meet Dame Millicent Fawcett at Newnham College. There was a very large attendance. Mrs Bethune-Baker traced the history of the movement in Cambridge. Among the first subscribers were the Mayor and Vice Chancellor but the cause fell on evil days. Members of the voteless sex had stood all day at polling booths on a wet day and undergraduates had tried to force their way into a meeting at the Guildhall.

1928 12 13
W.G. Fullick complained of the dangerous state of Gypsy Lane, Dullingham; hardly a day passed without someone falling from a bicycle. He supposed the Council would rather pay out compensation than put a little gravel down and noticed that the Councillors all had good roads to their residences. He hoped the Council would soon wake up and do something

Grantchester Mill, p3

1928 12 14 ES
Stretham Water: scheme for supplying water from a well in the Rectory grounds of a new cowshed recently erected by Bertram Parish. Pipes laid from well under the road and now assured of an abundant supply of pure water. Is pumped by a small engine into an enormous tank which can be filled in twelve minutes. This automatically keeps supplied the water pans in each stall, ensuring pure water for each cow. The buildings which were erected by Routledge Bros on the most up-to-date lines are a model of cleanliness – 28 12 14(2) ES

Hundred Foot Wash – second railway bridge completed – 28 12 14 ES, photo 28 12 21(3) ES # c.26.2

1928 12 15
Cambridge Medical Officer said properties in Little St Mary's Lane were in a state so dangerous or injurious to health as to be unfit for human habitation. One house was so dark he could not read a newspaper, although the sun was shining. He recommended closing orders prohibiting the use of the houses until they are rendered and to serve notice to this effect on the owners. The nuisance of a rabbit skin warehouse in Sturton Street was also being dealt with

1928 12 15
St Catharine's Farm, Coton, has been taken over by the Stetchworth Dairies. Built in 1922 it contains the finest buildings of any farm in the Eastern Counties and it is because of the spacious byres for cows that the Dairies have secured it. It is another asset to their fine chain of model milk producing farms, which includes Ditton Hall Farm, Rectory Farm Milton and Aldham House Farm, Chesterton. At Merton Hall Farm, Madingley Road the cows are milked by electricity.

1928 12 17
A 15-year-old farm labourer from Melbourn was accused of having inserted a filed farthing in an automatic cigarette machine and obtained a 6d packed of cigarettes. Charles Cooper, postmaster and grocer of Shepreth said he had a machine outside his shop and had missed several packs of cigarettes this way. He kept watch, saw the accused leave the machine, checked the money and found the farthing. The lad said he had seen other boys do it too.

Whittlesford hall, p6*

1928 12 18
Stretham housebreaking, J.H. Savage p5
Rose & Crown, Newmarket Road, p5*

1928 12 19
Lady Glanely, of Exning House, was saved from almost certain death when her car overturned and burst into flames near Royston. She was accompanied by her maid and the chauffeur was driving when the car came into collision with a cyclist, skidded and overturned. Within a few minutes the car was a mass of flames and she was trapped inside, unable to open the door. A man who was passing immediately rushed up and fought like a madman and managed to drag Lady Glanely out of the debris to safety. He rescued also the maid and assisted the chauffeur who had been unable to free himself. But for this man's brave intervention nothing could have saved her ladyship. A motor scout who was in the vicinity did his best to quell the flames, but in vain; the car was completely burnt and all her ladyship's luggage and her jewels, which were of great value, were lost.

Eglantine Jebb death, p5

1928 12 20
Lady Glaney rescue, p8

1928 12 21
The Ouse Drainage Board heard the mud and refuse from Ely Sugar Beet Factory was clogging up the river so that even tugs could not get through even with no boats in tow, except on a channel ploughed day after day. The water was being held up towards Cambridge and there was serious danger of flooding. It was a waste of money to have dredgers in the Ten Mile River getting the mud out when it was being put in faster by the Beet Factory. Thousands of tons of mud were going into the river and it was a scandalous affair. The whole of the river between Ely and Denver Sluice had a thin coating of slime all over it and was the consistency of a mud-pie. It will not be the Ouse Drainage Board much longer if this goes on: it will be the Ouse Drowning Board.

Shepreth railway smash inquiry, p5

1928 12 21 ES
Stretham house ransacked and clothes stolen; Allen C. Savage, a baker, assisted father in his business P.c. Green received information that the dwelling house of John Henry Savage of Stretham had been broken into and clothing stolen. Four strange men had been seen … entry had been gained through a window and every room ransacked. In a spare bedroom was found an old pair of brown cord trousers, cloth herringbone jacket, waistcoat, an old mackintosh and cap. He took them and circulated information … four men were arrested in Cambridge – 28 12 21&(2) ES

1928 12 22
Coal wharf tragedy, p5*
River pollution, p7
Eglantyne Jebb, p8*

1928 12 24
The benevolent spirit of Christmas descended upon Cambridge Police Station when 350 of the city's poorest families received good cheer at the annual distribution under the Police Poor and Needy Fund scheme. "Robert" again proved what a real good friend to the poor he can be. He relished his job of amateur shopkeeper, skilfully wielding the butcher's knife and shovelling potatoes into sacks with good-natured gusto. With a cheery word for every recipient he sent happy families away loaded with Christmas dinners and good things in general. Perambulators which had arrived empty were wheeled away bearing protuberant sacks.

Fulbourn centenarians, p5

1928 12 27
There was no place in Cambridge where greater efforts were made to bring about a happy Christmas that at the Poor Law Institution, Mill Road. Gone forever were the old traditions of Bumbledom and the hardships associated with the workhouse regime. Enthusiastic spirits and untiring hands had transformed this already 'rejuvenated' building into a place which re-echoed in every corner to the joyous note of Yuletide happiness. The vestibules were almost as gaily decorated as the wards, festoons and balloons meeting the eye in every direction. A novel feature was the use of Flanders poppies, given by the British Legion. Santa Claus arrived in a sleigh drawn by two Alsatians; strangely enough the Master was not to be found when Santa arrived.

Review Year (national), p3
Christmas bathers, p3*
Wyton licensee, p5

1928 12 28
Gautrey reminiscences of education, p6*

1928 12 28 ES
March Council's fine record of house-building; 192 houses owned by the town – photo feature – 28 12 28(2) ES

Ouse Drainage Board; serious river pollution at Ely due effluent from Beet Factory – tugs could not get through; whole river towards Denver had thin coating of slime; it was full of beet refuse and bubbles and stank and was most objectionable. It would cost up to £1,000 to dredge it out. – 28 12 28 ES

1928 12 29
No more rackets, p6

Please make what use of this you may. Kindly remember where it came from – www.mikepetty.org.uk

1929 Cambridge Daily News and Ely Standard

I have copies of articles summarised or marked *`

January 1929 CDN

Note: several of these stories were not fully typed up

1929 01 02
Home of Mercy cake, p8

1929 01 03
An Isleham baker was summonsed by the inspector of weights and measures for having loaves deficient in weight. He accepted the measurement although he always put three ounces of dough above the weight required to cover evaporation during baking. But under the prosecution act it was stated that the loaves must be for sale and these had been weighed in the bakehouse. They might in due course have been offered to the public but were not then for sale. The case was dismissed.

1929 01 04
Zion Baptist Church, East Road, Cambridge was opened on January 1st 1879 and nothing has been done to the fabric for several years. Now a scheme has begun for renovating and repairing the church. Mr Dunwell recalled his former Sunday school fellows: "The boys were ten times worse than they are today. The teachers used to read to them from 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' which often made them cry, but did their part in helping to build up character. Today there were not so many willing to work among the children"

1929 01 04 c
The new extension of Whittlesford Memorial Hall is of wood taken from the 1st Eastern General Hospital, Cambridge. If its timber could talk what a tale they would learn of the sufferings and bravery of many wounded men. It consists of two billiard rooms, one containing the billiard table from the officers' mess at Duxford Aerodrome and the other from the Red Cross Hospital at Whittlesford on which the soldiers used to play during the war. The whole is lit by oil lamps, though it is hoped that electricity will come to the village early next year. The original hall was opened in 1921.

1929 01 04 ES
Ely Rural Council takes palm for house erecting:
Ely Rural Council has built a record number of houses since the war. As soon as the cry for homes and more homes arose, the Council set out to meet it and in every part of the area stand smart little monuments to the splendid work of the Council. They have provided 400 homes since 1920.By some the rents of these houses have been thought somewhat excessive, but when the figures involved in their erection are laid bare it will be appreciated that they could be made no lower if the Council were to show any respect for the word 'economy'.
Now, apart from Littleport, where houses are still needed, the housing requirements of the area are practically met.; photos of Mill Field and The Crescent in Littleport; Ely Cromwell Road, Chief's Street – 29 01 04 & (2)-(5)ES

1929 01 05
Cambridge always responds to a good cause with nearly £1,000 collected for the Miner's Distress Fund, but the County's response is very poor. It seems that requests for large sums – guineas or pounds - to send to one of the Cambridge banks does not appeal to the people in the villages, many of whom are not directly in touch with banks in the way which Cambridge residents are. They do not like to send in their modest contributions and local clergy should organise collections. The villages have done splendidly for Poppy Day and Addenbrooke's Hospital and would welcome the opportunity to support the Miners.

1929 01 08
The Chief Constable said that one of the cars now in use was a danger to the life of the Deputy Chief Constable; it had been used every day for the past ten years, so it had done extraordinarily well, but was now positively dangerous to go about in. The cost would be about £150. The question of payment arose and Mr Taylor objected to "this wretched system which is going on all over America of paying by instalments". It was agreed a new car be purchased and paid for now and a sub-committee was appointed to make the purchase.

1929 01 08
Too much time is now taken up by the police in traffic management, which is not a primary police duty; it could be controlled by the RAC and AA patrols, County Councillors argued. They were better than the police because they had motors. It would be difficult to make arrangements with the associations and would probably mean the motor scouts becoming special constables. Others felt traffic control should be dealt with by a special police, though the time was not ripe for them to increase the numbers. But Col Tebbutt said he would not like to see two sorts of police in the country.

Village plays, p3

1929 01 10
Two Ashdon brothers were charged with the theft of a pair of gent's shoes at a dance in the village Labour Hall. They had hidden them in a hedge. When the theft was announced by the M.C. the dancers made a collection amounting to 11s.6d. One brother had contributed to the collection but dare not say that the shoes had been taken as a practical joke. He later took them back into the lavatory of the hall. In a village like Ashdon there was not much humour about and by their actions they had made themselves look silly and idiotic

1929 01 11
Haddenham dog, p5

1929 01 11 ES
Littleport Labour Party's Social Club fire – 29 01 11(3) ES
James Heygate's draper's shop at Littleport celebrates Jubilee – 29 01 11(3) ES

1929 01 12
The Wolseley 16/45 h.p. 'Silent Six' is the finest two-litre six-cylinder car that money and experienced have ever succeeded in producing. Its silence, smoothness and rapid acceleration are really wonderful. It is vibrationless from 6 to 60 mph. Let us give you a trial run – we shall be pleased to do so. Tourer £365. Saloon, £375. Authorised main distributors – E.T. Saint & Co. Ltd, Regent Street, Cambridge. – advert

1929 01 12
Sir – The Cambridge Surveyor offers to supply 'Standard Bins' at 4s. 9d and limit the amount of refuse. These are certainly tidy but judging from the state of some of the bins one feels that potential disease forces lurk under the lids, especially on murky warm nights. The advantages of the old wooden box or tub is that when the bacteria and damp have done their work the said container perforce refuses refuse – I.M. Tired. Editor: I believe the sanitary dustbins are infinitely preferable to the old wooden boxes without lids that often decorate our pavements and provide a happy hunting ground for stray dogs.

1929 01 12
At the Playhouse I had the pleasure of seeing 'The Three Students', the first of a series of Sherlock Holmes films with Eille Norwood in the role of the detective. It was of special interest because the greater part of the film was taken at Cambridge. A reference in these columns some years ago to another Sherlock Holmes film, 'Moriarty', in which John Barrymore appeared as Holmes in his college days at Cambridge, brought a letter from Mr Norwood who wrote "When we filmed 'The Three Students' we took some of the scenes at my old college, St John's".

A. Tillyard novel 'Young Milliner', p8

1929 01 15
The many Cambridge friends of Mr Raymond Bennett, the comedian, will regret to learn of the misfortune which befell him and the variety company, the Piccadilly Follies, when the New Hall Theatre, Tiverton, was completely destroyed by fire. His worldly possessions were reduced to a pair of stage trousers, an old coat and twopence. The company is in dire straits without money or their stock-in-trade as all their possessions were with them and they have lost everything.

1929 01 16
Joseph Ashworth Sturton, principal director of Messrs Sturton Ltd of Fitzroy Street and a former Mayor of Cambridge has died at Bournemouth. The son of Joseph Sturton, the founder of the business 100 years ago who developed the land now known as Sturton Town, he was born above the shop and proved an industrious business man, opening branches throughout the region. In 1919 he purchased Thurston's bakers and confectioners and soon added a café. Mr Sturton was one of the first in Cambridge to interest himself in the motor car and took up the commercial car in connection with his business. He was a prominent nonconformist and founded the flourishing New Street Men's Bible Class.

1929 01 16
Sir – Cottenham and Histon parents who have children using the Ortona bus to and from school in Cambridge are perturbed at the condition in which the children arrive. They are compelled to travel on the top deck of the open-top bus when it is full at the bottom. This usually happens in wet weather. What prevents the bus company from sending a covered double-deck bus for their use? Children from Histon have an alternative to go by rail, which is considerably cheaper and are provided with a heated carriage and kept dry – A Parent

Twin doctors, p6, (inquest 18th p5)

1929 01 17
Competition in the tea-shop line is terrific, Cambridge is stiff with them, a court was told. Two ladies had taken the tenancy of 11 St John's Street in 1923 and increased the takings with a large number of resident customers as well as undergraduates. They made everything they sold except for sweets and cigarettes & paid themselves between £60 and £80 a year out of the takings. Trinity College said if the premises could not be used as a tea shop the rental value would drop from £120 down to £85 as it was in a bad position for an ordinary retail business.

1929 01 18
Cambridge Councillors considered erecting 50 houses of a type within the pecuniary means of the people who would have to be moved from insanitary houses. In some places eight people were living in a single room under exceptional circumstances of poverty. But a man might say 'I am paying 3s. 6d. a week for two rooms and I cannot afford any more'. So what type of house was going to be built? In some of the houses there were elderly people and moving them perhaps two miles would be quite out of the question.

1929 01 18
There are about 800 unemployed men in Cambridge, due to seasonal work and the closing down of the Cement Works, one of which had closed permanently though the others would reopen in a short time. They include 84 builders' labourers, 138 painters, 32 carpenters and 16 plasterers. The council has drawn up a programme and 134 men are working for the Borough Surveyor but they urge all who had work for painters, plasterers or builders to put it in hand at once.

Fishery board restocking

1929 01 25
Duxford air crash, p5

1929 01 23
Caxton Rural Council received a letter from the Beds. Cambs. and Hunts Electricity Company seeking permission to fix an overhead wire from St Ives to Eltisley. The line would go through Hilton and Papworth and be a great boon. Mr Moss asked if the wires would be high enough to clear a man on a loaded cart. He had seen the wires near Cambridge and they seemed very low. The Chairman said this was a matter for the owners of the land. He pointed out that it was the top wire that was the dangerous once, and the lower ones were merely guards.

1929 01 24
Conington air club, p5

1929 01 25
The Inspector of Schools said that in recent years there have been great improvements in Cambridge; they had got rid of such places as Sturton Street Infants and Occupation Road schools which were not fit to teach children in. Not only was it impossible for the teachers to give of their best but it was absolutely cruelty to children to make them go there. Occupation Road in particular was really insanitary. They had done exceedingly well in the reduction of the number of unwieldy classes; there are now 11 classes of over 50 children and 35 with from 40 to 50.

1929 01 25 ES
Old Bank Farm, Littleport, a mile and a half down a winding lane, is one of the oldest in the district and has been in the Watson family for 157 years. In turning out an old drawer a letter dated January 1829 was found. Present owner Aaron Watson was born in the house. One or two alterations have been made, one modern window inserted and sheets of corrugated iron substituted for the thatch, but the old-fashioned fireplace remained in the kitchen – 29 01 25(2)

1929 01 26
A young Cambridge lady in attempting to make a short cut across Midsummer Common to the towing path became embedded in the half-frozen silt and mud thrown up by the dredger. Another lady went to her assistance and suffered a similar fate. Their frantic signals soon attracted the attention of passers-by; two or three young men waded out to them while others formed a human chain. The would-be rescuer was extricated with little difficulty but the first lady became more deeply embedded. Eventually a ladder was procured and a rescue effected. Fortunately no bones were broken but she was so badly shaken up by her ordeal that she had to be removed on a hastily-improvised stretcher

Skating, p5
Photofilm van, p6

1929 01 28
The County Architect presented sketch plans for a new building on the Cambridge castle site, containing office accommodation, with council chamber, library and storerooms. It was futile to prepare plans for their existing needs when it was practically certain that under the new Local Government Bill they would have a large amount of additional work thrown upon them. Mr Dunn had erected the present County Hall in Hobson Street & was able to compete with the best architects in the country with regard to a beautiful scheme and a beautiful building. But if he was forced to collaborate with another architect there would be delays and they would never get the building erected.

1929 01 28
Certain documents of an historical nature are stored in Cambridge prison on Castle Hill and access is permitted to University students for the purpose of study. But if a County Hall is built on the site the Prison will be pulled down and the documents removed. The University fears that they would lose a very big educational factor and urge the County Council to provide accommodation for them in their new building. Having regard to the tendency of modern legislation to give Councils more work they would probably require considerably more accommodation at the end of 20 years and such storage would then be valuable for administrative purposes.

1929 01 29
A story of how a large family had been living in a tent of sacks and sticks was unfolded at Cambridge court. The man had not done any work for eight years and the woman provided for her family by hawking. They lived by wandering about the fen district camping out, and the only time the children had proper covering was when they were in poor law institutions. They had in a tent in Cuckoo Lane, Cottenham; it could not be called waterproof, on the floor was a small portion of straw and there was a foul smell

Rev Thomas death, p6

1929 01 30
Cambridge Preservation Society wishes to prevent any repetition of the disfigurement of the country as has taken place around the Shelford Road. They felt that at all costs the pleasant road to Madingley and the view from the Hill should be secured. Finding the danger was acute they decided to direct whatever funds were available to this end. They have bought about 380 acres of land but built up a considerable debt that must be repaid.

1929 01 30
Mr George Sharman, of March, the head of a well-known Isle of Ely family, was killed through falling in front of an express train at March railway station. He founded the 'Cambridgeshire Times' series of newspapers in 1872 and was actively concerned with the management for many years, two of his sons subsequently taking over the reins. Recently he took over an estate and land agent's business. Several years ago he had a seizure while waiting on the March station platform and fell on the line but was not seriously injured. A widow, five sons and a daughter are left to mourn their loss.

1929 01 30
General regret will be felt at the news of the death of Mr Eliab Pamplin, partner in the well-known firm of agricultural engineers. With his brother, Walter, he followed in the footsteps of his father who was a pioneer in founding the engineering concern and under them it grew to still larger proportions. He farmed extensively and also found time to devote to public service; his knowledge concerning road construction proving of great value to the Highways Committee. He took an active interest in the life of Cherry Hinton and recently made a gift of £100 to the Parish Council to extend the recreation ground.

1929 01 31
A Lancashire farmer who came south during the war and took a farm at Wimbish told the Bankruptcy Court that he should never have done so had it not been for Mr Lloyd George's promises. He'd said this kind of farming in this country should never fall back into the condition that it has done and also promised credit banks which have never been fulfilled. Six out of the last seven seasons had been bad; he had three sons working for him who never had anything for 11 years, not even pocket money. They thought they were entitled to 10s. a week beside their food: "At last they got so disgusted I gave them three guineas each and they bought a Ford car", he said.

1929 01 31
Mr Geoffrey Pyke of the Malting House School, Cambridge appeared at London Bankruptcy Court. He'd opened the school in October 1924 as a research school for children's education and never had any idea of making money out of it. He had expended £15,000 on it as against fees amounting to some £600. It was amply staffed and records were kept of the sayings and doings of the boys. That formed part of the research work and although the records were of scientific value they would fetch only ten shillings as waste paper. In fact he would not expect to receive a 'bean' for them from anybody who bought the school.

February 1929 CDN

1929 02 01
An aged Haslingfield woman who had lived for 17 years on parish relief in a state of semi-starvation was found dead in her cottage. After the funeral police searched the house and in all sorts of nooks and crannies found gold, silver and notes. But on several occasions the Relieving Office had found her eating a meal of toast, margarine and tea, and had actually sent out for bacon for her. Her family had no idea she was in receipt of relief and regarded her as a person of independent means.

Market day hours, p5
Potatoes, p5

1929 02 01 ES
Important road proposal, connecting link between Prickwillow and Soham; dangerous state of Adelaide road bridge – 29 02 01 ES

1929 02 02
Milton Road pub, p6
Sunday buses, p8
Parker's Piece tea hut, p8

1929 02 04
Mr Walter James Stearn, the Cambridge photographer, has died. He was a son of Thomas Stearn, the founder of the photographic business, and with his brother Harry made it well known in University circles. His success as a sporting photographer meant that he was known to more undergraduates than any other townsman. In his younger days he was a keen sportsman, rowing being his principal interest. He was president of the Rodney Dramatic Club and always sent bouquets to all the lady members of the cast of the plays, but could never be persuaded to appear on the boards

1929 02 05
The latest form of political propaganda, the Conservative's touring 'Talkifilm' is visiting Cambridge. The programme includes a speech by the Prime Minister which gives an uncanny effect of realism and a silent film showing the opening up of Canada. The van will visit Pound Hill, the Premier Hall Chesterton and Occupation Road, winding up at Cherryhinton Road corner

Shepreth school, p5
Stearn appreciation, p6*

1929 02 06
Cinema van, p5
Cambridge in fiction, p6*

1929 02 07
Workhouse visit, p5

1929 02 08
Abbey church porch, p8

1929 02 09
Licenced houses onjections, p5
Fiction, p6*

1929 02 12
Conservative talki-film, p6

1929 02 13
Histon Parish Council is to adopt the Lighting Act and install 16 standard electric lamps fitted with 100-watt bulbs at a cost of £225. There was every possibility of the electric light cable being extended in a year or so when several more lamps would probably be installed. Nine standards will be installed at Impington where the electric cable only runs down the main street. The Electric Light Company would lay more cables when a sufficient number of applications had been received from private consumers but this was unlikely to be for some time to come

Ice grip tightens, p5

1929 02 14
For the first time since 1895 there was skating on the River Cam. A thick sheet of ice powered with white snow, stretched unbroken from Silver Street to the electric light works. It was too inviting to be resisted and several skating parties took advantage of it. Many undergraduates took to the ice in front of King's College and at Quayside a man was seen cycling on the slippery surface. However the ice bore and he neither came off nor went in. At Silver Street it was possible to cross to the mill on the ice but below Jesus Lock, where the dredges is at work, the ice was broken up by the flow and black pools and crevices had appeared in the thin surface.

1929 02 14
A serious fire broke out at Caius College, Cambridge. Two rooms in Tree Court were completely gutted and others badly damaged. Policemen attracted by the blowing of a whistle in Trinity Street got a hydrant in the courtyard to work and the Fire Brigade was quickly on the scene but the inside of the building was almost a furnace. The fire was quickly got under but not before considerable damage had been done, including the falling in of a large part of the ceiling. The firemen experienced bad conditions owing to the intense cold, the water froze on their clothing and icicles were left hanging from the ledges

Woolworth's expand, p4

1929 02 15
Cambridge is becoming increasingly interested in folk songs and folk dances thanks to the local branch of the English Folk Dance Society. Keith Falconer, a Cambridgeshire man who is making a big name for himself in the singing world, is to perform at St Columba's Hall. A sword dance and Morris jigs are included in the programme.

Skating, p5

1929 02 15 ES
Chatteris council's part in solving the housing problem, carried out by direct – detailed article; photo of Wood Street, Doddington Road – 29 02 15(2) ES

Beales Lee of Witcham celebrated 90th birthday; born Quay Hill, Littleport, one of family of eight; farmed at Oxlode – memories – 29 02 15 ES

1929 02 16

All Cambridge seemed to be skating or carrying skates this morning and there is something like five inches of ice on many parts of the Granta. Eight hardy spirits took the plunge at the Town Bathing Sheds though it took nearly half an hour to break the ice. There have been bathers ever since the front began and many of them have hardly missed a day. The cold was so severe that the comb stuck in the head of one of them who was doing his hair. But the Open Flying Mile Straight Race, fixed to take place at Cowbit Wash, near Spalding, was abandoned after the Skating Association reported that it was not possible to provide a straight mile course to conform with the conditions.

Corner house and Venetian restaurant, p2
Cambridge mummers, p6

1929 02 18
The North East Coast contingent of the unemployed marchers who are making their way to London arrived in Cambridge. Carrying banners, singing old war songs and rattling collecting boxes they entered the town via Huntingdon Road. The local Labour Party and Trades Council having decided not to give them official recognition the 88 marchers proceeded direct to the Poor Law Institution, Mill Road, where the staff had made preparations for them. They were given Irish stew and entertained at their private cinema installation.

1929 02 18
A serious fire in which some valuable implements were destroyed occurred in a large hut at Whitehall Farm, Littleport. The Fire brigade were handicapped as the pipes were frozen and the whole of the structure was completely burnt out, including a 12 hp Alvis motor car, the axle and gear box of a Chevrolet lorry, a cultivator and set of harrows. Prompt action by Ely police & firemen averted a serious fire at the Bell Hotel Ely where a large beam behind a fireplace in one of the upstairs rooms had ignited. It was in a difficult position to get at and there was no alternative but to take the fireplace out.

Skating, p5

1929 02 19
Cambridge councillors debated the proposed exchange of Butts Green for New Square in order that it might be converted into a parking place. If I lived in New Square I should not be at all pleased at the idea of that nice little patch of green giving way to a parking place, but if I had a business establishment in Fitzroy Street I should say “Yes, let the cars park there by all means”. There is a danger of New Square being built upon in the near future and residents may consider a car park the least of two evils. Others are concerned about using the amenities of Butts Green, though one questioned whether it was used for anything but beating carpets.

Mills site inquiry, p6

1929 02 20
New Square letter, p5
Skaters beware, p5

1929 02 21
Cambridge Guardians debated purchasing number 137 Gwydir Street for the few children in the Workhouse. Mr Francis said they should not build on that side; there were complaints of the smoke and grime and he could not imagine a much worse place. The right place was at Chesterton where they would at least get the air and the sun. Mr Lofts said they could not afford to expend that amount of money, while they could board children an extension was unnecessary. There was no rule against boarding out children under three but they tried to keep babies with their mothers

George Fordham death, p5*
New Square, p5

Frontage lines, p6

1929 02 22
Skating ends, p5

1929 02 22 ES
Donald Pearson of Mepal wins professional skating championship of England – 29 02 22(4) ES

Great ice carnival; important races include Mepal, Swavesey, March and wins for C.W. Horn of Upwell – 29 02 22 ES

1929 02 23
C.W. Horn did not, as he had hoped, beat the professional time for the three-miles' circular skating course at Lingay Fen. The ice, though hard underneath, was distinctly soft on top and it gave the officials some anxiety owing to the large number of people who insisted on clustering round the finish. The crowd numbered several hundred. The closest heat was between G.E. Martin and F. Bebas from Spalding, there being only two-and-a-half seconds between them

Telephones at stations, p5
Swaffham Prior school, p7
New Square, p8

1929 02 25
A disastrous fire occurred the Hall, Little Shelford in the early hours of Sunday morning with the result that the building was almost completely gutted. It was discovered by Mme Carne, the governess who with the butler and the maid were immediately above the fire. Captain and Mrs Gordon Dill removed their children to safety in the Lodge. While waiting for the fire brigade, which was delayed owing to the terribly thick fog, the occupants attempted to subdue the outbreak, then confined to the pantry, with buckets of water. But the heat melted a lead pipe and the cistern emptied so water had to be fetched from a cottage about 30 yards away. The building is 71 years old being erected in the grounds of the old Hall which was pulled down in 1858.

1929 02 26
Pyke, Malting House School, p5
George Fordham funeral, p8

1929 02 27
An Ely watchmaker told the Bankruptcy Court that he had started in an upstairs room in the High Street in 1926, moved to a shop in Broad Street and then Fore Hill. He obtained the post of tenor lay clerk at Ely Cathedral at £110 a year and for twelve months collected the water rate, being paid £1 a week for it. He played in a band occasionally and got five shillings an evening but denied his problems had been caused by drinking and loose living.

1929 02 27
Cambridge Photographic Club's exhibition contains a number of local views. Mr Bellamy has eight nice photographs, the best of which is 'Farm near Barton'. Mr Watson's 'Suffolk Road' is a fine rich picture, as is also his 'Pampisford'. In the novice's section Miss Dorothy Bellamy has a well-arranged print 'Street in Chesterford' and Mr Boutflower shows a charming 'Over Ferry'

Skating, p7

March 1929 CDN

1929 03 01
Public houses – Star, p5

1929 03 01 ES
Ely lady skating behind motor-cycle combination – 29 03 01(3) ES

1929 03 02
Sir: Quite a number of people took advantage of the frozen river last weekend to skate to Ely and among them were three Newnham girls. It is 34 years since last such a journey was possible. It was February 1895 that I and two friends undertook the journey. On arrival it was suggested we continue to Denver Sluice but after two miles the ice was very bad, so we returned. I wonder how many have ever succeeded in it, a distance of 72 miles there and back. I am fond of skating and have been to Ely five times – 'Septuagenarian'

1929 03 02
Cambridge Justices approved a hotel of a 'superior improved modern type' on land adjoining no.203 Milton Road. It would meet the needs of people as a social club and be a house for travellers as well, with a dining and tea room. The luncheon room should be open all day and the manager be a man of catering experience who should be encouraged to sell non-alcoholic refreshments and food. Opposition was forthcoming from the Master of Magdalene College who have a sports ground nearby and from various temperance, religious and welfare bodies.

1929 03 02
Caxton Guardians heard that an elderly brother and sister from Great Eversden had been admitted to the Workhouse because they could not get anyone to look after them. Their house had been searched and £34 10s. in notes, £7 in gold and £42.13.6 in silver, making a total of £84.3.6. was discovered. It is understood the woman also has £199 in the Post Office Savings Bank

Parking place, p8

1929 03 04
Reed Farm, a large house on the Babraham Hall Estate was completely destroyed by fire; all that remains are the walls and dislodged masonry which is strewn about the cellars and the ground floor so that the scene resembles the result of an earthquake rather than a fire. The house was occupied by Captain and Mrs Fraser with a staff of two maids. He had time to get into a suit of clothes and some gumboots but his wife and the maids were not so fortunate. She had time to dress downstairs sometime later but the maids had to dress in the garden

1929 03 05
Fire alarm system, p3
E. Jenkins, Borough Education Secretary death, p8

1929 03 07
Cambridge farmers heard that a telephone has now been installed at Bartlow railway station; they could not understand why they were not installed generally all over the country. Most farmers were on the telephone today and the railway company were losing a lot of business by not having telephones at all stations. Many farmers sent pigs to factories by road because they could not get in touch with the railway to order a truck

1929 03 07
A Linton butcher was fined for exposing for sale imported meat, each piece of which was not labelled with the word 'Imported' and the words disclosing the country of origin. An Inspector of Weights and Measures said he visited the shop and saw a considerable number of pieces of meal, some of which he suspected were imported. There was no label on any meat in the shop. The butcher produced a label marked 'Imported' from a drawer and said he had not put it on since the war. He did not attempt to deceive customers since the pieces of imported meat were not mixed up with English meat

1929 03 07
The Cambridge MP was told that the Post Office have been working on a combined handset for telephone purposes. The old handsets where the mouthpiece and the earpiece were combined – you picked it up and put it to your ears and you could hear and speak and were employing only one hand – was useless under modern telephonic conditions. Although still in use they are being replaced because you cannot get the same quality of speech as you can with the ordinary pedestal telephones. The American Telephone and Telegraph Company have provided the very latest type of apparatus and this has been improved on.

Wicken Road unemployed, p5*

1929 03 08
Meldreth fire, p8

1929 03 09
Sir – I have watched the progress of H.M.S. Dredger at present operating off the footbridge, Chesterton Road, Cambridge. Some months ago they dredged one half of the lower river in the vicinity of Jesus Locks and deposited the sludge on the Chesterton side in the river; later the dredged the river above the locks and deposited the sludge in the actual place previously dredged - 'One of the financing party'

1929 03 09
The dislike of railings in Cambridge seems to be growing. Some time ago the heavy railings in front of King's were taken down and now the University Press railings have been removed. This will make more room for pedestrians and traffic coming round the Silver Street corner. One wonders what is to become of them. Are they to be scrapped as 'old iron' or are there other people who would be glad to secure what we are anxious to discard.

1929 03 12
Newmarket councillors having considered the position of the temporary island refuge near the Clock Tower agreed it should be permanently fixed and be lighted by a double lantern to be left alight all night. Only two of the four corner lamps should be lighted in future. They also agreed to let the supper room at the Memorial Hall to the County Council for two hours each Friday to be used for issuing books from the county library

1929 03 13
The University Proctors have considered regulations for students who desire to use aircraft during term time. Undergraduates flying their own or civilian aircraft may lead to annoyance from low flying and accidents. A Light Aeroplane Club has already been formed which gives facilities for flying within a few miles of the University. Now no student may fly as pilot or passenger during term time without written permission from his parents and tutor. Those offending will be liable to be punished by suspension, rustication, expulsion or otherwise.

1929 03 13
Newmarket police court heard that the head lad to Mr Boyd-Rochfort was in charge of a string of 21 horses that wanted to cross the road. As they were crossing he heard a car coming from Mildenhall. He put up his hand and shouted but the driver kept on coming and did not slow down. He took his car off the road and went through the string of horses which became alarmed. The driver said he thought there were two strings of horses, had seen a gap and accelerated to get out of the way as quickly as he could. He was a careful driver and assisted the police on every possible occasion. But it was a serious thing to cut through a string of racehorses and he was fined £3.

1929 03 14
Bennett Ward, farm labourer of Toft said he went to fetch three cows from the field to be milked. He looked up and down the road, opened the gate and two crossed. The third was in the middle of the road when a motor car came along and hit her on the hindquarters, knocking her into the ditch. She weighed about half a ton and was full of milk. The two front lamps and the radiator of the car were damaged and there was a very deep skid mark which tore the road up. The farmer claimed £26 for depreciation of value to the cow, the driver counter-claimed £18 for damage to his car.

Teashop case, p7

1929 03 15 c
A Cambridge undergraduate was fined for an assault on a taxicab driver who attempted to push him off the running-board of a stationary cab. It took place after a bump supper when he was in a very excited condition. Robert Osborne said he went to the ADC Theatre and left his cab on the rank on Jesus Lane. The undergrad and others came along the road and turned the starting handle of the taxis. He jumped on his running-board and would not get off, so he pushed him off. The lad then hit him several times.

1929 03 15
A case of considerable interest to people buying or selling goods on the hire-purchase system was heard at Cambridge court. Messrs Miller & Son sued the former musical director of the Tivoli Cinema, Chesterton Road over an H.M.V. gramophone and records. The agreement said that the machine was to be kept at a house in Chesterton Road but he had moved it to the nearby Spring Hotel without being granted permission. When he moved to the West Kensington Super-Cinema, London, the firm had seized the machine.

Fen Causeway bypass, p6

1929 03 15 ES
Soham new parish hall foundation stone laid – photo – 29 03 15 ES

1929 03 16
A member of the Cambridge Watch Committee was seen chalking the number on the front of his motor car in Market Street. His front number plate had recently been repainted and, forgetting it was not in its usual place, he went for a 40-mile trip. Next day he was stopped by an observant policeman who was adamant that he could not go on. “What shall I do”, asked the motorist. “Go into Heffer’s and get a pennyworth of chalk” said the policeman, which suggestion was at once acted upon.

1929 03 16
There was no man who stood higher in the esteem of his fellows than John Chivers and the news of his death was received with widespread regret. The Free Churches had in him a good friend and, always a stalwart Liberal, he rendered yeoman service to the party. As the name of Cadbury is to Bournville so that of Chivers is to Histon. He developed the business that his father built up with the active and personal support of his three sons and today the fame of the ‘Orchard Factory’ has spread far and wide.

1929 03 16
Whilst shaving the other morning I caught sight for the first time of one of the brand new motor dust waggons and called other members of the household to see it. “Freighters” is the correct word for them and they have the reputation for being dustless loaders and more hygienic generally. There are four openings each side with sliding covers so that everything is closed in & when the men are on the way back to the destructor with their load there is none of that unsightly mass of paper and rubbish above the loading line with which we have been familiar in years gone by. Altogether a great improvement.

1929 03 16
The new edict with regard to flying by undergraduates is well timed. Conington aerodrome is used by the Aeroplane Club and now comes news of a private aerodrome for Cambridge. Marshalls, automobile engineers of Jesus Lane are opening it shortly. It is on the main Newmarket Road less than two miles from Cambridge. There is a railway station 200 yards away and a 20-minute bus service connection. One hangar has already been erected and the whole site is about to be put down to grass. Marshalls are agents for the de Haviland Aircraft Company and already have their own demonstration machine ready at the aerodrome.

1929 03 19
Exning stable fire, p5
Gt St Mary morning bell, p7
Dorothy plans, p8

1929 03 20
Chivers funeral, p8

1929 03 22
Cambridge council is to introduce automatic traffic signals at the crossroads at Northampton Street and Chesterton Lane for a three-month trial. The present cost of a policeman on point duty was about £400 a year and the signals, with purchase, would be about £200 with about £25 a year maintenance and repairs. But Coun Stubbs described it as "robot policemen"; a friend in Liverpool had had to wait ten minutes with a clear road before he could get a move on. He did not see how traffic could be controlled as well as by human means: "I can see myself telling it to mind its own business" (Laughter). It was at the wrong place, being at the bottom of a steep hill; it would be better at the East Road – Mill Road crossing.

1929 03 22
Percival Rodrigo, a canvasser … obtaining photograph … from Gertrude Thompson … said he was setting up a branch in Fitzroy Street and canvassing photos for advertisements – would enlarge it .. represented the Westminster Studios. Albert Chandler, photographer printed leaflets warning about canvassers - CDN 22.3.29

Advertising Royston, p5
Scotland Road dumping ground, p8

1929 03 23
Centenary boat race, p5
Electricity cable, p7
Shire Hall model, p8

1929 03 26
An inquiry was held into proposals by the Ouse Drainage Board to carry out work at Welmore Lake Sluice. The Ministry had agreed to fund one half of the cost of £30,000 but local ratepayers objected saying it was unfair to expect them to pay so large a sum when the work would benefit many others. The sluice had been constructed about 1825 and benefited the Middle Level as it prevented the tide coming up against their barrier banks. Methwold and Feltwell Drainage Board protested against payment for a sluice which would confer not one penny benefit on them. They were being asked to 'hold the baby' and it was rather too lusty an infant for them to hold. If the cost were spread more fairly it would only amount to an 8d rate and no one would feel the pinch.

1929 03 27
Some interesting observations on windmills were made by Mr H.C. Hughes to the Cambridge Photographic Club. His talk was illustrated by large number of slides. The oldest drawing of a mill in existence was in Longstanton church, cut in the clunch of the porch. Doubtless as the miller was always a bad man his boy took after him and having been turned out of church had spent the time drawing his father's mill on the church. He spoke of the mill at Haverhill with its rotary vanes, the six-sailed mill at Wisbech and the mills at Stretham and Fulbourn, both of which were still working.

The latter should be preserved if any should, so beautiful was it on the long rolling slopes behind the Roman road.

Conington air display, p7

1928 03 28
Melbourn harness firm, p8

1929 03 29 ES
Ely's new housing scheme – perspective view of houses on New Barnes Road site – 29 03 29 (2) ES

Hillrow serious fire Mr Newman's farm; unable to save motor car and two motor cycles – 29 03 29 ES

1929 03 30
Coun Rowley spoke of the serious pollution of Histon Brook. There was a stream of black sewage matter six inches deep. From this pollution he had lost two horses and another which was about to die and he had been put to very heavy expenditure for water. If water was taken from a pump at Cottenham fed by the brook it ate through the tubes in one hour. They should apply for an injunction against Messrs Chivers resulting in the stopping of the factory. But there were a large number of cottages, a large laundry and a butcher all discharging water into the brook crude, and not filtered as at Chivers. The pollution came from up the brook at Girton as well as lower down

1929 03 30
Twenty years ago there were four weekly newspapers published in Cambridge in addition to the C.D.N. Then the Cambridgeshire Weekly News acquired the Cambridge Express and the joint production enlarged from eight to twelve pages. Much has happened since, including the incorporation of the Cambridge Independent Press and the introduction of a picture page. There has been a marked increase in paragraphs of village news; in 1909 three columns were needed, now they claim the whole of the last page of the paper and frequently overflow on to another. Members of the Women's Institutes may be interested to learn that last year we published about 600 reports of their meetings.

April 1929 CDN

1929 04 01
Four cottages, barn and outhouses gutted at Willingham; big blaze at Teversham; week-end blazes at Lt Shelford and Kneesworth

1929 04 02
Conington air display, p6

1929 04 03
Advertising Cambridge – Chamber of Commerce – pictorial posters issued, illustrated guides; more conferences wanted

1929 04 04
'Talkies for Cambridge' film in October – Central Cinema manager; new super-cinema on Market Hill next year, p5
Guardians decide against boarding out children , p6
Electricity Supply Company, p6

1929 04 05
Visit of famous eyesight specialist from America, p7
Old photos, p8

1929 04 06
'Motor buses', p7

1929 04 08
Southery school present Mikado, p7

1929 04 09
Newmarket gas works, p4

1929 04 10
The Sporting News new paper for Cambridge, p3
Death of 'Dad' Pointer, Waterbeach Salvation Army, p7
Trumpington car advert, p8

1929 04 13
Shire Hall courts debate, p8*
CDN motor fleet photo, p8
Rates, p8

1929 04 15
Waterbeach Salvation Army, p7
Burnt to death, Newmarket Road, p8

1929 04 16
Inquest, p5
Printing Cambridge Sporting News, photo, p8

1929 04 17
Isle school medical officer – children aged 5 admitted, p7

1929 04 18
Car plunges down bank at Six Mile Bottom, passengers through roof, p5

1929 04 19
Cleaners claim against Festival Theatre for altering curtains, p7*

1929 04 20
Visiting R101 at Cardington, p8*
Rural electrification, p6
Public executions, p8

1929 04 22
Cambridge undergraduate eloped with heiress, p5 (married 23rd p4)
Policeman assaulted trying to arrest drunk, East Road, p5*
Fen Drayton's tithes, p6*

1929 04 24
Brampton church stalls – University museum asked to return them, p6

1929 04 25
Prince Olaf of Norway visits Cambridge, p8*
Isleham suicide, p8

1929 04 25 c

Man changed mind over purchase land Cherry Hinton – CDN 25.4.29

1929 04 26
Gretna Green rag, p6

1929 04 26 ES
Adelaide bungalow fire – 29 04 26(2) ES

Ely Urban District Council meeting no longer open to public as none attend; complaints of report in Ely Standard – 29 04 26 ES

1929 04 27
Cambridge to have a modern caravanserie matched the modern splendours of Oxford St & Regent street where a thousand people may dine without strain on the service & dance too if they are so minded, a place of dignity & comfort & of surpassing resource. The old Dorothy cafe is to disappear - not so very old though as a modern restaurant - & a building of 3 storeys spanning space between Sidney St & Hobson street. Ground floor entrance Sidney St is shop & showroom & on eastern side a dining hall or restaurant. Principal staircase to first floor will be from hall at Hobson street entrance & access to a dance hall with black hornbeam floor on springs. This accommodation for 320 diners at a public banquet but specially prepared for dancing for 450 at once. At western end another dining hall. Another on second floor, seat 80, suitable private dinner of clubs & organisations. perhaps this will be the oak room which intention of Hawkins to decorate; also roof garden looking across to gardens of Christ's College. Nags Head inn will not disappear but be given place in the basement. Will take 18 months but Hobson St side will be completed before start made with Sidney St front to ensure restaurant open throughout

Duxford aircraft crash, p7
Dancing bear, p8
Old Corporation documents, p9
First page of pictures, p10

1929 04 29
National Skating Association jubilee, p8*
Ernest Hopkins suicide, Stretham, p5*

1929 04 30
Millington Road, p8*
Cambridgeshire Co-operative creamery liquidation, p8

May 1929 CDN

1929 05 02
Balsham water scheme, p3
Fen farmers' bankruptcy
Burrough Green farmer, p3*
Cambridgeshire photographic records, p6

1929 05 03 ES
Haddenham Mill End ratepayers request sewer; with regard to extension of water scheme – at Thetford have been considering scheme to get water from the river but Ministry would not sanction scheme. Was time something was done. Mr Kisby said he was frequently coming through Stretham where he saw boys, girls and women going about with pails carrying water from the pump. It was cruel to the women, the children and the housewife. At Wilburton every man had voted against the scheme – 29 05 03(2) ES

Great scheme for the Middle Level: new sluice besides pumps at St Germans – 28 05 03(3) ES

Don Pearson of Mepal presented with speed skating cup won at Lingay Fen – 29 05 03 ES

Ely R.D.C.: Thetford's need of water 29 05 03 ES

1929 05 04
Gray Elegy, p8
University MPs, p8

1929 05 06
Burrell's Walk, p3

1929 05 07
Guildhall flagpole blown down, p7
Burrell's Walk eviction, p7
Reach Fair, p7*

1929 05 08
Potato peeling machine for schools, p7*

1929 05 09
Coad comes to Cambridge, p7*
Fordham man buried in best suit – American custom, p8
Wood Ditton room, p7*

1929 05 10
Abbey Church new porch dedicated, p8

1929 05 11
Ashley runaway wedding, p5
Shop blinds drawn, p8
Shelford Road treat, p8

1929 05 13
Cycle paths proposed, p7*
Ouse Bailiffs, p3

1929 05 15
Alan Cobham's flying circus, Varsity flying rules, p5
Corporation Archives, p6*
'Talkies' & education & debate, p8

1929 05 16
Comberton college collapse, p8

1929 05 17 ES
Isle County Council accept tenders reconstruction Bell's Bridge near Littleport and Middle Fen Bridge, Ely; accept offer Burnt Fem Committee to contributed reconstruction Mile End Bridge – 29 05 17 ES
Supt H. Roythorpe retires Ely Police – details – 29 05 17 ES

Isle of Ely police off duty – named group photo – 29 05 17(2) ES

1929 05 18
Football referee attacked, p3
Flying pageant on Sunday opposed, p7*
Wilbraham fire, p5
Inaccurate map, p8

1929 05 22
First car in Cambridge, p5*

1929 05 24
Varsity flying, p3

1929 05 24 ES
Haddenham – serious fire F. Peacock engineering and machinery shop off Wilburton Road burnt to ground. Saved threshing drums but chaff cutter and car destroyed – 29 05 24 ES

1929 05 25
Storm, p5
Runaway marriage, p5
Players cigarettes, p6
Gilbert & Sullivan, p8

1929 05 28
Election results, p7

1929 05 29
Work for Cambridgeshire men, p8
Festival Theatre changes hands, p8*

1929 05 30
Election candidates' tours, p5*

1929 05 31
Haddenham motor cycle sports & gala, p3
George Fordham will, p5

1929 05 31 ES
Ouse Drainage Board – reconstruction Welmore Lake Sluice – 29 05 31 & (2)(3) ES

Ely U.D.C. Surveyor's annual report – 29 05 31 ES

June 1929 CDN

1929 06 01
Chettisham's water, p3*
Prickwillow bridge, p3*
Cambridge Undergraduate film comedy – Aunt Matilda's Nephew, p6*

CDN issue a 'Sporting News' morning edition, p6*

1929 06 03
Ely dispensary report, p3*
Burrells Walk, p8

1929 06 04
Why the Cambs MP was late – Capt Biscoe helps get horse out of ditch, p3*

1929 06 05
Cambridge Rifle club formed, p5*

1929 06 07 ES
Theft from Ely Convenience. Fittings and toilet rolls have been missed from the public conveniences in Ely, as many as nine toilet rolls had been missed in a week. On Friday the suspicions of the attendant were aroused by a man leaving with "a rather bulging pocket". The matter was reported to the police. This sort of thing had been going on for a considerable time and proceedings should be taken against the person concerned. If they acted now it would 'nip in the bud' this sort of thing and let people know that the property of the Council could not be interfered with in this way. – 29 06 07(2) ES

A Stretham tragedy. Youth found shot dead in garden. The lifeless body of Frederick George Garner, 19, of Main Street, was found with a double-barrel gun lying by his side. The discovery was made by his mother, whose husband and daughter had gone to Epsom to witness the Derby run-off.
The fatality is shrouded in mystery. When she went to bed she left her son listening to a wireless programme; he was in his usual cheery state of mind and in good health.
Next morning she noticed the gun case in the room but thought her son had taken the gun to scare cats which often made efforts to enter the butcher's shop conducted by the deceased and his elder brother. She went into the garden and found him.
No one seems to have heard a shot fired but the gun had one spent cartridge.
P.c. Roythorne removed the body to a shed at the rear of the house and took charge of the gun.
The young man had come to reside at Stretham five years ago and had won the affection of a wide cycle of friends. He devoted much of his time to cycle racing.
Widespread sympathy is extended to the parents in the tragically sudden bereavement they have suffered. – 29 06 07(3) ES Inquest – 29 06 14 & (2) ES

Middle Level new St German's sluice and pumping station agreed; described – 29 06 07 ES

Ely massage clinic to be extended to villages; had completed fifth year, given 1,127 treatments. Massage was most beneficial to children in cases of infantile paralysis; many would have been crippled for life if had not received treatment in good time. Addenbrooke's Hospital could send patients out sooner, knowing they could receive treatment at home. – 29 06 07 ES

1929 06 08
Stretham suicide Fred Garner, p5*
Motorist's 35th conviction, p5
Corn harvest wages, p6*
CIP start family page, p8

1929 06 10
Corn harvest wages – CDN 10.6.29

1929 06 10
Cambridge air pageant opening Marshalls, p8*

1929 06 11
Conington air thrills, p8*
Sunday air pageant, p8*
Hawkings bakery fire, Parsonage Street, p8

1929 06 12
Drinking fountain on Christs Pieces, p8*
Conington air display, p6*
Sunday air pageant, p8*

1929 06 13
Haddenham theft of motor caravan, p5

1929 06 14
Punt accident, p5
Brooklands Avenue bowls, p7
St John's church nave extension consecrated, p8*

1929 06 15
A motor may week, p8
Cambridge names – comparisons and contrasts, p8*
Adelaide bridge, p3
Carlton brewer, p7

1929 06 17
Town council sensation – price of land, Milton Road, p6

1929 06 18
Litter baskets, p8*
Burrells Walk evictions, p8*

1929 06 19
Cambridge Post office talk, p8*

1929 06 20
Conington aero club, p3
Linton housing, p3

1929 06 21
Ring road, p3

1929 06 21 ES
Stretham church spire fund – residents work to raise funds; annual garden fete – 29 06 21 ES

King's School former headmaster, Rev Richard Winkfield, dies at Dry Drayton – 29 06 21 ES

1929 06 22
Linton cottage hospital, p3*
Stretham garden fete, p3
Telegrams, p5
Sultan of Zanzibar to visit, p8

1929 06 24
Tree planting at West Wratting, p6*

1929 06 25
Visit of Sultan of Zanzibar, p5*
Haddenham Alsop shooting, p8

1929 06 26

James Merry, lifesaver, Ely river man, p3*

1929 06 28
Talkies to start in Cambridge August – Central Cinema, p8*
Wisbech canning factory, p3
Histon pollution, p8
St Neots big blaze

1929 06 28 ES
Haddenham tragedy – Cyril Alsop (6) shoots brother Fred (13) in strawberry field. – had been scaring birds and fired it three times while his sister and other children were gathering strawberries. He then went with the other children into a shed in the field and there placed the gun in a corner. His brother picked up the gun and knocked it hard on the ground; it went off hitting his brother in the head. The father said he kept the gun in a shed but it was always unloaded. He kept the cartridges loose in the shed which he always locked. It was possible for anybody to get into the shed through the roof. His son had a key.
The coroner asked: Do you think you are a wise man to leave deadly firearms for the use of children like that. Father: He was a boy, sir, but he was capable of doing a man's work. He would have been alright had he been alone.
The Coroner said by law a child under seven would not be guilty of any criminal offence; it could not be murder because he was too young. But he hoped people would not allow children to go on playing about with deadly weapons – 29 06 28 ES

1929 06 29
Men's dress reform, p8

July 1929 CDN

1929 07 01
Hauxton church maintenance, county councillor gaoled, p8*

1929 07 02
Hauxton church dispute – questions raised in parliament, p8*
Hauxton church – Stevens released

1929 07 03
Brunswick School accommodation problem,

1929 07 04
Armed burglar Newmarket – butler threatened, p5*

1929 07 05 ES
Ely Railway Station is to be modernised. It will bring a great speeding up in the delivery of goods. A new booking hall will stand on the site of the present one. The telegraph office will be linked up with the booking and parcels offices. There will be a new office for the stationmaster and a new staff room.
The 'down' platform is to be completely remodelled to double its present width and the entrances enlarged. At present congestion is almost insufferable to travellers who have to worm their way two and from carriages amid a maze of parcels and barrows.
There will be a new, commodious and handsome dining room, a new bookstall and improved lavatory accommodation. The old system of lighting will be dispensed with and everywhere the station will be illuminated by electricity.
The old Air Force Depot which faces the main entrance will be converted into a large and commodious goods centre. The new yard will aid out on modern lines. The present goods depot, a quarter of a mile away, will be demolished and relaid with marshalling roads.

The portion of the line between the Stuntney Road Bridge and Ely Dock Junction is to have an increased number of running roads to facilitate the working of trains between these two points. At least six to eight months will be needed to complete the scheme but then Ely will be in possession of a station modern in every respect – 29 07 05(2) ES

Hauxton landlord ordered to pay for church repairs, committed to prison for refusal – 29 07 05 ES

Cambridgeshire Times installs new printing press – 29 07 05 ES # c.04

1929 07 06
Old documents, p3
Hauxton church, p5*
Disabled soldiers' workshop, p6
Ely fire, p7
Counth Hall site, p8

1929 07 08
Hauxton church – threatening letters , p8
Pye first fete, p3

1929 07 09
New Theatre reopens, p8

1929 07 10
Railway keys, p3
Guildhall extension, p8
F.H. Sanderson, photographer, death, p8
Brunswick school reopening, p8

1929 07 12
Brunswick school opens, p8*

1929 07 12 ES
Hauxton landowner released: penitent and willing to do church repairs – 29 07 12 & (3)ES

Stretham Church was filled to its utmost capacity when the congregation listened in to wireless broadcast of thanksgiving for the King's recovery from Westminster Abbey. With the aid of The Walbro, Ely, Rev Stitt arrange for three five-valve receiving sets to be placed in the church and a perfect transmission of the service was received. The Rector conducted a service prior to that from the Abbey and in the evening special hymns were sung and he made an appropriate address. Special reference to the King were also made at all the other places of worship in the village – 29 07 12(4) ES

Lancashire invasion – as in former years Stretham is again invaded by friends from Lancashire. The party, a society of about 40 members of the choir of the National Spiritualist Church from Barnsley, are spending their annual holiday in the village under the charge of Mr W. Mason. They are boarded out in various homes and during their stay enliven the life of the village by giving various forms of entertainment including a humorous sketch in the Lancashire dialect. This was repeated at Haddenham – 29 07 12(4) ES

1929 07 13
More bridges in Isle of Ely needing reconstruction than anywhere else, p8
Dant's ferry footbridge and bicycles, p8*
Sanderson funeral, p6

1929 07 15
Haslingfield fire – phone call delayed by Post Office, p5*
Guildhall extension – co-operation with county?, p8*

1929 07 17
Foxton level crossing; proposed road Prickwillow to Isleham, p8*
Girls Parker's Piece, p6

1929 07 18
Hadstock water supply; Newmarket houses or allotments?, p7*

1929 07 19
Purchasing land between Histon Road and Frenches Road – Victoria Road – discussed, p8*
Electric cables, p5

1929 07 19 ES
Report of The County Library in the Isle of Ely. The County Library continues to grow in favour amongst those who read for recreation, amongst serious students and amongst seekers after information. Miss Edith Palmer has acted as an unpaid assistant and Miss Sears has again come forward gallantly to assist … But in spite of continual overtime work, a great deal of what is essential to the smooth running and progress of the library has had to be left undone, and I respectfully beg to bring it to the notice of the Committee that a library of this size with urban centres requires constant, trained assistance, and that I cannot continue indefinitely working as I have had to do during the past two years – 29 07 19 ES

Witchford oil depot gutted – Somerlite Oil Agency of Fordham, motor delivery van burned to ground – 29 07 19(3)

Isle police cricket team – named group – 29 07 19(6) ES

1929 07 20
Burrells Walk evictions; Orwell scarlet fever, p6
Caxton pageant, p7*
East Anglia flag, p8

1929 07 22
New County Hall plans and tenders, p5*
No more war rally, Parker's Piece, p8*
Prickwillow & Isleham road, p6
West Wratting trees, p6
Littleport lightning death, p8

1929 07 23
Papworth Village Settlement visit by Duke & Duchess of York, p5 & 24th p8*

1929 07 24
Newmarket rural roads, p5

1929 07 25
Throwing stones at railway engine – banned from cinema, p8*

1929 07 26
Cambridge Town Football Club, p8

1929 07 27

Band of Hope train, p5
Cross-country travel, p6

1929 07 29
Rural Community Council 'Cambridgeshire House', p6

1929 07 26 ES
Haddenham – Albert Newman of New Town bathing in river rescued by Percy Page – 29 07 26(3) ES

Isle Librarian Miss A.N. Philip to be upgraded to full time – 29 07 26 ES

1929 07 30
Oakington pond, p3
Willingham suicide – Jakes, p8

1929 07 31
The Rev Frank Jennings is getting first-hand experience of our social problems and spent his holiday living the life of a tramp. Two tramps described the Casual ward of Cambridge workhouse: "Rotten, sire. The 'spike' there is 'no cop'. Swarms of mice run about at night. No baths, dirty wash basins. It's a disgrace to the city". So he visited for himself; the usual questions were asked by the porter but there was no attempt at searching. "I was directed to a large sleeping-room and bidden fetch my ration of 8ozs of bread and marg and a mug of hot but unsweetened tea. There was no bath, contrary to Government regulations as the boilers were due to be inspected. There were 18 people in the room and wire-framed bedspreads replete with three Army rugs made a comfortable lie down. There were no mice but I noticed a few holes in the floor", p6

August 1929 CDN

1929 08 01
Balsham water, p3
Afforestation, p6
Littleport British Legion club room, p7
Well pollution, p7
Peak confectioner bankrupt, p8*
Ely sewage scheme, p8*

1929 08 02 ES
Soham Baptist church new organ opened – photo 29 08 02 & (2) ES

Littleport tenancy dispute – Herbert Watson of Mildenhall Road entered land tenanted by John Ivatt Sallis – 29 08 02(3) ES

1929 08 03
Americans in Cambridge, p8
Histon sports, p8

1929 08 05
Millicent Fawcett death, p3

1929 08 09
Winning farms, p8*

1929 08 10
Fawcett, p6*
Cambridge to Fulbourn cable, p6*

1929 08 12
Harvest mouse, p4*

1929 08 13
St Ives fire engine, p5
Talkifying cinema, p7*

1929 08 14
Pymoor railway sidings tragedy, p6

1929 08 16
Wicken Fen sedge fire, p8*
Burwell chemist McBeath life-saving method, p8

1929 08 17
Big Cambridge fire – sheds and railway trucks destroyed at Hills Road, p5*
Cambridge about to see the 'Talkies', Southend says no, p6*

1929 08 20
Talkies arrive - Broadway Melody at the Central cinema, p6*

1929 08 21
Wireless broadcasting masts, Ely, p7

1929 08 22
Burwell – Wicken road, p3
Albion Angling Society juvenile outing, p6
Burwell stream, p4

1929 08 23
Adult education world conference, p6

1929 08 23 ES
P.c. Roythorne was on duty with Sergeant Bent in his motor car just outside Stretham when he saw a heavy lorry fitted with solid tyres being driven at very fast speed towards Ely. They followed for two miles when the speed registered 18 to 23 miles an hour. The man was fined. On another occasion they stopped a lorry doing 25-30 mph – 29 08 23(2) ES

Griffin Hotel, March sold for £7,100: no sale has generated greater interest, one of the best-known hotels in Eastern England. Its picturesque appearance, homeliness and comfort win the appreciation of all. It was a noted house in the old days and the coaches drove through the space where the front doors now are into the courtyard at the back. Alterations were effected by various landlords and many of the India curios inside were brought over by S.H. Farrington. In the commercial room is panelling of great value. An offer of £1,000 for it has been refused. The walls of the hall are of Indian carved teak. All the ceilings are supported by the original massive oak beams and the ancient card room is still in existence. This apartment has seen some hectic fund, for there hangs an old oil painting depicting three vessels under full sail. The hull of each ship has been punctured by pistol shot which has been fired by travellers in an endeavour to see who had possessed the steadiest hand. The bathroom contains a bath of real Italian marble hewn out of the solid stone and was originally used by the Italian monks. The hotel has been the subject of articles by such authors as Charles Dickens, G.K. Chesterton & Hilaire Belloc and American and Australian millionaires visit during the season. Numerous titled people, Cabinet Ministers and those well known in the musical and dramatic world have patronised it. 29 08 23(3) ES

Wicken fen devastating fire … several homesteads were in danger of becoming involved in a serious conflagration in National Trust land at Sedge Fen, the home of many butterflies. Two sons of Mr Barnes, the custodian, found a patch of sedge well alight and owing to the dryness the flames soon spread and the fire reached gigantic proportions. Many spectators from far and near quickly assembled. Soham fire brigade called in Cambridge and there were plenty of willing helpers from Wicken but about 50 acres were destroyed. The scene resembled an Australian bush fire, the winds blew large pieces of burning sedge a great district. Nothing but charred bushes and roots could be seen for many yards. – photo – 29 08 23(3)&(4)(7)(8) ES

Harold Ellwood of The Garage, Stretham had a problem. He cultivates a field opposite the Quarter-Way House, but has no horse to do the work. He has converted a 4h.p. BSA motor cycle into a machine for cultivating his land. He constructed a strong triangular frame and attached a driving chain from the engine to the back axle. A small hoe was attached to the frame and the engine geared down to give it the necessary power. He finds it quite a success for hoeing his sugar beet. Harold was also faced with the problem of ploughing the land and drawing potato ridge so has dismantled an old Maxwell motor car and used the engine with an extra gear box and special axles. By adjusting the gears it can be used for haulage work and is capable of attaining, on the road, a speed of thirty miles per hour. – photo – 29 08 23(5) ES

Littleport grocer Reginald Flatt failure – 29 08 23 ES

1929 08 24
Trumpington Road accident, p5
Education conference, p6
Talking letters, p6*

1929 08 26
Talking letters, p3
Queens Road fatality, p5
Bromich death, p5

1929 08 27
Talkies, p6

1989 08 28
Hills Road fires, p5*
Talkies – ‘twang’, p6

1929 08 30 (ES)
Great undertakings in the Middle Level: details of proposed pumping station at St Germans – 29 08 30(5) ES

Ely’s new Cinema Theatre – the Rex – feature – 29 08 30(6) ES

Locust caught at Australia Farm, Wilburton, victim of Wicken Fen fire – 29 08 30 ES

1929 08 31
Flies half an inch thick in Willingham district, p9
Joseph Dimock death, Stretham
Golf, p9

September 1929 CDN

1929 09 02

Fen Drayton church spire struck by lightning; stones were cut out and one of the buttresses torn away sending masonry crashing down on to a grave in the churchyard. More debris fell in Church Street or was hurled into Mr E.J. Warboy's premises on the opposite side of the road. Thomas Johnson had a lucky escape; he had been giving a little girl a ride on his bicycle and had alighted at his father's house. They managed to get inside as the stones rained down. – CDN 2.9.1929

Bakery explosion, p6

1929 09 03
Cinema – Show Boat 2nd talkie film - CDN 3.9.1929

1929 09 04
Cambridge traffic lights start – CDN 4.9.1929

1929 09 04
Ely Rex Cinema opened, p8
W.G. Pye robbery, p5
Soham fire brigade, p5
Traffic lights, p8*

1929 09 05
Ely City bandmaster's death, p6

1929 09 06
Eastwood cement, p8

1929 09 06 ES
Fenland's past recalled in Wisbech pageant – 29 09 06(4) ES

Mepal–Chatteris road improvement. Work in progress on construction of new bridge over New Bedford at Mepal replacing narrow wooden bridge; motorists unable to see what approaching and have had to reverse to allow others to pass. On the Chatteris side of the bridge is already erected a massing concrete viaduct. In the past the lowness of the road had been a handicap. Water has stood so high on the road that motorists unable to pass and pedestrians have had to be rowed across in boats; photos. 29 09 06(5) ES

Rex Cinema, Ely: interior photo – 29 09 08(6) ES

1929 09 07
Harvest reports, p3
Shop fronts, p6

1929 09 06
Road v rail, p6

1929 09 11
Ickleton Old Mill occupied by electricity supply co destroyed by fire, p8
Blossom Street fire, p3
Wireless licences, p5

1929 09 13
Band of Hope cinema – David Moore, p8
Herts Mansion robbery, p3

1929 09 13 ES

Aeroplane in trouble, forced landing …two-seater plane made forced landing in a potato field in Quanea Drove. Duxford aerodrome sent lorry and they commenced to dismantle the machine; resumed next morning – 29 09 13(2) ES # c.26.1

'Pilgrim's Progress' … hundreds watch performance at Doddington; Duchess of Gloucester arrives by aeroplane – 29 03 13(3) ES # c.26.1

Photo of scene in Creek, March, taken by J. Walter Gent wins photographic prize – 29 09 13(5) ES

1929 09 14
Search for temple treasure – Capt Robson, p3*
Colour talkies in miniature – synchronised with gramophone player, p8
Absence of wasps, p8*
Jesus Green baths strewn with rubbish, p8*

1929 09 16
Luard Road private street objectors, p8*

1929 09 17
Ely water shortage, p8*

1929 09 18
New wireless station transmitter benefits Cambridge, p7*

1929 09 19
Ramsey MacDonald prime minister surprise visit Cambridge, p5
Water polo, p7

1929 09 20
Savings movement, p7
Queen at Papworth, p8

1929 09 20 ES
Not often does a thrill come to the peaceful little village of Witham but a balloon piloted by a competitor in the International Balloon race made a forced landing in field. When balloon seen approaching the news spread with the rapidity of a plague and by the time the dapper and smiling little Frenchman had landed in a field belonging to Ralph Vye, a crowd had assembled. Miss G.I. Saberton, the local schoolmistress, with her knowledge of the French language was able to come to the rescue of the pilot who, in his decent, had struck a telegraph pole. Between 10 and 30 young men of the village rapidly helped him to pack the balloon in the basket which was conveyed by lorry to Ely Station for dispatch to France – 29 09 20(2) ES # c.26.1

The five manors of Chatteris – review of history – 29 09 20(3) ES

Heygate of Littleport celebrate 50 years of honest trading – full-page advertisement – 29 09 20 ES

1929 09 21
J.J. Thomson lecture to Aslib – CDN 21.9.1929

1929 09 23
An outbreak of window scratching has occurred in Cambridge over the weekend. Shopkeepers along St Andrew's Street discovered with disgust that scratches and scrawls which had not been there when the shops closed. On some of the windows grooves have been cut, apparently with a diamond. Among the worst affected are Johnson Bros dyers, Flack and Judge grocers, G.P. Hawkings confectioners and the Ideal Cleaning Company. Marks of a previous outbreak of a more serious nature are still to be seen on many shop windows in Regent Street, p8

1929 09 24
Green End Road land needed for housing inquiry, p8*
Jazz & quinquginta, p6

1929 09 26
Ouse Drainage Board tax battle at Swaffham Bulbeck, p6
Ring Road round Cambridge & Battle of Butt Green – parking, 1929 09 27

Butt Green carpet beaters, p8

1929 09 27 ES
Thomas Fuller of High Field House, Wicken, well-known agriculturalist and good shot, dies aged 91 – obituary. Memories when oats and beans from Wicken were delivered to Newmarket to feed the face horses. Remembers when all corn was cut with reaping hooks. Upon the introduction of the scythe the workers regarded it with distain, saying the work was most untidy, but later they realised that with this implement the straw was cut much nearer the ground. Then later came the first reaping machine, pushed along before the horses. Barley was stacked loose in the barns and threshed in winter months with flails and machines driver by horsepower – 29 09 27(2) ES

Stretham:
Pc Roythorne promoted to sergeant and leaves Stretham for Littleport. Coming from Whittlesey in succession to Pc Saberton he has taken a keen interest in sport and made many friends
Drought problems … many wells have gone dry and only the largest ponds still retain a small quantity of drinking water. This lack of drinking water is causing great consternation and people are wondering whether the RDC will ever extend their main to the village. Whilst some still obtain a comparatively good supply from the village pump, others have to walk a considerable distance to get a pail full. The supply for animals is an acute problem, many have to cart water a distance of three or four miles. – 29 09 27(3) ES

1929 09 28
Queen Dick, p8

1929 09 30
Engineers gather – Ouse Drainage Board organisation & Isle Highways, p8

1929 09 30
Ely Traders have decided to revert ‘for ever’ to the usual closing hour of six o’clock on Fridays, instead of seven as at present. Although they have benefited by the extra hour during ‘summer time’ it would not outset the extra cost of heating and lighting which would be necessary when the Daylight Savings Bill ceased to operate. Some shopkeepers were staying open after the legal hours – that was after eight o’clock and nine on Saturdays

October 1929 CDN

1929 10 01
Butt Green, p8*
Cambridge parking place problems

1929 10 02 c
Cambridge Town Council were asked to pay a Landbeach smallholder for the loss of his horse. It had slipped on the surface of East Road after a shower, and was killed. The Corporation declined to accept responsibility but it was suggested that a subscription list should be opened to which individual councillors would be pleased to subscribe. This was done with the result that the owner will receive £13, £3 more than had been suggested

1929 10 03
Cambridge Labour Party was told that if they wanted Butts Green as a parking place they must be prepared to face the question: 'Are you in favour of free parking?' They could not charge for cars on common land. Councillor Stubbs said there was no more objection to free parking than to free recreation. He personally objected to paying rates and then being charged for parking his 'Rolls'. Would residents in New Square like to have the noise and smell of the motors?

1929 10 03
The Cambridge Daily News has now installed a new and up-to-date block-making plant which will enable us to publish pictures of important events on the same day. It has all the apparatus necessary for the production of 'blocks', both line and half-tone – those from which newspaper photographs are printed

1929 10 04
The new organ was dedicated at Castle Street Primitive Methodist church, Cambridge. The need for was felt as far back as 1923 and an effort started to replace the old organ, which was showing signs of 'disease'. The opening ceremony was performed by Mrs John Few who unlocked the new organ with a silver key. There was a recital by Dr Alan Gray at which the church was crowded to capacity. The installation has cost £727 and with the church and schoolroom renovations there is a liability of about £1,000

News photo, p7
Cambridge Express crash, p5

1929 10 04 ES
The drainage of the fens. Engineers from the Institution of Municipal and County Engineers visit and inspect – detailed account – 29 10 04 & (2), photo (7) ES

The old Beggars Bridge on LNER between March and Whittlesey was a wooden one of the gantry type, crossing the Twenty Foot River and two adjoining drove-ways. Of late it was apparent that the structure had outlived its useful purpose and was becoming increasingly dangerous for the heavy traffic on that route. In the early part of 1927 the work of erecting a new bridge was started. As both up and down lines had to be kept open to traffic the first section was to reconstruct a new down line, which was completed in June. The former down-line was utilised for the cranes and machinery necessary to carry out the second portion. The sub-soil was particularly bad but eventually foundations were made with over 300 piles driven into the ground. The third bridge, over the March side drove-way was then erected and the final stage has now been completed – photo. – 29 10 04(4) ES

Manea nurse, Mrs Collen, trained as a maternity and district nurse in 1919 under the war widows scheme. She entered here first duties at Cottenham, then moved to Soham and later London. She returned to Manea to await an operation at Addenbrooke's Hospital but died – 29 10 04(5) ES

Stretham: Rain welcome – pump had gone dry in severe drought. Occasionally water is to be had from the pump which Ely RDC have decided to open four hours a day – 29 10 04(6) ES

1929 10 05
The imposition of a one-way traffic in Petty Cury is not news, but a good many people are under the impression that they can ride either way after eight o'clock at night. This is not so. The actual regulation, which was adopted in October 1924, says that Market Street and Petty Cury will be one-way streets only. Obviously there would be great dangers in adopting a resolution for the day-time and changing it at night, especially in such a main thoroughfare. For although business vans may be off the road there is often plenty of other traffic on the occasion of concerts at the Guildhall or dinners at the Lion Hotel.

1929 10 05
Some authorities have been recovering useful matter from old tin cans and something could be done in Cambridge. Soft metal articles – tubes and tinfoil – are already collected by the authorities of Addenbrooke's and there are persons who collect bottles and jars. But tinned articles seem not to be regarded as anything but mere waste. A start on a small scale would need hardly any capital but how to dispose of it is the problem.

Newmarket van accident, p5
Gas fitter – song writer, p8*

1929 10 07
"There is much to be said for narrow streets with ancient houses and I consider a Town Council which destroys these houses in order to make its streets broader is acting with great folly", the University Vice Chancellor told members of the Town Planning Institute. In certain Italian cities there was a rule enforcing motorists to leave their cars outside and proceed into the town on foot. Anybody who suggested such a thing in this country would be cried down as a faddist, but it was a practical proposition. "Of course I don't think I should like to see people stopping four miles out of Cambridge", he added.

1929 10 08
It was a red-letter day in the history of the Ely Co-operative Society when their magnificent new premises were opened. The old and dismal-looking premises in Broad Street have been superseded by a most modern and up-to-date business establishment. The design is Georgian in character, the front is reconstructed stone, the shop fronts are of teak and the window backs are oak. A large proportion of modern quick-service fixtures and counters have been installed and the comfort and convenience of both customers and staff have been furnished in every way. The premises are centrally-heated with electric light installed throughout.

University Camera Club, p7

1929 10 09
A. Tillyard death, p4

1929 10 10
For 25 years the parishioners of Soham have been aiming to possess a church hall and at last it was formally opened. The building is a credit to the town; it is capable of seating 350 people and has a kitchen. Chairs have been obtained by voluntary subscriptions but a piano and billiards table is still required. There might be tennis courts or a bowling green alongside. The site had been bought in 1912 but then the shadow of the Great War prevented them proceeding until last year.

1929 10 10
Performances of the talkie 'College Love' at the Central Cinema, Cambridge, were marred by undergraduates. The Manager admitted that to show such a film at the beginning of term was unfortunate. The undergraduates meet old pals, have drinks together and get more exuberant than usual. They were also resentful at the American features introduced into college life as they know it. Scenes of a match corresponding to Rugby were greeted with many 'cat-calls' while nobody expects undergraduates to remain silent during the portrayal of anything in the amorous line. The cinema has a special telephone by which the volume of extraneous noise is gauged by an operator. He had occasion to request several of the disturbers to remain quieter.

1929 10 11

Festival reopening photo, p5 & p7
P.H. Young death, p8

1929 10 11 ES
Ruston and Hornsby drag-line excavator on River Nene, March – photo – 29 10 11(2) ES

Stretham: Fire: a small fire occurred in George Dimmock's hairdresser's shop … an oil stove suddenly burst into flames. By the promptness of customers in the shop the lamp was thrown out into the roadway and the flames put out with sand. Mr Dimmock had a narrow escape from being burned as he was standing close to the stove when it caught fire. He jumped clear and assisted in putting out the flames. 29 10 11(3)ES

1929 10 12
Two cottages in Middle Street, Stretham were gutted by a fire which was caused by a firework thrown by a boy descending on the thatched roof. So quickly did the flames spread that the whole roof was soon ablaze and fell in. Nearby blacksmiths Mr Lowe and Mr Crow rendered valuable assistance but a fire extinguisher obtained from the Rectory proved useless. The fire brigade connected their hose to the village pond about a quarter of a mile away, which owing to the drought was very low. They were unable to use the engine at full strength for fear of blocking the hose with mud.

1929 10 12
Many Cambridge people were among the thousands who saw the R101 at Cardington during her final tests. Every approach to Bedford was thronged with cars and cyclists, many of them from great distances. During the worst of the traffic there was a three-mile queue of almost stationary cars. Nearly 150,000 cars passed the mooring post and filling stations did a roaring trade. Many sold out of petrol. Hotel keepers had reason to be thankful for the presence of the great airship, while picnickers lined practically every road.

Errand boys, p8*

1929 10 14
Cambridge councillors will discuss swapping a portion of Butt Green running alongside Victoria Avenue from Jesus Lane towards the river. It would be surrendered to Jesus College and would be fenced, although a footpath would be made. In exchange they would get New Square which would then be converted into a motor car park, together with two acres of land off Auckland Road which would be thrown into Midsummer Common and a small piece of land in front of the new Brunswick School buildings.

R101 flight photos, p5*
Newmarket milk crash, p5*
Playhouse fire, p8

1929 10 16
Sir – a young one-legged tramp was struggling into town on his crutches when he was asked by a Universityman where he was bound. "Cambridge workhouse", he replied whereupon the Varsityman at once called a taxi and accompanied him there. Having rung the bell for ten minutes and received no reply the student scaled the 10-foot spiked railing, took the gate key from the porter's lodge, opened the entrance gates and led the tramp into the lodge where he seated him in a comfortable chair and was driven away. One can imagine the surprise of the night porter arriving some minutes afterwards – C.F. Lewis

C.B. Shaw on Cambridge, p3
Swaffham Prior shoot photo, p6

1929 10 17
Diamond wedding photos, p7
Butt Green, p8

1929 10 18
The 17 miles of river between Ely and Denver Sluice is in an appalling condition: it literally stinks and is covered with dead fish throughout its length. What was a beautiful river now resembles a sewer. When a barge passes it stirs up the water and the stench is horrible. It is a serious menace to public health for it is the only water supply for the cottages and farms above Littleport Bridge. The pollution is caused by the poisonous effluent discharged from the sugar beet factories. One has no wish to cripple the beet industry but this cannot be allowed to continue.

H.B. Dailey death, p8

1929 10 18 ES
Soham proposed road connecting Hasse Road at Castle Farm with the Great Fen Road at St John's Farm to provide employment during the winter – 29 10 18(9) ES

Serious Stretham fire; two thatched cottages gutted. It was a matter of good fortune that there was an almost entire absence of wind on Saturday, otherwise a goodly portion of Stretham might have been burned to the ground. Shortly after 11 o'clock some cottage property in a narrow thoroughfare, which branches to the left opposite the parish church, caught fire, and, having a heavily thatched roof this quickly became a roaring furnace.
Before the fire engines arrive the whole of the thatched roof had been reduced to a charred mass and the interior of two cottages practically burnt out.
Happily almost all the furniture was saved by the splendid co-operation of residents who rushed to the scene.
Mr F. Curtis, who occupies the property which is owned by Mrs H.F. Sennitt, who resides in London, was at work when the fire occurred and was happily unconscious that his house was ablaze until he reached the village about one o'clock. On his arrival he could do nothing except stand in the streets and wash the flames eating up his little cottage home.
The fire is said to have been due to a boy throwing a lighted firework match into the air, which fell on the roof.
When the outbreak was discovered Messrs G. Low and P. Crow rushed for ladders; they were able to mount the roof and with buckets of water endeavour to get to the flames. Mr J. Badcock, by whom the roof was rethatched two years ago, came to their assistance and sought to subdue the flames with buckets of water which were handed to him by willing helpers. He faced the smoke and flames for some time but the fire got under him and he was forced to come down to the ground.
The engine was rushed to the pond at the lower end of the village and in a few minutes 22 length of hose were connected up and two jets were forcing a good supply of water on to the burning house. There was a danger of the adjoining house becoming seriously involved. The roof was alight from the back and by hacking away a number of slates this was put out of danger.
It was only the previous day that the new District Nurse had her furniture taken to the house; it had to be removed and stored across the road.
Crowds of people flocked to the village and watched with interest the efforts to prevent the spread of the fire. They could not make much impression because of the blazing thatched roof, portions of which fell into the house and street.
It was not only the part of the cottages which face the street which concerned the brigade. At the rear there stood an extension, the roof of which was already belching volumes of smoke ... efforts were of no avail and this part of the building burnt itself out, with the exception of the chimney stack.
By this time only the walls and gable end of the cottage stood and there was also danger of the gable wall collapsing so it was decided that these must come down.
A call was also sent out for the Cambridge Borough Brigade and in less than 20 minutes they covered the distance from Cambridge and were able to assist the Ely brigade – 29 10 18(2)(3)(4), photo (5) ES

Two aeroplanes give public flights at March – photo – 29 10 18(7) ES # c.26.1

Proposed Soham road, deputation to Ministry – 29 10 18(8) ES

1929 10 19
With the passing of Mrs Eliza Jane Mason of the Livingstone Hotel, Petty Cury, Cambridge has lost a prominent member of the restaurant business. She commenced business with a university lodging house on Market Hill which became known as 'Masons' and was converted into a restaurant. It was largely used by cadets and catered for the officers stationed here during the Great War. Almost the first Belgian wounded soldiers were billeted there and she acted as a sort of nursing mother to them. Her next move was to Sadd's before she bought the Livingstone Hotel which was then only a coffee house. It is now one of the best commercial hotels in Cambridge. She also built the Rendezvous, Magrath Avenue as a skating rink in 1909.

Poppy day, p5

1929 10 21
Poppy Day & photo, p7
Ouse drainage, p8

1929 10 23
Train crash photo, p6
Archives list, p8*

1929 10 24
Opinion was divided on the wisdom of planting 11 acres of trees at West Wratting. The County Council had purchased the land in 1915 and for ten years it had shown a profit. The value of timber that could be grown was estimated at £3,000 in 50 years' time. But some said the land was not fit to plant with trees, it was one mass of filth and in four years not one tree would be alive. Nearby smallholders would be prevented from farming

1929 10 25
Dry riverbed photo, p3

1929 10 25 ES
Cyril Horn, Upwell cyclist one of foremost riders in country, success – 29 10 25(2) ES

Octogenarian John Betts flies over March; lives near Chain Bridge – 29 10 25(3) ES

Death Edward Peters, 90; from Haddenham where veterinary surgeon for 50 years – 29 10 25(4) ES

River Ouse – stench at Ely & Littleport; Denver Sluice filled with dead fish, locks completely blocked – 29 10 25 ES

1929 10 26 c
Cambridge did not become a munitions-manufacturing area on the outbreak of the Great War. The consequence was that its full quota of men joined the ranks and left the district. Now, ten years after the Armistice, we are being reminded that hundreds of baby boys and girls did not come into the world at all. There is now a real lack of errand boys with 60 employers seeking them. This will create a serious position for shopkeepers in years to come. About 100 domestic vacancies for girls are also waiting to be filled. If the school-leaving age is raised the difficulties will be increased.

1929 10 28

The well-known cement works of Messrs R. Stephenson & Son between Burwell and Fordham, now closed, have been purchased by the Associated Cement-makers Companies, a powerful combine owning many cement factories. For a long time it has been felt in Burwell that the only hope of carrying on the factory was to merge it in a combine. During the war the factory did very well indeed because the Government wanted so much cement that every factory was employed. Today orders are far from plentiful. As one of a large combine the Burwell factory may get its share, and the works may give considerable employment.

1929 10 28
The Lord Chancellor has appointed a Government Committee to inquire into the whole question of the power of the Church to have offences against ecclesiastical law punished by imprisonment. At present the Consistory Court can only enforce its orders by application to the High Court. This is a sequel to the remarkable case of a Cambridge landowner who was sent to Bedford Prison for failing to pay for the repair of the church roof at Hauxton. Now the Committee is to consider whether the law should be altered.

'Robins' photo, p3

1929 10 29
The Government Office of Works have made arrangements for the records at present stored in the old Prison on Castle Hill, to be removed from Cambridge to another disused gaol. It is their policy to concentrate such records at Canterbury. The Governor's House at the old Prison will be adapted to provide temporary accommodation for county council staff and rooms in the prison gatehouse used for storage purposes. This has released accommodation at the County Hall for other departments

1929 10 29
Sir – It is extraordinary that in an age when the importance of fresh air is being recognised the open motor car body should be apparently on the verge of extinction. Few saloon cars are adequately ventilated and on a long journey the choice is between a draught and a headache caused by fumes from the engine percolating into the body. To people advanced in years the closed car is probably wise but to young people taking so freely to such an enervating mode of transport is pitiable. The excuse is that our climate is so uncertain that a closed car is necessary but I motor for hours every day of the year and rarely find it necessary to put the hood up – 'Saloonatic'

1929 10 30
Foxton crossing, p8

1929 10 31
Ouse drainage board, p8

November 1929 CDN

1929 11 01
The R.A.C. has decided to extend the benefits of its 'Get You Home' service to members of the Club whilst flying. It has hitherto provided a relief car free of charge for their members who have broken down on the road but a considerable number are now either owners of light aeroplanes or are members of flying clubs. Should any of them whilst flying be compelled to make a forced landing they will be able to send for an R.A.C. relief car and be conveyed to the nearest railway station. If the plane is of the folding wing type that can be towed on a public road the R.A.C. is prepared to pay for its conveyance to any town within the limits of the scheme.

1929 11 01
The giant airship R101 passed over Cambridge after a visit to Sandringham. It appeared shortly before three on its way towards Cardington. The great ship glittered in the low November sun as though made of silver and hundreds of people came running into the streets as they heard the noise of the engines. As it receded into the distance it appeared like some strange monster floating on the misty horizon. At Newmarket races there was a cessation in the betting and all race glasses were trained towards the sky.

1929 11 01 ES
Death veteran Ely solicitor W.J. Evans – 29 11 01(2)(3) ES

Pymore Improvement – filling station and garage near new road = 29 11 01(4) ES

Middle Level Sluice collapse 1862 – photo - 29 11 01 ES # c.29

1929 11 02
The Central Cinema held its first pictorial service, intended to attract the crowds of young people wandering through Cambridge on Sunday evenings. There was a very good attendance but the conduct of some of the young men left much to be desired. Some had evidently come in the belief they were going to see a cinema show and it needed a sharp appeal before cigarettes were put out and a semblance of order obtained. Though the singing was hearty the thing that impressed most was the beautiful rendering of Gounod's 'There is a Green Hill' on the panatrope.

Poppy Day, p8

1929 11 04
Castle site records, p4*
Shippea Hill crash, 15-year-old, p5

1929 11 05
Barrington Light Railway Company was an independent company entirely disassociated from the cement works except in business transactions. The railway originally belonged to the Dreadnought Cement Works Company which went into liquidation. They bought the railway but the works were sold separately. It owned engines and trucks and worked in co-operation with the L. & N.E.R. The line was a mile and a quarter long with a full gauge track. Their terminus was the entrance to the works; the line continued into sidings, but was maintained by the Cement Company, a Rating appeal was told.

1929 11 05
Cheers greeted George Robey, the great comedian, on his initial entry at the Cambridge New Theatre. This riotous reception came, of course, from a huge contingent of youthful 'Varsitymen' but the theatre was packed in all departments. The brilliant show was carried along by waves of cheering, culminating in a furore at the end and a great roar for a speech to which Mr Robey responded in his own inimitable style and the 'house' departed in good humour. He had never appeared at the New Theatre before and so we had the unique spectacle of a famous father following his son, for Mr Robey junior was up at Cambridge a few years ago and appeared there in two of the Amateur Operatic Society's productions.

1929 11 06
Nearly thirty arrests were made during a Guy Fawkes 'Rag' on Cambridge Market Hill. Early in the evening an attempt was made to light at bonfire in Petty Cury and there was a considerable blaze in front of Falcon Yard before the police noticed it and it was extinguished. In Rose Crescent an effigy was soaked with petrol, stuffed with fireworks and deposited near the Market Hill end. This was quickly extinguished and the effigy confiscated, but the petrol continued to burn for a long time afterwards. A new feature of the scrimmages was the use of police whistles by undergraduates which added to the confusion.

1929 11 06

Hunting cries and the sound of the huntsman's horn accompanied a debate at the Cambridge Union on the motion 'That this House hopes that fox-hunting, steeplechasing, deerstalking, shooting, fishing and all other sports of the field will ever flourish in England'. A Prime Minister, apart from being a learned man and capable of government, should be a racehorse owner. The pseudo-intellectualism of the opponents was a form of abject snobbery, founded on fanaticism rather than fact. Wild animals did not expect man to be friendly and foxes were not torn to pieces by hounds while alive. Blood sports employed a great deal of labour and gave colour to the lives of country folk. But the motion was defeated.

1929 11 07
A sheep farmer, who became annoyed on Guy Fawkes Night at being mistaken for an undergraduate, was summonsed for assaulting the Senior Proctor, Mr Frederick Dykes. He testified that he had been with his constables when he sent one after an undergraduate who attempted to evade him. He then heard a shout of 'Get the Proctor' and felt two blows on his head. One of his constables seized the man now in the dock. Defendant said he was a stranger to Cambridge and had been told that if he followed the proctors round he would see some fun. He was not dressed like an undergraduate. He was fined £3.

Burwell cement works sold, p8*

1929 11 08
The inhabitants of Houghton are up in arms because the postal authorities have removed their sub-post office, which has been there for more than a century, to the neighbouring village of Wyton. It is Post Office practice to give preference to ex-servicemen, but the Houghton office was run by the widow of an ex-servicemen who had lost her breadwinner in the service of his country. It should be returned and telephone facilities installed.

Lorry danger buildings, p7*

1929 11 08 ES
R101 airship passed over Isle – photo – 29 11 08(2) ES # c.26.1

Mrs R. Wilson of Prickwillow a remarkable woman – dug potatoes at 91 – 28 11 08
Alfred Lavender had no front light on lorry at Stretham - 28 11 08

Hilda Everitt came to Haddenham where she worked Post Office; poor health; stayed 6-7 years; wrote poetry published by W. Jefferson of Ely, 'Summertime in Fenland' and 'In Norfolk'; wins prize for 'The Grumbler' – 29 11 08

1929 11 09
Every Christmas brings its novelties and now comes the 'Talkie' Christmas cards which Messrs Raphael Tuck have issued. Each card contains a small gramophone record which will convey to the recipient a suitable greeting. There are a variety of records, some with bells, others with carols but all with a spoken message. There is only one further development needed to make them absolutely perfect: an arrangement that will enable anyone to make and send a record of his own voice.

Photos – mayor-making, p6
Runaway car

1929 11 11
Foxton's new village hall, a substantially-built structure in the centre of the village, was opened by the chairman of the University Tutorial Press. It seemed only a short time since the formation of the committee. They were not a rich village, but they were rich in men and women ready to work for the village in which they lived. The hall would give them the opportunity of meeting together. A pleasure fair was held during the afternoon with 'pull the knob', 'hoop-la, bagatelle, tennis-ball throwing and hidden treasure. An evening variety concert was followed by a fancy dress and carnival dance to the music of January's band.

1929 11 11
The Cambridge Rifle Club's new range at Chapel Street, Old Chesterton was opened and Mr H. Ward Trinder, the originator of the club, fired the first shot. It is an indoor range of 25 yards and there is room for six people to shoot at once. It will be open from 2pm to 4.30 and 6 pm to 10 on weekdays. In the past there had been some very good clubs but owing to the war all except for one or two in the county and the Gas Company had fallen out. It was owing to Mr Trinder's efforts that this club was started and it would soon be out of debt.

Armistice, p8

1929 11 13
Addenbrooke's Hospital Musgrave Ward, p6

1929 11 14
Rag case, p5

1929 11 15
Paston House, p8

1929 11 15 ES
Stretham: Death Mabel Elizabeth Curtis, wife F. Curtis, 24. Had been ill since her house was destroyed by fire some three weeks ago. The resultant shock played a very detrimental part in her illness – 29 11 15(2)(3) ES

Ely railway station improvements; one section of new front completed – photo – 29 11 15(4) ES

1929 11 16
The Cambridge Daily News has entered its fifth decade. Times and newspapers have changed since 1888 when the late William Farrow Taylor undismayed by the shoal of gloomy predictions, ventured the first local evening news sheet on the streets of Cambridge. Like every successful paper it has changed with the times. But changes in make-up have not been more radical than those in the personnel of the staff. We have two representatives of the commercial department who have been with us from the beginning year and several on the mechanical side. But there are none in the editorial department who can go back to the time of Mr G. W. Townsend; he treasures a clock with an inscription recording eight years on the C.D.N. terminating in 1897 when he moved to the East Anglian Daily Times.

1929 11 16
The best-dressed sections of the University undergraduates are wearing more whole suits – as compared with the single jacket and flannel trousers. The plus four suits are made up in quiet materials and the knickerbockers are cut medium both in width and length. A pinkish brown colour is likely to prove a fashionable sports suiting. Restraint is the principle determining everything from lounge suits to socks. All the best tailoring shops are making overcoats and golf jackets in camel and llama pile and undergraduates are accepting the vogue with enthusiasm. Cambridge is better dressed than ever. Gone is the sloppiness that at one time was regarded as smart.

R.C. Sheriff & Cambridge, p3
Suicide freshmen, p5

1929 11 19

A meeting of the creditors of Messrs Headley and Edwards of Corn Exchange Street, Cambridge, in voluntary liquidation, was told they had been trading under difficulties for some time. They experienced a period of prosperity just after the war but the last account to show a profit was 1923 and they had got into financial difficulty. A buyer had been found to take over the assets as a going concern and a new Company would be formed to carry on the business.

Dr Mason, p5
Old Cambridge lecture, p6
Ensign demonstration car, p8

1929 11 20
The Royal Institute of British Architects has presented a bronze medal to be awarded annually for a building of outstanding merit erected in Essex, Cambridgeshire and Hertfordshire. One of the conditions is that it must front to a street, road, square or court to which the public has access. Its first award is for the Rose and Crown public house on Newmarket Road, Cambridge designed by Basil Oliver and built by W. Sindall for Greene, King & Sons. A suitable tablet will be fixed to the building

1929 11 20
The benefices of Ickleton and Hinxton may be united because of a shortage of clergy. There would be one minister and one parsonage house could be sold. But Ickleton Church Council said they should be kept apart and that the vicar should live there because it was double the size of Hinxton, the vicarage was the more central and a better house. A lady asked whether the new arrangement would be for all time to which the Chairman replied, "Supposing you discovered coal at Ickleton and started a new town, we should have to consider the matter"

Bus drivers & Park School, p3
Super cinema, p8

1929 11 22
A Cambridge Daily News van driver was travelling towards Huntingdon when he attempted to pass a stationary Vauxhall drawn up at the side of the road. His Singer van skidded on the greasy surface, zig-zagged over the road for a distance and then ran on to the grass. It struck a telegraph pole and one side of the body was torn completely off and the windscreen shattered. The van continued on its way tearing through a hedge and over the surface of a stubble field. In all it skidded for nearly 100 yards but did not turn over. The driver, apart from grazes, was unhurt.

1929 11 23
The parliamentary secretary to the Minister of Health visited Stapleford for the stone-laying of the 500th council house erected by the Rural District Council. It might be a good thing for Ministers of the Crown to come down to such places and see the conditions under which they were working. The former Housing Officer, Mr Bunnett, had been responsible for practically all the houses but the red brick corners on the present scheme were added by his successor. If they adopted every suggestion made there would be some very funny houses by the time they were finished. The party then went on to Harston were they viewed a new type of cottages built of concrete and timber with an old-world decoration made by pricking the plaster when wet, giving them a distinctive appearance.

Woodcock relative, p8

1929 11 25
University squash courts, p5
Transplanting trees photo, p6

1929 11 26

Complaints have been received of persons endeavouring to sell various household accessories on the hire-purchase system under agreements which are very unfair to the customer. These agents generally call when the male members of the family are at work and the housewife is alone in the house. They are adept in the art of 'blarney' and take advantage of her lack of legal knowledge to beguile her into pledging her husband's credit. But he is only liable if the article is a necessity and not a luxury. A machine costing £20 cannot be regarded as a necessity in an ordinary working-class household.

Selwyn Library photo, p6

1929 11 26c
Sir – as a successful representative of the 'Goblin' vacuum cleaners in Cambridge I wish to point out that I ensure that our terms of hire purchase are defined and understood before an agreement is signed and it is always my expressed desire to obtain an interview with the husband. This can be proved by people who have had dealings with the British Vacuum Cleaner Company through me. Trusting this will remove any doubts in the minds of past and prospective customers – J. B. Pearce, Russell Street, Cambridge.

1929 11 27
Women students packed the gallery at the Cambridge Union Society when a motion supporting full University rights for women was carried. A sensation was caused before the debate when it was proposed that in view of the importance of the issue involved the gallery should be cleared but the President ruled that this would cause too much disturbance. Women students lived under a code of rules that could only be described as fatuous; one of the women's colleges allowed its students to go unchaperoned to King's Chapel, but to no other. Girton allowed them to go to the theatre 'provided the party was of reasonable size', whilst Newnham were permitted provided the party 'was not of unreasonable size' (laughter)

Dangerous corner photo, p3
Gramophone recital & hire purchase, p6
Women at Cambridge, p8*
Journey's End, p8

1929 11 28
An amazing story was told at Huntingdon police court when a woman was charged with obtaining goods and money by false pretences. Edward Elphick, house furnisher of Huntingdon, said she had paid with a cheque that was returned marked 'No account'. Albert Bigmore, jeweller of Ramsey told a similar story. Police said she had made many untruthful statements. She came here about a year ago from Essex where she left her husband and four children and lived at Warboys with another man. She then moved to Wistow, Woodhurst, St Ives and Houghton before taking a cottage at Hartford. Wherever she lived she left behind debts and non-payment of rent. She wrote many letters to herself which purported to be from her uncle promising large sums of money and a motor car. She also claimed to be the widow of a naval officer. None of these were true.

1929 11 29 ES
New bridge erected over old River Nene at Northside on Whittlesey-Thorney Road. The old Dog-in-a-Doublet bridge has served to carry traffic across the stream for a great many years but was growing increasingly unsafe for growing vehicular traffic – 29 11 29(2) ES

December 1929 CDN

1929 12 02
An interesting improvement scheme will shortly be undertaken in Petty Cury and Sidney Street. Messrs Boots the Chemist have acquired extensive property with a view to re-housing their old establishment which has grown during some 30 years. Now the time is ripe to erect an emporium to provide an attractive shopping centre for patrons of all classes. The architect is Mr Percy J. Bartlett of Nottingham and his primary consideration is an external appearance that will harmonise with Cambridge's noble architectural traditions and raise the standard of commercial architecture. Building operations will commence early in the New Year

Sebley death, p8
Fordham British Legion club opens, p8
Accident, p8

1929 12 04
An explosion in St Andrew's Street plunged a considerable part of Cambridge's shopping centre into darkness. The cover plate of a junction box of the Electric Supply Company was blown off and several people had a narrow escape from injury. Flames leapt up from the hole and blazed fiercely. For some minutes there was great excitement, people rushing hither and thither. Police whistles were blown and the Fire Brigade turned out but found that the fire had already been put out by a motorist with a fire-extinguisher from his car. Shops and houses in a large area were deprived of light and the printing of the 6.30 edition of the C.D.N. was held up.

Central cinema photo, p3

1929 12 05
Heffer's wonderful new shop in Petty Cury, Cambridge, is a book lovers' paradise. In the basement are 'remainders' at reduced prices while the ground floor is devoted to the latest publications and an extensive foreign literature section. A wide range of second-hand volumes occupies most of the first floor where connoisseurs of original editions will find much to interest them at prices from £5 to £250. On the second floor are oriental, foreign travel and fine art books while higher still are Heffer's own publications, many of local interest. There is a special reference department and out-of-print books service. The front design successfully combines and old-world impression with a modern style.

Abington Hall, p6

1929 12 06
Talkies answer back, p3
Millers advertisement, p5

1929 12 06 ES
Presentation H. Roythorpe on retirement police – photo – 28 12 06(3) ES

Four cars collide on A10 beyond Stretham Bridge – 29 12 06 ES

'Granny Harley' of Littleport 88 and still going strong; popular resident – 29 12 06 ES

1929 12 07
Fifteen cows, four horses and a number of fowls were destroyed in a disastrous blaze at Russian Wells Farm, Barkway. The animals were in sheds which were burnt out very quickly owing to the gale which was raging. The farm is occupied by Frank Pigg and the owner is Mr D. Crossman. The fire was discovered by Charles Scripps who immediately informed the horseman; together they tried to get the animals out, but they were driven back by the flames. So he obtained a lift in a motor car to a telephone where he summonsed the Royston Fire Brigade

1929 12 07
Before the war the only real place of amusement in Cambridge was the New Theatre and even that found it necessary to close down when the undergraduates were away. Today we have two theatres, five picture places and frequent amateur productions. Recently I decided to see a show but the Central Cinema had no seats under three shillings unless I queued for two hours. I tried the Festival Theatre but they only had a 'standing seat'; people were fighting to get into the New Theatre and the A.D.C.

only had expensive seats left. As I trailed home I wondered where all the people and the money came from

1929 12 09
Cambridgeshire probably produces more eggs that it eats, it is an exporting county and in competition with the whole world; it is important that our poultry and eggs should be known as some of the best produced, poultrymen were told at the distribution of prizes won in the Egg-Laying Trials. There were 151,785 adult fowls in the county and with an average yield of 100 eggs per bird at 1s. 9d. (16p) per dozen this represented a value of £110,676. The Cambridge Poultry Research Station was doing important work and the University Farm had decided to adopt a poultry unit as part of its teaching equipment.

Sheeps Green flood, photo, p5, account p6

1929 12 10
Sir – I was in the vicinity of Fitzroy Street early one morning and could see a driver with a one-horse van coming from Burleigh Street. He turned right on the corner round Eden Chapel on the wrong side and left down James Street, heedless of any danger. On seeing a police constable I asked whether he had noticed the careless driving around these blind corners. He replied: "This man, being alone driving one horse and van is under no rules or regulations and if he wishes is at liberty to wobble all over the road". I suggest members of Eden Chapel should be approached over this unsightly spot, with its projecting iron fence; it is a serious block to public traffic. All such dangerous corners should be abolished – E. Claydon, Parsonage Street, Cambridge.

1929 12 10
A Fowlmere baker, Frank Perry, had a narrow escape when his van overturned in a collision at Harston. He was delivering bread and just turning into a driftway when an Alvis touring car struck the front of the van which was twisted completely round and landed on its side. Its front axle was torn completely off. Bread and pastries were scattered all over the road as the doors burst and the driver was imprisoned in his cab. Beyond a bruised knee and cut hand he was uninjured. Alderman Webber who was motoring by, assisted by an A.A. Scout, directed traffic past the damaged vehicle.

1929 12 10
Soham residents considered two schemes for the supply of light. One was from the Soham Gas Company, the other from Beds., Cambs. & Hunts. Electricity Co. There was little information on the Gas Company scheme; they didn't know whether it would be driven by oil, gas or steam or how long it would take. The Electricity Company would supply current by overhead lines to a substation, it would be installed in a few months and they have an alternative generating machine in the event of a breakdown. This was the one agreed.

1929 12 11
Motorists, p3

1929 12 12
Flooded roads, p5
Women rent collector, p8*

1929 12 13
Cambridge council agreed that the site of Grantchester Mill should be purchased by the corporation, they will offer £1,000. The house was formerly tenanted by Mr Nutter and carried with it the water rights and control of the river right through. This was of extreme importance to the town but what would they do with the meadow and the banks of the river? The bridge was built by Merton College for the use of the mill and might be a liability as it had never been taken over by Chesterton RDC or the County Council.

Giant tree Kings Backs felled – photo, p7

1929 12 13 ES
Death J.C. Bridgeman, ex-captain of Soham fire brigade – 29 12 13 ES

1929 12 14
F.A. Ridgeon, the Cambridge Town Football Club's inside left, travelled by aeroplane to Sussex for the F.A. Amateur Cup tie with Southwick. There was some doubt whether he could make the match owning to duties in Stamford preventing him from travelling by train. Hearing of his difficulty Mr D.G. Marshall of Aviation Hall generously placed his Moth aeroplane at his disposal. His son, Arthur Marshall, would have piloted the machine but he had gone on an air trip to Austria so a de Haviland pilot was engaged for the journey. This is, we believe, the first time an amateur footballer has travelled to a match by air. Cambridge won 2-0.

Shop window fire, p3
Victoria Cinema pig, p8

1929 12 16
French's Road houses photo, p5

1929 12 17
St Catharine's college houses demolished photo, p5
Housing & children, p8

1929 12 18
England has lost its oldest Freemason and Saffron Walden its oldest inhabitant with the death of George Moss Taylor. He was born in May 1833 and became a member of the Walden Masonic lodge in 1876, acting as Tyler for more than 50 years. He saw the first train run on the main London to Cambridge line from a hill at Littlebury 83 years ago. Cambridge has also lost a popular figure in Mr Frederick Dale, head of the brewery that bears his name. He started it 25 years ago and it rapidly became one of the largest in the district. He took a keen interest in the affairs of many local clubs and many forms of sport enjoyed his patronage, but he shunned political life. One of his chief hobbies was the collection of antiques and he had an extraordinarily fine collection of old English silver

1929 12 19
Alsopp & Wicken, p10
King & Harper photos, p12

1929 12 20 ES
Mepal washes flooded; value of the new bridge and viaduct … wonderful progress being made, large body of men at work. Will be one of the finest and most useful road improvements in county – 29 12 20(2), photo (5) ES

Two men in steam wagon blinded by dazzling lights of oncoming motor car and ran into Stephen Wheeler, 60, of New Town Council House, Haddenham. Steam wagon driver in employ of Robert Watson of Wilburton said he was driving it towards Stretham and on approaching Brick Hill, which is near Mr Murfit's farm he was dazzled by very bridge headlights. He felt a bump and knew he had run over something. – 29 12 20(3)(4) ES

Soham Congregational Church reopened after renovations – 29 12 20(4) ES

1929 12 23
"How many in your family?" "Eleven". With a happy swing of his spade a stalwart policeman dug deeply into the mountain of potatoes before him and a couple of shovelfuls went tumbling into a capacious sack. A wan-looking little woman smiled gratefully, lifted the sack into a perambulator and passed on. She was one of the 200 who received Christmas cheer at the Cambridge Police Poor and Needy Fund distribution. Each received a parcel containing a piece of English beef, flour, raisins, tea, sugar, margarine, nuts, oranges and milk.

1929 12 24
Market Hill decorations photo, p8

1929 12 27
Mill Road Xmas dinner, p5 & p6
Fred Dale death, p8*

1929 12 28
Review of the year – national

1929 12 30
Regent Street bus traffic, p5
Butt Green footpath, p7
Wireless licences – photo masts, p8

1929 12 31
The firing of the rockets on Parker's Piece, which has been a New Year's Eve custom since 1815 is now a thing of the past. The increasing pull of counter-attractions such as dances has seen dwindling attendance at the midnight ceremony and last year Mr Deck came to the conclusion that no useful purpose would be served by carrying on. So another old custom which served its day and generation well has passed away. There has also been a falling off of the Watch Night services, which once drew crowded congregations, but the Ortona Social Club function at the Masonic Hall was a lively function.

Chesterton railway bridge photo

Peeps from the Past feature in Ely Standard

Peeps … 7th March 1879: St Mary's Church, Ely, to re-open after repairs – 29 03 08 ES

Peeps … 17 Jun 1904: The Post Office telephone exchange was opened during the past week at Ely; twenty-one subscribers have already been found – 29 06 14(3) ES

Peeps from the past: 8th July 1904. While excavating on a site for some news houses at Town-end March, some workmen came across a quantity of human bones in a decayed state. There were no signs of any coffin, but, from the appearance of the bones that were unearthed, they are believed to be part of a skeleton of a full-grown person. Portions of the skull were found, and the lower jaw, with 16 teeth fairly well preserved, was intact. The other bones indicated that the person was buried with the hands and arms above the head – 29 07 12 ES

Peeps from the past: 8th July 1904. The promoters of the scheme for the erection of a bridge over the river at Guyhirn do not appear to be meeting with the success that was at first anticipated. The Isle of Ely County Council have practically refused to assist them in any way, and an application for a grant from the Holland County Council has been treated in the same manner. The estimated cost of the bridge was stated to be £3,800, and it would be of great benefit by opening another road between South Lincolnshire and Cambridgeshire – 29 07 12 ES

Peeps from the past: 11 July 1879
Sanger's collection of animated waxworks visited Sutton and have great satisfaction – 29 07 12 ES

Peeps … 17 Jun 1904: The Post Office telephone exchange was opened during the past week at Ely; twenty-one subscribers have already been found – 29 06 14(3) ES

Peeps … 7th March 1879: St Mary's Church, Ely, to re-open after repairs – 29 03 08 ES

Peeps … 19th December 1879. Typhoid fever is very prevalent in the parish of Soham, there being no less than 20 cases on the One Fen Common. Measles are also very general and low fever is likewise prevalent - 29 12 20 ES

1930 Cambridge Daily News & Ely Standard

I have scans of articles summarised or marked *

January 1930 CDN & Ely Standard [ES]

1930 01
An inquest was held on the body of a Sudanese student of St Catharine's College who was found on Christmas morning lying in front of a blazing gas fire in an 'extremely hot room' in Pembroke Street. Police evidence showed that a ventilation canopy near the chimney had been closed. The student often felt the cold and sat quite close to the fire. He had probably been overcome by the heat and died from suffocation.

1930 01 01 c
Record crowds attended the New Year's Eve dances at the Central and Masonic Halls in Cambridge and many were unable to gain admittance. They will be wiser next time, perhaps and book early. A large crowd gathered at the Rendezvous but so great was the crush that serious dancing was impossible. A great many people stayed at home in anticipation of hearing something extra special on the wireless. They did – though it is doubtful whether some of it came up to expectations.

Gipsy Smith, p5*
Sawston water, p5

1930 01 03
Magistrates discussed reducing the number of public houses. But in the past few years almost all applications to close had been refused; closing public houses was a form of prohibition and very few would want to shut. Problems were caused by 'drinking all round' – the worst side of the public house - but there was no such thing as drunkenness in Cambridgeshire, and with the exception of a few days after Christmas there had not been a single case in Cambridge. However drunkenness was not the issue – it was a question of redundancy, the licensed houses closed themselves and a nominal sum of £50 was paid in compensation.

1930 01 04
George Lister, a life-long resident of Cambridge and for many years one of its best-loved employers has passed away. He set up the business of Lister and Sons, motor and general engineers in Abbey Road. He was the type of man who created an atmosphere of good fellowship; in dealing with the younger members of his staff he would go out of his way to assist them to acquire the practical knowledge of an engineer. The good feeling in the firm is illustrated in that several men have 30 to 40 years' service to their credit.

1930 01 05 c
Israel Custerson, a farmer of Kingston, told the court that the defendant, a caravan dweller, had said he was stuck up the road because he had no petrol and let him have a can of petrol valued at six shillings. The man said he was going to Bourn to fill up the lorry and would bring the can back. But he did not return. Police Sergeant Smith said he saw the lorry at Barrington Green, noticed the petrol can and cautioned him. Defendant said he was an iron and metal buyer, he had returned to the farm but it was getting late and his lights failed. The next day his engine went wrong and he had to do repairs. He was fined £2.

1930 01 06
CDN dinner, p5

1930 01 08
Sidney Street bus accident
Night safe photo, p8

1930 01 09
Cambridge bankruptcy court heard of a young man who began trading as a milk retailer. He bought a motor-cycle truck sidecar for milk work then exchanged it for a Ford touring car. But it was no good – he had engine trouble and practically everything went wrong. It was broken up and he bought at Austin 20 for £17 and had it converted into a lorry. He had about 90 customers in Mill Road but they dropped to 20 when the Co-op started in the milk business; he then tried his luck as a haulage contractor and finally tried to recoup his losses by racing greyhounds at Cambridge.

1930 01 09
A Soham grocer said he had started as manager of the Co-operative shop and then gone into partnership with John Everitt. They had bought a horse and cart and did delivery work, but found no cash. He had then started on his own and did well until the war broke out. Since 1913 five new competitors had spring up, three in Soham, one with motor vans from Newmarket and another from Ely. People also went shopping by bus. He had used some of the money of the Soham Slate Club, of which he was treasurer to pay his debts.

Mowbray Road photo, p8

1930 01 10
The drove under the bank at Isleham which is the only means of access to the houses alongside the river is in a terrible state, full of holes filled with mud and water and well night impassable. Some of the children attending school have to wade through mud and water over their boot tops for two miles and arrive so tired they are not in a fit condition for their lessons. Some years ago the school had to be closed owing to the impossibility of the mistress getting to there.

1930 01 10
Extensive netting was carried out in the ponds at Madingley Hall; over 8,000 fish, mostly roach and rudd, were transferred in tanks to Newnham Mill Pool. The party, which included Mr Ambrose Harding and Horace Coulson arrived equipped with nets and tanks which strongly resembled dust-bins. The first haul was made across the bridge end of the pond and resulted in the capture of about 400 small roach which were taken to Cambridge by lorry. The next produced upwards of 2,000 fish, too many for the lorry so Mr Coulson took some in pails in his car. The third pond yielded a still finer catch

1930 01 10 ES
Isle police sensation. Ex-police sergeant Hillier admits his guilt: had been promoted to take charge of Chatteris sub-division; at Ely seven years; member CAS, keen interest in wireless, Recorder Ely Field Club examining and classifying bones and relics. Accused of stealing wireless high tension battery from Curry's 30 01 10 # c.34.7

1930 01 11
The new night safe at Lloyds Bank in Sidney Street is not yet in working order but I had a peep and was impressed by the ingenious working of the arrangement. The safe is Lloyds' own invention and the Cambridge branch is amongst the earliest to have it installed. There was a time when people of small means did not trouble the banks very much but now the humblest investor seems to be welcomed. There are various kinds of home safe including a tasteful little book safe in four colours

'Wayabout' maps, p8
St Peters Street house photo, p8

1930 01 13 c
A child living in Isleham fen who was suffering from diphtheria had to be taken to the fever hospital in an open cart, there being no means of getting the ambulance up to the house, and it died the Monday following. Another child, aged nine, had to be carried on a stretcher for a long distance until the hard road was reached. The Fen Bank Drove serves a number of dwelling houses and three public houses together with the school which was built in 1879. Men have been employed filling up holes and now that there is a great amount of unemployment this is a favourable time to put the road into repair

1930 01 13
Cambridge experienced the full force of the gales. Broken fragments of tiles and chimney pots told their own tale including the house of Mr David Crown, the builder, which had a large hole in the roof. Many trees were blown down along the Backs of the Colleges; two on the corner of Queens' Green were both snapped off by the violence of the winds, another fell across the road opposite St John's College and several giant elms were snapped off like matchwood. A large tree fell across the road at Trumpington and a motor cyclist collided with it, without injury. A poplar on the edge of Snob's Stream, Sheeps Green fell carrying with it a large number of telegraph wires.

1930 01 13
A mysterious fire with some curious features occurred at the old Mill House, Ickleton. The house adjoins the works of the Ickleton Electricity Supply Company which were burnt down a few weeks ago. Inscribed on a battered tin tray, leaning against the door of the blazing mill, which was completely gutted, firemen found the words 'Revenge is Sweet'. The police have taken possession of the tray and inquiries are being pursued. Two brigades were unable to save the house. The occupier of the house was in Cambridge at the time of the outbreak and his wife was in London.

1930 01 14
Sir – at Wisbech the canal is being bridged over making it impassable to canal barges and steps have been taken to fill it in at certain places. For years this navigation has been a positive disgrace. All new bridges should be designed with ample width and head room. It is vital that all waterways linking the eastern grain-growing area and the great brick-making district at Peterborough with the Midland canal system should be protected. Without them no revival of arable farming can be looked for. If the Nene and Ouse navigations were remodelled and a 14-mile canal cut from Bedford to Fenny Stratford a vast acreage of farm land would be linked to the Midlands. We have 1,100,000 able-bodied employable men working for work instead of the dole – G.C. Henderson.

Sheeps Green bathing pace, p3*
Over house, p5

1930 01 15
From modest beginnings in Fitzroy Street the history of the House of Heffer is one of continuous progress. The Printing Works on Hills Road has been considerable enlarged, last year saw reconstruction of the Petty Cury Bookshop which is now twice its original size, and this year sees the reconstruction of the Sidney Street Stationery and Art Shop. It will be a shop worthy of its central position. The new premises will have five floor, the frontage will be in the Georgian style with pilasters, fascia and columns of grey polished granite and the upper part will be faced with red Flemish bricks with Weldon stone dressings to the windows. A unique feature will be the Picture Gallery on the third flood with a barrel-shaped ceiling

1930 01 15
An application was made for the winding up of the Cambridge Service Motor Company of Hobson Street. It had been incorporated as a private company in 1923, taking over the Service Motor Company engineering business. Their account was considerably overdrawn for much of its existence and it now had an overdraft of £6,744. The assets consisted of a number of used motor-cars of no great value. It was unable to pay its debts and should be wound up. 30 01 15 & 15a

Photo barges, p8

1930 01 17

The R100 airship which made a long flight from Cardington in fog was seen as a fleeting but fascinating object over Swavesey. Emerging from the mist like a spectre of the sky, the giant vessel attracted admiring attention as the sun glinted on her silvery nose, which, approaching head-on, was turned into the semblance of a full moon. She circled round the locality before disappearing in the fog in the direction of St Ives. 30 01 17

1930 01 17 ES
Manea model poultry farm in First Eastern General Hospital buildings 30 01 17 # c.21.4 *

1930 01 18
John Robert Bennett has died, aged 90 years. A native of Cambridge he married in 1867 and built his house in Gwydir Street in 1869. At that time that part of the town consisted mainly of fields. Since the foundation of St Matthew's Parish he has held the office of churchwarden on many occasions. He became the senior partner in the form of Messrs J.R. Bennett and Sons, builders, contractors and undertakers, of Catharine Street which had been founded by his father. 30 01 18

1930 01 20
Demolition work has begun on the Chesterton Sub-Police station, Mitcham's Corner. At one time the office of the old Chesterton Urban District Council it became a police station on the amalgamation of Chesterton with the borough. Corner improvements have made its removal desirable. Workmen are hurrying in and out and already it is windowless and completely barren internally. It will be replaced by a police-box. The familiar fire standards are also doomed to disappear; five wall boxes have been erected which will be in operation as soon as the telephones are installed. The change has been made because the public dislikes the breaking of glass in the older standards and prefer to use a telephone case of emergency 30 01 20

1930 01 21
There was a return of undergraduate hooliganism when hundreds of 'Varsity men rushed one of the entrances of the Central Cinema in Hobson Street in an attempt to see the extraordinary British talkie 'High Treason'. The trouble arose with those who had booked their seats. The orderliness of the queue became disorganised through latecomers surging round the entrance and when the door was thrown open a dense and disorderly crowd surged forward like an avalanche. The attendants attempted to stem the tide but were bruised in their struggle to stop in inevitable onrush. "Such a thing has never occurred before; the undergraduates were undoubtedly the cause, they think they can do as they like. We never had all this fuss in the vacation and we had full houses then", the manager said. 30 01 21

1930 01 22
Fire caused extensive damage to a house in High Street, Duxford. The Fire Brigade was quickly summoned and an immediate search for water began. The nearest supply was the river, 300 yards away. A slight delay was caused by extra hose being needed from Cambridge and by the time it arrived flames were leaping from the roof. Difficulty was added to the situation by the complete darkness. The only lights available were a few torches and cycle lamps, but later aid was given by means of spot-lights from cars. 30 01 22

1930 01 24
Band of Hope car & cinema, p6

1930 01 25
Cambridge University Cinematograph Society has just started on its new film; it will be even more ambitious than last year's "Aunt Matilda's Nephew". That was a two-reel burlesque on University life but "Varsity" is to be a more serious affair. It will be a mixture of comedy and drama. There will be a strong love interest and the services of some professional actresses are being sought. The director is Mr S. Legg and the camera man Mr Graff. 30 01 25 & a

County Hall, p7

1930 01 28
The inaugural meeting of the Cambridge branch of the Council for the Preservation of Rural England heard that the appearance of a Charles II house at the corner of the road between Huntingdon and the Great North Road had recently been completely spoiled by some dreadful enamelled signs and that Caxton – a gem of a village surrounded by lovely undulating land – could not now be approached unless one was 'hit in the eye' by a horrible advertisement which blocked the way. The Bishop of Ely said the motor business and traffic had a tremendous amount to answer for. The petrol stations were just like fungus. In regard to local beauty spots they had Wicken fen and also beet sugar factories. (Laughter) 30 01 28

Women workers – Mrs Adeane, p3

1930 01 29
Beet factory pollution, p8

1930 01 31 ES
Ely Beet factory maximum fine for pollution of Ouse 30 01 31
New Shire Hall plans 30 01 31b # I.B.

February 1930 CDN & Ely Standard

1930 02 01
The Backs look very desolate just now for fifteen of the giant elms have been condemned to death and the axe and saw has already accounted for most of them. The trees are being felled because their tops have become rotten and there is a danger of passers-by. Children are making the scene their playground and gathering firewood to take home and young amateur woodmen trying their skills with choppers when the workmen are not looking at them. The trees will be replaced by young elms. There is a variety of opinion about the age of the trees; some put them at 180 years but other say none is more than 100 years old. 30 02 01c

Architects, brewers and builders gathered outside the Rose and Crown public house on Newmarket Road, Cambridge, to witness the unveiling of a plaque proclaiming it one of the best buildings erected in East Anglia during 1928. They then adjourned to the very attractive club room for speeches. The Vice Chancellor said that Cambridge had a good tradition for good beer. When he was an undergraduate there was a college servant who sang: "I likes a glass of good beer, I does. It does you no harm, and does you a lot of good". 30 02 01

1930 02 04
Sir – the misfortune which has fallen upon the seven tenants of Cheney Water Farm, Steeple Morden prompts a public appeal on their behalf. The destruction of a large brick barn and adjoining cart shed by the recent gale buried nearly all the carts and implements used on the farm; a number of other implements are badly broken, some beyond repair. About ten tons of chaff has also been damaged. It is urgent to carry out repairs in order that the work on the farm can proceed but the tenants are not in a position to bear the cost themselves. We shall be grateful for donations of any amount – G.T. Garratt, County Councillor, E. O. Fordham Chairman of County Smallholdings Committee. 30 02 04

Mrs Keynes, p3

1930 02 05
The novel sight of people being lowered from an upper window of Messrs Macintosh's establishment in Market Street Cambridge by means of a new automatic fire escape has attracted considerable attention. The escape consists of a small metal box containing geared mechanism through which runs a steel cable with a safety belt fixed at each end. It can be fixed to the wall inside the window. The belt is placed round the body, under the arms and the person is lowered to the ground automatically at the rate of two feet per second. Most of the colleges have been equipped with it. Anybody desirous of testing the escape can do so and already a number of people, including one of the CDN photographers have done so. 30 02 05

1930 02 07 ES
Robert Hinkin of Lt Thetford, 99; landlord Rose and Crown while working on land; aged 97 dug acre of land adjoining his little cottage; was parcel and passenger carrier from Thetford to Ely, calling at Stretham. When no organ accompanied singing Thetford Baptist Chapel on his clarinet and was bandmaster of Lt Thetford Band which went out of existence 20-30 years ago. 30 02 07, 07a *

Suggested Prickwillow-Littleport Road 30 02 07

1930 02 10
Kubelik, the world-famous violinist who is playing at Cambridge Guildhall is one of the outstanding artists who have not succumbed to the lure of broadcasting. He objects to the microphone on the grounds that it can never give the listener the full benefit of a musician's art. But he has no objection to making gramophone records. Cambridge charms him. It is over ten years since he last visited but his affection is undimmed. 30 02 10

A memorial to Rupert Brooke may be erected at Grantchester using part of the money subscribed for the memorial on the Greek island of Skyros, where he died. But it will be deferred until the Skyros memorial is completed. The Rupert Brook tradition is still being maintainer here; there is still a fabulous sale of his poems. In addition to his residence at Grantchester Brooke is most associated with it through his most famous poem, the original manuscript of which is one of the lesser-known treasures of the Fitzwilliam Museum. 30 02 10a

St Bene't's church, p6

1930 02 11
Cambridgeshire has lost another of its 'grand old men' with the passing of Mr S.H. Rowley at Histon in his 89th year. He was one of the original members of the County Council on its formation in 1889. He scorned the ordinary election methods but his victory was the signal for great rejoicing; the bells of Histon church were pealed and his supporters unharnessed his horse and drew him home amid hearty cheers. He resigned in 1896 becoming County Chief Road Surveyor, a post he held until 1909. 30 02 11

Mrs Hartree, p3
Gas Company report, p5
Kubalik photo, p8

1930 02 12
Kubalik concert, p3
Arbury Road Baptist pic, p3

1930 02 13
Trustees of the Hinxton Hall said two main roads passed through their estate together with some smaller ones. The County had imposed restrictions with regard to building and fencing at three corners, to prevent the obstruction of the views of motorists saying it was not essential to wait until a corner had yielded a crop of accidents before imposing restrictions. They should also consider the probable increase in the volume of motor traffic and the threatened abolition of all speed limits. But the drastic penalties foreshadowed by the new Traffic Bill would go some way to checking the exuberance of the reckless driver. The judge said a restriction of 50 yards was ample at all junctions except the one at Stump Cross but as this was injurious to the Estate they were entitled to compensation. 30 02 13a

Arbury Baptist church stonelaying photo, p5
St Andrews Street cables photo, p8

1930 02 14
Large crowds gathered for the stone-laying of the new Arbury Road Baptist Church Hall and School. The new church will have the support of the Old Chesterton Baptists who will vacate their present chapel when the new building is complete. It will serve the needs of inhabitants of Green End Road, Milton Road and the Hurst Park & Chesterton Hall Estates and will be able to welcome members of other denominations. The ceremony was one of the most unique ever performed, there being six foundation stones laid. 30 02 14

Bateman Street trees photo, p8

1930 02 14 ES
Ely's latest motor service station, Service Motor Company, Lynn Road – photo 30 02 14 *

1930 02 15
Photo widening corner station and Tenison Roads

1930 02 17
Mr Chris Waller of Bassingbourn, one of the most famous trainers and riders 'over the sticks' of his day, has died as the result of a collision between his four-wheeled American buggy and a motor car. He successfully trained and owned many horses in the course of a long association with the Turf. He steered Jolly Sir John in Old Joe's Grand National of 1886 and Aladdin in 1888. As a trainer he commenced at Welwyn and migrated to Royston whence he went to Stockbridge to manage Major Joicey's stud farm. 30 02 17a

St Botolph's church, p3

1930 02 18
A special train was chartered to bring Mrs Albert Maltby, who lives at the West River gatehouse, near Ely, into Cambridge. The wife of a railway employee he was engaged in feeding her chickens when she slipped on the icy ground, breaking her leg. The gatehouse is in a part of the fens almost inaccessible save by the railway so a special train consisting of engine and brake was sent out to take her to Cambridge station from where she was conveyed to Addenbrooke's Hospital in the Borough Police ambulance. 30 02 18

We have to record the death of Mrs Richardson, wife of Mr Charles Richardson, the late sub-postmaster of Over. She was much respected in the village were her 34-year's work as sub-postmistress was greatly appreciated. Upon their retirement in 1929 villagers presented them with a silver teapot, cream jug and sugar basin, suitably inscribed as a token of their good wishes. 30 02 18a

Mrs Alan Gray, p3
De Valois, Festival, p8

1930 02 19
Farren photographer, p8

1930 02 20
If one morning in passing your front door you see a strange design in chalk on the step, you may take it for granted that a tramp of the blood has passed that way and according to the reception he received at your back door so he has decorated it. The next tramp on seeing the pattern on the doorstep will know what to expect. The signs include symbols for a savage dog, burglar alarm or a kind-hearted women. Others advise 'Pretend to be ill', 'You will have to do some work for what you get' or 'Nothing doing!' 30 02 20

Talkies at Lents photo, p8*

1930 02 22
What is it that attracts people today? People do like jazz and syncopation is a rhythm which appeals to the staid English ear. Cambridge Guildhall was packed for a performance by Ania Dorfmann, one of the great pianists and the applause was fervid. She was encored several times but her famous "Ol' Man River" brought the house down. Can the public taste be educated to the highest things or is it too volatile? At any rate the public were satisfied, and that is important. 30 02 22

Muffin man, p3
W.B. Sheppard, p7

1930 02 24
Theophilus Percy Gallyon, the well-known gunsmith, has died. He was head of one of the oldest Cambridge businesses, established by his great-grandfather 150 years ago. Born at the very address in Bridge Street where his shop still stands, he took over the business from his brother & will be succeeded by his eldest son. Deceased was recognised as a master of his craft and at one time indulged in shooting, a sport for which he turned out some first-class guns. 30 02 24

The successful crews in the Lent bumping races celebrated in traditional manner. Hundreds of excited undergraduates in 'bump supper' costume filled the streets till midnight and over it all flickered the light and smoke of bonfires. Boats were burned amid shouting and bacchanalian merriment at St Catharine's, Selwyn and Emmanuel who for the first time in history had finished head of the river. An 'eight' was sacrificed in the paddock of the college upon a huge pyre. The manoeuvre of getting the boat into the college proved by no means an easy one and traffic was held up as the unwieldy craft, borne on the shoulders of the crews, was shunted into Downing Street before being passed through the narrow gate. At St Catharine's the boat was escorted to the burning by a procession headed by a band of unemployed ex-Servicemen who had been playing on the towing path. 30 02 24a

St Edwards church, p3
St Barnabas light, p3
Ancient document, p6
Buntingford fire, p8 (photo 25th p8)

1930 02 25
Sir – we Cambridge market traders notice that Councillor Longley wants to move our stalls into the Corn Exchange but we challenge him to produce a transferred market that has been a success. He wants to replace the stalls with car parking spaces. Cannot he see the utter foolishness of congesting the very centre of a town with cars. Those on Market Hill consist of business townsmen, clerics and travellers who sit in their expensive car, eat bread and cheese, beg an onion to go with it but do little business. The Market Hill and Peas Hill are open-air markets. An arcade was tried years ago. The building stands today, a sorry sight, in St Andrew's Hill. The stallholders all failed – W.J. Sambridge. 30 02 25

Mrs Webber, p3
Thaxted wreaths, p8
Photographers at work, p5*

1930 02 26
A woman was summoned for allowing a barn at Fen Ditton to be used for immoral purposes. She had converted it into a dance hall, teas were advertised and dances held. Det-Sergt Willis said he looked through the window and observed people inside. Some of the women attending were known to be of an undesirable character and the men mostly members of the University. The girls were dancing by themselves down the centre of the room holding up their dresses; another girl got on top of the piano and danced. Couples frequently left and went to a nearby cottage. Later the University Proctor arrived; he went to the dance room which was in darkness and by the light of his lamp could see four undergraduates and seven girls. They said they were telling ghost stories. 30 02 26a-d

1930 02 27
One of the objects of the Council for the Preservation of Rural England is to persuade advertisers to refrain from the use of advertisement hoardings and boards in the countryside where they spoil the approach to villages. It is encouraging that the Dominion Motor Spirit Company has decided to remove two large advertisements at the entrance to Caxton village on the Old North Road. They take the view that other means should be sought other than those which take away the charm of the countryside. 30 02 27

1930 02 27
Unparalleled scenes were witnessed in the Mission Hall, Wicken, when disorder at the annual parochial church meeting culminated in loud booing of the Vicar after he had peremptorily adjourned the proceedings. About 100 parishioners were present. The chief cause of demonstration arose from resentment, particularly among the younger residents, against his refusal to allow the use of the hall for dancing and other amusements. The vicar was escorted to his car by a police constable and the parishioners remained excitedly discussing the situation as the caretaker turned out the lights. 30 02 27 a-c

1930 02 28
Two bottles of dead flies were produced at Cambridge council meeting in support of the contention that a rabbit skin factory in York Terrace was still a public nuisance. They had been caught in neighbouring houses. Residents said life was unbearable on many occasions and a man suffering from tuberculosis had to sleep with his windows shut because of the obnoxious smells which were worse at night. But the Medical Officer said that in spite of careful inspection no smells, flies or bugs were found. 30 02 28-a

Bateman Street trees, p6

1930 02 28 ES
Wicken parishioners boo vicar, Rev F. Harrison; stormy parochial church meeting after he tried to persuade those whose names not on the Electoral Roll to leave. Church cracks serious, part had to be taken down and rebuilt; tower wall strengthened 30 02 28

Prickwillow Rev J.K.C. Payne leaving for Gorefield after nine years 30 02 28a
Another advance in March's nursing service
Sunday marked the completion of another stage in the L.N.E.R Company's huge scheme for the better bridging of the Wash between Manea and Black Bank. Two of the old wooden approach spans to Old Bedford River being replaced by modern steel structures. The upper picture shows the gap in the line when the old structure was demolished and the great crane which is being used. The lower shows one of the giant steel girders being hoisted into position. 30 02 28b *

March 1930 CDN & Ely Standard

1930 03 01
History was made on Parker's Piece, Cambridge, when thousands of farmers and farm workers attended a mass demonstration. The meeting was originally intended to bring together workers in East Anglia but interest had become so wide that nearly all the agricultural counties in England were represented. They passed a resolution protesting against the increase in unemployment amongst unless effective steps are at once taken then nothing but calamity faces the industry. Visitors arrived by train, car, motor coach and bicycle, the ordinary parking facilities were quite inadequate and cars were parked around Parker's Piece itself and along Victoria Avenue. More than an hour before the start crowds assembled in front of the platform of motor lorries covered with a Union Jack and fitted with a battery of amplifiers. They whiled away the time listening to the Railway Band and broke into song when they played 'Farmer's Boy'. 30 03 01a-d

1930 03 03
Several people had miraculous escapes when the Church Farm House at Arrington was almost destroyed by a fire. All but three rooms were burnt down. The occupants were sound asleep in the upper rooms when they were awoken by the cracking of flames and smell of smoke. The stairs soon became a mass of flames but with great presence of mind the daughter erected a ladder against the window of the bedroom in which two of her brothers were sleeping and they were enabled to escape. When the Royston fire brigade arrived they made use of a pond 50 yards away but this was quickly exhausted and water was then obtained from a ditch 350 yards away. 30 03 03

Holy Trinity church, p3

1930 03 04
Mrs Stevenson, p3

1930 03 07
Pubs 'Alhambra' and 'Dew Drop', p8

1930 03 08
Mr W.F. Turner has sent us a photograph of all that remains of the old Bottisham fire engine. He came across it in an old lumberyard. It was presented to the parish by Mr Jenyns and repaired by public subscription in 1881. Many years ago there was a fireman's fete at Cambridge and this quaint old engine was manned by some high-spirited undergraduates who called themselves the Darktown Brigade. They all wore old-fashioned top hats and masks and created a good deal of fun. 30 03 08a

Sir – the rabbit factory in York Terrace, Cambridge, is a disgusting nuisance, excluding a horrible stench. Had this factory been on Grange Road the foundations would never have been dug but York Terrace stands for poverty and insignificance and so maggots, flies and stenches should apparently be borne with that humility that has been the bane of the workers all down the ages – P.J. Wright. 30 03 08

Sir – I am one of the fortunate ones employed at the rabbit warehouse in York Terrace, Cambridge. I came here about two years ago to grade these skins. It is a warehouse, not a factory; there has never been an outbreak of fever among the employees and a healthy child of 13 may start work there. To close it would add about 20 names to the unemployment register – T.A. Edwards. 30 03 08b

Wall of death, p5
Petty Cury demolition, p8*

1930 03 10
Pungent remarks on the conduct of the Fen Ditton dance hall were made by the chairman of the Bottisham bench in dismissing the case. It had attracted a great deal of public attention but they had come very reluctantly to the conclusion that the law did not admit their convicting. "If we are out to administer the moral law then no condemnation would be sufficiently strong for the shameless and wanton proceedings that have been allowed to occur; had we been in a position to impose a fine it would have been a very heavy one", he said. "I am ashamed that a young constable should have been called upon in the course of his duty to witness the scenes described and the only service the defendant can do us is to leave the neighbourhood". 30 03 10b-c

St Michael's church, p3

Greek play, p6

1930 03 11
Councillor Mrs Foster, p3
Swavesey fire, p5
Downing scheme, p6
St Catharine's College new block, p6
Sidney Street photo – Caxton Court, p8*

1930 03 12
Boots sale (withdrawn), p5
Orwell pub, Fox, p7*

1930 03 14
Molly dance photo, p5

1930 03 15
The major part of the two picturesque villages of Great and Little Abington is still on the market although over 20 offers have been received by United Kingdom and Overseas Ltd, the present owners of the estate. An advertisement reads: "Village for sale – Delightful property consisting of 45 cottages, general stores and village hall. Price £3,250. Bargain". All the cottages are thatched; the remainder were sold recently together with the school and inn. The post office and old smithy are now in the market. The estate would be a useful purchase for a working carpenter with a little money to spare as he would be able to do the repairs to the cottages himself. 30 03 15a

A deputation of 60 men marched unannounced into the Saffron Walden Council Chamber and demanded the provision of work instead of the dole. Unemployment is particularly acute and they didn't want to stand idle on street corners. The times hangs heavily and they would rather be in work. At Cambridge the corporation had provided work for the unemployed in improving dangerous corners and other schemes. Walden council was pushing ahead with a housing scheme and hoped to use 100 percent of unemployed labour. 30 03 15b

The time is drawing near for the opening of the new ward at Addenbrooke's Hospital. Named after T. Musgrave Francis, chairman of the General Committee. The hospital wards get their names in various ways; sometimes it is after royalty as in 'Victoria' and 'Albert' but the most interesting in 'Tipperary' which was built in 1913-14. For a long time it was known as the 'New' Ward but the 'long, long way' that one had to travel to get to it reminded people of the popular song and gradually the name stuck. The 'Tipperary' Ward always made the hospital look rather lop-sided from the front, but the new 'Musgrave' restores the balance. 30 03 15c

1930 03 17
Special prayers for the work of the Soviet Government were offered at a service at Thaxted church. The vicar, Rev Conrad Noel, has made no secret of his extreme political views. In his sermon he said "A good deal is being told us about Russia in order to egg us on to fight her when the time comes". He then came down from the pulpit and sat in an armchair in the body of the church to answer any questions. None were asked and the congregation rose and walked out of the church. A resident told the CDN that the service had little interest to local people. The congregation was chiefly composed of factory girls and people from outside who attended as a matter of curiosity. Some years ago the Vicar raised people's ire by hanging the Irish Sinn Fein flag and the Red Flag in the church. 30 03 17

Holy Sepulchre, p3
St John's church debt, p6

1930 03 18
Councillor Miss Blair, p3

C.S. Kenny death after car accident, p8, inquest 19th p5

1930 03 19
Demolition work has just begun on the Sidney Street corner of Sussex Street as a first step towards the most important reconstruction scheme for the improvement of Cambridge in many years. Sidney Sussex College will develop the whole site on modern lines; within the next year an imposing block of buildings, providing shops and offices will rise. It will be connected to Hobson Street by an artistically-designed crescent and colonnade of 12 shops which will allow vehicles to pass freely in the middle of Sussex Street. 30 03 19b

The death of Lord Balfour the former Prime Minister, great statesman, philosopher and Chancellor of Cambridge University will be particularly felt here. At Trinity College in the 1870s he was rather shy but fond of music and once owned four concertinas on which he delighted to play Handel's oratorios when anyone could be found to accompany him. He was renowned for the hours he would lie in bed and for his passion for blue china and pleasant knick-knacks. His seclusion nourished the fastidiousness of his mind and temper. 30 03 19

1930 03 20
Sussex Street sketches, p6
Cambridge Guardians final photo, p8*

1930 03 21
After 94 Years. Newmarket Board's last Meeting. Features of its history
Following an existence of 94 years, the last meeting of the Newmarket Board of Guardians was held on Tuesday, when important features of its history were recalled. Mr James Wheeler was in the chair, and there were present: Mr Harry Peachey (vice-chairman), Revs. S. Austin, L.L. Butcher, W.G. Dodd, Ernest Powles, and E. Wootton, Miss Ellis, Mrs Bocock, Mrs Ruston, Mrs Watson, Commander Boughey, Messrs. F.N. Bocock, W.P. Bocock, A.R. Catchpole, Seth Collin, J.E. Collin, W.C. Dimock, A.S. Frost, R.L. Fuller, H.W. Game, F.P. Harrison, Edward Leonard, Samuel Moore, W.J. Moon, C.C. Oakey, J.G.A. Paul, Harry Peachey, Charles Reeve, R.J. Robins, G.F. Townsend, J.H. Troughton, Thomas Webb, James Wheeler, C.Y. Woollard, B.J. Slack, J. Smallwood. The Rev. W.G. Dodd and Mr H. Edwards (former Guardians) also attended.
The Chairman said that in glancing at the history of that Board it was of some interest to note that the first meeting of the Newmarket Board was held at the White Hart Inn on December 31st 1835, and for 94 years Guardians had been giving their services on behalf of the community.
The first Board had for one of its members a Member of Parliament by the name of Richard Eaton. They could not claim that distinction to-day. Mr John Peter Allix was elected their first Chairman, and held office for 13 years. It was decided that weekly meetings should be held on Friday mornings at the Kingston House Room.
The First Union Districts
The Union was the same then as now, but was divided into four districts, with four relieving officers. At that time there were nine workhouses in the district, at Soham, Isleham, Newmarket (2), Snailwell, Wicken, Bottisham, Fordham and Swaffham. The contract price at that time for flour was 1s. 5d. Per stone, bread 4 ½d. 4lb loaf, and coal 1s. 8d. Cwt.
Early in that year it was decided to advertise for a married man to take charge of the All Saints' Workhouse at a salary of £30 per year, with board, washing and candle. At a meeting on March 4th 1836, it was decided to consider the desirability of building a central workhouse for the district.
The New Workhouse.
On April 22nd, 1836, it was agreed to purchase from Mr John Westley four acres of land at £84 per acre, on which to build the new workhouse. On June 3rd in the same year a contract was accepted for building the new workhouse at a cost of £7,500, and the fittings and furniture £485. Mr and Mrs Charles Martin were appointed the first Master and Matron in March, 1837, and the occupation of the new workhouse commenced on May 8th by the removal of the inmates from the Soham workhouse. Vagrants were a trouble in those days, for at the Board meeting on May 13th, 1835, it was decided to write to the Poor Law Commissioners for direction of how to dispose of them. There was no Mr Heasman in those days to deal with those knotty points. (Laughter).

The Enlargement Of The Workhouse

Of more recent history was the enlargement of the institution in 1902 at a cost of £27,000. They were now nearing the end of things. He thought they might well remind themselves that the Guardians had ever had to face human tragedy. They had had to deal with men and women with whom life had dealt hardly, many who failed in the fight, and some who had been false to themselves.

No sphere of public service had such a demand for wise judgment and sympathetic action, and the response had always been forthcoming. It was interesting to note that the Guardians of the Poor throughout the country controlled in their own institutions over 240,000 beds and employed about 10,000 nurses.

A Humane System.

Whatever else might be said of the present English Poor Law system, which was near passing away, none could ever say that it was not humane. The Guardians had been doing a specialised work for a special section of the community. They had to deal with human tragedy, and they had faced it with courage and sympathy. He thought they all felt the effects of its passing, and that the wrong thing had happened, but there was no help for it. He knew it had been their express wish to pass out of office quietly without any flag waving or beating of drums - without any shouts of victory or defeat, but he really did feel as their chairman at their last meeting it was his duty to say one or two words.

Government's Failure.

He had hoped that the Government, through the Ministry of Health, would have thought it worth while to have conveyed to the Guardians some expression of gratitude for the long and valuable services which they, together with other Boards, had rendered to the community. He thought they had failed badly in not expressing what must be the feeling of the country that day - some sort of appreciation for the tremendous amount of work put in during the last century by members of Boards of Guardians.

As it had not been done, he would like before discharging that morning, on behalf of those who had received the benefit of their labours, on behalf of the poor and destitute in this Union district, those who received, and those who were still receiving, either indoor or outdoor relief, and also on behalf of the ratepayers whose money they had always spent so carefully and economically - on behalf of all those he said, "I thank you."

Their contribution to the welfare of the nation had been no small one, and the poor and destitute of the Union had received more than they knew as a result of the sympathetic consideration the Guardians had always shown to their applications for relief. A more kindly disposed Board would be difficult to find.

He would like in their name and in his own to express sincere thanks to their friend, Major Ennion, the Clerk, for the help he had always given. (Hear, hear). They had always found it wise to follow his wisdom and advice, which had made their work much easier. For 38 years Major Ennion had served the Board. The same might also be said of their Assistant Clerk, Mr Blackbourn, who had been with them 27 years.

They would agree also that they had been particularly fortunate in having so able a man as Mr Heasman as Master of that Institution. It was largely owing to his keen interest and sound judgment that they had that day an Institution of which they were proud. It was second to none either in this county or any neighbouring county. They all wished to offer Mr Heasman their best thanks. He had been with them 19 years. They would not forget the Matron whom they saw so little but knew so much of what she was ever doing for the comfort of the inmates of that House. Her kindness, gracious tact and hard work they appreciated to the full.

Their Medical Officer, Dr. Maund, who had been with them eight years, was never lacking in his effort to alleviate the sufferings. To him, and indeed to all the staff at their Institution, for their loyalty to their duties, they desired just to say, "Thank you."

The Relieving Officers, whose jobs were difficult ones, were also entitled to the thanks of the Board.

Mr F.N. Bocock proposed that the hammer which was presented to the Chairman of the Board for the controlling of its meetings, by Mr Tebbitt on his second marriage, should be presented to Mr Wheeler as the last Chairman of the Board. Mr Troughton seconded. The Chairman thanked the members very much indeed. Mr T. Webb said he would like to include the name of Mr F.N. Bocock in the thanks of the Guardians. Mr Bocock had hammered him more than anybody else. (Laughter). The Clerk said he could not let that occasion pass without thanking the Guardians for their kindness to him as their Clerk. The Master, on behalf of himself and the Matron, thanked the Board for its kindness to them. A photograph of the members of the Board was taken in the yard of the Institution, and this will be hung up in the Board room.

The Institution Committee.
The Master reported that the number of inmates was 191, against 183 at the corresponding week of last year, and that the number of casuals admitted during the last month was 37 against 33 in the corresponding month of last year. 30 03 21 a & b
[Notes by Geoffrey Woollard:
Francis Norman Bocock (1853 - 1932) farmed at Lidgate and was one of Sue Woollard's great grandfathers.
William Percy Bocock (1870 - 1930) farmed at Gazeley and was Sue Woollard's first cousin three times removed.
Arthur Robert Catchpole (1856 - 1945) also farmed at Lidgate and was another of Sue Woollard's great grandfathers.
Charles Yorke Woollard (1877 - 1932) farmed at Swaffham Prior and was one of Geoffrey Woollard's great uncles.
Captain Richard Jefferson Eaton MP (1806 - 1847) was Sue Woollard's fourth cousin four times removed.
Major Sidney John Ennion (1869 - 1951) was a solicitor in Newmarket and Sue Woollard's great uncle by marriage.]

Sewards End fire, p10*

1930 03 22
There never was a time surely when there were so many works of destruction going on as at present. Little bits of old Cambridge are going one by one and elaborate new buildings are rising up in their place. Following demolition in Petty Cury and Sidney Street now we see old houses and shops in Sussex Street being knocked down. No wonder that those who come back to the town after a few years' absence express amazement at the changes they see. When we think of the bridges built at Newnham and Chesterton, of the streets that have been widened, the new recreation ground opened and the great business changes effected in the heart of the town we may well gasp. 30 03 22 a & b

1930 03 24
St Clements, p3
Spiritualism, p6

1930 03 25
The opening of the Hobb's Pavilion, erected to commemorate the achievements of the greatest batsman in the world, upon his native playing field is an epoch in the annals of the game. Parker's Piece is one of the most historic cricket grounds in the kingdom. It shares in seniority with Broad Half-Penny Downs, of the famous Hambleton Club and the White Conduit Club, whose playing ground was the Artillery parade grounds at Finsbury before the Marylebone Club emerged and Thomas Lord had opened his first ground at Dorset Square. 30 03 25 a & b

Councillor Mrs McNair, p3
Chesterton railway bridge photo, p5*

1930 03 27
Cambridge Motor Service Company had taken over a firm of motor engineers and garage proprietors in Hobson Street and hoped to acquire the business of Hunnybun and Son, coachbuilders and painters. Then in 1927 they spent £2,000 to purchase a large stock of electric lamps which were being retailed at a considerable profit. But the British Thompson-Houston Company issued a writ and the present stock of lamps was now valueless. In addition the depression in the motor trade for used cars and dealings in sports cars for which there was at one time a good demand among undergraduates had contributed to their failure. 30 03 27a & b

1930 03 27
Ideal cricket weather favoured the long-awaited opening of the Hobbs Pavilion on Parker's Piece by the Mayor of Cambridge in the presence of Mr & Mrs Jack Hobbs. He was the greatest cricketer the world had ever known and had learned to play within sight of this new pavilion. All that was needed was a record of his achievements to hang in the building, but those were not yet over. It would induce the younger sportsmen to become keen again and to carry on the traditions so that in future Cambridge would never be without its representatives in first-class cricket. 30 03 27

1930 03 28
With the sun's warm rays streaming in at the windows – a fitting herald of life and health – the new Musgrave Ward was opened at Addenbrooke's Hospital. It is an addition to the top floor and intended as the second women's surgical ward. It contains 18 beds with three single-bed side wards and a balcony accommodating six beds for open-air treatment. Its name commemorates T. Musgrave Francis, chairman of the General Committee, who provided a tea and concert in the out-patients' department. 30 03 28b-

1930 03 28
Ely Ratepayer Association's dinner was told that it was no good rushing ahead with houses and factories unless they had a good sewerage scheme. They now had electricity and a good bus service. First impressions went a long way and Palace Green should be regularly cut and rolled as it presented a neglected appearance to visitors. They also had a splendid display of antiquated dustbins and people could not understand why something better could not be devised. Some people expected to find the luxuries of a large town but they were out in the country and had to cut their cloth accordingly. 30 03 28d-e

1930 03 28
Interesting reminiscences were given as Chesterton Guardians passed out of existence after 94 years. The first meeting in 1836 appeared to have been in a public house; amongst those attending were the names of Taylor, Linton and Foster and they still had members of these names on the Board. The final report showed the number in the institution was 39 men, 40 women and one child. 30 03 28f-g

1930 03 29
Mystery surrounds the discovery of a tramp lying bound and gagged in a gravel pit a mile from the main road near Ashwell. He was taken to Royston Union. The man is believed to be of mixed Chinese and Scotch extraction and says he lives in Italy. The police were unable to get a clear account as to how he came to be in the pit, since he speaks only a bad Italian. A peculiar feature of the case is that he was similarly found by a farmer in Hampshire and also in Hertford about three weeks ago. 30 03 29

Hobbs Pavilion, p8*

1930 03 31
Perhaps fired by childhood memories of Blondin, the famous tightrope walker, a young man attempted the perilous crossing of the River Cam in the wee small hours of the morning. Unfortunately his skill and possibly his sobriety were not equal to his enthusiasm. He first demonstrated his agility by climbing the lamp-post at the end of the bridge then wandered three paces along the parapet of Magdalene Bridge before sliding gracefully into the watery depths beneath. Although able to swim he was exhausted by the time he reached Quayside and it took the combined efforts of his companions and a policeman to get him out, wetter but slightly more sober. 30 03 31

St Mary the Less, p3
Guardians photo, p8

April 1930 CDN & Ely Standard

1930 04 01
The disappearance of Boards of Guardians and the transference of the Poor Law work to the Public Assistance Committees has caused some bewilderment. The chief institution in Cambridge is that at 81a Mill Road; it was erected in 1838 as a 'Union' to replace numerous small parish workhouses. The name has been changed to Poor Law Institution in recent years. The demand for accommodation became so acute that in 1923 they had to build a new block. The Infirmary of the old Workhouse has become a hospital with 124 beds in up-to-date wards with a large nursing staff including three certified midwives. 30 04 01a-c # c.32.9

Mrs Salter, p3

1930 04 02
Ely Guardians photo, p8

1930 04 04
Sheeps Green new sluice photo, p6

1930 04 07
The new electric traffic signals are generally working well but it seems that the average motorist accelerates when the green light is showing in order to get through before it changes. This is particularly evident at the Northampton Street – Castle Hill crossing in Cambridge as a driver going towards Huntingdon seeing a stiff climb directly ahead naturally tries to get through and up the hill. But a driver coming down often finds his car has a tendency to accurate of its own and tries to get into Chesterton Lane a little too fast, swinging out into the standard erected in the centre of the road. 30 04 07

Gt St Mary's, p3
Whittlesford British Legion club, p8

1930 04 08
Councillor Mrs Rackham first came to Newnham College in 1895. Returning on her marriage in 1901 she entered into public life as school manager, Guardian and town councillor. In 1902 she started the first local branch of the Women's Co-operative Movement. Her clear-cut voice is well-known on radio and she has recently completed a series of six talks from Savoy Hill on Local Government. She is also a journalist of standing and has contributed a column to 'The Woman's Leader' for the last seven years. 30 04 08a

1930 04 08
To walk from Cambridge to London has been the ambition of many a healthy young man; I decided to do the journey by night. I left at 6pm and arrived at Royston three hours later for a substantial supper which I capped with a bottle of Guinness. It was not a cold night and I carried only a stout stick which I'd bought in the Cury for 7d. I met scarce anybody for tramps take shelter for the night in barns and out-houses. But there was an almost constant stream of lorries and private cars roaring through the night at 60 mph. My legs were getting very tired but I arrived at my house at Golder's Green just as the clock struck six. 30 04 08b-c

1930 04 10
Referee L. Sylvester complained of the conduct of the Littleport Football Club and their supporters when they played Wisbech Town. He said they followed him to the dressing-room, calling him 'everything under the sun', and threw pieces of mangold wurzel at him. But the Club Secretary complained that he was incompetent and his decisions 'bordered on the ridiculous'. The linesman had awarded a goal that was offside and used bad language. The club had been running for over 25 years and had only had one player ever reported. It was warned and the linesman suspended. 30 04 10

Coldham's Lane made up – photo, p6
Duxford plane crash, p9

1930 04 11
The Cambridge Skittle League was formed in August and proved that the average man was a sportsmen; a lot of people were inclined to 'run down' the public house games such as darts, dominoes and shove ha'penny. The Skittles League met the requirements of these people and what should be more natural than they should go to the poor man's club – the local inn. Publicans went out of their way to provide every amusement and recreation. 30 04 11

1930 04 11 ES
New stationmaster for Guyhirn – C.F. Blackwell from March – memories
Wisbech canning industry grows – Wisbech Produce Canners feature 30 04 11b *

1930 04 12
A crowd of nearly 3,000 massed in front of the loud speaker which Pye Radio had installed in the main window of the Cambridge Guildhall. Business in the market was suspended and the lanes between the stalls were solid with people. In the shops and offices there was a general cessation of work; counters and desks were forsaken and faces appeared at every window. There was a cheer when the Cambridge boat crew drew level and overtook Oxford. Workers hurrying home eagerly bought copies of the special edition of the CDN and pictures are being shown at the Central and Tivoli cinema this evening. 30 04 12

1930 04 14
Spirituals, p3
LNER ambulance corps, p8

1930 04 15
"S.O.S. Wanted a Wife. A real girl, not a church prude". These notices have been placed by a Horningsea bachelor on the front of his cottage. He assured a News representative that he is quite serious. He describes himself as a poet and farmer, born in County Cork, but refuses to divulge his age. He went to sea and lived in the USA before coming to the village two years ago. He has published one volume of poems but complains that with working in his garden and preparing meals, he has no time to write. When he marries he will write a 'best seller'. 30 04 15a & b

1930 04 15
The new manager of the Broadway Kinema, St Ives, said he intended to put on most up-to-date films of a topical character, the 'talkies' were also to be introduced. But the presiding magistrate said: "We want superior films in St Ives, not so many murders and tragedies; something in the natural history line or travel pictures". The manager promised to bear this in mind and he fancied it would not be long before he knew the tastes of local people. 30 04 15c

Bethune-Baker, p3
Streetley Hall fire, p5

1930 04 16
Damage amounting to thousands of pounds was done by an extensive fire at Mr Owen Webb's farm at Streetly Hall, West Wickham. A number of valuable pedigree heifers, calves and pigs lost their lives and a great many farming implements and machinery, together with a motor car, farm carts and a large quantity of grain were destroyed. One of the buildings destroyed was an old thatched barn, one of the largest in the country with solid oak beams which once formed part of a church. The farm foreman was burned on the arms and legs when an oil tank exploded. With his clothing on fire he rushed into the pond at the bottom of the farmyard and extinguished the flames. 30 04 16a-c

Rabbit factory, p8

1930 04 17
For years men have beaten carpets on Butt Green and children have used New Square as a camping-out ground. But these ancient customs are soon to pass away with the transfer of the Green to Jesus College, and the construction of a parking place in the Square. 30 04 17

Hinxton corners, p6

1930 04 18
Railway bridge placed over Old Bedford River – feature – 30 04 18, 18a * # c.26.2

1930 04 19
The Horningsea man who placed notices in front of his cottage appealing for a wife says he has been inundated with letters. They have come from all parts of the country, including Jersey. Many have come from London, from Mayfair as well as Hampstead, from servant girls as well as from girls who run their own cars. One letter enclosed a photograph of a delicate, refined-looking blonde, whom he declares he will probably marry. But he will reply to all letters and hopes to have a June bride. 30 04 19a

1930 04 19
Cambridge has yet another claim to distinction. Mr James Gibb, who died recently, was the inventor of the game of ping-pong which enjoyed a tremendous vogue about 30 years ago. He was an old Cambridge athlete and started the game one evening with champagne corks cut as nearly circular as possible and the lids of cigar-boxes for battledores. Then he tried India-rubber balls covered with cigarette paper before finally sending to America to have celluloid balls made. 30 04 19b

Ballroom music, p3
Skipping, p6

1930 04 21
Littleport bus accident, p3

1930 04 22
Leah Manning, p3
Skin factory, p6
Grass track racing, p7

1930 04 23
A News reporter experienced the thrill of looping the loop in the joy-ride aeroplane now giving flights from the Cherryhinton Road ground: “We bounced across the bumpy field and before I was aware of it we had left the ground. We climbed until I saw the hand of the pilot’s altitude clock creep round to the 2,000 feet mark. Suddenly we seemed to be hurtling downwards at a tremendous speed and I felt I had left my tummie up above. I saw fields and roads above, then the sky came back over the top. I suppose we had been upside down, but it seemed as if it was the world that had turned over. It was great fun”. 30 04 23a

1930 04 23
A series of events contributed to an ‘extra special’ in traffic jams, even for Cambridge. Deadlock resulted after a motor bus, endeavouring to pass a brewer’s dray in Bridge Street fouled a trolley used in cable laying operations. An outsize in motor lorries added to the general melee which took P.C. Lilley fully ten minutes to sort out. The first day of term also brought with usual ‘crop’ of taxis and cars which added to the jam. Altogether one of the narrowest and busiest parts of the town provided for the greater part of the afternoon something like a slow motion traffic scene. 30 04 23f

1930 04 23
Visitors to Newmarket expressed keen interest in the operation of the first fully electrical Totalisator under racing conditions in this country. The indicator board behind the chief rings flashed and twinkled with remarkable rapidity and the state of the market was easily discernible. All the bookmakers had been placed along two sides of the rails and no 'tictacs' or runners were allowed. Nine minutes after the number of the winner went into the frame the dividends were declared and every winning punter was paid out before the second race started. 30 04 23g

Sawston factory fire, p5*
Horseheath jubilee, p6*
Electric fete, p8*

1930 04 24
Mills circus, p6
Mepal new bridge – photo, p7

1930 04 25
Sensational scenes were witnessed when Cambridge Town met Ipswich in a vital football match at Milton Road. The crowd, numbering over 7,300, were annoyed by some disputable rulings by the referee. At the final whistle they surged on to the field and surrounded him. The situation looked very ugly when Cambridge players and police with drawn truncheons went to his assistance. They got him to the pavilion but the crowd tried to storm the building. When the Chairman, W.R. Paige, tried to gain order with the aid of a megaphone he was shouted down. But for the quick work of many police, both uniformed and plain clothes, players and officials, the referee might have been very roughly handled. 30 04 25

1930 04 25
Mr & Mrs H.H. Crowther leaving Burnt Fen school after seven years; played part in life community 30 04 25 &

1930 04 26
Derailed train photo, p6
Chesterton railway bridge, p7

1930 04 28
Six men were slightly injured by an explosion at the Cambridge University and Town Gas Company's works during the cleaning of one of the purifying boxes containing ferric oxide. Staff made attempts to put out the fire with chemical extinguishers but the fumes defeated them and the Fire Brigade was summoned. Working in gas-masks they played water on the boxes for some hours. How the explosion occurred is not clear. 30 04 28a

1930 04 28
Chesterton railway bridge: replacement, p8*
Shire Hall tender, p3
Graf Zeppelin at Cardington, p6

1930 04 29
A terrible double road fatality occurred at Cambridge about midnight when a motor-cycle carrying a pillion passenger came into collision with a high-powered Delage car on the Trumpington Road. The force of the impact was such that the motor-cyclist was flung through the car windscreen and practically decapitated. His passenger died in hospital. The car was badly damaged and the front axle was wrenched off as it proceeded for nearly 150 yards, veering from side to side until finally coming to rest in a hedge. 30 04 29

Mrs Pryor, p3

1930 04 30
Cambridge Guildhall was crowded with an audience chiefly composed of young men and women, but with a fair leavening of older folk, who had come to hear Dr Marie Stopes give an address on birth control. She spoke rapidly for an hour and replied to many questions. Thousands of mothers, having had three or four children, with perhaps only one year between them, finding it difficult to get sufficient food and worn out were in dread of another unwanted child. What was wanted was spaced babies from radiant mothers. Dr Stopes had been abused, insulted and misrepresented but she made people think and talk about birth control. 30 04 30a & b

1930 04 30
A curious accident occurred in Melbourn when a Sentinel steam wagon crashed into the taproom of the White Lion public house. The wagon was about to pass a Co-op van when the driver saw another vehicle approaching. He swerved and crashed through the wall. Two men were in the taproom at the time but they escaped injury as did the driver and his mate. Fortunately the building was of plaster, or more serious injuries would undoubtedly have resulted to the men. Part of the house had to be propped up and traffic was diverted for some time. 30 04 30

1930 04 30
Fen Drayton Parochial Church Council launched an attack on Christ's College; they were collecting the whole of the tithes but for the last three years had only provided a 'half-time' parson. The Rev Abbott is also rector of Conington-cum-Knapwell so the tithe payers should pay half the tithes. It has been absolutely dishonest to take the whole of the tithes and then clip down on the services. 30 04 30d & e

May 1930 CDN & Ely Standard

1930 05 02
Crash, p5
Pay Radio first agm, p6
Chivers v Barrington cement, p8

1930 05 03
Chivers v Cement, p3
Ambulance, p6
Tram photo, p8

1930 05 05
Histon show stops, p3
May Day demonstration photo, p8

1930 05 06
The King, who celebrated the 20th anniversary of his accession to the throne today, attended racing at Newmarket this afternoon. He motored from Buckingham Palace during the ceremony of changing the guard and large crowds cheered as his car left. But only a few people noticed his arrival on the Heath. The King spent some moments at the new electric totalisator before proceeding to the grandstand. He will remain at Newmarket for the whole of the Spring Meeting. 30 05 06

Mrs Mellish Clark, p3
St Ives chicory factory, p6
Chivers v cement, p8

1930 05 07
A young man fired two pistol shots with deadly effect by in the Lion Hotel Yard, Cambridge. They were fired at a distance of a few yards – the first at a fire arising from a petrol-soaked strip of carpet, the other at a roaring fire in a wooden structure which had been soaked with tar and petrol. At each discharge a cone-shaped column of whitish powder was projected into the base of the fire and instantly extinguished the flames. The weapon was an 'Antifyre' Standard model and the man was W. Hardesty of Hills Road, who is the district agent. 30 05 07

Chivers v cement, p8

1930 05 08
Sheeps Green flood pic, p6

1930 05 09
Poultry farming, p3
King's chorister death, p8
Chivers v cement, p3

1930 05 09 ES
Revolution in track laying on L.N.E. Railway between Stretham and Waterbeach 30 05 09 * # c.26.2
Modern petrol depot for Ely – British Petroleum on site formerly occupied by RAF near station 30 05 09a *

1930 05 10
The new talkie installation nearing completion at the Tivoli cinema, Cambridge, is manufactured by British Acoustic and was selected on account of its purity of reproduction. The entire sound equipment is duplicated so that no failure or breakdown can interfere with the performance. The programme selected for the opening week features Maurice Chevalier in 'Innocents in Paris' supported by the comedy 'Talkie'. 30 05 10a & b

King's chorister, p6
Victoria Cinema clearance photo, p8

1930 05 12
The Cambridge branch of the Association of Plasterers and Granolithic and Cement Workers celebrated its 50th anniversary. Mr G. Cook, their first secretary said they had experienced strikes and lock-outs; they had acted on the defensive and had been aggressive. They had a proud record for bettering the conditions for the workers. At one time they were 100 per cent organised and still had 95 per cent membership. 30 05 12

1930 05 13
Messrs Chivers told the court that they had been growing fruit at Barrington for more than 20 years. They had two plantations growing raspberries, greengages and Victoria plums near the summit of a hill. In 1927 the Cement Company started a new works half-a-mile to the south and soon their pickers started to experience unpleasant smells. The raspberry crop was scorched and shrivelled by dust and the same thing happened to the plums. It was caused by considerable quantities of dust from the company's new chimney stacks. 30 05 13a & b

1930 05 13
An NSPCC Inspector told the court that he entered a cottage at Croydon which was in a filthy and deplorable state. There was very an old iron bedstead, a patched mattress and a few articles of old and dirty clothing which had been used as a bed covering. The mattress in the bedroom used by the children consisted of a sack of brown flock. The children were in a verminous condition and their clothing in a filthy state. They had been taken to the Caxton Institution. The father was out of work and the mother needed to look after a child who was in hospital. They were each fined £5. 30 05 13a & b

Miss Cochrane, p3
Arrington verminous house, p8*

1930 05 14
Agriculture has been termed 'the hopeless subject which no Government cares to tackle' but it employs more men than other industries, except building. Now Mr G.T. Garratt, the former Labour candidate for Cambridgeshire has written a book drawing on his practical experience on a farm and as a county councillor. He says a million men and their families are tied to a decaying industry, bitterly divided socially and economically and politically impotent with no leaders for the future. Control of the land must be in the hands of the local councils which can provide modern buildings and parcel out lands for farms capable of becoming sound economic units. 30 05 14

Post office moves, p6

1930 05 15
A councillor complained that in 1921 an agreement had been signed with the Ortona Bus Company allowing them a monopoly of buses on the streets of Cambridge for a payment of £250 a year. "They have had a jolly good picking. There are no workmen's tickets, no children's tickets, no cheap tickets, which you get in any other town". The Mayor said the streets were already so congested that it was not possible to have competitive services in operation. But Ortona had been issued with extra licences to run buses on those same narrow streets. 30 05 15 & a

Green End Road houses, p3

1930 05 19
Cambridge has found dealing with motor traffic increasingly difficult in recent years, Counsel told an inquiry. He emphasised the inconvenience to motorists when no central parking places were available but now the council had made an agreement with Jesus College for the use of New Square as a car park in exchange for Butt Green and a piece of Midsummer Common. It would mean the surrender of 2½ acres of Common Land, but it would remain undeveloped & would allow the college to make a new entrance. The scheme was approved. 30 05 19 & b

Wesley House chapel, p8

1930 05 20
Mrs Anderson Scott, p3

1930 05 21
Castle Mound cartoon, p6
Electric transformers photo, p8

1930 05 23
The jurisdiction of the Ecclesiastical Courts over chancel repairs should be abolished, a Committee suggests. It was appointed following a dispute at Hauxton where a landowner refused to accept liability and was sent to Bedford Gaol. Notice should be given in writing to those responsible for such repairs and proceedings taken in the County Court should there be a dispute. 30 05 23

1930 05 23 ES
Walbro Cycle and Motor Works, Ely – advertisement 30 05 23a *
Air pageant, Whittlesey, Kenneth Whittome organised; 15 aeroplanes on his landing ground 30 05 23b # c.26.1

1930 05 24
The Isle of Ely Member of Parliament, James de Rothschild is the joy of the cartoonist and the favourite exhibit in the House of Commons lobbies. Nothing causes such effect as his appearance with his one-wing collars, one eye-glass and super-glossy hat. Yet he is very shy, a very nice chap and very fond of animals. 30 05 24

1930 05 26
A mock funeral procession paraded through Cambridge as undergraduates bade farewell to one of their number who had been sent down. It was headed by an old horse-drawn landau in which the 'corpse' sat, his face disguised beneath a war-paint of lipstick. He was joined by various persons who were to officiate at the ceremony; beneath top hats, black cloches and wideawakes were suits of grey flannel, blazers and plus-fours. All were garnished in crepe streamers on which hung rhubarb, beer and wine bottles, remains of the 'wake'. At the station the funereal party moved along the platform hilariously singing a dirge and the 'corpse' was installed in a third-class compartment where gifts of fruit and rhubarb were handed solemnly in. 30 05 26

Empire Day, p6

1930 05 27
Cambridge University Cinematograph Society's film 'Varsity' depicts University life through the eyes of undergraduates themselves. The director is Stuart Legg of St John's College and Mr J.Graaff is responsible for the production and photography. About 50 students take part including Mr Hunter, the son of a well-known Hollywood director and some well-known townsmen. It includes scenes at a Rugby match, Cambridge station and a roulette party at a public house. The film is not a talkie but includes gramophone recorded noises. 30 05 27

Miss Briscoe, p3
Mock Funeral pic, p8

1930 05 28
The bookshops of Cambridge are a special feature of the town; no visitor can possibly miss David's stall on the Market Place where the book-lover may pick up a bargain. He came to Cambridge in 1896 and started his career at this stall; in 1906 he took a shop in St Edward's Passage, which is full of interesting old books and though often locked can be viewed at leisure in the window. In such esteem is he held that a luncheon was held in the Hall of Trinity College and a lithograph cartoon by Mr William Nicholson presented to him. 30 05 28a & b

Undergraduate film photo, p8

1930 05 31
For generations a wooden, straw-thatched barn has stood opposite the church at Melbourn, its end used as the village bill-posting station. Two years ago it was purchased by Howard Bros, bakers, who decided to convert it into a shop. It would have been a very simple matter to demolish the barn and erect an up-to-date brick and slate shop but happily the brothers have a wide knowledge of the village's history and would never consent to the spoiling of this old-world corner. All are to be congratulated on their efforts and many motorists stop to congratulate them on preserving the amenities of the countryside. 30 05 31a & b & c

Gun photo, p8

June 1930 CDN & Ely Standard

1930 06 03
A terrible shooting affair occurred at King's College this afternoon. An undergraduate shot a Cambridge Detective-Sergeant twice with an automatic, then shot his tutor through the heart and himself in the head. The tutor died instantly, the undergraduate is not expected to live but the policeman is likely to make a normal recovery. The cause of the trouble is at present a mystery. 30 06 03a

Mrs Carter, p3

1930 06 04
The third of the men in the King's College shooting sensation, Det-Sergt Willis, has died from the effects of his wounds. The undergraduate assailant died yesterday from a bullet wound in the head whilst the tutor was killed instantly from a bullet through his heart. The undergraduate was heavily in debt and went away from Cambridge nine days ago on a motor-cycle obtained on credit. He was being interviewed by the policeman when the tragedy occurred. 30 06 04
The Cambridge Chief Constable paid tribute to Det-Sergt Francis Willis who was shot by a Cambridge undergraduate. He was born in Haverhill and joined the Cambridge force in 1920 serving as a unformed and a cycle patrol constable until appointed a detective. He had commendations for his plucky action in stopping runaway horses and was the officer concerned in the recent 'Mr H' blackmail case. He had the making of a really great policeman and his death was a great shock. 30 06 04
A London lady has thrown fresh light on the movement of the undergraduates involved in the double shooting at King's College. They had knocked on her door at three in the morning; their clothes were torn and dishevelled and they said they were down and out, having been walking about on the Thames Embankment. They told her they were in trouble at Cambridge, but only through disposing of some property that did not belong to them. Both had pistols and said they would end things then rather than face fresh trouble, but she had dissuaded them. 30 06 04

1930 06 05
Scenes of academic splendour marked the ceremony of the installation of Mr Stanley Baldwin as Chancellor of the University of Cambridge at the Senate House. The historic building was filled to capacity with a brilliant array of distinguished Cambridge figures. Crowds waited in the precincts and Mr Baldwin's arrival was the signal for a prolonged outburst of cheering. 30 06 05a

1930 06 05
Further revelations of the escapades of the undergraduate involved in the King's College shooting have caused University authorities to make searching inquiries into the habits of undergraduates. The lad had surrounded himself with an atmosphere of false romance; he paid frequent visits to the Bell Hotel at Mildenhall. The landlord's daughter described him as 'a very nice boy, but terribly eccentric'. He always came in second-hand cars, but never in the same car twice, and spent time playing the gramophone. He always left in time to get back to college before the gates closed. 30 06 06b

1930 06 06
Inquest, p5*
Chivers fire, p7

1930 06 07
Poignant scenes of grief were witnessed at the funeral of Det-Sergt Francis Willis of Cambridge police which took place at Haverhill. His murder has cast a gloom over the old-world town; it is a community of sorrow. Blinds of private houses and business premises were drawn long before the arrival of the cortege headed by police colleagues; as it passed heads were bared and women could not restrain their tears. Traffic ceased, the engines of motor cars were stopped. The whole atmosphere was reminiscent of the silence of Armistice Day. 30 06 07b

1930 06 07

The University told Cambridge planners that if they would change the route of the proposed ring road to avoid crossing the University Farm on the Huntingdon Road then they would agree that the land would never be used for any business, commercial development or housing scheme but remain a private open space. After careful consideration the planners were unable to agree. 30 06 07 f & g

Sorrow, p8

1930 06 09
A disastrous fire broke out at West Wratting in which four old cottages, recently converted into one, were completely destroyed. One was the old post office and they formed a pleasant group of picturesque thatched buildings. A spark from a passing traction engine is believed to have ignited the roof. Mrs Barker, a bedridden lady of over 90 years lay helpless in one cottage and was removed to safer quarters by volunteers. 30 06 09

1930 06 10
Cambridge is a lurid place – according to the 'Daily Herald'. Days are spent in drunken dissipation, commencing with a champagne breakfast at 11.30 a.m. or later. At night bands of students invade the peaceful rusticity of the county in motor cars and on cycles causing general annoyance. Villagers have set up their own 'defence committee' – a determined band of sturdy young men who will be quick to stop misbehaviour. But a resident tells me "I have heard of the Flower Show Committee but a Defence Committee is news to me". 30 06 10

1930 06 10
The new motor fire engine at St Ives was called out for the first time to a blaze in some outbuildings at Colne. But neighbours rallied round and by the time the brigade arrived the fire was under control. The damage included the burning of two young calves. 30 06 10b

Mrs Wolf, p3
Huntingdonshire fire, p8

1930 06 11
Isleham headmaster, H.P. Hodges said the school had a room for special subjects where woodwork, cookery and washing were taught, and during the winter months the dinner hour was shortened and two-course dinners supplied at 2d per head. 18,000 meals were served in five years and a profit of five shillings had been made. It cost the County Council nothing. The teacher dined with the children and the cooking was done by the cookery mistress with the help of two older girls. 30 06 11a & b

1930 06 12
The crowd was large for the opening day of the 'Mays' bumping races but it was cautious. Diaphanous frocks gave way to less flamboyant costume and what colour there was came from the blazers of the undergraduates. On the river the most conspicuous figures was a balloon vendor selling his wares by boat. An inflated rubber swan and frog trailed behind his craft, while from the 'mast' hung all kinds of air-filled curiosities. 30 06 12a

1930 06 12
The University is opposed to the proposed ring road round Cambridge crossing the University Farm on Huntingdon Road. It was of national importance, a road cutting up the farm would do a great amount of damage to the experiments which had been in progress for many years. But everybody could use the same argument and say 'You are not going to come across my cabbage patch'. Somebody had to give way and the University should be big enough to do so. Anyway the road would not be wanted for 50 years. 30 06 12a-d 1930 06 12
An attempt was made by private bus owners to run buses to the May Races from the Ortona Company's stop at Holy Trinity Church. Six coaches blocked the bus-stop; they refused to move when ordered by police and a number of the drivers were arrested. But when the police attempted to move the coaches they found the magneto brushes had been removed. The traffic disorganisation which followed lasted for over an hour. 30 06 12b-d

1930 06 13
Swavesey church, p8

1930 06 14
Flag day, p5
Hoax, p5*

1930 06 16
By the courtesy of A.G. Marshall of the Newmarket Road Aerodrome, who placed a plane at the disposal of the C.D.N., our representative was able to secure a bird's eye view of the bumping races. "I could hear nothing of the general buzz which must be going on by the river, only the roar of the engine and the voice of my companion through the speaking tube. He tells me he is regulating his height so that we are well in gliding distance of a landing place all the time. I am very comforted – I should hate to drop on Jesus or a crew just making a bump", he writes. 30 06 16 & 16a

1930 06 17
All records were broken at Trinity ball when 1,700 guests attended the most brilliant of the May Week functions. Many townspeople waited to see the guests arrive and crowds flocked to Garret Hostel Bridge to view the grounds in all their evening glory. Up to mid-day next morning occasional stragglers, heavy-eyed but cheerful could be seen walking driving about the town. One such pair were mutually photographed beside their car in Silver Street. Sports coats over white waistcoats were common and in one a dishevelled figure in a flannel dressing gown lolled at the wheel, like a character in an Edgar Wallace film. 30 06 17a

Chivers, Impington Hall, p8
May Week, p8*

1930 06 18
Impington Hall has been presented to the County Council by Messrs Chivers & Sons to be used as a village college. It is in a good state of preservation and repair with central heating and electricity installed and is quite the finest site one could secure. It will provide a warden's house, caretaker's cottage, library and reading room together with two adult education rooms and staff room. A new block will be erected adjacent to it. 30 06 18

1930 06 19
Since 1921 the Ortona Bus Company has paid Cambridge Corporation £250 annually; this was for permission to fix bus stop signs on lamppost but in practice constituted a monopoly. Much had been made of the problems of running buses owing to the narrowness of the streets but Ortona had increased its services from nine to 33 for which the Corporation received the wonderful sum of 14s. a day. A maximum number of licences should be fixed and granted between the other companies who could run buses at a cheaper rate and reduce fares. 30 06 19b

1930 06 19
The New Cherryhinton Nursing Association was wound up; the nurse's time has been by no means fully occupied and much has been of an unskilled nature. Now Nurse Hodges has left. 2,204 visits had been made during the year but many people prefer to employ a private nurse rather than the district nurse, although she is fully qualified for every branch of the work. The district was growing but new people seemed disinclined to join the Association. 30 06 19d
County gaol photo, p5

1930 06 20

The old county gaol at Castle Hill was opened to the public. Since 1916 when it was closed because of a scarcity of prisoners – it has been said there were not enough to keep the place clean – the prison has only been used for Government record purposes. Then it changed hands and became the property of the County Council; a writer to the CDN threw out the suggestion that it should be opened for public visitation, and the scheme became an actuality. 30 06 20a Maids in their scanty summer frocks, flannelled youths, mothers and fathers and grandfathers queued for admission to the County Gaol on Cambridge Castle Hill. The execution shed was a popular rendezvous along with the condemned cell, the burial ground and padded cell. People searched for links with the past. They found few. The gaol is not what it was. Dirt and rust have replaced whitewashed walls and polished steelwork and certain parts have become dilapidated. 30 06 20a

Willingham fire, p10

1930 06 21
Well over 700 people visited the Cambridge County Gaol; it is a dingy old place and looks a good deal the worse for wear. Most were surprised at the size of the prison and had no idea that such extensive accommodation was provided. Having explored the interior the majority couldn't resist the fascination of a visit to the execution shed just outside. 30 06 21b

1930 06 21
Aviation history was made when a Puss Moth aeroplane, one of the latest models of its kind, arrived at Cambridge airfield. It carried English oak caskets of samples of Leicestershire granite chippings. A cargo such as this has never before been transported by air. The idea of the flight was to further the interests of commercial aviation and to test opportunities afforded by this method of increasing sales. 30 06 21aa

1930 06 21
Six Cambridge bus drivers involved in the 'battle' of Sidney Street on the first day of the May races appeared in court charged with obstruction. Only Ortona buses were allowed to stop there but a long line of coaches had filled the whole side of the road. The drivers said the monopoly was unfair. They also complained that Ortona had increased the price of a ticket to Fen Ditton from twopence halfpenny to sixpence a trip. 30 06 21aa & b

Postcards, p5

1930 06 23
Gaol photo, p7*

1930 06 24
Ald B.W. Beales, p3

1930 06 26
A fortune-teller arrested at Cambridge Midsummer Fair appeared in court for palmistry. Two policewomen told how they had visited the 'Royal Gypsy Reader'. They were told that the face was character and the charge 1s.6d., the hands palmistry and the cost 2s.6d. One was assured that her worst financial worries were over and she would not go to the grave single; "You have not met the man yet, but he will come". Amelia Hazelhurst admitted the charge and was fined £1. 30 06 26a

Stretham garden fete, p3*
County School pavilion, p5

1930 06 27
£300,000 railway scheme, duplication of new marshalling yard, March – 30 06 27 # c.26.1

July 1930 CDN & Ely Standard

1930 07 03
The annual excursion of blind and crippled people set off for Hunstanton. The long procession of cars provided by the Cambridge Motor Club was headed by an Ortona bus in its imposing coat of green, and in it was 'Dave' proving musical entertainment on his banjo. The Police Poor and Needy Fund provided the delicacies for lunch and tea on the beach. 30 07 03

Ping pong founder, p3
Barrington dust, p6

1930 07 04
Chivers' claims that their raspberry and plum crops had been damaged by dust from Barrington cement works was upheld by the court. One side of the berries had been scorched as if touched by some caustic substance. There was a visible film of dust coming over from the works which stung the eye and could be smelled and tasted. The works were quite ready to purchase the two fields and pay compensation. 30 07 04 –b

1930 07 04 ES
Welmore Lake sluice rebuilding; photo shows Old Sluice with pile driving for new – 30 07 04 * # c.29

Adelaide bridge – iron bridge lifted … largest Beet Sugar Factory in country … when 35 years ago Ouse spanned by a massive steel bridge 100 ft long it was more than capable of dealing with every type of traffic … but times have changed. At the height of the campaign enormous weights of beet are carried into the factory, rendering it unsafe. Possible to remove bricks from the abutments by hand. New bridge of reinforced concrete on same position … more appealing to eye. Old bridge lifted on jacked and moved 40 foot along bank of river. Carriages were placed in position, bridge lowered onto it and rolled into place. Two special gantries erected in the river with grooves in which massive hardened steel balls placed. Work undertaken by Tileman & Co of London. 30 07 04a *

Ely's greatly improved station – photo – 30 07 04b *

1930 07 05
Having expended over £1,000 during the past five years in restoration of Over parish church, those in this industrious village who control the affairs of their House of Worship are still endeavouring to keep in step with the ravages of time. Their appeal is done in a charming way: a fete. There was a concert, a shooting gallery and in the evening a dance on the Vicarage lawn. 30 07 05a

1930 07 05
The policy of building more rooms in college and drawing in as many men from the lodging houses is creating a serious outlook for the lodging-house keepers. Many have been told their rooms will not be required next term. If the University cannot continue to utilise services which came into existence to serve their needs some then other employment will be needed. If the University ceases to provide adequate support Cambridge will have no alternative but to seek other means of livelihood. We will be loath to see the town industrialised but people must live. 30 07 05b

1930 07 07
Conan Doyle death, p5

1930 07 08
Adelaide Bridge weighing 135 tons was lifted bodily to a different position across the River Ouse. During the past few years it has had to carry heavy traffic during the Sugar Beet season and its foundations were getting into a dangerous state. Large piles were driven into the river and four large hydraulic jacks raised the old bridge and moved it to out of the way. The new bridge will be constructed of reinforced concrete and will occupy the same position. 30 07 08

Ald P.J. Squires, p3

1930 07 10
Writing from Horningsea, Mr Hewson Cowen the bachelor who some time ago put up a notice advertising for a wife states: "I am engaged to marry Miss A. Fitch from Fulham and will be married on September 23rd in London. I desire to thank the Cambridge Daily News for the kind publicity leading to such a happy result." 30 07 10

1930 07 11
Proposals for the uniting of the benefices of Fen Drayton with Conington and Elsworth with Knapwell due to a shortage of clergy were discussed. But Christ's College was the patrons at Fen Drayton and could dismiss the parson at will; this had been done in when the clergyman was given six months' notice. Clergymen weren't satisfied with £300 a year but a lot of other people had to live and work on less than that for doing six days' work a week. 30 07 11

1930 07 11 ES
Adelaide Bridge on the move – photo – 30 07 11 & a *

1930 07 12
Sir – what good will be served by the narrowing of Castle Street? For as long as I can remember there have been cobbled areas alongside the pavements and cars have stood on them to avoid obstructing the main road. Now kerbs are being placed there. I regret the loss of one of the old-world features which used to make Cambridge an interesting town, though such things seem to count for little nowadays – A.S. Ramsey. 30 07 12a

1930 07 12
General regulations affecting the use of motor vehicles first-year men are already in force but in view of the numerous road fatalities last term much more stringent bans will be in operation next year. Clare College says that the possession of motor cars and motor bicycles prevent undergraduates from making the best use of their residence in Cambridge and none of its students will be allowed to bring or drive a motor vehicle. Cars must be kept in a public garage or in one of the college garages on Castle Hill. 30 07 12a

1930 07 12
Work has started on the provision of a model yacht pond and paddling pool as part of an extensive scheme for the improvement of Sheep's Green. This is one of numerous schemes for providing work for the unemployed and when operations are in full swing about 70 men will be employed. The Ladies' and Men's bathing Place will also be extended. 30 07 12b

1930 07 12
Great liberties have been taken with Sherlock Holmes and in plays and films you can learn things that Sir Arthur Conan Doyle himself never knew. In 'The Three Students' Sir Arthur laid the scene in a Cambridge college but in the 'Moriarty' film Holmes and Watson are both shown as undergraduates. It was here that their great friendship began and from here that Holmes set forth to track down Moriarty and his gang. 30 07 12b

1930 07 15
Alderman Ralph Starr entered the photographic studios of Messrs Hills and Saunders as a young man but then started a studio of his own and became one of Cambridge's most eminent photographers. He was Mayor in 1918 at a time when there was unrest among the ex-Service men. Trouble broke out in Luton and he was asked to send 20 constables to keep order. For the next three days Cambridge, which might have flared into disorder, was deprived of a considerable proportion of her own protectors but the danger passed. 30 07 15

1930 07 17
An old Cambridge rag and bone collector sued a motorist for damages. She was pushing her handcart across Newmarket Road when the car ran into her; it knocked one of the wheels 'all to smithereens' and scattered her bags of rags in the road. She claimed loss of earning of one big bag of rags at four stone each day and had to hire another cart at two-and-six a week. The motorist, who said he was 73 and first began driving a year ago, alleged the woman had 'persisted in going on' and getting in his way. 30 07 17a-c

1930 07 17
A stockbroker's wife told the court that she had stayed at the University Arms; in the morning she threw her pink satin pyjamas on the floor and left her door open when she went out. That night when she returned to her room after a ball she found the bed had been turned down but the pyjamas were gone. They had cost £7 17s 6d the year before and had scarcely been worn. Other guests had also lost their pyjamas and nightgowns. But the judge said she was negligent in not closing her bedroom door. 30 07 17 d-f
Stretham sports, p6*

1930 07 18
There were remarkable scenes at the opening services of the Arbury Road Baptist Church Hall and School. When the doors were flung open the crowd was far too large for the building. Although many stood at the rear many more had to be content with standing outside and taking part in the proceedings through the open windows. It meets the religious needs of a large residential area of 4,000 people which has come into existence since the war and it is hoped to build a chapel within a few years. 30 07 18

1930 07 18 ES
Peterborough Standard and Huntingdonshire Post pass to A. Sharman of March who has purchased from Commander Locker-Lampson, MP, the controlling shares in The Peterborough Press Ltd, the company which produces these newspapers. He is chairman and managing director of Sharman & Co. proprietors of The Cambridgeshire Times, Ely Standard, Littleport Gazette, Soham Advertiser, Chatteris Advertiser, Whittlesey Reporter and Wisbech Standard – 30 11 18b # c.04

1930 07 19
Queen Victoria's portrait has been moved from the Council Chamber at Cambridge Guildhall and replaced by a fine picture of Mr George Fisher who was mayor in 1840-1-2. It was originally presented by his son, but owing to its dilapidated state was not hung at the time. His grand-daughter Miss Enid Hudson has contributed to its renovation, carried out by Messrs Perry Leach and Son. It now hangs next to the portrait of the late Ald. Kett. 30 07 19

Castle Hill cobbles, p3

1930 07 21
Cambridge planners say that Huntingdon and Barton Road are already practically fully developed on both sides, similar building is taking place along Trumpington Road & housing in Madingley Road will increase now the sewers are laid. There will probably be spur roads which will have no regard to the traffic needs of the area as a whole and the result will be a hotch-potch similar to that before the days of town planning. Soon there will be no possibility getting a cross-road between Huntingdon Road and Trumpington without the demolition of buildings or serious interference with the land-owners. 30 07 21a-c

1930 07 21

Early in March football circles were much excited about the sudden disappearance of the joint treasurer of the Isle of Ely Football Committee leaving its affairs in a somewhat involved state. The accounts had not been audited for some years but now showed that the bank balance had been reduced from £69 down to £4. The chairman said the treasurer had been his son-in-law but there was no one who had not completely trusted him, as he had. Well he had let them down. 30 07 21e-f

1930 07 21
The annual 'No More War' meeting of the Cambridge Peace Council was held indoors instead of on Parker's Piece because of heavy rain. But accompanied by the Boys' Brigade Band they proceeded with drenched banners through the rain-swept streets. They met to ensure the catastrophe of 1914 did not occur again. One must remember the menace from the air. It was possible to turn civil aircraft into war craft and chemical factories into works for the manufacture of poison gases and lethal rays. 30 07 21g

1930 07 22
Cambridge councillors rejected plans for the erection of a bungalow on Robinson Crusoe Island & decided the existing old cottage and shed should be demolished and that the Surveyor should report on the erection of suitable sheds for boating purposes. They also considered land at Town Close, Old Chesterton which is occupied by numerous caravans; their appearance is most objectionable and they should be moved. 30 07 22c

1930 07 22
At Harston the flow of water from springs had greatly decreased; fountains were only trickling and one had ceased to run. At Barrington one of the chief fountains had run dry and other villages were beginning to suffer. A deep bore had been sunk at the cement works; after extensive pumping at the works the village water supply dropped off and when the works shut down for a week the water improved. 30 07 22a-b

E.O. Brown, p5

1930 07 23
Prince at Papworth, p3
J. Holt retires, p8

1930 07 24
Mrs Elizabeth Haslop has been described as a woman possessed of splendid business acumen. She carried on her late husband's butcher's business in Silver Street Cambridge and was the last link with the well-known firm which has been in existence for nearly 100 years and will be carried on. In her earlier life she was well-known in the Mill Road district where a small shop near Tension Road was run in her name. 30 07 24

1930 07 25
The controversy over the University Farm on Huntingdon Road was resolved when Cambridge councillors rejected proposals for a road across the land. It had never been a ring road, only a road to be planned in the event of traffic conditions demanding it. It was altogether wrong to put an arterial road in the middle of a rural area which they desired to preserve and which they hoped would never be required. They should ensure that Grantchester and Coton were not swallowed up by Cambridge in the way that Trumpington and Girton were. 30 07 25a-c

1930 07 25
Cambridge councillors have received consent for a new road from Milton Road to Histon Road at a cost of £18,135. St John's College would give the land which was required for housing purposes, it would be one of the best estates and the frontages would sell at very high price. Grants have been received for King's Hedges and Green End Road as part of the unemployment scheme with one-third of the labour being imported from the distressed areas. 30 07 25d

Road works, p8

1930 07 26
Council – roads, p8

1930 07 28
County councillors should contribute towards water supply in the Linton district because since the new Cambridge water scheme at Fulbourn came about a lot of the village wells had run dry. Coun. Frost said: "I would not mind paying for a motor charabanc to take them out to West Wratting and let them have a cup of tea out of the pond – but I very much doubt that I should bring them back alive". But this would be the thin end of the wedge and umpteen other applications would come in from other villages. 30 07 28a-c

Road works, p8

1930 07 29
J.S. Conder, p3

1930 07 31
Cartoon – police, p7*

August 1930 CDN & Ely Standard

1930 08 05

W.L. Raynes, p3
Ely Kings fagging, p3
Claydon, Haverhill cycle agent, p3
Cambridgeshire Regiment 'missing'
Sports, Girton, Ely, p6
Hauxton bridge crash, p8

1930 08 08
Opening Horningsea Hospital fete Miss Francis recalled that many people from Quy used to walk to the village on Sundays to attend church as they only had one service in their own. About 40 years ago, there being a good many men out of work, a scheme was financed for digging coprolites but the venture failed after four years. Ten years later Quy started their Nursing Association and the first patient was from Horningsea. 30 08 08

Brock jewellery, p8

1930 08 09
Sidgwick Avenue wall demolition photo, p8
Nellie Wallace, p8

1930 08 112
The air exercises have begun and squadrons of fighting planes took off to engage in bitter combat. Until the very last minute of peace 250 aeroplanes were being secretly moved to vulnerable points and the men in command have been planning their attacks. Five night bomber squadrons, nine day bomber squadrons and 11 fighter squadrons will be engaged. Some are fitted with robot controls which can relieve the pilot for extended periods on long flights. 30 08 12

1930 08 12
H. Franklin, p7

Barrow Road photo, p8

1930 08 14
The Star Inn, Waterbeach had sold no beer or spirits since last May and the licence was in jeopardy, a judge was told. The trade had run down and Pampisford Breweries had refused delivery unless they were paid £65 for the beer. They had another tenant ready to take over. The landlord said he had tried everything he knew to make the house 'go' – got up dances, a shove ha'penny league and so on. There was not a gallon of beer in the place. 30 08 14a

1930 08 14
Hubert Gautrey a Cottenham motor car agent claimed £60 from Messrs M. Mack, motor coach proprietors. They had advertised two Gilford 1929 sunlight saloon coaches for sale. They wanted £1,120 per coach or £2,240 for the two and agreed to pay him £40 per coach commission if he found a purchaser. This he had done, but Mack's claimed the buyer had only paid £1,850 and they had reduced the sum to £20. 30 08 14c

1930 08 15 ES
Ely's latest street improvement – Shepherd's Hall, Market Street – photo – 30 08 15a

1930 08 19
A reader has sent a picture of a locomotive engine built by Headley Bros of the Eagle Foundry, Cambridge in 1849. It was a small single-tank affair with two big driving wheels, painted bright green and named the 'Eagle'. At first there was no tender, only a small place for the driver, though later it was extended to carry a saloon. It was intended for the use of the Eastern Counties Railway's engineer but its career was marred when in 1850 it ran over and killed the district superintendent. 30 08 19a

Ald E.W. Amies, p3
Potato Growers Association, p6*

1930 08 20
The Beds, Cambs and Hunts Electricity Company sought permission to erect a power line across the Waterbeach Lodge estate. They wanted to supply the village with electricity and had secured way-leave for the whole route apart from this one pole. But the owner, T.C. Lethbridge said the overhead wires would cross a paddock and he would be unable to let it. He wanted an underground cable laid instead. 30 08 20c

1930 08 20
Cambridge is well known to 'Weary Willies' – tramps – as 'hard-up-town' owing to the quantity of cigarette ends which can be culled from its pavements, especially during Term; 'hard-up' being the name they give to the tobacco gathered from the streets. A few years ago vagrants found meagre fare in the casual wards: bread and water for supper and breakfast with a scanty bread and cheese dinner. Today the diet includes bread and margarine with tea or cocoa for supper & a dinner of cheese, bread, margarine and vegetables. 30 08 20a-b

1930 08 20
There are only seven patients at Oakington Isolation Hospital, the cases were chiefly scarlet fever and the virulence of this disease was decreasing. The matron and porter have retired due to ill-health. It would be best to close it and arrange for Cambridge sanatorium to take the patients. But the cost of maintenance there was three shillings and sixpence more a week, councillors were told. 30 08 20d-e

Rev Hicks, Prickwillow, p3
Milton Road new road, photo, p8

1930 08 21

'Ethyl', as every motorist knows, is a super motor spirit with remarkable properties. It causes engines to run more smoothly, delivers more power and eliminates the 'knock' without retarding the spark. A few years back it was obtainable at petrol filling stations almost everywhere and many motorists cheerfully paid the extra penny a gallon. But sinister rumours circulated that the lead tetra-ethyl it contained was injurious to health and gradually it disappeared. Now following tests it will shortly be on sale again at the Olde Castle Hotel garage in Cambridge. 30 08 21 & a

1930 08 23
One of the new Willys-Manchester 35 cwt lorries arrived in Cambridge as part of its 10,000-mile demonstration run. The lorry, which is fully laden & fitted with a special publicity body, toured the town attracting considerable attention. It carried 60 pennants of agents which have been visited and the proprietors of the Queens' Garage, Newnham Road added theirs before it left for Hitchin. The garage is to be shortly extended, provision being made for a showroom and toilet rooms. 30 08 23

1930 08 26
Ald T.A. Mathers, p3
Backs road repairs, p3

1930 08 27
Backs trees, p6

1930 08 28
Seven deaths have been reported from various parts of the country and no break is expected in the heat wave. In Cambridge temperatures of 88 degrees were recorded in the shade, two lower than yesterday. A girl in green striped pyjamas was seen in one of the main thoroughfares, an extreme symptom of the heat wave that holds the town in its grip. There was an outbreak of open-necked shirts whilst those who were less courageous fingered the tight damp bands that had once been collars and wondered whether respectability was worthwhile. At midnight there were bathing parties by the banks of the Cam. 30 08 28

1930 08 29
Sandy Floral and Horticultural Society's Show was one of the sunniest in the long history of the Society. Over 4,000 people paid for admission and were offered a splendid programme, the bands of the Irish and Coldstream Guards adding to the functions. The heat had a disastrous effect on some of the animals, six Angora rabbits and some pigeons dying as the result of the excessive sunshine. The most serious drop was in the Horticultural section, this being attributed by market gardeners and nurserymen to the hard winter. 30 08 29a

1930 08 29
The new premises for the Loyal Order of Ancient Shepherds now under construction in Market Street, Ely are being built by workmen who were members of the Society and the bricks which came from Warboys and Whittlesey are also made by members. In 1914 the district had been in a state of chaos but was now flourishing and the new building, designed by Tucker and Son, will be an everlasting monument to the Order. The Central Hall is panelled in oak and there will be a kitchen and four large offices. 30 08 29a-c

Heat deaths, p8*
P.H. Allin death, p5
Sugar beet report, p8

1930 08 29 ES
The Isle of Ely will possess one of the finest highways in the country on the completion of the work of reconstruction which is now taking place on the main Peterborough to Wisbech from Wryde corner near Thorney to Guyhirn. For a distance of five miles with only one slight bend in its whole length, a level concrete road of great strength is being carried across the flat Fen country, constituting a splendid example of modern highway engineering. Passing as it does through a totally agricultural landscape with fields of corn and other crops bordering it on either side, a road so ultra-modern strikes a somewhat incongruous note especially to those who have been familiar with the unpretentious road which it is superseding. The route, however, is regarded as of such importance that the Ministry of transport have now recognized it as a trunk road. The project is involving heavy expenditure and will cost over £10,000 a mile but durability is an all important factor and the new road should far outlast many reconstructions by the older fashioned methods. A scene of great activity has been presented at the scene of operations during the summer and remarkable progress has been made. Summer 150 men are engaged in the work, 10 concrete mixers are kept in operation and heavy motor vehicles are constantly employed conveying the enormous quantities of gravel, sand, cement and steel reinforcements that are being used for this reconstruction of the road. Bounded as the road is by dykes on either side difficulty is encountered due to the severe restriction of working space and the fact that the route has to be kept open for traffic. Nevertheless some three miles have been completed work is proceeding at the rate of mile a moth. The old road surface was undulating in places and this is being overcome by taking off the rises and raising the low portions so that the perfectly level road is being formed. A reinforced concrete raft is being constructed to form the roadway eight inches thick with steel reinforcement and the final surface will be practically non-skid. When complete it will compare favourably with the best in the country and will demonstrate to those who travelled over it that Isle's finest highway: progress of the concrete road between Guyhirn and Thorney – will be one of the finest highways in the country; splendid example modern highway engineering … 150 men engaged in work, ten concrete mixers kept in operation – 30 08 29 ES

1930 08 30
There are at present 107 stablemen out of work in Newmarket and there is little chance of their being employed. The number will be serious increased by reductions in Lord Derby's staff at Stanley House. It is by far the largest racing stable and has always been noted for its good treatment of the men. Frank Butters, the trainer, said it was a great surprise; it was not the fault of the stable but the heavy additional taxation which compelled the closure. 30 08 30a

1930 08 30
There are a five-seater, a quad, a triplet and a tandem bicycle to be found at the Belmont Cycle and Motor Works, King Street, Cambridge. They were formerly part of the fleet of pacing multicycles used by the famous Dunlop racing teams at the old Herne Hill track. Owing to the amount of motor traffic nowadays it is not advisable to ride the 'quint', a lengthy machine, but the others are still available for use. 30 08 30b & c

1930 08 30
The opportunity of seeing the execution gallows and other grim items offered for sale by auction at the old County Gaol, Castle Hill, will doubtless attract a big crowd. As well as the gallows will be sold cell doors, the iron gallery railing, iron window grilles, stone steps and other component parts which went to make up a place whose passing will be lamented by none. 30 08 30e

September 1930 CDN & Ely Standard

1930 09 01
Sir – Old Romsey Town is a labyrinth of mean streets but it has enjoyed an oasis of green and trees on the area bounded by Mill Road, Cavendish Road, Sedgwick Street and St Philip's Road. But half of this green and pleasant land is destined to disappear. Already trees have been cut down and little box-like houses have been erected in their place in Sedgwick Street and similar erections are expected to displace the mature trees shading St Philip's Road. Except for the inclusion of bathrooms these houses are not one whit more attractive than many others in the area. An enlightened authority would have realised the potential of this site for recreation – 'Busybody'. 30 09 01

1930 09 02

A white-coated auctioneer started the piece-meal destruction of the old Cambridge County Gaol. Bidding was brisk as lot after lot was sold. Then came the execution gallows but there were few bids and it was eventually sold for one pound. The prison clock went for the sum of £5 amid the mutterings of buyers on the debris-laden floor. 30 09 02a-c

'Pickwick' amusement machine used in pub - bagatelle – 30 09 02aaa, bbb & ccc
Ald A.E. King, p3
Grass track, p7

1930 09 03
Huntingdon & Godmanchester Councils are to purchase Houghton, Hemingford & Godmanchester Locks together with Houghton Mill whilst St Ives have acquired the Staunch. They again have control of the locks and the chance of putting them into a proper state of repair. The town depended entirely on the river for its sanitation and it was essential to keep a good head of water in the river. The vendor, Mr Leonard Simpson says he regrets that his personal connection with the river that he loves will be severed. 30 09 03a & b

1930 09 03
Another example of the 'new Cambridge' in the making is the extensive site on which Magdalene College intends erecting an imposing new wing. It is at the rear of the Pickerel and Cross Keys yards originally occupied by Bird's vinegar and mustard factory. Mallory Court will provide the principal access but eventually a complete transformation will be effected by the demolition of all the property between the bridge and Northampton Street making Magdalene Street a broad and handsome thoroughfare. 30 09 03c

Gaol demolition photo, p6*

1930 09 04
A Cambridge women told the court she had locked the door of her home at no.5 Guildhall Place but left the front window unfastened to allow her son to get in during the night. She was awakened by her estranged common-law husband who had got in and was flourishing a revolver. He said it was a dummy revolver loaded with blank cartridges and explained they had lived together for 14 years until she took up with a new man. 30 09 04a

Hardwick fire, p8

1930 09 05
Preserving the beauties of Cambridge – no praise for what council has done – 30 09 05

1930 09 06
Phineas, mascot seized – recalls Cambridge rag of March 1923 – 30 09 06a & b* & photo – 30 09 06c
Conference, p8*

1930 09 08
A thunderstorm greatly marred the big rally of British Legionists at Newmarket. There were over 4,500 on parade and although a march-past was carried out the storm that followed forced organisers to abandon a service. But that part of the programme which the weather permitted was conducted with military precision and fine spectacular effect. The men took the rainfall very cheerfully and sang well-known war songs 'Tipperary' and 'Pack up your troubles' as it fell. 30 09 08 – a

1930 09 09
An Ortona omnibus collided with a stationary Ford van at Old Chesterton and the impact was so great that the van was hurled twenty yards along the road. William Holmes was delivering meat when the bus crashed into the rear of his butcher's vehicle. He was taken completely by surprise and flung across the footpath but managed to save a 70-year-old lady, Mrs Mansfield, by pulling her away. The van's steering gear was smashed, the body splintered and meat to the value of £10 scattered on the road. 30 09 09

Ald W.L. Briggs, p7

1930 09 10
After considerable discussion it was agreed to purchase apparatus for artificial sunlight treatment at the Cambridge Open-Air School. Some felt it might be dangerous unless carefully used and children could be burned and blistered. But Dr Paton Philip, the County Tuberculosis Officer, is an expert in this treatment and a nurse had worked with the great specialist, Sir Henry Lovain. Most of the children went there not from any disability but because they had the suspicion of tuberculosis hanging over them. 30 09 10a

1930 09 10
Saffron Walden RDC considered whether to give their roadmen a week's holiday: the County Council had already granted their employees one and they should follow suit. But they would then ask for a fortnight and the time would come when there was not a penny left in the country at all. It would upset the farmers: agriculture was in a very serious position and this was not the time to throw money away. It was agreed on the casting vote of the chairman. 30 09 10b-c

1930 09 10
The 'Wander Bug' has returned to Cambridge after an absence of four years. It was in April 1926 that Mr & Mrs L.G. Murray, the tallest married couple in England, started their journey round the world on two specially-constructed cycles. They met Mussolini and were attacked by wolves. But the journey proved too much for his wife who died because of the hardships and was buried in France. 30 09 10d-e

Royston town hall, p3

1930 09 12
The Edison Bell Gramophone and Radio Works at Huntingdon employ over 300 people. About 30,000 'Radio' records are made each week; they are stamped out between dies and passed to girls to put the edge and finishing touches. Various gramophones and wirelesses are manufactured including compact two and three valve 'all-main' sets in preparation for the Radio Exhibition. Amongst the machinery used are automatic lathes which need no human attention. 30 09 12

Fitzroy & Burleigh Street photos, p3

1930 09 13
Much has been said about the destruction of the beauties of the Backs. But I must protest against the awful wastepaper baskets that have made their appearance. It is good to try and prevent litter along this favourite walk but surely something more in harmony with the surroundings might have been found that these huge baskets which look more suited for undergraduates' laundry than litter. 30 09 13

Lt Stukeley churchyard, p6

1930 09 15
Parker's Piece article by A.E. Reeve, p6

1930 09 16
The secret marriage just been revealed of a Cambridge girl Miss Rosa Kester of Kimberley Road to Reginald Cory, a millionaire colliery owner and shipping magnate. Her family had no idea of the wedding and the first the groom's family knew was when they saw a notice in the marriage column of a newspaper. Miss Kester, who is a pretty blonde, first met her husband when she was secretary to the Curator of the Botanic Garden to which he was a generous benefactor. He built the Curator's house which is known as Cory's lodge after him. 30 09 16

1930 09 16
Ald C.H. Lavender, p3
Horningsea bachelor, p6
Inquest facilities, p8

1930 09 17
St Augustine's church in Cambridge was erected on land given by the Rev. T.J. Puckle in 1897. It was a memorial to the late Canon Churton, who was a saint; he considered its most important function was the training of children. His brother was a member of Westcott House and he suggested their men should assist. The new vestry was a much-needed improvement. It would be used as a storeroom for chairs and provide a room for small meetings. 30 09 17-a

1930 09 17
Miss Kitty Willers of Trumpington is a member of the Ladies' Guild of Change Ringers and is one of the very few women who regularly ring church bells. She has rung in over 200 towers in 14 different countries, once cycling 55 miles each way. On Saturday she biked 65 miles – partly in the rain - to attend the opening ceremony of the bells at St Mary's church, Bocking by the Bishop of Chelmsford. 30 09 17b

Threat to rector, p5

1930 09 18
Jack Hobbs came for the first time since the opening of the pavilion that bears his name. He brought one of the most brilliant cricket teams that Parker's Piece has ever seen with seven who have captained England including Hobbs himself and O'Connor, both of whom learned the game in Cambridge. By two o'clock there were at least 5,000 spectators massed three and four deep round the entire field. Others stood on the running boards of cars drawn up in Park Terrace to see the game. 30 09 18b-c

1930 09 19
Farm wages cut, p5

1930 09 19 ES
St Germans pumping station – feature – 30 09 19b, c * # c29
Ely beet factory scheme to protect fish – photos – 30 09 19d

1930 09 20
The whole of Mill Road, Cambridge, was affected by a two-hour electricity stoppage which came just as the first performance finished at both the Playhouse and Kinema cinemas. The Kinema audience who had been watching a Western thriller, whiled away the time in community singing. But some trouble was experienced with the queue for the last show at the Playhouse which did not finish until midnight. 30 09 20

1930 09 22
Miss Brooks, the Cambs County Librarian said some books which were distasteful to certain readers had been mutilated by self-appointed censors in villages. She had difficulties inducing youths to read, bringing to the notice of village craftsmen and farmers the technical book intended for them and exchanging books quickly enough to keep pace with rapid readers. Village halls seldom had any accommodation for a library; this should be made obligatory for any halls built with grants. 30 09 22

1930 09 22

There are currently very few people out of work in Ramsey but when the potatoes and sugar beet were lifted unemployment would be very, very acute. Labourers are so well paid that farmers cannot afford to employ them when they have only routine work to do. As soon as the harvest is completed they are thrown off wholesale and this is a heavy time for the Guardians until the spring. There is more actual distress amongst these highly paid men than from any other district. 30 09 22b

1930 09 23
C.H. Kemp, Town Clerk, p3
Bourn dirt track, p5

1930 09 24
Tens of thousands of old documents are being destroyed every year so that fancy goods like drums and tambourines might be made from the parchment. County Record Offices should be established where they could be housed and skilled archivists give them the proper attention. County Councils were too fully occupied with questions of local government to give archives proper consideration but their preservation was too big a matter to be treated as a sideshow, says Cambridge Antiquarian Society. 30 09 24

1930 09 24
Shop Mill Road, Sidney Street, p3

1909 09 26
In 1924 the Ministry of Agriculture established a packing station at Cottenham as an experiment in the better marketing of fruit on co-operative lines. Growers were charged a flat race per bushel for the handling of their fruit. Next year they formed an association and took it over. In 1926 and 1927 the apple crop failed completely but in 1928 they reopened the station, purchasing apples from other growers to keep it working economically. But they lost money and when the 1929 crop failed decided to wind up the business. 30 09 26a & b

1930 09 26
A sensation was caused at a meeting of the Cambs Agricultural Wages Committee when all the farmers' representatives left in protest. Workers claimed that the present wages of one pound ten shillings for a 48 hour week was inadequate should be increased by half-a-crown. Fewer men were now being employed so the wages bill would not be higher. But farmers said that for many years they had only been able to pay wages out of capital and that capital was in many cases now exhausted. 30 09 26 c-e

1930 09 26
The Master of Clare College told librarians that a wealthy member of the college had made a benefaction on condition that his bones were preserved above ground. His body was put in a cupboard above the Hall. But undergraduates came to know of this and took away various bones as mementoes. The college replaced them with other bones so that skeleton remained more or less complete. But on Christmas Eve the ghost of the benefactor visits various undergraduate rooms gathering in his scatterred parts. 30 09 26f

1930 09 26 ES
Crown Prince of Japan visits cathedral – pic 30 09 26

1930 09 27
The Cambridge Disabled Soldiers Workshop in Gloucester Street has made a trading profit for the first time since it opened four years ago. Four of the nine men had returned to their villages for better pay after receiving training in repairs to cane and rush work. They made good quality baskets for laundry and bottles as well as remaking mattresses. Manufactured goods were sold at local fetes and the Exhibition at the Imperial Institute when £300 worth of sales was realised. But the net loss on the running of the institution was £141. 30 09 27b

1930 09 27
Mr W.H. Evans who conducts the orchestra at the Cambridge New Theatre won fame as one of the first airman to fly to Cambridge. He founded the first flying school in Scotland and flew across the Firth of Forth in 1911. He made a flying tour on behalf of the 'Daily Mail' and chose Cambridge as his first stopping place, landing his Caudron biplane on the University Rifle Range, Grange Road on 27th June 1912. 30 09 27 b & c

1930 09 30
Ald W. Sindall, p3

October 1930 CDN & Ely Standard

1930 10 01
Dr Stokes, p5

1930 10 02
A woman told Saffron Walden magistrates that by hawking linoleum her husband and herself earned on average about two pounds a day. The lino was purchased in London, cut into strips and sold from door to door. They were hawking at Ugley when her husband asked if she would like a glass of stout as she was feeding a young baby. But they squabbled after he told her to continue selling while he stayed in the pub and he'd smashed a pint mug into her mouth. 30 10 02a

Dirt track, photo, p7

1930 10 03
Unemployment, p8

1930 10 03 ES
Cottenham fruit station's failure, wound up 39 10 03
Great Ouse Catchment Area: Ministry's proposals 30 10 03a # c.29
Sutton in humorous frame of mind – photo comic carnival – features plane with swastika – 30 10 03d *

1930 10 04
Few can have failed to be moved by the hymn 'Nearer, my God, to thee' that features in the new movie 'Atlantic'. It was written Sarah Flower Adams, the daughter of Benjamin Flower the former editor of the 'Cambridge Intelligencer' who was imprisoned for a libel on the Bishop of Llandaff in 1799. It was the only paper to denounce the war with France as 'absurd and wicked'. 30 10 04a

1930 10 04
Many in Cambridge will bid good-bye with regret to F.C. Pool, the general manager of the New Theatre. Despite ever-increasing competition he saw record profits and turnover in his first full year. His successor is Bertram Brown who is not used to the ways of Cambridge undergraduates but has had something to do with Leeds 'medicals' and imagines they are much the same type. 30 10 04a

Solving a mystery photo competition cartoon – 30 10 04b

1930 10 06
Sir – does Cambridge derive much pecuniary benefit from the photographer who blocks our busy street near the Post Office? I cannot believe that it was for this purpose that the graves were removed opposite Woolworth's. Other photographers would probably like the same privileges accorded to the one who now blocks our path – 'Old Cambridge'. 30 10 06a

1930 10 06

Rumours of the R101 airship disaster were received with incredulity in Cambridge where thousands of people had seen it passing over. Early on milkmen and postmen had the story that it had crashed in flames, but details were lacking. Inquiries in London confirmed that the greater part of the passengers and crew had perished and a special edition of the C.D.N. was issued. Amongst the victims was Walter Radcliffe, a rigger on the airship, whose wife is a daughter of the late Mr Charles Isaacs, the well-known Newmarket racing correspondent. 30 10 06b-e

1930 10 06
A big fire involving a large number of farming machines and carts broke out at Charity Farm, Whittlesford and brought many early risers running from their homes to help in the work of rescue. The first thoughts were for nine horses in the stable which was quickly filling with smoke and flames. The horsekeeper had no easy job in extricating the animals; one was particularly wild, and jumped a bar before dashing out and the end horse was nearly burnt before it could be freed. 30 10 06f

Grocers' Association photo, p6

1930 10 07
Counc. J.T. masters, p3
Henry Prior, p6

1930 10 09
The King and Queen will experience a sense of regret at the retirement of Inspector John Harrison of St Philip's Road, Cambridge. He has been Royal inspector since 1916 and was on the Royal train which took their majesties to Sandringham at the weekend. He remembers one occasion when he saw assembled on Wolferton station two kings, five queens, two princes and two princesses. Inspector G. Goddard, also of Cambridge, will succeed him. 30 10 09 & b

Before the days of Sawston college – schools – 30 10 09b-c
Tramp tries to steal money Cambridge man –30 10 09
Footpath, p8*

1930 10 10
Millers Radio advert

1930 10 11
For the past few months workmen have been engaged in constructing Cambridge's new Central Cinema in Hobson Street. The interior is decorated in a style reminiscent of the Regal Super Cinema at Marble Arch. The prevailing colours are mauve, orange and blue and the whole is surmounted by a dome in the form of a large star surrounded by sky effects. On each of the walls there are large panels with ornamental plastering surmounted by a design in the form of sunrise and illuminated by hidden lights. 30 10 11

1930 10 11
Cambridge is a wonderful place in these days, what with new cinemas, new restaurants and new shops, not to mention the midget golf centres. Another is being laid out at Belle Vue Gardens. It is an 18-hole course with fairways averaging 30 feet in length made of tarmac with a green fibre surface. In some holes it will be necessary to send the ball over a five-barred gate, through the muzzle of a gun and down a nine-feet 'snake' curled round a tree trunk. 30 10 11a

R101 funerals, p55-5

1930 10 13
Crowds thronged Hobson Street endeavouring to gain admission to the opening of the new Central Cinema. Many were unsuccessful. The Mayor gave a civic blessing to the picture house: it was appropriate because the assessment value of the property would go up and Hobson Street was going to pay a large contribution to the rates. The film was Harold Lloyd's first talkie 'Welcome Danger'. 30 10 13

Arrington fire, p6
Hinxton vicarage borstal, p8
Caxton dirt track, p8

1930 10 14
Councillor Edwin Jackson, p3
Altering the Backs – straightening road – photo – 30 10 14

1930 10 16
Mr James Matthews, watchmaker and jeweller of Market Street, Ely took over the business from his father and carried on with his sons till the day of his death. For over 30 years he was a member of the old Cambridgeshire Volunteers and was considered the crack shot in all the Eastern Counties. He attended Wimbledon and later Bisley for 21 years in succession and always came out with honours. 30 10 16a

1930 10 16
Five miniature golf courses are now in operation in Cambridge. There are Messrs Grays in Sidney Street and the octagon course in King Street. The Premier Hall, Old Chesterton, has added midget golf to its other attractions and the Newmarket Road has the course in the club-room at 'The Bell'. Its holes represent hazards encountered during a trip from 'Trafalgar Square' to 'The Oval'. The latest 18-hole course at the Belle Vue Gardens is all-weather and open-air. It features a howitzer gun and a water jump and has been laid down by Capt Mullett who has constructed others in Vancouver and San Francisco. 30 10 16c

Changing backs – removing elms, Queens Road with steam roller - 30 10 16b
Huntingdon airport, p8

1930 10 17
Steam lorry photo, p6*
Saffron Walden hospital extension, p8

1930 10 18
The purchase of the Old Vicarage at Hinxton for use as a private borstal institution has prompted debate. Criminals are manufactured by sending the first offender to prison. Recently a youth charged with sleeping out and being without visible means of support was sentenced to 14 days lard labour because he did not have a shilling in his pocket. Hinxton vicarage is to be used for such cases and once villagers realise this they will applaud Mr Barnett and his scheme. 30 10 18

Farm wages, p5

1930 10 20
The 'Westland Wessex' three-engined six-seater cabin monoplane de luxe arrived at Marshall's aerodrome. A CDN representative, seated in a padded brown leather seat with arm and head rests found it glided so smoothly that he could scrawl down his experiences in his best hand. From the air the new estate at Milton Road gave the appearance of a toy town, King's College chapel was a landmark and the white-fronted Central Cinema very prominent. There is no vibration and the businessman can take his secretary, for letters and notes are typed with ease. 30 10 20

Samuels burglary, p8

1930 10 21

Whittlesford, the scene of several fires in the last few weeks, was thrown into excitement by another disastrous blaze when 'Hilthatch', a picturesque residence near the Station, was burnt out. The RAF fire appliance was soon on the scene but could only fight the flames with buckets of water. By the time the Dennis engine arrived from Cambridge flames were leaping to a height of over 50 feet. It is understood the place was insured for the owner was seen searching for her policy before abandoning her house. 30 10 21

Councillor Sidney French, p3
Coldham's Common rifle range given up, p8

1930 10 22
Sir – the proposal to use Hinxton vicarage to house young men who have come into contact with the police prompts the question: 'What are they to do?' You cannot keep them shut up in the Vicarage, there is no ground to employ them on and if they are sent to the farms they will compete with local men. Are they to be allowed to loaf about the village? – Charles Robinson, Hinxton Hall. 30 10 22

1930 10 23
Herbert Robinson, the motor engineer told the court he had purchased the leasehold of 'The Fountain' pub, Regent Street, Cambridge from the Star Brewery intending to add the site to his business premises. He granted the lease to a landlord for five years with a provision that he could regain possession earlier and now wanted it back. 30 10 23a-c

Borough extension, p3
Cambridge men R101 inquest, p5
Isle Rothschild alarm, p5

1930 10 25
Leah Manning, p3
Air service, p8

1930 10 27
Jujitsu, p6

1930 10 28
Councillor W.H. Smith, p3

1930 10 29
Cottenham fire photo, p8

1930 10 30
The Prince of Wales set the seal of Royal approval upon an ambitious scheme of rural education which has attracted world-wide attention when he opened Sawston Village College. Should it prove a success it will prove a pattern for a chain of similar colleges not only for the rest of this county but for vast Dominions beyond the seas. The Prince received a most enthusiastic reception. The village was gay with bunting and the inhabitants turned out en masse to wave and cheer. 30 10 30a-c

1930 10 30
A labourer engaged in excavation work at the new Dorothy Café was killed, and another seriously injured. The men, who were employed by Coulson and Sons, were clearing the old brickwork and masonry under Hobson's Passage when a considerable mass of brickwork gave way without warning and they were smothered in the ruins. The ambulance was sent for and a crowd quickly gathered. The police had some difficulty in controlling the traffic, owing to its density at one time. 30 10 30d

1930 10 30

A fire broke out at Reed Farm, Babraham; a dozen stacks and several cottages were threatened by the flames. The big fire engine arrived but found that the nearest place from which water could be obtained was about a mile away. So the small Dennis engine was sent for and numerous small water tanks fed it with supplies. But water was so scarce that only the small hose could be used and the firemen had to concentrate on saving the stacks and cottages close by. 30 10 30e

1930 10 31
VAD work, p3

November 1930 CDN & Ely Standard

1930 11 01
Dorothy wall fatality, p5

1930 11 03
The new municipal year in Cambridge has opened with a note of sorrow. Upon successive days the hand of death has removed Alderman J.W. Purvis, the Deputy Mayor, and Alderman A.J. Lyon, the County Coroner. Both University and Town have suffered. Alderman Purvis was a University lecturer, an authority on food hygiene and Alderman Lyon a townsman who had attained considerable prominence as a solicitor. With the great increase in the number of road accidents in recent years his duties as coroner grew considerably heavier, but he always made a point of attending if he possibly could. 30 11 03-a

1930 11 04
It was with a certain amount of trepidation that I called on the Mistress of Girton College, Miss E.H. Major, for this little article. “Ten minutes” I said to the driver of the car that had taken me out. It was two hours before I started on the return journey. For I had been received by a most sympathetic woman in a room harmonious, of gracious proportions, with dishes of woodland flowers on the table; cakes and coffee and cigarettes had been offered to me in friendliness. We touched upon everything under the sun, from starvation in Ruthenia to the making of the college gardens. 30 11 04a

1930 11 04
In a quiet street in Cambridge, a very charming old lady celebrates her 100th birthday. She is Mrs Howes, widow of the late John Howes head of the bicycle firm in Regent Street. She comes of a long-lived family. She was born in Coronation Street. Her father, John Galley, a reader at the Pitt Press, lived to the age of 86 and her mother to 80. She has still living four sons and three daughters, 23 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren. Her memory is still good and she has vivid memories of her girlhood. She was present at the dinner on Parker’s Piece to celebrate Queen Victoria’s coronation, when her father was one of the carvers. 30 11 04b

1930 11 05
County Hall, p8

1930 11 06
Little Thetford was the scene of a big blaze, a large six-roomed thatched house built in 1300 being totally destroyed. After the old roof dropped the four main walls were a roaring furnace and the blazing embers carried long distances. Soon nothing was left but burning beams and scorched walls which had evidently been built of the old Fen mud. But for the efforts of villagers similar large thatched houses nearby would have been involved. The ‘Three Horse Shoes’ public house opposite was plied with ladders and a chain of buckets formed and water thrown on the thatched roof to stop a possible outbreak here. The cause is a mystery. Fireworks were being let off, but not at this end of the village. 30 11 06a

1930 11 06

When the Bishop of Ely attended St Peter's church, Wilburton, to dedicate their new organ he indulged in some straight speaking. The organ was dedicated to their former Vicar, Henry Atkinson, killed while performing his duties, but in order to secure it the parish had neglected urgent repairs to the roof that was in a very serious condition and could not wait. They had also not subscribed to the diocesan fund and this was the reason why none of the surrounding clergy was present. 30 11 06c & d

1930 11 06
Cambridge police had cold feet with waiting for something to turn up in a temperature several degrees under freezing point. But the dreaded 'Fifth', that traditional battle between University and police failed to explode in the time-honoured fashion. There was a constant bombardment on the outskirts of town and some spasmodic firework throwing on the market where smoke screens were used to some effect. Using the cloud as cover two lamps were extinguished under the very nose of a sergeant. There were a few arrests but no helmets were knocked off. 30 11 06b

1930 11 07
Mrs Emma Gunton is celebrating her 100th birthday; she is the second Cambridge lady this week to reach this wonderful age. She is remarkable: she walks without assistance, has her own teeth and eats her meals regularly. She has never had an illness and only required the attention of a doctor on one occasion she met with an accident. Born at Bottisham she possesses a fine memory and can recall the coming of railway trains. 30 11 07

1930 11 07 ES
Beet Factory largest tank of its kind in Europe for storing molasses – photo – 30 11 07*

1930 11 08
Girton College earliest students, p8

1930 11 10
Councillors questioned whether it was desirable to raise the standards of country roads: "we do not want to make them into racing tracks; we want decent country roads and nothing more". It did not matter if a road was rather bumpy for a car going on 50 mph. If the best expenditure was to maintain them in perfect condition for bus and lorries could not such traffic be restricted to certain roads which would be kept at a higher standard? As for so-called improvements in the rounding off of corners – well the easier you make it for the motorist the faster they will go around. 30 11 10

1930 11 10
Cambridge has lost one of its best-known figures by the passing of Mr W.G. Robinson, keeper of the Guildhall. He had been chosen as town crier from among over 200 applicants and carried out his duties with characteristic efficiency before becoming keeper in succession to Mr Jacobs. He had been a boxer of some prowess in his younger days and was a member of the old Volunteer Fire Brigade. 30 11 10a

1930 11 11
It was in the state of mind anticipating moral extinction that I tapped on the door of the portress at Newnham College and asked if I could see the Principal's secretary. Within five minutes Miss Strachey had herself received me. Here was no austere 'school marm' but a charming, well-dressed, quite feminine woman of the world, with a sense of humour and the blessed gift of putting nervous people at their ease. She is a great educationalist but also a most charming and modest lady. 30 11 11a

1930 11 11
Reverently Cambridge stood and remembered its dead. The firing of the maroon was the signal for silence. Immediately life stood still, pedestrians stopped dead in their tracks and in homes, offices and workshops men and women stood to attention. But in one part of town their silence was jarred by the thoughtlessness of a motor driver who did not stop. 30 11 11b-d

Poppy Day rag – 30 11 11e-g

1930 11 12
Three Somersham boys confessed to stealing cigarettes from a machine in the High Street by means of brass buttons beaten and filed to the size of a sixpence. After a packet of Players had been taken in this way, other packets were marked and eventually made detection possible. One lad was told he had been 'sailing very close to the wind' and was placed on probation. 30 11 12

1930 11 13
Farm wages, p6

1930 11 14
Great anxiety is being felt by Cambridge's 2,000 railway employees over the Companies drastic proposals on rates of pay and conditions of service. The tobacco and other luxury trades were affected at the time they accepted a reduction in wages to ease the companies' financial difficulties temporarily but this would have a serious impact on the spending power of a large number of relatively high-salaried men. Coming at a time when trade enterprise in Cambridge is approaching its zenith and the University is being appealed to for commercial support the prospects may be regarded with concern. 30 11 14

1930 11 14 ES
Ely houses great Missionary Exhibition – 30 11 14

1930 11 15
Messrs Windover's disused motor carriage works in George Street, Huntingdon have been sold. For years the firm employed hundreds of skilled workers until they acquired more extensive works in London. It was a sad sight to see the great works standing idle but now Chivers are to establish a factory for canning vegetables, the most up-to-date of its kind in the country. Already local vegetable growers are alive to the fact that a regular output for their produce will be available close at hand. 30 11 15

1930 11 17
Crash hospital, p5

1930 11 18
Miss M. Allan, principal of Homerton College is a pioneer of a radical method of training teachers for elementary schools. She came to Cambridge in 1903 and her aim is to combine academic and psychological learning, the bodies of her students are developed as well as their minds and music, art, the drama as well as science and philosophy are contained in the curriculum. She may, indeed must, in so large a community rule sometimes with a hand not always gloved with velvet but the softness of understanding is ever present and she has retained much of the spirit of youth. 30 11 18a

1930 11 18
A fire broke out at Barley in a shed which contained an oil van and tank containing about 200 gallons of paraffin. The van belonged to Mr Robert Brown, oil and hardware merchant of Cambridge; the owner had started the engine and gone to fetch some water for the radiator. On returning he found the whole enveloped in flames. The tap at the rear of the van came off and a jet of flames 30 feet long shot out across the yard, igniting a pig sty. If the Fire Brigade had pumped water on the fire it would have carried the burning oil along the High Street. 30 11 18b

1930 11 19
Gondoliers, p8

1930 11 21

The old-established Sun Brewery in the High Street at March has been sold to Greene King. It was established in 1800 by Ambrose Ogden and continued in his family. It includes some 40 licensed houses in various villages. The brewing operations in March will shortly cease and the brewery will be dismantled with the premises becoming a depot. 30 11 21

1930 11 21 ES
Ogden & Sons, the well-known March brewers have disposed of their business to Greene King of Bury St Edmunds. Ogden's has long been one of the principal businesses in March. It began in quite a small way being established in 1900 by Mr Ambrose Ogden who started a brewery at the Robin Hood Inn, Town End for supplying that inn. Gradually he began to supply other public houses and when he retired and his son took over they had already a flourishing trade. So great was the demand for their products that it was found necessary to extend their premises and on 12th of December 1885 they purchased the Rising Sun Inn in High Street from Mr T. Phillips at the rear of which the present brewery was built. Then other public houses were acquired and the business gradually built up to its present large dimensions. It has carried on an extensive trade having 40 houses attached to it of which the firm owns 27. These are spread over the area of March, Wimblington, Doddington, Benwick, Chatteris, Mepal, Sutton, Manea, Welney, Wisbech and Whittlesey. Greene King's products are well-known in the Isle of Ely as they have a house at Sutton # c.27.4
Ely station new dining rooms – for long period station in state of dilapidation, now transformed – 30 11 21b, c *
Littleport crop of Brotex on Martin Bros Land 30 11 21d *

1930 11 22
Cambridge Co-operative Society opened a new bakery in Sleaford Street equipped with the most modern machinery. 500 sacks of flour a week arrive from their own private railway siding close by. They are lifted to the third floor and the flour passes through a series of automatic machines which mix and knead it into dough that is baked in steam-heated ovens. The confectionery department has a wonderful machine turning out a wide range of cake mixtures. 30 11 22a-c

A.E. Clothier, tailor, death – 30 11 22d
Roof-climbers, Trinity, p8

1930 11 24
Co-op Sleaford Street bakery opening – 30 11 24

1930 11 25
Never did learning of so weighty a nature sit so lightly on so smiling a personality as Miss Wood, principal of the Cambridge Training College for Post-graduate Women. She has a formidable list of classical achievements but proves that learning does not inevitably mean dullness. The College opened in two small cottages in Newnham Croft in 1885 and has provided hundreds of teachers for secondary schools in many parts of the Empire. 30 11 25

1930 11 25
Mystery attaches to two outbreaks of fire which occurred shortly after midnight within three-quarters of a mile of one another. The first was at Mr Scambler's farm, Fen Drayton and caused considerable damage to stacks, barns and outhouses. Wind carried sparks all over the village and three cottages were cleared. Then another fire was spotted in four haystacks at Boxworth-End, Swavesey but as they were well-alight and there were no buildings nearby the brigade kept their efforts concentrated on the other fire. 30 11 25b

Miss M.H. Wood, p3*

1930 11 26
William Henry Williams, the 'grand old man' of Liberalism, came to Cambridge in 1880 as agent to the Liberal Association and won the respect of political friend and foe alike. He played a prominent part in Mr Stanley Buckmaster's victory over Almeric Paget in 1905. He was elected to the County Council in 1898 and returned in 1919. Even after his retirement he rendered valuable service and retained a keen interest in local politics until the end. 30 11 26

1930 11 28
A drastic reduction in Cambridge to London motor coach prices is the latest phase in an intensive 'war' between the two established 'outside' companies and local proprietors. There were two independent daily services provided by Westminster Coaches and the 'Varsity but then A. & H Brown of Lord Astor coaches started another at four shillings return. They have now allied with Royal Blue and Comfort coaches to reduce the fare by a shilling and increase services. Westminster and Varsity are now charging 2s 6d and Cambridge is awaiting the next move with interest. 30 11 28

December 1930 CDN & Ely Standard

1930 12 01
There was a presentation to E.R. Stone who has recently retired as yard master at the now famous Whitemoor Goods Marshalling Yard, March where the gravity shunting system was successfully inaugurated during his last two years of office. At first his first plans had been regarded as revolutionary and a white elephant. But it had become the outstanding feature of British rail freight working. He was a typical 'John Bull' but beneath that bluff exterior was a kind heart. 30 12 01b & c

1930 12 01
The sensational Fen Ditton case when a woman was accused of keeping a disorderly house will be sent back to be heard by magistrates. Police had kept watch on a room called the dance hall where it was alleged acts of immorality took place; some women were held upside down and couples found in very suggestive attitudes. The men were Cambridge undergraduates and the girls of the working-class type but there was no evidence of prostitution. 30 12 01d

1930 12 01
A unique village museum has opened at Ashwell started by two young men who collected curious objects of historic interest. An old building, 'Ye Olde Towne House' was purchased and restored and it is here the curios are to be kept. Sir William Gentle had paid for the restoration and created trustees to secure it for the people for ever. It will contain objects illustrating the life of Ashwell from Saxon times to the present day. 30 12 01e & f

Milton Road heroes – football cartoon – 30 12 01a
Skittle league, p3
Felix Leach, p7

1930 12 02
Mrs Wootten, p3
Police motor squad, p8

1930 12 03
Sir Ernest Rutherford, in a special interview, gave the CDN details of the work which has prompted the Royal Society to present the University of Cambridge with £15,000 for a new science cryogenetic laboratory. It will support the work of Dr Peter Kapitza, the young Russian scientist who has been carrying out investigations at the Cavendish Laboratory into magnetic fields which involves exceedingly low temperatures. 30 12 03

Dredging & navigation, p7*

1930 12 04
Mickey the mouse photo, p6*
Gaol cells photo, p8

1930 12 05
University seats abolition, p12

1930 12 05 ES
Ely in the 1870s: memories of old Ely 30 12 05 & a*
Shepherds open Central Offices at Ely – photo – 30 12 05b

1930 12 06
Sir – we are a locally owned firm with its own garage, employing 57 people and we try to give a good service. Between October and March each year we lose a considerable amount of money and rely on summer business to get profits. We do not discharge staff because we overhaul and repaint our rolling stock. We stick to our own service and do not interfere with our competitors. But now our rivals have starting cutting fares. We have got to defend ourselves and the public will benefit from cheap rides until further notice. –Varsity Express Motors. 30 12 06a

1930 12 06
Sir – all Cambridge men will be alarmed at the threat to build an arterial ring road bisecting Grantchester Meadows. The meadows are owned by King's College. We regard their preservation as a trust; we will not build on them, nor near them. We will do nothing to change their character and refuse to contemplate such a calamity – The Dean of King's 30 12 06

1930 12 06
Under the Road Traffic Act Cambridgeshire has been allotted one motor car and three motor cycles to deal with the enormous growth of motor traffic. Such a force should be recruited from men best suited for the job but there is a limit to the number of tasks they can perform. This is another example of the Government forcing local authorities to make the new law work somehow. 30 12 06d

1930 12 06
The visit of Jack Hulbert's popular review carries the mind back to 1913 when he made his first appearance at the New Theatre in the May Week production 'Cheer-oh Cambridge' of the Footlights Dramatic Club. I remember his sprightly dancing, which has since developed so successfully. Then in 1921 we had Claude Hulbert making his first appearance in the Footlights production of 'What a picnic'. 30 12 06e

1930 12 08
The Home of Mercy in Christchurch Street, Cambridge has been more or less full of girls, almost all aged between 16 and 20. Seventeen girls had been admitted and ten provided with outfits and placed in domestic service. Five have been baptised, six confirmed and three restored to Holy Communion while two girls formerly in the home have been well married. The chapel had been redecorated and beautified. There were fewer illegitimate births but the moral standard of the country had broken down and a very large number of outwardly respectable women were morally corrupt. 30 12 08a-c

Cambridge coach war – Cambridge Comfort Coaches reply to Varsity – 30 12 08
New Square park, p8
Festival – Anmer Hall, p8*

1920 12 09
Mrs Hutchinson, p3
Branch library site, Chesterton & Cherry Hinton – 30 12 09

1930 12 10
Library site, p6*

1930 12 12

Today the CDN publishes a 16-page paper for the first time in its 42-years' history. This is because of the demands on our space by national and local advertisers for their Christmas shopping announcements and affords evidence of their confidence of the paper as an advertising medium. There is an enormous response each day to our Christmas Pages Advertisement Competition. 30 12 12a

1930 12 12
There was an exciting scene in the centre of Cambridge at mid-day. Amid cries of 'Stop, stop' and the blowing of police whistles, a man made a headlong dash down St Andrew's Street. People turned and stared and as a means of stopping him a cycle was thrown in front of his path. Eventually he was captured and, with a stalwart policeman on each side, was walked back to the police station. He appeared to be a young man, smartly dressed in a light coloured suit and grey soft hat. He was charged with passing counterfeit half-crowns. 30 12 12b & 30 12 13

1930 12 12
The 'skeleton' of the Chesterton vehicular bridge came out of the municipal cupboard. It had been suggested when Victoria Bridge had been erected but the council subsequently rejected the proposals. In the meantime a temporary bridge had been erected at Dant's Ferry with the intention of moving it towards the Pike and Eel. Now it will be kept in the present position and lowered to make it easier to cross with perambulators. But it was a shame to spend £1,600 on a structure which had not been right when it was put up. 30 12 12c

1930 12 13
Street chase, p5*
New Square, p8

1930 12 16
Miss M.H. Catley, headmistress of the Perse High School for Girls, took her degree at Oxford and came to Cambridge in 1926. She is with all her heart and all her desire, a trainer of girls. The keynote to her success is her understanding of youth – she is herself barely out of this category. She takes full part in sports and is an enthusiastic Girl Guide. There is still a long vista of years ahead of her and her success will be reaped when the young girls she is today training have themselves come to maturity. 30 12 16

1930 12 16
Cambridge council's plans for extending their boundaries were described as 'arrogant' by Chesterton RDC. They would upset local administration and leave only a small county that could not be staffed adequately. Villages did not want to lose their parish councils that knew their needs in exchange for a representative on the Borough Council. They had no control over water, gas or electric supply and are at the mercy of monopoly companies – these are the benefit they propose to extend to the surrounding authorities. 30 12 16a&b&c

1930 12 17
The county library committee debated spending a farthing rate on books, 80 per cent of which were fiction. Such books could be a waste of time or a downright bad habit. There was little difference between putting Edgar Wallace on a cinema screen and having him in a book. There was no reason why public money should be used to provide 'The Squeaker' free for boys and girls in the villages. But Sir Graham Greene said those in the country should enjoy the same advantages as those in town. 30 12 17
Fen Ditton case, p8

1930 12 18
Cambridge engravers, William Stephens and William Henshaw, 18th century – 30 12 18

1930 12 19
Suffolk Regiment, p5

Accident, Blue Circle steam wagon – 30 12 19

1930 12 20
Cambridge people can now send their Christmas greetings by picture telegraphy – at a price. They must post their picture telegram direct to the Central Telegraph Office at a cost of £1 for the minimum size picture of 15 square inches up to 70 square inches for which the charge is £4 13s 6d. 30 12 20c

1930 12 20
Robert Maynard, the well-known Whittlesford engineer, died at the age of 85. His life was spent in patenting or perfecting agricultural machinery & to the last he visited the office of works daily. His chaff cutter took the world's champion prize for efficiency at Glasgow in 1887 and His Majesty the King has one of these machines in the Buckingham Palace Mews. 30 12 20a

Pillion rider, p3
Chivers v cement, p3
Steam Oberon starts, p5
Millers all-electric wireless receivers photos – 30 12 20

1930 12 23
Chivers' employees spent a pleasant and instructive time at the Central Cinema when they watched the new film 'From Orchard to Home'. It covered the processes in making jam from picking the fruit to labelling the jars and showed the facilities afforded the employees in their leisure hours. At the conclusion a good deal of merriment was caused by the showing of a similar film taken 25 years ago; it was interesting to compare the difference between the work then and now. 30 12 23

Police fund, p5

1930 12 24
Cambridgeshire Hunt, p6

1930 12 27
The heavy rain did not deter a large number of members of the Cambridgeshire Hunt from assembling on Cambridge Market Hill for this traditionally English spectacle. The scene was one worth a soaking to witness. Figures in the traditional red and black mingled with macintoshed horsemen, their steaming mounts were restless, the hounds silent and around was a rain-drenched crowd of about 1,000 people. They took a great deal of interest in a small terrier who looked out from the mouth of a haversack slung across a red-coated huntsman's back. 30 12 27a-b

1930 12 27
The booking hall at Cambridge railway station was the scene on Christmas Eve of one of the most extraordinary happenings ever witnessed. As a taxicab was being driven back to the station rank its driver suffered a seizure; the vehicle careered through the booking hall entrance and crashed into the collapsible iron gates near the ticket collector's box. If the barrier had been wide open it would have gone right on to the track, and a train was just due. 30 12 27

1930 12 27
George Cornwell, signalman of Furlong Drove was presented with a 'First Aid' award certificate. In October 1929 a fireman fell off his engine and was run over by a train travelling in the opposite direction. His right leg was severed and he had wounds to the buttocks and head. Mr Cornwell applied a tourniquet and bandages, used a door as a stretcher and took him to the signal box. A doctor said the first aid had saved life for eight hours whereas the patient would otherwise have died in a few minutes. 30 12 27d

1930 12 27

Stars such as Jack and Claude Hulbert delighted Cambridge audiences in their early days. The latest is Harold Warrender who just two years ago was the mainstay of the University Footlights production, acting in many of the skits. It was very evident that he had great gifts and he is now playing at the Criterion with the famous Alice Delysia in a new farce, 'A Pair of Trousers' , making the most of the opportunities it offers. 30 12 27d

1930 12 27
Edward Conybeare, the former vicar of Barrington, retired in 1898 and was then received into the Roman Catholic Church. He has three sons and two daughters, all of whom have distinguished themselves; James is Archdeacon of Nottingham, Bruce was one of the early settlers in British East Africa, Alfred is a Master at Eton. Alison is now Ely Diocesan Secretary for the Mothers' Union while Dorothea is actively interested in the Girls' Friendly Society and assists in the massage department at Addenbrooke's Hospital where 12,000 treatments are given annually. 30 12 27e

1930 12 28
Fen Road which is unique in England – Guyhirn towards Peterborough – important main highway 30 12 26 *

1931 Cambridgeshire Weekly News and ELY Standard

I have scans of articles summaries or marked *
Added to Century

January to December 1931

January 1931 CWN & ES

1931 01 02
Christmas Day festivities at the Home of Mercy in Christchurch Street, Cambridge were spent in the usual manner. The chapel was decorated with lilies and carnations presented by two of the married girls as a mark of appreciation. Everyone attended Christ Church at 7 and 11 am and then enjoyed a bountiful dinner. Each girl found in her pudding a piece of money which is to be presented to Addenbrooke's Hospital building fund. Evensong was sung in chapel after which a pantomime (on the wireless) was enjoyed until the day came to a close at 9.30. 31 01 02e # c.37.3 # WOMEN

The master of Saffron Walden Workhouse told the court that on Boxing Night three tramps had applied for admission to the casual ward. He took their particulars and attempted to search them, but they refused. One threw a bag at him and hit him on the cheek. "I knocked him down; then another threw a chair at me. I knocked him down". The third man was struggling with the porter. "When he saw I had knocked down the other two he tried to get away, and I fetched him back, and he struck at me, and I knocked him down also", he said. The men who appeared in a dejected state, minus collars and overcoats, were sentenced to seven days imprisonment. 31 01 02a-c

The sound of girls' voices, high and clear, punctuated the interview granted by Miss Dovey, headmistress of the County School for Girls. Cambridge born, she was educated at the Higher Grade School when Mrs Evans was the Principal. She took a degree at London University and was appointed headmistress in 1926. But the Girl Guides' concert meant we could not settle to our conversation and instead we watched part of a farce performed by some of the teachers who appeared in pyjamas, dressing gowns and sleeping caps, to the great delight of their pupils. 31 01 02d

A six-wheeled Chevrolet lorry was destroyed in a fire that broke out in a garage adjoining Bleak House, Bassingbourn. Mr G. Lincoln was lying under the lorry emptying the petrol into cans when some splashed on to the lamp by which he was working. It ignited and the lorry was enveloped in flames. Despite his burns he went into the garage adjoining and brought out another lorry. Royston fire brigade obtained water from a well and the fire was checked; the house was not touched. 31 01 02f

Croydon-cum-Clopton church is of early 14th-century date and has never suffered destructive restoration. The main walls of the nave bulge out and the new buttress has pulled the old one away from the tower; the south wall, pillars and arcade are leaning over at an alarming angle. The walls of the church are cracked at the centre of each side so it is not wise to ring the bell. Probably there is no church in the diocese in a more perilous condition. 31 01 02g

The lady owner of a barn at Fen Ditton told the court it had been used as a practice room for a band and they suggested she should run tea dances; a large number of prominent people attended. They had the lights out on one occasion because Conan Doyle was there and as he was very keen on spiritualism they had a small séance. But police said she had deliberately inveigled young men of the University and girls into immoral courses, using the premises as a brothel. She was fined £100. 31 01 02i-l

Cambridge station booking hall accident – 31 01 02h
Hunt, p5
Retrospect, p7
New Year, p9
Prickwillow fall, p10*
Balsham water, p13

1931 01 02 ES
New by-pass on March-Wisbech Road at South Brink 31 01 02

1931 01 09
Lady Darwin, wife of Sir George the Professor of Astronomy, is an American with an interest in the feminine movement. In 1914 she wrote an article on policewomen; the idea of creating a female police corps created tremendous excitement and during the war a small number were appointed... She is very hospitable and is never happier than when her house, Newnham Grange, is full of guests, particularly American undergraduates. Her eldest daughter is Mrs Gwen Raverat, a distinguished wood-engraver. 31 01 09a

The police are to purchase four motor cycle combinations to prevent dangerous or careless driving and enforce the speed limits. They would not be out on the roads to catch and prosecute people but to educate the public to drive carefully. In order to get a government grant they would have to cover an average of 30 miles a day. Alderman Stanley voted for the scheme but hoped he would not be run in by them. (Laughter). 31 01 09b

The Orthopaedic (Cripples' Care) Clinics at Newmarket and Ely are run in connection with the Massage Scheme of the Red Cross Society to deal with cases of bone deformity among young children. The patients pay a small fee but save the time, expense and fatigue of going to Addenbrooke's Hospital. Infant paralysis (poliomyelitis) if taken in time should not mean a cripple for life. Regular treatment and aftercare means crippling defects are counteracted and crooked limbs can be made straight. 31 01 09a

An Ortona conductor was summoned for allowing 60 passengers on to a single-decker bus licensed to carry 37. It was a very busy day just before Christmas. The bus had started from Sutton and the trouble arose at Denny End, Waterbeach where there were a number of passengers wanting to go to Cambridge market. The bus had to pull up at the railway station to set down passengers and people waiting there wanted to get on. The conductor did his best to prevent them but was helpless. He tried to get them to transfer to a relief bus but they would not get off. 31 01 09b

CDN dinner, p5
Chivers Orchard film, p8

1931 01 09 ES
A secret of the centuries revealed: half-timbered ceiling in Old Ship Inn, Nene Parade, March 31 01 09 *

1931 01 16
Farmers said the agriculture Bills now before Parliament would destroy the whole of the industry, root and branch. It was the biggest piece of Bolshevism ever put before the country. The Land Utilisation Bill would disturb existing owners and set up great state farms and a new privileged class – the urban smallholder. The Government says farmers don't understand their jobs and are going to show them how to farm. The N.F.U. is to write to the Prime Minister, Lloyd George (the autocrat of present-day politics) and Stanley Baldwin. 31 01 16a-c

Elijah Lawrence learned the trade of blacksmith under his elder brother, James Lawrence of Harston and took over the smithy at Trumpington where he worked for nearly 50 years. He was a keen and competent tradesman, shoeing a considerable number of horses before advancing years caused him to transfer the business to his son-in-law. He had grown more feeble but a fortnight previously was driving himself in his pony-cart. 31 01 16d

A memorial tablet was unveiled at Cambridge Police Station to the late Det-Serg Francis Willis, who lost his life in the King's College shooting tragedy. The tablet, carried out in oak and bearing the Borough arms has been placed on the wall by the side of the Roll of Honour, at the foot of the staircase. The public had made a generous response to an appeal for the benefit of his widow and £625 had been raised with another £208 from police federations across the country. 31 01 16e

Mr Charles Morley has presented a handsome trophy to the National Skating Association for a one-mile race for amateurs who are not holders of the first-class speed badge. At present 90 per cent of skating contests have been practically foregone conclusions as one or two skaters carry off all the prizes, by debarring these men the race will be much more open. It is to be skated on an oval course rather than one requiring a length of 600 yards. This will enable fen skaters to compete more successfully on indoor rinks and Continental courses. 31 01 16f & g

1931 01 16 ES
Ely loses a great benefactor: death F.L. Harlock

1931 01 23
Cambridge motorists were on their best behaviour when the Borough Police mobile squad went out for their first time. P.C.s Edwards and Ward are the permanent members of the squad, which is equipped with a fast motor cycle combination. The setting up of the squad has made several changes necessary. The new warrant office is P.C. Ives of the detective department and P.C. Brooks is Coroner's Officer. 31 01 23a

Book of old Cambridge archives to be printed – supplement to Cooper – 31 01 23b Wyton airfield, p14*
Ely hockey, p14

1931 01 30
Bywaters vicar, p3
School OTC, p5
Suicide after film, p7*
Explosion, p9*
40 years on line, p13*

1931 01 30 ES
Littleport Barclay's Bank improved – photo 31 01 30

February 1931 CWN & ES

1931 02 06
Fire broke out at the Blue Lias Cement Works, Meldreth, during a snow and sleet storm. The engine rooms and mill house were damaged; most of the machinery was reduced to a mass of burnt wreckage and 20 men will have to 'stand-off' for several months. 31 02 07a

Huntingdonshire National Farmers' Union urged a reduction in the wages of agricultural labourers because of the fall in the cost of living and the present state of agriculture. Farmers could not pay a man 30s 6d a week to grow wheat which earned a guinea per quarter. An alternative would be for the Government to bridge the gap between the price they are getting for their produce and what it costs to grow it or to allow the men to work longer hours in summer time. 31 02 06b

A beam under the fireplace in the historic 'Town House' at Barley must have been smouldering for over a week before it was discovered; the room was filled with smoke. It was erected in 1530 as a town hall and almshouse and later became a school and a workhouse. It was even used as a mad house with 36 people living there, including one man who was chained in a corner. Now it is used as a club room and houses the Barley fire appliance – a hand pump. 31 02 06d

March Greyhound Racing Track staged its inaugural meeting. It attracted a fair attendance, considering there was a big football match, and some fairly good racing was witnessed, though no very notable dogs were competing. Because of the bad weather the track was in very rough condition, being under water in places while the spectators experienced considerable discomfort on the sodden ground. 31 02 06e

Shire Hall flooring, p6
Corners, p6*
Monster draw, p7

1931 02 06 ES
Opening of £6,000 concrete bridge at Wisbech – largest portal-type structure in country; feature article 31 02 06 *

1931 02 13
Mrs Harold Gray of Wandlebury House was elected to the executive of the Women's Institute movement at the end of the war and started an Institute at Stapleford. She resigned when her husband became Member of Parliament for the county but was elected President when his term of office ended. She says it is a strong social instructive link between women of each village, irrespective of rank. She is a true Bohemian at heart and has crossed the desert on a camel and almost gone 'back to Nature' on the Cocos Islands in the Pacific. 31 02 13a

Cambridge justices heard that the Crown and Sceptre in Clarendon Street was only open from Monday to Saturday and closed at nine o'clock instead of ten, which was the ordinary time for licenced houses. It was a comfortable house and the company was good but customers found early closing irksome and went to other pubs of which there were five within 200 yards. A full licence was granted subject to improvement in the sanitary arrangements. 31 02 13c-d

The Robin Hood at Cherry Hinton was the only licensed house on the main Cambridge-Fulbourn Road but only had a beer licence. The brewery had spent a good deal of money improving the amenities and the introduction of motor buses and charabancs had made a great difference in trade. During the summer people came in almost every day for teas and meals like bread and cheese. It was much used by walkers including ladies who asked for port. 30 02 13e-f

Stetchworth Dairies won the contract to supply Grade A tuberculin tested milk to elementary schools; children will receive a bottle containing one-third of a pint at a cost of 1d. An experiment in Lanarkshire showed that children supplied with milk were much more buoyant and lively both in body and mind and it had a striking effect in improving their physical and mental alertness. Parents should spare the penny a day so their children could receive these benefits. 31 02 13e

A farmer told the bankruptcy court that he had rented Block Farm, Fordham from the County Council. But the operations were very unsuccessful owing to the water on the land. "When I took the land the County Council man said 'There's not a drop of water on it', but it was a dry time and when it was flooded you couldn't walk across it; you would sink in. I had acres and acres of corn all spoilt. Three or four people at the place before I went there all went wrong". 31 02 13f-g

The Over postman, Alfred Adams, complains of the neglected state of the village byways. 50 years ago the old surveyors knew how to keep the main by-ways in repair for they had use of gravel dug from the Bare Fens which the farmers carted. But now Long Drove which led to the Boat Inn was almost impassable. The postman was supposed to be able to cycle but now had to walk and farmers grumble as they cannot get to their fields. 31 02 13h

J.D. Dickson, p7
Licence Rose and Crown, Cottenham removed – 31 02 13b

1931 02 13 ES
R. Hinkin of Lt Thetford celebrates 100th birthday – detailed article 31 02 13 *

1931 02 20
Fire broke out in the house and bakery of Mr B.E. Trayner at Heydon. He was awakened by a noise he took to be mice in the wall but then saw smoke and a red glow under the skirting board. He found woodwork in the living room was alight. An 84-year-old lady was removed from the thatched cottage adjoining and neighbours fought the flames; the task was made difficult by a nest of beams in the wall. 31 02 20a

The treasurer of the Three Blackbirds Helping Hand Slate Club, Ely said the secretary collected the weekly subscriptions from members and passed the money to him. He kept it under the counter in a cigar box. But when he went for it before the share-out it was missing. When he told the members it had not been a very friendly meeting and they asked why it had not been banked. They gave him time to find the money. He was committed for trial. 31 02 20c & d

St Ives council discussed an application for the interment of a reverend gentleman in the grounds of Madeley Court, Hemingford Grey. The Minster of Health has approved it provided that only one burial took place. The gentleman concerned was not yet dead but they had no power to stop the burial, however much they objected. 31 02 20e

The four children of Sir Cecil and Lady Neuman had a narrow escape from death when Burloes, their beautiful country residence just outside Royston, was entirely destroyed by fire. The head nurse, Miss Curry, roused the household and got the children to safely by means of a canvas fire escape chute from the night nursery. The mansion, which was build 28 years ago, stood in a commanding position on a hill and firemen were hampered by a lack of water. "Everything has gone, but the staff behaved simply splendidly", said her Ladyship. 31 02 20f & g & h

Huntingdonshire had some of the most progressive poultry keepers who bred various strains and passed them on to the community. But now production had dropped off. Hens were profitable but poultry-keepers had nobody to advise them. The sooner the appointed a poultry instructor the better. The important things were feeding and housing: they should not be overcrowded and have trap nests from which the hen could not release herself. 31 02 20f

William Carter joined the Cambridge Borough Police Force in 1867 and retired as Inspector in 1894. He had a vivid memory of the opening of the Corn Exchange in 1870 when undergraduates caused a disturbance and six were arrested. At their trial a mob gathered and dashed to King Street, the residence of the Mayor, John Death. But, headed by Carter, the police got there first and shut the gates. Missiles of all kinds were thrown and the fighting continued for some hours. Apart from a battered and torn helmet, Mr Carter was not hurt. 31 02 20j

The Rev J.W.E. Conybeare has passed away at the age of 87. He was one of the first cyclists in Cambridgeshire and wrote guides to rides as well as a history of the county. Born in Liverpool, he was vicar of Barrington until 1898 and some time after his retirement was received into the Roman Catholic Church. The Mayor expressed his deep regret when he heard the news. 31 02 20k

The mere male generally despises waves in his hair and does all in his power to make their disappearance 'permanent'. Not so the ladies who detest a straight head of hair and have a 'permanent' put in. So when Messrs Eugene Ltd visited Cambridge Guildhall to give a hair fashion revue they attracted audiences of 2,000 and their enterprise should have its reward. No longer is the process terrifying, it is comfortable, uses steam not electricity, and does not destroy the hair. 31 02 20l

Cambridge slums – 31 02 20b

1931 02 20 ES
Sugar Beet crisis; no agreement reached with the Ely factory; farmers seriously perturbed. Sir Frederick Hiam resigns from factory directorate 31 02 20 & a* ES

1931 02 27
The Shepherd's Hall, Linton, was crowed to hear Dr Palmer's talk on the village's old houses. He showed pictures of the Court House projecting into the street where Mr Septimus Holttum's houses now stands and of wall paintings discovered in 1928. A pair of massive fire hooks, made for pulling down burning buildings, used to hang on the side of Chandlers. They were removed but have been recovered and are now safely fixed on the inside of the parish church. 31 02 27b

The name of the Hon Mrs de Beaumont is synonymous with Girl Guides and is a house-hold word. Her story is the history of the movement in Cambridgeshire, where she has been County Commissioner since 1916. Her youngest daughter, Marguerite, is following in her footsteps; she has just returned from Switzerland where she trained British and Swiss Girl Guides. She is blessed with beauty, wit and eloquence but I doubt whether the movement will suffice to content her strong personality indefinitely. 31 02 27c

Over 100 attended a funeral service for a young Freshman whose mysterious death has caused such a sensation throughout the country. Press and public were excluded but a crowd gathered and police had some difficulty in controlling the traffic. He had been found lying dead on the floor of his room, gagged and bound in an elaborate manner with numerous handkerchiefs, a length of puttee, and a wire flex. Members of the Pentacle Club, the University Magicians' Society have been interrogated & Sir Bernard Spilsbury, the famous Home Office pathologist has been called in. 31 02 27d-g-h

Death Col H.M. Douglas, Lord Manor Hemingfords – old family – 31 02 27a

March 1931 CWN & ES

1931 03 06
Miss Enright came to Cambridge in 1924 to help in the reorganisation of the School of Arts, Crafts and Technology and became the first woman to be elevated to be head of a technical school in the UK. There were odd classes for unemployed boys and girls with 54 students, now the number in the Day Trade School has grown to 151. They train women in domestic science, needlework and simple home hygiene but few show much interest in so essential an art. 31 03 06a

The Ouse and Cam Fishery Board want permits issued to people who catch eels as a livelihood, or to destroy them. John Barnes of Manea said men had fished for eels for centuries, it was part of their rights. He used the same implements as his great-grandfather before him; they were worth £50 and of no use for other purposes. Some years he caught £10 worth of eels, other years £80. The best time was when the flood water had almost receded that that was during the close season. He had a strong objection to getting a permit for something he'd done for years. It was the thin end of the wedge. 31 03 06b

The Medical Officer said there was a case of scarlet fever at Papworth and the boy had been taken to the Isolation Hospital. There were many cases of mild influenza and two of pneumonia. There were cases of measles at Eltisley and Graveley where all the children had been affected and the school closed for a period. 31 03 06c

A referee said there had been disorderly conduct by the crowd at a football match at Haddenham. He stopped the game twice to take the names of spectators. Later some of them got into the dressing room and tried to strike him. The club said he did not control the game properly and disallowed a goal when the keeper carried the ball across the line. It spoilt the game and annoyed the crowd. They wanted the match against Sawston Paper Mills reserves to be replayed and a competent referee appointed. 31 03 06e

For years King and Harper have been striving to secure an alternative entry at their Bridge Street garage for the convenience of their valued customers. Now three houses have been acquired and members of staff gave a rousing cheer when a Morris Oxford Isis Six Saloon became the first car to enter at Bridge Street and leave in Jesus Lane. 31 03 06I

Snow scenes, p12
Four Gate pit, Hemingford Grey to be improved by installing sluice gates. 31 03 06e
Sidney Sussex student death verdict. 31 03 06f –h

1931 03 13
Every woman who plays hockey is proud of Miss Gaskell. In 1914 she took the first women's hockey team to Australia and has taken teams to the United States and South Africa. During the war she became Commandant of the Red Cross Convalescent Hospital for soldiers at St Chads that was open until 1919. She then started Barton W.I. and joined the Folk Dancing Society. 31 03 13a

Before the war it seemed possible that Cambridgeshire might have a sanatorium built and maintained by the County Council. But war conditions alarmed the financial advisers, the scheme was turned down and men and women sent far from their homes to find the treatment they needed. A few people joined together to raise voluntary funds and start the Papworth Colony unbound by the red tape of officialdom so that Dr Varrier Jones could develop his great scheme for the prevention of tuberculosis unhindered. One of these was Mr Musgrave Francis, who has now died. 31 03 13b-c

Abington Pigotts church is appealing for funds for the restoration of the tower, bells and west end, which are in danger of collapse, and the ancient oak seats which have seriously decayed. Last year they raised much of the money but with agriculture in its present depressed condition it is difficult for the population of 149 people to pay the rest. 31 03 13d

The Conservative's touring cinema vans includes talking as well as silent films. There was a crowded attendance at Soham Fen when the programme started with an Empire film, followed by a humorous cartoon showing how the rising tide of unemployment was stemmed by Stanley Baldwin in the guise of a plumber. There were talkies on the agricultural situation and a tour of a motor works together with pictures of the hardships suffered by town dwellers during the General Strike. The van will visit Croxton, Wicken and Chittering. 31 03 13e

Hudson's brewery had closed six public houses in Cambridge: the Brewery Tap in Bridge Street, the White Swan and Prince Albert in Castle Street, the Beehive on Honey Hill, Spotted Cow in Northampton Street and Golden Fleece in Ram Yard. But they wanted to renew the licence for the Baron of Beef. The application was supported by a petition from the Sick Benefit Society and was granted. Also Cow & Calf & Crown & Sceptre. 31 03 13f

Counc. E. Saville Peck inaugurated an anti-gas school during the war and after studying the conditions of gas warfare in France, was sent to America to assist training in gas defensive measures there. He then formed schools of pharmaceutical chemistry for students whose studies had been interrupted by the war. In 1922 he was largely instrumental in forming the Cambridge Rotary Club. He has a unique collection of pestles and mortars and knows the history of each one. 31 03 20a

T. Musgrave Francis, p11
Sugar beet action, p14

1931 03 20
Thieves stole £250 from the Cambridge Central Cinema when a safe containing the day's takings was rifled. Spread along the gangway in the middle of the balcony were a quantity of coppers, the result of a lengthy sorting of coins. No trace of entry could be found and it is believed the intruders were among the audience at the last performance and hid in the lavatories, eluding the fireman who makes a final inspection of the building before leaving. 31 03 20c # c.76.9

Three steam lorries, two with trailers, representing a weight of sixty tons were used to test the strength of the new bridge over the Old West River at Twentypence Ferry. There was a crowd of over a hundred interested spectators. Several motor coach companies are applying to run services over the new road between Cottenham and Wilburton, shortly to be opened to traffic, which will prove another link between the north and south of the county. 31 03 20d

E. Saville Peck, p4*
Bourn plane crash, p9
Tram lines, p9

1931 03 20 ES
Important Soham Fen road proposal; linking up with Prickwillow and Ely 31 03 20 ES# c.44.65
Adelaide bridge nearing completion – photo 31 03 20a ES*
New route linking Cambs and Isle – Twentypence bridge opening 31 03 20b ES *

1931 03 27
Impington church organ was bought from Barkstone, Notts., in 1891, being originally a one manual pipe instrument blown by means of a foot pedal. The Rev Dennis Hall reconstructed it with two manuals, adding swell pedals etc. But he was prevented from carrying out all the necessary work to obtain the fullest volume. Various repairs have been made but now a new organ is badly needed. 31 03 27a

George Brimley Bowes joined his father in the firm now called Bowes and Bowes in 1897 in the building known to be the oldest bookshop in the country. He became intimately connected with the business, as bookseller and printer and published the first works of J.B. Priestley. He founded the Cambridge branch of Toc H and Cambridge Rotary Club. People who associate many books with mustiness should speedily make his acquaintance and be disillusioned. 31 03 27c & d

Houghton mill was in a dilapidated state and might be dangerous to the public who passed through. Repairs were needed to the roof and there was the danger of fire. But it was one of the most picturesque in the county; there was a sentimental value attaching to it and if a subscription was raised they may be able to sell it for £100 to someone who would keep it under repair, the Ouse Drainage Board was told. 31 03 27e

An Ecclesiastical Inquiry heard objections to the proposed union of the parishes of Houghton and Wyton. Houghton rectory was unoccupied owing to the heavy cost of upkeep, the average attendance at church was 30 and there was no Sunday School. Wyton had a population of 365, including 150 at the Sanatorium. There was always a little friction between the parishes and if the benefices were joined scores of people would not go to church any more. 31 03 27f & g & h

The well at Balsham is in a dangerous condition; the chalk blocks at the top will have to be removed to a depth of five feet and the well lined with brickwork, with more repairs 51 feet down. Before this can be carried out the whole of the chalk lining needs to be secured by bolts from the surface. The council discussed final details of the village water scheme but rejected a proposal to include fire hydrants in case of fire. 31 03 27k

Rotary clubs conference at Cambridge. 31 03 27 j

April 1931 CWN & ES

1931 04 03
G.P. Hawkins opened the first tea shop in Cambridge at the corner of Sussex Street in 1900. It could hold 10 people with a waitress & two assistants. As adjoining space became available the premises were enlarged. Today the Dorothy Café can accommodate 2,000 and there is no brand of catering which cannot be undertaken. In 1904 he erected a bakery with two ovens at the side of Midsummer Common; today with seven ovens working six days a week he produces about 200,000 loaves. It also manufactures a ton of ice a day plus sufficient ice cream to supply the entire needs of Cambridge. 31 04 03a

A Histon man who could not be induced to sleep indoors was charged as ‘an incorrigible rogue’. He had been a great trouble and nuisance; in the winter he slept in sheds and in the summer under the trees. He had been born in 1900 and attended West Wratting School later serving eight years in the army and four months in a military mental home. He was sent to Bedford gaol for three months. 31 04 03b

The National Tithepayers Association protested against what is widely regarded as an unjust tax on agricultural land. Owen Webb said the tithe was a burden impossible for the land to carry. During these difficult times of depression, when farmers were struggling to keep their heads above water in the face of terrible drops in commodity and grain prices it was an inverted food tax on the industry; there was no justification from an economic or religious point of view. 31 04 03c & d

William James Ison started as a cycle dealer in Chesterton Road in 1897; his business prospered and at one time he had four shops selling and repairing cycles. He also put one of his own machines on the market. The ‘New Chesterton’ has become deservedly popular and a special racing model won over 100 prizes in 1908. His late wife was sister of Fred Lawrence of the Belmont Cycle Works in King Street. 31 04 03f

Since Ely Sugar Beet factory was built there has been serious and copious discharge of dangerous effluent into the river during the ‘campaign’. Organic matter flowing into the river from the lagoons and pits absorbed oxygen from the water and fish suffocated. After the factory had been taken to court matters had improved but there was still serious pollution affecting a nearby fishery and they were fined £200. 31 04 03h

St Paul’s church, Cambridge, having been closed for a month during which extensive restoration work and some constructional changes were effected, reopened for worship amid an atmosphere of thanksgiving and delight. The improvements amounts to nothing less than a transformation and the previously unattractive interior is now pleasing in the extreme. Pews have been modernised with a wide central aisle, new choir stalls and chancel screen erected and a small clergy vestry provided. New arches and windows have greatly improved the lighting of the chancel. 31 04 03h & I

Mr J. Sainsbury, head of the famous provision firm, opened a new residential club that will accommodate 15 young men. In a place like Cambridge it is difficult for a young man to get lodgings and this large house in Brookland's Avenue has been modernised and redecorated and is a model of its kind. The bedrooms, which have two beds, have a wardrobe and cupboard for each occupant; it has a room with facilities for games and reading and dispels any gloomy feeling about what used to be called 'living in'. There were few local firms who had made such provision for their staff. Many firms had a contributory pension scheme but they had decided against such a scheme. 30 04 03k

A fire was discovered in a gable of The Grove, Fordham; the damage was not great. The brigade cannot discover any cause of the outbreak. It is a part of old Cambridge folk lore that a fire always follows if a hare runs down the main street of a village. The week before a hare did run down the street at Fordham. It was perused by Mr Richard Nicholls, a septuagenarian, and was killed in a shed within three yards of the place where this fire broke out. 31 04 03m

The first accident on the new Twentypence Road between Wilburton and Cottenham happened on Saturday. Mr Charles Lack and three passengers had been to view the new bridge and on the return journey failed to negotiate a severe bend with the result that his car skidded and finished in a ditch. No one was seriously injured. The car, an Austin 'six' was not badly damaged and with some difficulty was replaced on the road, Mr Lack being able to drive it home under its own power. 31 04 03o

1931 04 03 ES
A massive steel bridge weighing over 150 tons was rolled into position over the River Lark at Prickwillow in a matter of 30 minutes without any fuss or excitement. Unloaded three Sundays ago on to a temporary pile staging alongside the old bridge it was riveted together made complete then placed on ball runners. The actual work of preparing the bridge for placing into position was commenced at one o'clock after the down mail had passed through. About 25 of the L.N.E.R. Company's men with about 20 contractors' employees were engaged in this task and laboured through the night. They first remove the old track and then raise the old structure by means of two breakdown cranes. This was placed on the riverbank where it will be demolished. Projecting woodwork and other paraphernalia in the way of the new span was removed and the rolling in path for the new bridge completed. Then little squads of men heaving away at two hand winches attached to which was a mass of tackle had the great bridge rolled into position within the matter of 30 minutes. Quite close to the river is a fen road over which passes a bridge. The old one of timber has been removed and its place taken by a steel structure spanning about 30 feet.
31 04 03 & a, c* ES # c.26.2 # photo

Stuntney cottages gutted in blaze – photo – 31 04 03d ES

1931 04 10
Sir Frederick Hiam, the great agriculturist and patriot, went to London to look after the parental interests in Stratford Market. Then he started purchasing farms all over the country and now owns 13,000 acres of land, much of it within thirty miles of Ely which he personally farms. A great believer in farm manure, he keeps as many pigs and cattle as he can. He was Director of Vegetable Supplies in the Ministry of Food 1918-21 and was knighted for his services. Now he is to become Sheriff of Cambridgeshire and Huntingdonshire. 31 04 10a

Cambridge was represented at Skyros at the unveiling of a statue of Rupert Brooke, the poet who died in Greece during the war. In the morning there was a ceremony at his tomb when one of his poems was recited, then in the afternoon the statue was unveiled. It stands on one of the highest points in the island, overlooking the sea. 31 04 10b

Lord Sandwich has offered to sell Huntingdon council three acres of land between Hartford Road and Primrose Lane for a housing site; ten houses in Hartford Place and two in St Clement's Passage are to be registered as clearance areas. But land in the village of Hartford will not now be incorporated into Huntingdon. 31 04 10c

St Ives residents are concerned they will be deprived of the use of their river this summer because of engineering repairs at the stanch. The continued low water is not only ruinous to the boating industry but will also affect the acreage under osiers. At present the engineers had only put in a pair of fen gates, which was the easiest task of the lot. They should leave the remainder of the work until autumn. But very soon repairs would be started at Hemingford Lock. 31 04 10g

Cambridgeshire had its first taste of dirt-track thrills when a crowd of 5,000 witnessed some excellent racing on the new speedway at Caxton. The management had not anticipated such a crush with the result that the solitary entrance was sorely taxed and the pay-box nearly pushed over by the pressure of the queues. Despite showers the track rode well and although there were several falls only one rider – Buster Cray – was injured. The Eastern Counties' scratch event was one by Puff Morley, who rode in fearless style. 31 04 10h

Alderman Harry Gleaves Few was born at Willingham in 1848 and spent long years in the service of his village: he was a founder of the Star Benefit Society, Building Society, Water Company and Village Hall and one of the builders of the Willingham Baptist Tabernacle. He was in business as a corn merchant and became an expert in fen drainage. During the Great War he served on the Military Tribunal with his eyes open for the country's need of both soldiers and farm workers. 31 04 10 i j k

Under the new Road Traffic Act the speed limit for ordinary motor cars has been abolished. But it is now an offence to drive a motor coach at over 30 miles an hour and invalid carriages must not exceed 20 mph. Goods vehicles can be driven at 30 mph, if fitted with pneumatic tyres and not drawing a trailer, but heavy vehicles with solid tyres must not exceed eight miles an hour when drawing a trailer. Drivers must not remain on duty for more than 5½ hours. It is also an offence to drive while under the influence of drink or drugs. 31 04 10 I

Since 1904 the charges for the water and the poor rates have each risen by over 300 per cent. But whereas the services of lighting, better paths, roads and sewerage have increased enormously the supply of water has been just the same. The Water Company has simply passed any extra charges on to the consumer. Now they are unwilling to agree to a take-over by Cambridge Town Council. But no parliament will refuse any town the right to its own water supply. The anti-Socialist composition of our legislators leaves no doubt that the stockholders will be generously treated. 31 04 10l-n

Despite a steady downpour over 400 people paid for admission to the Cambridge Greyhound Racing tack in Coldham's Lane which opened with a fine programme of events. The track is in the shape of three sides of a rectangle with a stand forming the fourth. This was occupied by about 200 people most of the time. Another meeting at Cowper Road was affected by the rain when Slow and Sure proved the speediest greyhound of the day. 31 04 10o

Waterworks purchase proposal – history of water company – 31 04 10d-n

1931 04 17
St Ives town council has been awarded a site for the building to be called 'The Norris Library' which is to house a collection of Huntingdonshire topography, pictures and antiques collected by the late H.E. Norris. At his home in Chichester he had a room crowed with pictures, relics and literature. He was a man of great literary attainments and one of the finest chess players in England. The council recorded their gratitude and appreciation and stood for a moment of silence in tribute to his memory. 31 04 17b

Saffron Walden Freemasons processed in full Masonic regalia to the parish churchyard for the unveiling of a tombstone of an 18th-century Freemason that has been in the churchyard for 170 years. It was discovered in a very dilapidated condition and has been restored before it became completely obliterated. It bears the emblems of the Craft and an inscription to Jonathan Parker who died in 1764. But nothing is known about him. 31 04 17c

The driver of a motor lorry from Brixton had an accident in Trumpington Street. He was unaware of the 'run' at the side of the road and drew a little too far to the left. The near wheels of the lorry dropped into the run and the top of the vehicle struck the ventilating shaft on the kerb beside the Fitzwilliam Museum. The tall shaft was snapped off short at the base and fell with a crash into the road, knocking the top of the adjacent lampposts in its fall. The broken shaft was removed on one of the Council's big steam lorries. 31 04 17d

Counc. A Spalding – profile – 31 04 17a
A.A. Spalding, p4*
Rampton services, p8
Soham police, p10
Emma Gunton, p13
Bus application, p14
Histon railway crossing, p14

Facts about folk lore. It was up to everyone to make notes of what they saw because folklore was rapidly dying out and it was worthwhile to preserve it as far as possible, Mr L.F. Newman told Cambridge Rotary Club. In the old days with isolated villages and no newspapers or wireless it was only natural that scandal was rife and the villagers had their own way of showing disapproval of wrongdoers. If a man beat his wife the villagers might plough up his front garden with the idea that walking over the upturned soil would act as a reminder and creates a sense of guilt. Some country customs took the form of initiation into certain callings; for example a man destined to become a farmer was rolled up in a blanket and lifted onto the prongs of a pitchfork. Belief in medicine could be divided into medicinal drugs and magic potions. To this day Mullein was believed good for sore throats and number of British plants derive their names from the medicinal uses to which they were put. One of the superstitions as regard cures was to pass a child suffering from rupture through a split tree. If the tree grew whole again the child would be cured. There was always a loophole provided however if these quaint formulae did not work. Superstition still played a large part in our life. People hesitate to walk under a ladder or be a third to light a cigarette. The question of mascots have become a positive social evening evil. During the war people had quite openly believed in such things and today and large number of women carried mascots. Bright articles were often put on horses as protective charms and blue was supposed to be a protective colour. 31 04 17c # c.39

1931 04 24
The Minister of Agriculture told Cambridge farmers that agriculture had been neglected by parliament for the last 50 years. Producers did not get a fair price; fruitgrowers must have an organisation which could approach the big jam manufacturers & offer a fair tonnage when they wanted it at a price agreed in advance. At present manufacturers could order all the jam pulp they wanted from foreign sources. 31 04 24b-d

A thrill of romance marked the departure from Marshall's Aerodrome of a gleaming silver Puss Moth monoplane bearing its bridegroom pilot, Mr A.G. Marshall, and his bride on the first stage of their honeymoon. He took his seat at the controls, the propeller whirred and the graceful machine glided forward. In the next few seconds it was rising steeply into the wind, while rain fell from a heavy cloud. The bridal couple however were quite cosy in the saloon cockpit. 31 04 24c

A Cambridge builder was granted possession of a cottage at Mill End, Cherry Hinton. He had purchased it three years ago when the occupant paid 2s 9d a week. That man had left but there were now nine people living there in just a living room and kind of kitchen with a bedroom and a lean-to on the landing above. It was in a very bad state and he intended to carry out improvements; it should not have been re-let until in proper repair. 31 04 24f

In 1820 there were seven fully-licenced public houses in Swavesey including 'The Swan with Two Necks', 'George and Dragon' and 'Rose and Crown'. Later another 14 were added including 'The Railroad Hotel', 'The Sir Harry Smith', 'Black Bull' and 'Red Lion'. All have now been closed with the exception of the 'White Horse'. 'Sun, 'Blue Bell' and 'New Inn'. 31 04 24g

Terence Gray profile – 31 04 24a # c.76

May 1931 CWN & ES

1931 05 01
Mr J.W. Autherlonie, manager of the Cambridge University and Town Gas Light Company since 1902 has seen many changes. During the Great War 70 women worked there, doing exactly the same hard tasks as the absent men. But on the return of the men they retired and today only one is engaged in this capacity. Eighteen of the employees fell and the war memorial, placed in a garden surrounding the works, is counted amongst the best of its type. 31 05 01a

Cambridge led the way in making it an offence to sell short weight of food. It was usual to sell butter by the yard, with each yard weighing 1lb and a penalty was imposed for those under weight. Its position of Inspector of Weights and Measures was also unique. Prior to 1856 the University held the powers and when these were transferred to the town they were granted the right to appoint an additional inspector should they feel dissatisfied. So far they have not exercised that right. 31 05 01b

At Cambridge the railway companies have a financial interest and working agreement with the Ortona bus company. The time will come when co-ordination will be very close; already they have had two experiments when railway return tickets could be used on the buses and vice verse, the Ortona chairman told an inquiry. In both borough and county they worked routes which were good and bad and excursions and long-distance tours helped to pay for unremunerative town services. 31 05 01c

Bert Washington of Littleport applied for a licence to continue to run a bus service to Cambridge in competition with Ortona. He allowed an hour for the journey of 21 miles but this was described as too fast and they were told to look at the times again. It was opposed by the Railway Companies who had a working agreement with Ortona: they felt it would be more efficient if directed by the larger company. Joseph Lofts runs a small bus between the station and Littleport villages. 31 05 01e

Cambridgeshire County Councillors considered a bye-law dealing with the nuisance caused by gypsy encampments. It would ban landowners from allowing any tent, booth or van within 200 yards of any house and require a squatter to depart if requested by any inmate of a house, his servant or any constable. The voting resulted in seven for the motion and seven against; it was defeated on the casting vote of the chairman. 31 05 01f

Straightening Great Ouse opposite Pike & Eel – photo – 51 05 01d

1931 05 08
Huntingdon Housing Committee felt the time had arrived when they could not support any further housing schemes except in conjunction with the clearing of slums. There were 97 applicants on the housing list but building new houses would be a burden on the rates. It was difficult to find a site alongside a main road; the last scheme took up a number of allotments but it was better to provide houses and gardens than allotments. 31 05 08a

When R.C. Pierce took up an appointment with the Cambridge Electric Supply Company in 1908 it was a small affair with about 1,400 consumers. Now it has risen to 8,000 with 150 employees. During the war he was a Coal Conservation Officer and made much of the apparatus used by the V.A.D. massage and electrical treatment department. He was one of the original members of the Cambridge Rotary Club and Commodore of the Cambridge Motor Boat Club. 31 05 08b

Why do tramps prefer Cambridge? Councillor Edwards had given lifts to men on the road from London. They told him that its casual wards offer a great measure of comfort to the gentlemen of the road and it is a convenient jumping-off ground for tramps en route to Newmarket races. "If we carry on as we are, we shall get casuals and plenty of them", he told councillors who were considering a scheme to build new accommodation for 150 casuals at Union Lane. They agreed to reduce the size of the building. 31 05 08c

The soft roads in Burwell and Swaffham Prior are in a very bad state. Much of the land cost £50 an acre 50 years ago but now sold for about £10; landlords had been paying highway rates for 60 years for very little benefit and could not be asked to contribute to repairs. The same applied elsewhere: valuable land had depreciated owing to the difficulty of getting to it in winter. Unemployed men should be employed to make them up. 31 05 08c & d

Midsummer Fair is to be held this year on Stourbridge Common; money had been spent reseeding Midsummer Common and would be wasted if heavy traction engines and other fair equipment were allowed on it. The fair was getting bigger and bigger with complaints about the noise and it is extremely unlikely it will ever return there. But showmen objected; the music could be reduced but most of the noise came from the 'Walls of Death' which ought to be banned. 31 05 08 g-I

Extensive workshops belonging to a builder and undertaker in Glisson Road were destroyed by fire. During the blaze the petrol tank of a car garaged in the building exploded. The two-storied wooden building stood next to Eaden Lilley's warehouse and in close proximity to a number of houses. It blazed fiercely and a large crowd was attracted. Its contents were completely wrecked and it finally collapsed. 31 05 08f

Sir Henry Lytton and Miss Bertha Lewis, two of the best-known members of the famous D'Oyly Carte Opera Company were injured as the result of a car skid on the Huntingdon Road near Cambridge. Miss Lewis received very serious injuries to the head and neck and is now lying in a critical condition at the Evelyn Nursing Home. Sir Henry fractured a rib, received flesh wounds and is suffering from severe shock. He was driving his Wolseley saloon which turned completely over. The door had to be broken open before the passengers could be extricated. 31 05 08l

A controversy has arisen as to the use of the hall at Sawston Village College as a cinema. The Education Committee says it cannot be used on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays as it would turn it from an educational centre into an ordinary cinema. But they had promised that the Spicers pictures would be transferred to the new hall. A rival cinema scheme had been brought forward and its promoters were voted en bloc as school managers. 31 05 08m & n

An amazing freak, a kitten with two faces, was born at the 'Ramping Lion' garage near Fenstanton but lived only three days. The kitten was an extraordinary little object with its two mouths, two noses and four eyes, but it had only one head and consequently only two ears. 31 05 08o

Gypsy camp restrictions bylaw – 31 05 08e
May Day demonstration, Norfolk Street – photo – 31 05 08i

1931 05 08 ES
Conservative touring cinema visits villages 31 05 08 ES# c.76.9

New Adelaide bridge nearing completion – photo 31 05 08c ES*

1931 05 15
Kirtling wants a supply of pure water: the school well is contaminated and the only public well is at the top of the village. Some residents have to walk a mile and a half for water. All the other wells are shallow and subject to surface contamination with some people dependent on land drains. But the cost of any improved water supply should not be more than the village can afford. Water from the borehole at en is not satisfactory but not so bad that it cannot be used in case of necessity. 31 05 15a

Wearing a dark blue kimono dressing gown and sitting in a wheeled chair Sir Henry Lytton told an inquest upon the body of Miss Bertha Lewis, the leading contralto of the D'Oyly Carte Company, that he had driven since he was 18 years old and covered 18,000 miles a year. Approaching Cambridge from Huntingdon there was a quantity of oil on the road and it was raining. He had been told motorists had to be careful on this particular road when wet. The car skidded into a ditch. 31 05 15 b c

The toll house on the Chatteris to Somersham road stands on the site of an ancient river called the West Water where a ferry existed until it dried up about 1765. It became a turnpike road & the tolls were still collected by Mr Dyson on behalf of the General Estates Company. Their obligation was to repair 60 yards of road; in 1925 it cost £10 and the income was about £750, a handsome profit. Now Chatteris council demanded rates on the toll-house. 31 05 15d e

1931 05 22
Dr Alex Wood of Emmanuel College is chairman of the Cambridge Peace Council. He was a Conscientious Objector exempted from active service during the Great War on condition he carried on ambulance work and became commandant of a Red Cross hospital. He joined the Labour Party and in 1926 was elected to Cambridge Borough Council. At the last general election he contested the University seat but was not successful.31 05 22b

A Stapleford grocer was summoned for displaying verses in his shop window accusing a dairyman of adulterating his milk. One read 'Edgar had a little pump, With water soft as silk. And with the fluid from that pump, He used to mix his milk'. Crowds gathered to read them but nobody took them seriously. He claimed the milkman had broken the windows and threatened to wring his neck. 31 05 22 c & d

Messrs Murkett Bros, the well-known garage proprietors and motor agents, are now installed in their imposing new premises on the Huntingdon Road, Cambridge. They were pioneers in the motor industry and their extensive new motor showrooms and repair shops will provide the best of sales and service. If all garages installed such up-to-date machinery and gave such service then insurance companies could bring down their premiums. 31 05 22 e f g

1931 05 22 ES
Murkett, 1893-1931: detailed illustrated article 31 05 22, a,b,c ES * # c.26.48 photo

C.W. Abbs of March and Hunstanton had six brothers and sisters in one business; fruit and fish shop 31 05 22d ES*

New bridge on Isle trunk road at Thorney Toll; remove toll house beside bridge – photo feature 31 05 22g ES* # c.44.75

1931 05 29
Cambridge professors were amongst scientists who made a film at Spicers of Sawston and less than four hours afterwards saw themselves in natural colours on the screen. Experiments in colour have been going on for two years. At present efforts are being concentrated on motion-picture film. One of the difficulties has been the provision for a sound track but this has been surmounted and talking colour films will be made. Sawston may become a complete film colony rivalling Elstree in importance. 31 05 29a

Severe flooding in the Earith district meant that the Seven Holes sluice gates had to be opened and 5,000 acres of grass land spoiled. It was a serious matter to those who occupied the Washes that their grass should be ruined by water from the uplands – who paid nothing. The engineer could have opened the Hermitage Sluice instead since water in the Old West River was very low. 31 05 29 e f

Mr Harry Semark, of Willingham still constructs the old-fashioned straw hives which are universally condemned by modern beekeepers and now seldom seen even in the 'backward' villages. Yet he exports them to America and the remote Antipodes. In a recent book there is a photograph of a lorry stacked sky-high with Willingham skeps. It is a coiled straw basket, woven by hand with strips of osier. The basket can be moulded to any shape, straw in his hands is like clay to the potter. 31 05 29g

Last fair on Midsummer Common? – photo – 31 05 29b
Territorial machine gunners on new range, Barton Road – photo – 31 05 29c
Public baptism, Isleham – 19 immersed – photo – 31 05 29d

June 1931 CWN & ES

1931 06 05
The opening meet of the Eastern Counties Otter Hounds took place at Hauxton Mill where a good dog otter was put down at Lutton Osiers. After hunting him up and down streams as far as Haslingfield for three hours he had to be given up, bad scent and too much water making hunting most difficult, and everyone was soaked to the skin by the downpour. While the miller's wife was admiring the hounds from her front door, some of them walked into her dining room and mopped up a nice leg of mutton. 31 06 05 & a

Miss Borne, the greatly respected and loved Matron of 'Papworth' belongs to the rapidly decreasing band of women who, in their early youth, were convinced they had a vocation, and in spite of opposition have managed to reach their goal. In 1914 she was appointed as Cambridgeshire Tuberculosis Health Visitor and when Dr Varrier Jones began to put his theories into practice she was invited to join him. She went to Bourn as matron of the six-roomed cottage in which the great work came into being. In February 1918 the 15 patients were removed to Papworth Hall. Last week there were 338 under treatment. 31 06 05b

Lode Labour Party was formed in December 1924 with 16 members – it now has 120 - and members were levied one penny per week to pay for a Hall. Building started in April and is now windowsill high, the work is being done voluntarily and is expected to be completed by October. It would provide for the social and educational recreation of the village and be a home where children could hear the message of Socialism truly preached. 31 06 05c

A prominent figure in University and military circles is removed by the death of Col Charles Heycock, Goldsmith's Reader in Metallurgy; on his retirement the Goldsmiths' Company increased the endowment of the Laboratory in recognition of his services. He attended the Perse School and was the first honorary member of the Cambridge Rotary Club. When Kitchener's Army was formed he commanded the Cambridgeshire Battalion from its nucleus at the Corn Exchange, to the County and Melbourne Place schools before retiring in 1916. 31 06 05d & e

Those Knighted in the Birthday Honours include County Councillor W.C. Dampier-Whetham who played a great part in the development of the Rural Community Council & Dr P.C. Varrier-Jones, founder of Papworth tuberculosis hospital. It started with one patient in a Cambridgeshire garden and has now grown to the largest Village Settlement in the world. Another, Montagu Burton, is not a Cambridge man but endowed the University Professorship of Industrial Relations. 31 06 05f

In all proposals affecting change to local government, the sewerage problem looms large. Cambridge is provided with a sewage scheme which appears to be adequate and the sewage farm produces a satisfactory effluent. They could cope with Chesterton and Cherry Hinton but if the town boundaries were expanded to take in Histon and Impington it would cause problems. 31 06 05 h i

Farmers forgot their troubles and flocked to the annual Agricultural Show at Manor Park, Chatteris. Special trains, buses and private cars brought over 6,000 visitors and over 500 cars were parked in an adjoining meadow. In spite of the motor tractor the horse is by no means a back number in farming work and there were 78 entries in the Shire horse classes though Percherons and Suffolks showed an unexpected falling off. 31 06 05j

The Mayor of Cambridge formally opened the new paddling pool on Sheeps Green. It was the result of the Corporation's scheme of work for the unemployed with a £12,000 Government grant. As it has already been 'patronised' by the youngsters for some time now, no great ceremony was observed beyond that of letting with water in again. It is now open to old and young to paddle, but he declined the invitation to do so. 31 06 05k

D.R. Hardman resigns as Labour party candidate – 31 06 05d
Death Col Charles Thomas Heycock, Goldsmiths reader – 31 06 05d

1931 06 05 ES
Isle Education Committee: progress with new schools; includes Parson Drove, Fridaybridge – 31 06 05(2) ES

Lt Thetford death Dorothy Kisby, Rose Cottage – 31 06 05 ES

1931 06 12
Despite heavy and prolonged rain the Conservative's fete held in the grounds of Mr Harold Gray's home on the Gog Magog Hill still attracted 9,000 people. An open-air concert had to be abandoned and the gymkhana was discontinued owing to the slippery state of the ground, otherwise everything went off according to arrangements. The open-air dancing was enjoyed and, thanks to the efforts of the operator in keeping them dry, the fireworks were a great success. 31 06 12a

It was a very gentle earthquake in Cambridge: suddenly in the silence of a calm and tranquil night there came a mysterious, slow, oscillatory motion, quickening and increasing in intensity. It seemed as if a giant hand had seized the bed and was shaking it, gently but with irresistible might. A washstand was overturned at Comberton but houses were rocked at Ely where some of the foundations were heard to crack. At St Ives people sought refuge on the Market Hill and could not be induced to return to bed. 31 06 12c & d & e

A Cambridge motor firm – W.E. Harding of Seven Sisters garage, Newmarket Road – has been barred from trading with undergraduates by the Vice Chancellor. Under university rules tradesmen must notify tutors by the end of term of any debt exceeding £5 incurred by an undergraduate. But Mr Harding had not been told this. Only two other such notices have appeared within living memory. Now any student having any dealings with the firm may be suspended or rusticated. 31 06 12b

Evidence of the serious situation developing in Suffolk and Essex in regard to payment of tithe was forthcoming at a sale of seized goods at Stoke-by-Clare. About 500 tithepayers attended the sale and the auction realised ridiculously low prices: horses went for 10d 6d while binders and lorries only made 2s. The sale was carried on amid incessant bantering and when a certain figure was reached for each article a general cry of 'No more' went up. The total sum realised was £5 11s as against the demand for over £112. 31 06 12 g-h

Huntingdon councillors agreed to purchase four acres of land at Ambury Hill for a new housing scheme, at £160 per acre. Their intention is to clear the slum areas and give people better houses to live in. They went ahead despite warnings that the total indebtedness of Huntingdon had increased by over £70,000 since 1915. They had been told there were 90 families on the waiting list, but could only find 45; there were only three men who wanted to get married and wanted homes. But even if the land was set out as a playground for children it would do no harm and there would be little expense. 31 06 12i

A baker told the bankruptcy court that he started at Harston in 1928 and made a living the first year. He bought a motor cycle combination hoping to increase his business but it broke down. Two other bakers had been canvassed from Cambridge so he took premises in Burleigh Street. There were five other bakers within 100 yards and he hoped to make a 'do' against them. But what with rent, wages and bus fares from Harston he became insolvent. 31 06 12j

The new road under construction between Milton and Histon Roads provides some exceptionally attractive sites for those wishing to erect a private house. It has much to recommend it as Chesterton is a very popular district but most of the available land within a reasonable distance of town has already been taken up. The plots are for the erection of private dwellings only and no bungalows or inadequate houses can be erected. 31 06 12k

The complete reconstruction of the Cambridge Town Football Club is underway and when supporters pay their money at the gate next season they will be confronted with an entirely new sight. The old stand has been demolished and the network of frames for the new one seating 800 people erected together with a new pavilion. There will also be a full-sized Cumberland turf green for the Chesterton Bowling Club. 31 06 12l

Mrs Keynes elected first woman alderman – 31 06 12aa
Cambridgeshire speedway advertisement – 31 06 12s

1931 06 12 ES
Earthquake, little damage – Littleport, Prickwillow, March – houses shook, a few loosened chimney pots, Chatteris, Ely, Downham, Burnt Fen, Wisbech, Manea – 31 06 12(3)(6) ES # c.12

More houses for Stretham? Parish council discuss diverting drainage from three premises from the brick culvert under the main road which discharges into the pond; might fill in pond. Letters on whether further need of Council houses – would be at a much cheaper rent than those at present. Parish council did not know whether there were a demand for houses. They might agree proving they could be let at a rent that agricultural labourers could pay; suggest three pairs of houses. Complaints on way water mains were being laid, causing much inconvenience. Consider filling in pond in the cricket field – 31 06 12(4) ES

Stretham raises over £87 for Addenbrooke's Hospital – 31 06 12(5) ES

1931 06 19
One of Cottenham's old houses overlooking the Green was entirely destroyed by fire. It was occupied by Mr & Mrs Thoday, who carried on a small general shop as part of their home, and was built of wood and plaster walls with a thatched roof covered with galvanised iron. Local firemen managed to fix up a hose on the water main but the pressure was feeble so water was pumped from Horace Gautrey's pond. They had to pull off the roof and demolish the walls to get at the seat of the fire. Ropes were attached to the roof corners and it was pulled off with a crash but the house was finally reduced to a smouldering wreck. 31 06 19a

An aerobatist was killed at the University air pageant. He was flying an Avro, looping the loop, rolling and spiral diving when the machine appeared to break and crashed to the earth. Mr Honour, ground engineer at Marshall's Flying School, said that tools were kept at the aerodrome for extricating pilots but some delay was caused as the machine was made of metal, not wood. He obtained a hacksaw to cut part of the wreckage and within 20 minutes the pilot was taken to Hospital, terribly injured. 31 06 19b

Two men who had lived together and then parted through a quarrel are the central figures in a tragedy. One is a painter and decorator of Swiss nationality who now lies in Huntingdon hospital in a serious condition as the result of a gunshot wound in the left side. The other, a general decorator, is dead: he shot himself when police tried to enter the window of his house at Brampton. 31 06 19f g h

Midsummer Fair counterblast – rival show near Barnwell junction – 31 06 19c & d & e

Death Canon H.P. Stokes – 31 06 19 I

1931 06 19 ES
Aeroplane crashed at Cambridge University May Week air pageant; pilots killed – 31 06 19(2) ES # c.26.1

1931 06 26
It will be recorded in the annals of the county that in the year 1931 people who were then living at Kingston had laid themselves out to accomplish a great work of restoration of their church and carried it through to a successful conclusion. 13th-century frescoes have been restored and new clergy and choir stalls made and fixed by Benjamin Hardy of Bourn, beautiful examples of the craftsman's art in English oak. 31 06 26a

Plans for children to be accommodated at St Neots Poor Law Institution were rejected by the Government who say children should not be placed in an institution intended for the sick and invalid poor. But the Guardians cannot afford to procure another home for them. At Huntingdon the present children's quarters and old laundry could be adopted to take 50 tramps on the separate cell system. 31 06 26c

1931 06 26 ES
Such has been the progress of the Ely Standard in recent years that the need for improved editorial and advertisement officers have been apparent. The old offices and Lynn Road have been inadequate. At the new up-to-date premises in Market Street, Ely modern architecture has resulted in the creation of a set of offices with residential quarters which have been admired by all who have seen them. Care was exercised to see they were in harmony with the properties already erected. The general office is fitted with a mahogany counter giving a pleasing effect while in each office is a fireplace.. Now the Standard is housed in a way that will enable them to conduct editorial advertisement business under conditions which must attend a measure of comfort. Market Street is on market day the centre in which motor omnibuses from all parts and district sit down and pick up their passengers making it easier to transact business with the paper. 31 06 26(2) ES # c.04

Storm wreaks havoc at Ely: houses struck by lightning – 31 06 26 ES

July 1931 CWN & ES

1931 07 03
The last vans, trains of tractors and heavy wagons have made their way from the Showman's Guild fair ground, Newmarket Road, bearing the dismantled remains of the devices which have thrilled thousands during the week. The Guild have eliminated the undesirables and shown Cambridge that travelling folk are as sober and industrious as the rest. Midsummer Common was more central but the only complaints were about the bus fares to the ground. 31 07 03a

Sir – may I draw attention to the deplorable state of the pavilion in Cottenham 'playground'. It is intended for the accommodation of cricketers but is scarcely fit for the cows which have been making use of it. Players have to pack their clothes on the grass and it is unbelievable that a village of 2,500 should have such a wretched pavilion – 'Disgusted Cottenhamite'. 31 07 03b

Latest figures show that about half of the cows in England are suffering from tuberculosis. Probably more than 1,000 children die from infection from milk and many more are maimed for life. We suffered an annual wastage of many human lives with grave financial losses to the farmers, Prof. Buxton of Cambridge School of Agriculture told a conference. 31 07 03c & d

1931 07 03 ES
Stretham: death J.H. Savidge … one of highly respected and popular inhabitants, 74. Had for many years carried on a bakery business. Was the last of the line of the Charles family, which was one of the oldest and best-known Stretham families. – 31 07 03(3) ES

Stretham football club successful season; to apply for election Cambs League Division III- 31 07 03 ES

1931 07 10
Huntingdon council are still experiencing difficulties in their plans to replace slum houses with modern dwellings: can they obtain the ground, would old people be prepared to vacate old houses for more suitable ones and would they be able to pay the rent. How could they rent new houses at five shillings a week all-inclusive when the old ones were more? The whole things turned upon figures and they did not quite know what the figures were. 31 07 10b

The amount of land in Cambridge suitable for building was extremely limited and the cost was being driven up because of its scarcity. The urban population was spilling over into Histon and Impington which were being used as Cambridge bedrooms. But these were separated by a belt of orchard country and, more importantly, drained away from Cambridge. So the town council have decided not to expand into that area. 31 07 10c & d

The annual Histon Feast Sunday parade was most disappointing, very few members of the friendly societies put in an appearance and there were no decorated vans or wagons. The Cottenham and Histon Salvation Army Bands stopped en route to play selections and there was a large crowd on the village green for the open-air meeting and the sacred promenade concert in the evening. 31 07 10a

We have to record the death Longstowe blacksmith, James Huckle, after three months illness. Deceased came to the village 30 years ago as smith with the late Mr Jacobs and carried on the business after the death of his employer. The funeral service at the church was choral and a large number of beautiful floral tributes were received. The coffin bore the inscription 'James Ernest Huckle, died June 27th 1931, aged 53 years'. Messrs King of Caxton carried out the funeral arrangements. 31 07 10b

1931 07 10 ES
A.W. Orbell, March musician had one of his compositions published by a London music publisher, featured by well-known singer at Central Pier, Blackpool – 31 07 10(2) ES

1931 07 17
In spite of the rain the Peckover Van and Wise Spending Exhibition attracted a large crowd to Waterbeach village green. The exhibits included some anatomical specimens showing the injury which alcohol drinking could course. The children were also attracted by a grass snake, caught on the Histon Road, and preserved in alcohol. Twenty-four children signed the Torchbearer's pledge. 31 07 17a

An undergraduate rag in celebration of examination success let to two young army officers appearing in court charged with the theft of coloured lenses and other fittings belonging to traffic lights on the corner of Lensfield Road. They were of no conceivable value except as a trophy. One was the son of a distinguished soldier in the Coldstream Guards killed at Arras during the war. If convicted it would have a grave effect on his army career. The case was dismissed. 31 07 17b & c

The discovery of the body of an unknown man in a ditch at Benwick has provided that rural locality with a first-class sensation. It was in a very advanced state of decomposition, reposed in an ordinary sleeping position, and all the unclothed or exposed parts had been completely eaten away by rats. It was not unusual to see tramps sleeping in that way, in fact there were scores of them. 31 07 17d

A Cambridge women resident in Salmon Lane, off Fair Street, told the court she went out for a bottle of stout when another punched her in the mouth and tore the sleeve of her dress. "I have had to endure this life for two years", she said. "Each time I go out of my house I'm insulted because I'm a respectable married woman & won't mix with them". She denied that she'd hit her husband and cut his head open or that her baby kept neighbours awake with its crying. 31 07 17e

The question of cricket on Lammas Land, Newnham produced a spirited debate: old ladies crossing the grass might be hit with the hard cricket ball. The Commons Committee is going through a spasm of kill-joy spirit: boys played on the streets but as soon as they went to open space they were told they must not do so. Perhaps a soft ball could be used – or a golf ball. Newnham Institute sought permission for a cricket pitch, but this would turn it into a second Parker's Piece. 31 07 17f & g

A wireless broadcast relay service may be installed in Cambridge. Rediffusion wish to place wires over the streets and would pay the Corporation £250 per annum for the first 1,000 subscribers. The charge would be 1s 6d a week, plus sixpence for a loud speaker and ten shillings for the Post Office wireless licence. But the service was limited to one programme and was nothing like as good as having a set of your own. 31 07 17f

After a lapse of 35 years an old custom was revived at Burwell. The University holds the position of Lay Rector of the parish and the Vice-Chancellor used to visit the church annually. This year he was attended by the Esquire Bedells, and the Marshall with their silver maces. On arrival at church he put on his scarlet cope of office before following the choir into the chancel. After the service they took lunch at the vicarage. 31 07 17h

Marshall's Aerodrome was visited by a party of continental airmen when ten planes, including two containing young ladies, flew in from Heston Aerodrome. After tea and a chat they left by motor coach for a hurried tour of the colleges before flying out again. It is the first time any private French and Belgian pilots have paid an organised visit to England. 31 07 17I

Fire completely destroyed the Rendezvous Cinema and Dance Hall at Magrath Avenue, Cambridge. The only part left standing is the fireproof operating box, which is really a separate structure. Staff removed 12,000 feet of film which, if reached by the flames, might have caused a serious explosion. The most spacious dance floor in the Eastern Counties was reduced to charred bits of wood. Renovations and improvements to the dance hall lounges were nearing completion and were to be opened as a special attraction. 31 07 17j & k

The Isle of Ely NFU protested against the decision to fix the 1931 harvest wages at the same rate as last year: the cost of living had fallen, placing workers in a more favourable position but there had been a serious drop in the prices of agricultural products. The Manager at Chatteris station said the goods yard at the station and at Billups' Sidings would be improved following assurances that more traffic would be diverted from road transport to compensate for the outlay. 31 07 17l

1931 07 17 ES
The extensive works of bridge reconstruction undertaken by the Isle of Ely County council in recent years form the subject of a special double number of Ferrro-Concrete which is devoted to construction in reinforced concrete. It reveals how thoroughly the Isle of Ely has tackled the problem of its inadequate bridges and provides a comprehensive record of the important scheme, which the County council have so far carried out in spanning the many rivers the district with bridges equal for the requirements of modern traffic. After charting the history and development of the area it points out the network of waterways that have involved a construction of it an exceptionally large number of bridges. And while these structures were all ample strength and width of for the traffic at the time they were erected they were totally inadequate for present day heavy mechanically propelled vehicles. So the Council have in arrangement with the Ministry of transport undertaken the work of rebuilding the bridges as necessity arises. In addition to County bridges, which are inadequate for modern traffic, there are upwards of 300 bridges and culverts for which various Drainage Commissioners are responsible. It is probable that these will devolve upon the County Council as the owners do not admit liability for maintaining bridges to a standard higher than that of which previously prevailed. Each of the bridge schemes another important road works is described and the notes are extensively illustrated with photographs & drawings. The sections on the North Level include a description of the Peterborough-Wisbech trunk, Guy hirn and Thorney Toll Bridges. Others schemes include the Mepal bridge and viaduct over the Wash, The Dog in a Doublet, Ponders Bridge. Angle Bridge, Boots' Bridge, Twentypence Bridge, Stretham Ferry Bridge and the bridge at Queen Adelaide. 31 07 17(2)ES

Littleport cottages between Bull Dog Bridge and Mile End Road destroyed by fire – 31 07 17(2) ES

Ely cattle off to Russia – photo at Ely Railway goods yard – 31 07 17(4) ES

1931 07 24
A unique performance has been accomplished by Jack Overhill of Trumpington who, although only three years of age, has mastered the art of swimming. The tiny record breaker is also the youngest member of the Cambridge Amateur Swimming Club. He has been a real 'water baby' since his first introduction to the river at the age of one year and nine months. Since May he has been in the river twice daily, even during cold spells. 31 07 24a

Reliance Coach Services of Cottenham had three coaches and had contracted to purchase another vehicle for £1,500. They operated services from Cambridge to Cottenham and Willingham; their buses ran five minutes before Ortona's but usually they waited for the Ortona drivers to start up and then got away faster in their smaller vehicle. Now they planned a new service from Haddenham via the Twentypence Bridge. 31 07 24b & c

The butler at Kneesworth Hall, the residence of Lord Knutsford, chairman of the London Hospital, said he had secured all the doors and windows but next morning he found a window had been broken. Clothing had been disturbed and a number of dresses were lying on the floor. Five ladies coats, three fur stoles, two cameras and a chiming watch were missing. 31 07 24d-e

Shire Hall demolition picture – 31 07 24f

1931 07 24 ES
Newmarket RDC: … really disgraceful state of Barway Bridge, but who owned it? As soon as the bridge was built the Council took it over and did work there. They would not have do that if it was not their property. Soon after it was done – it had a concrete course on the top – Mr Palmer complained and his overseers gave instructions for it to be picked off and it was done. The Council would not do that on a new bridge if it did not belong to them. Could they prove that it did not belong to them? The Chairman: you say the old Surveyor did it, but we tried to find out if that was so and we have not found that any Highway Authority has repaired the bridge. Unfortunately Mr Clarke's books were destroyed, but they did prove that it had been done by the old Surveyor. It was a disgrace that it should be left unattended. Why would they not instruct their Surveyor to put on a few stones? It was going to rack and ruin and something would have to be done by someone. People living there had to pay rates and should command some attention – 31 07 24(2)(3) ES

Stretham Wesleyan fete for rebuilding of schoolroom – 31 07 24(4) ES

New egg testing and grading industry established at Littleport by Gotobed & Sons – photo 31 07 24 & (5) ES

Wilburton death G.T. Seppings – 31 07 24(5) ES

1931 07 31
A serious accident occurred during a performance by Capt. Barnard's aerial circus at Port Holme, Huntingdon following a passenger flight. A young woman had just been up for a trip and, on alighting, walked around the wings into the revolving propeller. The blade struck her left shoulder, smashing the bone. It was not revolving at great speed, otherwise she would have been killed outright. The force of the blow stopped the propeller instantly. Despite the mishap the programme of aeronautics continued and the passenger flights proved very popular. 31 07 31a

The last of the Cambridge silent cinemas is to turn 'talkie'. The Western Electric system is to be installed at the Kinema and the first sound film to be presented will be "Song o' my Heart" starring John McCormack. With the new system the Kinema will be open continuously from 2.30 till 10.30. 31 07 31b

Earlier the wheat, barley and oats promised well but owing to the recent wet weather and lack of sunshine are not now so satisfactory. Potatoes and roots are good, though there is danger of disease. There has been an abundant crop of hay but it is practically unsaleable. It has been about the worst year farmers have had: crops are unsaleable at anything like the cost of production, "we shall have to live on hope, which will not fatten us", one said. 31 07 31c

August 1931 CWN & ES

1931 08 07
Caxton dirt track racing photo – 31 08 07b
Kneesworth burglary, p6
Leach accident, p9*
Volunteers, p12*

1931 08 07 ES

In the Urban District Council new offices, dismantling the roof of the fire station in mill road where the new structure is to stand. Will provide Ely with a modern centralised home for its officials full stop the ground floor will be used as at present for the fire station with the addition of the rent collectors office photo 31 08 07 & (1) ES

Littleport branch of the junior imperial league tennis club new pavilion opened 31 08 07(2)ES

Coveney Wesleyan chapel reopening ceremony after renovation 31 98 07(3)ES

Bankruptcy of Edward Lawrence Pocock recently trading as a baker, grocer and confectioner at Histon and formerly at Manea 31 08 07(4)ES

1931 08 14
Prickwillow lighting, p3*
St Ives staunch, p9*
Stonea station, p8
Banham boathouse, p12*

1931 08 14 ES
Ponds Bridge Whittlesea nearing completion. During the past folur years it has showing signs of weakness under the very heavy traffic necessitating restrictions being placed on the weights of vehicles. The new bridge is of reinforced concrete. The old and narrow iron structure was steep and difficult of approach. The steepness has been reduced by an extra width of the waterway. Photograph 31 08 14 ES

Proposal to start a cardboard factory, a new industry, at Littleport 31 08 14(2)ES

1931 08 21
A.J. Willmott of Royston has retired after serving 42 years with the Post Office. He used to travel for many years between Bassingbourn and Guilden Morden, driving a horse and cart, but lost his heart to a Royston lady and had been there ever since. He did his duties in a praiseworthy manner and always carried a smiling face. But he had not enjoyed good health and was moving to Westcliff into a house electrically fitted; he was presented with an electric kettle and a reading lamp by his colleagues. 31 08 21a

Chesterton RDC approved a proposal to purchase the New Cottenham Gas and Waterworks Company for £4,500. As the original valuation had been fixed at £5,000 they had reached a fairly good bargain. Now the gas works will be conveyed to the University and Town Gas Light Company for £500. 31 08 21b

The parishes of Histon and Impington will vote on proposals for an extended Borough of Cambridge taking in the rural district within a three-mile radius. There was little desire on the part of rural residents to come into the Borough, there was no real community or interest between them. Cambridge would really be a little county with a population greater than Huntingdonshire. But what was left of Chesterton RDC would be unable to function and the administration of the rest of the county would be extremely difficult. 31 08 21c

A farmer from Hillrow, Haddenham was summonsed for failing to pay wages in accordance with the Agricultural Wages Regulation Act, 1924. It said 30 shillings should be pay for every 48 hours in winter and 50 in summer, while ninepence should be paid for every hour worked on Saturday in excess of 5 ½. He was recognised as a good employer, his men had not worked their full hours during the week and were paid overtime for Saturday work to make up the time lost. It was a technical offence and no fine was imposed. 31 08 21d

A heavy, gusty wind and driving rain greeted Captain C.D. Barnard and his famous monoplane, the Spider, when he visited Cambridge. But when it abated a number of people took trips knowing they would be dry in the plane. 20 readers of the CDN had been given free tickets for a ten-minute flight and enjoyed the experience; one young lady laughingly remarked she felt ‘a bit funny’ coming down. 31 08 21e

There is no telephone at the Haverhill Isolation Hospital: was it right that in case of urgency in the middle of the night that the caretaker should be expected to go 150 yards down a lane to ask a man to phone for a doctor. For the sake of £8 a year they should have one put in. But they should not be rushed: the system had worked well in the past. 31 08 21f

Sir – Cambridge shop assistants have no civility or smiles, just ‘take it or leave it’ style, not to mention high prices. The police are inadequate and inefficient – fancy a town of this size being left in the keep of what seems to be a small band of schoolboys. The bus fares are too high and as for the cinemas: what trash we poor people have to pay high prices to see. And who would expect to find such a lot of ignorant, grasping, unintelligent people as live here. By now I think you know I do not like Cambridge – ‘A disgusted native’ 31 08 21h & i, j

Sir – what prospects are there here for a healthy, ambitious man anxious to get on. The colleges are nice to look at but not much use in finding employment for men with growing families to clothe. The nearest factory is Chivers and when one sees the cleanliness of Histon and signs of prosperity and happiness of the villagers one marvels at how anyone who has to work for their daily bread can like Cambridge where the majority of local men are underpaid and discontented – 'King without a castle'. 31 08 21k

Huntingdon Public Assistance Committee wants to convert part of the St Neots workhouse to accommodate poor-law children. But the Ministry says they should be taken away from the atmosphere of a union and brought up outside and has ordered the removal of all children over the age of three. There were eight in the county, one of whom was an imbecile. They should buy two cottages for them – the Ministry might rave but the Government was a queer lot of people and not likely to last very long. 31 08 21l & m

Considerable damage was done to the foreman's house on Mr Cowell's farm at Great Abington. A ball of fire struck a steeple and passed on to the house, where it completely wrecked the chimney. It also hit a stable where the horse-keeper suffered so badly from shock that he was obliged to go home. A gardener said he had never seen anything like it in his life. Mr Cowell had his farm struck last November, when much more serious damage was done. 31 08 21 m & n

1931 08 28
Sir – I have just visited Saffron Walden; its one cinema is perhaps not up to par, but shopping prices are reasonable; the buses do not monopolise the streets or their passengers the pavements. The Sunday there is no more deadly than of Cambridge, prams do not form fours across the path and a three-halfpenny stamp may be bought at the Post Office in a friendly and courteous atmosphere. If I had to migrate, I would go there – R.N. 31 08 28g

The new Victoria Cinema on Market Hill, Cambridge opens today. The auditorium is an example of complete harmony between the architect and the decorative painter. No architectural enrichment is applied to the walls, which remain for the most part in darkness, but when the space is filled with light a gorgeous flow of rich colours rises like waves from the back of the house to reach a climax in the rich proscenium curtain of crimson and gold. 31 08 28h

Cambridge station, p6*
Coach accident, p9*
Wireless starts, p9*
Tragedies, p10
New Square photo, p12*

1931 08 28 ES
Air pageant at Horsey Toll, Whittlesea, stunt flying from Wittering, combat race between three machines around the brickyard chimneys and Peterborough gasworks 31 08 28ES # c.26.1

Stretham farmer George Russell Driver left estate of £7,267; left two cottages at Green End to his niece Phyllis Driver and the residue to his brother Robert 31 08 28(2)ES

Death of Joseph Pikett, foreman at stud farm Witchford to the late Mr Beldam; to Stretham 18 months ago where he purchased a grocery business at Chapel Square. Unfortunately he did not enjoy good health 31 08 28(4)

September 1931 CWN & ES

1931 09 04

Cambridge's new Victoria Cinema possesses a theatre organ of the most modern type, a three manual Christie built by Messrs William Hill and Norman and Beard who have been responsible for many of the finest cinema organs in the world. It is placed on one side of the proscenium in two specially constructed chambers which house 2,000 wooden and metal pipes each of which has been 'voiced' by an expert. In the centre of the orchestra pit, placed on an electric lift, is the beautifully decorated console from which the entire organ is controlled. 31 09 04c

The parishes of Houghton and Wyton will not be united at the present time. The value of the living of Wyton was wrongly returned at £145 (instead of £565) and it seemed unfair that an incumbent should be expected to accept so small a stipend. But an inquiry found the actual stipend was as large as the majority of small country parishes. Had they been given the correct figures in the first place much inconvenience and recriminations would have been avoided. 31 09 04d

Inquiries by the News confirm that the Central Cinema in Hobson Street is perfectly sound, despite rumours to the contrary. As part of the building is over the old King's Ditch, special attention was paid to the concrete foundations and reinforced with steel. The balcony, designed to carry 500 people, will take 2,000. The whole building is as sound today as it was when completed nearly 12 months ago. The only possible work is the renewal of some of the decorations as these were applied to wet plaster. 31 09 04e

Cambridge Town Football Club's £4,000 stand was officially opened by the Mayor as Milton Road took on again its usual Saturday afternoon activity. In the centre of the pitch the Railway Band played crowds into the new stand and the lily badges of the Town Supporters' Club were well to the fore. The new dressing rooms were not in use and players used the old pavilion. Cambridge won 4-3. 31 09 04f

Market day at St Ives was the worst experience for many years owing to foot and mouth disease restrictions. Tradespeople particularly felt the pinch. Ordinarily the market would have opened at midnight on Sunday but a few hours before the Spaldwick outbreak was reported and that meant no cattle could be allowed to enter the auction. 31 09 04g

When Philip Byatt arrived at Rectory Farm, Gt Chishill, on Saturday morning he found the whole of the mantlepiece and top of the range in the kitchen well alight. He raised the household and with the aid of some farm hands soon got the blaze under control. The oak beam, about a foot thick, had been smouldering for some days as more than a yard had to be cut away. The old fashioned chimney behind had once formed part of an earlier structure around which the more modern farmhouse had been erected. 31 09 04h

Haddenham has lost another aged inhabitant by the death of George Russell who passed away at his home at Hillrow at the advanced age of 86 years. When a young man he went to Sydenham as a grocer's assistant but returned nearly 50 years ago and took the little grocer's shop. Since his wife's death several years ago he has lived with his daughter, Miss Dora Russell, who has recently carried on the business. 31 09 04I

1931 09 04 ES
Soham woman Hazel Lyon is first woman in Cambridgeshire to take an air pilot's licence. 31 09 04ES # c.26.1

1931 09 11

Mr A. Graham de Courcy-Ireland, son of the vicar of Abington Pigotts, has lost his life in India. An elephant found destroying crops in the Shambas near Babati Government Station was wounded and ran through the compound in a state of alarm to the thick bush. Later it was heard trumpeting with rage and nearby was found Mr de Courcy-Ireland's body. It is assumed the elephant attacked him before he had time to fire more shot. 31 09 11a

Many will mourn the loss of Miss Katharine Wilson, creator of the Chesterton Preparatory School. She had an amazing power of understanding children so that the most difficult little people became happy and tractable. Boys and girls of whatever nationality, whether Italian, Russian, American, Estonian or English, from toddlers to twelve years old, all found themselves equally at home and grew into resourceful little citizens. 31 09 11b

Great interest has been excited at Ely by the arrival of a cormorant which has been perching on the western tower of the Cathedral. Through powerful glasses, it appears a fine specimen, with long hooked beak, white breast and short fine legs. During the day has been missing from its position, evidently in search of food, but each night it has returned. It is about four years since such a bird last visited Ely and selected the Cathedral as its nightly resting place. 31 09 11a

Toft flooding pic, p12
Longstanton, p12*

1931 09 11 ES
Sir Frederick Hiam and land prices. Started life as a farm labourer and is now a potato king and one of the largest landowners in East Anglia, buys more and more land and now owns 20000 acres much of which he farms on a prairie system of his own. Can by land at £3-£5 an acre which in 1919 was worth £20 to £40 an acre. He disputes the claim that he was a farm labourer. His father farmed about 500 acres of land and he started business on his own in Stratford Market, London. Inaccurate to say he owns 20,000 acres it is about 12,000 acres. "I have not made any purchases of land for two or three years. Owing to the very great slump in agriculture prices of land have come down considerably but really first class fruit land cannot be bought under £40 an acre. As for prairie farming, all my land is intensively cultivated with the exception of land put down to grass for horses and cattle. Cereals including wheat must be grown extensively to provide straw for use in making manure for the root crops. Anything in the nature of prairie farming does not exist in this part of the country 31 09 11(2)ES

1931 09 18
The Sanitary Inspector said he went to Boxworth to investigate an anonymous letter about the water supply. He visited several houses and the people were complaining bitterly. The local policeman fetched a bucket of water, and it was positively appalling. "You can't stand the smell of it, let alone drink it", he said. It was hardly necessary to send it away for analysis. There was a pond on the green and the water was supposed to be filtered to the well. 31 09 18

A big fire destroyed four cottages beside the Chequers Inn off High Street, Cherry Hinton. They were of lath and plaster and thatch and blazed fiercely, though the fire brigade were summoned they were unable to do more than keep the fire from spreading. Only one of the cottages, which were owned by Mr Smith, a baker, and were the subject of closing orders, was occupied. The village turned out in large numbers and neighbours managed to get most of the furniture from the ground floor. 31 09 18c (photo 31 09 18f)

Despite the fact that the outside world is pessimistically inclined, the inhabitants of Caldecote are convinced that there's a 'good time coming' and are combining in an effort to build themselves a village hall. Caldecote do not do things by halves: they mean to have the best hall in the vicinity and are prepared to pay something like £450 for it to make the village more attractive for its youth. 31 09 18d; (photo 31 09 18e)

An International Illuminations Congress opened at Cambridge Guildhall. The Mayor said there had been no proposals to floodlight the front of the building – it is not of the finest. But the front of the Dorothy Restaurant and the Fitzwilliam Museum were lit. Floodlights might be used in recreation grounds to allow sport at night and people with nice gardens might like to enjoy their beauty under new conditions. 31 09 18g

The quiet village of Rampton received a surprise visit of the Church Association 'Dolby Van' with their missioner, Mr F. Wood. He parked his van on the village green and held a Protestant meeting, addressing a large gathering on 'The movement towards Rome'. In his 40-minute address he exposed many of the practices which are indulged in by some members of the clergy and distributed a large amount of literature before leaving. 31 09 18I

A fruit and vegetable canning factory may be established at Sandy on a site purchased by public subscription. British Canners say they are getting applications from all over the country to build factories: are local farmers organised to keep a factory going – it is surprising the amount of fruit and garden produce they get through. 31 09 18h

1931 09 25
There was a sensation at the Agricultural Wages Committee when no farmer representatives attended the meeting at which the wage is fixed for next year. They say the neglect and dilapidated state of agricultural land must be obvious to all, due mainly to the shortening of the hours and uneconomic wages which they are compelled to pay. But farmworkers' children suffer from malnutrition and the present minimum wage of 30 shillings (£1.50) should not be lowered. 31 09 25a &

Dr A.C. Haddon celebrated his golden wedding. He married Miss Fanny Rose at the Bunyan Meeting, Bedford in 1881. He was appointed University Lecturer in Ethnology in 1900 and next year published a book 'Head Hunters, Black, White and Brown' based on an expedition to Sarawaka. He has been President of the Royal Anthropological Institute, the Cambridge Antiquarian and the Folk-Lore Societies. 31 09 25c

A cormorant, presumably the same bird which created something of a sensation when it perched on the tower of Ely cathedral, has been seen at Cambridge. For several nights it has come at dusk to one of the chimneys of the Saxon Cement Works, Coldham's Lane, and aroused great curiosity in the neighbourhood. It leaves its perch in the early morning and is not seen during the day, returning at night. 31 09 25

Jane Bultitaft of Ely, 94, still works at the sewing machine she acquired 74 years ago. It is an American machine of the lockstitch type and was the first that came to Ely. When it arrived it was in parts and she had to put it together. In those days a machine that could sew was something very wonderful and dozens of people came to see it. In spite its constant use it is little the worse for wear and still performs its duties at the command of its mistress. 31 09 25i

The biggest demonstration ever held of anti-dazzle devices for motor car headlights was held on Midsummer Common. The crowds were dense, however, in more senses than one: drivers had to pick out a route marked with white stakes but these were constantly obstructed and some got completely misled and finished up on the south side of the common. Amongst those attending were Ministry of Transport and Scotland Yard officials, chief constables and scientific experts who carried out technical measurements. 31 09 25f & g

Over 350 acres of land on the immediate outskirts of Royston, together with numerous cottages were offered for sale. The auctioneer said, "In a few years' time many people will be wondering why they did not buy land at the bargain prices it can be purchased today". But none of the lots reached their reserve: Flint Hall Farm with 195 acres was withdrawn at £1,750, Grange Farm with 131 acres at £1,200 at Northfield Cottage, 28 Melbourn Road failed to reach £300. 31 09 25e

Cottenham Old Meeting Baptist Church celebrated the 150th anniversary of its opening on 28th September 1781. Joseph Oddy, the 'father' of local nonconformity, went to live there in 1672 and gathered a congregation of men and women. Later Anne Rennew wrote 'sacred poems', (the first hymns to be sung in the old St Andrew's Street Meeting House), which she used to 'walk over to Cambridge with, to one Leonard Haggis, who wrote them down on paper'. 31 09 25h

Sir – Swavesey people should be given details of the fate of their church bells. When asked, one member of the church council replied that 'he wasn't at liberty to say', yet this same person found the atmosphere of the hairdresser's shop in a neighbouring village so congenial that Over people were given full particulars. Unfortunately for him, Swavesey people were also present. The bells are to be removed to a foundry, but will not return with the same lovely tone as now. Why were not the ringers asked their opinion first? – 'Lucilius'. 31 09 25j

1931 09 25 ES
Jack Hulbert biography in Radio Times. 31 09 25(2)

October 1931 CWN & ES

1931 10 02
It is easier to kill a man than to kill a custom so every year on Sept 25th the Mayor, Town Clerk, Bailiffs and Town Crier form a solemn procession which proceeds to Stourbridge Common to open the Fair. But this year not even schoolchildren were there to greet them and a News reporter was the sole representative of the public until a solitary figure strolled up. There were no roundabouts, swings or stalls, not even the traction engine that last year was the final relic of a dying fair, puffed and snorted in welcome. 31 10 02d

In October 1930 the first of a series of 'Who is it?' pictures appeared in the CDN. Now we are celebrating the anniversary by giving readers a different type of puzzle to solve. Our picture shows the rear view of a group of our office staff and five shillings will be awarded to the person who can spot the greatest number or give the best general account of the group as a whole. 31 10 02a

A new luxury ambulance will soon be seen in the streets of Cambridge, replacing the older of the two Borough Police ambulances. It is an Armstrong-Siddeley fitted with self-changing gears and equipped with a wheel stretcher and Mosley 'float-on-air' bed. It is the last word in comfort with a Thermorad exhaust heater to warm the interior in cold weather and opaque glass so patients can see out. 31 10 02b

Sir - Many in Histon and Impington are perplexed as to how they will be affected by proposals to include them in Cambridge. This failure is largely due to their own neglect by not attending public meetings organised by the parish councils. The critical factor is sewerage: there are plans to build an estate at Girton but the Ministry say it must be sewered and Histon would be included to make it worthwhile. A sump near the Ballast Hole, a pipe line following the railway and sewer beds near Milton seem the answer. But how will it be paid for? – W.F. Robinson. 31 10 02f

Caldecote's new village hall marks a new era in the social life of the village. Made of timber it is tastefully decorated and there is a piano for dances. It. "Some have said it will be run as a young 'hell upon earth', but we have no intention of applying for a licence to sell intoxicating liquor or carry on dances until two o'clock in the morning. Midnight is plenty late enough", the chairman said. 31 10 02g & h

A public meeting at Cottenham agreed to protest against the large expenditure of public funds on the proposed village college at Impington. Officials were suffering from spendmania, it was time the whole thing was hit on the head and done with. It was wrong to transport a large number of children daily from the large village of Cottenham to the smaller village of Impington. If there was such a scheme, Cottenham was the place for it. 31 10 02j

Mr C.B. Long of West Wratting reapplied for a bus service to the Thurlows and Cambridge. Last year it ran four days a week and carried 2,000 single and 9,000 return passengers. Now he wanted a new service from Balsham to Newmarket. Messrs Saberton and Young ran a bus from Little Downham to

Ely; it had started 2½ years ago and carried 100 passengers a day. Sometimes they ran a private car to take additional passengers. 31 10 02k & l

Addenbrooke's Hospital contributory scheme encourages people to pay twopence per week. Treatments get more expensive as doctors discover new methods of helping people and owing to lengthening waiting lists extensions to the hospital become necessary. But it is no use having additional wards unless there is an increase in funds. Those who do not join may be required to pay a substantial charge if they need treatment. 31 10 02p

At Newmarket the work of laying electric cables is proceeding rapidly with a quarter of a mile of trench, cable laying and replacing of the pavement completed in one working day. One lady stopped her motor car and presented the foreman with a rose, remarking that she had never seen men working so well before. Soon Newmarket and Exning will enjoy a supply of electricity equal to that in any town in the country and not be far behind Burwell which is completely lit by electricity. 31 10 02u 06 10 15

Cinemas – are they morally clean? – 31 10 02c
Wisbech fruit grower and dairyman, Alfred Balls, who came to Cambridge and purchased fruit and fish business – bankrupt – 31 10 02I
Heydon bus operator – E.E. Weeden, Withers of Haverhill, Raynham of Saffron Walden – applications – 31 10 02 m & n
Addenbrooke's Hospital contributions scheme – 31 10 02o
New type of railcar being tried on branch lines – pic – 31 10 02q
Traction engine crash Bourn – photo – 31 10 02r
Modern house on Madingley road – photo – 31 10 02s
Ring road from Cherryhinton Road across Coldham's Lane under construction – photo – 31 10 02t

1931 10 09
A disastrous fire broke out on the well-known Boarding House Farm, March, the property of Lewis Shepperson, a member of a very old family of agriculturists. Although the outbreak was 2 ½ miles from the town, the entire contingent of firemen with their motor and steam pumps were on the scene within 20 minutes of being called. They found seven stacks ablaze as well as a large barn and range of cattle buildings. They soon pumped the dyke dry as neighbours helped move 60 bullocks and calves to safety. 31 10 09c

A schoolboy admitted breaking into Abbots Ripton Station and stealing chocolate and a paint brush. He took some patches from the tool box of a motor cycle which he showed his father who gave him a good hiding. So he put them back together with a tin of paint. He also took some electric batteries but they were not charged and he threw them away. Previously he had broken into a signal box and pulled one of the levers. 31 10 09d

Impington does not wish for amalgamation with Cambridge: a meeting voted 146 votes to three against the suggestion. By remaining in the county they could settle their own affairs and no sewage scheme could be put into operation unless they wanted it. Their houses were let for five shillings, half that charged by the borough. They should preserve their individuality as a rural community. 31 10 09g

Cambridge Daily News staff – details of picture of their backs – 31 10 09a
Signor Marconi in honorary degree procession – pic – 31 10 09e
Glider built by Slingsby and Armstrong of Scarborough on display in Slingsby's workshop – photo – 31 10 09f

1931 10 09 ES
Tenders for new pumps Isleham Water Works 31 10 09 ES

1931 10 16

Frank Piggott was born in 1845 at St Neots and served his apprenticeship with a newspaper proprietor there, studying shorthand. He became a journalist on the Cambridge Chronicle in 1866, rising to become editor. Owing to the heavy strain he retired to become a master printer and journalist with connections with important London papers and Press Agencies. 31 10 16a

Mr J. Wentworth Day of Wicken Old House acted as mechanic for Sir Malcolm Campbell, holder of the world's motor car speed record, in the practice runs for the 500 miles race at Brooklands. They approached 112 mph but dense clouds of smoke burst from the back and it appeared as though the car would go up in flames. Afterwards he followed the final laps in a private aeroplane. 31 10 16b

An Inquiry opened into plans to expand Cambridge's boundaries. It was the centre for education, shopping and amusement for adjacent villages where people were still dependent on cesspools: these would be provided with a sewerage system. Less than 500 acres were available for building because of the attitude of certain colleges, but it was undesirable that Cambridge should be filled up as if it were a manufacturing town. Most of the new houses in Shelford and Trumpington were of the working-class type. 31 10 16d

Cambridge Labour Party adopted Dr Alex Wood as their parliamentary candidate. It was going to be a fight between Socialism and anti-Socialism. On the one hand it was a country of wealth, position and tradition, on the other there were millions of hard-working people who found it a struggle to get on, he told them. 31 10 16f

A combined exhibition by members of the Wireless Retailers' Association opened at the Cambridge Guildhall. J.T. Harvey of Aylestone Road is showing sets all of his own manufacture, the receivers being especially adapted for Cambridge listeners. W.K. Islip displayed Murphy Ultra products as well as Cossar kits and Beethoven portables while R. Lathbury of Castle Street sells Kelster Brandes including the Kobra three-valve complete with loud speaker. 31 10 16g & h

Exning school strike – strikers and parents – photo – 31 10 16e

1931 10 16 ES
Arthur William Stevens retired as driver of the Swaffham and Bottisham engine having been in charge for 25 years, but for 22 years before that he assisted his father Mr William Stevens who was for 25 years supervisor of the plant. His grandfather was for 40 years employed of the Hundred-Foot Engine in Littleport and Downham district and two uncles completed between them nearly 100 years' service in the same kind of work. Until three years ago the engine was of the old beam type. This was displaced by an oil engine which opened on September 12th 1928. The fumes that came from this were found to disagree with his hitherto good health so he retired. The engines drain an area of 7,000 acres and is now driven by Mr Bullman his assistant. The only thing in support of the present oil engine was that it could drain water a little more quicker than its predecessor which is now used only when absolutely necessary. During the 40 years he experienced numerous heavy floods and during the winter of 1919 the quantity of water on the land was so great that he had the old engine running day and night for a whole month and throughout that time he not only forsook his ted bed entirely but never went to his home 100 yards from the engine house, for a single meal. 31 10 16ES

Modern sluice at Welmore Lake. In the background of the picture can be seen all that remains of the old sluice at Welmore Llake which is now being demolished after performing efficient service for over a century. Men are shown engaged in the work of demolition while in the background is the new sluice which has just been completed. It is fitted with two valves and two roller doors which are motor driven - photo 31 10 16(2)ES

1931 10 23
Residents of York Terrace protested about the rabbit-skin warehouse in Sturton Street. They had large blue-bottles in their homes and maggots had been seen crawling on the pavement within a few inches of their doors. The proprietor had put in different machinery but had not obviated the nuisance. It should be moved from that crowded area so people could live free from the smells, maggots and flies. 31 10 23c & d

Prompt action averted a serious fire at the Panton Brewery, Cambridge. The premises were deserted at the time of the outbreak as the mechanics and other employees were away at breakfast but as soon as the alarm was given many hastened to the spot with chemical extinguishers, but flames spread to the roof and loft of a small workshop. The fire brigade arrived in under five minutes and prevented a big fire. 31 10 23b

The Isle of Ely lived up to its reputation for political sensation when a Rolls Royce car drew up before County Hall at March and a man alighted wearing an American Stetson hat, just in time to be nominated as 'an independent up-to-the-eye-brows Tariff candidate'. He was Major John Whitehead of Cockayne Hatley Hall. The other candidates are James de Rothschild, National Government Liberal candidate and Frank Knowles for Labour. 31 10 23f & g

Sewerage arrangement – evidence at Borough boundary expansion inquiry – 31 10 23a
Cambridge University Drag Hunt first meet on Market Hill – photo – 31 10 23e

1931 10 23 ES
Walter Porter, Stretham, summoned for permitting of horse to be worked in an unfit state. P.c. Waghorn was on duty on Station Road when saw an aged black mare drawing a cart loaded with coal. It had torn itself on some barbed wire. Defendant who was nearly 70 years old and had been amongst horses all his life so he did not regard the animal to be in bad condition. He was not a cruel man 31 10 23ES

1931 10 30
Two new church bells were dedicated at Over to complete the octave. One is a thank-offering from F.G. Weston, vicar, while the other is in memory of Horace Bernard Woolley, vicar of Longstanton 1905-1929. It was given by Ingle Robinson, younger son of the clerk of the church from 1839-1883 and the united efforts of Over ringers. Round were then rung as an octave for the first time. 31 10 30a

Captain Briscoe and one of his supporters in wheelchair – photo – 31 10 30c

A serious fire broke out, involving the greater part of a large stackyard at Fulbourn and also threatening the school. It was noticed while the children were at play. Every window on that side of the school was cracked and broken by the intense heat which also caused the trees in the yard to flare. The Village Institute was also threatened. Numerous volunteers assisted firemen but soon the stacks were reduced to heaps of flaring debris.

Ashwell Grass Track held its last meeting organised by the present promoter, Mr J. Tanfield. A new company is being formed and next season it will be run as the Three Counties' Speedway. A new track 1½ miles long and 120 feet wide will be constructed to accommodate light cars and motor cycles together with a club-house, grand stand and dressing rooms. The course will be equipped with loud-speaker apparatus and will be opened next Easter. 31 10 30d

1931 10 30 ES
P.C. Baldwin leaving Manea after six years 31 10 30ES

G. Theobald retiring as commissioners officer after 45 48 years 31 10 30(2)ES

November 1931 CWN & ES

1931 11 06

George Langley, 80, a well-known figure on local fairgrounds, died following an accident at March. A lorry loaded with baled straw was driving along the High Street when it had to pull up sharply near the George Hotel after a pony drawing two carts pulled out suddenly. This caused some bales to fall off, one of which knocked Mr Langley down. He was removed to the Nursing Home but never recovered consciousness. The lorry driver had done all he possibly could and acted like a gentleman in every way. 31 11 06 ab

The keenness of competition between omnibus operators in the March area was apparent when the Traffic Commissioners heard applications for bus licences. The March Motor Co. operated services to Chatteris carrying 1,826 passengers a week. But the Railway Company objected saying they were the only operator to keep to a timetable. Their Benwick service averaged 350 on the two days a week that it ran. It had begun in 1922, but lapsed for some years until resumed in October 1930. W. Spriggs of Parson Drove had one of his buses stopped by police for being overcrowded and it had twice broken down. 31 11 06c

Mr A.W. Stevens, for many years driver of the Swaffham and Bottisham drainage engine at Upware, has retired at the age of 71. He had been in sole charge for 25 years and for 22 years before that assisted his father, William Stevens, who was previously supervisor. His grandfather was employed at the Hundred Foot engine for over 40 years. 31 11 06f

The atmosphere of Cambridge Reference Library was more reminiscent of a cinema during the showing of a hilarious comedy than a lecture room when the Rev H.K. Cossar told the cream of a world-wide collection of jokes about the church, University life and Irishmen. There is a great rivalry between John's and Trinity so when one dean sent a letter addressed to "The Dean of Trinity, near St John's College" the reply was addressed: "The Dean of Trinity, near Matthew's Café". 31 11 06d,e

March accident – bale falls from lorry – 31 11 06a

Arthur Heffer death – folk dancing leader – 31 11 06g

1931 11 06 ES
Great Middle Level Pumping Station at St Germans discussed 31 11 06(2)ES

1931 11 13
Scouters and Rovers mingled with grave dons in academic dress at the Senate House when a degree of Doctor of Laws honoris causa was conferred upon Lord Baden-Powell. The Chief Scout wore his accustomed uniform with his scarlet doctor's robe above it. The Public Orator said his soldiership in Mafeking made him so famous and popular that the boys of Britain chose him as their exemplar in many virtues and patriotism. 31 11 13f g h

The decision of the Theatres Committee not to allow Soham Electric cinema to open on Christmas Day is 'almost tyrannical', one councillor claimed. The public would have a perfectly free choice whether to patronise it or not. It was better than loafing about street corners or drinking in pubs. Some of the pictures were worth seeing, even at Soham. But family circles would be broken and the one meeting in the year would be destroyed. The council agreed that the cinema should be allowed to open. 31 11 13e

The Poppy Day collection in Cambridge has again smashed all records with undergraduate collectors struggling with money still coming in. Nearly two tons of coppers have passed through their hands. Early in the day the stock of poppies was exhausted and a fresh supply had to be brought in by train. Market Hill was the scene of half-a-dozen well organised 'rags' and at Silver Street the Demon Diver jumped in flames into the river and the collectors drew in good sums for his 'widow' and 'children'. 31 11 13 I & j

Capt. George Mathews, the engineer of the Ouse Catchment Board has died. He took the post in 1920 and supervised the scheme which placed the South Levels in a safe condition, the improvement of Denver Sluice and the complete rebuilding of the Welmore Lake Sluice. 31 11 13k

The reopening of the Oakington Women's Institute was celebrated by a social and dance. Music was provided by Mrs E.C. Papworth at the piano and Mr Boutellier's jazz band was very much appreciated. The competition cake was won by Miss Francis and the mysterious competition for gentlemen by Mr W. Elmore. Oakington ladies should be proud that their menfolk took a great interest in the movement. 31 11 13l

Ald Raynes Mayor – memories – 31 11 13a & aa

Armistice Day – 31 11 13b & bb & c & d

Council officials offer take reduction salary – 31 11 13b & bb

Baden Powell message scouts – 31 11 13g & photos of his degree – 31 11 13h

1931 11 20
The garage, containing two cars belonging to Mr P.H. Grundy of Royston was destroyed by fire. The wind blew the flames on to the chauffeur's cottage but all his furniture was removed to safety. Duxford RAF fire brigade offered their services and had the wind not changed their 50-gallon tanks of chemicals would have been vitally necessary, owing to the lack of water. 31 11 20a

Traffic Commissioners considered applications for bus services to Soham. A.J. Bailey operated a service to Newmarket on Tuesdays, chiefly for cinema-goers. He carried 259 passengers between January and June. However his application for a service to Ely was opposed by Ortona who'd started a service in 1921 – it was not a good paying route, the costs were almost the same as the takings. But Mr Bailey said local people favoured him and had "booed the Ortona out of Soham". 31 11 20c

1931 11 20 ES
World's biggest pumping station for the Middle Level - St Germans, photo feature 31 11 20(3)(4)ES # c.29

1931 11 27
The question of the development of the industrial side of Cambridge has cropped up periodically over a good many years. Hitherto works and factories have not been encouraged - the serene, academic atmosphere should be maintained at all cost. But economic pressure, the diminution in the spending power of the undergraduates, depression of agriculture and trade have hit the town very hard. Cloistered calm is all very well, but people must live. 31 11 27b & c

Lt Downham accident – tractor – 31 11 27d

December 1931 CWN & ES

1931 12 04
A meeting at Bourn demanded immediate steps to repeal the Tithe. There was land that had lain dormant for years because the tithe charge was more than the rateable value. The result was that the tithe owner got nothing, the tithe-payer got nothing, the agricultural labourer got nothing and the country got nothing from taxes. On the basis of production instead of paying 4s.6d. an acre farmers should be paying about ninepence. 31 12 04a

Three thatched cottages and a small hall were destroyed by fire in the village of Diddington. Mr Underwood, one of the tenants, awoke to find the room full of smoke. He aroused his neighbours and found that the three cottages and the parish room were ablaze. The fire brigade was on the scene very quickly and water was obtained from a pond but owing to the inflammable nature of the cottages they were powerless to save the buildings. 31 12 04b

A tramp was charged with setting fire to a stack of hay at Great Shelford. Frederick Pell, a fish salesman, said he served a customer in Granham's Road and cycled towards Cambridge when he saw a man standing beside the stack. On arriving home he saw a fire so he biked back and found it was in that same stack. He attended an identification parade and picked out the man he'd seen. 31 12 04c & d

A Trinity Hall undergraduate appeared in court following a collision. Students were not allowed to have motorcars and he was endeavouring to leave Cambridge without being seen, but had an accident in Coleridge Road and failed to stop. A number plate was knocked from his car and by that means the driver was traced. As a result he had been sent down for good. He did not think the penalty would have been so severe. 31 12 04d

A pony and several fowls were killed when fire broke out in a barn at Church End Farm, Cottenham. It was thought a pig had also perished, but it was later found wandering about the field. Cottenham fire brigade were called but their pipes were not long enough to reach the water. Flames licked the walls of a bungalow 15 yards away and willing helpers removed the furniture while others formed a chain to pass buckets of water with which the side of the dwelling was kept damp. 31 12 04e

Paul Robeson, the famous singer and star of 'Show Boat' sent into raptures an audience of over 1,000 at the Guildhall when he paid his second visit to Cambridge. He took up his position within the shelter of the grand piano where he sang songs of his own land that went straight to the hearts of the people. They ranged from the most sacred of spirituals to "Ol' Man River" followed by the convict song "Water Boy". 31 12 04f

When R.A. Taylor joined Cambridge Town as an outside left at the beginning of the season, few anticipated that within a few weeks he would gain his Blue in the University side. He showed distinct promise in his first match with the Town and it was not surprising that the Varsity gave him a trial. He centres well and shoots hard & such a young player should have a bright future. His sudden rise is remarkable as last season he was playing in village football. 31 12 04h

The Broadway Kinema, St Ives is much better kept than before. The licence was renewed but the manager's attention was called to the badly-lit exits from the balcony of the cinema. Mr Glazier said that in the future he hoped to show more educational films. 31 12 04I
1931 12 04 ES
Farmers protest against dumping. Branch of Agricultural party formed in Ely 31 12 04ES

1931 12 11
William Darnell, the head porter at Addenbrooke's Hospital is the best-known and most popular man to be featured in our 'Mystery Backs' series. Almost every writer identified him. They described him as 'genial', 'kind-hearted', and say 'the hospital would be a sorry place without him for he has a smile and kind word for every one'. Many asked that if they should win the five-shilling prize that it should be donated to Addenbrooke's. 31 12 11a

Manorial rolls dating back to the 18th century were produced as evidence over a disputed piece of land in High Street, Ramsey. It was once called Vesey's Yard and had been conveyed with the right of bridle and barrow way to the defendant's land. He was a potato merchant who stored his empty sacks in the yard, sometimes he put bags of rotten potatoes there. But neighbours said that although the old cottages, which had been pulled down in 1910, had right-of-way it had never been used for storage. 31 12 11b

A fire broke out at Messrs Towgood's Film Factory at Sawston but was quickly extinguished by the staff brigade. It was confined to a part of the factory where benzine was used, and the damage kept to one dyeing machine and the roof of the building over it. Some film was involved, but this being non-inflammable, did not burn. 31 12 11c

G.P. Hawkins occupied a unique place in Cambridge life. Few men are twice Mayor and play such a part in the political and business life of the town. He opened Cambridge's first tea shop and later the Dorothy Café which can easily accommodate 2,000 people at one time. In the bakehouse in Parsonage Street tributes fell like water from the lips of the employees and 1,400 crowded into the church for his funeral. 31 12 11f

A Band of Hope meeting in the Bethel Baptist Church, Swavesey welcomed Mr and Mrs David Moore and their programme of moving pictures. Mrs Moore deplored the fact that the gambling spirit was so rife and a scientific film showed the narcotic effect of alcohol. Pictures of the Skegness excursion gave great delight as many people saw themselves on the screen. They were followed by film of a garden party in Christ's College and the colleges in their winter mantle of snow. 31 12 11g

Lord Astor's Coaches applied for permission to run a four-shilling excursion from Cambridge to London. But 'Varsity and Westminster Coaches objected; they ran one on Thursdays and would be hit by the competition If Astors only had one or two passengers for London they bought Westminster tickets and put them on their coaches. 31 12 11d

Mr L.J. Parker of Reliance Motor Services, Cottenham, applied for a licence to continue to run a bus service to Willingham. Last year they carried over 19,000 passengers, chiefly workpeople carried on weekly tickets. Mr B. Washington of Littleport applied to continue a service to the Ely Beet Sugar Factory although last year had seen a substantial drop owing to big reductions in the factory staff. 31 12 11d

1931 12 11 ES
Lorry crashes into Walbro Cycle Works photo 31 12 11ES

Stretham beam engine erected 100 years ago and was recently set in motion by Mr E. Stevens after four years of disuse. The engine is one of the oldest in the fens. Although succeeded by a diesel oil engine and Gwynnes centrifugal pump, which disposes more quickly of the water from the fen, the old beam engine and scoop wheel can still be used to keep the fen clear of water in case of an emergency; is known to many people at present living in the district 31 12 11(2)ES

1931 12 18
Messrs Eastwoods own 160 acres of first-class cement-making land at Barrington. We saw the marl being bitten out of the pit by a giant mechanical shovel and watched the complete process through to the final product. In the grinding mills the atmosphere was thick with cement dust and the din appalling. When we came out of this Bedlam of noise we were covered in cement dust, luckily it does not stick and most had vanished before we got to the final process, the bagging. 31 12 18a

The Ouse and Cam Fishery Board had failed to net the carp in ponds at Hauxton and Fenstanton as they had 'mudded' for the winter, but the drawing of lakes at Madingley and Longstowe Hall had yielded 15,000 fish, mostly roach and rudd. Several thousand gudgeon were also taken from Hinxton Mill and placed in the Granta at Cambridge. 31 12 18b

A haulage contractor from Bleak House, Bassingbourn told the bankruptcy court that in October 1928 his father gave him a lorry and he carted live stock. Later he purchased other lorries on the hire purchase system but some could not stand up to the work and cost a considerable amount for repairs. They were overloaded to a certain extent, but not more than other lorries which stood the work better. He could not say they were not driven over 20, 30 or even 40 miles an hour: he did not drive them. 31 12 18c

Gamlingay parish council has been told it may not get electricity for a considerable time. The Electricity Company has plans for a line from Eltisley to Meldreth in the future but there are many hundreds of towns and villages still waiting supply and the demand in Gamlingay is small. If factories were erected it would receive more favourable attention. 31 12 18d

A crowded meeting at Cambridge Guildhall threw out proposals for the Corporation to take over the Waterworks Company. Were they going to get a cheaper or more efficient service? No. There had been no serious criticisms of the management and there would be heavy legal expenses and compensation to directors. But the creator had given mankind three essential things: sunshine, air and water and it was immoral for water to be kept from the people by private enterprise. 31 12 18 e f g

Grantchester mill house rebuilding – 31 12 18h

King Street market goose – photo – 31 12 18I

1931 12 18 ES
Death of Benjamin Lee, Stanground. Was a waterman as were his father and grandfather. Could tell of the cruel punishments and hardships and lads were subjected to. 45 years ago he went to Stanground and setup as a barge man on his own account. He started with five old hulks, and by dint of hard work and economy was able to have 15 new barges built, and a barge in those days cost £120. With the advent of the war he sold out his barges and at the close he set up in business with pleasure boats. In the winter he would help his son with his barges and was engaged pouring sugar beet to the Ely factory up to his illness 31 12 18(2)ES

1931 12 25
Ely Urban Council's new offices were opened by the chairman from the balcony of the building. It was the most important municipal move Ely had made in the whole of its long history and marked a new era in the future development of the city. They had converted what was previously an eyesore into architectural beauty and the new council chamber with its horseshoe table would be a credit for many years to come. 31 12 25a

Sir – is it not time that Cottenham Parish Council gave its inhabitants some safeguard against fire? Recently two fires have occurred and on both occasions the premises have been gutted. True the village possesses a contraption which out of politeness is described as a 'fire engine' but for the purpose of extinguishing a conflagration its value is nil. Recently a farmer borrowed it for flushing drains. That is about its full capacity – 'Safety First'. 31 12 25c

The annual share-house of the Stretham Malt and Hops Sick and Dividing Club took place. The total receipts for the year were £62 12s 4d, the sum expended on sick pay had been £13 9s 4d so each of the 44 members received £1 13s. 31 12 25b

Sir – when Mr W. Rouse Ball and myself were invited to consider a local guide for publicity purposes we also recommended a volume of old views of Cambridge. In our local library and with the Photographic Club and many citizens, there are many old pictures which would prove of lasting interest as a record of the past, a volume which would appeal to all those who are interested in the township – Charles Porter, Sidney Street. 31 12 25c

St Ives tramps complained that their food and clothing had been gnawed by rats in the workhouse. But the Master said if they carried food in their clothing it was obvious that the rats would go for it at night. It was their fault as they left their clothes on the floor instead of hanging them up. He had shot 30 rats during the last month and there had been no trouble during the past three days. 31 12 25d

Fire broke out in some lean-to outbuildings at Hildersham Rectory, the residence of the Rev P.R. Phillips. It originated in the gas generator which supplies the house with light. There was one cwt of carbide and a considerable amount of coal in the outhouse but the house itself was not involved owing to the prompt action of firemen in pulling down the sheds and throwing water on the house. 31 12 25d

Cambridge Rabbits' Cricket Club, formerly Heals, held their annual dinner at the Corner House Café, Petty Cury. They had enjoyed a most successful season and were thoroughly established and well-known. Mr D. Burton further showed his generosity by offering to present yet another cup for the most outstanding bowling performance of the season. His cup for the most outstanding performance went to Mr R.P. Fuller. 31 12 25d

1932 Cambridge Daily News

I have copies of these articles

1932 January to December

January 1932 CDN

1932 01 01
The custom of dancing out the Old Year grows apace, most of the Cambridge dance halls had special celebrations and crowds flocked to all of them. Then in the early hours the streets were thronged with men and women, old and young alike, who gaily wandered home, having little time for thought of Income Tax or other worries. 32 01 01a

Kinema films, p5

1932 01 02
Unfit ground

1932 01 04
The Marconiphone Company has brought a unique radiogramophone entertainment to Cambridge where the public can hear the instruments and judge their powers of reproduction in perfect ease and without any sense of bewilderment. Gramophone records are utilised to provide a 'discussion' between the instruments with a running commentary on their virtues. What better way could be found to demonstrate them. 32 01 04

1932 01 04
Three labourers from Yelling were summoned for damaging hymn books at Graveley church. The churchwarden said there had been a lot of talking during the service and afterwards their pew was completely littered with hymn book leaves. But Claude Sanford said that as he handed the books to them a lot of loose leaves had fallen out. Parishioners would stop coming to church if the nuisance of talking was not stopped but there was insufficient evidence to convict them. 32 01 04a

1932 01 07
Scouting is progressing with new troops at Haddenham and Lt Downham, but the 1st Ely Troop has been disbanded owing to the inability to find a scoutmaster and four of their bugles are missing. The Littleport scoutmaster had also left and they were unable to find anyone else suitable. While the new bridge was being built at Adelaide one boy fell into the river but Scout Butcher held him up although he was gradually being pulled in himself. Without his help the other boy would have been drowned. 32 01 07

1932 01 08
Fire damaged St Ives Chicory Factory. Five Belgians, specialist chicory driers are employed, and at four in the morning one found the first floor was on fire. Flames spread through the silo to the elevator and to the second and third drying floors. Extensive damage was wrought amongst costly machinery. Arrangements had been made to increase the size of the building but these may now be delayed. Chicory is constantly being dried and on account of the terrific heat the danger of fire is always very real. 32 01 08

1932 01 09
John Hewitt, at 101, is the oldest man in Western Australia. He was born in Cambridgeshire in 1831 and emigrated in 1862. Since then his life has been spent among the vineyards of the Upper Swan. But his longevity has nothing to do with the acres of old Omar's grape: he is a teetotaller and attributes his long life to hard work. He still follows the plough and likes the best good corned beef. He has two married daughter and nine grandsons. 32 01 09 & 09a

1932 01 11
Pricilla Byford of Stetchworth has celebrated her 100th birthday. She was born at the Mill House where her father was a miller and married George Byford, the schoolmaster and organist at Chevington. She is fond of music but does not care for the modern jazz. A congratulatory message was broadcast by the BBC and she received a telegram from the King and Queen. 32 01 11

1932 01 13
The new domestic block at the Central Girls' School was formally opened. It includes a coal-fired Eagle range, electric and gas cookers, gas griller and iron heater. Cookery and dressmaking was a very important part of their teaching. Any girl who goes into domestic service with a good mistress has a ten times better chance than the girls who go into factories, the Mayoress said. 32 01 13

1932 01 16
The annual tea party of the Parkside Infant Welfare Centre was attended by 60 mothers and their infants. Few fathers were present, no doubt due to the fact that the mothers were better able to look after their children without their presence. It was important they had prompt and proper care during the early years of life and the Maternity and Child Welfare Committee had done wonderful work in this regard. 32 01 16

Old Cambridgeshire p6
Peter Pan, p8

1932 01 18
Complaints have been received about the rabbit skin warehouse in Sturton Street. Inhabitants of York Terrace say it caused effluvia and was a nuisance injurious to their health due to abominable smells which prevented them opening their windows and because of the maggots which escaped from the works and entered their houses. 32 01 18, 32 01 22b

Cambridge suffered the loss of a centenarian with the death of Mrs Sarah Ann Howes of Glisson Road. She was a charming old lady with many interesting reminiscences. She attended the dinner on Parker's Piece to celebrate the coronation of Queen Victoria and remembered the opening of the Cambridge railway station and her first journey to Ely by train. Things are very different today, she would say: the poor people are much better off than they were and people have more sympathy with each other. 32 01 18b

Dr Charles F. Searle sued for enticing away wife of grocer's assistance – divorce – 32 01 18a

1032 01 19
"Peter Pan", the wonder fairy play opens at the New Theatre and its power to unite parents and children in a happy band of adventurers into the Never, Never Land makes it best play ever written for children. The production is one of the most ambitious seen in Cambridge for many years, a special feature is the marvellous flying, which gives a real fairyland touch to the scenes. 32 01 19

1932 01 20
A unique action involving two Cambridge stockbrokers, Elias and Company and W.A. Bignell and Co. was held at the County Assizes. It concerned certain transactions concerning the majorities to be secured by the parties supporting the National Government at the General Election. The Stock Exchange committee did not approve of such activities. 32 01 20 & 20a

1932 01 21
A Ram Yard plumber told Cambridge bankruptcy court he had been successful until 1929 but due to the trade depression he could not get sufficient work and certain customers did not pay. He built a house in Belvoir Road for his own occupation with the very best plumbing and if this sold for £1,100 he could repay his creditors. 32 01 21

The landlord of the Bridge Inn, Clayhithe told the Bankruptcy court that in 1909 he had emigrated to Alberta, Canada, taking a homestead of 160 acres. But his wife could not stand life on the prairie so she bought the Bridge Hotel and told him he could remain in Canada but she would stay there. He didn't want to lose his wife and family, so he returned. He knew nothing about the licensing trade and there had been no summer in the last two years, so he had lost money. One of the reasons for his failure was that he did not provide proper meals for customers. 32 01 21a

Disarmament, p6
King Street shoe repairer – John Motley – bankruptcy – 32 01 21a

1932 01 22
A man employed as horsekeeper by H.C. Crouch, the well-known Manea farmer said his wages were 36s a week with house, garden & a piece of potato land. They were harvest carting on a Saturday afternoon when the foreman told them they were to work till five o'clock. But they had no dinner with them and the gang stopped at 4.15. He attended to the horses and did not get home till 6.30 but had been dismissed for disobeying orders. The judge said the farmer was perfectly in order to sack him. 32 01 22a

Pye Radio invited people to inspect their works and queues five or six deep stretched halfway up Haig Road. It is amazing that a non-industrial town should have such fine works and few realised that we in Cambridge had such an important and highly organised industry in our midst. In these times of depression it is a novelty to find a works which is really flourishing. Despite making 4,000 sets a week, demand is greater than supply and they are planning to increase the size of the works by 50 percent. 32 01 22c & d

1932 01 25
The 'White Ribbon' Coffee House and Temperance Hotel in East Road has been taken over by the Salvation Army. After redecorating it will be run as a hostel and restaurant providing good refreshment and lodgings for 40 men at a reasonable charge. 32 01 25

1932 01 27
Photo, p7*

1932 01 28
The Sanitary Inspector said that seven cottages at Hauxton Road, Little Shelford, were in a very bad state of repair and nothing had been done to them since August 1927. Notice of a closing order had been served and all the tenants with the exception of one man vacated the property. The owner did not deny the houses were unfit and past repair and there was no alternative to a demolition order. 32 01 28

1932 01 29
In the fens thousands of acres of land are below sea level, dependent on internal and main river drainage works for their existence. They paid heavy Internal Drainage Board rates in addition to Catchment Board precepts. But land bordering the river above Earith and Cambridge derived benefit by that work but did not pay. The fens could no longer bear the cost of carrying their water to the sea. It needed very large sums to put rivers into satisfactory condition and make good the neglect of the last 100 years, but Government revenue had disappeared. 32 01 29

Band of Hope, pic, p8*

1932 01 30
"Dukes Walk", the donkey which has been a familiar participant in all Poppy Day 'rags' has died. Rising from the mundane routine of drawing a chimney-sweep's barrow it enjoyed a distinguished career. In addition to being first favourite with undergraduates the animal was equally popular with children at Sunday School treats, as water-carrier at the University fruit-picking campaigns and as mascot to the 17th Lancers. It was while on military service that he earned his title which led to his appearance before the King in the Military Tattoo at Olympia. His owner, Mr A.W. Wyer, is to get another donkey. 32 01 30

February 1932 CDN

1932 02 01
Cambridge stationmasters were told that protection from unfair and illegal road transport was essential. In the last year the number of passenger journeys have dropped by 16 million, goods trade decreased by 15 million tons and the livestock by a million head. Motor lorries were running away with the traffic they used to carry. A man can buy an old bus chassis, stick a lorry body on it and pick up traffic here and there, charging different prices as it suits him. 32 02 01

1932 02 02

1930 02 03
Cambridge Young Men's Christian Association cancelled the letting of their hall to an exhibition on education in Soviet Russia. Amongst the exhibits were anti-religious posters which upset several prominent clergymen who wrote to the News protesting. The organisers are looking for another hall so the exhibition can continue. 32 02 03

Parson Drove School should have a semi-permanent building in which handicrafts and domestic subjects can be taught. It would then be possible to provide a most efficient master there. They would still require three teachers at Murrow Council School but the Church of England School would be closed, dispensing with two teachers; another could be saved at Newton. However a bus would be required to bring in children from outlying districts. 32 02 03

1932 02 04
The Bankruptcy Court was told that the Autoservice Company based at Haig Road, Cambridge offered an automatic vending service using machines supplied by Pelpas and Uneeda Automatics of Edgeware. When the debtor was ill the manager of the Uneeda Company, feeling the illness was a bluff, interviewed him in bed. He immediately got up, against doctor's orders. The proprietor had previously invented his own penny-in-the-slot machines but never gained patents for them. 32 02 04 & 04a

1932 02 05
An NSPCC inspector said he had gone to Angel Drove, Ely where he saw a tent of sticks and pieces of sacking. Inside was a roughly-constructed bed of lashed branches with four sacks stuffed with rags covered with an old blanket, coats and rags. He found a 15-year-old boy and a two-year old girl who were very miserable, huddled together to get warm from a stick fire. They were filthy and verminous and had been used for begging purposes. In a hedge he found all kinds of food that had been thrown away, which some families would have been pleased to have. 32 02 05

1932 02 08
A March bus driver told an inquest that when he got to Doddington Clock Tower he turned the corner into Newgate at 10 mph. He noticed a stationary bus near Dr Taylor's house and took the precaution of sounding his hooter twice. When he was nearly clear he saw a lady coming out from behind the bus; he braked sharply but she seemed to be hit by his radiator. He did not notice any bump and thought the wheel could not have passed over her. But she was quite dead beneath the bus.32 02 08

1932 02 11
A fire broke out in the roof of Guilden Morden church on Wednesday. There had been two services and in preparation for another in the evening Mr S. Leonard the caretaker had re-lit the stove. The flue runs through the part of the roof where the fire was. The wood in the roof must have been very dry to burst into flames so soon after the fire was lit. The caretaker, aided by villagers, flung buckets of water on to the roof; a handpump was also used and the flames had been subdued when the brigade arrived. 32 02 11

Mole draining uses a cutting implement which bores a channel beneath the ground and so drains the water away. It is not a new method: in the olden days many good mole drains were cut by eight or ten horses drawing the drainer. Then came the advent of steam and the cable set. Now a demonstration using tractors was held at the University Farm using Garrett, Marshall, Case and a variety of other machines. Even though the ground was frozen they cut through it as if it had been cheese. 32 02 11

1932 02 15
Of all the memorable gatherings which have been held in the Drill Hall, East Road, none has ever come up to the vast assembly which gathered when the Cambridgeshire Regiment Old Comrades' Association held its first reunion dinner. When they arrived at Southampton 17 years ago one NCO said: "It's taken three trains to get us here, a carriage will be enough to get us back". That prediction came true! A silent toast was drunk to the 900 officers and men who fell in the Great War. 32 02 15

Two houses at Horningsea which were subject of a demolition order had been bought for £200 by a working man who claimed that if they were repaired they would stand as long as the parish church. Councillors would be made to look as silly as school children if people could go behind their backs and sell property which was the subject of a demolition order. But he'd bought the houses for half the original price and had no intention of repairing them: he just wanted the land at the back. 32 02 16

1932 02 16
An 'automatic laundry' has been opened in Hartington Grove Cambridge. Dignitaries inspected the Forum Cleaning and Dyeing Company machines where several garments were cleaned and dried before their eyes in less than ten minutes. After cleaning clothes pass to a dusting wheel where they are tumbled and dried in a current of cold air before passing the eagle eye of a 'spotter' to the pressing room so that obstinate stains can be removed. 32 06 16

The Deck family has played an important part in pharmacy and public life in Cambridge for 130 years. Isaiah introduced the custom observed for 80 years of firing rockets on New Year's Eve, Arthur made balloon ascents with his friend Henry Coxall, while Alderman Deck was chemist to the Prince of Wales while a student at Trinity. He presented his Royal Arms to the Corporation and these are now in the Cambridge police court. The business continues to thrive under Reginald, with a new optical department. 32 02 16b

1932 02 17
Back to the Ferry – Dant's ferry being used again while approaches to footbridge reconstructed – photo – 32 02 17

1932 02 18
Ely Allotment Association complained of damage caused by 2,500 rats on Bridge Fen that had dug peas out of the ground. They made a special effort with 20 men, ferrets, dogs and guns but only managed to kill 50 of them. The rats were attracted by clumps of sugar beet tops being left but the council refuse dumps were worse than the allotments. At Prickwillow rats came from two to three miles to get to pigs, and they did not know what to do. 32 02 18 & 18a

1932 02 19
York Street residents signed a petition complaining about the Sturton Street rabbit skin factory. It had started in 1928 and the skins were stored and dried on the premises. The smell was very offensive and unhealthy, like old bones burning, there were maggots in the streets and blow flies as big as small bees. It was very bad in August – but the factory was only open from September to March. 32 02 19 & 19a

1932 02 20

A London sales manager was charged with demanding £500 by menaces from a Cambridge resident referred to in court as 'Mr Z'. After being told that he was going to be 'beaten up' by a gang of bookmakers Mr Z paid the man £500 in the presence of two hidden police officers. He told the court he was still going in fear of personal violence. The prosecutor remarked "It looks like an American gangster film". 32 02 20a & b

1932 02 22
New Cambridge Industry (employing only local men). Same day dry-cleaning service by the new British wonder machine which cleans and actually strengthens fabrics leaving no smell. Special opening offer: suit, costume, coat or dress, dry cleaned, hand pressed, collected and delivered for three shillings. The Forum Cleaners and Dyers, Market Hill, Cambridge (Advert). 32 02 22

1932 02 23
Many people will regret the passing of 'Lame Walter' - James Walter Mansfield – of Dove House, Park Street. He retired in 1918 after about 40 years of cab driving. He was a well-known figure in later years with his tricycle and dog, much liked for his cheery disposition. He leaves three sons and three daughters. 32 02 23, photo 23a

The Dry Drayton estate of T.F. Hooley may be converted into a Danish colony where the famous methods of Danish agriculture might be put into progress. There would be a great central demonstration farm with its own agricultural college catering for the produce of 500 acres. The majority of the 32 cottages on the estate will be sold to Danes and the rest made available for English smallholders wishing to learn their methods of farming. 32 02 23b

Police barricade, p5
St Andrew's Court, p6
Pentacle club, p8

1932 02 24
Mr R. Hinkin of Little Thetford has passed away, days after celebrating his 101st birthday. His health was remarkably good; he was only once attended by a doctor; that was five years ago when he fell from a ladder as a result of it breaking. He started work on the land at the age of ten, finally giving up when he was 97. He had six children, 25 grandchildren and about 40 great-grandchildren. 32 02 24

1932 02 25
Apart from the large hall and council chamber the Cambridge Guildhall is worn out and absolutely unsuitable. The accommodation in every department was deplorable – dark, dismal, horrid, unlit and unhealthy. On Castle Hill there was a fine new building being erected for the County Council who were planning to spend £8,000 on furnishing alone. Never since the war had prices in the building trade been lower; this was the right moment to consider rebuilding, councillors were told. 32 02 25 & 25a

1932 02 26
St Andrew's Court, off St Andrew's Street, was a disgraceful place in the centre of Cambridge. It was not only an eye-sore, but dangerous. Properties were dark, damp, reeking with age and decay. The houses were not fit for human habitation, children under school-leaving age will not be permitted to live there – but what of young mothers and old people? Such slums should be demolished, the Medical Officer urged. 32 02 26

March 1932 CDN

1932 03 01
P.C. Woolf stated that while on duty in Petty Cury he saw some water thrown from a first-floor window of the Lion Hotel. He visited room 36 where he noted the curtains were soaking wet. The defendant said he had been spending the evening with his friends who had been drinking whiskies and sodas. Being a teetotaller himself, but not wishing to offend them, he had thrown his drinks out of the window. He was fined £1. 32 03 01

1932 03 02
The chatter of Lewis guns and the rattle of rifle fire echoed almost continuously over the countryside around the peaceful villages of Bottisham and Quy for almost four hours as members of the Perse, Leys and County School Officers' Training Corps took part in a field day. The first thing inhabitants knew of impending hostilities came when several motor buses disgorged their occupants ready for the fray. Our reporter was fighting his own battle on his bicycle with the wind in an endeavour to get to the battle front before the attack materialised. But the wind won. 32 03 02 & 02a

1932 03 04
It is distressing to hear the condition under which some people in Littleport are living. In many cases there are two families sharing one five-room house while a man, wife and three children occupy a three-roomed house with only one bedroom. They have applied for council houses, but the parish council decided they did not want any more built at present. 32 03 04

1932 03 05
Magistrates refused to relicence the Bowling Green public house, High Street, Chesterton. The landlord said a billiard room had been re-decorated, he had regular customers and it had become more or less an institution. But there had been a decrease in trade, despite the growing estate nearby. The Maypole in Portugal Place was the headquarters of the Whippet Club; the tenant was 70 years of age and his only means of support would be the old-age pension. This together with the Alhambra in East Road, the Eagle Tavern beerhouse in Victoria Road and the Clarendon Arms was relicenced. 32 03 05 & a

Miss Agatha Carroll, an actress, tells how after performing at Cambridge she received an invitation to go to a dance from a man she had known for years. Two young men called for her with a fast motor car which sped north at 60 miles an hour towards Gretna Green, where one intended to propose marriage in the famous smithy. After protesting again and again the driver finally turned round and returned her to Cambridge at five in the morning. She has received no explanation of the affair. 32 03 05b

Justices approved a licence for the Vine Hotel proposed at the corner of Vinery Road and Coldham's Lane. Basil Oliver, the architect of the award-winning Rose and Crown on Newmarket Road would design it with a large dining which many workmen would use for lunch. Over 200 of the residents of new houses recently erected in the area had signed a petition in support. 32 03 05c

Dr Alfred Haddon, 77, lives in a quiet house in Cambridge. He is a scholar of world renown, and a crocodile. He was so honoured by a chief on Warrior Island in the Torres Straits where natives believed in totems and sacred animals. He is forbidden ever to marry a crocodile girl, nor to kill or eat one. "I'm willing to keep my part of the bargain but am worried whether other crocodiles know they ought not to eat me", he says. 32 03 05d

1932 03 07
Saffron Walden Hospital has been given extra support by the workers' contributory scheme. It has a membership of 6,700 who paid over £1,500 which has supplied surgical instruments and a dental chair. A new sun balcony had proved a great boon to many patients, being particularly suitable for treatment. It was up to date, boasting an efficiency second to none having treated 490 in-patients in one year. 32 03 07 & a

1932 03 09
James Osborne told Girton W.I. that the village stocks in front of the blacksmith's shop on Church Green had disappeared before his time, but his father used to relate how he was ordered by the constable to supply a straw cushion for the last unfortunate victim who had to spend a chilly

December night imprisoned in them. At Wash Pit Road farmers washed sheep in the brook which was also a bathing place for boys. Duck End Green was where ducks were raised on a large scale by the Eusden family and droves of geese brought by rail from the goose fairs in Lincolnshire were collected so their wing and tail feathers might be plucked and sold to make quill pens. 32 03 09

1932 03 10
An exciting six-hour police chase started after three men were found asleep in a car on the road between Whittlesey and Coates. When questioned they ran away across the fields until they found their retreat barred by the river Nene. Although the tide was flowing strongly the fugitives jumped in; one drowned but the others made off in the direction of Thorney. Police spread the alarm by telephone and the countryside was scoured by pursuers in motor cars, on bicycles and on foot. Eventually they were found on the railway line at Eye. 32 03 10

Mailbag, p8

1932 03 11
The record success of Dale's Brewery at the Brewery Exhibition was celebrated at the Dorothy Café when the cups and medals won were on show. It was a local firm, founded by Frederick Dale in 1903, their capital was all local, the majority of their barley was grown within a radius of 20 miles of Cambridge and malted locally at Barnwell. Eight of their tenants have over 20 years' with the firm. If they were Britain's best brewery then Mr Hawkes was the best brewer. 32 03 11 & a

1932 03 12
Few villages with a population of 800 are capable of producing Gilbert and Sullivan operas in their own village hall, entirely unaided. In the last three years Harston Musical Society has produced 'The Mikado', 'Gondoliers' and 'Yeomen of the Guard' very successfully. This year it will be 'Ruddigore, and thanks to the advent of the electricity supply at Harston they will have a special lighting installation recommended by Mr Terence Gray of the Festival Theatre. 32 03 12

1932 03 14
Dr F.C. Searle is giving up his practice in Cambridge and will take up an appointment as a medical attendant on a ranch in Kenya Colony conducted by former students of Trinity College, known to him as patients during their stay at the University. "I have always felt the call of the wild and shall be in my element roughing it hundreds of miles from civilisation", he said. He has resigned from the Rotary Club and as medical officer to the Cambridge Home of Mercy. He will not be accompanied by his wife and children, for whom he has taken a house in Cambridge. 32 03 14

1932 03 15
A tall chimney standing in the midst of a smouldering ruin is all that remains of a large thatched farm house and dairy in High Street Fen Drayton. About midnight neighbours who smelt burning alerted the occupants and the elderly gentleman carried his invalid wife downstairs, clad only in her nightclothes. Fortunately the pond was directly opposite allowing firemen to work three hoses on adjoining houses and large wooden barns with thatched roofs which were in grave danger. The house, about 300 years old, was damaged beyond all hopes of repair. 32 03 15

1932 03 16
Stonea near Wimblington is composed of three public houses, a chapel, a few farms and a fen drainage engine or two. Mrs Naomi Parr, the wife of the engineer of the Middle Level Commissioners' pumping engine is jubilant as she had drawn Pelorous Jack in the Irish Grand National Sweepstake. She has received many congratulations on this piece of luck and has already received the tempting offer of £2,140 from Irish Pools. But she is determined to take her chance. 32 03 16

Anywhere ticket, p8

1932 03 18
Dr Searle, p5

1932 03 21
Cambridge Metal Stamping Company applied for permission to erect a modern factory at the rear of St Andrew's Road. This was an area zoned for residential use but was nearly opposite the Gasworks, which was not entirely a thing of beauty and the Corporation's pumping station, which was not quite as attractive as the gasworks. Pye's works close to the river were not at all objectionable, nor was Banham's boat building establishment. Despite reservations it was agreed. 32 03 21, 23 & a

1932 03 22
New Square, p5

1932 03 23
After all the controversy and heated arguments of a few years ago, there was no excitement at the opening of the New Square parking place. The council turned up in force and from under the shelter of umbrellas watched the Mayoress drive her car through the pale blue ribbon that had been knotted across the opening. At last motorists have a place where they can leave their cars and not come into the police courts. The Master of Jesus suggested that path inside the trees should be known as Coleridge Walk. 32 03 23b

Metal Stamping Factory, p3

1932 03 24
Cambridgeshire folk used to bake a large cake on Good Friday and, when dry, grate it into powder. This, mixed with water, was considered a panacea for many ills, especially diarrhoea. A popular Easter Sunday dish was known as 'herb' or 'season pudding, a kind of batter with onions, sage, thyme etc. Stool ball, a forerunner of cricket, commenced its season at Easter and games were played on village greens for prizes of candy cakes, a confection composed of eggs, sugar, flour, cream, spinach leaves and butter. 32 03 24 &

Photographic club – how newspaper blocks are made – J.W. Scott, manager CDN Photo Engraving Dept - 32 03 24b

Dr Searle, in Africa – 32 05 24a

1932 03 29
People attending the St Ives grass track motor cycle races gathered around the arena in anticipation of a pleasant afternoon's sport and the engines began to buzz for the first heat when down came the rain. The riders valiantly continued to plough their way round to the finishing post, churning up mud many feet high. Machines and riders were practically obliterated under a steady stream of earth and the announcer was the only one to discern who was who. 32 03 29

Rector of Stiffkey, p6

1932 03 30
Described by its builders and furnishers as 'the ideal home at the ideal price on the ideal terms' there is a newly built house in Kings Hedges Road which all prospective purchasers should inspect. With two receptions, three bedrooms, a bathroom and large garden it is on sale at the remarkably reasonable price of £625 freehold or for £35 deposit and 19/6 (97p) weekly. Robert Sayle has completely furnished it at a price of £140.10s. Lucky will be the wife whose husband presents her with this home. 32 03 30

The residential population of All Saints church in Cambridge is dwindling on account of commercial progress. Of 1,500 residents when the church was built, only 600 now remain due to the conversion of houses into shops and offices. The time is rapidly approaching when parishioners will have to consider the state of the church, the vestry meeting was warned. 32 03 30a

1930 03 31
Methwold and Feltwell Internal Drainage Board was in a bankrupt condition; it owed £10,000 and could not find the money to run the pumping engine. There was a risk of flooding 25,000 acres of the finest fenland in England. Many other boards were in the same condition. The whole of the fens had cost more than four times their value in draining. 32 03 31 & a

Grand Opening. W.H. Peak's new furniture showrooms, King Street. Our premises have been converted into four spacious floors exhibiting the most remarkable values in furniture, carpets and linoleum that has ever been offered in Cambridge. We have built up our business by selling only reliable goods. If you cannot pay a visit, we shall be pleased to send you our catalogue. – Advert. 32 03 31b

Mott death, p5

April 1932 CDN

1932 04 01
Stiffkey, p5
Blackmail, p4
Shelford fire, p8

1932 04 02
The Ministry of Transport should take steps to control the speed of heavy vehicles near Ely Cathedral. Standing close to the main road it has to bear the strain of almost continuous vibration, especially during the sugar beet season when the flow of traffic is extremely heavy and causes the windows in the Deanery to shake. 32 04 02

1932 04 05
Magistrates decided not to confirm the licence of the Vine Hotel, proposed on the junction of Vinery Road and Coldham's Lane to serve the needs of a new locality developing at a rapid rate. It would not be an ordinary public house but a catering establishment – though residents would not use it for breakfast, lunch or dinner. 207 had signed a petition supporting it, 100 signed another against it. 32 04 05

1932 04 06
Astonishing examples of hardship to farmers were cited at a tithe payers meeting at Willingham. There was an agricultural depression with Norfolk farmers going bankrupt at the rate of one a day. Land worth £25 an acre in 1925 was not worth £5 today, yet the same tithe had to be paid on it. At recent sales of farmers' goods a dozen sheep had been bought for 2s 6d (12p) and a tractor for 2s (10p). It is impossible to get blood out of a stone, but it is possible to smash it – and that was the attitude of the Ecclesiastical Commissioners. 32 04 06 a& b

Canon Cockshott has worked for the church for 60 years, choir, mother's meetings, Stretham retire Shelford – 32 04 06a

Huntingdonshire Chief Constable said that parish constables were, on the whole, useless and out of date, seldom of any use to the police. He had no objection to their abolition. But they were useful in the smallest localities, where police were scarcest. It was an official who had the power of an ordinary constable within the parish and should not be abolished merely to save £17 15s. a year. 32 04 06b

Fen Ditton school was on the 'Black List'. It was the worst in the county and probably the worst in England. The number of children had increased and now there were 103 packed like sardines in the main room with three teachers engaged with three different classes with only a flimsy curtain between them. The sanitary arrangements were very bad and the school was falling to bits. There was no playground so the children had to play on the road. They could do nothing with the site and would have to build a new school. 32 04 06b

Hailier failure, p8

1932 04 08
The Rob Roy Boat Club was founded by a church temperance organisation, Mr Morley Stuart observed at their annual dinner, but looking around the table he thought they must have strayed a little bit since then! The Robs lived up to the highest credentials a rowing a man could possess. Each generation had been worthy of the last and the present club was capable of winning back the Headship of the River plate.32 04 08

1932 04 09
Sir – as motorists do not appear to need the new New Square car park I suggest something useful should be done with it. It could be turned into tennis courts or used as a model yacht pond, a skating rink or the site for the new Guildhall. Meanwhile the surface should be coloured an appropriate shade of green as the white grey of the desolate expanse of concrete hurts my eyes. And could passers-by spare a few books for the attendant to read while he is waiting for the customers who never come – Ratepayer. 32 04 09

1932 04 11
A woman had a narrow escape from injury when the pavement blew up as she was walking down Fitzroy Street. She had almost passed the 'Fitzroy Arms' when an electrical junction blew opposite Williamson's shop sending a shower of stones into the air. Smoke coming out of the cracked pavement turned into a sheet of flame six foot high after a man threw a bucket of water on it. 32 04 11

1932 04 12
Smoke and frequent storms of rain, hail and snow, accompanied by thunder. A biting wind blowing gale force. The ground covered by a thick layer of slippery mud embedding cars that had to be freed by horses. Tote officials' hands too cold to pick the money off the benches. Despite all that there were many smiling faces at the point-to-point races at Thurlow as a surprisingly large crowd braved the elements. 32 04 12

Fenstanton cricket pavilion was totally destroyed by fire; within an hour there was nothing left but the charred remains of the wooden fence that surrounded it. All the cricket gear was saved. The pavilion was a 30-year-old wooden structure regarded as the best in Huntingdonshire. It was erected by voluntary subscriptions and insured for £200. The origin of the fire is a mystery. 32 04 12a

1932 04 13
Large new buildings designed by Sir Edwin Lutyens are part of a comprehensive extension scheme by Magdalene College on land originally occupied by Bird's vinegar and mustard factory. For two years it has been one of Cambridge's biggest building contracts but the comparative obscurity of the site has kept it out of the public eye. Eventually the whole of the west side of Magdalene Street from the bridge to Northampton Street will be cleared for reconstruction with a more imposing bridge and a further college wing at right angles to the present one. 32 04 13

1932 04 15
Tramps are on the increase. Previously the 'weary willies' were habitual vagrants who did no work; bearded, unclean and ragged they 'humped' their dirty kits through rain and sunshine. But now many respectable and well-dressed men who have been shorn of the dole by the Unemployment Insurance Act are taking to 'the road' in the almost vain hope of obtaining some employment. There are some from high professions who have found themselves cast on the 'rubbish heap', while married men are leaving their families rather than be a burden to wives who are employed. 32 04 15 &

Sir Alan Cobban visited Ashwell with his flying display. A large crowd watched the tricks and racing in the many different kinds of machines used. There were passenger flights, not only in the airspeed liners, but also in an open plane, a cabin monoplane, an autogiro, a glider and, for those who wanted an extra thrill, a plane set apart for aerobatics. In one event a pilot shot six balloons tied to a post with a revolver from a fast-moving plane. 32 04 15b

Corpus Christi College is to auction 'Pinehurst' and eight acres of land facing Selwyn College, close to the new University Library. There is every reason to think that apart from preventing the covering of the site with ordinary houses, its purchase for collegiate use would in time be found to be a very wise step. The vendors may be trusted to give the friendliest consideration to any proposal that may tend to the advantage of the college. 32 04 15c

1932 04 16
St Catharine's was one of the colleges whose elaborate extension schemes met with a setback through the war. There was to have been a full elevation to Trumpington Street with a completely enclosed court beyond. Now the porter's lodge will be replaced, the cobbles removed and the whole area sown with grass to give a more balanced frontage. It is eight years since that the elm trees, which formed a grove, were cut down. 32 04 16

1932 04 18
The entire confectionery department of Messrs H.G. Stiles' bakery at St Ives was totally destroyed by fire. For two hours the bakery, which contained tons of sugar, flour and a quantity of tea, blazed furiously. At one time the destruction of the shop and tea rooms appeared likely but fortunately it was separated by a thick wall and firemen managed to contain the outbreak. 32 04 18

New Square pic, p8*

1932 04 19
Two houses at Horningsea that had been condemned for demolition were sold for £200 – they had fetched only £150 ten or 12 years ago. The new owner thought they could be repaired satisfactorily. Three quarters of the thatched houses in the area were not half as sound as these were and on that basis at least 300 houses must be condemned. But the demolition order was confirmed. 32 04 19

1932 04 21
A number of farmers claimed they were unable to pay tithes because of the very bad times they were passing through. Those on heavy land were in a particularly parlous condition. A Whaddon farmer of 80 acres owed £10 13s which was suspended until mid-September to enable him to pay it out of the proceeds of the harvest. An agent for Queen Anne's Bounty agreed to suspend other distraint orders on payment of monthly instalments. 32 04 21

1932 04 22
Mr E.C. Green recalled that when he was a boy skittles were played by country people in a large shed; then it was brought into Cambridge with a club room converted into an indoor skittle alley. Both the pins and balls were made of India rubber with the sides of the room padded so there should be no noise. After a time the game died out but had now once again become a growing pastime with a Cambridge League started three years ago. 32 04 22a

The new Smedley canning factory at Ely will handle a full range of fruits and vegetables but specialise in greengages which grow better in Cambridgeshire than anywhere else in Britain. Canning will commence in June with about 200 people employed at the outset. It is capable of dealing with 5,000 tons of fruit and 10,000 tons of vegetables a year. Conferences have taken place with local growers with plans in hand for a big increase in the local acreage of produce specially cultivated for the canner. 32 04 22

1932 04 25
Greene, King and Sons who own the Panton Brewery formerly operated by Bailey and Tebbutt are closing down their Sudbury brewery as the result of the high duty on beer which has seriously affected their trade. It has been in operation for 60 years and was formerly carried on by Oliver Bros. The decision will not affect either the Cambridge or the main brewery at Bury St Edmunds. 32 04 25

1932 04 26
Brunswick athletic club, p7
Bertram Mills, p8

1932 04 28
Nobody wants a programme of industrialisation for Cambridge which would in any way spoil the amenities of the town as a residential centre, or disturb the charm and special beauty of the university. There were many industries for which the town was manifestly unsuited though absence of raw materials, skilled labour, housing for workers or industrial buildings. But new industrial zones could be established on the east side, the Chamber of Commerce say. 32 04 27 & a

A tractor caused a blaze on the farm of Mr John Scambler between Conington and Elsworth. Mr Richard Scambler was engaged in baling straw when the tractor back-fired and ignited a twenty-ton hay stack. A strong wind made it impossible to extinguish the flames. The stack was entirely destroyed and the tractor and baler damaged. 32 04 27b

1932 04 29
Buntingford's new post office, the most up-to-date of its kind in Hertfordshire, has an imposing frontage and the automatic stamp machines are lighted at night by electric strips. There is a spacious counter with the latest fittings while the sorting room is large with a rest room which contains up-to-date cooking utensils. Motor transport has been introduced so there will be three collections a day from nearly every box in the 15 parishes served. 32 04 29

Huntingdon Child home, p3

1932 04 30
Cambridge parted with the last of its hansom cabs a long time ago, but there are still a couple of four-wheelers to be seen on the stands, one driven by George Jolley and the other by Arthur Carter. George has been driving for 40 years but says things are not what they were. Cabbies used to assist undergraduates who were locked out of their college by backing the hansom against the wall to allow the belated reveller to climb over, negotiate the spikes on top and slip in unobserved. 'Growlers' were always available for mock funerals. 32 04 30

May 1932 CDN

1932 05 02
Tractor shoe, p3
Atom split, p6
Technical School, p8
Photographer, p8

1932 05 03
Cambridge Metal Stamping Company's plans for the erection of a factory on land off St Andrew's Road, Chesterton would endanger the beautiful prospect from the river. Alderman Starr said he had viewed the site and been surprised to see a very large building for Pye's Radio Works had already been erected on the opposite side of the road. Factories were being built without consent of the council but this one could be blocked under the town planning scheme. There were other places it could go. 32 05 03 & a

1932 05 04
Asked why the old ceremony of 'beating the bounds' of the parish had not been revived in Thaxted, the Rev Conrad Noel said that this was quite meaningless when most of the land and property was owned by a few people while most owned nothing. Almost all the common land had been stolen or annexed. He hoped the time would come again when the land would belong to the people and the old processions would proclaim the people's rights and ask for God's blessings on the crops. 32 05 04

Mr Taylor, the blind music, was a well-known figure in Cambridge. Who, having talked with him, has not been impressed by the personality of the robust, breezy, genial, gifted blind man who carried on a music business for over 20 years in his little shop in Bridge Street. Not only could he restore any musical instrument, however dilapidated, he was an exceedingly clever player of the violin and 'cello. 32 05 04a

1932 05 05
Metal stamping factory turned down – 32 05 05

1932 05 06
John Place, grocer's assistant v Dr Charles Searle re elopement of his wife – 32 05 06a & b

St Paul's church hall, Suez Road was dedicated to serve the large community resident in the Coleridge Road district. Jesus College had given the site with sufficient land at the rear to build a church while Mrs E. Rowcroft of Torquay had send a cheque for £1,000 for the building work. 32 05 06d

Prof Albert Einstein lectured on electricity and relativity in the Cambridge Senate House, filling a blackboard with mathematical symbols and diagrams. A tall, thick-set figure, with a great mane of unruly grey hair, he was totally unacademic in appearance, speaking in quiet broken English with occasional burst of German. He lectured quite informally while his quiet humour set the dons and undergraduates laughing many times. The audience included members of the women's colleges and a puzzled-looking group of young school girls. 32 05 06

1932 05 07
Prof Einstein at Cambridge – photo – 32 05 07

When Jack Overhill had his initial swim in the river at the age of one year and nine months he took to it like the proverbial duck. He was diving at the age of two and now aged four his standing somersaults from the springboard, reverse and hand-stand dives, flips and other stunts delight onlookers. Had it not been for his shyness to talk he would have been in the films by now. Paramount Sound News tried to make a 'talkie' of him in October but he refused to say anything! 32 05 07a

1932 05 09
The old Ortona bus company had a sort of family arrangement with the workers. But with the formation of Eastern Counties the men had suffered cuts in wages. A midnight meeting of 200 employees instructed the Transport and General Workers' Union to open negotiations for wages of 1s 4d (07p) an hour for drivers, 1s 2d (06p) for conductors, for a 48-hour week. On public holidays the pay should be double time. 32 05 09

1932 05 10
An inquiry was held at the Three Pickerels Inn, Mepal on a man who'd lived on No.1 Houseboat on the Counter Drain. He'd been playing the accordion, was quite sober and in the best of spirits but was later pulled from the water by his brother on Houseboat no.5. The deck had no protection, there was a strong wind and he might have lost his balance and slipped into the water which was fix feet deep. 32 05 10

1932 05 11

Governors of Christ's Hospital, a charity body and extensive landowners, were summoned at Saffron Walden for refusing to pay rates in respect of the tithe rent charge on land at Clavering. They were unable to recover tithes due to them from tithe payers and so could not meet the demand. Their endowments had to be put to the use of poor children, not poor landlords. A distress warrant was issued. 32 05 11

1932 05 13
Importers have been supplying eggs in large bulk to the wholesalers, providing continuous, dependable supplies to the retailer. Now the opening of the Royston packing station has improved the size and quality of home-produced eggs. The National Mark Egg Scheme has steadied prices; it is the best hope of retaining existing markets and may increase consumption. 32 05 13

Inquest Henry Watson, photographic artist of Newmarket – worked for Frank Griggs – 32 05 13a and 32 05 20d & e

Royston egg, p3*

1932 05 14
There is praise for the improvements along King's Parade effected by the substitution of the low stone balustrade for the old hurdles and the construction of the light railings to separate King's College and Senate House Yard. All the work has been done by local labour. Messrs Coulson and Rattee and Kett have been the builders and the iron railings have been made by George Lister and Sons. 32 05 14a

Ortona garage – line of men applying work as bus drivers and conductors – photo – 32 05 14

1932 05 16
Flames reached the roof of King and Harper's garage in Jesus Lane when a taxi-cab caught fire as it was being filled with petrol. Cars in the garage were pushed out and the blaze extinguished. The cab was taken to the Thompson's Lane depot but some part of it still smouldered for at four in the morning it again blazed up. This time it was totally destroyed. 32 05 16

1932 05 17
Royston Town Hall reopened after being altered at a cost of £2,500, with a three-day programme of entertainments. Melbourn Players performed on the first night – but attracted only a small crowd. 200 attended a ball on the Friday – as this was the first dance on the floor it was not as good as it might be, but will improve in time – and a variety entertainment by amateur London artistes on Saturday seemed to the liking of everyone. 32 05 17

1932 05 18
Overnight two unfurled umbrellas were securely tied to the pinnacles of King's College chapel so they stood straight up. The college called a window cleaner to remove them, but despite his long ladder he was unable to get within ten feet. Two undergraduates went on the roof with shotguns and endeavoured to shoot them down. One fell but the other proved more difficult. The shots knocked the handle sideways. For some hours it floated gracefully from side to side in the wind like some gigantic weathercock. 32 05 18

Royston workhouse, p8

1932 05 19
Some of the former spirit of the quaint St Ives custom of throwing dice for Bibles was recaptured when for the first time in 30 years a service was held in the church afterwards and the Vicar presented the bibles at the foot of the chancel. The custom used to take place in the church on the communion table. Twelve children had been selected, but three failed to present themselves so councillors acted in their stead. 32 05 19

A fire broke out at the Corporation Store Yard, Mill Road when a tar boiler, containing 240 gallons, boiled over. The tar blazed up and ran under some old timber, setting it alight. Several barrels of tar and a horse lorry also became involved in the blaze. Flames shot 30 ft in the air and a dense, black pall of smoke settled over the neighbourhood. Employees attempted to put it out with water and sand. Had the wind been blowing in the opposite direction, serious damage might have been done. 32 05 19a

Tick fen dispute – 32 05 19b

1932 05 20
Rabbit skin factory, Sturton Street now improved – 32 05 20

Cambridgeshire bird life – survey and folk lore – 32 05 20a & b

Fire broke out in three lock-up garages owned by S.B. Wallis of St Barnabas Road, Cambridge. An Austin 'Seven' was completely burnt out - so fierce was the heat that the wheels collapsed, leaving the car resting on its frame. The fire spread to a 1932 Morris Major; its petrol tank exploded and before the flames subdued a Fiat had been reduced to a charred and twisted wreck of wood and metal work. But the Morris' instruction booklet was practically unscorched. 32 05 20c

1932 05 21
What would papers do without Cambridge undergraduates' pranks? During a hard frost years ago some 150 callow youths had a 'curling' bonspiel on the pond at Emmanuel College. Each had a china bowl in lieu of the orthodox curling stone – and each bowl contained a lighted candle. Overnight a thaw set in and visitors watched gardeners salvaging the 'curling stones' from the bottom of the pond. Shortly afterwards undergraduates took a donkey dressed in cap and gown into dinner in hall. Most of the aged dons mistook him for one of themselves! But in those days no newspaper commented. 32 05 21a

The inner history of the King's College roof-climbing escapade has been revealed. The hazardous feat was carried out by two parties of undergraduates, including several-well known athletes, who are members of a secret organisation composed of skilled mountain climbers. They used the lightning conductor which has been loosened by previous generations of climbers. It is the climax of a series of climbs during the past few months; now they proposed to publish detailed accounts of their exploits. 32 05 21

Cambridge novel 'Poor Scholars' by A.R. Rossiter – 32 05 21b

1932 05 23
Cambridgeshire Insurance Committee considered moving to the new County Hall, Castle Hill. It was a very fine situation but what sane business man having a base in the centre would go a mile out of town to a place scarcely anybody knew - even though there was a free motor park. But future development would be on the north of Cambridge as the County had offered a very large acreage of land between Histon railway station and the old Chesterton village. 32 05 23 & a

1932 05 24
Night-climbers Kings chapel & Eton – 32 05 24

Dr Searle, p6*

1932 05 25
Ralph Starr reminiscences about 1875 – 32 05 25 & 25a

'Varsity Weekly', an undergraduate newspaper conducted on sensational lines, claimed that errand boys had been sumptuously entertained by members of the University in rooms in Trinity Street. As a result the writer was challenged to a duel. But police were waiting outside Girton College when a car drew up early in the morning. Inside they found three fencing epees with their protective buttons cut off and the points filed down to needle sharpness. 32 05 25b

1930 05 26
Cooking in Cambridge colleges – soups etc – 32 05 26

Bourn windmill worked until about six years ago when the sails were damaged in a gale. It was bought by Mansfield Forbes using money collected at an exhibition of Epstein's 'Genesis' at 'Finella'. Now it has been repaired by Hunts of Soham and will be presented to the Cambridge Preservation Society. 32 05 26a

1932 05 27
Non-payment of tithe, Saffron Walden farmers – 32 05 27

The Carnegie Trust offered to meet the cost of erecting a semi-permanent building to accommodate March Library provided the Isle of Ely County Council spend £200 on books. But councillors thought this an unnecessary expenditure at a time when people were hard pressed for money. 32 05 27 & a

The skin of a musk rat was exhibited at a meeting of the Ouse Catchment Board. The animals had been introduced into the country for breeding purposes but were a serious menace to river banks. They lived in colonies and made runs up to 1,000 feet long below water level. A reward of five shillings would be paid for each one killed. 32 05 27b

1932 05 28
St George's church appeal – (detailed) – 32 05 28 & 28a

Sensational disclosures are expected in connection with a fivefold shooting tragedy. While the shooting was taking place a girl operator in the telephone exchange was listening to it, powerless to help. The dead woman was in the act of putting through a telephone call. Before the bullet entered her head she had taken off the receiver which was found hanging on its wire when the police entered the house. 32 05 28 b & c, 30, 31

1932 05 30
Shooting, p8*

1932 05 31
Mass murder, Hills Road – 32 05 31a, b, 32 06 01 & b

June 1932 CDN

1932 06 01
The 'Brighter Roofs for Colleges' movement is growing. Overnight at Ridley Hall two cords were stretched from one of the college towers. On them pyjamas, pyjamas and still more pyjamas were floating in the wind. Large ones, small ones, brightly-coloured and silk examples were proudly swaying in the breeze and in the middle was suspended a parson's hat. After they had been lowered to the ground their various owners joined in a frantic scramble for their particular pairs which had been removed from their rooms. 32 06 01a

British Legion dedication Isle standard – 32 06 01
Shooting funeral, p8

1932 06 02
King's nightclimbing – brolly removed – 32 06 02
Prince George Wisbech show

1932 06 03
Messrs Hall, Cutlack and Harlock told a rating appeal there had been two large breweries at Ely which had now amalgamated. The Forehill Brewery had been expanded, with a new bottle washing shed and additional offices. But at the Quay Brewery the mineral water factory had closed and it was only used as a storehouse for lorries that were waiting to be sold. 32 06 03

1932 06 04
Bourn windmill was handed over to the Cambridge Preservation Society. It was probably the oldest in the country and cannot be economically used today. However it was pretty and on that criterion alone it is worth preserving. It was quite possible it would be made into a Youth Hostel. 32 06 04

A new Cambridge Guildhall should be built on the corner of East Road and Parkside where the site is three times as large, meeting the requirements of the Corporation for many years. The existing Guildhall on Market Hill should be replaced with shops on the ground floor and offices and flats above, councillors have recommended. 32 06 04a, 06a, 06aa

1932 06 06
The Conservative fete at the Gog Magogs has established itself as one of the events of the summer. Ten thousand people from every part of the county poured into the grounds by bus, car, cycle or on foot. There were stalls where all manner of things could be bought, a darts tournament, whippet racing and non-stop dancing on the cricket ground to the music of Salmon's and Foster's "Imps" Bands. 32 06 06c

Retrial Dr Charles Frederick Searle divorce case – 32 06 06b, bb, 32 06 07
Nightclimbing craze spreads to Emmanuel – 32 06 06d
Guildhall site, p3*

1932 06 07
Stan Waller, the Cambridge middle-weight boxer and one of the best in the country, has returned from a tour to South Africa designed to re-establish boxing in the public taste, for they have gone all-in-wrestling mad. He beat Eddie McGuire, the South African champion in a bout in Johannesburg. Meanwhile Cambridge had its first taste of open-air boxing with a tournament on the Town Football Ground promoted by Arthur Waller. 32 06 07a aa b

1932 06 09
May races opening – crowds – 32 06 09
New Guildhall debate – 32 06 09a, 32 06 20 & a, 32 06 21

1932 06 10
A 100-year old Girton lady, Mrs Elizabeth Evans, was remarkably active to the day of her death. She was a hard worker in a local laundry until she left, aged 86, to look after her husband. Up to a year ago she kept house for one of her grandsons in High Street and could be seen scrubbing the front step in the morning when she was 99 years of age. 32 06 10

Salvation Army young people's hall foundation – 32 06 10a & b

1932 06 11
St George's church foundation stone – 32 06 11

1932 06 14
May Week balls, p8

1932 06 15
Milk marketing scheme – 32 06 15a
Ebenezer Haynes, shoe maker – 32 06 15

Lolworth roadman killed, p8

1932 06 16
During mole draining on a Bourn farm the operator noticed the mole was pulling very hard and reduced the depth from one foot to ten inches. The land was very stiff, heavy and stony and oil consumption on his Fordson tractor was 30 gallons a day. But another contractor said such a tractor could pull a mole and drain 18 inches deep on such land and should consume only 12 gallons. The price charged was extortionate. 32 06 16a

The new Trinity Hall Estate off Milton Road is one of the highest, healthiest and more popular residential districts of Cambridge. It has been developed on garden suburb lines with grass verges and street lighting. The rooms are airy and spacious, hot and cold water is supplied to the bathroom, and there is a good garden with space for a garage. The first seven houses were sold before they were complete. 32 06 16b

Kensington advert, p7*

1932 06 17
A Cambridge Publicity Club was formed at a meeting of prominent businessmen. Some might like to advertise their goods by brochures, others by taking large space on hoardings or through the local press but they would be better off by the pooling of their ideas and by coming into contact with specialists who could offer advice. It might become a branch of the Chamber of Commerce. 32 06 17 a & b

A Cambridge doctor claimed payment from an undergraduate for a course of sun ray treatment. He sent his account to the college but the tutor had not been told the student had been ill and queried the charge. When undergraduates are going down it is extremely difficult, if not impossible to get them to pay their bills, he lost more from undergraduates than any other kind of patients, the doctor complained. 32 06 17 c& d

Stretham garden fete, p6*

1932 06 18
Laundry, p4

1932 06 20
Guildhall debate pic, p6*
Robinson plane crash, p7

1932 06 21
Gonville Place photo, p8*

1932 06 22
Prince of Wales visits Leys, p8*
Midsummer Fair returns to original site, opening – 32 06 22b

1932 06 24
There were three horses for sale on Midsummer Common – which is three more than last year. A group of bored-looking men watched the animals being put through their paces. An elderly man dressed in country clothes patted one of them and looked critically at its teeth. A young man in oil-stained overalls walked over, a pail in each hand. “What’s going on”, he asked. “The Horse Fair” I replied. “Never heard of it”. So pass out ancient institutions. 32 06 24

The Stokesay Laundry of Histon Road is a happy hive of industry where women and girls work under ideal conditions in a healthy atmosphere. They have installed a wonderful ironing machine which is the last word in efficiency. The extensive drying grounds in a very large garden ensure final cleanliness and sweetness. 32 06 18 & 18a

The Prince of Wales landed in his red Puss Moth monoplane at Marshall's aerodrome. He jumped hatless from the plane, then donned a boater and drove to the Leys School where he opened the new squash courts and sports ground. On his return he was assisted into his raincoat in preparation for a lofty flight in search of a favourable wind before he stepped into his monoplane, soared gracefully aloft and headed for London. 32 06 22a

1932 06 24
Midsummer Horse Fair, p8*

1932 06 28
"Billy" Godlington was born in Cambridge 64 years ago and began his career as a waiter at the Bull Hotel before serving in a similar capacity at Trinity College for forty years. His wife Florence (nee Leggett) was active during the Great War in connection with the Tipperary Club which made socks and sandbags for use at the Front. They had five sons, three of whom worked at Trinity with their father; four were in the war, one being killed serving with the Australians. 32 06 28

1932 06 29
Willingham house struck lightning – 32 06 29

1932 06 30
Newmarket Electric Light Company's new showrooms in the High Street include a large room to be used for cooking lectures and demonstrations. Progress is being made with the changeover from direct to alternating current and they can now shut down the Newmarket power station. The cost had come down to 8d (04p) a unit, but it was still somewhat of a luxury at that price. 32 06 30 & 30a

March Town Football Club's season was probably the worst in their 50 years of existence. They had a deficit of more than £30 and several of their best players were unscrupulously persuaded to play for another team. They competed in two leagues and finished at the foot of each. The bright feature was the wonderful loyalty of their few playing members in the face of overwhelming defeats, week after week. 32 06 30b

July 1932 CIP

1932 07 01
Sir. Agricultural workers' wages are down from 46 shillings (£2.30) to 30 shillings (£1.50) and even so many are unable to find employment. The price of farm produce is below the cost of production but still the 'Grasping Parson' expects to receive the same tithe as they did when wheat was making £2.8s a quarter – it is now around £1.4s. They do not care who suffers - poverty-stricken widows have been dragged through the county court. The church is committing suicide by its callous treatment of tithe holders - 'Fair Play'. 32 07 01

Sir – Histon has a railway crossing – but it is by no means a 'level' one. It needs a footbridge for pedestrians. Recently two villagers were waiting for one of the long goods trains to pass along the railway; "Is it a goods or a passenger" one asked. "Goods" was the resigned reply. "Then I'll just go home and have a shave while it goes by". 32 07 01b

The cross-roads in the centre of Melbourn were the scene of another accident when a Jowett car going to Royston collided with a Morris Isis drive by Sir Layton Blenkinsop which was crossing to Meldreth. Happily both cars were travelling dead slow, otherwise the collision might have had more serious results. The smaller Jowett car was damaged rather badly. 32 07 01c

Balsham British Legion, p10
Willingham lightning, p13*

1932 07 08
A new oak altar and side chapel was consecrated at All Saints' Church, Huntingdon. It is the gift of the Countess of Sandwich in memory of her mother, Bessie McLeod Leggett, and was designed by J.M. Cowper who was responsible for the Warriors Chapel at Westminster Abbey. 32 07 08

Wicken Coronation Band played during a fete to raise money for repairs to the village almshouses. There was plenty to amuse with darts, coconut shy, a rifle range and various stalls. Then there was a dancing display by pupils of Miss K. Setchell of Sutton and a variety entertainment by C. Arnold's Concert Party. Mr C. Alsop – known as 'Wick' on account of his activities for the village – said many Cambridge people had made donations. 32 07 08a

The publican of the Prince of Wales, Histon Road, Cambridge became licensee in May 1914. His wife ran it while he served in the army during the war and afterwards he made 25 per cent profit on beer and a third on spirits. But his furniture was not very good and there was no inducement for people to come there. There were four other pubs in the locality and he lost trade when the depression set in. 32 07 08b

Sir – since Eastern Counties Omnibus Company took over from Ortona the conditions of employment are far worse. Conductors now have to write numbers in tiny squares all day and only get 2s 6d a week extra for working a double-deck bus. The old firm granted a permanent pass for employees' wives, now they get none. Cleaners and fitters - the highly-skilled men who tend the fleet - earn over a pound a week less than before. – A Ratepayer. 32 07 08c

Windows of the houses in Sawston were rudely shaken by a heavy explosion, followed after a brief interval by another equally loud. People ran into the streets and rumours were rife – two aeroplanes were down, an anti-aircraft gun was being tested at Duxford. The noise was called by huge rockets purchased by the Parish Council as fire warnings. They are intended bring firemen on bicycles to the station where they secure a horse, harness it to the engine and gallop to the fire. It would doubtless soon be got under control – if there was only a water supply! 32 07 08e

Allegations of a bus 'war' between Eastern Counties and Reliance Coaches were revealed when Mr L.J. Parker applied to run an additional service from Cottenham to Cambridge on Saturday nights. Reliance charged one penny to garden workers between Cottenham church and Garden Gate, considerably less than Eastern Counties. But they claimed his vehicles were driven by men who were not licenced for public service work. 32 07 08d

Harston land, p7

1932 07 15
The Duke and Duchess of York opened Papworth Village Settlement's Women's Hospital which provides accommodation with the personal appurtenances of a private bed-sitting room so that each of the 62 patients may enjoy cheerful, colourful surroundings in her fight for health. Then they journeyed on to Addenbrooke's Hospital to open a new wing for children. 32 07 15a & b

Cambridge councillors say the municipal buildings should remain on the Guildhall site and not move to Parkside as had been proposed. It should be a worthy building, not surrounded by shops. With four floors they could provide 70 per cent more accommodation for officials but five would add to the dignity of the building and leave some surplus space that could be let and provide a source of income. But it must not overwhelm the market place. 32 07 15 c & d

The new Shire Hall was opened with little ceremony in the presence of a handful of people. The Architect (H.H. Dunn) presented the Chairman, Ald W.C. Jackson, with a gold-covered key engraved with the County Arms with which he unlocked the door. Soon a stream of guest arrived and the corridors presented a most animated appearance. The council chamber is very similar to that at the old County Hall in Hobson Street from which all the seats and tables have been removed while every care has been taken to provide the maximum air, light and spaciousness to the offices. 32 07 15e & f

Policeman charged, p7
Queen at Fitzwilliam, p9*
Ramsey rights of way, p13

1932 07 22
Fenstanton's new village hall was opened by the Bishop of Ely. The idea was mooted 17 years ago and the work had gone on under three vicars. The hall had been converted out of some stables at the back of the vicarage at a cost of £500 and a piece of land added in the event of a further extensions being required. It gave parishioners the opportunity to develop fellowship, unity and enjoyment between one another. 32 07 22a

Tobacco-growing in this country has been crushed by absurd laws but pipe and cigarette tobacco could be grown on Cambridgeshire allotments – Shelford alone could produce many tons of cured leaf. It could be a more profitable industry than sugar beet with a factory in Cambridge providing employment. Mr J. Burn-Murdoch will show samples of his home-grown tobacco at Shelford Horticultural Show together with specimens of cigarettes manufactured in England. 32 07 22b

Rail smash, p6

1932 07 29
Cambridgeshire County Council held their first meeting at the new administrative buildings on the Castle site when the recommendation that it be called 'Shire Hall' was adopted without discussion. It was admirably suited to its purpose without any frills and decorations. But Councillor Fordham regretted the purchase of two Turkey carpets for the councillors' room at cost of £37. 32 07 29a & b

Farmers objected to the proposed harvest wages; Mr Scambler declared that prices were down by 25 per cent. He had 500 lambs that looked like making £500 less than last year. Agriculture was bankrupt and prices had gone to bits. How could the farmer pay for the harvest while we allowed foreign food to come in – wheat was being imported from Germany at 21 shillings a quarter? Special harvest wages should be wiped out. Farmers were mostly honest men and so were the workers. They should be left to make an agreement themselves. 32 07 29e

A bricklayer's labourer told the court that when he passed Newsells Lodge at Barley he noticed a lorry near Mr Crossman's spinney and saw the prisoners come out with iron fencing on their shoulders which they put on the vehicle which then drove off. Frederick Dodkin, a blacksmith, noticed it bore the name 'General Motor Transport Co., Ealing'. One defendant said he took them to make petrol can crates. The other said "I was with him, but I did not want them'. They were sorry they did such a foolish thing. 32 07 29d

Littleport was plunged into gloom after a fatal accident at the Show. A man died when his parachute became entangled in the rudder of the plane. The machine at once tail dived and drifted backwards over an oatfield. The right-hand wing struck the ground and the propeller dug into the soil. The pilot lay bleeding and about 30 feet from the tail was a mark caused by the body of the parachutist striking the ground. His wristwatch was still going. 32 07 29f

The old bells of Swavesey church have been tuned and re-hung on a steel frame with ball bearings which lessens the work of the ringers very considerably. They have been in the church for about 180 years and were originally fitted by Messrs Gillet and Johnson of Croydon. A new floor has also been laid under the bells which makes their tone more pleasant. 32 07 29h

Painting streets, p6
Stretham man fined, p20*
Lorry fire, p13

August 1932 CIP

1932 08 05
Nearly 200 troops arrived at Ely for the voluntary camp of the Cambridgeshire Territorials. On Tuesday they marched to a field on the Littleport Road where the men engaged in machine gun work while trained machine-gunners were taking ranges from the water tower. The men have been accommodated in the old Barracks while the officers' mess has been at the Lamb Hotel where in accordance with the old Militia tradition the band has played outside in the evenings. All the catering has been done with local tradesmen, which has been much appreciated. 32 08 05a

Seven pigs were roasted alive in a fire which destroyed buildings at Manor Farm, Great Raveley. Mrs F. Herbert made a great effort to save them but failed owing to the intense heat. She threw buckets of water on the flames and prevented them reaching the house until the arrival of Ramsey Fire Brigade helped extinguish the blaze. 32 08 05b

Cereal growing in Cottenham has reached the lowest ebb in living memory. Many acres of land have become derelict and present a sorry spectacle indeed. It suffered first in May from excessive wet, followed by prolonged drought and then the recent heavy storms. The farmer's expenses will again over-ride receipts. Most fruit growers are disappointed with the crops, though the canners have taken a fair quantity, which has helped. 32 08 05c

1932 08 12
The University of Cambridge has accepted Messrs Rattee and Kett's tender for the superstructure of the new University Library. They are also building an extension to the School of Agriculture and the Royal Society Mond Laboratory while Mr Sindall is building the new block of lecture rooms in Mill Lane and Coulson and Son have the contract for the extension to the Physiological Laboratory. These valuable contracts have been made possible largely by the munificent gift of the Rockefeller Trustees. 32 08 12b

Sir – On Saturday night I saw a meteorite near Ramsey. It dropped in a slanting direction towards the southern horizon and appeared to be travelling in half circles. A long trail of greenish light was left behind, although the meteorite itself was yellow and even more brilliant than lighting. It was not like any other shooting star, five of which I saw before dawn. – J.A. Burn-Murdoch. 32 08 12c

The Union Jack and the American flag were draped behind the chair of the President, H. Franklin when Cambridge Rotarians assembled at the Dorothy Café to hear an address from the founder of Rotary, Mr Paul Harris. Mr Galloway said they were content to assist in the cultivation of this great movement and offered its founder their most grateful and affectionate tribute. 32 08 12d & e

The greatest Guide camp Cambridgeshire has ever known is taking place in Chippenham Park to commemorate the 21st anniversary of the movement. As I motored round the camp we saw on all sides healthy, merry, laughing girls, filled with the zest that only life in the glorious open can give. A clump of huge beeches is the site of a huge camp fire where every one of the 600 Guiders gather round the blazing logs to sing and yarn, the night sky overhead and the smell of wood smoke in their nostrils. Then are friendships made. 32 08 12f & g

Suicide Arthur Savidge, Twentypence Road, Wilburton – worried that father had lost farm – 32 08 12a
Swavesey land dispute – 32 08 12f

1932 08 19
A fracas at Wellington Street had a sequel at Cambridge Police Court. One man claimed another had insulted his wife by calling her a 'wireless set' so he hit his mother and grandfather. After that there was a free fight. The Mayor said they could not do that sort of thing and Wellington Street must be better behaved. People should not meddle with other people's private affairs. 32 08 19a

Proposals to close the Saffron Walden Public Assistance Institution and build a large institution at Takeley were criticised. It would be a large specialist hospital for old people but old age was not a disease, what they wanted was comfort. It would mean herding people together for the sake of economy, not treating them as human beings. An institution had been built at Dunmow 20 years ago and a few years later was scrapped and sold for less than half its cost. 32 08 19b

An enquiry into a footpath at Aspenden heard from Dr Harry Dixon from Buntingford who said he went to the village many times using the footpath across the field at the back of the Red Lion. The stile had not been wired up when the pub burned down in 1917 and until 1929 there was never any obstruction. Other elderly residents remembered using it. But it was not shown on the Enclosure Award and people had been stopped from time to time by gates and barricades. 32 08 19c & d

John Austin Fabb started in business as a printer, moving to Guildhall Street in 1881 and Corn Exchange Street in 1920. He printed the Cambridge Review from its inception in 1879 and conceived the idea of a list of Resident Members of the University in 1890. During the war he compiled seven editions of the list of Cambridge University men on active service. He was a prominent Freemason and founded the York Street Sick Club. 32 08 19e

Sir – modern education is insufficient as witnessed by the complaints of employers at the errors made by young people seeking their first post. But what can society expect whilst teachers have to attend to the requirements of 60 and more children in each class? Schools should develop character in addition to imparting knowledge but teachers have to combat indifferent home influences. If society desires protection from its vices let it not economise at the expense of its schools – Walter Billings, Coleridge Road. 32 08 19f

Teversham Sunday School children prefer the old fashioned type of 'treat' to any organised outing. Tea in the rectory garden was followed by games in the field and with four swings and a rocking-horse for the tinies, everybody was happy. Balloons were very popular as was the usual scrambling for sweets. Instead of the usual toys the Rector presented each child with a Book of Common Prayer and they gave him many hearty cheers. 32 08 19g

1932 08 26
The purchase of up-to-date fire appliances has been a controversial subject at Ely so councillors were given demonstration of one of the latest motor fire engines at the Quay. Built on a Ford two-ton chassis it has dependable brakes and can seat officer, driver and six firemen. The pump delivers 250 gallons of water a minute though a 120 feet of hose 32 08 26a

Ely council considered a letter about the proposed open-air swimming baths to be erected by a Cambridge lady. She wanted to know the price they required for the land, whether they would lay on a water supply and how much they would charge for filling it with water. It would hold 70,000 gallons and be changed once a week. Ely people wanted a swimming bath but if it was going to pay an individual, would it not pay the council? They should look into costs themselves. 32 08 26c

Sir – recently at the Dorothy Café I sat at the table with an elderly farmer and the conversation drifted to the difficulty of obtaining reliable farm labour. Then he sang me a song of goodwill, grit and endeavour. It starts 'Now if you will listen a moment or two, I'll sing you a bit of a rhyme, I'll tell you what I think a man must do, To make the best use of his time." Is it an old Cambridgeshire folk song? – J.T. Lambeth. 32 08 26d

A stack fire which broke out near Coldham's Lane attracted a crowd several hundred strong. It is believed to have been started by one of the many courting couples who frequent the place. Mr A.H. Doggett of Rectory Farm, Cherry Hinton said: "The fire was not caused by internal combustion, nor by lightning. Couples come here and lie about. I don't mind so much as long as they don't damage my property". Boy scouts from Fen Ditton worked with police and farm hands to prevent the flames spreading. 32 08 26e

Sir - Has the country gone examination mad? Mass production may be effective in industry but when it is applied to education it becomes tragic. I recall a large schoolroom filled with village children, with a master who was a retired soldier with a pension whose wife taught the girls needlework in the afternoons. There was no other help except that the elder children had to teach the youngest. The modern child is much quicker in the uptake and has a wider outlook at 14 than I had at 20. - 'Rusticus'. 32 08 26g

Of Huntingdon Town Football Club little can be written. Owing to poor support by the public and heavy travelling expenses, they are in debt to the extent of £60 and have decided not to continue in the Peterborough League. It is hoped that things will improve. The public must rally round more if they desire Huntingdon to remain on the football map. 32 08 26h

Residents in Little St Mary's Lane narrowly escaped injury when the chimney-stack of the Museum of Classical Archaeology was struck by lightning. Its extensive double glass roof was completely wrecked and two plaster casts of classical figures were slightly damaged. One brick struck the floor with such force that it rebounded on to the base of a model, which it chipped. 32 08 26

Sir - Swavesey RDC repaired the bridge at Webb's Hole some years ago but have for a long time been lax in looking after it. How many of the old rights of way between Swavesey and the Ouse are now available for the public. Where are the stiles? How much is left of the footbridge over Covill's drain on the right of way to Holywell Ferry and is it possible to get to Overcote across Middle Fen, as in days gone by? – Fisherman. 32 08 26j

Coveney farmer fined bad condition of horse – 32 08 26b

Stretham – F.H. Dimmock foot seriously injured by grass cutting machine – 32 08 26c

September 1932 CIP

1932 09 02
St Ives workhouse took in 693 casuals during the month, compared to 309 last August, including 19 women and ten children who had been fruit picking with their parents. It was unusual for girls of this age to be tramping. They have been made too comfortable and preferred such institutions to lodging-houses. They were supposed to pay for their keep but the men hid their belongings so it was difficult to know what they owned. 32 09 02a

Abbey United started their football campaign in fine style. Not only did they play their first match on their new ground but they won it. The ground is situated close to the former pitch at Newmarket Road and has been levelled and fenced-in. All this was possible through the generosity of the club president, Mr H.C. Francis and it was officially declared open by Mr R.J. Wadsworth. 32 09 02b

Ernest Bevan opened the new wing of the Transport and General Workers' Convalescent Home at Littleport. It includes a billiard room, dining room, recreation rest room and ten bedrooms. The whole of the old building has been redecorated and with its well-laid-out gardens is now an ideal spot for invalid workers to recover their health. The Union purchased the site in September 1920 for £2,500, the Home opened in May 1921and 9,000 men have passed through it. 32 09 02c

Practical jokers have been at work again on the statue of Oliver Cromwell on the Market Hill at St Ives. This time a yo-yo was attached to the pointing finger of his outstretched arm and was the cause of much amusement. Poor Oliver! Of recent years he has been adorned with objects ranging from beer bottles to a loaf of bread but this latest prank seems to be the most topical yet. 32 09 02

Mr J. Wentworth-Day of Wicken learned journalism on the 'Cambridge Daily News' and wrote the biography of Sir Malcolm Campbell. He recently dined with the Duke and Duchess of York who displayed great interest in the bird sanctuary at Wicken Fen. He also flew in the first aeroplane to land on the tiny island of Sark in the Channel Islands. 32 09 02d

Burwell churchyard, p8
Rendezvous, p11, p12

1932 09 09
Members of the Cambridge Workers' Hospital Fund say they cannot accept the new Addenbrooke's Hospital Contributory Scheme. There have been no discussions with the Hospital who have rejected every approach. They had refused permission to put posters on the gates of the Hospital saying it would not look nice – although notice boards advertised a staff dance for the nurses. 32 09 09a

Aldreth householders appealed against their rate assessment. Mr W. Nicholas had bought a former public house when it closed for £150. There were six rooms, a wash-house and about 30 poles of ground, two small stables and a barn. A.G. Wright had three houses, they were old properties and wanted a lot of attention to keep them in habitable repair. He could not charge more than three shillings a week for them: there was no water and they were isolated. 32 09 09b

Norris Library, p9
Horse photo, p12*
New estate linking Histon Road with St Luke's estate – photo – 32 09 09c

1932 09 16
A well-known St Ives figure has been removed by the death of Mr Frederick Whaley, aged 80. He served in local banks becoming sub-manager with Messrs Foster which was taken over by the Capital and Counties and then Lloyds. He was a total-abstainer and non-smoker who filled every office at the Wesleyan Chapel. He always went abroad to escape the winter but declared that 'St Ives was the best place on earth between Easter and Christmas'. 32 09 16a

The notorious Rector of Stiffkey changed trains at Cambridge station. Immediately he arrived in the booking hall – in clerical attire and with a cigar in his mouth – he was recognised and news spread with amazing rapidity. Many eyes followed him and he waved frequently in reply to salutations. He leant down to a small boy and patted him on the head with the remark 'You know me, didn't you'. He informed a CDN representative that he would be returning to his Norfolk parish shortly. 32 09 16b

At the opening of the new Spicers Theatre at Sawston Mr H.G. Spicer recalled that they had provided silent pictures for ten years, now they would be 'talking' or 'musical'. He hoped to also have variety entertainment, theatricals and dances. He then attacked the County Education Officer, Herbert Morris, over the previous agreement for showing pictures at Sawston Village College. 32 09 16b

When the electric current failed in Newmarket on Monday night the audience at the Kingsway Cinema waited by gaslight for it to return. The Victoria Cinema was not incommoded at all, for all of the electricity in the club, billiards room and bar is manufactured on the premises. But the Oddfellows and British Legion Clubs were plunged into darkness and had to resort to candles. 32 09 16c

The Chief Constable said it was contrary to regulations for heavily-laden lorries to stop on the road and it was impossible for them to pull on to the grass verge as they would become embedded. It was time the county provided hard-surfaced 'pull-offs' so the drivers could sleep at night. But councillors said they were not Cambridgeshire lorries and the Ministry of Transport should fund them. 32 09 16d St Ives Whaley, p16*

1932 09 23
The Union of British Methodism – bringing together the Wesleyan, Primitive and United Methodists - is the most important event in the history of British Nonconformity since the birth of Wesley. Cambridge's first Methodist chapel in Fitzroy Street was where Gipsy Smith heard the sermon which led to him becoming an evangelist. It is now Fellowship House for the local unemployed. 32 09 23b & c

Huntingdon county council should take over the Tick Fen Road. At present it was a private road and if it required repairing the expense fell on the owners. On the question of drainage, Alderman Tebbutt said the Ouse Catchment Board had not got a single man with any real experience of fen rivers. They were very able young chaps but there was only one man who really understood the position, Capt Matthews, and he was now dead. 32 09 23d

On the Kendal Way Estate 375 new panels had had to be put in the front doors as they had cracked badly and fallen out on the mats. To put them in workmen had nailed pieces of wood at the back of the doors and nailed the new panels on to them. Such bodged-up doors should be taken out straight away and replaced with new ones. In every house one can find one or more of the ceilings and walls cracked. Jobs were only done properly when the clerk of the works was around. 32 09 23e

The new schoolroom adjoining the Baptist church at Over was blessed and opened following a service in the chapel, which was filled to capacity. It was something they could be truly glad about. While other churches were thinking of cutting down, they were extending. A powerful progressive church was something to rejoice in and praise God about. All they needed was a minister so that the interest did not become cold. 32 09 23f

Ambulance men had to carry stretchers nearly two miles through boggy fields, sometimes knee deep in swamp, before they could reach the victims of an aeroplane crash near Hauxton. The De Haviland Gipsy Moth, hired from Marshall's Aerodrome, suffered engine failure and struck the top of a tree. The journey back to the ambulance proved more difficult but was helped by a C.D.N. van driver. 32 09 23f

Jesus College boathouse was damaged by fire; the upper floor was gutted and the stone ground floor reduced to the dismal prospect of two dozen boats of all kinds, either charred beyond repair or only slightly blistered by the heat. They included ten eights, two fours, two light pairs, two whiffs, two funnies, three tubs and three bank tubs. But the clock tower still stands and the clock still works. The blaze was spotted by a man on the opposite bank but the mist was so thick at the time that he was in doubt whether the building was actually on fire. 32 09 23g

Pull-offs, p5*
Green End Road school photo, p12

1932 09 30
The agricultural wages tribunal heard that the position of the farmer was as bad as it was possible to be, the list of farm sales is appalling and it is impossible to continue to pay the present wages and maintain the correct number of men to farm efficiently. But the proposed wage of £1.3s.6d. (£1.18) would bring workers to a state of semi-starvation. Eventually it was fixed at £1.10s.0d a week (£1.50). 32 09 30aa

Members of the National Unemployed Workers' Movement organised a meeting opposite a house in New Street, Cambridge in the interests of a resident who was threatened with eviction. The man was a rag and bone dealer with two children whose application for relief from the Public Assistance

Committee had been refused on the grounds that he was not starving. A Defence Committee was formed to oppose his ejection and a demonstration will be arranged on Parker's Piece. 32 09 30bb (picture 32 09 30d)

Swavesey hedges dispute – 32 09 30a & b

Adelaide wedding by boat - -photo – 32 09 30c

October 1932 CIP

1932 10 07
Sir – the time is not far distant when every village of importance will have to provide an official parking place for motor vehicles. The traffic through Melbourn may be abnormal but a parking place near the cross, church and green is even now a necessity. The many white road lines are evidence of the dangerousness of its turnings and corners. While many a halting motorist is rightly moved in by the police there are some who escape attention and it is ironic that motorists who offend least may be those who have to suffer – Melbournite. 32 10 07e

A Swaffham Bulbeck man told the Bankruptcy Court that he'd dealt in pigs and poultry, saved money and bought ten acres of land at Lode. He then bought his father's coal carts for £90 and supplied coal chiefly in small bags. But there was a lot of competition and he'd had to lower his prices. He owed considerable sums to coal merchants, then the corn crop failed. He put his land up for auction but it failed to reach the reserve and later sold for only £150. 32 10 07a

County engineers reported that the main beams of the bridges at Sutton Gault were no longer safe for a load exceeding three tons and needed to be improved. The piles were also in a very rotten condition. The Estates committee recommended that Sutton Tollhouse, the adjoining cottage and a strip of land on the opposite side of the road, should be offered to the Isle of Ely County Council at the price of £100. But Herber Martin considered this excessive. 32 10 07aa & 32 10 07b

The old English sport of falconry was demonstrated on Roger Fuller's land at Wicken. Lord Howard de Walden and his friends go hunting with his falcons every year. The five peregrine falcons were brought to the field in an up-to-date motor car and after one or two fruitless efforts finally made a kill out of sight of the spectators. 32 10 07bb

It was an important day in the history of Downing College when the Lord Chancellor opened a block of new buildings. In 1910 undergraduates had petitioned for a chapel to replace the small upper room in which religious services were held, then a former member directed in his will that a chapel, library and livings rooms be provided. New gates in Tennis Court Lane commemorating the tragic death of Prof. Kenny were also opened. 32 10 07bb

Varsity Express Motors asked to be allowed to increase the average speed of their motor coaches on the Cambridge-London route to 25 mph – it would cut 15 minutes off the journey. The early morning coach leaving at 6.30 made very few pickups and it would be useful if it arrived in London before 9 o'clock as most of the coaches leave for the coast then. They manage to catch some by dropping passengers on their route but it was difficult to get to Regent Street in time for the Bournemouth coach. 32 10 07b

Linton council heard that there was a plague of rats. They should go back to the old scheme of paying a penny per tail for dead rats. But there would be an awful scrap for the tails when stacks were pulled down and they would be paying out for all the rats in Cambridgeshire. It had cost of a lot of money and in the end there were more rats than ever - there were rumours that people bred them, simply to kill them and collect the pennies. It would be cheaper to employ a professional rat-catcher. 32 10 07c

The landlord of the Crown Inn, Linton, told the bankruptcy hearing that the pub had paid its way until the new taxes went on. While there he'd gone into partnership as a garage owner but this had come to an end when the Dominion Oil Company sold up the garage. After that he travelled for a book firm, working on commission while his wife looked after the pub. He then borrowed from a moneylender. 32 10 07d

1932 10 14
Cambridge town councillors saw their constituencies from a new angle when they took the air in Sir Alan Cobham's big liner. He was visiting Marshall's aerodrome with his fleet of planes and many gathered to see his display. The Mayor was unable to be present and the deputy mayor preferred solid ground. When the party was about to take off it was discovered to number 13, so the County Chief Constable stepped into the breech and the plane both ascended and descended safely. They made a comprehensive survey of the town with its ring of new housing estates though the new County Hall looked more impressive than the huddled roofs of the Guildhall. 32 10 14a

A man, his wife and five children were rendered homeless when fire destroyed their cottage at Shepreth. It was a four-roomed building owned by William Wilkinson of the Chequers, Fowlmere and occupied by Alfred Taylor. When the fire brigade arrived they found a plentiful supply of water was available but the high wind fanned the flames so strongly that they were unable to save the dwelling. All the furniture was removed to a barn. 32 10 14b

Cambridge Market Hill presented an animated appearance when the University Drag Hounds held a meeting. Thirty horsemen gathered to be welcomed by the Mayor and a silver stirrup cup was handed round to all who could persuade their mounts to remain still for 30 seconds. They then moved off followed by all but one of the hounds which soon received 'instructions' from the crowd of 200 spectators and joined his comrades. 32 10 14a

The new church of St George, Chesterton, was packed for the dedication by the Bishop of Ely. He welcomed those from the local district: it was for them that the church had been built. It was only a hall at present but he wanted them to see to it than an actual church was built in due course. 32 10 14a

1932 10 21
Mr Butler, who owns a filling station on the main Cambridge-Ely road at Milton, said two men drove up in a large Talbot saloon car and asked for ten gallons of petrol. While he was screwing on the cap the car began to move. He jumped on to the running board but it drove off at high speed through the village, swerving on to the verge to try and knock him off. He fell into the road and was picked up by a lorry driver. The car was stolen in the London area. 32 10 21a

Coton Women's Institute was formed in 1923 and five years later they'd decided to build a new hall. A piece of land was acquired from Mr Edwards on very favourable terms and a sub-committee of men formed to help with the building. The contract was given to Mr E. Peacock at a total cost of about £300. Now it was open and their grand-daughters would enjoy the amenities of the fine Institute. 32 10 21b (pic 32 10 28f)

Considerable excitement was caused at Gamlingay when a delivery van crashed head first through the front of Mr Cope's dwelling at the corner of the Cross. No one was injured and the van only slightly damaged, but the house will require a new door and window. Only last week the Parish Council had asked the County Surveyor to provide white lines at these dangerous cross-roads. 32 10 21c

1932 10 28
St Ives magistrates were told that twelve months ago five persons by the name of Topper were ejected from a house and the Vicar of St Ives had kindly allowed them to use the parson's house at Woodhurst on the understanding that it should be vacated on request. They took a lot of furniture with them and two or three rooms were so 'bunged up' they could not be used. The resident clergyman, who acted as curate, had lived in the house with them for six months but now desired complete possession. 32 10 28

Bus companies applied for an increase in fares due to the threepence a gallon rise in the cost of petrol. Buses averaged about nine miles per gallon. But there was no doubt the number of bus services now running were not justified. Before the Road Traffic Act of 1931 there had been a feverish rush of bus owners on to the road. Services were put in which did not pay, except by causing the extinction of rival operators. 32 10 28 & c

Prince Aly Khan, son of the Aga Khan, was injured in a motor accident near Six Mile Bottom on Saturday night while returning from a shooting party. He was taken to the Evelyn Nursing Home and detained. His car, driven by his chauffeur, came into collision with a lorry, crashed through a hedge, rolled down into a field ten feet below and overturned. An eye-witness says he was amazed to see the occupants alive. 32 10 28b

A Baroness complained that without buses it was impossible for people in Storey's Way to keep cooks – they are elderly people and cannot ride bicycles. Many households had reduced the number of servants. She herself had been obliged to give up her car and lower her expenditure considerably, consequently she was an ardent bus-rider. Lady Hope of Herschel Road said the buses ran irregularly and never in connection with one to the railway station. But very few Grange Road residents used them and some would even object to a service. 32 10 28d

John Yeomans came to Cambridge at the age of 19 in 1857 and purchased the shop at the corner of Petty Cury and Sidney Street from Mr Lyons where he carried on business as a chemist for 40 years. He had a vivid recollection of events: he knew George Stephenson personally and was a passenger in the first railway engine to run in England. 32 10 28e

Hunger marchers at Cambridge – picture – 32 10 28f –

November 1932 CIP

1932 11 04
The Rev Herbert Appleford was a notable benefactor to the new parish of St George that covers the new housing estates in the Milton Road district. It has been an open secret that his enthusiasm and generosity made possible the work of the church. He provided money to purchase a site, he laid the foundation stone and was present at its dedication. He also furnished the sanctuary and gave half the cost of the clergyman's house. The new church practically owes its existence to his generosity. 32 11 04

Romsey Labour Club celebrated its 21st anniversary. In the early days everyone in the movement was a worker, unfortunately as the party grew in numbers the percentage of workers became less and they had to be 'up and doing' if they were to bring about the new social order of things. In 1911 they fought their first seat in Romsey when Tom Orrey polled 147 votes. In 1920 they tried again and the present Alderman Briggs was elected. 1912 saw the first – and greatest- open-air demonstration on Parker's Piece when many thousands were present. Permission had been refused but they decided to defy the council and the police. 32 11 04a

Cambridge Labour Party 21st birthday – 32 11 04b
Undergraduate view – rags, good & bad – 32 11 04c & d

Fen Ditton & its school – reminiscences. I have been reading about Fen Ditton School in the 'Press and News, which is sent to me week by week by an old friend. As I lay it down memories come thick and fast. I see the village as I knew it 50 years ago when there was no railway and no bridges.
I see the constant stream of horses and carriages through the village street to the Paddock at Ditton Corner during 'May Week'. Again I am helping my pals hold horses for the 'gents' who tipped us very well. May Week was the village lads' harvest and sometimes we picked up a pound each during the week. I know everything has changed and the motor has taken the place of those fine 'nags' and coaches that once graced the Paddock every year. Mr Tuddenham, after Mr Frederick Bailey, the brewer, built the almshouses for the aged poor, had the fence in front of them erected at his personal cost. Once again I seem to slide on the pond opposite the church gate, which was our wont during the fristy weather. That pond had disappeared. I wonder how many can recall our school days when Miss Fothergale was the mistress and Miss Green and Miss Peachey were the teachers. We had in those days to take tuppence every Monday to pay for our schooling. Then came the day when my mother told me there would be not be any more money to pay for the school. I went to school that morning fearing I should be sent back home to fetch the usual fee and I was surprised when the mistress did not ask for it, nor did she get her book to put it down in. That fact remains very vivid in my memory Where are those boyish pals of mine who went to school with me? I seem to see them pass by as I write these lines and I recall incidents of those days. We were just mischievous boys up to any boyish plank often to our own discomfort. Harry Newman was the leader in the really harmless tricks we used to play but Pamplin was the force that held us together, for he was the master of the school and held his own more than once when it came to a set-to with another scholar. We used to settle our little differences in the spinney in the evening down Long Lane where the railway bridge now stands. They were quite harmless little scraps and George Pamplin always remained the cock-of-the-walk. But he was a kind-hearted lad. I am sure he would give his last copper to a beggar on the road. Harry Newman was more of a thinker. Mr Frederick Bailey had him bound apprentice to a carpenter in Cambridge and he became an excellent craftsmen and a power in his native village. He was a strong church man and remained in the quiet until he died. The old Ditton Lane was very lonely in those days. There was not a house in it and at one time a deep pit existed from which coprolite had been dug that was partly filled with water. Halfway down was a grass lane leading to the holts called Cutthroat Lane and many people had a holy fear of it after dark because of the tales that were told concerning its history. It' reputation was made worse by the school mistress miss Fothergale being struck from behind with some hard object which rendered her unconscious, by some unknown person who robbed her and left her. For seven years and nine months I walked around that lane night and morning until November 1887 but I went armed, Once I was stopped at the same spot. I stepped into the road and at the same time I fired a shot into the air. This had the desired effect. I called after a retreating figure I've got five more barrels and by gosh I use them if you come any of your Fothergale tricks with me I spoke to no one of this afterwards the village policeman one day said to me "Do you ever see anyone hanging about the late at night". I asked him why and he surprised me by saying "I thought you did as you carry firearms" I asked him to tell me who were told him and he did. I told him only one person knew I carried a pistol and that was the man who stopped me in the lane a few weeks ago. If any of my old schoolmates should read these lines they will join with me in the hope that their old school will be repaired rather than replaced. John W. Bailey. 32 11 04c

Cambridge Motor Boat Club decided to take over a new piece of land at Clayhithe to enlarge their present ground. Although some people thought the scheme too ambitious, they could provide tennis courts and bungalows which would be rented for £3 as well as providing a motor way and parking place. Mrs Banham said the Ladies' Committee would contribute £20 towards the costs. 32 11 04g

Funeral A.H. Brady, death H.H. Appleford – 32 11 04h
No new bus service, Cambridge; Girton's bus service – 32 11 04i

1932 11 11
One man meeting – Swavesey RC meeting – 32 11 11a
Sawston cinema controversy – 32 11 11b & c
Mrs Keynes elected Mayor – 32 11 11d
Newmarket stableman trial; unemployed protest, Shire Hall – 38 11 11e
Death Charles Alder, Stetchworth Dairy; Madingley church window – 32 11 11f
Perse school building plans – 32 11 11g

1932 11 18
H.R.H. Prince George toured the Pye Radio Works where 1,500 hands produce 4,000 radio receivers a week. This is the first time a factory engaged in Britain's newest and most progressive industry has been honoured by a Royal visit. The operatives gave him a rousing reception – the girls were especially enthusiastic: it was a wonderful study to observe their varying expressions as he passed through the workshops. "Oh, he's lovely" was the general verdict and every detail of his dress, appearance and manner have furnished a fruitful topic of conversation in Cambridge homes 32 11 18a

Armistice village, p14
Black Horse Drove film, p14

1932 11 25
Cottenham tithe, p9*
New Rendezvous, p11, p12
Conington wedding, p16*
Uncle David, Doddington, p16

December 1932 CIP

1932 12 02
Sir – The decision of the Norfolk National Farmers Union to advise members to dismiss all workers other than 'key men' is most unjust, unwise and deplorable. They have failed to get the Agricultural Wages Committee to agree to a reduction of two shillings a week and wreck by starvation the homes and health of the children of farm workers. Despite receiving millions of pounds in subsidy farmers have reduced wages and increased working hours - W.J. Shingfield. 32 12 02c

Cambridge Motor Boat Club clear their new ground, Clayhithe – pics – 32 12 02f

Uncle David, Band of Hope, at Swaffham Bulbeck, Fen Drayton & Wimblington, p3
Dredging tragedy, p5*
Addenbrooke's Hospital X-Ray, p6
Hardwick benefice, p8*
Steeple Bumpstead Hall, p9*

1932 12 09
A man told the bankruptcy hearing he had been employed by Crampton's mineral water factory at Newmarket until 1927 when he started up the firm of Kitchener Bros in competition. But they had a bad season in 1929 when price-cutting by another firm had affected their trade. There had been a heavy fall in turn-over since the slump – many firms in their line were making nothing but losses. 32 12 09a

A Cambridge man told the bankruptcy court he had started as a second-hand bookseller from a stall on Market Hill. Then he took a shop at 17 Peas Hill selling antiquarian books. But a slump in trade 18 months ago meant Americans were not buying books so he had to borrow from moneylenders. 32 12 09a & b

A Cambridge publican told the bankruptcy court he had taken the Horse and Groom in King Street in October 1925 and made a profit until the General Strike when trade was hit throughout the country. He borrowed money and in May 1930 took the Rose Hotel, Rose Crescent. But the increase in beer by a penny a pint hit sales so he left and moved to a pub in Maidstone. 32 12 09b & c

Floods, bad harvests and bad prices were blamed by the owner of Gravel Diggers Farm, Chittering at the bankruptcy court. For nine years he was also licensee of the "Gravel Diggers" pub, Cottenham

Fen, but he did not sell a barrel of beer a week and it closed last September. The 1932 harvest was "a rum 'un", the most disastrous he'd ever had: his land was all flooded during May and he'd had to borrow money. 32 12 09d

1932 12 16
Paston House School for girls, Cambridge, goes from strength to strength. The number of pupils is greater than ever and parents were satisfied with the work conducted under the care of the Sisters of the Institute of the Blessed Virgin Mary. The school improved morals and character and a girl's soul receives that training which sets her on her way to face the problems of life with a firm grounding in the things that matter. 32 12 16a

About 1,400 men are unemployed in Cambridge but there were plenty of jobs to be done by unskilled labourers. The Mayor proposed a subscription fund to pay for work over the Christmas people. The alternative was to levy a special rate for the relief of unemployment – it would save spending money on benefit. But there were hundreds of people who had the hardest difficulty in meeting the existing rates – some going without food. 32 12 16b & c

Growers assembled in large numbers when manufacturers of spraying machines demonstrated their products at Willingham. Kidd and Sons showed 'Mist-spray' power sprayers, Jeeps and Easy demonstrated 'Mortegg' spraying mixture while F.W. Peacock of Cottenham had a good display of 'Niagara' dusters suitable for greenhouses and rose bushes. 32 12 16b & c

Over Town Hall was packed to hear plans to send all children over eleven years of age to Willingham School. Needless to say, no part of the scheme was received favourably by the audience, which included ladies who did not hesitate to express their opinions. The discussion was occasionally somewhat heated: the road was almost impassable at certain times and would be dangerous for the 50 children cycling to and fro twice a day. If they had to buy a meal it would be an extra charge on a family budget. 32 12 16d

The Post Office says every effort will be made to deliver by Christmas day all parcels, packets and newspapers for distant places posted not later than the22nd December and all letters and cards posted by 23rd December. The latest time of posting for letters and cards for local delivery and in towns within 30 miles radius will be 6pm on Christmas Eve. There will be one delivery of letters and parcels on Christmas Day. 32 12 16c

1932 12 23
Christmas customs and beliefs – 32 12 23a

Mr J. Wentworth Day of Wicken will act as Lady Houston's personal representative on the management of the Houston-Mount Everest flight which is leaving for India in an attempt to fly over the world's highest mountain early in the New Year. The Marquis of Douglas and Clydesdale will act as chief pilot. The crew will have to fly nearly six miles high wearing electrically heated suits and gas masks through which they will breathe pure oxygen. Lady Houston is bearing the entire expense, estimated to cost £15,000. 32 12 23b

Cottenham and waterworks – Chesterton RDC to purchase – 32 12 23d

Former Mayoress, Mrs Catherine Tillyard was an accomplished yet humble woman. Under the pen-name of 'Pertelote' she contributed a women's column when her husband edited the Cambridge Independent Press. Her daughter, Aelfrida, is an authoress of some distinction and her son, Eustace, has a number of important books to his credit. She belonged to the old aristocratic school, worshipped at St Columba's and took an active interest in the temperance cause. 32 12 23e

Cambridge Railway Silver Prize Band opened their new hall at Fletcher's Terrace, Romsey Town. They started in 1919 and still had 10 foundation members of the band. They won the Grand Shield at the Crystal Palace in 1922 and in 1926 won the Junior Cup. It showed what an extremely progressive band they were. 32 12 23f

A sanitary inspector visited a house in Green End Road where he found eleven people living in the three bedrooms. It was a very bad case of overcrowding. One family told him they had moved to Cherryhinton Road but after they had carted the furniture in various perambulators the new landlord said he would not have them in the house, so they went back. But after six months something should have been done. 32 12 23f

Mr F. Plumby of Abbey Walk, who looks after the Cambridge Greyhound racing track on Newmarket Road, said he was at work in the middle of the track when a hare dashed on to it, closely pursued by a pack of harriers. It ran right round the whole 565 yards length of the course, and just as it reached the winning-post the dogs came up with it. It ran into the space reserved for the judge, and there the pack killed it. 32 12 23b

1932 12 30
Sir - The Ouse and Cam Fishery Board has accepted compensation of £200 for the inconvenience and damage caused by the pollution to the River Lark. It was becoming the best roach and pike fishing waters in the Isle of Ely, now all of those thousands of fish have gone west. But what of the clubs who hire these waters: they have only had four month's fishing and it will be useless for the rest of the season. Will they be given a rebate? – W. Hitch, Ely. 32 12 30c

Cambridge enjoyed a quiet Noel this year. In the children's wards of Addenbrooke's Hospital the spirit of Christmas had most play. The three rooms were decorated to represent Alice in Wonderland, Peter Pan and the Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe. The shoe was kindly lent by Messrs Joshua Taylor. Every child had a nursery rhyme quilt on their bed and their stocking were filled, the night Sister playing Santa Claus. 32 12 30a & b

As Christmas Day fell on a Sunday, the whole of the festive side of the celebrations at the County Infirmary, including the Christmas dinner, were postponed for a day and the Mayor's official visit was not made. All the passages, wards and rooms were bedecked with paper flowers and evergreens, electric lights were hidden in lanterns and poppies hung along the walls. Celebrations were also delayed at the Church Army Hostel but presents of a good shirt, ounce of tobacco and packet of cigarettes were distributed on Christmas morning. 32 12 30a & b

The bridge just outside Abington was one of the county's beauty spots. But recently an accident had occurred there when a young man on a motor cycle with a girl on the back crossed it at speed. The motor cycle bounded off the hump back of the bridge and crashed. The coroner said it was a danger spot and now it was to be widened. But it would be a hideous thing to level such a beautiful old bridge. 32 12 30d

New Year superstitions – 32 12 30e & f

An old Cambridgeshire custom on New Year's Eve was for a farm girl to approach a pig and slap it sharply with her hand. If the animal uttered a squeal, she would be married within the year; but if it took no heed of the blow she would continue a spinster. Another custom was to stick tiffs of grass on the horns of a cow. If it tossed them off their lover would remain true, if they remained firm on the horns, the sweetheart was false. 32 12 30e & f

1933 Cambridge Daily News & Ely Standard

I have copies of these articles

January 1933 CDN & ES

1933 01 03
Camera club, Capt C.K. Hamilton exhibition, p5

1933 01 04
Bus season tickets – 33 01 04 & a
Dr W.M. Palmer, JP, p8
Cheveley Park road, p8*

1933 01 05
Arthur Savell, stained glass, tile and decorative artist came to Cambridge forty years ago but kept his workshop at Albany Place, Regent's Park, London. His work can be seen in the chancel windows of St Bene't's Church and in the stained glass windows of the University Arms ballroom. 33 01 05

1933 01 06
Does the present succession of mild Januaries suggest something in the nature of a change in climate? Today amateur gardeners have standard and rambler roses in full bloom, primroses blooming in clumps, stocks, polyanthus – indeed a show of flowers usually retarded by frost until spring. 33 01 06

Love tragedy, p8*
Stretham: Sidney Canham no rear bike light. 33 12 15(5)ES

1933 01 06 ES
Isle's new registration index. 33 01 06ES

1933 01 07
Huntingdon councillors rejected proposals to expand the town boundaries to include Hartford. It would cost too much to maintain the sewerage, lighting, water supply and scavenging and there is ample land near America Lane for future development. 33 01 07

Woman dead in river after engagement broken – 33 01 07a

Sluice at Hundred Foot Bank, Downham – 33 01 07b

Referee Elsden reported a bad case of misconduct by Stretham players. They had appealed for hands in the penalty area but he had not seen it. As he was going off the field three players and the linesman said they would put him in the pond. He considered he was lucky to get away as he did. P. Oakman, A. Sadler and W. Lythel, who had played for 15 years and never been in trouble before, were suspended for the rest of the season. 33 01 07c

Sir – Coldham's Common could be turned into a municipal nine-hole golf course now it is no longer required for shooting. The Corporation have £700 from the War Office in compensation for not putting the Common in the state it was before the rifle range was constructed. The various firing points and the lower portion of the butts could be used in the construction of a very sporting course, providing work for the unemployed. It would be no new thing to have golf played on the Common as the first University course was there – RG. 33 01 07d

1933 01 09

All branches of the Cambridge Daily News and Cambridge Independent Press were represented at the annual dinner at the Dorothy Café. And for the first time the ladies joined us – perhaps a sign that they have their part to play in the newspaper world as anywhere else. Horace Watson produced the seventh edition of the Office Song, dealing with the events of the year and Capt Taylor outlined forthcoming developments including new printing machinery permitting a 24-page CIP. 33 01 09

Ely Joint Isolation Hospital Committee agreed that tradesmen who charged full retail price for their goods would have 2½ % [discount taken off their bill. They had not been asked – otherwise they may have refused. None had so far objected – but they had not yet had their cheques (Laughter). 33 01 09a

Stretham football club delayed by King's train – 33 01 09b

1933 01 10
Captain and Mrs Townley were presented with a handsome silver salver subscribed for by practically the whole of Fulbourn in honour of their recent wedding. They hoped the couple would see their way to come and take up residence in the village for good and carry on the tradition of the Captain's honoured father. In reply he said he was trying to save enough to come back to the Manor again but it was not a small place and required a considerable amount to keep it up. 33 01 10

The 1925 Tithe Act was one of the greatest injustices imposed on farmers, fixing the amount they had to pay irrespective of the price of farm produce. Land was being let for four shillings and acre but was subject to three-and-six tithe. The landowner could not keep the house and gates in repair for sixpence an acre, a Tithe payers meeting at Swavesey was told. 33 01 10a & b

1933 01 11
The Cam Conservators heard that dredging operations had been carried out from Clayhithe to Baitsbite. There were still 700 lineal yards to complete, which meant about 20 weeks work but then they would not have to do any more dredging for up to 20 years. They ought to advertise the sale of the dredger so it could be seen at work. The men working the machine appealed for an increase in wages but this hardly opportune as it would only be used for a few more months. 33 01 11

During threshing operations at Rectory Farm, Ickleton, a number of stacks became fired, apparently by a backfire from a tractor that was being used. Ickleton Fire Brigade turned out but the water supply was insufficient to extinguish the blaze. Had the wind been in the other direction the extensive farm buildings must have been threatened. 33 01 11a

The recent starting of a Kentucky minstrel troupe at the BBC has re-awakened interest in this old form of entertainment. Now the Alabama troupe has been formed at Cambridge. They made their first appearance at the Footlights Club room, Corn Exchange Street. Dressed in red and white check costumes they sang plantation melodies like 'Oh, dem Golden Slippers' and 'Polly Wolly Doodle'. 33 01 11b

1933 01 12
Mrs Priscilla Byford celebrated her 101st birthday with congratulations from some of her surviving pupils – now aged 70 – from Chevington School. Birthday greetings were broadcast by the BBC and the Stetchworth church bells rang out. She was born at the Mill House, Stetchworth and baptised in the village church in 1832. 33 01 12

Foot and mouth disease – 33 01 12a

1933 01 13
The Isle of Ely motor dental van, a completely equipped travelling dental surgery for school children, drew up at Peck and Packer's garage on Dartford Road, March where the tank was re-filled with petrol, a little of which ran over on to the road. When the driver put the self-starter into operation the cab burst into a huge flame and the whole of the front of the vehicle was enveloped in a dense mass of smoke. He made an expeditious and fortunate escape and garage staff quickly subdued the flames. 33 01 13

Sir, not many years ago a beautiful pastoral scene might be enjoyed by anyone who stood on the south bank of the Cam with his back to the Gas Works and the destructor chimney and looked towards Old Chesterton Church. Then Pye Radio Company was allowed to erect a factory near the church and now a tall chimney-like structure has been erected not far from the steeple. This has ruined what was once a charming scene – Periscope. 33 01 13a

1933 01 13 ES
Death C.B. Appleyard, waterman. 33 01 13&(2)ES(2)

Soham as seen after 50 years' absence. 33 01 13(3)ES

1933 01 14
Littleport fatal collision, p6
Cambridge Liberal cycling club history – 33 01 14a & b
Thomas Beecham's visits – 33 01 14

1933 01 17
The owner of Reliance Motors, Cottenham, sued Eastern Counties Omnibus Company for damages. They alleged he'd run two hackney carriage licensed cars between Cottenham and Midsummer Fair, picking up and putting down passengers en route. To use private cars or taxis as motor coaches was misconduct of a very bad kind. He had four motor buses and two taxicabs which he'd used that day for private hire, charging four shillings return. He produced his order book – written on blotting paper – as proof. 33 01 17 & 17a

Newmarket Road housing estate, p6

1933 01 18
Divorce case, p5

Steve Fairbairn on rowing – 33 01 18

A woman sued a Cambridge dentist after he broke her jaw. She told the court she was a trained masseuse and had carried on business in Cambridge for some years earning about £4 a week. She'd gone to have a wisdom tooth extracted under anaesthetic but when she 'came round' the dentist said "Do you know what bad luck we've had. Your jaw has gone". After hearing the details the court adjourned for lunch. 33 02 18a & b

1933 01 19
March doctor's death – Murphy – 33 01 19

Some of the buildings erected during 1932 in Cambridge and district by Kidman and Sons Ltd, Abbey Walk. 'The British Queen', Histon Road, Sedley Taylor School, Cambridge Co-operative Society cooked meat factory and milk depot, St Paul's church hall in Suez Road and Spicer's Cinema, Sawston (Full page advertisement with photos). 33 01 19 a & b

Spaldings printers sued a University lecturer over an unpaid bill for publishing 'Forestry Journal' a magazine of the Cambridge University Forestry Students' Association. He had brought in a considerable amount of copy, articles and advertisements together with photographs from which they had to make blocks. But the don claimed it was run entirely by undergraduates and it was the responsibility of the editor. He could not say who that had been. 33 01 19c & d

Schoolgirl run over by bus, p8

1933 01 20
Ely unemployed – 33 01 20

1933 01 21
Leonard Hollingworth means to be our local Edgar Wallace. His third mystery story 'Dead Man's Alibi' will prove just as popular as 'The Body on the Bus' and 'Death Leaves us Naked'. It is well-written which should appeal to a wide circle of readers in Cambridge and to none more than the boys of the County High School where the author is a master. 33 01 21d

An NSPCC inspector told the court that the family lived in an old railway van at Hardwick which was in a most objectionable state. The bedding was in such a filthy state that he had burned it. The children were fairly well nourished but the awful stench which came from them polluted the police station to which he removed them. The father was sentenced to six months' hard labour. 33 01 21b & c

St Germans' Sluice was opened in 1877 but the fens continued to shrink as drainage progressed and the tideway silted up. Once there was a four-foot fall from March whereas now there was practically none and a north-west wind could affect the outfall by two feet. The new pump was probably the largest in the world. The men working on the huge scheme were glad to have jobs in such depressed time. 33 01 21 & a

1933 01 23
A house in Parkside was severely damaged when an explosion, suspected to have been caused by gas, blew out almost the whole of the front upper part of the building. There was a flash, followed by a tremendous explosion and the wall appeared to be driven across the road. James Langdale, heedless of danger, broke in the front door and searched for the old lady inside. He found her on the top landing, terribly injured with her clothing alight. 33 01 23 & a & b

Swavesey skating, p5

1933 01 24
The 300-year-old Cock Inn at Castle Camps was practically destroyed after the roof caught fire near the chimney stack. Although there was a good supply of water from a pond it was impossible to save much of the building. Of the nine rooms only a kitchen and pantry remain. 33 01 24

University and Burwell tithe dispute – 33 01 24a

Fen Ditton school schemes – 33 01 24b

1933 01 25
Parkside gas explosion – inquest - 33 01 25

East Anglian folk lore society – 33 01 25a

Death Mrs Conybeare, p6

1933 01 26
The County Council want to restrict traffic in Minster Place and The Gallery, Ely to 10 mph. This would safeguard the cathedral against vibration caused by heavy vehicles. Mr Tyndall also said his shop had suffered, as did the King's School, especially when the sugar beet lorries went past. But the A.A. said it was used by traffic from Soham to Lynn and the real remedy was an effective bye-pass and to extend Broad Street to Prickwillow Road. 33 01 26 & a

West Wratting Park partner's bankruptcy – 33 01 26b

1933 01 27
Swavesey land dispute – 33 01 27

Skating at Lingay fen – 33 01 27a

Herbert Robinson garage reopening – advert – 33 01 27b & c & d

Water Company's scheme – new main for Cambridge – 33 01 27e & f

St George's church – why not move St Michael's – 33 01 27g

1933 01 27 ES
Haddenham church achievement: bells, organ and clock renovated. 33 01 27ES

Ely unemployed preparing their new centre: photo. 33 01 27(3)ES

1933 01 28
Alabama coons concert party – 33 01 28

1933 01 30
Communist party first meeting – 33 01 30

Hitler becomes German chancellor – 33 01 30a

Gas explosion funeral – 33 01 30c

Fen Ditton school site agreed – 33 01 30d

Guildhall 'by instalments' plan – 33 01 30e

Railway v motor traffic – 33 01 30f & g

1933 01 31
Cause of gas explosion – 33 01 31 & a

Guildhall 'by instalments' plan – 33 01 30e

February 1933 CDN & ES

1933 02 01
Benjamin Coxall, Stretham-born Methodist farmer, dies – 33 02 01
Central Conservative club fete for repairs following fire – 33 02 01a
Indoor bowls, p7

1933 02 02
The annual domestics staff ball at the Dorothy attracted 450 servants. Although the ballroom became on the crowded side, everybody was happy. Nothing is nicer that a good servant's ball and it was good to see so many heads of households present. Percy Cowell and his band was in a particularly bright mood and led a 'merry dance; with a varied programme. The great attraction was the fancy dress parade. 33 02 02

Cambridge's most modern laboratory, the Royal Society Mond Laboratory, provides unique facilities for research under the most powerful magnetic fields ever developed and intense cold temperatures. It is the outcome of researches by Dr P. Kapitza in the Cavendish Laboratory which might have far-reaching effects. 33 02 02a & b

Alderman Oliver Papworth of Over, 'the Major', was a successful lawyer and councillor who served in the Territorials and Rifle Association. He was the founder member of several Masonic lodges but was best-known in the realms of sport. He was impervious to cold and wet and only last week when raw winds were blowing and skaters were enjoying themselves he was to be seen without an overcoat. 33 02 02a & b

Guildhall development on Peas Hills front – 33 02 02c & d

1933 02 03
Councillors heard that a common lodging house on Newmarket Road accommodated 16 or 17 lodgers without any sort of bathroom. But none of the users had asked for one. There were three girls sleeping in a small room separated only by a narrow wall from a room in which 15 men slept. This was not right: the language in a common lodging house was not always what it should be. It was time the council consider setting up a municipal lodging house for women as well as men. 33 02 03a

Mond Laboratory, Cavendish, opened by Baldwin – 33 02 03b & c, photo 33 02 04c

Demolition orders were made in respect of houses in Wellington Passage, Sun Court, Smith's Gardens and Newmarket Road. Some were in such a precarious state they would not last much longer. But the people moved from slum dwellings just found accommodation in lodgings, which meant two families in one house. It would be no kindness to rebuild on the site of demolished houses. People should be moved to more spacious sites on the outskirts of Cambridge. 33 02 03d

The Mayor, (Ald Mrs Keynes) expressed her appreciation for the support her fund for providing work for the unemployed is receiving. There are 1,600 unemployed men in Cambridge but 120 who have done no work for a year are now making the path on Long Road and levelling Coldham's Common. Another 80 will level the building ground in Brook's Road and the site of the new school and playground in Gilbert Road. 33 02 03e

1933 02 03 ES
Engineer's scheme to relieve local unemployment; Holland Porter's project for diverting River Ouse. 33 02 03&(2)ES *

Burnt Fen Institute completed. 33 02 03ES

Haddenham epidemic of scarlet fever. 33 02 03(3)(4))ES

A week of skating. 33 02 03(7)ES

Skating: photo. 33 02 03(8)ES

1933 02 04
A young salesman employed at Sainsbury's in Sidney Street was found dead in the bathroom over the shop. The housekeeper said there were about 80 employed; eight boys lived on the premises, three maids and herself. They were the only ones to use the bath. They were told to turn off the gas before getting in. People might be enjoying the delights of a bath and suddenly find themselves overpowered by carbon monoxide fumes. The coroner hoped Sainsbury's would not use the geyser again or see it was placed outside the bathroom. 33 02 04a

Photographic club cine films – 33 02 04b

The opening of the new Mond laboratory by Mr Stanley Baldwin has thrown into prominence the work of Professor Kapitza, the young Russian from whose investigations the laboratory has spring. He combines the physicist and the engineer and the mere scale of his apparatus is almost daring. When a party of pressmen visited Kaptiza demonstrated some of the low-temperature hydrogen, and then said if anything went wrong they would probably be decapitated! 33 02 04d

Guildhall rebuilding cartoon – 33 02 04e
Mrs Vincent novel, p8*
Valentines, p8*

1933 02 06
The London Co-operative Society opened their new creamery in Ditton Lane. Four years ago representatives met Cambridgeshire farmers and now hundreds supplied them with milk. They could have bought it some parts of the country at pence per gallon cheaper than in Cambridge but believed in sourcing as near as possible to London. But some small retailers who found cheap milk available had started price-cutting. 33 02 06 & a

Cambridge library ban on Shaw – 33 02 06b

Demolition orders were made in respect of houses in Wellington Passage, Sun Court, Smith's Gardens and Newmarket Road. Some were in such a precarious state they would not last much longer. But the people moved from slum dwellings just found accommodation in lodgings, which meant two families in one house. It would be no kindness to rebuild on the site of demolished houses. People should be moved to more spacious sites on the outskirts of Cambridge.

1933 02 08
Justices were told there were two public houses in Stetchworth, the Marquis of Granby and the Live and Let Live, both beerhouses. Now the Earl of Ellesmere proposed to close the White Horse as an inn and transfer its full licence to the Marquis of Granby. There ought to be one fully-licensed public house in the village as there was only one place – the British Legion Club – where wines and spirits could be obtained, and only by its members. 33 02 08a

Irish Society formed – 33 02 08
Papworth funeral, p8

1933 02 09
Sir Thomas Beecham, on a first visit with the new London Philharmonic Orchestra to Cambridge Guildhall, completely won over the most severe body of critics in the country – a Cambridge symphony concert audience. They are accustomed to taking their musical pleasures somewhat sedately but let themselves go and the applause and cheering at the end were unusually enthusiastic. 33 02 09

Lewis Robert Jellis who farmed 600 acres at Leighton was a regular attendant at St Ives market, one of the few farmers who made the journey by horse and trap and derived considerable enjoyment in so doing. He had many interests in his own village but apart from being local Secretary of the Royal Agricultural benevolent Society, there was little that held his attention outside it. However he was a keen follower of the Fitzwilliam hunt and rarely missed a meet. 33 02 09a

Cambridge has lost an old-established tailor by the death of Mr Byron Thomas Wait of Mill Road. His father was a tailor at St Ives but Byron came to Cambridge 52 years ago and opened the shop in Hills Road. Thirty-five years ago he extended the business to the shop at 28 Mill Road and four years later to 100 Regent Street. Two of his sons are carrying on the business. 33 02 09b

1933 02 10

Royston museum of Bunyan tools – 33 02 10

St Ives Chicory Factory wished to increase its supply of water to 50,000 gallons a day for the whole season. If the supply was cut of for two or three days it would not be an inconvenience. They would erect a pumping station and put down a filter plant on their property. East Hunts Water Company will be asked how much they are able to supply without detriment to the Borough. 33 02 10a

1933 02 10 ES
Haddenham through the ages compiled by W. Ivatt. 33 02 10&(2)ES & 33 02 17&(2)ES & 33 02 24&(2)ES. 33 03 03ES *

Were stilts used in the fens – Gordon Fowler. 33 02 10(3)(4)ES *

1933 02 11
An amazing criminal record in Canada and America, including safe blowing and the theft of bombs, and sentences among which was one of 30 years' imprisonment, were revealed against an Ashwell man who stood in the dock at Cambridge Police Court. He had been deported from Canada and America three times. The prisoner, a carpenter lodging in Norwich Street, was found with twelve £5 notes and a bunch of skeleton keys. He was sent to prison for three months. 33 02 11 & a

The mildness of the winter has given gardeners something to talk about. Even the frost has failed to kill off all the roses and some were in full bloom at Cottenham with the first snowdrops flowering between the standards. Flowers gathered before the frost set in and put into water have a more powerful scent than usual. But are these the first roses of summer or the last? 33 02 11b

Season, p8*
Mystery photo, p8

1933 02 13
Motoring notes column, p6

1933 02 14
When the Cambridge Daily News was founded in 1888 it was produced in premises in Camden Place. The present site, once an arcade of shops and offices in the passage leading between the New Theatre and Scott and Wilkinson, was acquired in 1901-2. Now we are expanding with new presses, modern Linotype plate casting machinery and a larger photo-engraving department. We have also introduced a fleet of efficient delivery vans. 33 02 14,a & b

With regard to distribution we have substituted for railway transit will enable a 24-page weekly paper Many mechanical changes and improvements have gone forward occupied by the revenue has responded to the Mayor's appeal for work for the relief of unemployment. All who pass the Theatre Buildings will see we are taking over the premises vacated by D.J. Scott, the photographer. 33 02 14

Cottenham gas supply meeting – 33 02 14
Lauries fie pic, p8
Rickling fire, p8

1933 02 15
Greek play – 33 02 15a & 33 02 15
Hunts Cyclist battalion reunion – 33 02 15b
Mock divorce trial – 33 02 15c & d
Motor Boat club, p5

1933 02 16
Milton doctor dispute – 33 02 16a

Reliance and Comfort coaches merge – 33 02 16 # c.24.46

1933 02 17
Mr A.W. Jones, the Cambridge music teacher, has added yet another to his growing list of compositions. It is a song fox-trot 'The Girl Most Suitable for Me' which has been featured with success by Alex Alexander and his Radio boys. It should prove very popular. 33 02 17

Milton parish council has erected a seat across the gateway of a Doctor's house. Now the only way in from the road is to climb the fence and drop down on to a flowerbed. They had agitated for a pond which stood in front of 'The Willows' to be filled in with the ground retained for the use of the parish. The doctor made a new entrance before the council could put up the seat, but they went ahead anyway. 33 02 17a

Death Robert Donald, chairman Directors CDN – 33 02 17a

1933 02 18
The Cavendish Laboratory seems unable to keep out of the limelight. Sensation follows sensation as the invisible atom is mercilessly attacked. And now comes news of the discovery of a minute particle of positive electricity which may lead to entirely revised conceptions of the ultimate nature of matter. 33 02 18

Sherlock Holmes rag at play recalled– 33 02 18a
Greek Play, p8*
Concert party, p8*

1933 02 20
Histon bells dedicated – 33 02 20a
Waterworks company list of plumbers – 33 02 20b
Oddfellows sports club – 33 02 20

1933 02 21
Milton fence pic, p8

1933 02 22
An investigation into the making up of Goose Tree Road between Guyhirn and Whittlesey heard that gratuities of two guineas had been offered to the divisional surveyors at Christmas by a company supplying materials. Other firms had sent gifts of cigars and game to members of the Highways Department. Work should be suspended and the Minister of Transport informed. 33 02 22 & a

Sir Oswald Mosley, leader of the new Fascist Party, was defeated in a debate at the Cambridge Union Society. He was booed when he entered the chamber and his speech was subject to continual interruptions. No Fascist movement in the world has developed at such a rapid rate as in England. Accusations of violence were true, but we are organising violence to meet violence, he told them. 33 02 22b & c

Death on debate, p8
Pentacle Club, p8
Festival future, p8

1933 02 23
Sidney Wisbey, a hackney carriage taxi proprietor from Wellington Passage, told the court he started driving in 1908. He had bought an old Buick, VR 6151, because he wanted to use the chassis and had made one car out of two. He altered the body from a box van to a saloon and changed the colour to blue. He tried it out but the engine was no good so he put it back in the garage. 33 02 23

Sir – many a lover of trees mourns the cutting down of the fine Pagoda tree, Sophorn Japonica, which stood in Downing Street. It was about 200 years old and doubtless adorned the Botanic Garden there before it moved to its present site. A young American who was sadly photographing its headless trunk says it was one of the finest specimens in England. Why do we not value our ancient trees as we do our buildings? - F.P. Leyburn-Yarker. 33 02 23a – photo 33 03 01

1933 02 24
Melbourn isolation hospital, p8

1933 02 24 ES
Isle County Library enthusiasm, Carnegie. 33 02 24&(2)ES

Coursing in the snow, Stretham meeting. 33 02 24(3)(4)ES

Isle highways sensation … corrupt local government, Ministry asked to hold enquiry, Guyhirn-Whittlesey road. 33 02 24(5)(6)ES

1933 02 25
Blizzard – 33 02 25

1933 02 28
The Medical Superintendent reported a rather severe epidemic of influenza at Fulbourn Mental Hospital involving a large number of inmates and staff. The epidemic spread to the female side and 105 patients were affected, 30 dying. None of the staff died. The epidemic lasted nearly a month. The Visitors expressed their appreciation to the staff for the extra and hard work during a very trying time. 33 02 28b

Flooding – 33 02 28a

March 1933 CDN & ES

1933 03 01
Tree photos, p6*

1933 03 02
Jesus college boathouse demolition following fire – photo – 33 03 02

1933 03 03
Licences, p6*
Milton doctor blockade ends, p8*

1933 03 03 ES
Stretham Railwayman retirement – Albert Wright, comments on changes at station in 32 years. 33 03 03(2)(3)ES

1933 03 04
No longer will tradesmen have any difficulty gaining access to Dr Woodman's house at Milton. The siege was partially raised when Dr Woodman, watched by a number of villagers, pulled down the whole of the fencing with which his entrance has been blockaded, sawing it in half. Then, in persistent rain, the seat that had been erected by the Parish Council was dug out from its foundation of solid concrete and placed on one side without harm. 33 03 04a

"Murder at the Varsity" novel review – 33 03 04b
First Eastern General Hospital reunion – 33 03 04d
Licencing – Maypole, Alhambra, Carlton - 33 03 04

Jack Rowell, p6*

1933 03 06
A rag-and-bone merchant of Shamrock Passage, Newmarket Road, appeared in court with three of his neighbours, accused of assault. A sanitary inspector said he'd received complaints of a terrible smell and asked for a pile of rubbish to be cleared away. As he got on his bicycle he heard cries of 'Murder' and saw two men struggling. One lady – "a villainous woman" - had a piece of wood and threatened to knock another's brains out. All were bound over for a year. 33 03 06

Branch libraries for Cambridge – Morley and Shirley schools – 33 03 06b

1933 03 07
Bus crashes wall St Giles church – 33 03 07

1933 03 08
Rowell funeral, p6*
James Wilkerson, p8*

1933 03 09
Gt St Mary's bells a nuisance – 33 03 09

1933 03 10
Fire breathing apparatus, p8*

1933 03 10 ES
Wisbech St Mary churchyard unpleasant conditions. 33 03 10(2)ES

1933 03 11
Vinery Road allotments – 33 03 11
No More War, p5*

1933 03 13
An NSPCC inspector said he went to a field in Chesterton where he found a family, including two children, living in an old baker's cart. At one end was a bed which was filthy and saturated. In the centre was a stove round which the children had to crawl. They were bare from the waist down and in a very filthy condition. He advised the parents to take them to the infirmary. 33 03 13

The Cranbrook Drain was in a choked condition. It was not included in the Sutton and Mepal Internal Drainage Board area but higher up, above Somersham, it was shown as a public drain. Riparian owners had cleaned it out in the past but now refused to do anything more. They had paid taxes for 20 years and received no benefit. Now they should ask the Minister who was responsible. 33 03 13b

Disarmament, p6*
Anti-war demonstration: procession of undergraduates, organised by the Students' Anti-War Council, in St Andrew's Street. 33 03 13a&aa p6

1933 03 14
Arthur Cooke, senior Surgeon at Addenbrooke's Hospital, owned one of the first steam cars in Cambridge. He was founder of the University Automobile Club which wound up about 1926 when the funds went to form the Ricardo Prize for Thermo-dynamics at the Engineering School. 33 03 14 & a

1933 03 15
Cambridge Permanent Building Society had a record year: there were 1,266 mortgages, most for amounts of under £500, and arrears were only £339, which was very satisfactory. The staff were a happy family, they worked hard and the books were all balanced. Rates for borrowers and shareholders had remained at four percent for the past 36 years. 33 03 15

Serious damage was prevented at Peterhouse when an undergraduate awoke in the early hours of the morning and notices flames in the window of the Junior Combination Room. The head porter, Mr Barnes, was called and the water hose was brought into action. The fire was got in hand so quickly that many of the undergraduates did not know there had been a blaze until breakfast time. Slight damage was done to some 14th-century beams and an oar. A cigarette end is believed to have been the cause of the outbreak. 33 03 15b

Chatteris station, p6*

1933 03 16
"Undergraduate Roadways" want route to Skegness – 33 03 16
Warboys road accident – 33 03 16a

1933 03 17
Eaden Lilley carpet beating works advert – 33 03 17

Death W. Cooper, St John's College servant – 33 03 17a

Milton school was packed for the largest meeting ever held in the village. Although very 'lively', it was kept well in hand by the chairman, despite cat-calls, boos and other vocal demonstrations. It broke up quite amicably with a resolution demanding the resignation of the whole of the Parish Council over the 'boarding up' of Dr Woodman. 33 03 17b

1933 03 18
A tragedy occurred at the weekly meeting of the Women's Mission at March Station Road Methodist church when the reader collapsed and passed away. She was the oldest member of the church and it was a tragic coincidence that she met her death at the scene of so many hours of her loving labour for the cause. Several of the lady members were so overcome as to have to receive medical treatment before being able to proceed home. 33 03 18b

CDN 'free cycles' competition – 33 03 18, 33 03 22 & a
Arthur Cooke appreciation – 33 03 18c
Arthur House, p6*

1933 03 20
Gas exhibition – 'housewives wonder' – 33 03 20
Newmarket big blaze, timber store – 33 03 20a

1933 03 21
Willingham peace ballot – 33 03 21
St Luke's school overcrowding – 33 03 21a

1933 03 22
CN cycle competition, p3*

1933 03 24
Soham sewage problem – 33 03 24 & a
Snelson lecture on River Cam – 33 03 24b
Three Tuns licence to be withdrawn, Coach & Horses, Newnham – 33 03 24c

1933 03 24 ES
Burnt Fen Schoolmaster death. 33 03 24&(2)ES *

1933 03 25
Cambridge boundary extension proposals – 33 03 25 & a & b
University voters, p8*
Stanley Williams, p8*

1933 03 27
Police Court Mission work – 33 03 27

Lode's Labour Party was formed in December1924 and determined to have their own hall. Now opened, it is the first in the county to be built by voluntary labour erected by the accumulation of the pence and shillings of those whose whole income is measured in pence and shillings. It was out of the spirit of such villages that the Labour party would obtain its new army of supporters. 33 03 27a, aa & b

1933 03 28
Newmarket's new fire station in Rous Road comes with a new fire motor engine complete with first aid apparatus, two sets of 'proto' breathing apparatus and 12,000 feet of hose. The brigade started in 1906 and until now they had relied on the strong force of water from the mains. But the additional force of a petrol driven fire engine was needed for the loftier buildings in Bury Road. 33 03 28 & a

1933 03 29
Cricket memories book – 33 03 29 & a
School dentist's report – 33 03 29b & c
H.S. Johnson on colour photography – 33 03 29e
Littleport death, p8
Elephant photo, p8

1933 03 30
Goldfinches in too small cages – 33 03 30
Houses for farm workers – 33 03 30a
Plantation Farm, Littleport, death on light railway, Shippea Hill – 33 03 30b

1933 03 31
Safety First movement – 33 03 31 & a
Photographers' association, p8

1933 03 31 ES
Railway fatality on Hiam's Shippea Hill farm. 33 03 31ES

Haddenham farmyard fire, Allen's Hillrow. 33 03 31(3)ES

Mepal blacksmith Setchfield retires. 33 03 31(4)(5)ES

Ely Needham's headmaster moves to Silver Street Boys' School. 33 03 31&(2)(ES)

Littleport British Legion Band in new uniforms. 33 03 31(6)ES

1933 April CDN & ES

1933 04 01
Cambridge taxi drivers protested against the amount charged by the Railway Company for the use of the station ranks. Each owner is charged £6 a year, which they regard as excessive and want reduced to £2. But the LNER says it has already cut it from £9 and that drivers could pay eighteen pence weekly. Although taxi earnings had fallen off in recent years most paid the rent without difficulty. They also had the use of a shelter provided by the Company. 33 04 01a photo: 33 04 03c

Lloyd George was in great form when addressing a student meeting in Cambridge. On previous occasions received an honorary degree in 1920, broke a railway journey to address crowds outside the station in 1923 and spoke in the Guildhall on the eve of the General Strike. Once he strolled through King's college grounds and sat down on the river bank. When a companion pointed out that the grass was damp he said "All right, I'll sit on the People". And, folding his Sunday paper he did just that! 33 04 01b

Cambridge boat race success – 33 04 01
School broadcasting, p4
Stetchworth fire, p6*
Safety fire, p8
Roundabout, p8*

1933 04 03
The county was swarming with rats but nothing was being done. The Ministry would provide thousands of pounds for the destruction of musk-rats, but not for ordinary ones. The only way to deal with them was to kill the females and let the males go: Cambridgeshire should set the example for the rest of the country and appoint a rats officer. 33 04 03b

The foundation stone of the new church at Six Mile Bottom was laid by the daughter-in-law of Mr Bullock Hall, who gave the land nearly 30 years ago. Its construction is of Roman tile plinth and flint facings and when completed it will have a small tower at the west end. People have been longing for the day when their own church should be built and they could have the satisfaction of worshipping in their own parish. 33 04 03d

The sudden death of the Maharajah of Nawanagar – better known as 'Ranji' – has caused a profound shock in the cricket world. While at Trinity College he received first-class tuition and was awarded his Blue in 1893. He became the first to score 3,000 runs in first-class cricket in one season and made 72 centuries – two in one day. His nephew K.S. Duleepsinhji later echoed his Cambridge and England triumphs. 33 04 03e & f

While those living on the outskirts of Cambridge had many advantages in the way of fresh air and beautiful surroundings they did suffer certain disadvantages such as facilities for book-borrowing. Now two branch libraries have been opened in Morley Memorial Schools on the Rock Estate and Shirley Schools in the Green End Road districts. Each contains four hundred modern novels (mostly entirely new) and 100 popular non-fiction works and are open one evening a week from 6-8. This pioneering service could spread, if successful. 33 04 06

First Eastern General Hospital, p6*
Taxi dispute, p8*

1933 04 06
Morley & Shirley schools, p5*

1933 04 07
The early days of the Cambridge Amateur Boxing Club were recalled by W. Child, the well-known referee. They began by buying a second-hand pair of gloves and fighting under a street lamp until chased by a policeman. Then they hired a washhouse and met in various public houses. The club had passed through hard times and been near to pawning everything they had. But the fighting had always been clean in the best sporting spirit. On one occasion two Princes had attended a contest at the Corn Exchange to see their chauffeur box. 33 04 07 & a

1933 04 07 ES
Photographers form East Anglian Centre of Professional Photographers' Association, Cambridge. 33 04 07ES # c.65.5

Burnt Fen new schoolmaster. 33 04 07(2)ES

Haddenham: Walter Newman finds foxes. 33 04 07(3)ES *

1933 04 08
Ranjitsinhji appreciation – 33 04 08 & a

1933 04 10
Ramsey water scheme – 33 04 10a
Four Lamps roundabout picture – 33 04 10b
Huntingdon water scheme - 33 04 10c
Stretham man shot, p3*

1933 04 11
Stretham tragedy, p8*

1933 04 13
Egg-laying, p8*

1933 04 14
Cambridge Town Silver Band are champions – 33 04 14
Guildhall plans – 33 04 14a
Chesterton – tree adjoining Chesterton Hall – photo and memories – 33 04 14b & 08b
Huntingdonshire accounts, p5

1933 04 18
Grange Road proposed new road, Adams Road – 33 04 18 & 33 04 21

1933 04 19
Cambridgeshire police are losing a valued officer by the retirement of P.S. Sidney Smith. He joined the force in 1907 and was stationed at Eltisley, Swavesey, Willingham and Fen Ditton before being promoted to sergeant in 1926 and moving to Melbourn. He will be missed by motorists, for he has had more motor cases than anyone else in the county. 33 04 19

1933 04 20
Terence Gray has been connected with the Festival Theatre for seven years. Many of his productions have aroused the most intense antagonism and many times caused me to gnash my teeth and anger. It has always been a place of experiment. It set out to present the best plays in a modern manner, introducing new devices: the cyclorama, atmospheric lighting, formalised scenery. Controversies were frequent. But his work was never boring and frequently exciting. I would not have missed any of the productions. 33 04 20 & a

"If you care to go down the main street of Linton any night there is an almost unbelievable smell which is a disgrace to the parish", the District Council was told The sewage arrangements were the same as hundreds of years ago. There were 36 drains running from yards to the main gutter along the street. A new sewage scheme had got to come. 33 04 20b

Cambridge councillors considered schemes for the rebuilding of the Guildhall. One would alter the whole site, the other would set back the front but the building on Guildhall Street would remain untouched and would revert to being a court. But some councillors thought the Parkside scheme was still the best and would be far cheaper. 33 04 20c & d

1933 04 21
St John's new estate, p8*

1933 04 22
Burwell farmers appeared in court for not paying the tithe. One said he owned 45 acres of land, it was not in cultivation but he was charged £25 a year. Asked why it was not being farmed, he said he could not pay for labour. "I am in debt at the bank. I would pay if I had the money, but I haven't. This is State slavery". Another said he had bought land in 1921 when prices were high and had been hard hit by the fall in agricultural values. They were told they had to pay. 33 04 22

1933 04 23 c
Cambridge Mayor, Victoria Avenue Bridge has been offered to the Council. He was the first to wear the Mayoral chain presented by Colonel Harding's family and the first, certainly in recent times, to be presented with a silver cradle on the birth of a son in 1890 during his year of office. 33 04 23 p8*

1933 04 26
An employee of the East Anglian Cement Company at Shepreth climbed into a lime clamp, walked into the middle and prodded it to try and get it to run through. It collapsed and he was buried except for the top of his head. Malcolm Reed jumped into the hot kiln and cleared the lime away from his face, burning his hands in the process. Two others took over until they were exhausted, but it was impossible to pull the victim out before he had suffocated. 33 04 26a

Master printers and new CDN machinery – 33 04 26

1933 04 27
A meeting of the Cambridge Branch of the Society for Cultural Relations was ejected from the café where it was to have met after the management became alarmed at the number of undergraduates who managed to push their way in. It moved to Parker's Piece where a strong posse of police surrounded the speaker while he denounced capitalism and imperialism, but they were there for his protection. Finally they escorted him off the Piece, holding back the crowds of undergraduates who would have followed him. 33 04 27

A Sutton farmworker claimed that while driving three horses attached to a self-binder machine the traces became entangled. When he was freeing them one of the horses swished its tail across his eye and he lost his sight. The farmer, Harold Read, said the man had been partially blind for some years and had hurt his eye against a hanging lamp in his own house. But he was awarded £19 damages. 33 04 27a

Histon doctor, p8*

1933 04 28
Eleven farmers from Wimbish appeared in court for non-payment of tithe rent charges. Mr H. Wiseman said that for the last four years he had worked for nothing. A clergyman in Somerset was receiving £600 a year out of the parish, one of the poorest Essex districts. Farmers had suffered heavy losses yet Queen Anne's Bounty had even suggested that they should reduce their workmen to meet the charge. They did not intend to do that. 33 04 28

1933 04 29
Dry Drayton Three Horseshoes robbery – 33 04 29 & a
'Alexander Tomlyn' book review – 33 04 29b

May 1933 CDN & ES

1933 05 01
Tithepayers' protest, Saffron Walden – 33 05 01 & a

1933 05 02
The large room of the Central Girls' School was charmingly decorated with garlands of cowslips when abdicating May Queen, Lorna James, delightfully dressed in a daffodil frock, crowned her successor, Miss Rita Baynes. Dressed like a rose in a pink gown with a train of petals she approached the throne through a triumphal arch of greenery and received the homage of her subjects who each brought a bunch of flowers. 33 05 02

1933 05 04
Inhabitants of three thatched cottages at Duxford saw their homes burnt down in a big blaze that started across the road in a paint and oil yard belonging to Harding and Son. Cans of oil and paint exploded and the whole of the display window fittings were burnt out, leaving a gaping hole in the wall. Had the alarm not been raised by the barking of a dog the fire would have been more disastrous and enveloped the whole of the street. The absence of a strong wind, the heroic efforts of firemen and villagers, and a plentiful supply of water were alone responsible for the fire being controlled – but not until after six hours' toil. 33 05 04 (pic 33 05 04)

1933 05 05 ES
Parson Drove new school tenders. 33 05 05ES

Prickwillow motor boat wedding photo. 33 05 05(2)ES

1933 05 06
There is a good deal of interest in the building operations in progress at the corner of Lensfield Road. It is for the Scott Polar Research Institute which has been based in a house at the corner of Panton Street since 1925. The new building, designed by Sir Herbert Baker and being built by Messrs Sindall, should be completed next year. 35 05 06a & b

Liverpool Victoria Friendly Society annual report – 33 05 06

1933 05 08
A motorist had a narrow escape at the Milton Road railway crossing subway. A medical student was driving towards Cambridge when two boys ran out into the road. One was knocked down. The car continued on a short distance before crashing into the fence and being left with one wheel suspended over the ten-feet drop. 33 05 08b

The County Council is to change their staff's weekly half-holiday from Thursday to Saturday, although the Clerk can to require the attendance of any member of staff on any Saturday afternoon if desirable. However senior officials should not lose their half-day. The public would have no cause for objection, though last Saturday afternoon 50 people applied for licences. The Guildhall has closed on Saturday afternoons for many years. 33 05 08

1933 05 09
A great wave of cheering swept across the footlights to welcome Jack Payne and his band at the New Theatre. As soon as the world-famous signature tune 'Say it with music' began, the applause commenced, and when the curtain rose upon Jack and his 21 players, the tumult was deafening. It was a tremendous tribute to one of the most cheery figures in vaudeville today. They opened with the American unemployeds' song 'Brother, can you spare a dime?' 33 05 09

1933 05 10
Cambridge was one of the worst places for rats, councillors were told. The Pumping Station and the boundary ditches at Cherry Hinton were simply teeming with them. They could get rid of them in a very short time if they adopted the old plan of paying so much for each rat destroyed. In Hertfordshire there were two rats officers, and the Isle of Ely had taken other steps. But Cambridgeshire had done nothing. 33 05 10

1933 05 11
Portugal Terrace fire – 33 05 11

1933 05 12
A Peterborough pilot had a fortunate escape from serious injury when the aeroplane in which he was flying solo crashed in Manor Farm, Swavesey. When passing over the village he lost his way and dropped down close by the station in an endeavour to find his position. In avoiding one belt of trees he collided with another and crashed almost on the railway line. Railwaymen rushed to his assistance and he was taken to Dr Hart in Mr W. Hind's milk van, which happened to be passing. 33 05 12

1933 05 12 ES
Ely shops change – Fosters Bros take McFall, Fore Hill; photo. 33 05 12ES

Lt Thetford rumours over labourer's demise. 33 05 12(2)(3)ES

1933 05 13
The Eastern Counties Folklore Society held its first meeting at the University Museum of Archaeology and Ethnology. Dr Haddon explained its object was to collect and record folk customs, rites and beliefs. One charm he mentioned had been discovered at Babraham: a stone which was put into the manger to cure a horse of night sweats – supposed to be caused by the animal being ridden by a witch. 33 05 13

Keen regret has been expressed that Terence Gray proposes to give up his directorship of the Festival Theatre at the close of term, after seven years of magnificent work. Efforts are being made in University circles to enable the theatre to continue. Mr J.G. Macleod has expressed a wish to run a Festival season, but his plans depend on a guaranteed sum of £4,000. He has produced, acted and written for the theatre but is not one of those who believes in queerness for the sake of queerness. 33 05 13b

CDN free flights drawn – 33 05 13a
Say it with music, p8

1933 05 15
Greyhound racing attracted a large crowd to the Downham Road Stadium, Ely when the first meeting of its kind to be held in the city went through with much success. Apart from two mishaps with the hare, everything went off well. In the first race one dog went astray by jumping the wire and in another Honeycomb was leading at the last hurdle at which it jumped the wire out of the course. 33 05 15

Emir of Katsina visits University - 33 05 15a

Members of Clare College were awakened by the sounds of banging and hammering at every entrance gate: each had been securely padlocked and barred so staff were unable to gain admittance. Axes had to be procured to break the stout chains. Then it was discovered that all the locks had been carefully filled up with putty so a considerable time elapsed before the normal college routine could be resumed. 33 05 15b

1933 0516
When Dick Turpin stayed at the Three Tuns Inn, Castle Street, in January 1739 he left a velvet coat behind which he never reclaimed as he was soon afterwards hanged at York. Now 194 years later that coat is back in Cambridge and its new owner, E. Rutter, the well-known antique dealer has discovered hidden valuables. He was surprised to find a George I half-crown together with other coins, silver rings and a pair of earrings in the lining. He bought the coat, together with a mask, pistols and spurs from a Cardiff man whose grandfather had claimed them at the Inn in his capacity as an Excise Officer. 33 05 16

1933 05 17
Future of the Festival – J.G. Macleod letter – 33 05 17
Cropley Grove estate, p8*

1933 05 18
Hangman's Corner, Barton Road presented a scene of excitement when the British Hospital's Air Pageant visited Cambridge and all afternoon there was the incessant 'zoom' of aeroplanes 'taking off' and landing. All-in advanced aerobatics provided a thrill; the 'crazy' flying drew many a gasp whilst equally entertaining was the dancing to music by the tiniest machines in the show. Wing-walking and parachute jumping were presented, together with balloon bursting and a chase after a 'kidnapped' bride. One machine which caused amusement was Mr Heath Robinson's conception of a Chinese dragon: the 'flying motor cycle'. 33 05 18

Cambridge Mothercraft Clinic gives information and teaching which saves women many hours of anxiety and babies many terrible pains. They have held classes for expectant mothers and six have come to the clinic for help and advice. It is open two days a week and has seen 160 attendances but needs 360 people to pay a guinea a year to cover expenses. 33 05 18 a & b

Ouse Catchment and control of the pumps – 33 05 18c
Coal cart accident – 33 05 18d

1933 05 19
Death Jimmy Sands, footballer – 33 05 19a

Sir – the gravel footpath from Brooklands Avenue along Hobson's River up Empty Common has long been known as Finch's Walk. But how did it get its name? Some people call it Senior Wranglers' Walk and connect it with the name of the Rev G.B. Finch who was Senior Wrangler in 1857. But he never mentioned that he had anything to do with it. In an 1834 deed relating to the Hobson's Conduit Trust there is mention of two trustees called Charles Finch, one of whom died in 1762, who had a foundry and ironworks in Thompson's Lane – W.D. Bushell. 33 05 19b

1933 05 19 ES
Littleport Alexandra Institute's work among factory girls. 33 05 19ES *

1933 05 20
Royal horse trainer, Richard Marsh, dies at Shelford – 33 05 20
Sidney Street rebuilding – 33 05 20a
Radio relay, p8*
Hangman's Corner, p8*

1933 05 22
The 1931 census report shows a population increase in Cambridgeshire of seven percent since 1921. The number of married women has increased assisted by the high marriage rate in recent years, despite the prevailing economic depression. The net result of all the new building, structural alteration and demolition has seen the number of dwellings rise by 13.7 per cent and the instances of 'overcrowding' has reduced notwithstanding a large increase in the numbers of families. 33 05 22c

Unemployment situation – 33 05 22
Wireless relay service report – 33 05 22a
Crossman death, p8*
Census, p8*

1933 05 23
An inquiry into the extension of Cambridge boundaries was told that Girton should be included. Most of the residents worked in the town and it was their shopping and amusement centre. The sewage could drain by gravitation into Cambridge drains which were already almost up to the boundaries. Chesterton RDC did have a scheme but it was a complete mystery. The Mistress of Girton College said the question of drainage was one of urgency and she would also welcome public lighting and refuse collection. 33 05 23 & a 33 05 24a & b

Reach Fair opening – 33 05 23

1933 05 24
A notice in the Nairobi official gazette states that the central figure in the Cambridge 'Helen of Troy' case has changed her name to that of the doctor with whom she moved to Africa. It will be recalled that her husband, a grocer's assistant, was awarded £500 damages last June following his action against the doctor for the enticement of his wife. Some weeks later the two arrived in Kenya where they said they were to make their home 'for good and all'. Her husband was very upset when told of the news: "I think it is perfectly disgusting", he said. 33 05 24c

Newnham nursing association meeting – 33 05 24
Boundary inquiry, p8*

1933 05 25
Cambridge councillors rejected plans for the provision of a wireless relay service. People who could not afford expensive wireless sets could receive programmes by possession of a loud-speaker. The continual exchanging of unsatisfactory wireless sets was an expensive item for meagre incomes while subscription to a relay would secure perfect reception. But it would give a monopoly of news and programmes into the hands of one company and increase the number of unsightly wires over back gardens. 33 05 25

Borough expansion inquiry closes – 33 05 25b & c
Mayor Wace, p6*

1933 05 26
Alan Cobham's visit – 33 05 26f

The Vicar of Caxton sought permission to install electric lighting in the church. Mrs Muriel Patterson, the donor, wanted directional lighting from the roof as hanging lamps would interfere with the congregation's view during service and break the beauty. The Diocesan Chancellor said he did not like the scheme, it was a great mistake. But he could not condemn the church to its present means of illumination, which was by oil. 33 05 26a

Deaf-mute people were cut off socially and industrially, many became a burden on their families and were sent to institutions at the age of seven. The answer lay in one word: 'Papworth'. A village settlement should be established in pleasant surroundings where they could live in an entirely self-contained community. They could make their own township and find a suitable vocation in working the land. The difficulties of normal children born in such a colony, of the marriage of deaf-mutes and the sterilisation of the unfit were touched upon at a meeting in Cambridge. 33 05 26d

The Great Ouse Catchment Board's proposal to control the pumping of water into the main river was strongly opposed by Internal Drainage Boards. Improved drainage means that the black top soil was continually shrinking: they must be able to pump whenever needed and not be ordered to stop by people in Cambridge. Instead the Board should ensure their banks were properly kept up. But they were over-ruled. 33 05 26b & c

Proposals to set back the line of buildings in Sidney Street would leave only two small properties jutting out between Woolworth's and the corner. There was no room for people to move on the pavement and it would be a great improvement. But Mrs Rackham said it was unreasonable to pay so much money: the owners demanded compensation that equated to nearly half a million pounds an acre. This was not new: when a building line was prescribed in King Street, property which formerly sold at £1,500 immediately fetched £2,000. 33 05 26 f & g

Horse parade, p5*
Hush-hush engine, p11*

1933 05 26 ES
Isle police changes. 33 05 26&(2)ES *

Plane lands near Coveney. 33 05 26(3)ES

Littleport Constitutional Club safe found intact. 33 05 26(3)ES

Fen Drainage Authorities opposed Ministry byelaws which threat to their right to pump. 33 05 23(4)(5)ES

1933 05 27
Finch's Walk name and ironfounders – 33 05 27 & 33 06 03a

June 1933 CDN & ES

1933 06 01
Sir Alan Cobham's great air display at Marshall's Aerodrome showed all kinds of flying and many were the thrills his pilots provided. During a demonstration aerobatic flight with a passenger the plane dived and looped, twisted and turned and did everything a plane could do. But at the end the hardy individual who had decided to take the flight actually managed to walk without assistance and appeared to have enjoyed his literally hair-raising trip immensely. 33 06 01

1933 06 02 ES
Electricity for the villages: Ely RDC take steps to obtain supplies. 33 06 02&(2)ES

Downham Legion Standard dedication: photo. 33 06 02(3)ES

1933 06 03
W.D. Nicholes, Mill Road store refurbishment – 33 06 03
Finch's foundery, p8
King's organ, p8

1933 06 06
The Whit Monday horse and pony parade was revived on Midsummer Common. The beasts had been brushed until their silky coats gleamed in the sunshine and their carts and vans 'groomed' for the occasion. Even a coal cart becomes a thing of beauty when it is resplendent in a new coat of brightly-coloured paint matched only by gaily-coloured ribbons. Many of the spectators came in horse-drawn carriages and even the police were mounted. But the Mayor arrived in a car. 33 06 06a & b

University Film Society filming 'Power' – 33 06 06

1933 06 07
The Backs near King's bridge were crowed with punts when the Cambridge University Madrigal Society performed the annual rite of singing on the river. As the sun went down and the moon rose from behind the Gibbs' Building, the cawing of the rooks and the noises of the town ceased, and over the water came the sounds of a Brahms' motet. An aeroplane buzzed like an angry wasp across the sky but failed to break the spell of magical voices which softly floated in the air. 33 06 07

1933 06 08
A Newnham College student was summoned for dangerous flying. Mary Barnard said she had taken off from Marshall's flying school on a solo flight and descended to 1,000 feet over her College. But Dr John Bury, who had flown for five years, said she had descended rather rapidly, then flattened out and crossed Corpus Christi gardens at about 600 feet, he could read the letters on the plane quite clearly. As it was the first prosecution of its kind the magistrates decided to dismiss the case with a caution. 33 06 08a

Pinehurst flats – advert – 33 06 08
St Ives water scheme – 33 06 08a

1933 06 12
Cambridgeshire farmers had a reasonably good market for their milk, but in many districts there was a surplus they could not sell. The only way to help was a national milk marketing scheme. The country would be divided into a number of regions that would fix their own price. If a farmer failed to find his own buyer then the Board would take his milk, producers meeting at the Lion Hotel were told. 33 06 12

Saturday was one of the quietest bump supper nights on record. A few blazered undergraduates wearing dress shirts roamed the streets and occasionally a cheer could be heard. Then there was a squad of those who went through various drill movements, using the pavement as a parade ground. But they were remarkably steady, and mild, possibly because the bump-supper beer was likewise! A constable remarked, "Sid Moon (the News cartoonist) should draw a cartoon of an empty Market Hill with a yawning policeman, because that all there's doing tonight". 33 06 12a

1933 06 13
The roof-climber who 'pinched' the two weathervanes off the Squire Law Library building seems to have had an attack of conscience, for the missing cock and fish were replaced last night. But they also left tasteful decorations and souvenirs in the shape of two sherry bottles at each end of an arch high over the entrance to the Geological Museum. They are said to be full and so act as 'bait' to other scalers of walls and roofs. 33 06 13

Jesus College's new boathouse was opened, nine months after the disastrous fire which had destroyed one of the landmarks of the river. It was a mitigated disaster as the original was gradually becoming too small. The clock, which was the only survival of the burnt boathouse, was still keeping good time in the new clock tower. It had been presented by Dr Morgan shortly after the old boathouse had been built. 33 06 13a

Over 1,300 dancers disported themselves at the First and Third Trinity Boat Club's ball. As usual there were large crowds of spectators lining all the entrances and not a few on the river but great precautions had been taken to avoid gate crashing with two lots of 'sentries'. Inside the place was aglow with thousands of coloured lights while the dance tent itself, with its famous parquet floor, was electrically lit. From a dais in the centre the Embassy band played a sweet programme of dance music until the early hours of the morning. 33 06 13b

In the Caxton district the rural population was dying out and houses were not needed as much as formerly, a conference was told. Machinery was taking the place of hand labour and the population had gone down considerably. It was also found that the old people would not go out of the old houses – some of them very primitive, with ladder staircases. The Council only built for agricultural labourers; they had applications from outsiders but left them to look after themselves – they only looked after their own people. 33 06 13c

Royston Cinema, owned by Mr J.N. Cox, was practically burnt out by a fire which threatened a nearby house. So fierce was the fire that within 15 minutes the whole of the roof crashed, to be followed by the right-hand wall. This fell on to a greenhouse in the garden of Mr E. Henderson, who was ill in bed and the flames charred the wood under his roof. The cinema auditorium was destroyed but the valuable projection apparatus and gas-engine was saved, as were most of the reels of film. 33 06 13b, 33 06 14a (pic)

1933 06 14
George Bolton, furniture remover, death – 33 06 14
Royston cinema blaze photo - 33 06 14a

1933 06 15
The malaria mosquito is still very prevalent in Wicken Fen, but the disease has died out. During the war, when a large number of troops came home suffering from malaria they were bitten by mosquitoes which then became infected with the parasite and spread the infection to many people who had never been out of England. This state of affairs lasted for six years but has now died out. Scientists do not fully understand why the insect is no longer infected, the Rotary Club was told. 33 06 15

The rates of pay for workers employed in the corn harvest should be double the ordinary rates for a working week of 69 hours, with double overtime rates. That worked out at £12 per harvest worker. Boys under 14 should receive fourpence an hour and there should be a four o'clock stop on Saturdays, farmer were told. The prices for bacon, potatoes, lard, rice, currants, flour and bread had all risen and rent charges were at least 100 per cent above pre-war rents. But farmers wanted normal wages, plus bonuses. 33 06 15b

David John Scott had been engaged in photographic work all his business life. He first started in 1884 in partnership with Mr Wilkinson at 47, St Andrew's Street. They bought an existing business for £300 and traded for five or seven years before the partnership was dissolved and he bought Wilkinson out. About September 1932 he had to leave those premises and remove to 59 Regent Street, which affected the business. Trade had declined and people were not having their photographs taken as much as they used to. 33 06 15c # c.65.5

Francis Pollendine, haulage contractor – 33 06 15c
John Mellanby electrical contractor, Waterbeach – 33 06 15e
King's May Ball – 33 06 15e
Share-out clubs heaviest claims – 33 06 15f

1933 06 16
Community and Labour opinions were so divided at a conference in Burleigh Street that a proposal to form a Cambridge Anti-War Council had to be adjourned after three hours. The University Anti-War Council said workers in Cambridge laboratories had been organised against war. Mrs Foster of the Women's Cop-operative Guild wondered who were being prepared as the next enemy of Britain. It used to be the French, then the defenceless Boers and last of all the Germans. She appealed to women to play their part against the wickedness of war before the catastrophe arrived. 33 06 16 & b

The Edison Bell factory at Huntingdon, which at one time was a busy workshop for hundreds of hands making gramophone records and parts for wireless, was offered for sale. A large company assembled but there appeared no special demand for the premises which were offered with some of the important fixed machinery. It was withdrawn at £10,000. The disposal of the modern plant and machinery occupied two days and buyers were attracted from a wide area. 33 06 16a

The latest feature of building development at Cambridge is the erection of two blocks of modern flats at Pinehurst, Grange Road. The site, formerly occupied by a large house used as a private school, has been acquired by the Strand and Savoy Properties. Each block has 20 flats at rentals from £145 to £175 per annum. Messrs Stockbridge furnished on display flat in antique style including a Queen Anne bureau-bookcase, another had modern furniture by Papworth Industries with an 'all-electric' kitchen. 33 06 16a

1933 06 17
The New Theatre has closed for the Summer Vacation by which time it will probably be converted into a 'talkie' house. Even star actors have failed to attract crowded houses – apart from the D'Oyly Carte Company. It will mean the throwing out of work of over 100 staff, several of whom have given many years to its service. In nearly every town the story is the same. Owing to the competition of the talking films the theatres are suffering as never before. As many as 157 have closed in the past twelve months. 33 06 17a

Samuel Taylor Coleridge commemoration – 33 06 17
New buildings, p8*
May Week accident, p8*

1933 06 19
Frederick Rushmore, Master of St Catharine's – death – 33 06 19 & a

1933 06 20
Clare College memorial court damage by climbers – 33 06 20
Cambridge corporation plate returned – 33 06 20a & b

1933 06 21
Stanley Baldwin at Selwyn College jubilee – 33 06 21

1933 06 22
RIBA architects conference – 33 06 22 & a

1933 06 23
Railways were subjected to ever-increasing competition from road transport, the Railway Students' Association was told. Over long distances lorries seemed most vulnerable and railways could eliminate them by fixing their rates to make them unremunerative to the road carriers. It was wrong that people could obtain a motor lorry on the hire purchase system for about £25. This had resulted in unbridled competition. Every day they saw cases of these poor men, after having struggled for a few years, going through the bankruptcy courts. 33 06 23

1933 06 23 ES
Stretham, Haddenham and Wilburton British Legion standard dedicated (photo p16)

1933 06 26
Guildhall scheme approved – 33 06 26 & a
Shelford Road, p8

1933 06 27
Comberton parish council took compulsory powers in 1927 and purchased a suitable field of easy access from all parts of the village with some fine oak trees at one end. During the past five years money has been raised to meet the cost of hedging, levelling and erecting swings, but there still remained the laying down of tennis courts, a bowling green and a cricket pitch. Now a grant has been received which will enable this to be completed. 33 06 27

Newmarket slums, traffic system, fire service – 33 06 27a

1933 06 28
Impington sewage, Comberton pond – 33 06 28

1933 06 29
Bus services through Clavering, which has a population of under 1,000, would soon become as 'thick' as in Cambridge, already there were 108 every week, an inquiry into extra services on the Heydon-Bishop Stortford route was told. But a new early morning bus would suit train passengers to London, it was claimed. 33 06 29 & a

1933 06 30 ES
Crane overturns Darby's pit, Sutton Gault: photo. 33 06 30ES *

Stretham Church fete (photo p13). 33 06 30(2)(3)ES

July 1933 CDN & ES

1933 07 03
Councillors agreed to renew the licence of the Three Tuns, Castle Street, Cambridge on the understanding that a new public house would be erected on the adjoining site of the old White Swan, which is also the property of the Corporation. This would avoid the demolition of the Three Tuns, which has a definite local history and connections to Dick Turpin, but is structurally unsound. 33 07 03 p6

One of the droves at Tile House Farm, Soham mere is to be made into a hard road, nine feet wide. Councillors inspected a reinforced concrete road made in Huntingdonshire some years ago, which tenants claimed was a success. But it is an experimental project: the sub soil was not the same so it might not stand the wear and tear and they could not claim it would last for ever. 33 07 03 p3

Corporation plate, p6
Swavesey Legion standard, p8
Pampisford pageant, p8

1933 07 04
George Robert Kett was one of Cambridge's best-known and respected builders. He studied medicine before joining Rattee & Kett, becoming managing director in 1926 and was a founder of the Federation of Building Trades Employers in 1918. During the Great War he was Executive Officer for Food Control for Cambridge and served as a special constable. Despite his outspoken manner his genial personality maintained for him an almost unrivalled popularity. 33 07 04 p8

1933 07 05
A fight over a girl at Balsham fair ended up in court. One lad said he went to the fair, had one drink, and then gone on a roundabout several times with a young lady. As they walked away, talking, another lad came up and spoke to the girl, then hit him the eye, breaking his spectacles. The second lad said he had been 'walking out' with her for 18 months. They were both fined ten shillings. 33 07 05 p5

Sir, If I were 'Traffic Dictator' for Cambridge motor cycles would not be allowed in Sussex Street or Christ's Lane, there would be no parking of cars for more than fifteen minutes or in Jesus Lane: why spend £2,000 widening it, then block the space gained by motor cars. Bus users would be made to queue up near Lloyds Bank: often it is virtually impossible to get through the crowds of waiting passengers. – 'Interested'. 33 07 05 p8

Trumpington Free Church minister, p6

1933 07 06
Two ancient silver spoons were presented to Cambridge Corporation. They were part of a collection of plate sold by the Council in 1836 – in those days even property passed into private hands in return for a good dinner - now they wanted to retrieve them. They had bought back one of six stoops and were seeking the gem of the collection, a rose bowl.33 07 06 p8 33 07 14 03

Somerlite, p5

1933 07 07
The Carlton public house in Lensfield Road owned by Lacons brewery had seen an increase in trade following the Budget decrease. There had been no complaints about the tenant, Edward Bettesworth, who was getting a living and wanted to retain it. Its licence was renewed but not those of the Coach and Horses on Newnham Road or the Alhambra on East Road where there were five other pubs within 220 yards and the trade was decreasing. 33 07 07 p12

Accident at Stretham – 33 07 07
Dog fountain, p9
Somerlite case, p12

1933 07 07 ES
Wilburton church fete: photo. 33 07 07(3)(5)(6)ES

Motor lorries collect fruit: photo. 33 07 07(4)ES *

1933 07 08
There seems no end to the output of University fiction. 'The sporting term is over' by Richard Heron Ward is set in Cambridge where – according to the blurb – 'the extreme communities of pseudo-intellectualism and excessive athleticism are constantly warring against each other'. There are too many unpleasant and abnormal people: one effeminate creature is thrown into the river by fellow undergraduates and another lad hit over the head with a heavy candlestick. But it does describe a Poppy Day rag. 33 07 08

1933 07 10
One woman was killed and 11 men, women and children seriously injured at Wisbech when a saloon car collided with a group of London fruit pickers engaged in the strawberry fields. The accident occurred in semi-darkness and pouring rain. Afterwards the injured and their relatives were scattered in small groups along the roadside, the uninjured endeavouring to identify the injured. They were removed to hospital in relays in an ambulance and motor vans. 33 07 09 p5

St Giles, p6
Chiswick End pit, p8

1933 07 12
Dr R.M. Salaman addressed Cambridge Rotary club on the persecution of the Jews in Germany. Hitler was destroying the whole people: it was more serious than the mere 'beating up' of individuals who happened to be Jewish, it was a movement which struck at the very roots of civilisation. Paid advocates of the Nazis had been sent to Palestine and the Ukraine and the doctrine was being taught in schools in the most scandalous way. 33 07 12 p8

1933 07 14
Corporation plate, p3*

1933 07 14 ES
Lt Downham church roof restoration fete. 33 07 14ES

Ouse Catchment Board inspect training walls river: photo. 33 07 14(2)ES

Girl Guides' rally Littleport: photos. 33 07 14(3)ES

1933 07 15
The centenary of the Oxford Movement was celebrated at St Giles' church when the congregation was exceptionally large. Prof Wynne regretted the tendency of the Church to be manned with old men. It was the younger man who saw visions and who must carry on the work. These days a mass attack was being made upon Christianity, the world was growing increasingly evil. The English Church Union and the Anglo-Catholic Congress should work together. 33 07 15 p6

The Cam Conservators have recently completed the dredging of the lower river. Since the dredger commenced operations in July 1923, enough silt has been removed to cover Parker's Piece to a depth of six feet 10 inches. It will probably be 30 years before another clearance of this nature will be necessary. 33 07 15

1933 07 17
This area will be scene of aerial activity during night exercises by the RAF. Operations will begin between a raiding force of 108 bombers and 152 fighters, some based at Duxford, who will endeavour to intercept and destroy them. They should be off the ground in two minutes, reach an altitude of 1,600 feet in about ten minutes and travel 30 miles. Cambridge itself is off the map as far as actual fighting is concerned as it is supposed to be covered by mountains. 33 07 17

A tithe 'raid' took place at Cowlinge when three lorries containing 14 men from London swooped down on a field and 20 young bullocks belonging to Frank Clarke of Hundon, were loaded into the vehicles. 14 others strayed away, doing a great deal of damage to an adjoining field of wheat. The distraint order was obtained on behalf of Jesus College for tithes amounting to £114. 33 07 17

Ernest Bevan, general secretary of the TGWU, addressed the Cambridge Labour Party fete at Girton. Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald had the backing of four million organised workers but had deserted the cause from panic. Nearly every great progressive movement had been split through the ambition or ego of the leaders. The Labour movement was the personal property of no man and though leaders might go, the movement went on, he told them. 33 07 17

1933 07 18
The giro-tiller, an interesting piece of agricultural machinery, was demonstrated at the University Farm. It looks like a large tractor behind which are two sets of blades affixed to revolving drums which break up the land to a depth of 18 inches in clay. They cost several thousand pounds and are intended for contractors who charge thirty shillings an hour for doing the work. 33 07 18

Two Cambridge bus drivers had their lives saved by the use of new equipment acquired by the Borough Ambulance. D.G. Boyd & R.A. Doe became overcome by exhaust fumes after doing duty on the starting gang at the Hills Road garage and were removed to hospital. Boyd was revived from a state of unconsciousness through the use of the Novox resuscitation apparatus and Doe also benefited by the oxygen mixture. A conductor was also slightly affected by fumes, but quickly recovered. 33 07 18

1833 07 19
Lord Clifden has sold Wimpole Hall but has arranged to take a lease of the house, park and sporting rights and intends to go on living at the Hall. The sale is a noteworthy example of the revived tendency to buy landed properties as an investment. The purchaser does not intend to break up the estate which included two villages, 12 farms and many small buildings. The park, including a double avenue of elms, is one of the finest in England. 33 07 19

Crowds of about 5,000 persons witnessed the thrilling demonstrations of the wonderful non-skid properties of Michelin Zigzag tyres at New Square car park. After It was drenched with water two Austin Sevens, a Morris '14' commercial van and a Citroen saloon went whizzing round at a dizzy speed, twisting, turning, swerving abruptly to right and left, corkscrewing and turning figures of eight in a perfectly hair-raising fashion. Their tyres gripped like octopuses. 33 07 19

1933 07 20
Plans for the new Royston cinema in Priory Lane met with opposition: it is deplorable thing it is being built there; it has absolutely crabbed the whole of the building of good-class houses in the future. Tradesmen thought it the most calamitous things which could ever have happened, councillors were told. 33 07 20

Black Horse Drove school becomes badly flooded, not only with surface water but with sewage, councillors heard. Since so many more houses had been built on the higher land at Littleport a tremendous amount of sewage comes down whenever they got a heavy storm and settles in the playground. Tenders were received for the erection of a branch library at March together with a new senior school which will be named the Hereward School 33 07 20

Harold Archer died in the same house in which he had been born in Ely on 17th February 1845. That day residents first saw a locomotive engine that had been sent by road on a horse trolley by the contractor to the Eastern Counties Railway to work the ballast train and make the Railway Embankment across the Cresswells. He played a prominent part in the city's affairs and became an authority on the drainage of the fens. 33 07 20

1933 07 21
Coveney accident – 33 07 21

1933 07 21 ES
Downpour mars Stretham sports. 33 07 21&(2)ES

1933 07 22
Royston theatre – 33 07 22
R.H. West replies criticism of his novel 'The Spring Term is Over' – 33 07 22

1933 07 24
The General Stores and adjoining cottage on the Old North Road near Arrington Bridge caught fire. After removing a copper in one of the rooms it was found the lathe and plaster wall was red hot. The building is an old one and it is said that Dick Turpin slept there. In one of the bedrooms there are two large iron sockets into which a bar could be put to block the door and a small sliding panel in the wall gives a view of anyone coming up the stairs. 33 07 24

Baldwin at Gogs, p8

1933 07 25
Cambridge's New Theatre is to be run as a cinema but every effort will be made to continue some theatrical form of entertainment. It has been leased to Mr P.V. Wallis who was the originator of the Central Cinema ten years ago and later took over the Tivoli and Playhouse cinemas. A Western Electric sound projector system will be installed together with some structural alterations and it is hoped to reopen in September. 33 07 25

1933 07 26
The reconstruction of the London-Norwich road to trunk road standard was begun in 1931 and 2½ miles were completed when work was stopped at the request of the Ministry owning to the financial crisis. Because of that the cost of maintenance has increased and the sides of the uncompleted roads are getting worse. Now the Ministry have offered a reduced grant to allow it to continue. 33 07 26

The reputation which Cambridge enjoys as the home of many women prominent in public life has been enhanced by the appointment of a new secretary of the University Lodging Houses Syndicate. Miss Mary Kennett is the daughter of the late Professor of Hebrew. She trained at Guy's Hospital and her knowledge of hygiene will be valuable when she inspects the houses licensed to accommodate undergraduates. 33 07 26

A meeting of the Cambridge Anti-War Council debated whether to affiliate to the national body. There was a danger that war might appear soon and the workers would be caught as they were in 1914 unless some centralised organisation was set up. But the British Anti-War Movement had been started by Communists with the idea of boring from the inside and they should not join. 33 07 26
Steeple Morden estate, p3*

1933 07 28
Grave warning of the danger of exhaust fumes from motor vehicles were given at a BMA Conference. The blood of traffic policemen has been found to be charged with carbon monoxide at a high concentration and that of motorists must be similarly polluted. Should the danger be intensified pedestrians will need to wear gas-masks in self-defence, delegates were told. Soon or later authorities responsible for public health must take action. 33 07 28

The Central Hall in Market Passage may become a cinema where cultural films would be shown during the University term. It would be run by Openshaw Higgins, formerly manager of The Tivoli cinema. Mr Mullett, the architect said the amount of film in the proposed projection box would not generate sufficient heat in event of a fire to buckle the iron armour of which it would be constructed. 33 07 28

Ouse estuary crisis, p8

1933 07 28 ES
Rickwood's improve Ely shopping facilities: photo. 33 07 28ES *

Low flight over Ely Cathedral. 33 07 28(2)ES

Barway's first fete. 33 07 28(3)ES

St German's pumping station nearing completion. 33 07 28(4)ES # c.29 *

1933 07 29
Two portions of the East Stone Training Bank of the Great Ouse Estuary below King's Lynn have fallen in and the whole bank might be lost if there were heavy storms in the winter. The Great Ouse Catchment Board would lose their main outfall and trade to the port of King's Lynn damaged. The southern bank might be saved if steps are taken at once and the Ministry should be approached for funding. 33 07 29

Early moving pictures – 33 07 29

1933 07 31
The old County Hall in Hobson Street was supposed to be sold with the proceeds being used to pay for the new Shire Hall on Castle Hill. But now little tin advertising 'To Let' signs had appeared and there didn't seem to be the slightest attempt to sell it, a councillor complained. But every effort had been made to dispose of it without success and they were now hoping to let a portion to the Government's Office of Works which would suit the council equally as well as a sale. 33 07 31

Trial road, p6*

August 1933 CDN & ES

1933 08 01
The Fenland Research Committee, recently established at Cambridge, has already justified its existence. At Plantation Farm, Shippea Hill, they have discovered an interesting settlement of the early Bronze Age which has yielded a large number of flint implements, arrow heads and knives. Grahame Clarke also found traces of an earlier culture. When it is remembered that the archaeology of the fens has been practically unknown it will be seen that their discoveries are of much importance. 33 08 01

Ely potato association – 33 08 01

1933 08 02
Charles Wilkins took up journalism at an early age. He worked on the Huntingdonshire Post before moving to the editorial side of the Cambridgeshire Times. He became managing editor of the Cambridge Chronicle and in 1921 he was appointed its managing director. Mr Wilkins was secretary of the Isle of Ely Amateur Football Association and took a prominent part in the Conservative cause and the Catholic church. He leaves a widow and a family of nine, six sons and three daughters. 33 08 02

Cambridge bus companies: future of Varsity and Westminster – 33 08 02

1933 08 03
The Minister of Transport has rejected calls for the imposition of a speed limit in front of Ely Cathedral but says steps should be taken to avoid vibration by providing the carriageway with a smooth running service on a bed insulated from the adjacent buildings. A large volume of traffic could be diverted if a by-pass road was constructed on the east side of the city and a one-way system introduced along Minster Place and the Gallery. 33 08 03

Ely boy's pluck – river rescue medal John Gotobed – 33 08 03

1933 08 04
Ely's new 'Majestic Cinema' in New Barnes-road has an attractive front plastered in brown and cream which arrests the attention of anyone passing. Designed by F. Tucker of Lynn Road it has the latest Weston screen and Imperial sound system and will seat 370 people. Messrs Russell and Frank Wright are to be congratulated on their enterprise. The first film is Ida Lupino in 'Her First Affair'. 33 08 04

1933 08 04 ES
Ely Majestic Cinema to open. 33 08 04&(2)ES *

Graven's first with Ford commercial vehicle. 33 08 04(3)ES *

Ely canning factory closed: insufficient supplies. 33 08 04(4)ES

Jack Hulbert at Ely's first sports, 1897: photo. 33 08 04(5)ES *

Shippea Hill Bronze Age settlement. 33 08 04(6)ES

1933 08 05
C.T. Wilkins, p8*
100 years ago, p8

1933 08 08
Slum clearance scheme – 33 08 08

1933 08 09
A state of armed neutrality exists on the title 'battlefield' of Woodlands Farm, Ringshall near Stowmarket. Fascists are camped in the farmyard while a bailiff is in possession of two cornfields on the farm. The owner owes £47 to King's College for tithe and fields of wheat and barley have been seized for which tenders have been invited. Police are on constant duty while the fascists watch the approaching roads for signs of approaching cutting machinery. They have chalked messages on the road which read 'Farmers, Unite Now'. 33 08 09

1933 08 10
Cambridge is well ahead with its slum clearance schemes. In the Newmarket Road area there was a case for clearance near the Tabernacle but most of the people worked in the neighbourhood and if they were rehoused on the outskirts it would mean increased cost in getting to work. They had displaced 342 people and only provided homes for 218 of them: would the rest be put onto the street? There was controversy over the fate of one old lady whose house had been demolished, but it was better than leaving her in a building so dangerous it might collapse and bury her. 33 08 10

Boundary decision – bigger borough approved – 33 08 10

1933 08 11
The veranda or shelter over the main entrance of the Guildhall was disgustingly dirty and unsafe and should be removed, the Surveyor reported. It had been built in 1878 and the public should get used to the Guildhall without it because it would not be incorporated in the new building. Others said it was a useful shelter and should be maintained at all costs: the Preservation Society would be shocked if they allowed that ancient piece of architecture to be scrapped. 33 08 11

A travelling posting-box has been started by the Post Office on the Eastern Counties' service which leaves Cottenham at 8.15pm. The letterbox is painted Post Office red and will be fixed on the front of the bus, giving a later posting time than is now the case. It will operate from Monday to Saturday and letters will be delivered in practically any part of England by the first post in the morning. 33 08 11

Swavesey show & sports – 33 08 11

1933 08 11 ES
Ely Majestic cinema opening: photo. 33 08 11ES *

Milk Marketing scheme registration. 33 08 11(2)(3)(4)ES

Witcham church restoration nearing completion. 33 08 11(5)ES

1933 08 12
Milk marketing scheme, p7
Old Cambridgeshire series to start - Palmer Clarke, p8

1933 08 14
Saffron Walden Borough's Electricity Undertaking is to be sold to the County of London Electric Supply Company. They will cover the costs of changing from D.C. to A.C. current and cut the price of units. The scheme had cost £80 in the first year and for nine years they had had electricity in the town but if the council kept the works they would have to spend £10,000 on them. 33 08 14

Old time minstrel entertainment and Memories of the old Arcade – 33 08 14

1933 08 15
Televisions blow at film industry – 33 08 15
New Theatre plans convert to cinema – 33 08 15

1933 08 16
George King will always be associated with Miller's music shop's fortnightly gramophone recitals that he popularised when he came in 1929. He introduced the performance of opera on records with full scenic and lighting effects and sang and played at the recitals. He also undertook the entire managerial duties for University dance bands and was compere when the Union Society first staged classical and light gramophone music. Now he is moving to Dale's Brewery as sales manager. 33 08 16

Water from four wells at the Pit, Isleham is unfit for drinking and they must be closed. They were probably contaminated from the top and ought to be inspected to see where it came from. Now another nineteen wells will be analysed. Councillors also discussed the bad state of Padney Road Wicken: something ought to be done before the heavy traffic of beet haulage began. 33 08 16

Old Cambridgeshire, no.1, p8

1933 08 17
Prior to 1932 workers from Brittany had been imported into Jersey to lift, sort and bag the June potato crop, but this year 47 volunteers from Cambridgeshire were part of 2,500 men employed. The labour was organised on the gang system and broke all records. The Cambridge men were well satisfied with their earnings and several have remained in permanent employment. 38 08 17

Stage or screen, p8*

1933 08 18
Sir – it is a disgrace to Cambridge that our only theatre, the New Theatre, should close like it has done and have to re-open as a cinema. It used to be the finest in the Eastern Counties. When such attractions as Ruth Draper, Jack Payne and Matheson Lang visited it was packed and many people were turned away. But they put up prices and had too many variety shows instead of good plays and musical comedies – Lionel Cherry. 33 08 18

1933 08 18 ES
Twenty-three years at Ely river: A. Broad's service as bathing place attendant. 33 08 18&(2)ES

Typical fenland harvest scene: photo. 33 08 18(3)ES *

1933 08 21
A new use has been discovered for the camera – that of a detective. Official photographs are invariably taken at the scene of a serious crime but recently an amateur photographer used his camera to identify a thief who robbed his hen roost. A piece of string attached to the shutter lever of a simple box camera was pulled by the thief himself when he opened the door of the roost and the tell-tale picture taken. Every motorist may meet an accident and a photographic record of a collision is better testimony for the insurance company than the evidence of an eye witness. 33 08 21

Some early entertainments in Cambridge – magic lantern, Poole's Myorama etc – 33 08 21

1933 08 22
The Bishop of Ely's son, Charles Wright-Thomson, was one of four Eton schoolmasters who lost their lives on the Sella Glacier of the Roseq Peak in the Alps. Hundreds lined the walls of the hillside burial grounds as the coffins, covered with garden flowers and bunches of edelweiss, were buried in one grave in the cemetery adjoining the tiny church of Santa Maria. At the same time a memorial service was held in St Catharine's Chapel at Ely Cathedral and Eton College was closed to visitors. 33 08 22

Stetchworth Park, the residence of the Earl of Ellesmere, was damaged by fire. Fortunately the main buildings and stables escaped but outbuildings including the laundry together with a sitting room and two bedrooms occasionally used by chauffeurs were affected. The flames burnt fiercely about the wooden structure and a clock-tower above the garage was demolished. Prompt action saved two motor cars. 33 08 22

1933 08 23
March man's dole fraud – 33 08 23

1933 08 23 ES
Latest in agricultural machinery: harvester demonstrated at Plantation House Farm, Littleport. 33 08 23ES

Demolition of chimney of Brandon River Pumping Station, Burnt Fen: photo. 33 08 23(2)ES # c.29

1933 08 24
New Zoological labs photo, p6

1933 08 26
Christ's College room renovations for C.P. Snow – 33 08 26
Millers Music shop, Sidney Street – 33 08 26
Trinity college land purchase near Ipswich – 33 08 26

1933 08 28
Grand Jury's last bill – 33 08 28

1933 08 30
Tithe chief faces farmers at Saffron Walden – 33 08 30

1933 08 31
Snake at Byron's pool – 33 08 31
Wardy Hill fire – 33 08 31

September 1933 CDN & ES

1933 09 01
St Giles church has been damaged because of the exceptionally dry weather. A crack was seen at the east end and the wall showed a tendency to fall away from the rest of the church. There is no immediate danger, though a wooden frame will be placed around the top of the arches of the windows as a precaution but it was thought advisable to move the altar. Now the east end will probably have to be underpinned. 33 09 01

Railway line blaze, p8*

1933 09 01 ES
Wardy Hill fire at Jerusalem. 33 09 01ES *

1933 09 02
Death John Sworder, Barkway – 33 09 02
New Theatre opens as cinema – 33 09 02

1933 09 05
Five Cambridge playhouses remembered – 33 09 05
37 farmers committed following tithe protest – 33 09 05
Cambridge Playhouse, p4*

1933 09 06
Hexton vicar leads flock of goats – 33 09 06
Converted bus in Quy accident & Shudy Camps water shortage photo – 33 09 06
Water shortage pic, p8*

1933 09 07
Orwell villagers assisted in extinguishing a burning lorry owned and driven by H.A. Jude, a village haulage contractor. He was driving from the garage in a narrow lane called Lotfield Street when the engine backfired and flames came up into the cab. A petrol can exploded and the heat was so intense that the dummy ends of the petrol tank, which was nearly full, were melted off. Fortunately it did not explode as a few yards off was a thatched cottage occupied by William Breed and on the other side a house occupied by Mrs C. Jude. 33 09 07

Suffolk farm wages, p7

1933 09 08 ES
Ely new tailoring centre: Tharby. 33 09 08ES

Features of interest in Fenland – article on Lt Thetford, Stretham & Wilburton; interview with John Smith and his memories of village life – photos. 33 09 08(2)(3)ES *

1933 09 09
A disastrous fire occurred at Woodhouse Farm Chettisham, near Ely. Smoke was seen in a stack yard, one of the largest in England. Flames spread with amazing speed and soon 28 stacks were in full blaze. Hundreds of people flocked to the scene as firemen together with farmer Mitcham's workmen worked magnificently in the great heat to try and stop it spreading. 33 09 09

1933 09 12
Anderson (Andy) Broom was keenly interested from a boy in amateur photography and became the first Press photographer in Cambridge, having been for 20 years on the staff of the Cambridge Chronicle. Before that he worked for 37 years with the firm of Flavell and Ellis, decorators. He was member of St Giles' parish dramatic society and an athlete, chiefly engaged in cycling and skating. 33 09 12

Cambridge Fire Brigade was called to Knapwell after Mr C. Shelton noticed flames at a window of one of two cottages, both of which have thatched roofs. Neighbours did all they could to remove furniture and belongings but the flames had obtained such a hold that the occupants, Arnold Hodson and Berry Bath and their families, have been rendered homeless. The fire made little more than shells of the cottages. 33 09 12

Four fire brigades fought an extensive conflagration at Great Gransden which imperilled the whole village. Cambridge firemen were returning from a blaze at Waresley Wood when they saw a glare in the sky and were on the spot within ten minutes. Mr Christmas' barn at Home Farm was well alight but a motor car was saved before the garage became burned out. 33 09 12

Cambridge gaol – stories of 'wheel', cat & black hole – 33 09 12

1933 09 13
Knapwell fire, p8

1933 09 14
Sir – in my old curiosity shop in Trumpington Street I have formed a museum of prison, punishment and other interesting relics, many of which have come from our old Cambridge prisons. They include the clothes, mask, pistol and spurs of Dick Turpin which were left at the Three Tuns Inn, Castle Hill, on the eve of January 12th 1739. I would welcome any items connected with village punishment or an old police uniform with the beaver top hat – E. Rutter. 33 09 14

1933 09 15
Horse knocked river, p6*

1933 09 15 ES
Another 'interesting tour': Doddington, Wimblington. 33 09 15ES *

1933 09 16
Norris Museum, p5

1933 09 18
Haverhill post office, p5
Hardwick tithe protest, p8

1933 09 19
Mr A.J. Wardley of Whittlesford was filling up a County Council water cart with the vehicle standing on the village bridge when a car skidded on the damp surface. It knocked the horse and cart into the river, which is ten feet deep. The driver was thrown high and dry. Seventeen people helped extract the horse, which was cut in several places, and the tank was damaged, with the two shafts broken. 33 09 19

Cambridge Guildhall dated back to about 1782 and there had been various extensions. In 1928 the Corporation bought shops in Peas Hill to allow for rebuilding. The possibility of providing shops on the ground floor had been considered but this would not allow sufficient offices for the extra staff needed to cope with their increased duties, an Inquiry was told. 33 09 19

1933 09 20
Well-built houses, Perne Road. An attractive position, situate on the beautifully-made new ring road, close to bus stop. Prices £690 and £710. £50 down, balance £1 weekly. See Walter Driver's announcement in the auction columns for detailed particulars. Sole Agent: Drivers, 1a Post Office Terrace. Tel.468 (Advertisement). 33 09 20

The pilot of a Gypsy Moth was summonsed for low flying at Fen Ditton. He had hired the plane at Marshall's aerodrome but then began 'hedge hopping', looping-the-loop and narrowly missing telegraph poles. Roy Fisher, the ground engineer at Marshall's waved a piece of white fabric to try and attract the pilot's attention and then Mr Marshall went up in a Puss Moth in an attempt to bring him down. They flew together but the man did not land with him. He told magistrates he had served in the RAF but was fined £5. 33 09 20

Prickwillow Lark Bank fire, p5

1933 09 21
Herbert Robinson opened a small shop in Regent Street, 30 years ago, where he commenced selling Premier bicycles. Today his extensive new garage occupies the site of Llandaff Chambers and the old Fountain Inn. It embraces motorcars, motor cycles, bicycles, baby carriages, wireless and gramophones and features a turntable for cars and an overhead runway which enables parts to be conveyed from one side to another. 33 09 21

Sir Frederick Hiam was concerned that if the pumps were stopped his land would be flooded. Some simply floated at such times: when a horse went on the land it went up to its neck and had to be dragged out with ropes. In 1912 the banks held but in 1928, after the Ouse Catchment Board took over, there was a break. His men were out all night to prevent the whole district being flooded. The Board can give an order, but they haven't the men to do it. The man on the spot knows what to do, people in Cambridge did not. 33 09 21, 22, 23

Stretham car crash, p8

1933 09 22
An inquiry into the new Ouse Catchment Board byelaws heard objections from Railway Companies. Their bridges might be damaged by storm or flood and signal wires blown down but they would be unable to repair them without permission: was their traffic to be held up while they got consent. Huntingdonshire County Council felt they would prejudice the growers of bat willows. 33 09 22

The Norris Library and Museum at St Ives was opened with full civic pride. Herbert Norris's collection of manuscripts and books was unique; there was nothing printed in the world concerning Huntingdonshire that was not there and it should become a county museum. The architect, Mr Inskip Ladds was congratulated. The council had also carried out improvements to the Waits and made new flower beds. 33 09 22

1933 09 22 ES
Wonderful air display to visit Ely: Alan Cobham. 33 09 22ES # c.26.1

Burnt Fen Institute annual meeting. 33 09 22(2)(3)ES

1933 09 23
The famous old water mill at Houghton is to be finally destroyed. A short time ago the interior fittings were taken out, but the picturesque fabric was spared. The fine mill at Godmanchester was destroyed some years ago. It is fashion to consider these old mills as useless but there is one at Elton that is doing a roaring trade in milling poultry and cattle food. The water power has been harnessed to drive turbine fans which dry corn cut and thrashed by the Dominion harvester. 33 09 23

County to fight, p8

1933 09 25
Stourbridge fair proclaimed – 33 09 25

1933 09 27
Flying-officer Norman Styche, who formerly lived in Fordham and Cambridge, was one of two men who perished when their bomber crashed at Bamburgh after a successful "battle" against the Home Fleet. Having attending Soham Grammar School he had got books on flying out of the library and learnt all he could. He had previously been in two crashes, but was unhurt in both. 33 09 27

Cambridge Guildhall was crowded for the Eugene Film and Hair Fashion Revue. It included a demonstration of Eugene waving and a parade of ladies whose hair had been waved by Cambridge hairdressers. Applause showed the appreciation of the feminine for those who provided them with these 'Waves of Desire'. 33 09 27

Stretham claim, p5
Damming Cam pic, p8

1933 09 28
Mrs Rackham told of her recent tour of Russia. There were great shortages but the only queues were for oil which was needed for agricultural machinery. However there was no shop in a Russian city which anyone in Cambridge would think it worth looking in. Newspapers were placed on walls as a shortage of paper prevented a large number being printed. When it was suggested she had only seen the better bits, she said it was a very sensible thing to do: visitors to Cambridge were only shown the best in it. 33 09 28

Willing neighbours rescued an elderly bed-ridden lady when her old thatched cottage at Ellington caught fire in an unusual manner. Mrs Stacey was busy making jam and was heating some wax to seal it down when it caught fire. She rushed to the cottage door and threw it outside but the flames flew up and caught the thatch above the door, which is very low. The vicar's daughter and her maid got Mrs Buckmaster out of bed and wheeled her away in a bath chair. There was difficulty getting water: two ponds were practically emptied and one half of the building was destroyed. 33 09 28

Clavering poultry breeder's affairs – 33 09 28
Death of Richard Holttum, Linton – 33 09 28

1933 09 29 ES
Old Doddington: reminiscences W.T. Gent. 33 09 29ES *

Ely rousing welcome for great aviation display. 33 09 29(3)(4)ES

Soham Grammarian Pilot Office Styche of Fordham killed in crash. 33 09 29(4)ES

Fenlanders fight against Ouse Board by-laws; local control of pumps. 33 09 29(5)(6)ES # c.29 *

Prize stackers and thatchers. 33 09 29(5)ES *

1933 09 30
The make-up of the Cambridge Daily News is being completely re-modelled and in future the front page will be devoted to the main news of the day instead of small pre-paid advertisements. The London Letter will appear daily, with weekly motoring notes, fashion and household features and book reviews. A new super Crabtree press will allow of larger papers and turn out copies at up to 40,000 an hour. 33 09 30 33 10 02

Houghton mill saved, p8

October 1933 CDN & ES

1933 10 02
Ely's Paradise Recreation Field is a fine, large enclosed ground that would be the envy of many a big London sporting club. It is nicely laid out, kept to perfection with a splendid pavilion and other dressing rooms. During the summer there is an excellent cricket pitch and 17 tennis courts are laid out, all occupied by various clubs. In winter it is used by Ely City Football Club and there are two full hockey pitches always in use.33 10 02

Huntingdonshire needs an up-to-date ambulance service. The Red Cross ambulance was now practically worn out and unreliable but it might be given to Wyton Sanatorium to maintain. A hearse might be obtained when the bier had been taken out and replaced by a stretcher. It had been used as an ambulance before and also carried football teams, though people did not like to know they were riding in a hearse. 33 10 02

Sir, Needing a stamp for a letter I hied down to the G.P.O. feeling certain its automatic machines would duly deliver the goods. The nimble penny did function, but the halfpenny, though absorbed into the digestive machinery of the apparatus, obdurately refused to pass out the little bit of green paper. Obviously a serious crime as that of obtaining halfpennies under such circumstances was a matter for our every ready Borough Police. An officer detailed to investigate proceeded to test my story twice, with the result that the Revenue was again the richer, and he, alas, the poorer by the sum of one penny. 33 10 02

New CDN, p8*

Death of Professor John Edward Marr – 33 10 02

1933 10 03
Speaking of slum clearance, Mrs Stevenson said there was no trouble about building houses, but the psychological side of rehousing is difficult. Slum dwellers became very cosy in their 'dirty little places' and when transferred to the spacious amenities of a new estate, the families felt terribly lost. Cambridge had 1,700 council houses yet there were 1,269 people on the waiting list with names added at the bottom as fast as they were removed from the top. The situation was helped by the newly-formed Hundred Houses Society. 33 10 03

1933 10 04
The Baron of Beef public house in Bridge Street was partially destroyed by fire. Firemen found flames shooting half-way across the Blackmoor Head Yard and people living at the Mitre pub began to get alarmed. It is one of the fire danger zones in Cambridge, congested with plenty of old property. The Baron was almost entirely rebuilt in 1932 which involved the demolition of four old cottages and three others were destroyed to make room for the new garages. 33 10 04

Railways are a never-failing source of interest to young and old. Cambridge Rotarians were told that trains between Cambridge and London occasionally attain 72 mph and tunnels on the Newmarket line were constructed so that trains should not frighten racehorses in training. In the fens one could stand 100 feet away from the railway track and be shaken like a jelly when a train passed. The outer rail settled half-an-inch owing to the 'draw' when the dykes dried and telegraph poles and even buildings leaned outwards. But the permanent way was practically immune from flooding. 33 10 04

CDN debut – first with new front page 33 10 04

1933 10 05
Since the dredger commenced work on the Cam from Clayhithe Bridge to Baitsbite Lock it had removed enough mud to cover Parker's Piece to the depth of six feet ten inches. Now it has been sold. Weeds had also been cut and removed. Conservators agreed to continue with the full staff of men until they had got the banks into reasonable condition, and their wages increased to 38 shilling (£1.90) a week. 33 10 05

The Huntingdon car park attendant was accused of assaulting a man on Mill Common where the car park is situated on market day. George King said he'd been talking to Mr Richardson, a greengrocer of Buckden, who'd said he could have some cabbages from his lorry. But the attendant had come up and told him to put them down, then punched him in the eye when he refused to do so. The attendant claimed King had used filthy language and not answered his questions. 33 10 05

CDN new presses launched – 33 10 05

1933 10 06
Ramsey's water is unfit for drinking unless it is boiled and filtered. In 1909 a report on the sanitary conditions revealed that the most urgent need was a safe public water supply. The same sources of water, which were then criticised very severely, are in use today. Between 1920 and 1930 various schemes had been suggested but the cost was always prohibitive. Ramsey is purely an agricultural district with no factories or industries and a water scheme was the only hope for development, either industrially or residentially. 33 10 06

1933 10 06 ES
Ely's water supply now assured: new electrical pumping plant opened at Isleham. 33 10 06&(2)ES *

1933 10 07
Linton water inquiry, p5
Table Talk new heading, p6

1933 10 09
The greater part of the undergraduate population is now in residence and the Dorothy café is once again thronged with young men over the tea hour. The prevailing fashion is to wear striking sports jackets with the proverbial flannel trousers and hats but the new arrivals, despite every effort to appear 'old hands' generally reveal their 'freshness' by walking about in their gowns. 33 10 09

1933 10 10
Assize trumpeters pic, p1

1933 10 13
A skeleton found at the new Perse School building site near Hyde Park Corner may have been the victim of a highway robbery man years ago. A workman man was digging when his pick went through a skull. The police have been informed but the bones are obviously very old and roots of various plants had entered through the eye-holes and mouth. The site is outside the basement door of the former Gonville House which was built in the 1840s. 33 10 13

1933 10 13 ES
Death Ely florist, A.G.W. Snell. 33 10 13ES

Railway Tavern, Black Bank Station closed. 33 10 13(4)ES

Four old Stretham sisters, Mary Murfitt (79), Emma Sadler (82), Jane Dimock (77), Rebecca Dimock (77), daughters of Joseph Sennitt, 33 10 13(5)ES

1933 10 14
Cambridge's eighth cinema, the Cosmopolitan, otherwise the Central Hall in Market Passage, will provide a regular home for cultural films. Five years ago a Film Guild was started to show a more intelligent class of film, then Mr Openshaw Higgins tried putting them into the ordinary programme before deciding on a new small cinema. It will give three performances each day during Term. 33 10 14, 33 10 17

1933 10 16
The new Municipal Health Centre in Auckland Road houses the school dental and medical clinics as well as maternity and child welfare centres. After health visitors started in 1906 infant mortality had dropped from 114 per 1,000 down to 38 last year. As for the dental clinic it was Dr Charles Cunningham and Mr Sedley Taylor whose combination of science and benevolence set an example which had been followed all over the civilised world. 33 10 16

Foot & mouth outbreak, p5

1933 10 17
New Fountain inn plans, Regent Street – 33 10 17

1933 10 18
An exhibition of Russian posters organised by the Cambridge branch of the Friends of the Soviet Union was opened at the Labour Hall. Maurice Dobb explained that very simple and forceful ideas were combined with a striking use of colour to appeal to the worker and 'activate' him or try to convince the peasants to join community farms run on a co-operative basis. The posters gave some idea of the life of the workers, contrasting the old conditions with the new. 33 10 18

An RAF flying officer had to make a parachute decent when his plane plunged to earth out of control near Hinxton. He jumped out and landed safely in a copse while his machine hit the earth nose-first and burst into flames, quickly becoming a flaming furnace. Flying Officer Scorgie, who is stationed at

Duxford, is now eligible for membership of the Caterpillar Club for that select band of pilots who have been forced to save their lives by parachute. 33 10 18

Newmarket clock tower, p6

1933 10 19
Pelican at Wicken Spinney Abbey pic, p1

1933 10 20
Unemployment in Cambridge is serious: 965 men and 84 women were out of work. The University Library was nearly finished and the great building projects in the town completed. But work continued on Queen Edith's Way, Long Road and the Hundred Houses Estate as well as the paddling pool on Coldham's Common. The Minister of Transport was keen to do away with level crossings and replace them with bridges; this could mean serious expenditure but provide employment for a great number of men. 33 10 20

1933 10 20 ES
Features of interest in Fenland: Haddenham. 33 10 20&(2)ES

Queen visits Ely. 33 10 20(3)ES

Old Ely business changes hands: G.H. Tyndall sells the Minster Press. 33 10 20(3)(4)ES

Foot & Mouth disease destroys Ely herds: photos. 33 10 20(6)ES

Progress of old-established Ely business: William Blake. 33 10 20(6)ES

1933 10 21
The club for unemployed men at Fellowship House, Fitzroy Street has been renovated by members and now present a very cost appearance. It has a club room and canteen, a workroom fitted with benches at which men do woodwork and picture framing, a concert and lecture room complete with a piano purchased for three shillings, and a ping-pong and billiards room. During the war the Welsh troops had used it as a cookhouse, later it became a brush factory and furniture store but no better use could possibly be made of it. 33 10 21

St Ives Public Assistance Institution, which is now closed, could be converted into a home for wayfarers. It would take men aged 18-21 off the roads and try to improve their characters. They'd be subjected to regular work and discipline but have recreation in the form of a club. The Vicar said he was constantly picking up men on the road, often young fellows who never had the chance to work. Being near Cambridge it would give undergraduates the opportunity of doing real social service in the vacations. 33 10 21

Mammoth Show memories – Chesterton sluice – 33 10 21
Littleport flooding, p1

1933 10 23
Cambridgeshire WI staged two of the most successful ventures in the annals of their history with an exhibition and pageant entitled 'A Festival of Olden Days' at Cambridge Guildhall. Crowds were so large than numerous people had to be turned away. Many of the objects owed their preservation to the devotion of the housewife. There was an urgent need for a country museum of bygones with a portfolio for the preservation of historical documents in every village. 33 10 23

1933 10 24
The proprietor of the Ramping Lion garage at Hemingford Abbots was charged with exhibiting advertisements relating to the Dominion Petrol contrary to the bye-laws. The advertisements on the walls of the garage were unsightly and seriously affected the view of rural scenery from the highway. The owner said it was a very barren spot and a witness stated that the country around was dull and uninteresting, though he admitted he had only seen it once and that there had been fog about at the time. 33 10 24

Miss Tree robot pic, p1

1933 10 26
A Saffron Walden accountant told the bankruptcy court he'd set up an insurance business in 1923 and also collected debts. He acted as accountant to the Auto-Service Company of Cambridge and about 1925 began to finance people in the purchase of their motor cars and motor charabancs but lost hundreds of pounds when they defaulted. He'd also lent money to "Mr X" as capital for his business which was to have been repaid from the profits. 33 10 26

1933 10 27 ES
Features of interest in Fenland: Sutton. 33 10 27&(2)(3)ES

1933 10 28
Robot cartoon, p6

November 1933 CDN & ES

1933 11 02
The water supply from the open reservoir at the Elsworth end of Boxworth is very unsatisfactory. During the recent summer months it has been very offensive and as a surface well near the school dried up during the drought villagers have had to go half a mile or more for water, the Medical Officer told County Councillors. 33 11 02

Photographs taken during a holiday in Russia are displayed at Ramsey and Muspratt studio in Post Office Terrace. Two studies, 'Dneiprastron: the new town' and 'Moscow: the Kremlin' show there is beauty in the new and old. The human side is captured in a fine study of the 'Intourist' bus driver and a Young Pioneers' demonstration while 'The Infants School' shows the Russian child. 'Prison Settlement', is a photo of another aspect of Russian life. 33 11 02

Briscoe Snelson lectures on Ouse with camera – 33 11 02
Tithe trial – 33 11 02

1933 11 03
G.T. Gotobed, Stretham, licenced to slaughter animals, p8*

1933 11 04
Jack Overhill 'Romantic Youth' and Warwick Deeping 'Smith' novels – 33 11 04

1933 11 06
Bonfire night demonstration & Hitler Nazi meeting – 33 11 06
Rats migration – story of a Cambridgeshire farm – 33 11 06
Essex tithe trial ends – 33 11 06

1933 11 07
Mrs Keynes 2nd woman Mayor review of year – 33 11 07

1933 11 08
Slum clearance schemes, Newmarket area – 33 11 08
Old Cambridge tram photo – 33 11 08 – c.26.44

1933 11 09
An inaugural meeting of the New Britain Movement was held in the Dorothy Café with Mr A Mackay in the chair. There should be a federation of European states: every day the world became more international and a policy of isolation would be disastrous. Communism and Fascism were threatening the world and England must show the rest the way out of the mess, speakers said. The power to issue money should be taken away from the financiers, only then would people receive enough to live on. 33 11 09

1933 11 10
The film 'Our Fighting Navy' has been withdrawn from the Tivoli Cinema following lively scenes. Fifty members of the Students' Anti-War went to make a protest but a rival party, numbering about a thousand undergraduates, marched to the cinema with two bands playing war-time songs and carrying Union Jacks. Several tried to push their way in until the arrival of four policemen who, with drawn truncheons, managed to keep the crowd at bay whilst a dozen more raced to the scene in motor vehicles. Cries of 'Down with Hitler' and 'Hail Hitler' were heard above the general uproar and a stink bomb let off in the vestibule. 33 11 10

Fire destroyed the stage of the A.D.C. Theatre; all that remains is a charred and tangled mass of wood and iron. The ruined switchboard is still distinguishable as it stood on an iron frame, but the roof, stage and everything else bar the walls has fallen in. The fireproof curtain contained the flames to the stage but all the scenery was destroyed including very valuable Queen Anne furniture and a grand piano. Firemen fought the blaze from the top floor of the Union Building alongside and the Pitt Club was considerably damaged by water. 33 11 10

Sir - The London and North-Eastern Railway are to withdraw wireless from their London-Leeds trains blaming the 'prohibitive' charges announced by the Performing Rights Society for the use of its copyright music. But the fee is only three shillings a week per train and when challenged they now say the service was uneconomic and had never covered its cost. The payment of a fee to the composer is as much a cost of production as the ten shilling licence to the BBC or the installation of earphones – C.F. James, Performing Rights Society. 33 11 10

Newport's new fire brigade is a 'contracting brigade' not drawing any support from the rates and not being controlled by the Parish Council. When called on it is entitled to charge a reasonable amount for the use of the apparatus and the time of the men. It had been established with a grant from the Pond Common Charity and other money had been raised from subscriptions or received for services at fires. Now they will insure the firemen. 33 11 10

1933 11 10 ES
Stretham Nursing Association annual meeting. 33 11 10&(2)ES

Armistice Day commemorations. 33 11 10(3)(4)ES

1933 11 11
Anti-war battles in street, Tivoli cinema – 33 11 11
Littleport potato merchant action – 33 11 11

1933 11 13
Students white feather pic, p5
Fighting for peace, p5
Anti-war procession, p5

1933 11 14
When excavating a Saxon burial ground near Castle Camps three skeletons were removed from the graves and placed in crates to be taken to Cambridge. But they were deliberately smashed up overnight. Some form of superstition must have been responsible for this action, said T.C. Lethbridge,

"it is too much to explain it as mere mischief". In some graves he had found tiny pots containing face cream or pomade. 33 11 14

Memories and reminders of the horror of war are provided by the Cambridge Anti-War Council's exhibition opened. It consists of diagrams, photographs and cartoons and if anybody wants war after seeing them, they can have no feeling. Some of the photos of the dead were forbidden by the Censors and it is easy to see why. Part has been prepared by members of the Bio-chemical Board, Cavendish Laboratories and shows the effects of gas. 33 11 14

The University Engineering Society was packed for the first public demonstration of television in Cambridge with the picture being transmitted from one side of the room to the other and projected on a four foot square screen. After a pause while the transmitter and receiver were synchronised, the room was plunged into total darkness, then suddenly there appeared on the screen the blurred and flickering figure of an undergraduate's head and shoulders. He caused some amusement by blowing his nose several times. Later a microphone was brought into use and sound, as well as pictures, 'came across'. 33 11 14

1933 11 15
Haddenham attempted murder – 33 11 15
Wilberforce Road being made up – photo – 33 11 15

1933 11 16
Cambridge was thrown into a state of chaos by the failure of the electric light system over a very wide area. The breakdown started when lights grew dimmer and dimmer and finally went out altogether. Shops, offices and private homes brought candles into use. One ingenious garage owner switched on the lights of the cars in his shop window showrooms. At the CDN office reporters wrote by bicycle light and headlines were set by hand with the aid of a supply of wax tapers. 33 11 16

Ward's mill Melbourn machinery installed, p1

1933 11 17
The City of Ely Fire Brigade took over the new Bedford Ford tender and fire escape purchased by Ely UDC. The present fire engine will now be hauled by this modern tender on which is seating accommodation for the men to ride. The brigade received instructions on working the tender and detaching the escape and were seen carrying out practical experiments in various parts of the city. 33 11 17

Joel Smart was the son of a Gloucestershire cloth manufacturer. Coming to Cambridge shortly after the battle of Waterloo he commenced business at 59 Bridge Street in 1826, removing in 1840 to Petty Cury and in 1853 to 11 Market Street. Here he purchased the clothing business of Watson Taylor who had been trading from early in the century. He took his son, Charles, into partnership, in whose family the business still remains. Such is the history of one of the oldest firms in Cambridge where customers will find all the latest materials and the most fashionable styles at keen prices. 33 11 17

Anti-war demonstration photo, p5

1933 11 17 ES
Ely's new fire escape: photo. 33 11 17ES

St Germans pumping station commemorate armistice: photo. 33 11 17(2)ES

1933 11 18
Dr Goebbels, Hitler's lieutenant and Minister of Propaganda for the Nazi, has denied authorship of an article appearing in the 'Saturday Review' under his name, entitled "The Nazi's next step". He claims he is the victim of a malicious forgery. But the editor of the Review, Mr Wentworth Day, a former

Cambridge journalist, said he had no reason to doubt its authenticity and that the views were those expressed before Hitler's peace speech. 33 11 18

Perse school extension – 33 11 18
Unpaid workers wages, Leighton farm – 33 11 18

1933 11 20
Perse foundation stone p5

1933 11 21
Cambridge Chronicle at 70 , p5

1933 11 22
Ely attempted murder charges, Wilburton trial – 33 11 22

1933 11 23
A Cambridge man told the bankruptcy court that he had farmed at Rectory Farm Coton after the war, then gone into partnership in a retail milk and dairy business in Ely High Street. In 1927 he purchased part of the dairy business at Cherry Hinton Hall Farm and then bought a coal business in John Street, Cambridge. He did not know anything about the trade and he had competition. The weather was against him: the winter of 1932 was very bad for coal merchants and the summer of 1933 made it a jolly sight worse. 33 11 23

1933 11 24
Consternation was caused in Hope Street, Romsey Town, by a fire which caused considerable damage. Residents were in the street in very scanty clothing and one lady who dashed back into the house to get some clothes was burnt about the face. They owe their escape to a baby whose coughing in a smoky room over the fire roused the other sleepers and led to the alarm. Had the flames reached the roof the whole row of houses would have been endangered. 33 11 24

1933 11 24 ES
Haddenham Scout troop colours dedicated. 33 11 24ES

Restoration Prior Crauden's chapel undercroft. 33 11 24(2)ES

Isle of Ely County Council discuss dangerous corner near café south of Stretham on A10

1933 11 25
The Transport and General Workers' Union was awarded a reduction in rates at their Littleport home, one of four big convalescent homes for free treatment run by the Union. It was not a source of revenue and used for an entirely charitable purpose. It was having 1,000 patients per year and the number of beds was 90. If the appeal failed it might quite possibly cease to function. 33 11 25

1933 11 28
Cambridge Victoria Friendly Society's Institution opened its new pavilion with a verandah from which residents could watch Cambridge Town Football Club's matches. It had started in hired cottages in James Street but in 1841 the foundation stone for the present building was laid. Cottages were added in 1888 and 1899 thanks to the Jubilee fund with the four others known as Miller's Buildings opened in 1906. It provides accommodation for 37 residents whose average age is 70 years. 33 11 28

1933 11 29
Haverhill council slum clearance – 33 11 29

1933 11 30
Dr Charles Frederick Searle's name removed from Medical register – 33 11 30
Royston cinema photo, p5

December 1933 CDN & ES

1933 12 01
Sutton Gault bridges were unsafe for traffic and should be replaced, the River Board said. The roads over the bridges gave access to 4,000 acres of land and the present weight limit of three tons meant that anyone driving three horses and a wagon over them was liable to prosecution. But Mr Hudson said it lead to a dead end by an occupation road and he could not support the proposal. 33 12 01

1933 12 02
Amateur film producers' production – 33 12 02
'Romantic Youth' Overhill novel, p6

1933 12 04
King's College was criticised over tithe distraints on its farms. At Kersey their agents arrived as dawn was breaking with their lorries and the usual gang of East End 'toughs' armed with cudgels. They raided in their usual style and when the farmer let out a shot a man hit him over the head with a cudgel and practically knocked him out. They took cattle worth twice the value of the tithe but then wrote demanding a cheque for more. 33 12 04

The Medical Officer reported on the housing conditions of Swavesey district. At Lolworth there were four cottages belonging to Clare College which needed repair, together with six in School Lane and four others known as Grape Vine Cottages which needed demolishing. In Conington two cottages, one known as Kate's Cabin were to be amalgamated and Rectory Cottage was also to be improved. At Fen Drayton three cottages opposite the school had been condemned as had two at the Green Man and two in Wallman's Lane, Swavesey. One cottage at Station Road, Over, would not last another five years. 33 12 04

1933 12 06
Godwin Hunt was one of the most popular comedians and vocalists that Cambridge has ever known. Born at Soham, he was associated with many famous theatrical enterprises including the D'oyly Carte Opera before becoming Lay Clerk at St John's College. He was the founder, 30 years ago, of the Magpies Concert Party which enjoyed a tremendous vogue when amusements were not so plentiful as today. Up to the war they were a male voice quartet but then it became a mixed concert party who travelled far beyond Cambridgeshire. 33 12 06

Making of photographic blocks by CDN Engraving department manager – 33 12 06

1933 12 08 ES
Sutton church's 600-year-old message. 33 12 08ES *

1933 12 09
Policewomen were urgently needed in Huntingdonshire: they were useful in taking statements from women and children in sexual crimes and were on duty near schools to protect children from molestation. But the Rev O'Connor thought an unhealthy sex obsession had intruded into every aspect of life today and this should be exorcised rather than appoint women police officers. The Chief Constable said there was very little sexual crime and no work for women officers to perform. 33 12 09

Hundred Houses Society work – 33 12 09
Godwin Hunt, Magpies founder appreciation – 33 12 09
New rectory, p6

1933 12 12
A serious fire broke out at Mr A.V. Bonnett's bakery, Broad Street, Ely. For the first time the Ely brigade had the advantage of their new equipment especially adapted for subduing blazes in rooms. The flames quickly spread due to tins of fat and other inflammable articles but they prevented it reaching the room above where there was a large quantity of fire lighters, a ton of sugar and a quantity of margarine. However smoke completely spoiled about 50 iced Christmas cakes. 33 12 12

St Botolph's church has never had a house for its incumbent. Former rectors have generally been Fellows of Queens' and entitled to a set of rooms in the college. But recent clergy have been family men and had to provide their own living accommodation. Now a new rectory in Summerfield, Newnham Road, has been designed by C.F. Skipper. 33 12 12

A.T. Paskett, county horticultural adviser, knew what he was talking about and had a pleasant way of imparting information. He was secretary of the West Cambs. Growers Association and organised the Great Autumn Show, arranged demonstrations of sprayers for fruit trees and mechanical cultivators as well as trials of different kinds of fruit. He was responsible for the County demonstration plot at Rampton, started four years, ago where experiments are tried on different fruit tree stocks. 33 12 12

1933 12 15
Rents of houses in Dalton Square, Linden Close and Scotland Road were subsidised and because of the low cost of building they were remarkably low – houses with four bedrooms were six-and-ninepence (34p) a week. These rents could be reduced if tenants could show their income was insufficient. The general public did not fully realise the facilities now provided to the re-housing of very poor people, councillors were told. 33 12 15

1933 12 15 ES
Ely new industry: old cinema reopened as model laundry, Market Street. 33 12 15&(2)ES, photo 33 12 15(6)

Trouble at Ely Isolation Hospital: matron resigns. 33 12 15(3)(4)ES

Fire at Bonnett's Bakery, Ely. 33 12 15(5)ES

1933 12 18
A crowd of 200 people saw skating races for the Duddleston Cup at Lingay Fen. The ice was not of the best and records remained intact. The winner was C.W. Horn, the National Skating Association champion, whose time was very much faster than ever previously recorded, though the race has never before been over an oval course. Runners up were R. Wyman of Stretham, G.W. Martin of Nordelph and L.B. Carter of Over. 33 12 18

St Botolph's church has never had a house for its incumbent. Former rectors have generally been Fellows of Queens' and entitled to a set of rooms in the college. But recent clergy have been family men and had to provide their own living accommodation. Now a new rectory in Summerfield, Newnham Road, has been designed by C.F. Skipper .

A happy, vociferous and altogether exuberant crowd of youngsters packed into the Cambridge Guildhall for the News' Robin Fellowship's Christmas entertainment. The main hall and gallery were filled and some seats behind the orchestra had to be brought into use. The Mayor called for the grand "Tweet, Tweet" and expressed hearty congratulations to the Fellowship on having nearly 10,000 members and for the wonderful way they were keeping the Robin Cot going at Addenbrooke's Hospital. 33 12 18

Hardening Soham Mere roads – 33 12 18

1933 12 19
Seward's End Farm was gutted after fire broke out in an unoccupied bedroom where bedding was being aired in preparation for the use of the room by Christmas guests. Mr & Mrs Reeve tried to put it out with buckets of water while their son biked to the Post Office from which the Saffron Walden Brigade was called. Firemen had to break ice on the pond to get water but this soon ran out and they had to send an SOS to Walden for water which had to be especially pumped. Only then were they able to make any progress against the flames. 33 12 19

Miss M.H. Catley, Headmistress of the Perse Girls' School, was called hurriedly home from a school dance when a blaze in the front room of her house in Barton Road threatened to envelop the whole building. Her housekeeper found a curtain had been set alight by an electric fire and rushed to the house next door to telephone the fire brigade. But there was some mix-up and they went to the Perse School buildings in Panton Street. 33 12 19

Harston grocer, Gatward, failure – 33 12 19
Cambridge new buildings, survey by Mr Webb – 33 12 19
Bus crowds in Sidney Street – 33 12 19

1933 12 21
Bourn and neighbouring villages have been fortunate during the past abnormally dry summer in having a good water supply. A further stage towards making that supply safer was marked when the East Hunts Water Company opened their new reservoir. Built of reinforced concrete it is three times as large as the old tank which has been a familiar landmark on the Cambridge to St Neots Road for the last 40 years. 33 12 21

1933 12 22 ES
Prickwillow Village Institute opened. 33 12 22&(2)ES

Soham Grammar School's status. 33 12 22(3)ES

Fen skater C.W. Horn retains King Edward cup. 33 12 22(4)ES # c.38 : skating
`

1933 12 27
The two dozen kiddies confined to the Mill Road Isolation Hospital for Christmas found a keen and energetic staff to brighten up the holiday. Balloons, paper decorations, flags and mistletoe were to be seen in profusion and the girls' ward contained a huge Christmas tree sparkling with fancy ornaments and tinsel. At the Union Road Institution there was breakfast of sausages and dinner of roast pork, beef and mutton with sprouts, parsnips and potatoes followed by Christmas pudding and custard. Fruit, tobacco, beer and lemonade were also provided and afterwards the inmates listened to the King's speech on the wireless. 33 12 27

1933 12 28
In accordance with custom the Isle of Ely Coursing Club held a Boxing Day meeting at Stretham by permission of the President, Sir Frederick Hiam. Weather conditions were bad, rain falling continuously throughout the day, but this did not upset the usual enthusiasts. Hares were rather slow in breaking cover but there was some splendid sport, though 'the going' was a trifle heavy. 33 12 28

Harriers at Market Hill pic, p1

1933 12 30
Cambridge's New Theatre has been hit by the theatrical slump which began in London in 1932. There was a shortage of plays in the provinces and the alternative of plays eked out by variety shows had failed. The Directors have been unable to let the Theatre to a repertory company and had no choice except to run it as a cinema with occasional stage plays until the present financial depression has passed away. 33 12 30

Chesterton RDC is to transfer their headquarters from St John's Street to a floor of the old County Hall in Hobson Street. It is possible the new West Cambs RDC would also take offices and share the council chamber. Councillors decided that six houses at Rooks Lane, Cottenham were slum property and should be demolished as should four cottages in Lambs Lane even though they were watertight and the owner, who was over 80, spent most of his old age pension in keeping them in repair. 33 12 30

1934
Cambridge Daily News
I have reader-printer copies of these articles (not scanned)
Ely Standard 1934 – have digital copies

January 1934 CDN

1934 01 01
Bishop of Ely death, p1

1934 01 02
Fire at a barn on Mordaunt House Farm, Swavesey, forced occupants of two nearby cottages to remove their furniture when their houses were threatened. The Fire Brigade was hampered by fog and rain and on arrival had to break half-an-inch thick ice before they were able to obtain water. They were unable to save the barn which contained hay, an oil engine and agricultural implements. Earlier they had been called to an empty house in Parsonage Street, Cambridge which was being made ready for occupation. 34 01 02

1934 01 03
Wisbech Magistrates heard of thefts by a dangerous and well-organised gang of five small boys aged seven to 10. They felt the only thing to do was to remove them for the benefit of other children and sentenced them to an industrial school until the age of 16. But their decision provoked mass protest with even the MP contributing to an appeal fund. It was described as 'illegal from start to finish' and the convictions were quashed. 34 01 03

1934 01 04
A dull grey sky cast sombre shadows over Ely which seemed strangely quiet. Only around the vastness of the cathedral was there continual movement as hundreds and hundreds of mourners waited their turn to enter the sacred edifice for the funeral of the Bishop. Many others remained outside or attended the interment at Ely cemetery and thousands lined the streets as the cortege passed. 34 12 04

Drought – water carted to Horseheath – 34 01 04

1934 01 05
A new branch of Huntingdonshire county library was opened by the Lord Lieutenant in a room in the municipal building at St Ives. It had been made possible through a grant from the Carnegie Trust and would prove of great benefit to the town. The chain of county libraries was now complete. Two libraries had now opened in St Ives within a few months; they now had a lending library and the specialised Norris Library at the new Museum. 34 01 05

1934 01 06
The Monster business is booming with rival claimants springing up in all parts of the country. It appears that Saffron Walden once had a serpent that lived in a cave in the chalk hills until the collapse of the entrance prevented further activities. On several occasions the shock of its appearance caused the death of onlookers and an inn in Covent Garden is named The Essex Serpent after it. If the cave can be located the beast might still be found, but whether the reward offered for the Loch Ness Monster would be available is not known. 34 01 06

Mr E. Rutter of the 'Olde Curiosity Shoppe', Trumpington Street, has purchased a razor which belonged to King George III. It will be added to his other 200 interesting relics that include a Bible dated 1633 which has covers worked in needlework by King Charles I's wife and a pair of very fine silk stockings bearing the royal crown, which were worn by Queen Victoria. He also has a warrant issued by Oliver Cromwell and a cockade worn by Lord Nelson. He attempted to buy the Eton flogging book but that sold for the remarkable sum of £450. 34 01 06

1934 01 08
Thousands of people lined both side of St Andrew's Street when the Queen and Duchess of York paid a private visit to Mr Woolston's antique shop where the Queen chose several tiny ivory objects for her famous doll's house. She also inspected the Cambridge Tapestry Company's premises in Thompson's Lane where they watched the women workers actually engaged at the canvas and saw the tapestry panelling now being made for Lord Fairhaven, depicting his seat at Anglesey Abbey. 34 01 08

A film entitled 'Cambridge and the University Town, directed by Peter Collin of Newmarket is a twelve-minute pictorial survey with shots of the backs, boating scenes and Grantchester. He had the collaboration of R. Colville-College, an undergraduate of King's. The photography, which reaches a very high standard, is by S.W. Bowler who shows considerable promise. The film, released by Equity British Films will be shown in Ely, Littleport and Newmarket. As a lad Mr Collin assisted in the operating box of the Victoria Cinema and is now a director of Argyle Talking Pictures. 34 01 08

CDN dinner, p6

1934 01 10
Mr John Dayton of Godmanchester broadcast from London on an organ he made for himself with odd materials such as egg and soap cases, tea chests, carbide and toffee tins and fancy buttons for stops. The instrument which has amazing volume and extreme awareness of tone took 14 years to build. He plays entirely by ear and can give a programme including Handel's 'Largo' as well as popular songs. 34 01 10

1934 01 11
George Gault of Blossom Street has been a horse and motor cab driver in Cambridge for 41 years – 18 years of taxi work and the remainder with a horse cab. During the past 18 years he has had two Ford cars – 16 years with one. He is a familiar figure on the rank at Hyde Park Corner and has carried many undergraduates who are now far across the seas. Now in his 63rd year he is a total abstainer and non-smoker. 34 01 11

1934 01 12
H.J. Gray, the Cambridge sports manufacturers are flourishing and announced plans to extend their Playfair Works into which they moved from Searle Street 25 years ago. Now a new mill and motor engine would be introduced to keep up with demand. Henry John Gray started his career in a racquets court on the site of the present University Arms Hotel nearly 90 years ago. He became champion racquets player of England – a title that had stayed in the family for 22 years - and two his brothers became champions of the world. 34 01 12

St Ives may have a miniature lido on an islet in the river following the gift of two pieces of land known as Anchor Holt and Grace Holt by Mr Wright Ingle. The land was currently used for the cultivation of osiers but could be improved by erecting a footbridge. Flower beds and shrubs could be planted using unemployed labour at very little expense to provide something of which they could be proud. It should be renamed 'Ingle Holt'. 34 01 12

Election contest includes United British Party candidate – 34 01 12

1934 01 12 ES

Library repository nearing completion at March as the repository of the County Library 34 01 12(3)ES
R.A.F. plane lands at Fridaybridge after being lost in fog 34 01 12ES

1934 01 13
Fourth candidate, p5
Lively time, Hinchingbrooke, p6*

1934 01 15
January sales attract large crowds – 34 01 15
Haddenham / Wilburton attempted murder – 34 01 15

1934 01 16
Medical school demolition photo, p1

1934 01 17
Forty-five years' service as church organist is in itself remarkable, but when the musician has carried on under the affliction of blindness, the record is surely without parallel. Mr J.J. Warmington has been organist at Emmanuel Congregational Church all that time. Only once has there been an error: he played the tune over with gusto but when the choir came in played another tune which began with the same two notes, he told a dinner in his honour. 34 01 17

By-election comedy, p5*

1934 01 18
Longstowe rector dispute over land – 34 01 18

1934 01 19
Death Goodrich

1934 01 19 ES
Attempt on Haddenham woman's life; lodger put carbolic powder into medicine of Lavinia Morton 34 01 19&(2)(3)ES

1934 01 20
C.E. Goodrich, the photographer, started working at Cambridge under Mr Palmer Clarke and with Mr Sanderson took over the business, continuing alone after Mr Sanderson's death. He retired last summer. For over 25 years he was known for the special colour photographic process which he devised and used with great success in portrait and landscape works. He had photographed in colour most of the important members of the University and was always engaged to take pictures of new laboratories when they were erected. 34 01 20

National Labour Party and the election – 34 01 20
Byeways of history, p6*

1934 01 22
In the new ward at Huntingdon Infirmary people aged between 70 and 80 have to go up two flights of stairs to their own bathrooms to get an early morning wash. It was the most ridiculous place he had ever seen for a modern hospital, Mr F.W. Figg told Guardians The need of a lift was never more apparent yet of 16 members on the Management Committee only four were present when the question was discussed. The title 'Management Committee' was a misnomer, he said. 34 01 22

Goodrich funeral, p3

1934 01 23

Robert Brown sold two million gallons 'Somerlite' lamp oil a year around Cambridge. He got oil from various sources, mixed it together and told the public that it had no equal. So when his sister-in-law, an oil and hardware merchant at Fordham, started selling oil that did not come from him under the 'Somerlite' name he took the case to court. Their vans both carried that name and there was a danger that people might assume the two were the same, he claimed. But the case was dismissed. 34 01 23 & 26

1934 01 25
When a News photographer set off to look for a bus that had come to grief on the road from Cambridge to Ely he found more than he bargained for. Between Milton and the 'Slap Up' he came across a lorry heavily laden with potatoes which was upside down in a ditch. Then near Denny Abbey there was a Ford lorry lying on its side in the bottom of the ditch and near Stretham Bridge he found another hanging over a ditch. He finally found the bus which had turned over on its side. Fortunately there was nobody on board except the driver, Mr Cyril Newell, who had crawled out through the windscreen unhurt. 34 01 25

Alex Wood nominated election – 34 01 25

1934 01 26
Future of leisure lecture – 34 01 26
Motor boat tests, p7
Great Ouse training bank scheme, Wash – 34 01 26
1934 01 26 ES
Prickwillow teacher for half century – Miss E. Gayton 34 01 26ES

1934 01 29
The Queen paid another visit to Cambridge when she inspected two antique shops and called at a café on King's Parade. The large crowd who had been waiting was surprised when a small blue car drew up and she stepped out. The Royal limousine had broken down on the Ely Road and Mr Percy Titmous, a brewer's manager, had stopped to offer assistance. He then drove her to Cambridge. The Queen was intensely amused at the somewhat unexpectedness of her arrival and at the little adventure which had befallen her, he said. 34 01 29 & 2017 11 01

1934 01 30
Another interesting part in the Queen's visit to Cambridge was played by Mr Walter Riddy, proprietor of the St Andrew's Road Garage, Chesterton. After the Royal car had broken down and the Queen had been driven by Mr Percy Titmous, he received a telephone message requesting the hire of a Daimler saloon at short notice. He changed out of his working clothes and drove to Mr Roe's shop in St Andrew's Street to take the Queen to the Copper Kettle Café and then on to Exning. There she invited him to remain for lunch but he had another engagement and could not accept. 34 01 30

The greenhouses at Cambridge borough cemetery were beyond repair and would have to be scrapped. But more glasshouse accommodation was now required for the propagation of plants used on the recreation grounds. Two new 120 ft glasshouses could be constructed on the West Chesterton recreation ground where a house could be built for the man in charge, councillors agreed. 34 01 30

Three Tuns public house plans, White Swan to close – 34 01 30

1934 01 31
Fens exhibition, p3
Titmouse thanked in gracious letter from Queen, p5

February 1934 CDN & Ely Standard

1934 02 01

Cambridge council is to restore full all-night lighting in the streets following numerous complaints. The gas lighting is obsolete and the time would come when they would have to consider electric lighting. Even policemen were nervous about going down some of the unlighted streets: it is enough to make any policeman nervous when we know what is happening in the way of gangsters, one councillor said. 34 02 01

Williman Typewriter Services bankruptcy. 34 02 01

1934 02 02
Kirby & son, woman builder and contractor, bankruptcy. 34 02 02
White Horse public house, Castle Street bought by council – 34 02 02

1934 02 02 ES
Lt Thetford choir record: long service by Yarrow brothers 34 02 02(2)ES
Stretham Church heating fund short of £140. During past few years the parish has laboured under great financial difficulties: had to raise £440 to repair spire, heating cost £271 and strain every nerve to pay quota 34 02 02ES

1934 02 03
Percy Titmous has become famous as a result of driving the Queen to Cambridge after her breakdown. The news spread very quickly and soon pressmen, news agencies and even film companies were hot on his track. One wanted a film especially for America, but he did not feel inclined to do so. He had wanted to slip away unobserved but had not thought to cover the number plate of his car and it was easy to telephone the Council offices to get his name. 34 02 03

Vine Hotel refused, p3

1934 02 05
William Arthur Briscoe of Longstowe Hall died suddenly in New Zealand. He acquired the Hall about 1906 and took a great interest in the candidature of his elder son, Captain R.G. Briscoe, MP for Cambridgeshire. An excellent farmer and fond of country pursuits, he was an accomplished tennis player, a good shot and horseman. He wrote several poems including 'The Ballad of Betsy Ann' about one of his favourite hunters. 34 02 05

Sight-healing photo, p7*

1934 02 06
Theft at Shelford church – 34 02 06

1934 02 07
The London and North Eastern Railway announce a new facility for their passengers. Trained typists, fully equipped with an office, will be provided so that letters may be dictated, correspondence dealt with and documents typewritten en route. A special dictating compartment will be set aside in addition to the business office and reasonable charges for the services provided will be made on the basis of prevailing rates for stenographic work. The service will start on the 8.15 am King's Cross to Newcastle express which makes the journey in just over five hours. 34 02 07

Eve of poll, p6

1934 02 08
Commander Tufnell, the National Conservative candidate, toured Cambridge polling stations by motor car adorned with pink and white ribbons and artificial flowers. His wife took the wheel and proved herself a capable driver. Dr Alex Wood left the Labour Hall to a rousing reception from a drum (biscuit box) and fife (tin whistle) juvenile band while the Liberal candidate had a large black cat mascot, tied with blue and buff ribbons on the spare wheel of his buff-coloured car. However he lost his deposit as Tufnel beat Dr Wood into second place. 34 02 08, 34 02 09

1934 02 09
A man met a terrible death while he was oiling a moving overhead shaft in Mr Worboy's saw mill at Bassingbourn. His left side was crushed, his ribs broken and both legs were completely amputated at the knee. He had been working his machine since before the war and knew that no bearings were to be oiled whilst it was in motion. 34 02 09

Permission has been granted for the removal of swans on the river between Brownshill and Hemingford Staunches. There were not less than 250 and they did a great deal of damage to fish. St Ives Angling Society should be asked to destroy the cygnets on their portion of the river. But they should not go in for wholesale destruction because the swans were a pretty sight and people appreciated them, said Councillor Coote. 34 02 09

Declaration of poll, p11*
J. V. Spalding lecture on amateur portraiture - 34 02 09

1934 02 10
The fame of Mr Percy Titmous, the Cambridge man who gave the Queen a 'lift', has spread to the United States of America and did the News Editors lap it up! The New York Herald-Tribune headlined the story 'Percy Titmous Plays Launcelot to Queen Mary in Dire Distress! Motorized Knight Comes Upon His Liege Lady in Broken Down Limousine and Wheels His Trusty Sedan About in Dash for Cambridge Town'. 34 02 10

An inquest was opened on a ten-year old boy who met with a fatal accident on Parker's Piece. Ronald Hutt was in company with other boys near a motor roller which was at work at the Regent Terrace side of the Piece. He was struck by the roller and one side of his head was badly injured. He died almost immediately. 34 02 10 & 34 02 12

Arthur Rubenstein captivated a Cambridge audience in the Guildhall with a brilliant performance at the piano. Good humoured and gifted, he inspired confidence from the first chord and when after two hours the audience wanted more he obliged twice, although he had arranged to motor to London the same night. He was always commanding, often thrilling and at times grand. Rarely have we heard such volume and power, rarely such incredible crescendi. Sadly half the seats were empty. 34 02 10

1934 02 12
World's largest lorry photo, p1
Killed on Parker's Piece, p5*

1934 02 14
A disused signal box at the West Junction, Adelaide, Ely, was completely destroyed by fire. The wooden structure, was superseded some time ago by a more modern box and was not used for any purpose. All the staff available were called out to endeavour to extinguish the flames, which soon secured a firm hold, eventually burning the box out. As a result of the fire trains on the Peterborough line were delayed for two hours. 34 02 14

1934 02 15
A blindfolded motorist drove through Cambridge at the height of the rush hour as people made their way home to lunch. Professor Popjie's claims that he has 'second sight' enabling him to sense anything in the way was tested when a pedal-propelled invalid chair caused him to slow somewhat abruptly He threaded his way through traffic down Petty Cury, round the Market and back to the New Theatre where he is appearing with his electrical figure 'Radiana'. 34 02 15

Coffin in crash near Balsham, undertaker summoned – 34 02 15

1934 02 16
A home of his own for even the lowest paid worker – such was the prospect opened up at Coldham's Lane when the first brick was laid on the new Cromwell Road housing estate. Cambridge Ideal Homes will build about 200 houses at prices from £350 which can be purchased on a small weekly payment of about ten shillings. They will contain three good bedrooms, two large sitting rooms, scullery, and bathroom and garage space. If every family could own their own house they would be happier and more contented. 34 02 16

Many dancers in Cambridge will learn with regret that Ron Wickes has been compelled to give up his position as official drummer to Percy Cowell's Band. He started drumming with them at the old Rendezvous before joining the band run by Mr Hensher, and later played with Manning's Band when the Premier Hall at Old Chesterton was opened up. From there he went to Skegness for two seasons, returning to the Rendezvous in the interval. He came back to Cambridge three years ago when Mr Cowell started his band at the Dorothy Café and has played with them ever since. 34 02 16

Proposals for the union of the benefices of Fen Drayton with Conington have been approved, despite objections from almost the entire population. Fen Drayton wished to retain services in their own church which had been in use for the last 800 years church. They'd had had a resident curate for 40 years but now it would stand empty for 26 Sunday mornings and 26 Sunday evenings. The aged and sick could not walk to Conington and will be deprived of spiritual aid. There were no objections to the union of Elsworth and Knapwell. 34 02 16

Bus crash near Stretham – 34 02 16

1934 02 16 ES
Stretham bus overturned on Ely Road near Station Road corner; tyres smooth 34 02 16&(2)ES
Ely Beet Factory reduce acreage or refused applications when crops of low sugar content 34 02 16ES

1934 02 17
Eighteen 'Blackshirts' were arrested on farms at Wortham, Suffolk by 50 police who arrived in large double-decker motor buses. The 'Blackshirts' were outside the farm gates and were arrested peacefully without any resistance. They have been at the farm for several days 'guarding' cattle and sheep which were impounded for tithe and a crowd of spectators cheered them as they left. Other Fascists were instructed to withdraw from a farm at Diss where their steel-protected cars have been keeping a watch-out for a van expected to remove animals. 34 02 17 34 02 20 34 02 21 trial – 34 02 26

1934 02 19
The overcrowding of the casual wards at Huntingdon Institution is alarming Guardians. A hundred casuals are being accommodated in a building with only 42 beds. Many have to sleep on the floor between the beds and in the dining room. The last time the problem was only temporary, due to fruit picking but now it happens almost every night. Last month's admissions were 1,204 compared to 290 for the same period last year. 34 02 19

Cambridge showed little interest in the 100 hunger marchers who arrived from Huntingdon. They halted at Girton College where jugs of tea and buns were given. About 200 people including members of the University Socialist Society and Anti War Movement escorted them into town. Darkness was falling as a rally was held on Parker's Piece where a small crowd gathered before they made their way to the Corn Exchange where they spent the night. But police were accused of provocation when they forcibly expelled them on Monday morning. 34 02 19, 34 02 26

Dr Searle ill in Africa, p1

1934 02 20

The misconduct of spectators at a Huntingdon Town football on Christmas day has resulted in the ground being closed for a fortnight. 34 02 20

Fascists withdraw, p1*
Oxford group meeting, p5

1934 02 21
Theft from Swaffham Bulbeck church – 34 02 21
Suffolk tithe 'blackshirts' leave Wortham – 34 02 21

1934 02 22
Trinity College was the venue of a carefully-planned 'rag' involving a large number of fireworks. The roof was chosen as the main display ground. The first rocket went up and landed in Neville's court before all sorts of fireworks went off in rapid succession, including a couple on the two turrets of the Great Gate. Next day porters were trying to identify the owner of a walking stick on which a Catharine wheel had been fixed. 34 02 22

1934 02 23 ES
Ely mourns death of Hubert Roythorne, the finest Police Superintendent county had known 34 02 2ES

1934 02 26
Jesus College boat crew celebrated their Lents victory with a bonfire on the grass in front of the college and flames forty feet high dried the pavement in Victoria Avenue. An old boat helped to keep the fire going and when the supply of fuel ran short branches from trees were used. Police kept a wary eye on hoardings which might have been looked upon as sources but no raids were made. 250 paper glasses were provided to hold the beer but some preferred it straight from the bottle. 34 02 26

Romsey Labour Club extension opened – 34 02 26
Play performed in Bloy's smithy, East Road – 34 02 26
Over water supply results of boring operations – 34 02 26

1934 02 28
Newmarket district water supply – 34 02 28

March 1934 CDN & Ely Standard

1934 03 01
Hunger Marchers – Bishop Stortford vicar's impression – 34 03 01

1934 03 02
The tenant of the Rhadeund public house in King Street had been there since 1893 but his wife had died and trade had gone down. There were six other pubs within 300 yards, three belonging to Lacons, two to Greene King and one to Mr Dale. A good many of the customers were getting on in years and some had fallen away. But it served a useful purpose socially for a certain class of people and should be kept open, magistrates were told. 34 03 02

Saffron Walden Hospital, p7

1934 03 03
Soham Parish Council opposed plans to convert the Grammar School into a senior school at great expense. There was a definite need for a school for the children of local villages who would otherwise have long journeys into Cambridge. It was most undesirable to have boys and girls travelling together by train under no control whatever and many parents would object. 34 03 03

A Cambridge police constable was injured during the 'rag' which followed the inter-college rugby cup final between Clare and St Catharine's. At Burrell's Walk undergraduates used wooden palisades to make a bonfire. The fire engine was called out but was surrounded by a crowd of students some of whom pulled the hose off the drum. Others clambered on to the engine and took the front and side lamps off. The fire was put out by college porters. In Queen's Road the police were forced to defend themselves. Truncheons were used to prevent their helmets being snatched off. There was some hard fighting. A number of street lamps were broken and a window was smashed in King's Parade. Two undergraduates were arrested, charged with assaulting the police. 34 03 05

Sir Stafford Cripps addressed a meeting on 'The Necessity for Socialism" at Cambridge Central School. The hall was packed to capacity with townspeople and undergraduates and he was greeted with mingled cheers, boos and hisses. His speech was interrupted on several occasions and twenty undergraduates opposed to his views waited for him at the school gates afterwards. But the proctor and his bulldogs arrived in time and he was driven away without any demonstration being possible. 34 03 03

Marshall's Flying School had offered to buy Elfleda Farm, Fen Ditton for a public aerodrome, county councillors were told. Financially it would be a very good deal, giving them a profit of £3,000 for land they'd earmarked for smallholdings. But it was a very growing neighbourhood and the aerodrome would be a source of great annoyance to residents who didn't want these noisy things coming at all hours of the day and night. Mr Marshall would be getting a thunderingly good deal, others argued. The sale was agreed. 34 03 03

1934 03 05
Policeman injure din rag, p5*

1934 03 06
The proprietor of the Garden House Hotel proposed to make alterations and additions and wanted to acquire a portion of Coe Fen lying in front of Coe Fen Terrace, an annexe to the hotel, to add to the gardens. There was a public footpath across it which would have to be diverted. He was the owner of the piece of land opposite the Ladies Bathing Place which would be added to the common in exchange for the land he wanted. Councillors agreed to the scheme. 34 03 06

Sir – a report in the News says a new public house is to be built in place of the Three Tuns in Castle Street 'to fit in with the building going on in the neighbourhood'. Already quite a third of this district has been depleted of its residents by transferring them to new estates far away and then pulling down their old homes with a consequent detriment to trade. While agreeing to the demolition of uninhabitable houses I would like to know when building is to commence on the many plots of land which now lie derelict and so bring back some of the lost trade to the district – 'Tradesman'.34 03 06

1934 03 08
A question of moving back the railings on Christ's Pieces to extend the Drummer Street parking station again came before the council. Councillor Stubbs had opposed it from the first; at weekends there was congestion of buses in Drummer Street at a place where pedestrians were crossing. Councillor Few said it was unfair to the railways who had to find their own land for parking: it was the buses that took up the space and it was wrong to give up public property for them. But Mrs Hartree said the car park was chiefly for the people from the rural surroundings and was very important. The vote was tied. 34 03 08

The owner of Childerley Gate garage blamed insufficient trade and lack of capital for its failure. He started business in March 1932 doing cycles and selling oil and petrol. He had two petrol pumps and was able to pay the deposits on these in the summer but not in winter when his takings fell from £3 a week down to thirty shillings. The profits were too small for him to live on he told the bankruptcy court. 34 03 08

A plastering contractor said he'd been told there was "a bag of money for plasterers in Cambridge" and had come from Sutton Bridge with £900 to his credit. There was a strike on at the time and he started on 20 houses in Huntingdon Road for Mr John Brignell then contracted to plaster 212 houses in Kendal Way. But another workman's strike arose – a strike that never ceased. His last contract was for houses at Harston, Eversden and Coldham's Lane. He attributed his failure to other people's bankruptcy and bad debts. 34 03 08

1934 03 09
There was considerable enthusiasm at the parish meeting held at Haddenham for the election of the parish council. For there were three lady candidates in the field for the first time in history. But neither Mrs Olive Morris, Miss J. Tebbutt nor Mrs Hooper was elected. Mr C. Morris topped the poll followed by H. Feast, F. Peacock, J. Haddock and E.L. Porter. Mr A. Norman said that those electors who were not present would have liked a chance of voting and that there should be a poll. But there was no support for his motion. 34 03 09

Granta dried up at Bartlow for long time, p1
Abbey \united stand photo, p7

1934 03 10
The last bus he drove formed part of the funeral cortege for John Reed of Shelley Row. He had been with the Ortona and Eastern Counties' companies for 22 years and as a last tribute a large contingent of his fellow workers headed the procession to St Giles' cemetery. The bearers were drivers W. Fowler, J. Hawkes and A. Morley with conductors L. Scarr, S.Scarr and S. Ashman. 34 03 10

1934 03 12
Who is the author of a manifesto issued at the Eastern Counties' Cambridge garage? Headed "The Cambridge Busmen" it alleges victimisation in the dismissal of George Proctor, secretary of the Busmen's Union. He has been made redundant after working as a turner for 12 years. The reasons for this are clear: our resistance to future wage cuts must be broken by getting rid of the man who has done most to build it up. If we let the Company get away with this they will get worse and worse, it claims. 34 03 12

A Haslingfield man and his wife had a narrow escape when a ball of fire struck their cottage in School Lane. Percy Morris was sitting by the fire in the kitchen when lightning demolished a chimney pot, flinging the debris several feet into the garden. "The noise was like that made by a whiz-bang during the war. I could not see for soot and had to open the window to let the smoke out", he said. His wife was talking to a neighbour when what looked like a ball of fire rushed past in front of her. This is the third occasion in recent years that lightning has done dame in the village. 34 03 12

The "Buy British Illuminated Street Parade" will feature a huge van pass through Cambridge telling people by means of flashing, blazing electric signs the virtues of British products. The 23-feet long vehicle is itself a mechanical marvel. It carries a small 'power station' with 2,688 bulbs flashing out messages in letters 18 inches high and attracts considerable interest. It has already travelled through several hundred towns and will create as much wonder here as elsewhere. 34 03 12

1934 03 14
The recent rains have had no effect on the serious shortage of water in certain villages in the Horseheath district. A ton and a half of water is carted daily from Haverhill and is rationed to the villagers at two bucketful per household. This has been going on, with the exception of a short break, since last September and is expected to continue till "the company's water" is laid to the houses concerned. The expense of a pound a day will fall on County ratepayers. 34 03 14

1934 03 15
Lime Kiln death – 34 03 15

1934 03 16
Rotary plough pic, p5
Isle police changes, p8
R.H. Mallinson lecture, p9

1934 03 16 ES
As the result of a generous bequest in the will of the late Mr E.E. Westley, a beautiful stained glass window has been installed in the Memorial Corner, Stretham Church as memorial to the Grainger family who lived in Stretham about 100 years ago and are now extinct – and to the benefactor herself. Mrs Westley left £400 for this purpose, of which £100 was spent on an Aberdeen granite cross erected about twelve months ago in the Churchyard, which is now closed as a burial ground. Designed from John Bunyan's 'Pilgrim's Progress' by J.N. Comper, the leading artist in England for stained-glass windows, the windo itself cost £300. It was unveiled by Mr Harry Drever, Churchwarden, immediately before a special service held in conjunction with Mothering Sunday. Conducted by the Rector (the Rev. S.S. Stitt), the ceremony was very brief and unostentatious but none the less impressive to the large congregation present. 34 03 16(2)ES Modernising an Ely shopping centre; improved frontages in Fore Hill with Blake & Sons' imposing new shop which opened last Saturday. Was formerly occupied as milliner's establishment by Miss Florence McFall. Details of construction etc; photos 34 03 16ES

1934 03 17
Kings Ditch photo, p7

1934 03 18
Arts & Craft school open day, p5

1934 03 21
A nurse travelling in an ambulance was killed and four men badly injured in a violent collision between a London ambulance and a Newmarket horse box at the Woolpack crossroads near Fenstanton. The Red Cross and St John ambulance was proceeding to Leeds to pick up a patient while the horsebox containing three horses from the Hon George Lambton's stables was heading to Lincoln races. One of the horses, Versicle, was favourite for the Lincolnshire handicap but had to be withdrawn, causing a revolution when the betting opened at Tattersall's. 34 03 21

1934 03 22
The final meeting of Linton Rural District Council was held before it combined with Melbourn and Caxton and Arrington to form the new South Cambridgeshire RDC. It could not be termed a 'funeral party' for the council has never been a soulless machine and died as it had lived in a friendly and pleasant atmosphere. White-haired Canon Thornton has presided over it from 1909, the last of the three chairmen. He remembered when some councillors rode to meetings on horseback and put their horses in the place later used for the hearse. Their last debate was on the biggest scheme ever launched: the plan for supplying water to the whole district. 34 03 22

1934 03 23
The Somersham Rectory Bill was considered by a Select Committee of the House of Commons. The rectory belonged to Cambridge University which takes one half of the income and the vicar the other half. Out of his share he was obliged to maintain two curates whose stipends took one half of his salary. The changes would transfer the rectory to the vicar and the University would make up his salary to £600 a year. 34 03 23

1934 03 23 ES
Police promotion, P.c. Moll Of Guyhirn to be Sergeant 34 03 23(2)ES

Ely's ancient causeways; evidences of attacks on the Isle by Major Gordon Fowler; includes Aldreth, Barway, Quaveney. Stuntney and north side of what was a hill on the present site of Roswell pits 34 03 23ES # c.41 # c.44.65

1934 03 28
Magistrates approved the transfer of a licence from the old Three Tuns on Castle Hill to a new County Arms nearby. There would be increased facilities for meals to cater for the new County Hall opposite. But the proprietor of Ye Olde Castle Tea Rooms and the Castle Inn objected. None of the county council staff came in and there was no trade in the winter. The neighbourhood was decreasing and it would have an effect on their businesses. 34 03 28

1934 03 29
"War is madness and we are being driven to it by madmen" a peace meeting at Soham was told. Some scientists were now saying there was no serious danger from gas warfare and people would be safe if they went and sat quietly in the bath. But soldiers who had been trained to combat mustard gas had become casualties without knowing they were affected until it was too late. They were being driven into this madness by men who were so stupid that they were virtually insane and they needed missionaries against war to defeat them. To believe anything these days involved a belief in miracles. 34 03 29

Col Tharp, Chippenham death, p7*
Caxton & Arrington RDC last picture, p10

1934 03 30 ES
New home for County Library, Gordon Avenue, March formally opened 34 03 30(2)(3)ES # c.77.1
Ely horse-drawn fire engine, 1912 – photo with names of firemen 34 03 30(4)ES
Ely new motor fire tender illustrated 34 03 30ES
Chatteris haulage contractor, Green Bros, bankrupt 34 03 30ES

April 1934 CDN & Ely Standard

1934 04 03
The Mayor and councillors performed the ceremony of 'beating the bounds' to mark the addition of additional areas to the Borough. They began at the east end of the cemetery grounds on Newmarket Road then toured Cherry Hinton before moving on to Trumpington where the new boundary begins on the town side of Long Road. Here the Mayor cut a light-blue silk ribbon before formally stepping into the new territory. Then after visiting the boundary a quarter of a mile beyond the L.M.S. railway bridge on the Shelford Road they were entertained to tea. 34 04 03

1934 04 06
The automatic waters sprinklers fitted at Messrs Enderby's mill at St Ives prevented a serious blaze. Fire broke out in a room on the first floor but within a quarter of an hour it was extinguished without human aid. Immediately a certain temperature was reached a safety valve was released and water rained on the blaze from all angles. At the same time a bell was set ringing which was heard all over the town. The mill is a printing works and a large stock of cardboard and paper was damaged chiefly by water. 34 04 06

1934 04 07
Cambridge boundary extension, Chesterton reaction cartoon – 34 04 07

1934 04 10
An inquiry into the sale of land in Scotland Road heard it had been offered to the corporation by Mr A.E. Few in 1929 but they'd turned it down. The land was subsequently bought by a private individual for £2,600. But when it was needed for the Hundred Houses Society the new owner had sold it to the council for £3,200. It was a good profit but the inspector cleared the council of any maladministration. 34 04 10

1934 04 11
Plans for the new Meadowlands Estate show 277 houses and six shops. The builders proposed to construct the primary roads with concrete but run the risk that the council will not take them over. They have suggested the names Meadowlands Road, Meadowlands Way, Meadowlands Terrace, Brightside and The Sunnyside but councillors want some alternatives. 36 04 11

Mr H.R. Maunders, the lay reader at Litlington, reports that he was returning from a vestry meeting at Abington Pigotts when he was amazed to see by the light of his cycle lamp, a young woman standing a few yards from him. She was wearing a costume of 100 years ago and he eyes pierced the night like balls of fire. Mr E. Hallybone, the well-known dirt-track rider from Royston, says he had stopped one night with magneto trouble when he saw something white coming towards him and ran. But the vicar says it is a large white owl and he sees it every night. 34 04 11

In 1921 members of Sturton Street Methodist Church erected a school hall as a temporary building. Now plans have been prepared for extensions to the church itself with choir stalls and pews. They have launched an appeal for £2,300 to include a new hall. Old scholars are invited to give a contribution, however small. 34 04 11

1934 04 12
Herr Gerhart Seger, who recently escaped from a German concentration camp told of his experiences. Under Hitler's 'Protection Arrest' men could be taken to prison with no reason. The Storm-Troopers, sadistic and brutalised men, could do what they would with inmates. Prisoners were beaten mercilessly, slept crowded together in damp ice-cold cellars and listened to men being tortured by the Nazis. Of 42 men imprisoned with him, two were beaten to death within a fortnight. After he'd come to England his wife and baby had been taken to a concentration camp as hostages, not to be released until he returned. 34 04 12

One of the first results of Cambridge borough expansion has been the taking over of the Lending Libraries in Trumpington and Cherry Hinton and these new branches were opened by the Mayor. He was sure the new libraries would be well looked after. Both are established in the parish schools and contain 400 modern novels and 100 popular non-fiction works. Approximately 100 volumes will be exchanged monthly with books from the Central Library. 34 04 12

1934 04 13
Kneesworth Hall, p5

1934 04 13 ES
Mepal mourns active social worker, Ivy Louisa Giddens 34 04 13ES

1934 04 14
The LNER will shortly be releasing a new crop of posters calling attention to holiday resorts and other places of interest on their lines. Cambridge is to be represented by a picture of St John's College gate which shows the artist, Fred Taylor, at his best. The poster advertising York shows Dick Turpin on his famous 'Black Bess' with the Minster in the distance. 34 04 14

Orchard Estate, Cherry Hinton. Come and see these artistically designed houses on this beautify Orchard Estate. Large hall, 2 reception rooms, 3 bedrooms, spacious kitchen and bathroom fitted with shower, bath spray, electric light, gas, Company's water. Price £495 complete. £50 down and 12/9 weekly – advert. 34 04 14

The Chief Constable reported that two motor cycle combinations and two BSA solo motor cycles supplied in February 1931 were now worn out. They were in constant use and had each done over 40,000 miles. He recommended they be replaced with two Hillman Minx cars. With these he could cover the whole of the county more efficiently. One would be based at headquarters and the other at Bottisham. 34 04 14

1934 04 16
There was a crowded congregation at Impington church for the dedication of the new organ. Slung from the roof supported on steel girders and enclosed in a panelled oak case, it is a great improvement to the chancel. Messrs Millers are to be congratulated upon constructing such a fine instrument which replaces one that has been in use for nearly 50 years. 34 04 16

1934 04 18
A simple ceremony on the borders of Girton and Histon marked the change of something that has stood unaltered for about a thousand years. Manor Farm in Histon parish was far nearer Girton and it was more convenient to move the parish boundary. The Minister had agreed and 51 acres had been taken over. Now the boundary-post was dug up, put in a wheelbarrow and carried 200 yards down the road to its new position. 34 04 18

1934 04 19
Cambridge Photographic Club featured an excellent display of cinematograph films. They included a splendid pictorial film of Cambridge by Eric Twinn on 9.5 mm stock. It was a brief presentation demonstrating his ability to choose a pleasant viewpoint. Mr J.V. Spalding depicted some of the useful work of the Ouse Drainage Board with several very clever angles chosen to obtain dramatic effect. 34 04 19

1934 04 20
Controversy has raged in Ely over the various streets and roads that have been re-named during the last century. By the kindness of one of the oldest inhabitants we are able to give the names by which some were previous known: Present name Market Street, old name: Gaol Street; Barton Road – Smock Mill Alley; Mill Pits – Gallows Hill Pits (where five Littleport rioters were hung); Cresswells – Common Muck Hill; Springhead Lane – Spion Cop; High Street Passage – Tallow Lane. 34 04 20

1934 04 20 ES
Wicken church re-opened after restoration 34 04 20ES

1934 04 23
An oak beam across the top of a fireplace at 47 St Mary's Street at Ely suddenly burst into flames after smouldering for three weeks. The 400-year-old house was the original Ely Workhouse. A few doors away people are living in rooms which were once used as barracks. Had nobody been in the house at the time the results would have been disastrous for the partitions are made of wood and canvas. 34 04 23 in a

1934 04 25
The first meeting of the new Chesterton Rural District Council was held in the County Hall. New councillors were told they had to consider problems such as water sewage, dust collection and lighting. They discussed a grant towards cleaning out a Harston pond. It was a 'disputable pond' – the village made use of it but it was private property. 34 04 25

1934 04 26
New view of Cambridge from University Library, p5

1934 04 27
A large number of University and college servants gathered at the Assembly Rooms in Market Passage for the opening of their new Club by the Vice-Chancellor. The opportunity for members to meet in social intercourse was half the value of a Cambridge education. It would provide properly organised amusements for all servants during winter months, to fit in with their rather unusual hours of leisure. 34 04 27

A smallholder from White Cross Road, Wilburton appeared in court for passing a traffic signal at red whilst driving a motor car in Bridge Street. He told the policeman he had never seen them before and don't know how they worked. Nobody had told him what they were for or anything about them. In Ely they had policemen and A.A. men on the corners. The magistrates fined him ten shillings saying it was distressing that a man should be on the public road driving a motor car and not know what traffic signals meant. 34 04 27

1934 04 27 ES
City Chambers, new building, Market Street, Ely by H.R. Dimock 34 04 27(2)ES
Ely fire brigade horse-drawn vehicle with names 34 04 27(4)ES
Darby of Sutton fleet of motor vehicles – photo 34 04 27ES

1934 04 30
Three houses were damaged by one flash of lightning in Lovell Road, one of the new roads off Milton Road. The house which sustained the greatest damage was fortunately unoccupied; it struck the chimney stack and ripped a large hole in the roof. The flash spanned the road, missed no.113 but broke windows at nearby properties. It was seen by Mr Dale who was putting up curtains at the time and was thrown from one side of the room to the other. 34 04 30

A former undergraduate appeared in court following a scuffle. Vincent Brock, a university bulldog, said he'd accompanied the Proctor, Rev Heywood, into the bar of the Theatre Cinema where there were many undergraduates during the interval. There was much shouting and excitement. The accused had then assaulted him by tipping his top hat over his face. 34 04 30

May 1934 CDN & Ely Standard

1934 05 02
May Day demonstration – 34 05 02
May Day queen – 34 05 02
Cars for county council staff – 34 05 02
Dorothy café ballroom floor – 34 05 02

1934 05 03
Dorothy café, p1
Alex Wood re-adopted, p5

1934 05 04
CAS members at Shire Hall, photo, p7

1934 05 05
Cambridge Mothercraft Clinic aimed to promote breast-feeding. It held clinics three days a week in Chesterton Road; over 2,000 mothers had attended and nearly 80 per-cent breast-fed their children. The class that attends the public clinics are not the best for an educational movement. They wanted to get people who are further up in educational interest, and perhaps intellectual development. The main aim was to keep well babies well. 34 05 05

Air circus, Barton Road – 34 05 05, 34 05 07
Housing problems – 'monstrocities', p5
A.W.H. Barnes, artist, bankruptcy, p5
Soft roads, p5

1934 05 07

Sawston fire, p5
May Day meeting, p5*
Sky devils, p5*
Dredging the Cam – 34 05 07
Labour and co-op demonstration, May Day – 34 05 07
Holliman furniture removals van – advert – 34 05 07

1934 05 08
West Wratting fire, p5

1934 05 09
Donald Bradman, Australia's wonder batsman, keeps very much in the news. In most cases it is his century habit that brings him the limelight – but not so against Cambridge University at Fenner's. For 'Don' was out for a duck, clean bowled by a slow leg-break from J.G.W. Davies of St John's. Two thousand people cheered Bradman when he went in to bat but the fourth ball send down found his stump. 34 05 09

1934 05 10
Harvey Goodwin Home – plea – 34 05 10
Drawing Society exhibition – local views - 34 05 10
Gilbert and Sullivan, Henry Lytton's farewell appearances – 34 05 10 & 34 05 18
1934 05 11 ES
More concrete roads as those on Soham Mere Estate a success – 34 05 11ES

1934 05 14
Stuntney Village Institute was destroyed by fire. The blaze was fought by villagers but it was one mass of flames and it was useless to attempt to save it. Built by the late Cole Ambrose, the building was of wood and corrugated iron. It was the centre of social life in the village and the whole of the contents, with the exception of a piano, were lost. A stove, a relic of Queen Victoria's yacht 'Osbourn', was destroyed together with a billiards table, whist table and chairs. The Billiards Championship Cup was discovered twisted and broken in the debris. 34 05 14

Trumpington motor trap – 34 05 14

1934 05 15
Marshall's Flying School propose to carry out improvements to their aerodrome and had purchased Elfleda Farm through which the proposed Ring Road would run. They asked the Council to move the route slightly east. But the Surveyor said this was not possible. The whole of the land is zoned for dwelling houses and this would be have to be borne in mind if any proposals were made to them for further developing this aerodrome. 34 05 15

Marks and Spencer's new shop will be opened on Friday morning. The premises have a frontage to Sidney Street. The ground floor space is devoted entirely to sales while the first and second floors contain stock rooms, offices and other accommodation for the staff of 60 assistants who have been mainly recruited locally. There is a dining room where staff can obtain lunch at a cost of sixpence. There will be no 'stunt' lines at opening and 90 per cent of the goods sold are of British manufacture. 34 05 15

1934 05 16
Stuntney Institute pic, p5
West Wratting windmill, p6

1934 05 17
Paul Robeson is a genius. The beautifully proportioned giant who has played baseball for the United States, is now studying for a degree in African languages, has an almost perfect Russian accent and a voice whose texture has been described as reminiscent of velvet and mulberries, is no ordinary singer. And thus when he gives a recital at Cambridge it is only natural that he should receive such an ovation as he did at the Guildhall. His songs included two Russian folk songs and Negro ballads. 34 05 17

The beautiful Church Farm estate at Eversden comprises 300 acres of open country surrounded by hills, one mile from Lords Bridge railway station. The new houses are beautifully designed by a qualified architect. Each have three bedrooms, a bathroom with chromium fittings, a spacious kitchen and electricity and company's water supplied from new Artesian wells on the estate. The price is only £550 - £50 down and thirteen shillings and sixpence (66p) weekly. 34 05 17

Four lamps now five, pic, p1

1934 05 18
Within a few hours of the official opening of Marks and Spencer's Cambridge stores two of their windows were broken. There was a large crowd both inside the shop and on the pavement when suddenly a man went up to the left-hand centre window and, taking a large stone from his pocket, threw it and broke the glass. Shaking with rage, he then walked to the other centre window and smashed that with another stone. Nearby policemen took him into custody. 34 05 18

Newmarket Amateur Cine Society, in only its second year, has accomplished a splendid performance by winning first prize in a competition organised by 'Home Movies and Home Talkies'. Their film was directed by Merrick Griffiths, with J.W. McGlone responsible for the photography. The prize consists of a gold medal and a 16 m.m. projector. 34 05 18

1934 05 18 ES
Proposed extension of Middle Level area – inquiry 34 05 18(2)ES
Stuntney Institute destroyed in mysterious fire – photo – 34 05 18&(3)ES
Ceremonial opening for Ely's new swimming bath 34 05 18(6)ES
Wicken holds first parade 34 05 18ES

1934 05 19
Cromwell Park estate advert – 34 05 19
Orchard Estate, Cherry Hinton photo, p4

1934 05 23
Machine gunners pic, p1

1934 05 25 ES
Pitiful plight of fen farmers fruit – Times letter 34 05 25(2)ES
Lt Thetford railway crossing gates smashed 34 05 25(3)ES
Turbutsea, origin of Ely's Roswell pits which removed for banking clay from middle 1600's, by Gordon Fowler 34 05 25(4)ES
Stretham
Monoplane lands in field adjoining Military Road # c.26.1
Feast one of quietest on record; stalls pitched on Chapel Green and along to Tunnel corner, but parade a success 34 05 25(5)ES
Stretham Feast week parade successfully revived; Hospital van, children with decorated bicycles 34 05 25ES

1934 05 26
A Cambridge chess club was first mentioned in 1835 and in 1837-8 it was sufficiently organised to play a match of two games by correspondence with Nottingham's "Town and Gown" club. But an experiment in holding a Chess Congress in Cambridge in 1880 was a complete fiasco. The British Chess Association had selected Cambridge as the meeting place but little support was forthcoming from the University Chess Club, founded four years earlier, and visitors were very few, a new book reveals. 34 05 26

Sir – we scientific workers and teachers of the University wish to affirm out fundamental opposition to the use of scientific research in war and the preparation of war. A situation may soon arise when scientists will be pressured to engage in research directed to the purpose of war Signed: Joseph Needham (Biochemist), E.O. Whetham (Agriculture), Marjory Stephenson (Biochemistry), M.L. Oliphant , C.P. Snow, B.M. Crowther and Alex Wood (Physics) and others. 34 05 26

1934 05 29
One of the best-known Cambridge hairdressers Alexander Joseph Priziborsky was born in Cambridge 54 years ago. It was his father who founded the hairdressing establishment in Round Church Street about 1856 and on his death in 1905 his son took it over. He shaved his first customer when nine years old and built up a first class reputation, the majority of his customers coming from outside the town. 34 05 29

The new Cambridge Post Office in St Andrew's Street was needed to meet ever-growing demand. People knew they could obtain wireless licences, motor licences and gun licences but not that they could get marriage licences as well. There was criticism that the stamps remained the same but it was not policy to make money out of philatelists by creating unnecessary issues and would mean altering stamp machines. Now deliveries would improve and the 26,000 letters a week delivered by second post will in future secure first post delivery. 34 05 29 & 30

1934 05 30
Kingston fire pic, p5

June 1934 CDN & Ely Standard

1934 06 01
The great move has begun. At four o'clock the doors of the old University Library near the Senate House closed to readers. There had been many visitors all day to say farewell to the building and some tender-hearted ladies left the library in tears before the bell rang for the last time. Librarians have been packing volumes into boxes and Eaden Lilley's staff began the work of loading the horse-drawn carts for the journey to the new library in West Road. The process will go on day after day for about three months. 34 06 01

1934 06 02
A.G. Markham, p2
Prince George flies to Cambridge, p5

1934 06 04
Prince Geoge at Technical School, pic, p1

1934 06 05
Crowds flocked from all parts of the diocese to see Dr Bernard Heywood installed as Bishop of Ely. Inside the Cathedral a splash of colour was provided by the arrival of Mayors in their robes and a procession of 400 robed clergy. The vast congregation awaited the time-honoured ceremony by which the new Bishop knocks thrice with his staff on the West door. Amplifying apparatus has never been allowed so the service was heard by the greater part of the congregation as only a distant murmur. 34 06 05

Undergraduates enter Exam Hall, pic, p5

1934 06 07

The prompt action of three employees of Messrs S. Wilkerson, corn merchants of Royston, averted a blaze which would have been one of the biggest ever seen in the town. They saw flames and smoke issuing from one of the wooden ventilators in the centre of the granary roof, entered the building and attacked the flames with minimax extinguishers. The granary is a large wooden building and it would have been impossible to stop the fire had it gained a firmer hold. 34 06 07

1934 06 08
St Ives market is only a shadow of its former self due to the depression in agriculture. A good many of the old farmers and dealers have passed away and there are none to take their place. Sales in shops had also dropped since the coming of the motor car as there was a tendency for people to go to large centres. Buses come in from villages but leave again after ten minutes which was no good for trade, the Mayor told a meeting at which forty prominent business men formed a Traders' Association. 34 06 08

Bus effects mergers – St Ives route - Wheatley – 34 06 08
Leys School scout HQ, p5

1934 06 09
Church Farm estate, Eversden, p3

1934 06 11
Abington place crash, p5

1934 06 12
May Week balls, p5

1934 06 15
A student, Cecil Hutchinson, made a dramatic race against time to attend the Cambridge Entrance Examination. He docked at Cherbourg early today on the Olympic on which he had travelled from New York, then chartered an Imperial Airways taxi which arrived at Croydon at 8.45. After snatching a hasty breakfast he flew on the Cambridge where he arrived a few minutes before the examination was due to start. The ship had decided in mid-Atlantic not to dock at Plymouth, from which he had arranged to travel by train, so he cabled his father who arranged the air taxi. 34 06 15

Buildings in Brick Lane, Earith belonging to Frederick Pink, the well-known Cambridge slaughterer, were destroyed by fire. One contained a motor lorry which he had purchased two days ago, now all that remains is a heap of twisted metal. The carcase of a horse which had just been slaughtered was also damaged. A number of cartridges used for slaughtering purposes exploded as the fire quickly took hold. 34 06 15

1934 06 16
The Chief Constable of Huntingdon suggested that police buy a second-hand SS.1 capable of 75 miles an hour for patrol work from Norman Cross. But Mr Tebbutt said this was too much of a swagger car for the work. "I suggest you get a second-hand Brooklands car which you do not mind messing up and can be bought for a song." 34 06 16

1934 06 18
A barn at Carter's Farm, Pidley Fen, was razed to the ground. The roof of the granary was fitted with glass tiles and it is thought that the fire was started by heat from the sun. Somersham Fire Brigade was able to prevent the blaze spreading to the farm house but there was so little water that the Huntingdon Brigade returned to their base. 34 06 18

1934 06 19
An agreement has been reached in the long-running dispute over the rebuilding of the Dorothy Café in Sidney Street. In spite of the conflict over details Messrs G.P. Hawkings now have a really beautiful, modern and commodious building that has earned praise from the Cambridge Preservation Society and the Illumination Congress while the builders are no longer under any imputation of incompetence. 34 06 19

1934 06 20
Sir – may I draw attention to the speed of buses in Cambridge? It is not the fault of the drivers who have to be at certain places at the minute. At the destination they turn round, the conductor changes the board and off they go again, speeding only to be on time. As for cleanliness: just lift any cushion up and you will see the filth underneath them. Why not have some disinfectant spray as in the picture palaces – 'Chestertonian'. 34 06 20

1934 06 21
A Sutton farmer told the court he'd supplied 30 tons of Majestic potatoes for shipment to the Argentine, he then got a second order and had included some King Edwards. But the agent they were not suitable for shipping across the Equator and during the voyage twenty-seven bags had to be thrown overboard at Buenos Aires. 34 06 21

Ely's open-air swimming pool at Angel Drove, built by the unemployed at a cost of £580, was opened in a ceremony watched by 2,000 people. It is 82 feet long with a chlorination plant and dressing rooms. The site was acquired by the Urban Council in 1853 when they decided to have a supply of water from the river. But the filters were not adequate and the scheme fell through after people became ill. It was left derelict and remained a nasty little hole until now. 34 06 21

1934 06 22 ES
Ely new swimming pool opens to huge crowd 34 05 22ES

1934 06 23
The Mayor opened Cambridge's 2,000th council house situated on Bateson Road and a large number of spectators gathered to watch. He unveiled a memorial tablet high up on the front wall to commemorate the occasion. The Housing Committee was formed in 1920 to construct houses for the working classes and the estates are a great credit to the architect. Mr Bland. Most houses had three bedrooms with spacious gardens. But there was a need for more for young people who find it difficult to get a home and remain unmarried year after year, disappointed and tired of waiting. 34 06 23

Sir – we are now desired by the Government to economise in our use of water but I actually saw a huge Corporation cart filled with water which men were lavishly pouring on to the roots of young trees which have been planted in Hurst Park. I consider this to be utterly unnecessary. If water can be spared why not distribute it to poor animals and spare the anxiety of their owners who are obliged to go five miles to fetch water – 'Disgusted'. 36 06 23

Car crashes into King Charles pub, Back Hill, Ely – 34 06 23

1924 06 25
The British Legion area rally saw a parade 15,000 strong, a procession at least three miles long and an open-air service on Parker's Piece before a congregation of 25,000 people. For many to whom the British Legion had been only a name – especially the younger generation – the rally came as a revelation of the undying soul of the greatest organisation of ex-Servicemen in the world. 34 06 25

1924 06 26
Ashdon cottage struck by lightning – 34 06 26

1934 06 28
Historic Ramsey Abbey may become a secondary school. The Government had approved the replacement of the present old wooden hut by a permanent building and the Hon Mrs Broughton would let the Abbey and grounds on a 99 year lease at an annual payment of one pound.

Unfortunately there were no plans and maintenance would be a large item of expenditure. The old gateway had been taken over by the Ministry of Works as an ancient monument. 34 06 28

Robert Sayle's great reconstruction sale. On account of extensive alterations we need to move the whole of the stock and are marking goods at prices which convey positively unique values. Fully laundered linen sheets, single bed size – 21/- (£1.05). Tennis shorts of pique, white and colours 4/11 (25p). Boys' double-breasted tweed suits 10/6 (52p). Bargains from the shoe department: summer shoes to clear at 12/1 (60p) – Advertisement. 34 06 27

1934 06 28
Mr G. Lenton told Huntingdon councillors that when he started work on the farm boys left school at the age of ten, now it was twelve so two years had been lost. Unless boys could work on holidays during term from 6am to 1pm they would be useless and the farmers would like a free hand during holidays. It was not really work, but play. They earned £2-£3 during harvest time and the parents would be up in arms if this was stopped. If they did not let the boys work they would be drawn off the land and be no good to anyone. 34 06 28

1934 06 29
A shell, nine inches long was found by W.G. Collins in his garden in Alpha Road. It was of a type fired by anti-aircraft guns and in a greatly rusted condition. But it was obviously 'live' so he took it to the Police Station. There he was referred to the Drill Hall, but they didn't want it either! Eventually he took it to the Officers Training Corps for disposal. This is the second such dangerous explosive recently: two live hand grenades were found some time ago. 34 06 29

In spite of its delightfully antique appearance the inside of the new Fountain public house in St Andrew's Street is the last word in modern efficiency. Owned by William Younger of Edinburgh, the architect was C.M. Quilter and the Tudor style mirrors their other pubs up and down the country. The Scottish atmosphere is maintained by the variety of tartan panels and coats of arms which decorate the windows. 34 06 29

1934 06 29 ES
Car crashes into taproom King Charles in the Oak, Back Hill, Ely – photo 34 06 29(2)(3)UES
Bishop of Ely installation 34 06 29(2)ES
Ely Aero Club thrilling air display and pageant; aerobatics arranged 34 06 29ES

1934 06 30
Alderman W.P. Spalding started the collection of portraits of Cambridge mayors at the Guildhall and it is now traditional for outgoing Mayors to present framed pictures of themselves. But one hung for many years as Charles Humfrey, Mayor 1837-38, has now been identified as being his brother. It has now been replaced. 34 06 30

Two of W.B. Redfern's collection of Cromwellian relics have returned to Cambridge. A pair of grey gauntlets and a pair of spectacles in their original fish skin case which belonged to Oliver Cromwell were purchased by Edwin Rutter and added to his museum at the Old Curiosity Shop on Trumpington Street. 34 06 30

July 1934 CDN & Ely Standard

1934 07 06
Eversden Church Farm estate houses – advert – 34 07 06

The value of old documents for genealogical and topographical purpose and as an aid to local history is too obvious to need emphasis. But there is a real danger when in many ways old order is changing, lest these valuable evidences may be unknowingly destroyed. Most solicitors' offices, particularly old established ones, have boxes and bundles of old deeds, which owing to the splitting up off estates and the closing of trusts years ago, have long lacked owners and have ceased to be of any value for proof of title. There is always a risk when the practice changes hands or in a succession of partnerships that such documents may be destroyed to make room. The Cambridge Antiquarian Society, being anxious to remove the possibility of destruction, offers its services to advise whether preservation is worthwhile. If anyone who may possess any documents will be kind enough to inform us we will arrange in due course to inspect. Furthermore if they are willing, as several owners have done, to hand over documents for safekeeping we can arrange for removal without expense. The Local Records Committee, which is been set up by the Cambridge Antiquarian Society includes solicitors, and any of us will be prepared to offer advice or further information. – E.A.B. Barnard, W.M. Palmer. 34 07 06

1934 07 07
Prickwillow vicar leaving – Hicks – 34 07 07

1934 07 10
'A shock', p10

1934 07 11
The first air display by the recently-formed Ely Aero Club attracted 2,000 people to their flying field on the Downham Road. An attractive programme of aerobatics had been billed but was marred somewhat by the non-arrival of a number of machines. Despite this the crowd had plenty of thrills and many opportunities for joy riding. Mr H.R. Dimock was the first Ely citizen to own a private plane and his activities in the air had been watched with interest. The club hoped to have its own ground, own staff and own machines. 34 07 11

The Cambridgeshire Regional Planning Report, a handsome volume illustrated with original wood-cuts and photographs, contains many valuable suggestions for the development of the county. In villages the problem is not only one of controlling new development but also preventing their decay and alteration of character. Provision must be made for industrial expansion around Cambridge. The Government should construct new roads and the Roads Beautifying Association advice on the planting of verges with flowering shrubs to enhance their scenic value. 34 07 11

Longstanton church rethatched photo – 34 07 11
Spirit of Sunday – river bank scenes, p6

1934 07 13
The Burwell district nurse has been asked to resign after the arrival of her second baby and so she will have to leave the cottage, which is Burwell's war memorial. Nurse Kinloch had offered to place her children under the care of others but the County Nursing Association considers she could not give her full attention to her duties. Dr Charles Lucas, the retired village doctor has resigned in protest and a petition has been raised in her support. 34 07 13

Sturton Street chapel stone laid, p5

1934 07 14
Rampton has one of two reed-thatched churches in the Diocese. The 13th-century nave roof is supposed to have been brought from Barnwell Prior at the Dissolution. It is now being rethatched, the bells rehung and a heating system installed. The cost bears heavily on a village of only 280 inhabitants and any contributions should be sent to the Rector. 34 07 14

Old University Library, p6

1934 07 13 ES
Ely Aero Club pageant at grounds on Downham Road; for second time in twelve months Ely was the centre of an air display – photo 34 07 13ES
Water restrictions enforced by Ely Urban Council, alarming drop in well levels 34 07 13(2)(3)ES

Robbery at Ely Cathedral, memorial window broken 34 07 13(4)ES

Theft of fowls from Lt Thetford 34 07 13(4)ES

1934 07 18
A complaint was received about a wireless set at Downfield, Soham. This was a quiet, rural housing site where the people should be happy and comfortable. But one person had got an infernal machine called a loud speaker and was operating his wireless set at high volume. Such people should be put in the middle of a 40-acre field. Everybody paid the rent and had a right to peace and quiet, so a letter should be sent stating that the nuisance should be stopped. 34 07 18

Water supplies scheme – 34 07 18

1934 07 19
The cost of treatment of tuberculosis in Huntingdonshire is much higher than elsewhere. Many men had been treated at Papworth but others were incurable and should be removed to Wyton Sanatorium, although some questioned the advisability of having incurable adults and children in one place. Now Wyton's future was in doubt: it was a temporary building and in two years' time Yorkshire would withdraw all their children as they were building their own hospital. 34 07 19

1934 07 20 ES
Witcham church restoration nearing completion 34 07 20(3)ES
Soham death Harry Palmer 34 07 20(3)ES
Storm damage; houses struck Whittlesey, Doddington windmill, Sutton house 34 07 20(4)ES

Stretham Geranium day 34 07 20(2)ES
Effects of drought seen at Stretham Show; fewer entries, vegetables good – 34 07 20ES

County Library progress; 8,688 active borrowers 34 07 20ES

1934 07 21
Sunshine home, p4
Diamond Jubilee memory – Sidney Street photo, p6

1934 07 22
Spurgeon cottages & room – photo, p6

1934 07 23
Over 10,000 people attended the Conservative fete in the delightful grounds of Harold Gray's home at the Gogs. By bus, car, and bicycle and on foot they came. Of entertainment there was almost unbelievable variety: popular music by the Soham Comrades Silver prize Band, a mixed doubles tennis tournament, clay pigeon shooting and greyhound racing with displays of physical drill by boys from Dr Barnardo's Homes. 34 07 23

An open-air peace meeting at Newmarket was told that thirteen shillings in every pound of taxes went on war, only a quarter of a farthing on peace. The League of Nations Union was non-political and non-sectarian. If anybody broke the peace of a town they were brought before the magistrates and punished, the same principal should apply to the nations of the world. As a result of the meeting nearly 20 new members were enrolled. 34 07 23

Mr Lansbury, MP, said that Labour movement had been criticised when in office, but he hoped they would capture the Saffron Walden area. They were very fortunate at having candidates like Mrs Rackham. She is a scholar who has fought for the poor and dejected and should be sent to Westminster. He was a socialist because he was sane, Labour leader George Lansbury joked while being photographed in his characteristically homely style. 34 07 23

Police refused entrance Pembroke College – 34 07 23
Haddenham – Alfred Norman killed by kick from horse – 34 07 23

1934 07 24
A good deal of controversy has been aroused amongst local anglers by a fish which was caught in the Cam by Mr F.W. Arnold. It is rather like a roach except that the colour is golden-red, similar to a carp. Some say it is a red mullet or a golden orfe. Mr Agger of the fishing depot in King Street is unable to identify it, nor are anglers with 40 years' experience. It is on show at Mr Agger's and will finally be pickled. 34 07 24

The four children of Mr H. Clark of Queen's Street, Cambridge, are very sporting. Alice, aged 21 is interested in running, while Ken, 19, is keen on billiards and won the junior Federation cup. Horace, the youngest, aged 15, is a good boxer and has won numerous school fights while Frank is one of the most versatile and goes in for swimming, running and boxing. He won several competitions while with his regiment in India. Mr & Mrs Clark are very proud of their sons and wonder if any other family can beat their al-round record. 34 09 24

1934 07 26
Ramsey abbey school future – 34 07 26
Libraries in hospitals – British Red Cross work – 34 07 26

1934 07 27
University Library last load of books, p1

1934 07 28
The 'His Master's Voice' show train arrived at Cambridge station as part of a national. It is one of the greatest collections of radio and gramophone instruments ever assembled. Visitors can see everything from a Columbia self-contained battery receiver to a luxurious ten-valve automatic record-changing radiogram. Other exhibits include a radio receive with no visible loud-speaker, the music being heard from behind the dial of an electric clock. The train carries its own power station, café and sleeping accommodation. 34 07 28

Stretham farm fire – S. Wright of Orchard House – 34 07 28

1934 07 30
It is only a year since Sir Hugh and Lady Ripley went to reside at Brinkley Hall but they been instrumental in making village life much brighter. They have formed branches of the Women's Institute and British Legion and held a garden fete to raise funds with cocoanut shies, Aunt Sally, bowling for a pig, clock golf, treasure hunt and darts. There was a lady whose dress contained 100 pockets in which there were presents while Monty the Dalmatian invited people to guess the number of his spots. Haverhill Co-operative band played for dancing on the lawn in the evening. 34 07 30

Oswald Mosely at Wisbech, p1
Newmarket church union, p2
Cambridge anti-war council, p8
Long Road bridges scheme – 34 07 30

1934 07 31
Godmanchester worthy – J. Garner dies – 34 07 31

August 1934 CDN & Ely Standard

1934 08 01
Ely Old Dispensary reported a quiet, uneventful year's work amongst those for whose benefit the dispensary existed. The fact that 157 patients had been 'cured and relieved' was proof it still filled a useful niche in the life of the city. Cases treated included influenza, dyspepsia, rheumatism and diseases peculiar to women. But income was down: since the Addenbrooke's Hospital contributory scheme the parade did not realise anything like what it used to do. 34 08 01

Gonville and Caius College's scheme for the complete rebuilding of the block of shops and houses on the north side of Cambridge Market Hill has been finally approved. At present the site from Rose Crescent to St Mary's Court is occupied by a group of houses, mostly of the 18th century. Their disappearance will be regretted, even by those who knew how dilapidated they had become behind their neat Georgian facades. But the whole effect of the completed block should stifle these regrets. The shops will be set back seven feet with upper rooms carried on slender pillars. 34 08 01

After a history of 100 years it is hardly surprising that there is a thorough tobacco atmosphere about the shop of Messrs Bacon Bros which has stood on Market Hill since 1805 and the news that it is to be pulled down with cause regret to many. A number of ledgers over 100 years old, containing fascinating information about the smokers have come to light including the original accounts sent to C.S. Calverley whose 'Ode to Tobacco' appears on the outer wall of the shop. A new shop will be built on almost the same spot. 34 08 01

1934 08 02
A Warboys couple, Mr & Mrs Edward Upchurch have both forgotten the date of their wedding, 60 years ago. They mark the event by the fact that it was during feast week in the village that they were joined in matrimony and the feast week custom has never been broken. They were both born in the village and have lived in the area all their lives, bringing up 14 children of whom nine live to share their diamond wedding. At one time Mr Upchurch, a land worker, received only a shilling a week and the family gleaned at harvest to bake their own bread. 34 08 02

Councillors considered a scheme for compulsorily purchasing the old Post Office on the corner of Petty Cury and other properties in Sidney Street to widen the road. Cambridge could not progress unless it spent money. Money was never cheaper: the banks were bursting with it. There were the materials, the men and the money available for the work. But having compulsory orders hanging over the properties would influence the price they could be sold for. 34 08 02

Road repairs St Andrew's St – photo – 34 08 02

1934 08 03 ES
Blaze at Stretham: barn and stockyard owned by Miss Sarah Wright of Orchard House and tenanted by Thomas Jacobs; helpers saved adjoining wheat field 34 08 03(2)ES

Stretham pioneer. F.W. Savidge's wonderful work among head hunters; started schools, made grammar, administered medicine; out of population of 100,000 devil-worshippers, many embrace Christian religion. A volume is in the Press and probably before long may be ready for reading. It will be the 41st volume Savidge has been responsible for 34 08 03ES

1934 08 04
What Cambridge was doing when war declared, August 1914, memories of Sixth Division – 34 08 04

1934 08 06
The amazing story of a young Cambridge man's cycle raids on village churches unfolded at court. He left home in the mornings, leaving people to think he was going to work, and rode around the villages, forcing boxes, safes and drawers in the churches. He carried tools in a brown attaché case and when spoken too professed great interest in the wood carvings. He'd raided churches at Cottenham, Eltisley, Harlton and Stansted as well as stealing a collecting box from the Cathedral Café, Ely. 34 08 06

Barrington Cement Works accident, p2

1934 08 08
Constable C. Hine of St Ives police and his young lady friend, Miss Lily Wilkinson of Hartford, embarked in a punt at Huntingdon for a quiet afternoon on the river. But a stiff breeze resisted the progress of the boat as it neared the arches of the bridge and PC Hine seized a chain hanging from the stonework. At once a distressing situation developed: man and craft parted company, the policeman was left dangling in the water while the punt with its alarmed occupant, drifted away. Then a second punt, manned by two ladies rescued him from undignified plight, a reunion was affected and a car despatched for dry garments. 34 08 08

1934 08 09
Polo, Newmarket heath, p6

1934 08 10
James William Auchterlonie was for over 30 years manager and engineer of the Cambridge Town & University Gas Light Company during which the annual output has risen three-fold. He was responsible for the adoption of a co-partnership scheme by which employees as well as shareholders enjoy a proportion of the profits. After the war he received Government recognition for his services in connection with the supply of high explosives. His loss will be keenly felt in Masonic and Rotarian circles. 34 08 10

1934 08 10 ES
Sports and shows in locality gradually dying out or running at a loss, Stretham made a profit 34 08 10ES

1934 08 11
Jesus College more monastic remains – 34 08 11
Demolition corner Hobson Street – Sidney Street pic, p1

1934 08 13
Cambridge Fire Brigade averted a serious conflagration in Paradise Street. They were called to some lock-up garages beneath Messrs Coulson's stores where a lorry was found to be blazing fiercely with flames through the floor of the store above. If the fire had reached a petrol and oil store another row of garages would inevitably have become involved. Their smart work confined the damage to the lorry, which was practically burnt out. 34 08 13

S.R. Ginn, county council clerk 13 years, former Mayor – 34 08 13

1934 08 14
Death of W.E. Lilley, son of founder – 34 08 14

1934 08 16
Ye Olde Castle Hotel in St Andrew's Street was devastated by fire. Every fireman and policeman was called from other duties as smoke billowed from the gabled windows leaving people gasping at its pungency. Staff and volunteers busied themselves removing furniture. The Hotel ranked as one of the oldest inns in Cambridge, dating back to the 13th century. It was reconstructed about 1620 and the last extensive additions were in 1891. It is doubted whether it will be possible to restore the damaged parts of this historic building. 34 08 16

Stretham crash, undergraduate car overturns – 34 08 16

1934 08 17

We regret to announce the deaths of three well-known Cambridge men - Dr F.E. Apthorpe Webb, medical practitioner of Grafton House, Maids Causeway was registrar of the 1st Eastern General Hospital during the war until and later held several official appointments. Mr A.E. Chaplin, governing director of Messrs R. Sayle & Co was at one time its sole proprietor. He lost both his sons during the War and in 1919 the business became a limited liability company. Mr Haydn Inwards was for many years leader of the Cambridge University Musical Society orchestra and extremely popular with local audiences. All three were members of the Scientific Lodge of Freemasons. 34 08 17

1934 08 17 ES
Retirement C.W. Horn, well-known Upwell racing cyclist 34 08 17(3)ES
Stretham: six undergraduates escaped in two-car crash at corner new Cambridge Road both cars overturned, one burst into flames 34 08 17ES

1934 08 18
Castle inn demolition pic, p1

1934 08 23
Newmarket fire, p5

1934 08 24
Some 750 young anglers assembled on Parker's Piece and were played to the station by the band of the Boys' Brigade to catch a special train to St Ives to take part in the Albion Angling Society's annual fishing match for youngsters. The miniature army of anglers disported themselves along the river bank at Hemingford meadows. It was not unusual to see gathered in one small space at least half a dozen children with lines and rods crossed and floats completely submerged. The winners of the President's cup for the best catch were F. Parr (boys) and Marjorie Benton (girls). 34 08 24

Mitcham's Corner roundabout enlarged, pic, p1

1934 08 24 ES
Stretham: Fire in corn field on Fidwell Farm

1934 08 27
Cambridge's new fire engine, built by Messrs Merryweather, has a maximum speed of 48 mph. It carries an all-steel 85-ft ladder which can be extended in 30 seconds. At the top is a telephone to enable the fireman to communicate with the ground. Provision is made for four powerful fire-fighting jets of water. 34 08 27

Needingworth housing, p5

1934 08 28
The renovations to St John's College have been the subject of much comment in 'The Times'. It was suggested that the two turrets at the front were in imminent danger of falling away from the main tower because of a system of main drainage 30 years ago when a trench 30 feet deep was dug along the street. But there is no evidence of settlement due to foundation trouble. The walls had shattered because of vibrations caused by street traffic. 34 08 28

The opening of the new exchange at Trumpington is the first step towards the great change-over to automatic telephones. Engineers dashed to remove the wooden plugs which set the system working and waited for the first call. Soon a line crackled and a bulb lit up. But it was a false alarm. The second caller had forgotten the changeover and, not getting a verbal answer, hung up. Twice more this happened but after eleven minutes a call came through from the Trumpington A.A. box and the new apparatus was officially launched. 34 08 28

1934 08 29

Ely Council's decision to allow the swimming baths to be used on Sunday afternoons prompted strong protests. The Railway Mission deplored it, as did Downham Baptist chapel. Haddenham Baptists say it will necessitate some amount of Sunday labour, Lt Thetford think it a retrograde step and Ely Sunday School Union thought that for the sake of the children Sunday should be preserved from worldly and secular labour. 34 08 29

1934 08 31
Poultry breeders gathered at Ely to discuss the possibilities of establishing an egg packing station to help them market their eggs. They had to bind themselves together as marketing was the most difficult thing they had to face. The depot would cost at least £1,500 to set up and there had to be a regular flow of not less than 6,000 dozen eggs per week. It was agreed to consider it further. 34 08 31

Needingworth Parish Council protested against plans for council housing on the Bluntisham Road. The field was much too low, was subject to floods and also inconvenient as it was two miles from the church, a mile from the post office and a mile and a half from the school. The question of sewerage had also to be considered. But despite this the District Council voted to purchase the site. 34 08 27

Hunts police – memories including Seekings murder – 34 08 31

September 1934 CDN & Ely Standard

1934 09 01
Sherlock Holmes as boy, p6

1934 09 04
Market Hill changes – Bacon demolition, p5

1934 09 05
Woodlands Estate, Girton Village. This new estate comprises 9 ½ acres, situated in a beautiful wooded setting. There are 46 houses to be erected each with three bedrooms, a very fine bathroom, garage and good garden. They will have main water, gas and electric light. These artistically-built houses are only £550 freehold. There are no road or legal charges whatever. Apply to Harvey & Dodson (Builders) Ltd, 9 Llandaff Chambers, Cambridge – advert. 34 09 05

1934 09 06
At Sawston leather works the sheep skins used are mainly from New Zealand and Australia but the finest come from St Ives. When the skins get to the factory from the butcher they are fleshed and then split in two. The outer one is made into handbags and hat-bands, the inner into chamois leather for window-cleaning leathers and gloves - many of the factory employees take them home and do the sewing there. The skin trimmings are moved to the Granta works at Stapleford and processed into sheets of gelatine. 34 09 06

At Castle Camps the population of 505 people depended on a deep well pump and it was very difficult to get water. It took about 170 turns to obtain two gallons from the pump and it was the only drinking water available. The situation has become worse recently because a lot of the shallow wells had dried up. The Parish Council suggested the District Council arrange a water cart three times a week. But they would charge a penny a bucket. 34 09 06

University Library big move – 34 09 06

1934 09 07
Straw and corn sacks together with a threshing drum were destroyed in a fire on Sir Frederick Hiam's Plantation Farm at Shippea Hill. The blaze was discovered by the bailiff, Mr F.W. Convine who managed to release frightened pigs and cattle from nearby buildings. The terrific heat hampered the work of pulling the stacks down and flames which shot sky-high attracted people from their beds for miles around. 34 09 07

Milton crossing smash pic, p1
Canon Burrell, Balsham wood carver – 34 09 07

1934 09 07 ES
London man posed as canvasser for photographic firm supplying enlargements 34 09 07(2)ES

Earith diviner finds water with elm twig 37 09 07(3)ES

Spectacular Alan Cobham's air pageant re-visiting Ely – large article – 34 09 07 &(2)ES

1934 09 08
Cambridge automatic telephone exchange progress – 34 09 08

1934 09 11
The new sluice and pumping station in the Middle Level at St Germans is a really wonderful piece of engineering, probably the biggest of its kind in the whole country. The drainage of the fens has resulted in a general settlement of the land which is now below the waters in the Ouse. Now there is a reinforced concrete sluice and three Gwynnes pumps driven by Crossley Premier Diesel engines to overcome the problem. 34 09 11

1934 09 12
A quantity of earth has fallen from the sides of the Kirtling parish well and filled it up to above water level. Messrs Lack of Cottenham say cleaning it out and making good the brickwork was very dangerous and they were not prepared to undertake the work. They suggested a new borehole we sunk. A 200 gallon water cart has been hired from Pamplin Bros to distribute water from the main at Wood Ditton at a cost of one penny a pail full. 34 09 12

1934 09 13
Many thrilling flying feats were seen during Sir Alan Cobban's air display at Ely. The most popular machine was the multi-engined Handley Page 'Youth of New Zealand' in which passengers, seated in comfortable chairs in a roomy saloon enjoyed the experience of soaring over the Cathedral. Flight-Lieut Godfrey Tyson flying a 'Lincock' did aerobatics at high speed while Miss Jean Meakin's wonderful demonstration of gliding was outstanding and Ivor Price made a thrilling parachute descent. As a humorous item an old battered motor cycle was pelted with 'bombs' from the air. 34 09 13

Fascists at Newmarket, p5
Rampton barn fire – 34 09 13

1934 09 14 ES
Another wonderful aviation display …
Thrills at Ely aerial display – photos 34 07 14 & (3)ES

Plantation Farm, Shippea Hill serious fire stackyard, destroyed threshing drum 34 09 14(4)ES

Wedding W.M. Lane, manager Fosters, to G.M. Ablett 34 09 14(5)ES

Stretham Parish Council; deplorable condition of streets; pump in Top Street to be dismantled; to purchase Grunty Fen allotments; manure dump in Chapel Square to be removed, catchwater in Green End should be fenced as a danger 34 09 14(5)ES

Peat digging in fens a lost craft, Swaffham Fen interview B. Bailey 34 09 14(6)ES

1934 09 15
Extensive repairs are being carried out to the roof of Great St Mary's church. Once again the cause is the death-watch beetle whose activities in the wooden beams have wrought tremendous havoc. The area around the chancel is in 'splints' with steel scaffolding but services are being held as usual. The church has only recently been cleaned and the organ renovated. One can only hope the ravages have been checked before they could cover the whole of the roof. 34 09 15

Work is in progress on the concrete approach road to Cambridge Water Company's new Softening Station on the Fulbourn Road. When it is finished consumers will get water having less than half the hardness of the present supply. 'Fur' and 'scale' in kettles will be greatly reduced and it will lather more easily with the almost complete absence of the unsightly curd which now forms. 34 09 15

From tomorrow night every built-up area in Great Britain becomes a 'Silence Zone' between 11.30 and 7am. This includes Cambridge so it will be illegal for a motorist to sound his horn. The regulations do not include any vehicle used for fire brigade, ambulance or police purposes if the observance would hinder its use. 34 09 15

1934 09 17
Consternation reigned when lightning struck two houses in Stretten Avenue, dislodging part of the chimney stack which damaged the roof. Soot was shot all over the place and there was a smell of gas. During the storm large hailstones fell in Grantchester while at Haslingfield Mr Norman Thompson's bus with a load of passengers was forced to stop when the hail beat a fusillade on the roof. 34 09 17

1934 09 19
For the first time in its 600 years' history, and probably the last, the old University Library has been thrown open to the public. Members of Cambridge Rotary Club have organised visits to the buildings, shrouded in antiquity, which have only been visible to members of the University and privileged guests. Now with all the books gone it does not present its traditional literary appearance but the wonderful carvings and decorations of some of the rooms remain. 34 09 19

1934 09 20
An inquest was held at Isleham School on a lad who had fallen into the river in the fen. To get to the scene Dr McFeeters had to travel two and a half miles of very bad fen road. "A car cannot travel down there in safety. I went on my bicycle because it was the quickest way of getting there and it took me 13 minutes. If there had been a main road I could have got there quicker and the result would have been rather different", he testified. Neighbours carried out artificial respiration until he got there but there was no sign of life. 34 09 20

1934 09 21
Messrs George Stace's new windows in his Petty Cury Arcade are absolutely the latest idea. They curve inwards to reduce reflections making the glass invisible. Spotlights inside, which can be given any colour, provide the perfect finish and one feels one has only to reach out and touch the articles. Showrooms upstairs have been reconstructed and one of the workrooms moved to make space room for the new arcade. 34 09 21

Who will give a start on his life's career to a young Goliath of Huntingdon who at the age of 14 weighs 16 stones and is still growing rapidly? Stanley Weaser is an ordinary, healthy young fellow with a zest for energetic recreation. He was fat as a baby, he has continued to be fat ever since. But he doesn't mind and feels none the worse for it. He possesses pronounced ability in sketching and would like to be trained as a newspaper cartoonist or, if not, a carpenter. 34 09 21

Histon Dr Houghton car accident – 34 09 21

1934 09 21 ES

New aerodrome for Feltwell, part of R.A.F expansion 34 09 21ES

1934 09 22
A pilot from the Klemann Air Services offered people flying trips in his blue Klemm monoplane from a field near the Gibbet Inn, Caxton. But he did not hold a proper licence to carry passengers for reward and the field was not approved as a regular place of landing and departure for aircraft. The landlord said the pilot had landed in his field and said he was looking to start a flying school. He had got permission from the owners, Paines the brewers, to put up an air indicator and applied to the Air Ministry for a licence which had not yet been granted. 34 09 22

Cambridge Rotary Club did a good piece of work when it undertook the organisation of the public visits to the old University Library. During the first three afternoons close on 3,000 people made the tour of inspection of these old buildings, previously closed to all but a favoured few. It appealed to all classes – old and young, tradespeople and artisans, clerks from University offices and school children. The old Pebble Court, the original centre of the University, was a special source of attraction and here Mr P.C. Fitzgerald fascinated continuous groups by his characteristic talks. 34 09 22

Life in the University would not be complete without humour, Ald Tweedy told a dinner. He mentioned a professor who was lecturing on a part of the world where men greatly outnumbered the women. "I believe that even the young women of Girton and Newnham would be able to find husbands there", he said. As a protest all the members of these colleges rose and turned to go out. "Wait a minute", said the Professor. "There's no hurry. The boat doesn't go till Friday". 34 09 22

Statues on Market Hill conduit named – 34 09 22

1934 09 24
The Cottage Home for Orphan Girls is a small house in Fitzwilliam Road, a part of Cambridge which is not generally seen by the population. Few people were aware of its existence. It seemed there were not many destitute children in Cambridge for the local cases were not numerous but it was open to orphans from anywhere. It was started by two undergraduates named Coote and Watney and the foundation stone had been laid in June 1871. 34 09 24

1934 09 27
Hot Bargains at the great re-building sale at the Peas Hill Cash Drapery Stores. Household linens, blankets, dress and underwear fabrics at knock-out prices including Wigan sheeting, Jaspe bedspreads, Gent's fancy socks, Ladies artificial silk knickers (slightly fleeced) and interlock woven pyjamas. From college hire, 50 pairs of single bed sheets, once used and laundered, from 3/6 each. Six dozen heavy white Turkish Towels (one used and laundered) nine-pence three-farthings each. – Advertisement. 34 09 27

For the convenience of people wishing to travel to Newmarket races by air, the Stewards of the Jockey Club have approved the laying out of a private landing ground on the exercise ground north-east of the Rowley Mile Stand. It will be open each race day. No hangars have been erected but picketing gear and chocks will be available. Petrol and oil can be obtained by arrangement with Turner and Hore, Heath Garage. Charges will be two-and-six for landing plus one-shilling a head for all occupants. 34 09 27

1934 09 28
Thousands packed the area around Mill Pool and gathered on Silver Street Bridge to watch a demonstration of the new fire engine. The most thrilling display was lifesaving by the Davey apparatus as 'victims' were lowered from the roof of the Mill Lane Examination Rooms. The only flaw in the organisation was that the spectators were not warned when the water tower was set in use with the result that many, especially women and children, had a soaking. 34 09 28

1934 09 28 ES

St Germans pumping station opening – detailed article 34 09 28 & (2)(3)ES # c.29

Crash of giant air liner that took passengers at Ely air pageant 34 09 28(4)ES

Dead fish, Adelaide Bridge 34 09 28(4)ES

More pure water for Ely Urban District? 34 09 28(5)ES

1934 09 29
St German's pumping station opened – 34 09 29

October 1934 CDN & Ely Standard

1934 10 01
Gas Light Company centenary dinner – 34 10 01
Police inspector George Abbot retires – 34 10 01
Cambridgeshire Regiment signal section reunion – 34 10 01

1934 10 02
Sir. Since the demolition of the military aerodrome at the end of the war, Newmarket has taken a back seat in aviation activities because of the possible danger of aircraft upsetting nervous racehorses. But the opening of the special landing ground on the Heath may dispel the fears of trainers. Newmarket has a bigger call for speedy air transport than most towns. Bury St Edmunds will soon become an airport, Cambridge has the advantages of a splendid flying school and there is an Aero Club at Ely. Now perhaps we may look forward to a local flying club here – Edward Milner, Heath Villa, Newmarket. 34 10 02

Histon new football stand, p6

1934 10 04
Sir – since the Eastern Counties Company bought the Cambridge bus service the wages of conductors have started at nine pence and drivers ten pence per hour. Recently pressures have increased as buses are larger than formerly and faster times demanded from drivers. But now the Company have announced restrictions of the overtime which many of the men have always worked since they are buying homes. It does not seem right that more arduous service is rewarded by lower wages – R. Pascal, Cambridge. 34 10 04

Dant's ferry bridge path widened, p5*

1934 10 05
A report on Ely sewers in 1910 showed they were badly planned and imperfectly constructed, being carried not along the roadways but behind houses and through gardens. In some instances houses have been erected immediately over sewer mains. Since then a few had been relayed. In 1885 some sewerage works were put down at Willow Walk which created a great nuisance to many people living in the area, an Inquiry was told. 34 10 05

1934 10 05 ES
Opening St Germans pumping station 37 10 05 &(2)(3)(4)(5)ES

Ministry inquiry into Ely's proposed sewerage system; history of the present system 34 10 05(6)ES

Sutton Hospital parade 34 10 05(7)ES

Fenland Research Committee – lecture by Gordon Fowler 34 10 05(7)ES

Ely Rural District application to increase water supply 34 10 05(8)ES

Ely telephone exchange 37 10 05(9)(10)ES

Marvels of modern milling at Clarke & Butcher's, Soham – detailed article 34 10 05(12)(13)(14)ES

Ely Cathedral first broadcast 34 10 05(15)ES

Soham Comrades Silver Prize Band, Crystal Palace 34 10 05(15)ES

Glimpses of Old Ely – shunting staff at station, names – photo 34 10 05(17)ES

1934 10 06
The possibility of diverting much of the heavy North Road traffic which streams almost unceasingly through the centre of Huntingdon was aired. But a by-pass was a long way off. There were too narrow roads and two dangerous corners. It was possible to use compulsory powers to widen George Street but Hartford Road corner was far more dangerous. Quite a number of pavements were smashed since many vehicles were so big they could not get round, which caused a danger to pedestrians, councillors were told. 34 10 06

The dog trough which stands outside Lloyds Bank in Victoria Road has been in position for some weeks. It was erected by His Royal Highness Prince Chula of Siam in memory of Tony, a dog which gave him friendship and happiness during his Cambridge years. The Prince 'went down' some time ago but left the money for the trough to be erected. 34 10 06

The death occurred with tragic suddenness of Archibald Marshall, the novelist, who had rooms in Panton Street. Educated at Trinity College he contributed to The Granta and then worked on newspapers. He became well-known for his novels, writing one a year. He started in 1899 with 'Peter Binney, undergraduate'. 34 10 02

Soham cemetery consecrated, p3

1934 10 08
Houghton Mill Restoration Committee was formed after they heard that the mill was either to be allowed to fall down or to be pulled down. But it would have cost more to demolish than to leave it where it was. They raised £150 but then wondered what to do and it was a miracle they should hear that the Youth Hostel Association might use it, Mr Whymper said when he unveiled the familiar 'Y.H.A.' sign on the building. Mr Chopping had been the last man to be employed grinding flour in the mill and supplied the key to visitors wishing to look over it. 34 10 08

Undergraduates' luggage, pic, p1

1934 10 09
Kneesworth bungalow fire, p1

1934 10 10
'Overture to Cambridge' had its premiere at the Festival Theatre. The play, written and produced by the Director, Joseph Gordon Macleod, exposes the pettiness of Town Gown and University. It tells of an invalided idealistic Mayor who comes to be regarded as a madman. His wife is killed in a car accident, his daughter becomes deranged and he falls to his death whilst addressing a meeting after being 'debagged' by a crowd of undergraduates. As he hovers between life and death he sees the future, with people living in the co-operative ideal which he preached. 34 10 10

Whittlesford cottage blaze, p1
Fairhaven tapestry, p2
Chesterton churchyard sheep pic, p6

1934 10 12
Trumpington churchyard had been in a deplorable condition: 17 loads of rubbish had been removed and they had burnt shrubs, bushes and ivy for four days. After clearing they had left the land fallow until the autumn when grass was set. The new churchyard was not in quite so bad a state: Ted Peters spent two days a week there and had made a transformation, a public meeting was told. 34 10 12

'The Close' in Bridge End, Saffron Walden, the timbered skeleton of a Tudor house which was recently restored to light after being hidden for 200 years has been sold. The purchaser, Sir Ralph Harwood, Deputy Treasurer to the King, wanted to buy the whole site and carry out restoration on the spot. But he could not come to terms with the ground landlord so the remaining framework will be taken down and reassembled elsewhere. He has also acquired the Monks' Barn at Newport, once used as a sanatorium. 34 10 12

There was great rejoicing among members of the Sturton Street Methodist Church at the opening of the new school hall adjoining the chapel. The building, which seats about 200 and has a fine platform and convenient ante-rooms, was beautifully decorated with flowers for the occasion. It was opened by Arthur Harding, the senior trustee, who has been associated with the church for 37 years. He hoped it would be of great service amongst young people. 34 10 12

Stretham accident, p5*

1934 10 13
The death of Willie Clarkson, the London theatrical costumier and make-up expert, recalls two of the greatest hoaxes of the century. The hero of the famous visit of the Sultan of Zanzibar to Cambridge and of the Abyssinian dignitaries to the Dreadnought was H. De Vere Cole. But he would not have escaped exposure but for Mr Clarkson's masterly make-up. He became more famous than many of the actors and actresses who he costumed and gowned during his association with the stage. 34 10 13

The Perne Road Estate. Charming modern houses from £400 freehold. Every house contains entrance hall, drawing room, kitchen, dining room, three bedrooms, bathroom, separate W.C., H. & C. Water. Room for car. Small deposit (£25). Terms from 13/2 (65p) per week. Over 40 already sold. Drivers, Estate Agents – advertisement. 34 10 13

Sir – I do not think it is right for sheep to be grazing in the old Chesterton churchyard. They are prowling all over the mounds, damaging and eating shrubs that were planted to be living monuments to loved ones. If the church council cannot afford to have the churchyard groomed, only by sheep grazing, I say to the Vicar and his flock 'Band yourselves together with sickles in your hands to make the hallowed ground look trim and neat' - Harry Pitt. 34 10 13

Cambridge trees, p1
Cambridge firemen pic, p5*

1934 10 16
Col Roscoe Turner and Clyde Pangbourn, the Americans, arrived at Mildenhall for the England to Melbourne air race. Their plane, a huge dull grey Boeing Transport, was the 15th to reach Beck Row. Another machine landed on the old aerodrome at Conington. No damage was done, the monoplane being forced down through engine trouble. The pilot was Mr Lowdell, and the 'plane has been entered by Lord Nuffield. Mechanics were at work on the machine early this morning. Competitors are to see a film of the route to Australia at Mildenhall Town Hall on Thursday. 34 10 16

F.J. Tuck, p5

1934 10 17
Godmanchester problems, p5

1934 10 18
Rock Estate Library approved – 34 10 18
Barley shop theft – 34 10 18

1934 10 19
Fred Tuck was a great performer on the concert platform. 'Funny Fred' was a comedian but also a conjurer, juggler, tumbler, raconteur and trick cyclist. His most popular character was that of an old-fashioned clown in traditional make-up. His most famous trick was to balance a burning newspaper, made into a cone, on his nose until it had practically burnt out. He would make his exit balancing a chair on his nose, or the table he had been using for his tricks, if it was not too heavy. 34 10 19

Cambridge University Department of Zoology's new building looks rather like the upper decks of some huge liner when viewed from Corn Exchange Street. It has been built of concrete and steel so that should the study of zoology ever fall in favour it can be adapted for other purposes. Inside it is possible to be perspiring in tropic heat in one moment and shivering in Artic cold the next. The Elementary Laboratory, the largest of its kind in the world, is on the ground floor so that the vibration caused by students entering and leaving should not be felt throughout the building. 34 10 19

Prince inspects planes 34 10 19, 34 10 20

1934 10 19 ES
Opening of the Hereward School, March 34 10 19(3)ES
Ely Public Room now reopened as a modern cinema 34 10 19(4)ES
Haulage licence applications 34 10 19(5)ES
Stretham & Thetford Nursing Association annual meeting 34 10 19 &(2)(ES)

1934 10 20
Mildenhall air race to Australia, p1
King's visits to Cambridge – 34 10 20

1934 10 22
Thousands greeted the King and Queen when they made their way to the new University Library. Washing and cooking alike was forgotten in hundreds of homes as women formed a great part of the crowds which were thickest in Trinity Street where undergraduates in cap and gown added to the number. Of all the wonderful products of man's skill in art and labour the Library must rank of one of the most inspiring and peculiarly permanent of our national institutions and with while clouds scudding over its lofty tower this unique building occupied the centre of a delightful scene. An exceptionally good film of the visit, taken by Gaumont especially for the Victoria Cinema will be shown next week. 34 10 22 & 25

1934 10 25
Ramsey Abbey school, p5
King's visit on screen, p5*

1934 10 26 ES
Hoard of Roman coins unearthed at Linwood Farm, March 34 10 26 &(2)ES

Regional planning in Cambridgeshire: review of valuable report 34 10 26(3)ES

England to Australia air race start – photo 37 10 26(4)ES

1934 10 27
Preservation Society on planning, p5
Cambridgeshire YHA group inaugurated, p5

1934 10 31
Rotarians backed plans for the establishment of a Cambridge Folk Museum where objects of historic interest could be preserved for future generations. The growth of centralised industry was flooding the countryside with machine-made goods superseding those produced locally. There were many toys such as hoops, whip-tops, marbles and bar-and-trap which were being discarded that should find a place there, Coun. E.S. Peck said. 34 10 31

Wicken bus, p2
Peace ballot, p5
Scientists and war, p5

November 1934 CDN & Ely Standard

1934 11 02
Branch Cut bridge at Padnal was originally constructed by the South Level Commissioners in 1827 and kept in repair until recently. A little while ago it collapsed and was now barely passable even for foot passengers whereas in the past it had always been maintained for wheeled traffic. It was a great benefit to all engaged in farming in the area between Littleport and Ely and its present condition was a scandal, councillors were told. 34 11 02 & a

Suicide Douglas Gavin Reid. 34 11 02b, 34 11 03, 34 11 12
Cambridgeshire typhoid danger: wells that may get polluted. 34 11 02c & d

1934 11 02 ES
Littleport & Downham Commissioners; possibility of heavy expenditure at Ten Mike Bank pumping station where 22-year-old boilers becoming worse for wear 34 11 02ES # c.29

1934 11 03
The Cambridge Social Club, all that survived of the old Liberal Club in Downing Street, has been wound up. It moved to Market Passage and for the last five years old party labels have gone by the board. Each year it has been difficult making ends meet but happily the club finished up free from debt. The Ranjitsinhji Billiards Bowl has been offered to the Central Conservative Club and the portrait of its donor to the Hobbs' Pavilion. 34 11 03a

Hardwick village hall, p3

1934 11 05
Alex Spalding's Mayoral year of office reviewed. 34 11 05 & a

1934 11 06
Cambridge saw one of the most riotous celebrations of the 'Fifth' for many years. In the course of demonstrations around Market Hill nearly 40 arrests were made, many of the police lost their helmets, several more had their tunics ripped right down the back and not a few sustained split knuckles and bruises. When supplies of fireworks began to run low parties of undergraduates attempted to put out every light but carried their efforts too far and smashed the glass of two shop windows and the traffic signal at the top of Petty Cury. There were 35 defendants including seven for assaults on the police, three for resisting the police a number for obstructing the police. Other summonses were for extinguishing street lamps and throwing fireworks. A Trinity undergraduate was fined for 'tipping' a policeman's helmet. Several times during the hearing there were outbursts of laughter. 34 11 06a & b

1934 11 07
The All People's Association Cambridge clubhouse was opened by the Vice Chancellor. One of the chief functions of a university was to attract people of all kinds and nations. There were a large number of foreign students here for short periods and colleges made the position rather difficult for a young man brought up in a different tradition. The A.P.A. was doing good work by taking a special interest in the short-term student. The world had gone mad: it was depressing to find principles of liberty of speech and the freedom of the press going by the board. The next 20 years were going to be the most vital in the history of humanity and we must make a serious attempt to understand the other fellow's point of view. 34 11 07 & a Bus and lorry collide, Hills Road – pic – 34 11 07b

1934 11 08
Dufay film Sawston factory lecture – 34 11 08

1934 11 09
Alderman Ralph Starr Mayor – profile – 34 11 09 & a & b

1934 11 09 ES
Soham shops assessment, improvements, demolitions 34 11 09ES

1934 11 10
Poppy Day collectors had to contend with a dismal downpour of rain. But a large crowd gathered on Senate House Hill to await the arrival of a self-styled 'Hitler' who was due to open the Caius Fun Fair. When he did come, by car, he brought a procession of about a dozen cars in his wake, all containing weird and wonderful characters. The obstinate mule, which last year lay down in the road and refused to get up until tempted by a coin, was less obstinate on the present occasion, for the wet and muddy road was hardly a pleasant bed. 34 11 10 & a

1934 11 12
Several hundred people joined in a peace meeting on Parker's Piece organised by the Cambridge Anti-War Council and the University Anti-War Movement before marching in a torchlight procession to the War Memorial. The procession, some 300 strong began their march along Mill Road, increasing in size as it went along. But they missed the turning into Tenison Road and crossed Mill Road Bridge before winding its way round the back streets to the War Memorial. They laid a wreath 'To those of all countries who fell in the last war from those who are pledged to prevent another'. 34 11 12c

Until recently it was customary for some of the Cambridge Corporation documents to be in the private possession of the town clerk. When Thomas Yorke died in 1756 he had a large quantity of treasurer's accounts in his possession. His executor put them into a chest in St Michael's Church for safe keeping, but then he died and nobody claimed them. They did not belong to the parish and when space was wanted the clerk was authorised to sell them as waste paper. John Bowtell, the University bookbinder, bought the whole lot, Dr Palmer told the Women's Luncheon Club. They were now preserved in Downing College. 34 11 12a & b

Wesley Church memorial Cambridge Brotherhood WWI 34 11 12d
Sidelights post, p8

1934 11 15
Pedestrian crossings, p6

1934 11 16
The new Scott Polar Research Institute was opened by the Chancellor of the University, the Rt Hon Stanley Baldwin. It was founded as a memorial of Capt Robert Falcon Scott to assist polar exploration by collecting information and providing a centre where those contemplating future explorations can profit by the experience of those who have gone before. Later Baldwin opened the new extensions of the Perse School buildings. 34 11 16a

Road vibration caused by heavy traffic near Ely Cathedral could be eliminated by means of wood paving, a meeting was told. They had considered constructing a new road to divert traffic away but so many buildings might have to be swept away that the cost would be tremendous. The widening of the road near the cathedral had also been considered but would not be worth the tremendous amount of money required. 34 11 16b

1934 11 16 ES
Soham church thefts 34 11 16(3)ES

1934 11 17
Sensational revelations concerning Germany's war plans were made at a meeting in Cambridge Guildhall. Speaking to the University League of Nations Union, Mr Wickham Steed, a former editor of The Times, said they had imported enough arsenic ore to make poison gas sufficient to swamp Europe twice over. The next war is likely to come without warning and many be commenced by an overwhelming night attack. General Goering, at the Nazi Air Ministry has built 85 underground aerodromes this year and had at least 2,000 aeroplanes, he claimed. 34 11 17 & a

Oliver Cromwell's hat is to stay in Cambridge. When put up for auction last April it was withdrawn at £25. But now it has been purchased by Mr E. Rutter of Ye Olde Curiosity Shop and Museum, Trumpington Street. The hat has a very large flat brim and tapering crown. It has been handed down through several generations of the Constable family who ran a very old established hat maker's business where Cromwell left the hat when he was up at Sidney Sussex College. It will be placed alongside other Cromwell relics including his gauntlet gloves and spectacles. 34 11 17c

Perse School extensions opened by Stanley Baldwin – 34 11 17b

1934 11 20
Ely Hospital of St Mary Magdalene stone from Etheldreda Abbey – 34 11 20 & a

1934 11 23 ES
Sedge Fen tragedy, Chivers Factory 34 11 23(2)ES

Fire above Cass & Co garage, Ely 34 11 23(2)ES

Haddenham buys March's old steam fire engine – photo 34 11 23(4)ES

1934 11 24
The old-established business of Messrs Robert Sayle has been acquired by Selfridge's Provincial Stores but the name remains, the General Manager remains and the staff remains – "I like the look of them and the merchandise is tastefully displayed", said H.G. Selfridge, junior. He studied at Trinity and was treasure of the Boat Club Ball in 1920-21 when it was held for the first time in a marquee at the college, instead of in the Corn Exchange. 34 11 24

"This is the first time in history that a water company has of its own free will undertaken the softening of its supply", the Chairman of the Cambridge Waterworks Company said at the laying the foundation stone of its new water-softening station on Fulbourn Road. Cambridge water is abundant and pure but being drawn from a chalk formation is of necessity hard in quality. A considerable number of private water-softening plants have been installed but these will soon not be worth their salt and people should ignore the blandishment of salesmen. 34 11 24b

There have never been more than 15 Japanese undergraduates at Cambridge in any year since the war – there are currently seven and the number may drop to three. But Mr M.Y. Sawatake is prepared to stay on to form a Japan Society to encourage discussion and understanding of topics of mutual interest. Viscount Hijikato, another undergraduate, said it was a pity the added expense of the exchange rate prevented more coming as undergraduates. The supply will not dry up altogether as long as Cambridge welcomed Japanese students: apart from instruction in economics and the sciences it was the atmosphere that the Japanese valued. 34 11 24c

1934 11 26
Fire broke out at the White House, Great Chesterford where the chauffeur, named Plumb, was in the garage attending to a Sunbeam car. When the engine was started it back-fired and the vehicle was enveloped in flames which spread to the corrugated-iron garage which was destroyed. Firemen obtained water from a large pond near the house. There were goldfish in the pond but the obstructing appliance on the hose prevented them from being sucked through the pipe. 34 11 26

1934 11 27
Two local railwaymen died when the Cambridge to Liverpool Street passenger train struck a lorry on a level crossing near Broxbourne. The train consisted of a locomotive, tender and six coaches, two of which completely overturned. The engine fell upside down but its fire was still burning three hours later. Other coaches came to rest lying at all angles and passengers had remarkable escapes. 34 11 27 & a

1934 11 28
Old University Library tenders to adapt – 34 11 28

1934 11 29
Many Cambridge people listened to the Royal Wedding of the Duke of Kent and Princess Marina by medium of the wireless. Some of those without a set hired one for the occasion. A CDN report who listened to the broadcast in a car was able to hear every word of the ceremony as microphones followed the progress of the two lovers inside the Abbey. The sweet singing of the choir and the pealing of the organ mingled into one glorious harmony. Then millions of listeners in cottage and mansion, in office and home heard the royal lovers plight their troth – and heard the voice of the beautiful Princess Marina for the first time. 34 11 29 & a

An inquiry heard that in 1835 Cambridge was divided into five wards with 30 councillors and ten aldermen. This continued till 1889 when the University were given representation. Further changes came in 1909 and 1911 but the council was now a little unwieldy and numbers should be reduced. However the University representation would be unchanged. 34 11 29b

1934 11 30 ES
Ely Service Motor Co enlargement of garages for 100 cars - photo 34 11 30(2)ES

December 1934 CDN & Ely Standard

1934 12 04
Lord Rutherford presided at the first meeting of Cambridge University Democratic Movement. There is a great fear of the power of military aeroplanes making a sudden and devastating attack on defenceless cities involving the destruction of combatant and civilian alike. Air warfare of any kind should be abolished, he urged. Vyvian Adams praised his work at the Cavendish Laboratory. None could hope to isolate himself from the surrounding dangers. The question was did we want human development or human destruction by scientific means. 34 12 04

1934 12 05
Lord Buckmaster, p1
Kirtling water, p7

1934 12 06
The Sanitary Inspector had examined a number of private wells in Swaffham Prior and found the amount of water in some of them was very small and repairs were needed in a variety of cases. It was recommended that in the event of the council not deciding to provide the village with a piped supply of water that two wells be sunk, one near the Cock Inn and one near Station Road. 34 12 06

1934 12 07
Barratt shoes have just opened their 126th branch at 6 Market Street Cambridge. When you consider that ten years ago they had fewer than 20 you must allow that they'd progressed. Some of the lines are stocked in no fewer than fifty alternative fittings. They are made in Barratt's own factory and sold only through their branches. From start to finish every detail is under their control and there are no middleman's profits – advert. 34 12 07

The Lineoleum and Floor-Cloth Manufacturer's Association wrote to Ely council after they had given council house tenants notice to quit for breaking their rules that at least six inches must be left between the skirting board and the outer edge of linoleum on the ground floor. Research suggests that the problem of dry rot was one of floor construction and not the floor covering used. They hoped the council would withdraw such restrictive regulations in regard to the use of such an inexpensive and hygienic product. The council decided to take no action. 34 12 07a

1934 12 07 ES
Sutton collapse of frontage wall and roof of row of cottages known as 'The Barracks' 34 12 07(4)ES
Isle Clerk C.E.F. Copeman to retire 34 12 07ES

1934 12 09
County Council plans to erect a new Poor Law Institution at Doddington were condemned by Ely Ratepayers who would to fight to the last to preserve the Tower House as the Ely Institution. It was wicked to take old people to a different district and expect their friends to visit them at some expense. Where men and women had lived together for fifty or sixty years it was a scandal that the men should have to go one way and the women another. 34 12 09

Every conceivable article suitable for Christmas presents can be obtained here in Cambridge. The difficulty is to make a choice among the many tempting articles displayed in the windows and showrooms. Cream machines, Pyrex dishes and hearth furniture are a few of the household articles to be seen at Messrs Macintosh's showrooms along with watches, electric torches and bathroom fittings – an endless choice of useful and ornamental presents. The younger generation will revel in the display of Hornby trains, the ever-popular Meccano or the children's bicycles. 34 12 09

In George Stace's new showrooms Christmas shoppers can choose gifts for the womenfolk in comfort. A splendid stock of furs, dresses, gloves and handkerchiefs may be found. The Rycroft Rubber Company have tempting lines in stockings in either the silk or fish-net styles together with some very diverting surprises in the way of Christmas jokes while hot water bottles are a very acceptable gift. Legerton's well-stocked establishment offers a comprehensive range of children's wear, from the tiny tot upwards. Hosiery and underwear are featured in great variety together with jumpers and house coats. 34 12 09a

Owen Webb told a meeting of agriculturalists that there was a great future for young men in farming. The industry would require more labour in the future. With our exports declining it would be more necessary to produce more from mother earth in these islands. There would be a tendency to move certain factories into the agricultural areas which would make a lot of employment and bring general prosperity to the countryside. 34 12 09 b & c

1934 12 11
A young airman who set out from Marshall's aerodrome ended his flight in the River Thames which he chose as a landing-place in order to save his own life and those of many Londoners after he had nearly run out of petrol. He had landed at Cambridge in his Moth aeroplane but did not fill up with petrol then ran into fog on his journey home and got lost. To land on the Thames was the best thing he could have done, for a Moth tearing down a street at 50 miles per hour does not give people walking there much chance of escaping injury. His machine floated and he was taken off by tug. 34 12 11

1934 12 21 ES
Soham Mere estate not to be internal drainage district 34 12 21(3)ES

Glimpses – old photo of Daimler motor car used to convey people from Sutton to Ely by H.L. Drake of Sutton 34 12 21ES

1934 12 13
CDN van accident, p1*

1934 12 14
Complaints about the nuisance caused by the sounding of church clocks at night promoted councillors to write to the authorities of Great St Mary's and the Catholic Church to consider silencing them between 11pm and 6 a.m., with the exception of New Year's Eve. Councillor Papworth said it was a trifling complaint from one lady; he had been assured by residents that they were music to their ears. But Councillor Stubbs said the chimes were not very beautiful when people wanted to go to sleep and tended to keep patients at Addenbrooke's Hospital awake. 34 12 14

1934 12 15
Members of the Beaconsfield Club celebrated 50 years of work in the social and political life of Cambridge. It was opened in November 1888 and with its members unswervingly loyal to the Conservative cause the club stood as a bulwark against the inroads of socialism. While there were clubs like this the political destiny of the constituency was in safe hands. The Magpies Concert Party gave an excellent entertainment, this chorus song to personalities of the club being particularly popular. 34 12 15

Littleport Parish Council considered fitting their fire engine with pneumatic tyres. The wheels had been on the engine for 70 years and might have dry rot, all the wheels creaked and might break at any time. The men were afraid of them. In any case they would be compelled to have rubber tyres in 1939. The fire box was only seven inches from the ground and it would be no good on some of the fen roads. They could ask the Ely Fire Brigade how much they would charge to attend the fen fires, and scrap the engine. 34 12 15a

1934 12 17
Arthur Colin Lunn was born over his tobacconist's shop premises in Bridge Street in 1896 and assumed control of his father's business founded nearly a century ago. His brother carried on the same trade in Oxford. When the business was turned into a limited liability company seven years ago he became governing director. Although one of the best-known business men in Cambridge he did not take a prominent part in either public or social life. 34 12 17

Merchants at Cambridge Corn Exchange traditionally end the year by throwing about samples of their wares. The signal for the commencement of the battle was the explosion of a cracker near the door. The 'firer' was immediately bombarded and soon covered with flour, wheat and artificial manure. Crackers banged merrily, bags burst with marked effect and very soon all the dignified corn-merchants were life-like imitations of snowmen. Even the rather grim-looking statue of Jonas Webb looked comical with the flour-bag headgear that was placed on it. After 30 minutes the ammunition ran out and combat ceased, though the debris-covered floor was witness of the fight that had been in progress. 34 12 17a

1934 12 20

Cambridge and March continue to spread out along the main thoroughfares and 'ribbon development' has already disfigured roads in Quy, Girton, Harston and Chatteris. The County Council is primarily a road authority and its objection is from the traffic standpoint rather than from the aesthetic point of view. To retain the beauty of the countryside frontage control much be applied to all roads, the Cambridge Council for the Preservation of Rural England urged. 34 12 20

Traffic Commissioners considered bus services between Ely and Littleport, Little Ouse and Shippea Hill. The LNER said that railway traffic to Littleport had showed a marked decrease with 4,000 passengers being lost to road competition in the last few years. But Mr Bert Washington said his bus services were practically identical with those he operated in 1930, though there were some unauthorised journeys not at the agreed times. 34 12 20b

When a foreman railway porter reported a burglary at Warboys station little did he realise it would lead to the apprehension of his wife on a charge of stealing money from the office. Although the station was closed during the weekend it was the practice to leave money there. Police found a window had been broken but it was discovered the office could only have been entered by somebody with a key. The porter sat in the court at Ramsey while the woman tearfully confessed to taking two ten-shilling notes, two half-crowns and a penny. She was bound over to be of good behaviour. 34 12 20c

Flourishing New Museums, p5*

1934 12 21
F.C. Salmon, an Essex farmer, told the Licensing Authority he had reduced his team of eight or nine horses to five and wanted two lorries to carry on his haulage contracting on a modern basis. But unless he could show work was not taken away from other hauliers his chance of being licensed for two vehicles was very remote. He was allowed one vehicle, restricted to a radius of ten miles as they had never heard of a horse going 15 miles out and back on a job. But Mr Salmon said he had known a horse do 65 miles in a day. "Was it a racehorse", he was asked? (Laughter). 34 12 21

1934 12 22
All records connected with Pye Radio dances were broken when over 600 attended the annual Christmas ball at the Dorothy. Practically everybody knew everybody else and consequently the crowd was a thoroughly cheerful and merry throng. Not one glum face was to be seen either in the ballroom or the bar. Fancy hats and novelties added greatly to the carnival gaiety and the Percy Cowell and the Pyradians bands rose to the occasion in a lively manner. 34 12 22

1934 12 24
W.F. Thompson, p5*

1934 12 28
William Sindall was one of the most prominent of Cambridge business men. Born at Isleham he served his apprenticeship and established the well-known building firm 60 years ago. It has erected many University and college buildings besides undertaking a number of other important contracts. A councillor and Alderman, Mr Sindall was director of the Waterworks Company and the Cambridge Chronicle. He was also associated with the arts and crafts side of the Cambridgeshire Technical School. 34 12 28a

Cambridge abduction charge, p5

1934 12 31
Charles Gent, who has died aged 80, was one of the oldest newspaper men in the country. Half his life was spent in the service of the Cambridge Daily News which he joined about 18 months after it was started in 1888. He did sterling work as advertising manager and was well respected until his retirement. As a youth he had started in the 'Sherborne Journal' and at the age of 21 was appointed editor and publisher of the ‘Poole Telegram’, a paper run specially in the interest of the local Liberal candidate. When the Cambridge Association of West Country folk was formed, he became one of the first members. 34 12 31

Please make what use of this you may. Kindly remember where it came from – www.mikepetty.org.uk

1935 Cambridge Daily News & Cambridge Standard from March

I have copies of these articles
Add Ely Standard stories

1935 January CDN

1935 01 01
Coldham's Lane estate plan – 35 01 01

1935 01 02
Water scheme, Haddenham – 35 01 02
Guildhall – architect's drawing – 35 01 02 # c.35.7

1935 01 04
Ely isolation hospital, p3*

1935 01 05
Two vehicles, one belonging to a haulage contractor from Oxlode and the other a van owned by a Terrington firm, came into collision at the corner of Nutholt Lane, Ely. The door of the general stores owned by H. Cowley was shattered with the wheels of the beet lorry on the door steps and straddling the radiator of the van. Joseph Stone, an elderly pedestrian, formerly a night watchman at Ely Cathedral, was struck and had his foot almost severed. He was lifted on a stretcher over the radiators of the lorries and placed in the Ely ambulance 35 01 05

Albert Chevalier Cambridge visit recalled – 35 01 05a

1935 01 07
Sir Alfred James Ewing of Herschel Road, Cambridge, was the brains behind the famous 'Room 40'. When the Great War began he was asked to undertake the task of collecting and deciphering enemy messages. Numerous listening stations were set up on the East coast at which enemy fleet signals and other wireless messages were received. From December 1914 the German Fleet made no movement which was not known in advance. The work was probably the best-kept secret of the war and the full story has never been told for he was refused permission to deal with it in his reminiscences 35 01 07a & b # c.45.5

W.E. Lane, Zoological Laboratory death – 35 01 07

1935 01 08
Filming boat race crew – photo - 35 01 08

1935 01 09
Ely's new unemployment centre opened at the old Angel works. Many were in seasonal occupations: one did not pick potatoes and plums or squash sugar out of beet every day of the year. People should be employed all the time, not necessarily upon wage-earning work. It was a demoralising thing to have nothing to do and here men could discover good music, good literature and good occupations. It was not just a place of warmth and shelter. 35 01 09 & a

1935 01 10
Who can claim the greatest number of living descendants? J. Haynes of Thoday Street says: "I am 80 and have eight children living. There are 37 grandchildren and 19 great grandchildren. My eldest daughter is 39 and the youngest great grandchild 14". Miss K. Brand of Gloucester Street says "My grandmother (87) has had 12 children; there are 62 grandchildren, 62 great grandchildren and three great-great grandchildren. 35 01 10 # c.31

Eastern Counties Omnibus Company said that following complaints about people being crowded off the buses they will increase services to Histon from 20 to 39 journeys a day on weekdays, with 43 on Saturdays and 18 on Sundays. This may be too much but they hope the traffic will warrant it. They were also given permission to run buses on race days between Warren Hill Station and Newmarket racecourse; hitherto only the LNER had been authorised to operate the buses on hire. But A.E. Nicholls of Clare was refused a licence to run a new Sunday service of four journeys between Clare and Haverhill. 35 01 10a

Since Colonel C.E. Copeman was appointed Clerk of the Isle of Ely County Council in 1907 the duties had increased considerably. At that time they had a staff of three: the Colonel, Mrs Williamson and a boy. Now there were nearly 80. At first there was no County Hall, the meetings were held in the Temperance Hall and they had a small room in the top of his office in Wisbech. He had been successful in keeping the Council out of legal entanglements: there had been many occasions when they were on the brink but by his advice they had escaped great legal difficulties. He hoped the Council would continue good things such as smallholdings and avoid anything of a harebrained character involving the expenditure of thousands of pounds. 35 01 10c & d

More buses for Histon – 35 01 10b

1935 01 11
At Buckden Towers Prince Alexander Graigevitch, grandson of the Russian Emperor Alexander II, laid a foundation stone in the Great Chamber to the memory of Catherine, first consort of Henry VIII, who once resided there. It was part of the restoration scheme being carried out by R.H. Edleston. Tea was taken and an iced cake bearing the colours of Russian royalists was cut with a sword that had belonged to Napoleon. 35 01 11

1935 01 12
We felt customers would like to know something about our dairy. Our cows graze on our fields at Chesterton, Trumpington, Cherry Hinton and Shelford Bottom, the finest pasture in the county. They are thoroughly groomed and their udders washed before being milked using electrical apparatus at our Abbey Street premises. The milk is cooled and bottled without being touched by hand, then kept in a cold storage chamber before delivery. The cream is separated daily. We guarantee early delivery twice daily to all parts of town. Arnold Brothers (established over 75 years), Abbey Street, Cambridge –advertisement. 35 01 12a & b # c.27

Nonagenarian Richard Chapman was born at Swaffham Prior and started work before he was seven, scaring crows and rooks off land for a shilling a week. He never went to a day school but obtained his knowledge from a night school he attended when 18 years of age. He was leader of the choir at Reach Congregational Church in which he used to lay the concert flute before they had an organ. He has been engaged in agricultural work, fossil digging and as a peat master, employing men cutting peat in Swaffham Prior Fen for use as fuel. During the war this peat was also used in homes as a preventative against influenza. 35 01 12c

The East Anglian Electricity Supply Company discussed supplying West Row, Beck Row and Kenny Hill with current. They would put in three lighting points and one power point into houses for £3 per annum which would allow 120 units to be used during the year. Their high tension lines were being brought within easy carrying distance and residents are barred from getting any other source of supply About 80 per cent of West Row residents said they would take the supply but the Company was not satisfied it was an economic proposition and wanted a guarantee of £750 annual revenue. 35 01 12d

ADC, p6*

1935 01 14
Saffron Walden market was the most important in the area, combining cattle and corn and it would ruin the town if it closed. Farmers would be compelled to send their cattle to Cambridge, Bishop's

Stortford and Braintree. It had been nearly lost under new Government provisions – an order for closure was actually made, but had since been rescinded. If their M.P. was any good he would move heaven and earth to save it, councillors felt. 35 01 14 & a

1935 01 15
When the Haverhill Co-operative Society was founded in April 1882 it opened as a retail store in a cottage in Peas Hill Slade. Stephen Webb was placed in charge, a post he occupied for the next half-century. In June 1933 he retired as manager of the grocery department which by then had developed into a very large concern and was presented with a gold watch and chain. He was also agent for the Co-operative Building Society and undertook the duties of special constable during the war. At his death, aged 72, he was much respected in the district. 35 01 15

The oldest inhabitant of Cambridgeshire must be Mrs Priscilla Byford of Stetchworth who recently celebrated her 103rd birthday. She is still possessed of good hearing and until ten years ago could thread a needle without glasses! She is very strict that no foreign meat shall be included in her diet. In her younger days she always drank beer for breakfast but 'sad to say the stuff is not what it used to be and is not pure enough for her consumption'. For many years she ran the Chevington village school and has received telegrams from her pupils, one of whom was 80 years of age 35 01 15

L.B. Carter the young amateur skater and cyclist of Over is proceeding to Switzerland for a fortnight's training, followed by competition as a representative of Great Britain in some international matches at Davos where all the finest speed skaters do their training. The International Ice Hockey Association is sending a team and wanted some speed skaters to join the party. The Fen Committee first approached C.W. Horn, who is in a class by himself. He was unable to accept at such short notice but Messrs Chivers allowed Carter time off work to attend. 35 01 15a

1935 01 17
The new A.D.C. Theatre in Park Street was opened by Miss Ellaline Terriss replacing the one destroyed by fire 14 months ago. It was a wonder it had not burnt down every time the stage was used years ago, as there was no fire-proof curtain, the theatre was lit entirely by gas and the proscenium made of painted canvas stretched on wood batons, reminisced E. Mellish Clark 35 01 17

January sales, Cambridge – 35 01 17a

1935 01 18
The Ministry of Transport did not appreciate the heavy traffic passing through Ely carrying agricultural produce, Colonel Archer told councillors. Traffic lights should be installed at both the Lamb and Nutholt Lane corners. The County Council had recognised the need for a bridge at Chettisham railway crossing, the main artery from London to King's Lynn docks, but a "flying bridge" was also needed at Queen Adelaide where the fire brigade and medical men were often held up and heavy beet traffic was hindered and disorganised at the three pairs of crossing gates. 35 01 18b & c

Huntingdon High street improvement – 35 01 18a
Poultry packers, p3

1935 01 19
On one of the finest main roads of Cambridge has arisen a new garage that has been named 'Riley House'. No hastily conceived building this with its rows of pumps and oil cans bedecked in signs and colours. Here is a garage of dignity and restraint, logical in planning and design, fitted to be the new local headquarters of 'the Finest Light Car in the World'. Here one can fill up with petrol completely under cover while the workshop is equipped with the latest pressure greasing plant. Tom Cox Motor Co., Chesterton Road, Cambridge – Advert 35 01 19 # c.26.48

Guests came to the University Zoological Department to inspect the new Balfour and Newton Libraries. Francis Maitland Balfour, who was killed in the Alps in 1882, started the science of embryology. He became one of the most distinguished biologists of his century, founding the finest zoological laboratories in the world. Prof Alfred Newton gave the University his unique collection of very early ornithological books. The honorary Librarian is Mr Ambrose Harding of Madingley, an authority on birds and leeches 35 01 19a # c.36.9

1935 01 22
Fire destroyed the Evelyn White drapery shop in Fitzroy Street shop and the owner and his wife escaped in their nightclothes, with only a coat thrown over them. All that remains is a tangled mass of debris, blackened and ruin by the flames. Here and there the remnants of a dress could be recognised but everything was burnt beyond repair. Flames also threatened Norman Bradley's shop next door: the thin dividing wall was scorching and might have flared up at any moment. Firemen were kept fully occupied in keeping smouldering materials from catching again and were badly hampered through the insulation having been burnt off the electric light wires, several received electric shocks before it was decided to have the current cut off at the main. 35 01 22 # c.34.75

We have to report the death of Miss L.M. Brooks of Oxford Road, portress of Newnham College since 1924. She served the college with devotion and made herself respected and loved by successions of students, Fellows and staff alike. Her unfailing courtesy and interest, and the joy in life which was evident in her, won everybody's affection. She kept in touch with old students in remote parts of the world and remembered everyone who came back. The college has suffered a great loss by the removal of so charming and gracious a personality. 35 01 22a

Mepal gravel pit tragedy – 35 01 22b & c

1935 01 23
Her Majesty, Queen Mary, paid a surprise visit to Cambridge to purchase some antiques for her collection. So informal was the visit that even the police were not told she was coming and did not know she was in the town until her car was recognised. Officers then proceeded to Stanley Woolston's antique shop in St Andrew's Street where there was soon a crowd of about 1,000 people. Motor cars parked nearby were removed and for some time bewildered drivers were inquiring the whereabouts of their vehicles. The Queen visiting all 16 rooms and bought a number of choice specimens of china, glass a furniture which were placed gently in her car. 35 01 23a

Busmen's dispute with Eastern Counties – 35 01 23b
Witch's hand sold – cures diseases – 35 01 23f

1935 01 26
Sir – The Mill Road footbridge over the railway line was opened to the public on Monday August 3rd 1889. I was the last one to take the keys of the gates to the station – William Nelson. Sir - The iron footbridge over the railway on Mill Road had wooden steps and gave access to the open fields beyond it. In fact, so countrified was the area that when the Royal Standard was built it was known as 'Apthorpe's Folly' from William Apthorpe the brewer who built it. The bridge now stands on Coldham Common where it spans the Newmarket Line – H.D.C. 35 01 26

1935 01 28
Cambridge goes white – snow complaints – 35 01 28

1935 01 29
An Eastern Counties omnibus had a narrow escape from crashing over Fen Ditton bridge onto the line below. The bus was travelling up the hill towards Fen Ditton when it came into collision with a private motor car, swung round and ended with the front part over the embankment. Neither the driver of the bus, Mr J. Pitchers, or the driver of the car were hurt 35 01 29

1935 01 30
Snow plough Grange Road photo – 35 01 28, tipped into river – 35 01 30

1935 01 31
Gypsy Moth forced landing field Long Road – photo – 35 01 31
New street proposed from Downing St towards Sidney St – 35 01 31a
King's college chapel candelabra dedicated – 35 01 31b

1935 February CDN

1935 02 01
County Arms, Castle St opens – 35 02 01
Coldham's Lane estate, p6

1935 02 02
In the gale of January 26th an ancient and somewhat decrepit sycamore in the Sidney Sussex College Fellows' Garden was blown down. This tree was the last survivor of an avenue of sycamores planted in 1607-8 along the east side of that part of the King's Ditch which crossed the college grounds from the end of Hobson Street to Jesus Lane and thence along the side of Park Street. In the college accounts are payments to Thomas Hobson, the carrier, 'for bringing the sycamore trees from London … iiis. xd' 35 02 02 # c.18

1935 02 05
Clayhithe toll bridge photo – 35 02 05

1935 02 06
The new additions to the County School for Boys were opened by Lord Rutherford and many heads of colleges were amongst those present. The new wing includes a large Assembly Hall which will be used as a gymnasium, an art room and a classroom. Over the existing workshops another storey has been built, giving a new chemistry laboratory. The court outside will be turfed and if anybody feels disposed to offer a fountain then the County Council would pay the extra water rate for playing it on very special occasions. 35 02 06 & a

1935 02 07
Toft flooding picture – 35 02 07

1935 02 09
Huntingdon Medical Office listed 50 properties to be considered for demolition under section 19 of the 1930 Housing Act. They include houses in Royal Oak Passage, Oliver's Court, St Germain Street, Woodward's Court, Castle Hill Court, Sayer's Court, Nevitt's cottages and St Thomas' Court. Another 48 are to be dealt with under section 17 including two in Herbert's Yard, seven in Sweeting's Court and one in Manchester Place. Notices will be sent out and the council would hear objections from the owners 35 02 09

1935 02 11
One of the most remarkable re-unions on record has been enacted in a tiny cottage at Home End, Fulbourn when a man who had been reported 'missing' after the Armistice came face to face with his wife who had long thought him dead. They were married at Burrough Green in 1900 and he enlisted in the Army Ordnance Corps before being posted to India. Still suffering from loss of memory, he is unable to give an account of his movements since the war. It was a great shock for his wife when he stood on the doorstep as she had believed him dead for about 17 years. Now she has notified the Post Office regarding the widow's pension she has been receiving. 35 02 11 his name: William Edwards

At Trinity Hall porters were busy pulling down a motley assortment of bedroom and bathroom utensils which had mysterious appeared on the roof and pinnacles of the college. Water jugs, tied to the roof with gay scarves, formed a large part of the amateur decorators' efforts, but even an armchair somehow got on to the roof and caused no small trouble in getting in down. The college say it was 'just a bit of sport' and have not discovered the identity of the persons responsible 35 02 11a

1935 02 16
W.C. Squires exhibition – 35 02 16

1935 02 17
Coldham's Common being levelled – photo – 35 02 17

1935 02 18
Starr reminiscences as volunteer & memories Cambridgeshire Rgt WWI – 35 02 18 & a

1932 02 19
A serious fire was averted at Gentleman's Farm, Chrishall when it was found that a large beam in the living room chimney had practically burned away and was starting to burn through the wall. It was brought under control with the aid of a bucket pump. The farm is surrounded by thatched buildings, and with the high wind, extensive damage would have been done had the outbreak not been dealt with. This burning question: Why not insure against fire with the Norwich Union Fire Office, St Andrew's Street, Cambridge. Quotations submitted without obligation. 35 02 19a

Long Road level crossing gate photo – 35 02 19

1935 02 20
It was time something was done about St Luke's School. The headmistress had a class of 54 in a large room divided only by a curtain from another class of 50. It was very trying for the teachers and not very satisfactory for the children. Putting another teacher into the room would not be much use. Romsey Council School also had large classes but to move one upstairs would be difficult: the natural lighting and ventilation was poor and there was insufficient head room. The head would prefer to have eight classes under normal conditions than take a class in an attic, councillors were told. 35 02 20b

Rail trip, p5

1935 02 21
Contractors had started pumping at the East Hatley borehole. The yield was 200 gallons of water an hour with the engine, which meant about five gallons a minute by hand. The Sanitary Inspector had tried the pump himself and found it took about five minutes to get the water up. Once that was done there was a good supply. The contractors had changed the fittings slightly but given a satisfactory explanation, he told councillors. However members insisted the original specifications must be adhered to, even if it meant putting up a new pump. 35 02 21a

Harry Williams, builder obit – 35 02 21c
Hugh Dalton on fascism – 35 02 21

1935 02 22
A businessman told the bankruptcy court that he had worked in Nigeria for five years, then gone into partnership in a house decorating business in Linton. He put in £550 but lost it all. He afterwards went into the garage business but that also was a failure and he lost all his money. He sunk the whole of his capital in the two businesses. He appeared to have no practical knowledge of either business which was at the bottom of the trouble. 35 02 22

Cambridge Ideal Homes Ltd laid the first brick on the Cromwell Park Estate on 16th February 1934 and now 128 houses were built or under construction – one third of the total houses built in Cambridge during that period. Builders Johnson Bailey and road contractors Lavender & Bateman had worked whole-heartedly to assist the scheme. The low prices they charged meant houses had got to be sold as soon as they were built, bringing them within the reach of the ordinary working man. But there are still 900 people on Council house waiting lists. 35 02 22a

Royston Gas Company has had a successful year's trading. They had opened a new showroom in the High Street giving greater facilities for the display of lighting, cooking and heating appliances and installed 77 cookers, 23 gas fires and 18 geysers, coppers and radiators for clients. But they lost the contract for street lighting although their tender was substantially less than that for electric lighting. They had no records of the formation of the Company but had a notice sent out in 1836 so knew they were about 100 years old. 35 02 22f & g

A feather bed caught fire in Cambridge. It was being aired in front of the fire in the sitting-room of a house in Mill Road, occupied by Mrs Wilkins. The Brigade was called and turned out under P.S. Clague, but the blaze was extinguished with pails of water by Mrs Wilkins and others in the house before the engine arrived. 35 02 22h

Guildhall design – 35 02 22b, 35 02 23
Dance band contest – 35 02 22c
Duxford pageant – 35 02 22d & e
Source to sea, p7
Scientists anti-war group, p5

1935 02 23
Her Majesty, Queen Mary, paid a surprise visit to Cambridge to purchase some antiques for her collection. So informal was the visit that even the police were not told she was coming and did not know she was in the town until her car was recognised. Officers then proceeded to Stanley Woolston's antique shop in St Andrew's Street where there was soon a crowd of about 1,000 people. Motor cars parked nearby were removed and for some time bewildered drivers were inquiring the whereabouts of their vehicles. The Queen visiting all 16 rooms and bought a number of choice specimens of china, glass a furniture which were placed gently in her car. 35 01 23a

Mosley previous visits – 35 02 23a

1935 02 25
An open-air demonstration under the red flag against the new Unemployment Bill was held on Parker's Piece supported by the University Socialist Society and Labour Clubs. A crowd of nearly 100 assembled. There are two-and-a-half million registered unemployed but there had been an increase in production without an increase in wages. The worker had become the slave of the machine, not the machine the tool of the worker. Mr H.C. Bibby spoke on camps for the unemployed: many who took part had the best of motives but they could develop into terrible concentration camps. 35 02 25

Cambridge met Oxford in the spirit of peace, not of semi-lethal combat. The ceremony took place near the pump on the green at Sherington, Buckinghamshire, exactly half-way between the two universities. Two morning-coated representatives vied in the vehemence of their protestations of fraternal feeling and in the sartorial elegance of their attire. Then to the whirr of newsreel cameras they buried a hatchet beneath the pump. Afterwards a village worthy who had forgotten his tie, collar, shaving water and washing water in the excitement of the morning, came up to the immaculately attired Master of Ceremonies, thanking him putting Sherington on the map. 35 02 25a & b

1935 02 26
John Berry ('Jack') Hobbs has bidden farewell to first-class cricket. His retirement will cause general regret. "Mrs Hobbs thinks I ought to go on to get my 200 centuries", he said, but he needs two new legs: "after many years in the field mine get very tired nowadays about four o'clock". He will continue to play in club cricket and all in Cambridge hope to see that flashing bat in action again on Parker's Piece, the scene of his early triumphs 35 02 26

1935 02 27
Coldham's Common, p1

1935 02 28
Cambridgeshire oldest inhabitant, Mrs Martha Starr (nee Rayner) of Bassingbourn was born at Christmas 1832. There were 15 in the family and after her mother died she kept the home going. Martha married Charles Starr of Shingay when she was 20 on an income of seven shillings a week (35p) and had eleven children, five of whom are still living. Although bedridden she had all her faculties and enjoyed all her meals up to three weeks ago. Her end came quietly, aged 103. 35 02 28b

Linton crash, p5

1935 March CDN & Cambridge Standard

1935 03 01
A flight of three RAF aeroplanes were forced down near Cambridge. Two landed in rough fields near Dry Drayton and turned upside down. None of the pilots was injured. The other made a forced landing at Smithy Fen, Cottenham. The flight was of a very recent pattern single-seater fighters and had taken off from Duxford to practice for the Hendon Air Pageant. They ran into thick fog and received wireless instructions to make a forced landing. The squadron leader mistook a field of wheat for grass and turned his plane completely over on the rough surface. His flying helmet was covered with mud as a result of his skidding along upside down 35 03 01

1935 03 02
Vinery Road off licence 35 03 02

1935 03 04
Guildhall interior designs 1896 35 03 04 & 05

1935 03 05
Queens' College proposed building Silver Street 35 03 05a

1935 03 07
S.A. Rolfe's wholesale confectioners and tobacconists business started 25 years ago in a very small way on East Road. Now it is the largest of its kind in the Eastern Counties with nine full-time travellers and 15 motor vans. New premises in Newmarket Road house an enormous variety of brands including chocolates from R.S. Murray and 'Classic' bottle sweets made by Messrs Parkes. Mr Rolfe was hailed as a hard-working and keen young business man who by sheer determination and grit had made his mark in his chosen trade. 35 03 07, 35 03 09 & a

Electricity supply company future 35 03 07a & b 35 05 08 & a

Police guarded the closed gates of the University Arms Hotel while Sir Oswald Mosley was at a dinner organised by the University Fascist Society. Outside a meeting organised by the University Socialist Society was held on Parker's Piece with speeches by John Cornford, Maurice Cornford and Maurice Dobb. Then a torchlight procession by 200 undergraduates shouting anti-Fascist slogans such as 'We want Mosley dead or alive' and singing 'The Internationale' marched to Peas Hill where more speeches were made before a Proctor arrived and they dispersed. 35 03 07c

The Cambridge Scientists' Anti-War Group heard an address on aspects of the Nazi movement. Many of the true facts were to be found in reports circulated secretly by the Ruhr industrialists who were providing the Nazis with immense financial support. German science was being devoted almost exclusively to war preparations. At the end the Group protested against increased expenditure on armaments by the British Government and urged the money to be spent on the social services instead. Peace cannot be maintained by building greater armed forces. 35 03 07d

1935 03 08
Electricity company, p6

1935 03 09
Woodlands Park Estate, Girton. The first thing in life is good health. That is why you should come and visit this beautifully healthy estate which will have its own tennis courts and swimming pool for residents and members. Show House open daily. Furnished by Peak's famous furniture stores. Cambridge only eight minutes by car, 10 minutes by bus or 15 minutes by cycle. The finest value ever offered to house purchasers! Price £495 or £50 deposit and 12/9 (63p) weekly. Houses with brick-built garage and outhouse £550. A few to let at 15/- (75p) weekly. – Advertisement. 35 03 09b & c

Cambridge council's decision not to purchase the 1890 electricity undertaking hardly came as a surprise. Only the members of the Labour Party who believe in public ownership of all utility services were in favour. The undertaking would have had to be split into two parts but the Company offered to reduce the price of supply by 25 per cent if the council waived their option. Several councillors are not averse to taking over the whole concern when it comes up again in 1945 35 03 09e

Anchor inn demolished photo 35 03 09d
Thomas Alfred Walker, Peterhouse, death 35 03 09f
Cambridge Vaudeville artists entertain 35 03 09f

1935 03 11
A poultry farmer appeared on a charge of wilful murder after his wife had been found shot dead in their home at Broughton. It is but a small village but a good many people heard nothing of the happenings. Even picture-goers at Huntingdon did not sense a tragedy when a message was flashed on the screen at the Hippodrome requesting a young man in the audience to go immediately to the village. He was a nephew of the dead woman. 35 03 11 & a

1935 03 13
A packed public meeting at Cambridge Guildhall voted against plans for a new building and called on the council to remodel the front to a more dignified style of architecture. Cambridge was a treasure house of architectural gems and they had no right to hand down to posterity a freak building, a flat and uninteresting example of early 20th-century abominations. Another motion dealing with the question of shops on the Peas Hill side of the building received scant attention as most of the audience had left before the end. 35 03 13 & a

1935 03 14
The New Traffic Signals. Traffic signs announcing the 30 mph restrictions, which comes into force next Monday are being erected on the approaches to all 'built-up areas'. (Thursday). New Traffic Signs Disappear. Several of the new 30 mph signs on the outskirts of Cambridge were unofficially removed during the weekend, but have since been replaced. (Monday). Missing Speed Limit Signs. A Trinity College undergraduate appeared in court charged with the theft of three of the new speed limit signs. (Thursday) 35 03 14, 35 03 21c

1935 03 15
Ely Beet Sugar Factory was charged with pollution of the River Ouse causing the death of thousands of fish in the river below Adelaide Bridge. The Company said pollution had occurred when the factory was not working and may have come from the sewage works. They employed 700 men during each campaign, were a tremendous benefit to farmers and an injunction would mean they had to stop working. The man who owned the fishing rights said there was bad feeling: he had been in shops in Ely where people refused to serve him and a wheel had come off his motor car after he'd left it near the factory 35 03 15

Great Ouse Catchment Board has constructed a large-scale model of the River Ouse depicting the area from Earith to the Wash and ten miles out to sea. There is no other tidal model like it in the world. It stretches for seventy feet in a shed off Coldham's Road, shows the various sluices and has a huge plunger which mimics the raising and lowering of the tide. This will enable engineers to study the effects of plans to improve the outfall and drainage of the fens which has been made necessary because of the ever-continuing shrinkage of the land. 35 03 15b

Ely Sugar Beet factory pollution case - 35 03 15a, 35 03 19, 35 03 27

1935 03 16
Peas Hill demolition for Guildhall - 35 03 16
Cartoon on coming of 30 mph restrictions - 35 03 16

1935 03 18
30mph road signs stolen - 35 03 18

1935 03 19
Ely beet factory, p5

1935 03 20
Backs tree demolished - 35 03 20

1935 03 21
Briscoe Snelson gave a lecture of exceptional interest on the Ouse and its tributaries, showing several beautiful slides of the scenery. This was a stretch near the Godmanchester-St Neots road where the river ran alongside the rail-road and every morning an enthusiast would wait to race the 'Flying Scotsman' with his motor boat. "Elsworth was a photographer's paradise. It has no traffic problems, is on the bus route and has no petrol pump. It is a typical Cambridgeshire village, and I hope it will not change", he said. 35 03 21a & b

Speed signs undergraduate, p5

1935 03 22
The new motor tug 'Sheldrake', which has been built for the Great Ouse Catchment Board for use in the Wash, took advantage of the seasonal rise in the water to travel from King's Lynn to St Ives towing a string of barges to collect osiers for the East Stone Bank contract. It is the first time for 20 years that a vessel of this kind as been seen as far up-river. The last vessel to carry a cargo through St Ives arrived in August 1915 with potatoes. 35 03 22a

The Great Ouse River Board has reconstructed the century-old locks and sluice at Over so that one of their big steam dredgers can pass through. It is now dredging a channel with a minimum depth of 3ft 6ins through to St Ives. All the locks are now in order as far as Godmanchester but it will be some time before a deep channel can be dredged all that way. A great deal of spoil has to be removed from the river. 35 03 22a

1935 03 23
Suffragette pic, p8

1935 03 26
Sir. Any of your readers who have laid their loved ones to rest in the beautiful old churchyard of St Mary's are invited to subscribe to the Longstowe Churchyard and War Memorial Preservation Fund. This will erect and maintain a fence around the churchyard and to keep the resting place of loved ones in a pleasing manner. It also embraces the war memorial, which we are going to remove to the village pound. This will be fenced and a tree planted to mark the great Silver Jubilee of the King and Queen on May 6th. F. Holloway, Chairman of the Parish Meeting 35 03 26

1935 03 27
University authorities are seeking to control the giving of large sherry and cocktail parties in undergraduates' rooms. Now a host wishing to give a party for more than 15 people will have to obtain permission from his tutor and the Junior Proctor. Parties of more than five members of the university held in any tavern or public room also need written permission or the owner will be liable to be discommuned. Another change bans garages from supplying motor cars to undergraduates on hire purchase without the tutor's approval. 35 03 27

Coad's new store, beside Woolworth's in Sidney Street, with its new arcade and island cases is a glowing example of the shop fitter's craft. There are now three floors and the splendid oak-panelled stairway has been retained. The fashion salons are already quite famous for their remarkable values in coats, woollies and blouses and the millinery salon is well lit. At the farther end lies the Lingerie and Corsetry Salon and a Younger Ladies' Department where the woman to today can shop like mother does. 35 03 27a

1935 03 28
The work of the Estuary Company had been of great assistance to the drainage of the fens. Had the tidal cut not been made between King's Lynn and the sea it was probable that Lynn would have been like Eye, an internal city, and the river would have disappeared. A model had been made of the stretch of Ouse between Denver and Lynn with a plunger mechanism to replicate the action of the tides. It was the largest of its kind in the world and would enable engineers to study data. 35 02 28 & a

1935 03 29 CS
Introducing the Cambridge Standard. 35 03 29&(2)(5)CS # c.04

Home of the Standard: offices in Regent Street. 35 03 29(7)CS # c.04

Tidal model of Ouse set in operation. 35 03 29CS

Coad's of Cambridge: notes on W.A. Coad and his shop. 35 03 29(3)CS

Cambridge Steam Laundry: advertisement. 35 03 29(4)CS

Assize records of the Seventeenth Century by W.M. Palmer. 35 03 29(6)CS

Guy Priest, 'The Stroller' will have weekly article on nature subjects. 35 03 29(8)ES

Ring Road continued: photo of road from Hills Road to junction Mowbray Road and Queen Edith's Way. 35 03 29(9)CS

Ald W.C. Jackson welcomes the 'Standard'. 35 03 29(10)CS

1935 03 30
Those who worked or lived at the First Eastern General Hospital huts in Burrell's Walk immediately after the war will be sorry to learn that many of the huts that were transferred from there to Manea for use as hen houses have been destroyed by fire. A big enterprise had been built up at Fodder Fen by Mrs Harry Crouch, who was a pioneer of the intensive system of poultry keeping. The long rows of sheds have been a familiar sight to those travelling by train but now about a quarter of a mile of them have been burnt. 35 03 30a

In the near future all telephone subscribers in the district – about 3,500 of them – will receive instructions in the working of the new dial system that will come into operation in May. It is rather a terrible thought that when we lift off the receiver we shall not hear the customary melodious voice at the other end saying 'Number Please' but shall have to do our own dialling. If we get the wrong number we shall have no one but ourselves to blame 35 03 30a

Hundred Houses new estate Fallowfields pic - 35 03 30

1935 April CDN & Cambridge Standard

1935 04 02
The High Court heard evidence on the state of the River Ouse. An expert witness said the river in Ely was grossly polluted with discharge from water closets. Ely Sewage Works were entirely obsolete and useless: the mud downstream was very foul with traces of tar oil coming from the Gas Works and Ouse Catchment Board Depot. But only cooling and condensing water passed into the river from the Sugar Beet Factory. A fisheries expert said the death of fish in 1933 and 1934 was caused by sewage pollution and not the factory. 35 04 02b

There are 4,000 road haulage contractors in the area today and 1,000 will be out of it in the next two or three years. They will lose their jobs, licences, vehicles and livelihoods. The Government was railway minded. Legislation never seemed to stop and it always seemed to favour the railways rather than the roads. But the whole transport world cannot be swept out at the pleasure of the railway companies. Somebody has got to carry on the road service of this country. Membership of the Cambridgeshire Road Haulage Association had jumped to 120. More would follow as even a haulage contractor had a flash of intelligence sometimes! Instead of being caned by successive government they should go to the Minister and speak with one voice, a meeting was told 35 04 02 & a

1935 04 03
Fordham Parish Council had contacted B.C.H. Electricity Company to seek costs for lighting the streets but they had not replied. Soham Gas Company intended to run mains to the village and enquiries were made of them. Any scheme had to be approved by two-thirds of the electorate but a large number of people could not afford to pay their rates now and this would mean another 1s 6d in the pound. 35 04 03

1935 04 04
There is no doubt the Peace Ballot has made Cambridge people face the vital questions. Results show nearly all wanted Britain to remain a member of the League of Nations and an all-round reduction of armaments by international agreement. The manufacture and sale of armaments for private profit should also be prohibited. If a nation insisted on attacking another the others should compel it to stop by economic measures or, if necessary, by force under the auspices of the League and preferably by an International Police Force. 35 04 04

Dr Herbert Allen Giles of Selwyn Gardens, formerly Professor of Chinese and at one-time H.M. Consul at Ningpo left gross estate of the value of £23,614. He willed £1,000 to his faithful housekeeper, Mabel Slinton and legacies to others who helped make his life bearable. They include Mabel Faiers-Pikett (late housemaid), Alice Ryder and E.M. Halls (cooks) and his 'trusty housemaid' Dorothy Baker to whom he left £100 and £15 for each year of service over three years 35 04 04

1935 04 05
Ely Sugar Beet Factory was cleared by the High Court after large number of fish had died. River conditions were analogous to those of a septic tank. The bed of the Ouse had not been dredged for thirty years and was filled with impurity which was disturbed by the considerable barge traffic. Ely sewage outfall was of an exceedingly objectionable and dangerous character and there were drains connected with the Gas Works from which noxious matter found it way into the river. But the only discharge from the factory was condenser water 35 04 05

Carlton aviation enthusiast killed in accident at Kelshall – 35 04 05a

Monkey in blue blazer as rowing mascot – 35 04 05a

The Chivers family have suggested the name 'Impington Village College' for the new school to be built on land they have donated. Magdalene College may be interested in certain of the original portions of Impington Hall and the library fittings and some of the panelling might be incorporated in the new College. Ultimately the land round the 13-acre site may be opened up as a building estate and this should be considered when the new college is planned. 35 04 05b

1935 04 06
Post office telephone engineers have been installing the switches and relays necessary to complete the new Cambridge automatic exchange. It the most up-to-date in the country and incorporates new features. Soon subscribers will hear what is known as the 'ringing' tone -'burr-butt-burr-burr'. If the number is engaged another tone – 'buzz-buzz-buzz-buzz' will be heard while a continuous high-pitch sound means it is unobtainable. Those uncertain of what these mean can dial '91' for a demonstration 35 04 06 & b

"A broadcast of the future": old rowers watch race on large TV screen – 35 04 06a

1935 04 08
Residents need not be alarmed by the appearance of heavy bomber aeroplanes during the next few nights. A tactical exercise will involve bombers flying a series of 'co-ordinated attacks' on selected military targets to introduce new crews to the role of the night bomber. It will provide actual practice in extended navigation and the technique of bombing by night, the co-ordination of raids and the employment of the signals organisation. But there will be no 'bombing' in this neighbourhood and no explosive bombs will be dropped anywhere. It is essential these exercises should be carried out during the hours of darkness and the Air Ministry is to restrict night flying to the minimum possible. 35 04 08

1935 04 09
The Chief Constable said he was unable to effectively enforce the new 30 mph speed limit in Cambridge. He needs two more constables to carry out motor patrol work, bringing the total up to four, and a Ford V8 30 hp motor car should be purchased for £210 to replace the solo motor cycle. The combination machine should be retained. 30 05 09

1935 04 10
Demolition work on Peas Hill for the new Guildhall has led to an architectural discovery of outstanding interest. It has revealed the residence and business premises of a well-to-do Tudor merchant which was subsequently divided up into a detached and two semi-detached houses. The magnificent front was covered up with lath and plaster in the reign of Queen Anne and finished with mock bricks. Dummy eaves were also added. Now each piece has been carefully taken down and numbered for preservation and re-erection. 35 04 10

Corporation proposals for the widening and improvement of Sidney Street and the lower part of Petty Cury met with vigorous opposition. In 1922 they had taken powers to prescribe frontage lines and in 1924 when Messrs Woolworth's and Sainsbury's came to Cambridge they agreed to set back their premises and gave the land to the Council. Various other places were reconstructed and now the frontage line had been prescribed from Sainsbury's to Millers with the exception of Almond's and the Prudential Assurance Company. The Surveyor said the street was urgently in need of widening to cope with increased traffic. The Livingstone Hotel had been carried on in Sidney Street for 30 years. Under street widening proposals they would be left with the second, third and fourth floors which they could not get at at all. It was used by travellers who could not afford more expensive hotels. 35 04 10 & a, 35 04 11

1935 04 11
At Laurie & McConnal buyers can see what new furniture will look like in a room. One of their big showrooms has been partitioned off to represent drawing rooms, bedrooms and even a kitchen. Each has been furnished and decorated with harmonised carpets and wallpapers. Chesterfield suites can be bought for nine guineas cash or through a no deposit hire purchase scheme. There is no other display like this in the Eastern Counties. So popular has it proved that the firm are going to build another forty rooms! 35 04 11a

1935 04 12
The court heard that in 1933 Ely RDC had appointed a Cambridge architect to oversee the construction of 20 houses at Camping Close, Littleport. Local firms had tendered for the work. An auditor discovered that the cost of fitting out 12 houses came to £839 but payment of £3,174 had been authorised including £3,012 to the builder personally. The architect said he'd taken the prices from lists and was not aware that the contractors got them so cheap. A witness saw £50 being handed to a builder in one-pound notes, no receipt was requested but the architect asked for a blank billhead. Another firm also working on the site did not want anything in writing about it. 35 04 12 & a & 35 04 16

1935 04 15
Cambridge proposed swimming stadium Parkside design 35 04 15 & 15a
History of Cambridge savings banks – 35 04 15b & c

1935 04 17
In a little cottage in Union Lane, Chesterton, men on the way to the Institution can now, for a few hours daily, experience something of the comfort of home life. The once rather dilapidated house has been transformed into a cosy Wayfarers' rest. Brightly-distempered walls and a roaring fire make it a comfortable place. On arrival they are given tea and a cigarette. Upstairs is a tiny chapel where prayers are said with a bible reading for any who care to attend. 35 04 17

Cambridge Photographic Club Cine Group films included 'Yarmouth Scene' by E.J. Twinn showing the curious narrow 'Rows', the great herring season and a tragedy of the sea – a great cargo boat being destroyed by fire. E.F. Watson showed his travel film 'Glorious South Devon' and Arnold Darlington displayed 'Puffin Island'. The tit-bit was the group's 1935 film 'Morning' which starts in a leisurely strain and ends with the workers and school children beginning their day. The actors, Mrs A. Twinn and Mr E.F. Watson are to be congratulated on their performance. 35 04 17a

1935 04 18
New road connecting Mowbray Road with Hills Road – Glebe or Holbrook – photo – 35 04 18

1935 04 20
The name of Bertram Mills is famous throughout the circus world. His two sons Cyril and Bernard were both up at college some 12 years ago. Cyril, who was at Corpus, had rooms with Miss Goff who now keeps a University lodging house at Maid's Causeway. She remembers him as one of a happy party of four at the house, all of whom used to ride motor-cycles. He took his MA degree the last time the circus was in Cambridge, three years ago. 35 04 20a

Good Friday stalls on Parker's Piece – photo – 35 04 20

1935 04 23
Sir – this country has not produced a mask to safeguard us against an attack of modern gas. For two years I have worked in the anti-war movement I founded in a room in Cambridge to protest against war-like manoeuvres and to organise against war. It is the workers who are called upon to fight, to make munitions and pay for it afterwards and trade unionists should take the lead in opposing it. – W.G. Doel, Hope Street, Cambridge – 35 04 23

1935 04 24
Professor Peter Kapitza, a leading University physicist, who went to Russia to attend a conference last summer, has been told that he cannot return to Cambridge. Lord Rutherford, director of the Cavendish Laboratory, has described it as 'a severe shock and most unfortunate'. A special Royal Society Mond Laboratory was built with machines producing as much electrical power as those at Battersea Power Station, when Kapitza carried out experiments with them mild 'earthquake shocks' occurred in the building. 35 04 24

1934 04 25
An East Anglian Egg Packing Station was opened at Mildenhall with up-to-date machines for handling and grading eggs which will mainly be sold in the London market. 35 04 25

1935 05 26
An inquiry was held at St Ives into proposals to build a public convenience in White Hart Lane. The market was important, bringing many people to the town and such a building was necessary. But Mrs Saint considered it would devalue her property in East Street and Mr Skeels, who owns two houses in the Quadrant, thought the council should utilise some of the land lying idle in the present market place. The Town Clerk said this would be unsightly. 35 04 26

Saffron Walden Westminster Bank manager, P. Cubitt, retires 35 04 26a

Burnt Fen Drainage Commissioners presented James Luddington, formerly of Audley House Littleport, with a silver salver on his retirement as Chairman after 50 years. His father and grandfather had filled the post before him back to 1849. Sir Frederick Hiam said this was unique in drainage history of the fens. They were now one of the best-drained districts for which Mr Luddington deserved the greatest credit 35 04 26a

1935 04 26 CS
The secret room at Shudy Camps, house of the Dayrells. Mansion Houses of Cambs, no.2. 35 04 26CS

1935 05 24 CS
An ancient dove cote, Shepreth: photo. 35 05 24CS

1935 04 27
The news that the Festival Theatre is definitely closing will come as a severe blow. When Joseph Gordon Macleod took over from Terence Gray two years ago he set out to make it a very definite part of the life of Cambridge. Not only has he worked tremendously hard but he has also sacrificed every penny of his personal capital and it a great blow that Cambridge has not supported him. One is equally sorry for the company which was developing into one of the strongest repertory companies in the country. Now they will be split up. 35 04 27

1935 04 29
Cambridge Salvation Army's earliest days, 50 years ago were recalled by the Mayor, Ald Ralph Starr. He told how a band from Liverpool had come to give them a send-off: "I remember seeing them go down King Street, a singing multitude of people thronging around the band, who were trying to play, and some lads and lasses marching behind. The crowd were not only hustling and pushing them but dealing out blows to those who were playing. Several bandsmen had blood on their faces, but they did not retaliate. It was that which affected me most", he said. 35 04 29

Photographer, p5

1935 04 30
Anti-Nazi play at Festival Theatre – photo – 35 04 29a

May 1935 CDN & Cambridge Scrapbook

1935 05 01
The Guildhall Protest Committee criticised plans for a useless portico of a most ornate and incongruous style which could be 'put on cold' in from of the proposed façade of the new Guildhall in two years time if the town really wanted it. They maintained the main entrance should be on Market Hill. It would allow a terrace which would form a platform for addressing meetings on Market Hill and give a façade of distinction that the people strongly desire. There was also intense feeling regarding the question of shops on the Peas Hill side 35 05 01

Plans for the construction of new roads alongside the River Lark from Isleham to Prickwillow and from Tunnel Drove, Soham will shorten the distance to the Beet Sugar Factory by four miles. 35 05 01a

1935 05 02
Lord Eltisley spoke of the record of the National Government. If the Socialists had remained in office we should have been in a state of chaos. We required a stable, strong and safe Government and in Stanley Baldwin had a leader in the best tradition of British statesmanship. Signs were not lacking that storms were blowing up and we might again be approaching a crucial period. In Germany young people were bring brought up in a creed of glorification of arms. Now they had order 12 new submarines. Our best defence was to be prepared against sudden attack 35 02 02 & a

1935 05 03
A number of shoppers at Messrs Robert Sayle's new store accepted the invitation of Mr J.W. Pretty to take morning coffee in the library, in celebration of the opening of the store after the improvements which have been carried out. These have made conditions very much better for shoppers: there is now twice as much sales room as before and the whole store has been opened up. The fact that the store is now one of a chain means that values are better than ever before, and will remain so 35 05 03

Death John Collin, Rob Roy Boat Club 50 years – 35 05 03a & b

The water situation at the Elsworth end of Boxworth is very unsatisfactory. Water from the pond by the roadside is practically unusable, some of the inhabitants had to go half a mile for water and a proper public supply is urgent. At Longstowe part of the parish had to depend on water from roofs. This proved inadequate and of unsatisfactory quality. The distance from some of the houses to be nearest standpipe was considerable. It should be a simple matter to carry the pipe line along the village street to the railway bridge with a standpipe provided near the houses on the Old North Road also Kirtling & Over 35 05 03c

1935 05 04
Jubilee decorations Downing Street corner – pic – 35 05 04

One of the most memorable features of the Jubilee celebrations for King George V will be a retrospect of the reign which has been prepared by Prof Harold Temperley for broadcasting. He calls it a radio dramatic and historical drama. He was assisted in his research in the Royal Archives by Miss Sybil Crowe, a former student of Girton and the gifted and artistic producer was by Lawrence Gilliam formerly of Peterhouse. Both were formerly his pupils. 35 05 04a

Photo of Mayor Ald George Stace and Chief Constable Holland en route Westminster Abbey fir coronation of King George – 35 05 04b

The Soviet authorities actions in retaining Prof P. Kapitza in Russia has profoundly disturbed the University and the scientific world. Lord Rutherford has written to The Times stressing the importance of his work and the reasons it should be continued in the new Royal Society Mond laboratory at Cambridge which was constructed and equipped for him. Even under ideal conditions it would require much time to reconstruct the unique equipment in Russia 35 05 04c

1935 05 06
Jubilee celebrations – see 35 05 07

1935 05 07
Cambridge was decorated for the Jubilee celebrations of King George V. The gayest part covered the main shopping centre where everyone had apparently tried to do better than his neighbour. One of the most original efforts was seen in a grocery shop where a number of eggs gad been dyed red and blue and made with some white-shelled eggs into the shape of the Union Jack. A music and cake shop, neighbours, had joined together to produce an effective display with lengths of red white and blue silk draped across the front of their premises while a gay display outside an insurance office attracted a great deal of attention 35 05 07a

In the evening of Jubilee Day the King's speech was relayed by means of loud speakers on Jesus Green. It came through with great clarity and was listened to with rapt attention by many thousands of people. The relay was carried out by Messrs Morley and Duke by means of amplifiers installed near Jesus Green Swimming Bath. Afterwards Josephine's Ladies Gipsy Ban played for dancing 35 05 07b

Cambridge Jubilee celebrations – 35 05 07c & d & e & f

Joshua Taylor six reigns of service – 35 05 07h

1935 05 08
Newmarket & Mildenhall jubilee celebrations – 35 05 08

One of the most pleasing features of Ely celebrations for the Silver Jubilee of King George V was the happy atmosphere which prevailed at the dinner for the unemployed, their wives and aged folk which was served at the Central Hall and the Women's Institute. Three hundred sat down to roast beef, baked potatoes, cabbage, fruit tart and custard. There were cigarettes for the men and sweets in red, white and blue bags for the women. Jubilee caskets containing goods were sent to 300 who were unable to attend. 35 05 08b & c

Sir. During the Cambridge Jubilee Celebrations two men went into the marquee and set light to a box of rubbish which they thought contained fireworks. Had it done so it would have caused a considerable loss of life as it stood next to a box containing a large supply of explosives. Fortunately brave men dragged it out and threw it into the river. Will the two who did this dastardly deed meet my two sons, who might have lost their lives, on the lawn of the Croft, Primrose Street and take their medicine in strict privacy? I will guarantee no names shall be mentioned or action taken – Capt E.A. Longley. Organiser Jubilee Celebrations 35 05 08c

Proposals to erect a bridge over the railway at Six-Mile-Bottom level crossing were opposed by the Parish Council because they thought it would spoil the beauty of the place. It would make the main road a racing track whereas if the traffic was held up, as at present, it gave country people a chance to get across. It would also affect the livelihood of shopkeepers and petrol-sellers. But this was a trunk road and the level crossing was very awkward. A subway would be very expensive and much more dangerous and the only way improve it was through a by-pass road. 35 05 08d

1935 05 09
A new road from Isleham alongside the River Lark to Prickwillow would benefit the whole of the parish: "It is a place of all places on earth that most people would object to live in in consequence of its situation and the road would bring Isleham out of the rut and help employment", said Coun, Moore. Half the cost would be obtained from the Ministry of Transport though there were some very light-fingered gentlemen in Parliament and when short of money they dived their hands into funds they were not entitled to. 35 05 09

Children celebrate Jubilee, cinema show – 35 05 09a

1935 05 10
The Medical Officer said that nos.1-4 Wesleyan Cottages, Chapel Street, Exning were unfit for human habitation; each contained one living room and two bedrooms, and there were a total of six occupants. But the Wesleyan Church Trustees said they were clean inside and could be put into a satisfactory condition, the rents were paid regularly and the tenants wished to remain in occupation. Another property at Mayes Yard, Church Street had eight rooms and ten occupants, the tenants had the use of a garden and the cottages could serve a useful purpose to the community for some years. 35 05 10

End of Jubilee celebrations – big crowds at Christ's Pieces – 35 05 10a

1935 05 11
The new West Chesterton children's playground off Histon Road was opened by the Mayor and hundreds of youngsters thronged the ground for the occasion. Since it was bought as an orchard three years ago an immense amount of work had been necessary. It was not complete and they were hoping for swings and perhaps a roundabout later. It is primarily intended for younger children and not for the playing of hard-ball games such as cricket but old and middle-aged people could also enjoy the ground for sitting about. 35 05 11b

Any withdrawal of assistance for the sugar beet industry would be a disaster to farmers. The subsidy was granted to keep the land under the plough and without it hardly one of the county smallholders would pay his rent. It had kept in regular work hundreds of men who would otherwise have been laid off. But the subsidy was given first 11 years ago to establish the new industry and the cost to the State to produce sugar worth 5s was 12s 6d. 35 05 11 & a

Architect and builders accused of conspiring to cheat Melbourn RDC – 35 05 11c

Death Prof Francis Crawford Burkitt – Prof Divinity – 35 05 11b

Many who frequent the University Botanic Gardens will be sorry to learn of the death of 'Tommy', the old pony who had been a familiar sight for 30 years. He had reached the great age of 35 and was a special favourite with children who loved to take him sugar and other little dainties. Old ladies too used to make quite a fuss of him. Tommy helped to pull the lawn mower and was working up to a few days ago 35 05 11c

1935 05 13
The number employed by the Disabled Persons Workshop has varied from 9 to 10; two are doing piece work in their homes, not being able to attend at the shop. Unfortunately three who are employed are not eligible for the deficiency grants from the Ministry of Labour which has hit the income. It has been a disturbed year owing to the difficulty of finding suitable premises in Cambridge for a shop. The workshops in Gloucester Street are out of the way and they had to leave Peas Hill because of demolitions, meaning there was nowhere to sell their goods. The new premises in Trumpington Street are outside the shopping centre and the rents and rates are a strain 35 05 13

Tuberculosis officer retires – 35 05 13a
Memorial service for Captain Cook's widow – 35 05 13a

1935 05 14
Cambridge General Cemetery Company asked that the Corporation take over control of the Histon Road Burial Ground which was established nearly 100 years ago by a private company. There are still a number of private grave spaces available for burials and it would be in the public interest. This was agreed 35 05 14

1935 05 15
Sunday bathing in Ely protest – 35 05 15 & a

1935 05 16
Lofts Hall, Wendons Loft was destroyed by a fire which raged through the night. The blaze started in the modern part of the building which was inhabited by the gamekeeper, two gardeners and their families. The mansion, which contains over 50 rooms, was completely gutted and all efforts to save Tudor features including some fine old chimneys and carvings of antique interest were unavailing. Before the war the Hall was the residence of Sir James Bailey who made additions to the structure. It is now home to a London stockbroker. 35 05 16c

Councillors argued over proposals for the Guildhall. Some wanted to spend £200,000 on the old building and still have a patchwork quilt, whereas they could have an entirely new one for £150,000. Peas Hill never had been and never would be a business centre and shops there would never be a paying proposition. The dispute had started with an unfortunate illustration of the façade in the 'Sunday Times' but the design was undoubtedly a dignified building of its kind and the average elector would vote for anything, if it were as ugly as sin, if it would only save a bit on the rates.. However Councillor Stubbs said if it had been built on Donkey Common as he'd suggested some years ago the council would not be in the muddle it was today. 35 05 16a & b

Bourn author D. Mordecai attempted hoax – 35 05 16b

1935 05 17
Cambridge University and Town Gas Light Company needed to lay a main from their works in Newmarket Road to Cam Road. The first proposal was to lay it under the river but negotiations were opened with a view to the erection of a footbridge which would serve the Company and also meet the growing needs of the residents in the neighbourhood. The cost would be £4,000 of which the Gas Company offered to pay a quarter providing the skeleton of the bridge was provided during this financial year 35 05 17

1935 05 18
Cambridge Drawing Society exhibition includes many local views including 'Peas Hill' by Dorothy E. Bradford, 'Pembroke College' by Joyce Shillington Scales and Fenners by Mary Fyson. Fulbourn Mill has provided R.C. Lambeth with a subject. His detailed painting of the interior of the mill and its machinery will interest all with a mechanical turn of mind. Madame Raverat has some beautiful woodcuts including an unusually large cut of St John's Old Bridge printed from three wood blocks. 35 05 18

Here is a wonderful opportunity to inspect the miracle-ride Studebaker that is sweeping the country. Not even a £1,500 car can give you such a ride: its swiftness, silence, smoothness and cutter security must be experienced to be believed. Features include independent front wheel suspension, compound hydraulic brakes and full five seats. Prices: Dictator regular saloon £298, de-luxe saloon, fixed-head coupe or roadster £348. See the models in our showrooms. Tom Cox Motor Co. Ltd, Riley House, Chesterton Road – advert. 35 05 18a

1939 05 19
Broughton murder trial – 35 05 19

1935 05 21
According to the recent census taken for military purposes, Cambridge has a horse population of 779, excluding railway and military animals. This is abnormally high, being roughly twice as many as any other town of its size. In the riding horse and hunter class Cambridge takes fourth place in the country but the town is poorly supplied with carriage and trap horses. People have forsaken the horse for wheeled outings though there are still a few residents who prefer to sit behind a horse instead of a petrol engine. It seems that the motor salesmen of Cambridge are extraordinarily efficient. 35 05

Newmarket Jockey Club suffered extensive damage as the result of a disastrous fire. The well-equipped billiards room presented a sorry sight, the lamps and ceiling having crashed on to the table and water pouring though like a tropical storm. Volunteers worked with great zest in clearing rooms of furniture, pictures and valuable oil paintings, some of which were spoilt by the heat. Standing apart are the residential quarters used by the King during his visit to Newmarket. It was the town's greatest fire for many years 35 05 21a

1935 05 22
Queens' College – demolition in Silver Street for new extensions – 35 05 22

1935 05 23
Queens' new buildings, p5
Ely traffic lights at Nutholt Lane – 35 05 23

1935 05 24
Matthew's bakery electrically-driven delivery van – 35 05 24

1935 05 25
The rector of Doddington has bought a remarkable stained glass window dating back to 1510. From the auction catalogue it seems that it was in the Strawberry Hill sale where Horace Walpole had a collection of stained glass which is believed to have come from Cambridge. Experts believe it is not the lost window from King's College Chapel though the subjects are the same though they are treated more clearly and not mixed up. The glass has been temporarily installed in several rooms at Doddington Rectory. 35 05 25

Christ's College library new stained glass window to William Skeat - 35 05 25

1935 05 27
Thomas Henry Connor, Cambridge dentist dies – 35 05 27

A large paraffin drum exploded during a blaze at Royston Brewery sending a sheet of flame into the sky like a long comet and causing more damage than the fire. The top of the drum knocked the troughing off the brewery building while the main body of the drum was hurled against the back wall of Mr F.J. Middleton's house with such force that the brickwork was knocked back half an inch. It then rebounded rebounding into the middle of his greenhouse. The thick steel 50-gallon oil drum was nearly empty before the fire. 35 05 27a

1935 05 38
Dr Wooster of the Scientists' Anti-War Committee said the proposed air-raid drills would be compulsory, getting civilians under war discipline and squashing anti-war activities. It was impossible to protect the population at large against air attack: we might conceivably protect the inhabitants of Haverhill by building shelters but not the whole of London. The Government would not supply gas masks, you must buy them for yourselves; they would cost about £20 and it was obvious that poor people could not afford it, he told a meeting in the Labour Hall, Norfolk Street. 35 05 28 # c.45.6

1935 05 31
What is believed to be a medieval burial ground has been revealed by the finding of skeletons during underpinning work at Spinney Abbey, Wicken. The house bears the date 1775 but is believed to be much older and the bodies were found below the wall. Two full-sized skeletons and another of a child were found close together with others nearby. The position of the bodies indicates a burial ground, particularly as the house stands on the site of the old monastery which was said to be connected to Denny Abbey by a subterranean passage. 35 05 31 & a

1935 05 31 CS
Skeletons at Spinney Abbey discovered. 35 05 31CS

Cobham's air campaign: plans for a Cambridge visit. 35 05 31(2)CS

June 1935 CDN & Cambridge Standard

1935 06 03
Over 3,000 farmers and workers attended an open-air demonstration at Ely to protest against the abandonment of State assistance to the sugar beet industry. It would mean disaster for agriculture. Without beet the eastern half of England would have fallen into desolation and become another distressed area. The 18 factories had installed machinery which consumed no less than three million tons of coal and coke as well as over one million tons of limestone and no fewer than 65 million bags. The cost of the industry had been worth it to the nation as money would otherwise have been spent on dole and poor relief. 35 06 03 & a

1935 06 04
The Mayor (Ald R. Starr) opened the Cambridge Trustee Savings Bank's new offices in Downing Street. "I believe there are people in this town who do not trust the banks", he said. "They still keep their savings in old stockings and I often come across people who keep their money in old pewter pots. If the people of Cambridge will only feel it is their bank, and that they can deposit their money feeling it is safer than it would be in their own cottages, it would be a good thing". The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Neville Chamberlain, sent a telegram wishing the bank success. 35 06 04 & a

1935 06 05
Cambridge Town Council was among the pioneers of town planning, the Mayor (Ald R. Starr) told a conference. "We town planned the eastern portion of our Borough in 1927. Why we did such a small portion I cannot understand, though I was chairing the committee, but we got on with it very satisfactorily. In 1928 we launched the Cambridge and district town-planning scheme and since then have been sticking very truthfully to it, dealing with difficult problems". Town planning is not smooth. It is full of snags with so many people to consult, he warned. 35 06 05 & a

1935 06 06
Town planning, p3

1935 06 07
It will cost less to wash in Cambridge from now on, thanks to the Cambridge University and Town Waterworks Company's new water-softening station at Cherry Hinton whose plant was designed by Messrs Roby of London. They were a public utility company which while it had a duty to their shareholders, also had a duty to the public. So when in 1934 the Company had at long last freed itself from the heavy financial drain incurred by the obsolescence of the old Fulbourn pumping station, much consideration was given to the problem of how subsequent revenue surplus could be handed back to its customers. 35 06 07 & a Godmanchester medical officer said only a small percentage of the houses had water closets and baths. He had tested 30 wells and found that in 21 the water was unfit for drinking because in dry weather the water from the drains ran into them. He strongly advised the council to put in a pure water supply. But they did not want to put great burdens on the ratepayers. During the financial crisis of 1931 the council thought it was not time to embark on big expenses, in 1932 nothing was done and in 1933 they'd asked Huntingdon if it was possible to draw from their water supply. 35 06 07 b & c

1935 06 08

The official announcement that Stanley Baldwin is to succeed Ramsey MacDonald as head of the Government is of special interest to Cambridge because it is the first time in history that we have had a statesman occupying the position of Prime Minister and Chancellor of the University at one and the same time. Nothing has commended Baldwin more to the public than the loyal way he, as an ex-Prime Minister, has served under Mr Macdonald in the last six years. Now MacDonald is to serve under him 35 06 08a

The finest Chinese actor of today, Mr Mei Lan-fang, who has to have a three-strong bodyguard to protect him from kidnappers, visited the Festival Theatre. He granted the News his first interview ever to an English newspaper for Chinese actors have a genuine dislike of publicity in every shape and form. As Mr Mei could not speak English, and the reporter knew no Chinese, the conversation was conducted through an interpreter. He is actually a female impersonator for in China women do not take part in classical drama. 35 06 08

1935 06 11
Catherine Parsons said people believed that midnight was the hour when ghosts would be seen. No one would pass the Roman road crossing to Streetley End for fear of being pelted with large things like apple dumplings. But Horseheath ghosts were quite harmless and included a poor girl whose coming was heralded by a sound like buzzing bees, three headless women dressed in black who wandered in from Camps and a headless man with a red handkerchief around his neck. The finest spectacle was a coffin borne up Limbery's Hill followed by a long procession of mourners. 35 06 11 & a

1935 06 12
Sir –Longstowe has scarcely advanced one iota this last fifty years. True we have been able to get a second delivery of letters and the postmaster now allows the postman to collect on Sunday afternoon. We have a public telephone and last year the County Council spared a little tar and gravel for the road. But we have had no farm workers' houses built since 1865 with three families living in one house. You will see the matronly schoolmistresses drilling boys of 14 in some sort of exercise while their fathers tramp the roads looking for work, but some young men cannot write their own names when they leave school – F. Holdway 35 06 12

1935 06 13
Huntingdonshire Agricultural Show – 35 06 13

1935 06 14
Undergraduates' misbehaviour – 35 06 14

1935 06 14 CS
West Wratting mill open play. 35 06 14CS

May Week carnival. 35 06 14CS

Strange powers of a Waterbeach butcher: G.H. Batten, water diviner. 35 06 14(2)(3)CS

1935 06 15
I dialled '0' and asked for Teversham 331. The answer came, "Marshall's Aerodrome". I said "How about that little trip we spoke of earlier". "Righto, come along at once. In a few minutes I arrived at the aerodrome and found a 'plane awaiting me. I tied my camera to a buttonhole in my mackintosh as we took off and made for Baitsbite where we could see the boats at First Post corner. Close co-operation between the pilot and myself was made easy by the speaking tubes and my helmsmen showed adaptability to the requirements of aerial photography, allowing me to obtain some interesting photographs. 35 06 15

The Cosmopolitan Cinema in Market Passage was started two years ago by Mr N. Openshaw Higgins as an experiment. Increasing numbers of people have welcomed the opportunity of seeing cultural films that do not appeal to be masses. Now it is moving to the new theatre being constructed in Peas Hill. There has been discussion as to the most suitable name for the new venture. The Arts Theatre was talked of, but a more likely choice now is the Market Theatre. 35 06 15b

1935 06 18
May Week entered its ballroom phase with the twinkle of fairy lights and the dazzle of evening frocks. The biggest ball was that arranged by the First and Third Trinity Boat Club which was attended by 1,200 people. The flood-lit bridge stood out pearly white against the shadowy outlines of college buildings and hundreds of fairy lanterns made a necklace of living fire round the lawns of the Backs while Chinese lanterns hung in the trees along with coloured light indicators which showed the number of the dance in progress. Here and there a brazier gleamed dully, spitting steam in protest against the rain which sought to dampen their fire. 35 06 18

1935 06 20
The Theatre Cinema returned to a programme of cine-variety with a programme of stage turns and films. The variety bill is headed by that inimitable comedian, Max Miller, 'the cheeky chappy'. All his jokes have the air of spontaneity and his suggestion of breezy good humour is infectious. The stage programme includes the most daring roller-skating acts we have seen, a juggler and a young lady who has achieved success as a wireless crooner. The principal film is 'The Personality Kid' with a clever cartoon and the News. 35 06 20

A number of readers of the 'CDN' saw the town from a new angle. Winners of our Free Flights Competition in connection with Sir Alan Cobham's air display went on a formation flight round the town. A number went up in the 10-seater air-liner while others took a 'flip' in the open planes which take part in the display. The rush of air past the face, the thrilling sensation as the plane dipped and the sight of Cambridge spread out mosaic-like made for an exhilarating experience and the winners walked more jauntily after their trip than they did before it! 35 06 20a

1935 06 21
A large granary at Longland's Farm, Fenton, near Warboys, was destroyed by a fire which began on the top floor where two tons of flake maize was stored. A week ago the maize, which was kept in sacks, was found to be overheated and was turned in order to cool down. At 10.40pm a maroon was fired in Ramsey to arouse the fire brigade and 15 minutes later they were at the scene. In a little more than half an hour they had the blaze under control. 35 06 21

Open-air theatre, p3

1935 06 22
The well-known dairy farmers J.M. Bull & son of Hills Road have won outright the silver challenge cups for clean milking at the County Show. Their cows are fed entirely on foods that produce the very best vitamin milk which is cooled immediately then bottled and delivered direct to the consumer within a few minutes. Milk produced under such hygienic conditions and from such healthy cows is undoubtedly the best form of food, as well as the cheapest as far as children are concerned. The same scrupulous care is also given to their cream cheese and the quality of their butter and cream is a by-word in Show circles. 35 06 22 & a

1935 06 24
Cobham's air display – 35 06 24

1935 06 26
The proposed Cambridge town planning scheme envisages a ring road to encircle the whole town with the construction of by-pass roads and the improvement of dangerous junctions. The level crossings on the Milton and Cherry Hinton roads will be replaced with bridges. An area of 190 acres on Milton

Road opposite the sewage farm acres is reserved for a municipal aerodrome with a municipal golf course off Trumpington Road 35 06 26a

The Parliamentary Land Drainage Committee discussed the prospects of flooding in Middle Level. Land 20 feet above the normal height of spring tides should be subject to a drainage tax. This would bring in much of March and three-quarters of Whittlesey but Doddington and most of Chatteris would be exempt. In the past churches had been inundated and parishioners climbed the towers to get out of the water. People went from Lincolnshire by boat to take food to the folks in Terrington. 35 06 26 & a

1935 06 27
Stretham HMS Pinafore on the vicarage lawn – 35 06 27

July 1935 CDN & Cambridge Standard

1935 07 02
An auction of John Evison's land at Fen Drayton was told that most lots had been sold privately to the Land Settlement Association. The auctioneer was sorry to disappoint people but the application was from a semi-public body concerned with settling families on the land from the depressed areas and deserved special consideration. The remaining lot comprised 56 acres of gravel-bearing land but it failed to reach the reserve price. 35 07 02

The largest number of British warplanes every assembled in one spot have arrived at RAF Mildenhall for the Silver Jubilee review. Three hundred and fifty in number, from 38 squadrons, 'planes of the bomber, night bomber and fighter type have turned the green aerodrome into a sea of silver. But poor visibility caused the practice take-off to be postponed twice and owing to the time it takes to get airborne only 200 of them will actually participate in the fly-past 35 07 02a # c.26.1

Royston paddling pool started – 35 07 02b

1935 07 04
A motor engineer told the bankruptcy proceedings that he'd started at a small lock-up garage at Chesterton in 1933, then moved to St Tibbs Row where he sold used cars. Next year he moved to Bridge Street. He advertised for a salesman, and three or four paid £50 and received a car. An investor put £500 into the business which was for the purchase of cars 35 07 04

1935 07 05
Excitement was caused at Mildenhall where the 350 aeroplanes – worth practically £1,000,000 – are assembled for the Royal review when fire broke out at Horrox sawmills, about a mile away from the aerodrome. The Royal Air Force received a telephone call asking for help and a lorry load of men armed with fire extinguishers was despatched together with a fire engine. It was the luckiest chance that the wind was blowing away at the time otherwise the fire would have spread with lightning rapidity and there would have been a danger of it reaching as far as the aerodrome. 35 07 05c

The King had 'Jubilee Weather' for his review of the Royal Air Force at Mildenhall Aerodrome where he inspected 28 squadrons of the RAF – five miles of aircraft in all – on the vast landing ground. The machines ranged from tiny 230 mph Gauntlets to giant bombers. Twice he left his car to learn some of the secrets of our latest flying machines including the power-driven machine guns mounted in the turret of an Overstrand bomber 35 07 05 & a

The tenant of the Red Lion at Trumpington had been there since 1916. Ff the licence was taken away he would be deprived of his livelihood & the Red Lion Self-Help Club would be broken up, magistrates heard. There were 34 allotment holders on ground belonging to the pub and half the allotment land in the village had already been lost on account of building. It was an old-fashioned house, very quiet and homely and the Feast was held in a field at the rear. They served teas to anybody who asked for them, but not much beer. The licence was renewed 35 07 05b

The Five Bells was one of five fully-licensed houses in Cherry Hinton. In 1920 the Hop Bine, next door, was done away with and the Russian Arms had been closed in 1912. Lacons the brewers said the extra penny on beer had hit sales. The Five Bells had been ringing harmoniously for a good many years to the comfort and convenience of the inhabitants and should be allowed to continue to ring a litter longer. The licence was renewed – 35 07 05b

This delightful brick-built bungalow, standing it its own grounds about three miles from Cambridge was originally built for a retired couple, and is designed not only as a labour-saving residence, but also allows for extensions when required. It has all modern conveniences with gas and electric throughout. Buses pass the door. The extensive garden is well cultivated and the whole property can be truly described as pictures. It has a lovely lawn, garden and fruit trees together with a good garage. Its original price was £900. What offers? Contact the Belfast Linen Warehouse, St Andrew's Street, Cambridge. – Advert 35 07 05d

Royal air force review, Mildenhall – 35 07 05c 35 07 06, 35 07 06a, 35 07 06b, 35 07 08

1935 07 05 CS
300 years of Cambridge bowls, 35 07 07CS # c.38 : bowls

1935 07 09
Four cottages, all unoccupied and condemned, were destroyed by a fire at Lolworth. A group of thatched cottages nearby were also threatened seriously for a time as a strong breeze fanned the flames that way, but the brigade poured tons of water on the burning houses and effectually quelled the danger. The buildings were made almost entirely of wood and plaster with tiled and thatched roofs and the powerful jets of water played on the wall from the back pushed them down almost instantly. 35 07 09

Roy Godfrey, son of the Swavesey Haulage Contractor, has been awarded an autographed Hobbs bat for his fine all-round performance in the 'News Chronicle' cricket competition for schoolboys. Playing for St Ives Grammar School he scored 46 runs and took six wickets for eight runs. He also took a difficult catch off a fast rising ball. Roy's performance is remarkable, as he lost his right arm as a result of an accident when he was five years old 35 07 09a

1935 07 10
Walter Worthington was executed at Bedford Gaol for the murder of his wife at Broughton, Hunts. He'd claimed the shooting was an accident as the gun went off in his hand. Two of his 13 children from his previous marriage witnessed the shooting. A crowd of several hundred gathered outside the prison gates. There were scores of children and some mothers carried babies. About a dozen police controlled the traffic. Just at 8 o'clock, the hour of execution, the many pigeons which congregate on the roof of the prison flew into the air 35 07 10

1935 07 11
Wisbech fire granary elevator – 35 07 11
Royston dustbins, p6

1935 07 12
Harvey Goodwin Home, p6

1935 07 13
Sidney Moon, p6

1935 07 16
Oakington isolation hospital, p5

1935 07 17
Stretham annual show – 35 07 17 & a

1935 07 18
Jesus Green playground chute – boy killed - 35 07 18 & a

1935 07 19
Huntingdonshire County Council decided to accept £5,000 from the Air Ministry for the Wyton Aerodrome and £3,000 for the lands adjoining. Alderman Wood Horn said this was of great interest both nationally and locally. The land at present is occupied by sanatorium buildings but this had served its purpose and the money could be used to pay off the outstanding debt on the hospital 35 07 19

1935 07 19 CS
The rare pines at Pampisford Manor. 35 07 19CS

1935 07 20 c
The Corner House Dart Club, runners-up in the Wells and Winch League, held an outing to Calais. Paddy Harris, of the Progressive Coaches, efficiently conducted the party throughout the day. The new luxury cross-channel liner, Queen of the Channel, was boarded at Southend and the party, with 1,600 other passengers returned home in a very merry mood, probably occasioned by the price of champagne!

1935 07 23
Cottages in Dolphin Lane, Melbourn, condemned for demolition – 35 07 23

1935 07 25
Two RAF 'Bulldog' planes taking part in night flying exercises over Cambridge had to make forced landings when they were caught in a thick mist which came up suddenly. The pilots looked for an emergency landing ground and saw the lights of Marshall's aerodrome below. One succeeded in landing just before the fog blotted out the lights but the other five had to keep on flying until one ran out of petrol and had to make a forced landing at Duxford. In doing so the machine crashed and the pilot was slightly injured. 35 07 25

1935 07 26
Pageant at Haslingfield White Hill. 35 07 26CS

1935 07 27
Sid Moon, the CDN cartoonist for six years, is leaving to take up a similar appointment on the 'Sunday Despatch'. Speaking in a dual capacity as editor and as 'Uncle Robin' (of the Robin Fellowship), Mr Morley Stuart said Mr Moon had produced cartoons which were full of clever ideas but never objectionable and expressed regret that the special Robin Goodfellow cartoon characters he had created had no 'gone back into the inkwell' 35 07 27

Workmen engaged in digging operations between Scotland Road and the new Eastfields housing estate at Chesterton came across a number of human bones. George Firman and Bert Jacobs found almost a complete face, several hundred years old but with the teeth in almost perfect condition. Experts say they could have come from the burial ground of one of the nunneries or that they may have been left behind by a research student 'going down' whose landlady buried them, not knowing what else to do 35 07 27a

Belisha Beacons have now been installed in Cambridge, whether we like them or not. They are on Market Street corner near Sainsbury's, between Christ's College and St Andrew's church, near the Midland Bank in Petty Cury, the 'Jolly Waterman' on Victoria Avenue and between Christ's Pieces and New Square. It is just as well the undergraduates are not here to see their erection. Perhaps we shall all have become thoroughly accustomed to them where our young friends come up 35 07 27b

1935 07 31
George Collins, the Cambridgeshire glider champion, was killed during an exhibition flight in Huntingdonshire. He was being towed by an aeroplane and was released at a height of three thousand feet. He glided, did some turns and then two loops followed by a 'bunt' – the first half of an inverted loop. But the left wing folded upwards and came adrift. The glider was completely wrecked. He was an exceptionally skilled young man and no blame could be attached to anybody 35 07 31 & a

Lord Fairhaven has launched a very interesting scheme for the development of village beauty at Bottisham and Lode. He has offered prizes for which those owning small houses and cottages with a road frontage may compete with attention paid towards an increase of permanent beauty eg thatching, colour-washing, hedging or planting of trees or shrubs. He hopes that these two villages should stand out as examples of which a village may become by the efforts of its inhabitants. 35 07 31a

W.H. Woolworth is to open one of the most modern shops in Ely. Situated on Fore Hill, the store is built in the well-known style and provides a surprising area of shop space. The second floor is devoted to store rooms to which the stock is transferred by means of an electric lift. Every provision has been made for the staff with toilets and facilities for cooking meals. There is central heating throughout the building 35 07 31b

The Hundred House Society realised that young married people were not getting a very good chance of obtaining a house. Nothing in the world matters more that that they should have happy home lives and that marriage and the bringing up of children should be the happiest and jolliest business that could ever happen to them. Eastfields was the most beautiful housing scheme and those who had been selected would make very good tenants. The rents were set at what they could more-or-less comfortably pay, without the Society making excessive profits 35 07 31c

August 1935 CDN & Cambridge Standard

1935 08 01
After a very close debate Cambridge councillors voted to continue lighting the streets with gas. Councillor Kenney said the lighting was bad and it was ridiculous to think of giving a ten years' contract to gas. Street after street was almost entirely one-sided as regarded lighting. Beyond Hills Road railway bridge all the lamps were on the left hand side and the place was in shadow. Nothing could take the place of electric lamps suspended over the streets. But in London where there were no long lines of electric wires from remote stations there had been a number of breakdowns. How much more would that apply to Cambridge? 35 08 01

1935 08 02
The new swimming bath on Coldham's Common was opened by the Mayor, Alderman R. Starr. There was some regret that his Worship did not take the first plunge into the 150 feet long pool, which takes its water from the high level stream, and youthful spectators had to be restrained from going in as soon as the doors were unlocked. There is a diving tower and spring board at the deep end with dressing sheds and a space fenced off for sun bathing. 35 08 02a

The foundation stone of the new Roman Catholic Schools in Union Road was laid by the Bishop of Northampton. Such schools were almost as important as churches. Catholics cannot be satisfied with a sort of elementary Christian faith: their children must be taught as soon as they are able to read and understand. Cambridge Catholics would have to make very considerable sacrifices: more than £8,000 would be required when the new schools were completed. 35 08 02

1935 08 02 CS

Tales of our villages by M.S. Gabrielle Breeze: stories founded on actual events: Haslingfield man hung 1381. 35 08 02CS

Lord Fairhaven scheme to award beauty in dwellings and gardens: Bottisham & Lode. 35 08 02CS

1935 08 03
Elsworth cottages destroyed by fire on Furbank's farm – 35 08 03

Town council and street lighting – 35 08 03a

Prince the Airedale dog owned by Mrs Rowell of Fair Street is one of the most persistent cadgers. His life-long occupation is to sit in a public house and beg for pennies from customers which he does by tapping their pockets with his muzzle to make them jingle. If he is offered a penny he goes to the counter and buyers a biscuit which he lays at the feet of the donor and waits for permission to eat. He also goes to the shop and buys a newspaper for his mistress every morning. 35 08 03b

Don't forget to 'touch wood' at Touchwood Cottage on the main Cambridge – Newmarket main road between Bottisham and Newmarket. You will get nice teas here, and light refreshments are served at all times at moderate charges. Open to midnight (Advertisement featuring photograph of the cottage) 35 08 03c

1935 08 06
Brinkley British Legion standard was dedicated in the grounds of Brinkley Hall. The Bishop of Ely said they owed a debt to those who had laid down their lives during war and also to the tens of thousands of men maimed, wounded, invalided, blind and incapable of profitable employment. He called on the ordinary man to exert himself in the cause of peace and pointed out the results of dictatorship 35 08 06

The management of the Theatre Cinema (New Theatre) have returned to their popular cine-variety policy. There are four excellent stage turns and an exceptionally fine film. A snappily presented singing and dancing act featuring Jack Lewis and his Rolling Stones with the Wellington Sisters forms the principal item in the stage show, combining dancing by a cheery trio, saxophone work and percussion 'fireworks'. Savona is a remarkable juggler while 'the racketeers of mirth, Roy Lester and Jack Cranston offer a quick-fire cross-talk act. Finally Sereno and June's head-to-head balancing and tumbling act has much which is new even in these days when vaudeville simply abounds with this kind of act. 35 08 06a

Fifteen thousand people flocked to the Conservative Association' Gogs fete on August Bank Holiday. The steady flow hardly stopped for a moment as they came by car, motor cycle, cycle and on foot. One is tempted to wonder how long it will be before visitors begin to arrive by air. Although entertainment predominated most of the competitions and side-shows were hushed while people crowded round the cricket ground to hear Lord Burghley, chairman of the Junior Imperial League. Many availed themselves of the rest lounge with a comfortable seat in the shade, a cigarette and a cooling drink, all for threepence. 35 08 06

1935 08 07
Hauxton bridge dangerous – 35 08 07

1935 08 08
There were ten back-to-back houses in London Road and The Warren, Royston. The living room was practically underground, there was no through ventilation, sanitary accommodation and water supply were inadequate and they were in a bad state of disrepair. A large amount would have to be spent to make them fit for human habitation and they should be demolished. But there were no vacant houses to which the tenants could go and they were quite content where they were, an Inquiry was told. 35 08 08

Probation report – 35 08 08a

Sawston water supply – 35 08 08a

1935 08 09
The Weights and Measures Inspector said he was shown into the vaults of the Sun Inn, Stretham, where he noticed some small glasses used when quarts were taken into the men who played dominoes. There was a quart measure with a broken spout which was a good mouthful short. He wanted to take it away but the landlady said he could not do that until she got another one, adding 'What am I to do tonight'. She said no one ever asked for a quart of beer nowadays but would not say what she used it for. 35 08 09

1935 08 10
Fire broke out in the New Street Council Schools. Large crowds flocked to Young Street to see the smoke pouring from the roof and many other people had views from upper windows. Firemen broke away the tiles and beams and poured water on the smouldering wood which then flowed through the classrooms where painters had been busy working. 35 08 10

Caius, p5

1935 08 12
Houses were threatened when a line of flame swept three-quarters of a mile of land from Trumpington to Hills Road. In Long Road helpers beat desperately at the flames to prevent them spreading along the hedges to the gardens of near-by houses whose residents used garden hoses to dampen them down Dozens of rabbits raced wildly over the charred ground and a leveret was turned into a living mass of flame. The verge caught alight, clouds of white smoke making it impossible for passing traffic to pass at more than a crawl. Vehicles were diverted via Cherry Hinton and all available police were mobilised to control the traffic and help fight the fire 35 08 12

1935 08 15
A special meeting was called to discuss a complaint from Marshall's Flying School who felt the council was obstructing their business by aligning a road across the existing aerodrome site so they could not compete with a planned municipal airfield. Councillor A.C. Taylor had gone away on vacation but on receiving the agenda had chartered an aeroplane to get to the meeting. Ald Stephen said there had been a number of underhand actions and he wanted an assurance that Marshall's would not be prejudiced. It was agreed that the previous resolution was not in order. 35 08 15

1935 08 16
Edward ('Ted') Phillips was Cambridge's best-known and most popular watermen. He was Light Blue waterman, or badgeman, up to the time of his death. He started work in a boatyard at the age of 12 and was appointed Varsity waterman in 1868, erecting starting and finishing posts, repairing boats and sometimes breaking ice on the river. As a coach he had some remarkable successes. One of his most prized possessions was a photograph of his father, his seven brothers and himself in an eight together 35 08 16

1935 08 16 CS
Ellington windmill being demolished prior to transfer to Madingley: photo. 35 08 16&(2)CS

Joe Mullins the boxer, gymnasium planned at Bottisham Bell Inn. 35 08 16(3)CS

1935 08 19
Sir – I am sorry to hear there is a proposal to construct an aerodrome near Cambridge. There is no town in England where one is less wanted. An aerodrome is the first and most legitimate target for the bombs of enemy aircraft, which would soon wreck our priceless buildings. In peace time we should be worried day and night by the drone of aircraft engines. They should be placed away from cities and important railway junctions as aeroplanes may crash in flames at any time – J.E. Allen, Cambridge. 35 08 19

Two semi-detached cottages were completely destroyed by fire at Kirtling. The occupants, Edward Levell and George Potter, an engine driver employed at Cheveley, escaped without injury. Smoke was first seen rising from the thatched roof. It came from a smouldering beam and was extinguished but later the whole of the thatch suddenly blazed up. Furniture in the downstairs room was hurriedly dragged out and before the Newmarket rural fire brigade had time to arrive the two cottages were blazing fiercely. The nearest supply of water was a pond too muddy for use and the other source was half a mile away. 35 08 19a

1935 08 20
Eastfield Estate tenants committee formed – 35 08 20

Fire near East Hunts Waterworks Company premises Bourn – 35 08 20a

1935 08 21
Most of the villagers of Duxford turned out about lunch-time to help get furniture from two houses whose upper stories were gutted by fire. With dense clouds of smoke hampering their efforts men and women strove to save property from Mayfield Villa. Not until they were ordered to leave would they give up. The flames quickly got a good hold and within half-an-hour the roof had crashed in. Two bedsteads and a sea-chest containing a uniform were destroyed but a plate on the wall advertising that the owner is an insurance agent was untouched by the flames. 35 08 21

A long-felt need in Ely was discussed when young men met at the White Hart Hotel to consider the formation of the Ely Excelsior Sports and Social Club. It would meet at the hotel from 6 to 10 each evening offering billiards and table tennis together with a special room for reading. Whist drives and dances could be arranged during the winter and socials held every month. However a proposition that monthly magazines and daily newspapers should be purchased was not carried. 35 08 21a

1935 08 22
A petrol station, café and several houses on the Cambridge Road at Foxton were menaced by a fire which started in the grass behind Capt. Martin's garage. The wind threatened to blow the flames on to the café premises and petrol pumps but good work by the brigade got it under control. It was the second outbreak at the same place except that the first was away from the buildings and the brigade was not sent in case of more serious calls and owing to the lack of water. Stacks were also destroyed at Fen Drayton when the flames travelling 'faster than a horse can gallop' spread a mile across country. 35 08 22

With rods and a look that combined gladness and determination, a children's army a thousand strong gathered on Parker's Piece, intent on getting their fish. A free outing to St Ives, an afternoon's fishing, a tea, sports and prizes was arranged by the Albion Angling Society. Ice-cream men did a roaring trade and one enterprising draper sold a number of Panama hats before the quarter-mile long procession set off for the station headed by the band of the Boys' Brigade. The children's match was started about 30 years ago but stopped during the war and was not revived until 1928 or 1929. 35 08 22a

1935 08 23
Many years ago Madingley windmill was as famous a landmark as those at Bourn or Fulbourn. But in 1909 a great gale blew the mill down and the oak timbers were so badly smashed as to make restoration impossible. Now the Squire of Madingley has purchased an old post-mill at Ellington. There are four sails and the timbers are in an excellent state of preservation. Workmen are engaged in the delicate task of dismantling the mill and foundations are now being dug for it to be erected on the old site at Madingley Hill. 35 08 23

1935 08 23 CS
Last days of the 'Horse-grind' ferry: photo. 35 08 23CS

Witchcraft at Harlton: tales not based on fact. 35 08 23(2)CS

1935 08 24
Laying foundation for new bridge over Cam on site of Horse Grind Ferry – photo – 35 08 24

Madingley Mill notes by Charles French, last tenant – 35 08 24a

1935 08 27
An 84-year-old Haslingfield man was summoned for assault. He had gone to the pump with his pail and told a group of youths that they had no business loitering there on a Sunday evening. Having filled his pail he deliberately poured some of the water down the back of one lad's legs, then shot the rest of the contents of the pail over him and starting swinging it round saying "I will cut your b--- head off". The old man said there'd been friction with members of the village Cricket Club who left their bicycles against his house. The lads had pulled his fence down as fast as he'd put it up but he'd driven them away with a coal hammer. The case was dismissed 35 08 27b

Political travelling cinema, New Square car park – photo – 35 08 27
Widening Long Road railway bridge – photo – 35 08 27a

1935 08 28
Regent Street traffic congestion during roadworks – photo – 35 08 28
New front to Lloyd's Bank, Sidney St – photo – 35 08 28a

1935 08 30 CS
The highwaymen of Gamlingay in C17. 35 08 30&(2)(3)CS

September 1935 CDN & Cambridge Standard

1935 09 02
A widow, married woman and a waiter were charged with procuring a miscarriage. The man said a girl arrived in Cambridge and told him she wanted something done. He went to Mrs S—who said she knew a woman to go to. There was only one thing that might be effective. It would cost £3. But Mrs D--- said she'd been only paid £1.10s for what she had done. 35 09 02

1935 09 03
Fire, p1
Six families are rendered homeless and a Methodist chapel has been destroyed at a fire at Whaddon. One man had to jump out of his bedroom windows clad only in a pyjama jacket. The blaze started in an eight-roomed farmhouse. In the same block are the chapel and six four-roomed cottages, five of which were occupied. The cause of the outbreak remains a mystery 35 09 03 & 03a

Ernest Zaratini, depot manager for T. Wall, ice-cream merchant at Cambridge told the court that a man was sent to him from the Labour Exchange and engaged as an ice-cream vendor. He was issued with a complete outfit and ice-cream and went off on his round. The tricycle was later found abandoned in Gold Street close to the White Ribbon Hostel. There was £1.6s.4d worth of ice-cream missing. 35 09 03a

1935 09 04

A crowd of 2,000 people invaded Marshall's Aerodrome to see a demonstration by M. Henry Mignet of his marvellous little machine, 'The Flying Flea'. Thousands of people would love to fly but could not afford an ordinary plane so he had built 'The Flea' which was a combination of kite and parachute. It cost £70 to build and can do 40 miles per gallon. He took it up to 1,000 feet and then cut the engine. The little machine floated gently to earth like a parachute and made a perfect landing. 35 09 04b – photo – 35 09 04

James Binney purchased the Manor of Pampisford with the mansion, grounds and estate in 1895. He served as a Magistrate, Deputy-Lieutenant and High Sheriff as well as special constable, churchwarden, chairman of the parish council and Commandant of Duxford and Ickleton Boy Scouts. When the Great War broke out he offered his services and whilst waiting for his commission assisted, with Lady Marjory and Miss Binney, at the Red Cross Hospital at Whittlesford. 35 09 04a.

People in Mawson Road had a shock when a chimney stack crashed down into the roadway from the roof of no.74. George Watts said a mass of bricks and rubble were shot over the pavement and a chimney pot fell clean through his greenhouse. He believes recent heavy rains, after the excessively dry weather experienced this summer, must have had a loosening effect upon the mortar. Fortunately no one was injured by the occurrence 35 09 04c

1935 09 06
Ely Council have rejected many sewage scheme following objections by residents. But a new Simplex aeration system can be accommodated at the old site at Common Muckhill. There is no smell or anything else unpleasant. There was no emptying of tanks, no carting of sludge or the nuisance caused by emptying. One-tenth of the total flow of sewage comes from the Brewery as trade effluent and the council will negotiate with them in this matter 35 09 06 & a

Lazarus Potter has just celebrated his 106th birthday at Kingston, Victoria. He was born at West Wratting in July 1829 and went to South Australia in the ship 'Caroline' in 1838, two years after the colony was proclaimed. He has always had good health, has never worn spectacles and only stopped chopping wood for his fire two years ago. His descendants include six children, all still living, 29 grandchildren, 13 great-grandchildren and two great great-grandchildren. 35 09 06b

1935 09 06 CS
Ancient inns of Cambridge; the 'Post Office' and the 'White Horse'. 35 09 06CS

Keeper of Baitsbite Lock, H. Dewsberry, to retire, from Lt Thetford. 35 09 06(2)CS # c.26.3

1935 09 07
New theatre on Peas Hill takes shape – photo – 35 09 07

Victoria Road Industrial School for poor boys – photo c1860 – 35 09 07a

1935 09 10
The new Post Office sorting department at Petersfield has a vast and spacious garage complete with repair and painting shops for the upkeep of a fleet of vans. Altogether 50 vehicles are sent out and should anything go wrong a staff of mechanics can tackle the job at once. Even painting and complete overhauling is done. The various sections in the sorting department now have plenty of room with the latest equipment including two electrical stamping machines which deal with the letters at an incredible speed. 35 09 10a

St Ives staunch collapse – photo – 35 09 10

1939 09 11
Swavesey stationmaster appointed – 35 09 11

1935 09 12
Stretham wedding of Francis Fuller, Padney and Miss R.L. Fuller – 35 09 12

The White Horse Inn at the foot of Castle Hill is a 15th-century building surrounded with mystery. Between the two chimney stacks is said to exist a small secret room once used by Royalists as a hiding place from their enemies. The entrance was probably by way of the chimney but as the wide fireplaces have been bricked up there is no means of ascertaining whether there were iron rungs on one side. But inside a cupboard on the first floor landing is an iron door built a few years ago to enable a sweep to enter. The mystery may be solved if and when the building is demolished, as it may be in the near future for road widening purposes. 35 09 12a

1939 09 13
Two large stacks of hay, the property of Walter Doggett, were completely destroyed in a blaze of several hours' duration in a field down Queen Edith's Way. The heat of the blaze scorched the hedge bounding the fields for many yards and reduced a wooden gate to little more than charcoal. There was a continual stream of onlookers many of whom thought that some of the new houses along that part of the road were burning. Several times the crowd split up hurriedly as someone saw a rat or mouse making a hurried exit from its flame-spread home. 35 09 13a

Observer Corps established – 35 09 13

Bursar of Pembroke College, H.G. Comber dies – 35 09 13b & 14

1935 09 14
St Ives police station is entirely inadequate and unsatisfactory, the Chief Constable reported. Two adjoining cottages could be bought and pulled down for an Inspector's house or there was a very good site known as Bible Orchard for an entirely new station. But Alderman Tebbitt did not think they were justified in spending money and that the present court room was quite adequate 35 09 14a

Peterhouse – the oldest Cambridge foundation – was threatened by a fire which broke out in a staircase in Gisbourne Court early in the morning. The Master, Sir William Birdwood (70) was one the scene from the start and did not leave until everything was safe, two hours later. Staircase H which contains six sets of rooms, was extensively damaged and several hundred books ruined. Its cause remains a mystery for the staircase, which is not far from the old Noah's Ark staircase, has been unoccupied since August 35 09 14b

St Ives Institution is empty and its condition getting worse every month. The roof was dangerous and two wings were bad but the children's ward and front part of the institution were fairly satisfactory. The Public Assistance Committee are apposed to it being used again as a children's home but it might be converted into six or eight homes houses for workers. They would be easy to let as there are hundreds of applications for houses 35 09 14c

1935 09 17
A gale which raged all night wreaked sad havoc amongst the lefty avenues and clusters of trees of which Cambridge is so proud. The Backs bore the appearance of having been shelled by a volley of artillery and Queen's Road had to be closed. A Huntingdon elm, the pride of Trinity garden, was blown down. A tree was blown half into the water at Jesus Green Baths while another came down near Park Parade. Hundreds of 'conkers' were blown down, to the delight of the kiddies and large quantities of ripe and unripe fruit fell on the ground. 35 09 17

Sir – Burwell Public Reading Room has been closed for several months. The closure arose through some noisy louts who were permitted to become a great nuisance. For many years its tables provided daily and weekly newspapers and journals and some reference shelves were available. Never in the history of our country is it more necessary for the public to be able to read newspapers of different views. Burwell is the largest village in the county but the number of borrowers through the County

Lending Library is very low: the building is only open for an hour or so on certain evenings which is quite inadequate – "Old Burwell Boy" 35 09 17b

1935 09 20 CS
Hidden stories of old Cambridgeshire; the riddle of the dykes, lost village of Lt Linton. 35 09 20&(2)CS

Longstanton church roof repairs: photo. 35 09 20(3)CS

Peas Hill transformation: work on Guildhall site. 35 09 20(4)CS

1935 09 21
Marshall's aerodrome protected should council develop nearby – 35 09 21
ASLIB conference – 35 09 21a

1935 09 23
Ely Isolation Hospital – 35 09 23

An inquiry at the Golden Lion, Stonea heard from the driver of a baker's cart that he was going along the road towards Boots Bridge when he met a horse and trolley near the Methodist Church. He turned his van round further along the road and saw the horse and trolley disappear over the bank into the river. He rushed to the scene and got the driver to the bank but he died of heart failure through sudden immersion into the cold water. Emily Atkin said the horse appeared to be very restless, the deceased touched it with a whip when it reared up and backed into the river. 35 09 23a

On Saturday night the village of Barkway was aroused by cries of 'Fire!' Flames had been seen shooting through the roof of The Elms, an eight-roomed house. Adjoining, under a continuous roof is The Gables with a carpenter's and paint shop to which the blaze spread. It is an Elizabethan building and was the Corn Exchange when the market was transferred from Barkway to Royston. Every room is panelled with inflammable pitch pine and there is a very valuable oak staircase. Both buildings were saved. 35 09 23b

The hamlets of Pymore and Oxlode suffered severely by the visitation of a hail storm, the worst in living memory. It stripped slates and tiles from the roofs of houses and smashed windows. Scarcely a residence escaped and numerous cases of ten, twelve and even fourteen windows being broken in one house were reported. Holy Trinity church and day school had the entire side windows smashed and both Methodist chapels suffered badly. The LNER signal box had nine windows broken and the roof damaged. Hundreds of birds and small animals were killed. 35 09 23b

1935 09 24
Messrs H.J. Gray of Cambridge, who manufacture sports requisites at the Playfair Works is to establish a new company in Ireland where the Government has imposed Customs duty on finished racquets, hockey sticks and cricket bats. Suitable wood is available and the quality of the goods made will compare favourably with those previously imported 35 09 24

A six-wheeler lorry containing a full load of sugar was destroyed near Abington cross-roads when the engine suddenly back-fired and burst into flames. The fire reached the sugar and burned furiously despite the efforts of the driver and his mate to drag it off. Five of the tyres and the whole of the load and the lorry were entirely destroyed. All that remained was the off-side front tyre and wheel. Over 12 hours later the sugar was still burning and had the appearance of burning coke. Men spent hours scraping the burnt sugar off the road. Many motorists stopped to inspect the wreckage. 35 09 24

1935 09 25
Viscount Forbes, a Trinity College undergraduate, expects to make an attempt shortly on the outboard motor boat record with a remarkable machine stored at Marshall's garage at Cambridge. Tests were carried out on the Adelaide course of a mile near Ely when an average speed of nearly 60 mph was obtained but on the return run the unit was badly damaged. Looking like a shimmering torpedo the boat has a six cylinder super-charged engine which emits an ear-splitting scream when full out 35 09 25 & a

1935 09 26
Tithe appeals – 35 09 26

New estates – Storeys Way & Gilbert Road – 35 09 26a

1935 09 27
Before the war the peat industry was flourishing and enabled families in the fens to obtain a livelihood from a natural product. There is still a demand for it as fuel in private houses and by nurserymen and gardens for horticultural purposes. Peat is obtainable in Cambridge at a cost of twenty-four shillings for 600 pieces (technically called 1,000) delivered. While not suitable for closed stoves and grates it is very pleasant for the hearth fires found in so many houses today. Pieces are 11x4 inches, are clean to handle and take up little room when stacked. It can only be dug in fine weather so orders should be placed as soon as possible with the Rural Community Council, Cambridgeshire House, Hills Road, Cambridge 35 09 27

The opening of Bacon Bros' new premises on Market Hill will forge a new link in a unique chain of tradition. Old ledgers record the names of customer who became famous in every walk of life including the Prince of Wales, the future Baron Rothschild and both Alfred and Charles Tennyson. The new interior fittings are made of cedar so that the shop is like a giant cigar box with many relics of bygone days. Verses from the 'Ode to Tobacco' by Charles Stuart Calverley which featured on the wall of the old building in Rose Crescent until its demolition last year are to make their reappearance in the form of a bronze tablet. 35 09 27b & 28a

1935 09 27 CS
Chapel by the fair: St Mary's, Stourbridge. 35 09 27CS

1935 09 28
The Silver Jubilee streamlined express drawn by the new LNER locomotive, the Silver Link, broke the speed record for British trains by reaching 112 miles an hour between Hitchin and Huntingdon, missing the world record by 8mph – 35 09 28

A new agricultural machine, known as the gyrotiller, has been working on Vicar's Farm, Madingley Road. It stirs up the soil very deeply – as much as two feet if required – and breaks up the hard 'roof' just below the surface. It leaves no 'wheelings' and so it is not necessary to sent a horse to plough into the field to finish up after it. Its action seems ideal and crops yielded by land on which it has been used are extremely good. 35 09 28b

Novel 'The Days of his Youth' by E.H. Lacon Watson depicts University life – 35 09 28c

Dr Alan Gray composed many famous pieces of Church music. In 1893 he was appointed organist of Trinity College and was conductor of the University Musical Society – 35 09 28d

Stretham lost a widely-known resident by the death of the Rev Frederick William Savidge whose father carried on business as grocer and draper in the village. After graduating he became interested in missionary work and spent 30 years in North India training natives, many of whom became missionaries. Three years ago he came to reside with Mr & Mrs W.K. Gautrey of Pond Street where he wrote the story of his life, a copy of which was requested by the King. He had also been in demand as a lecturer on his experiences. 35 09 28e

October 1935 CDN & Cambridge Standard

1935 10 01
Cambridge Justices approved the plans of Associated British Cinemas for a new cinema to be erected in St Andrew's Street. The site had been left derelict after fire burnt down a large part of the Castle Hotel in 1934. The application was opposed by the Theatre Cinema and the Rendezvous. There were nine cinemas in Cambridge with 6,300 seats and it would be impossible for them all to carry on if a super cinema like this were built. The Victoria was built four years ago, the Arts Theatre was completely new and the Rendezvous was having more seats and an organ. But the Cosmopolitan had closed and the Guildhall and Corn Exchange licences were rarely used. 35 10 01 & a

Charles Kidman of the well-known Cambridge building firm was inspecting work on the Co-op's new bakery in Sleaford Street when he almost fell from the scaffolding. He was caught and held by the foreman. Doctors decided he must be kept lying down and the Fire Brigade's new water tower was brought to the scene. The escape ladder was extended over the spot where Mr Kidman lay. He was placed on a cradle made of planks, swung out into the air and lowered to the ground. 35 10 01b

1935 10 02
Photographic Club agm 35 10 02

As a result of neglect of the river trees had fallen into the Great Ouse and the accumulation of silt had formed islands. In some places it had been difficult to find a river at all and some 500 miles had been cleared out. The River Board was endeavouring to keep a channel clear but weeds were a problem. The whole of the South Level is settling due to improved drainage by modern pumping machinery but the high river banks are also settling, faster than the fens themselves. At Denver the inrush of water brought in silt from the Wash meaning the bed of the river was rising, the Catchment Board's engineer reported. 35 10 02

1935 10 03
Building of Cromwell Park housing estate – photo – 35 10 02a Perne Road – 35 10 03 # c.23

1935 10 04
The housing position at Longstowe is scandalous. No working men's cottages have been built for over 70 years. Two old thatched cottages had been condemned but there was nowhere else for the occupants to live. Half of the residents have to go half-a-mile for drinking water and mothers are unable to wash their children's clothes. But Hunts Water Company said it suffered no special hardship when compared to other places. During the drought residents only had to fetch water a matter of 500 yards and improvements would need a new mains 35 10 04 & a

1935 10 04 CS
Golden Jubilee of New Chesterton Institute: history. 35 10 04CS

Eastfield Estate recommended for R.I.B.A. medal: feature. 35 10 04(2)CS

Cambridge coffee-houses: history. 35 10 04(3)CS

King & Harper advertisement for car; includes colour. 35 10 04(4)CS

1935 10 05
Novel 'Days of Youth' by E.H. Lacon Watson – 35 10 05 # c.74

The Trinity Lane corner of Caius College was left black in the cleaning operations that have been taken place during the Vacation. This was to show the contrast. Now it is receiving attention like the rest of the building. Messrs Johnson and Bailey say it was impossible to erect scaffolding owing to the traffic down Trinity Lane so it had to be done piecemeal from ladders. The excellent result has been achieved simply by the use of water and stiff scrubbing brushes. 35 10 05a

1935 10 07
Coming up – pictures of undergraduates luggage arriving – 35 10 07

Joseph Gordon Macleod, director of the Festival Theatre, has announced its closure because of lack of further capital – 35 10 07a

The Cambridge Wireless Retailers Association show has several stands carrying a full range of the local product, Pye, including the all-wave model, the radiogramophone and the battery and all-elect superhets and portables. For those who have a preference for non-factory made sets there is the Harvey model. This locally-made receiver is made by hand with all the skill and care which expert workmanship can give it. One of the features for which it is noted is its great reliability. 35 10 07b

1935 10 09
Mrs H.M. Swanwick autobiography 'I have been young' includes Girton & suffrage – 35 10 09 & a

1935 10 10
E.H. Lacon novel 'In the days of his Youth', set in Cambridge 35 10 10

1935 10 11
Sir – No one thinks that Gothic Street is a foul place, no one condemns it as a place when undesirable people live, but the Mayor was quite right in saying that no one will put up with people punching each other on the nose or booing people. He did not condemn a neighbourhood, but the conduct which happened there. I wish to assure my friends in Gothic Street that the rest of Cambridge does not regard them as undesirable, but only a single and unfortunate incident – Charles Joseph. 35 10 11

1935 10 12
St Columba's Mission, p5

1935 10 14
A hard road through the fen from Isleham to Prickwillow had become urgent owing to the Lark river bank being covered with gault by the Ouse Catchment Board, preventing its use by traffic. It had been used by people on foot or on horse and in 1788 tolls were charged at the Prickwillow end which had continued until recent years. A hamlet grew up with three public houses before 1835 and a school built in 1879. But it was a private road that could not be taken over by the County Council until it had been put in repair by the owners of the land. 35 10 14 & a

The electric light which has been installed in Trumpington church was designed by Professor Richardson and the old wrought iron gas standards and brackets have been used as far as possible. In addition there are six pendants in the west bays of the church which give the effect of flood-lighting without its disadvantages and do not break the lines of the graceful pillars. Most of the work has been done locally and E.W. Haynes was praised for wiring without cutting into the stonework. The cost of £89 has been raised by parishioners. 35 10 14b

1935 10 15
Newmarket Golf Links new club house has been erected by Lord Wolverton in memory of his father. It was designed by the Slade Professor of Arts at Oxford University and built by H.W. Hunt of Cambridge; the Newmarket Electric Light Company supplied the appliances. It is of the bungalow type, with accommodation for ladies on the first floor. The dining room has oak strip flooring and is divided from the hall with folding doors. 'Freddie' Wolverton was a great game hunter, a challenger for the America's Cup and afterwards took up facing and golf. He was a shy and retiring man who never did an unkind thing in the whole of his life. He did not make friends easily but never lost a friend once he had made one. 35 10 15

1935 10 16

Bryan Smith Motors wound up – 35 10 16

1935 10 17
The foundations of the Small Room of the Guildhall, which also supported the Borough Surveyor's room, are in such bad conditions that they must be demolished earlier than planned. It had been hoped to defer demolition until the Surveyor could move into the new wing of the Guildhall being built on Peas Hill. A ditch had been found under the site. Assurances were sought that the foundations of the rest of the Guildhall, especially the Large Room, were secure because weaknesses were not generally found in one spot but existed in veins all over the area. 35 10 17a

Sidney Street to be widened at no cost to council 35 10 17

1935 10 18
Sir – while I was at the Theatre Cinema some kind individual stole the dynamo from the back wheel of my bicycle which was in the theatre cycle shed. It could only have been undone with the aid of a screwdriver and whether the lamp-snatcher is an amateur or professional, he certainly made a good job. Some people seem to have a mania for collecting, pumps and lamps and should by now be able to set up a retail store. I hope something will soon be done about these thefts which are happening every night by the dozen. – R.H. Stanton 35 10 18

Sir – Last Saturday afternoon I saw a fellow stuck more than half-way up Market Street with a car. He had been into a nearby shop and carefully turned the petrol off. When he came out he found a string of cars and buses held up. He got flustered at the situation, pressed the starter and nothing happened. I swung it about four times for him, and still nothing happened. Then I helped him push it down the street out of the way, and there found out the trouble. – Albert Baker 35 10 18a Controversy surrounded the offer of £10,000 from Sir John Davenport Siddeley for developing aeronautical research in the University. Some dons felt it would subsidise research of a military character of pecuniary value to armament manufacturers. But others say the ultimate influence of the aeroplane upon civilisation will be pacific rather than warlike. It was abhorrent that the University should become a centre of specifically military research but this money would be used for work of a fundamental and non-military character 35 10 18b

1935 10 18 CS
Spiritualism address. 35 10 18CS

1935 10 19
The new Rendezvous cinema and ballroom was opened with a recital by Reginald Dixon, the famous Blackpool organist. It is the latest in modern styles with new plush 'tip-ups' accommodating 1,100 people, the latest Penum heating and ventilation and the Compton organ. Film star Charles (Buddy) Rogers said it was as beautiful as any he had seen in the United States. The show was late starting as guests were unable to get through the congestion in the street outside. Afterwards a private reception and dance was held in the new ballroom which has also been redecorated and re-furnished throughout. 35 10 22, 35 10 19

Second stage, p1
Meadowlands, p6

1925 10 21
A pleasant little function took place at the Park Street School when the Bishop of Ely paid a visit to see the improvements carried out to the babies' room to accommodate a further 35 babies. 35 10 21

1935 10 23
Since the Rev E.J. White came to Orwell in 1928 he has effected many improvements in the village church and the original 17th-century bells have been re-hung. Four of them were taken down about 60 years ago owing to the weakening of the supporting timbers and left standing at the foot of the tower. Mr White raised £300 to have the five bells recast, re-tuned and re-hung in the belfry which has been strengthened with iron girders. He also installed new heating apparatus and the churchyard has been extended and consecrated. 35 10 23

The Minister of Heath criticised Godmanchester Town Council for delaying a water supply scheme that had been agreed with Huntingdon town council. The Town Clerk and the Medical Officer resigned as did two councillors. Tenders had already been submitted and it was the most unbusinesslike thing the Council had ever done. But the Mayor said the lowest tender was far above the engineer's estimate and the Ministry had not sanctioned a loan to carry out the work. 35 10 23a

1935 10 24
A new school may be erected on the disused wood yard adjoining Huntingdon North Station. Lord Sandwich had provided 12 acres from his private park, one of the finest things ever done for education in the county. Provision would be made for sports pitches and probably a bathing pool. A beautiful set of plans had been produced but Alderman Wood Horn wanted economies made to bring the cost nearer the original £12,000 rather than the present £33,000 scheme. 35 10 24

1935 10 25
The first new Morris 8-10 cwt light van in Cambridge has been supplied to Matthew and Sons Ltd of Trinity Street. It is revolutionary in its design with an offset engine mounting and a large rear opening for loading. The spare wheel, an eyesore on even the most attractive car, is neatly concealed in a carrier which incorporates the rear number plate. It has dipping headlights and traffic signal arms. The most remarkable feature is the price of £169 10s. in ship grey with blue or green paint three pound extra.35 10 25

The new Senior School off Gilbert Road, Chesterton contains separate departments for senior boys and girls, each with its own assembly hall fitted with a stage and cinema projection room. The boys department has science laboratory and woodwork and metalwork rooms while the girls' includes provision for cookery, laundry and dressmaking. A changing room, fitted with shower baths, has been included in connection with organised games. 35 10 25a

Ramsey and Muspratt's photographic work will be even more distinctive by the use of the solarization process in certain of their portraits. It produces quite different results from the usual photograph as by chemical means a black line is made to outline the face of the subject giving it the appearance of a drawing. Their other work captures not only the face but the character of the subject. An exhibition of photographs features Dr Alex Wood and Cavendish Laboratory scientist Mr Searle together with charming child studies full of the joy of living. Others are of commercial work, showing interiors and pictures from unusual angles. 35 10 25b # c.65.5

Sidney Street widening, p1

1935 10 25 CS
Rendezvous cinema transformed: feature. 35 10 25CS # c.76.9

Burwell fen riots; villagers' fight for ancient rights, by Charles Lucas. 35 10 25(2), 35 11 01(3)CS

1935 10 26
The Three Tuns public house at Castle Hill was a picturesque building and there were too few of that sort remaining. Dick Turpin was supposed to have stayed there at one time, but that was purely legendary. Mr Northfield had restored it some years ago so as to make people think it was really an ancient building but it had just been painted to look like a half-timbered house. It was not fit for human habitation and the Cambridge Preservation Society could not appeal for its retention 35 10 26a

Guildhall cartoon, p6

1935 10 28
A folk museum may be established in the old White Horse Inn following a meeting called by Cambridge Rotary Club. It should be a town and county museum for objects of local interest. Dr Palmer offered some of the items which had accumulated in the attic of a house where his ancestors had lived for 300 years. This was only the beginning: the ideal folk museum should be in the open, a space in which old cottages, smithies, a windmill and other things could be shown. 35 10 28 & a

Downham mill, p5

1935 10 31
An Arrington blacksmith told the bankruptcy court that he started in business in 1932 at his father's smithy at Old North Road. He had about £15 of his own money. Things went well for a time but then everything went slack, the shoeing business becoming practically derelict owing to mechanical power superseding horses. In 1933 he bought a motor lorry to start a haulage business but it was always breaking down and eventually became useless. He bought another for £20 but got very little work and did not make much money. 35 10 31

Henry Philip Chalk was one of the best-known and respected auctioneers. He started business in Cambridge in 1880 as an agricultural auctioneer and valuer. Beside the stock sale which he conducted at the 'Earl of Derby' he attended the opening of the Cambridge Borough Market in 1885 at the same time as Mr A.T. Grain. In Linton he had a member of the parish council from its inception and chairman since 1907, a foundation manager of the church school and churchwarden for 54 years. In his younger days he was well-known as a fast bowler and represented Cambridgeshire at cricket 35 10 31a

Basil Beaumont art exhibition – 35 10 31b

November 1935 CDN & Cambridge Standard

1935 11 01
A family of Hillrow Causey had a narrow escape when their isolated bungalow was destroyed by fire. Mr Bonnett, a horse keeper, was awakened by the barking of his dog which was chained outside the only door of the house and got his family to safety before the roof collapsed. Captain Peacock of Haddenham Fire Brigade decided nothing could be done to save any of the buildings. Three horses, a dog and several fowls were burnt to death. The engine used for threshing poultry had been moved earlier in the day to refill with water and was intact. Fanned by the strong wind the flames leapt across the Drove and destroyed two hay ricks, the property of Arthur Thulbourne. 35 11 01

1935 11 01 CS
Folk Museum: White Horse Inn may house Folk Museum. 35 11 01&(2)CS

University election campaign. 35 11 01CS

King & Harper advertisement, colour. 35 11 01(2)CS

1935 11 02
Isleham woman drowned in water butt – 35 11 02
Sutton lady drowned in Forty-Foot River near Carter's Bridge – 35 11 02
G.W. Townsend was one of the first editors of the CDN in its early days; afterwards went to East Anglian Daily Times 35 11 02a

1935 11 05

A 'Fascism and War' exhibition organised by the Cambridge Anti-War Council discloses methods by which the illegal opposition movements in Germany and Italy distribute their literature disguised as items of a non-political nature. There is also propaganda printed on paper of tissue thinness and a method of photographing illegal printed matter and transposing it on paper which instantly goes black on exposure to light if opened by the police. The recipient knows to treat the paper chemically to counteract the effect. Also on display is also one of the Anti-Nazi leaflets spilled from the roof garden of a Berlin restaurant on to the streets below and a collection of abusive correspondence, including one from Ezra Pound, sent from Italy to a Fellow of King's College after he contributed certain views in an English paper 35 11 05 & a # c.45.6

Oil tanker crash at Pampisford – 35 11 05b 35 11 06

1935 11 06
New aerial view 35 11 06a
Guy Fawkes – traditional rag, few arrests – 35 11 06b

1935 11 07
Dr Gasteen of Gamlingay complained that a number of villagers were suffering from diarrhoea and sickness which he attributed to the quality of the water and in one case death had been accelerated by drinking it. Instructions had been given to boil water before use. Few of the wells were safe and the contamination was due to lack of sewerage facilities. He felt that a policy of evasion or obstruction was being pursued by the RDC. But councillors said it was a pity he did not come to the council and help carry out some of their things he suggested and no further action was taken 35 11 07

1935 11 08 CS
Foxton Hall as Nursing Home; dedication by Bishop. 35 11 08CS

1935 11 09
The licensee of the Wagon and Horses at Cottenham the court that a man planning to establish a branch the 'National Smallholders' Society' in the village had stayed several nights but had not settled the bill. A village dairyman said he'd paid five shillings to join the Society but had heard nothing more and did not receive a book of rules. Altogether 362 people had subscribed. Police saw a poster headed "National Smallholders' Society" in the window of a house in King Street, Cambridge and arrested the occupant. He was convicted for obtaining money by false pretences 35 11 09

Horse Grind Ferry going – will be replaced by bridge – photo - 35 11 09a

1935 11 11
The Two Minutes' Silence was observed. Life was paralysed and sound was stilled. A crowd of several hundreds gathered on Cambridge Market Hill, waiting. At two minutes to the hour a clock in the vicinity struck and a whistle blew on the Guildhall demolition site and the Silence began. Buses, cars, carts, cycles and pedestrians were perfectly still. When what was actually the first maroon went off at eleven the crowd mistook it for the second and during what should have been the Silence the ordinary bustle recommenced. The second maroon took everyone by surprise with the exception of the few who had realised the mistake and remained still. 35 11 11

1935 11 12
A six-year old boy who was riding on a horse drawing a wagon loaded with sugar beet was serious injured when it was struck by a train. The collision occurred when the crossing at Black Horse Drove was shrouded in thick fog. The 7.7 am from Hunstanton caught the rear of the wagon and scattered the beet in all directions. The front of the engine, lamp brackets and vacuum brakes were damaged. The horses and their driver escaped injury 35 11 12

1935 11 13

Important pieces of apparatus were installed at the Royal Society Mond Laboratory in Cambridge to enable Dr Kapitza to study very intense magnetic fields and experiment on low-temperature liquid helium. This work is of fundamental importance relating to properties of atomic nuclei. Now Lord Rutherford had agreed it should be sent to a laboratory being built by the Government of the USSR so that Kapitza can continue his research there, following his recall to Russia. 35 11 13

Sensation was caused among the villagers of Swaffham Bulbeck by a shooting affair which ended in the death of a young married man. His wife is nearly prostrate with grief. A particularly distressing feature of the tragedy is that there are five small children, all under the age of nine, and another is expected within a short time. The sensation was increased when, after a night search by police officers, another villager was charged with wilful murder. 35 11 13a & b 35 11 14a

1935 11 14
In view of the apparent apathy it is surprising that the number of electors who voted was so high. The excitement, so far as there was any, was greatest in the outlying districts. Residents in the newly-added areas such as Trumpington and Cherry Hinton had the curious experience of living in the Borough and voting (for Parliamentary elections) in the County. So did residents on the Hurst Park Estate which used to fall within the Impington parish boundary. At Brunswick Council Schools a blind man arrived. The inner room was cleared except for the presiding officer who told him the names of the candidates and then made a cross at the voter's selection. 35 11 14

1935 11 15
After the Cambridge declarations the victors went round to the Central Conservative Hall, where, by the courtesy of the Little Theatre players, who were having a rehearsal, the customary congratulatory meeting was held. The voters had realised the necessity of the National Government carrying on its duty of reviving prosperity and the necessity of defence as well as peace. Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin telegrammed congratulations to Lt-Commander Tufnell. At Saffron Walden there had been a record poll for Labour though Miss Clara Rackham was still 10,000 votes behind R.A. Butler whilst in the Isle of Ely Mr J. de Rothschild retained the seat for the Liberals by a majority of 699 votes. 35 11 15, 35 11 16

Proportional representation, p5

1935 11 15 CS
Shot dead at cottage door, Commercial End. Swaffham Bulbeck. 35 11 15CS; widow's story. 35 11 29&(2)CS

Cannibal orgies of primitive fenmen: wooden causeway of Bronze Age, Lt Thetford. 35 11 15(2)CS

1935 11 18
Cambridge University Camera Club heard how the aerial camera acts as a kind of detective of the air, picking up clues helpful to the soldier, the prospector, the map-maker, archaeologist and even the tax-collector. Wing-Commander H.M. Taylor from the School of Photography at Farnborough told how on one housing estate an aerial photograph was fixed at the entrances as a guide to the streets for strangers. Panochromatic film was used to combat moisture. Showing an aerial view of Cambridge he commented; "There's always a lot of dust and haze over this town – there must be a lot of hot air talked!" 35 11 18

1935 11 19
An agricultural labourer lost all his possessions in a fire which destroyed his cottage at Turf Fen, Warboys. Returning at 8pm he saw smoke and flames pouring through a window. He smashed in the front door with an axe and was able to recover some money belonging to his wife. This was the only thing he managed to save. The flames made short work of everything except the brick walls of the five-roomed cottage whose majesty was soon disturbed by the Ramsey Fire Brigade. When they found that water was not having the desired effect they pushed the walls over with poles. 35 11 19

The first of a series of lectures on 'Sex Guidance' were given by the Welfare of Youth. An excellent audience of young women greeted the lecturer who, with blackboard, lantern slides and cine films demonstrated her subject in a most graphic way. The meeting for young men attracted fewer people to a talk on the evolution of sex. But those who attended were equally appreciative 35 11 19a

1935 11 21
New Roman Catholic school construction delayed – photo – 35 11 21
Stretham accident, p5

1935 11 22
The London branch of the Civil Aviation Corps was founded in 1934 and approached Marshall's Flying School who realised that such a corps could become of national importance. They have been coming to the Aerodrome regularly each Sunday and are now building a hangar for themselves where they hope to build a 'Flying Flea' and 'B.A.C. Drone'. Now Cambridge has started a local squadron; any young fellow over 20 years of age who is keen to fly will be welcomed. 35 11 22

With the heavy rainfall of the last few days Fenland has to thank the vision of those who planned the pumping station at St Germans for the fact that there has been no flooding. The new sluice has pumped 2½ million tons of water and but for this the rivers would have risen six feet. Although the banks could have withstood the pressure, much water would have leaked back from the banks into the dykes so that the Internal Drainage Districts have been saved much expense. The Middle Level need not fear three times the present rainfall as the pumps were only working at a third of capacity. 35 11 22a

As a Cambridge Corporation steam roller made its majestic way along Adam and Eve Row the road gently subsided. So did the steam roller as one wheel became buried nearly up to the axle, fracturing the water main. Mr A.C. Mallyon, the driver, said "I felt the roller sink a little so opened the regulator to try and get it past the spot before it sank, but before you could say 'one' it was in. If I hadn't had hold of the regulator handle I reckon I should have fallen overboard". It was several hours before the roller was eventually 'rescued' by means of jacks and the main repaired. 35 11 22b pics 35 11 22c
Horse Grind ferry bridge nears completion – photo 35 11 25

Ely Isolation Hospital was there to prevent contagious diseases from spreading to other people, it was not for the benefit of the patients but for the benefit of the outside public and should be paid for by ratepayers, Mr Everitt told the Hospital Committee. People would fight shy of going there if they knew they would have to pay maintenance charges. But accounts had been sent out and some people had paid them. In 1931 maintenance expenses came to £477 but only £1 had been received from patients – 35 11 25 a & b

1935 11 26
Cambridge Disabled Soldiers' Workshop had been through a difficult period. The largest number of men in the workshop was 12 and at present there were only seven, none of which were complete in their bodies. One had lost his leg in the South African War. The shop in Trumpington Street was not in so good a situation as at Peas Hill and they did not get the streams of passing undergraduates. We should never forget the men who had served, suffered and saved our country through its years of dire peril. 35 11 26

1935 11 27
Swaffham Bulbeck murder – 35 11 27 & a
Caroline Taylor 100th birthday

1935 11 28
Mrs Walter Miles has given birth to quadruplets in a council house at Ferrars Avenue, Eynesbury, St Neots. Their weights ranged from 3lb 15 ounces to a boy of 2lb 13oz who was very week indeed at birth. Dr Harrison holds out little hope for him. The arrival of quads was a great surprise – they had been expecting two or three babies in a couple of month's time. The father, a lorry driver, although overjoyed, had little to say when the doctor broke the news. He was out with his lorry next day 35 11 28, 35 11 29

Sir- This season Gamlingay Football Club are having great difficulty in finding eleven players as the stars have been chosen to play for better teams. The side consists of youngsters who are gamely fighting against great odds to keep the team going, aided by one or two older players who had finished with football but sportingly came to their help. In spite of not winning a single League game all went well until one match when the referee gave a penalty and suspended a player. His autocratic manner savoured of Hitlerism and now the Football Association have closed the ground for a month. I am convinced that a grave injustice has been done" – C.H. Careless 35 11 28b

1935 11 29 CS
Rowers pass new bridge replacing Horse Grind Ferry. 35 11 29(3)CS

1935 11 30
Stretham lorry accident photo – 35 11 30
Christ's College cat – 35 11 30a

December 1935 CDN & Cambridge Standard

1935 12 05
At Burwell various houses in Parsonage Lane, Fuller's Lane, Burnt Yard and Beldam Square should be demolished together with six at Malting Cottages, the Medical Officer advised. Four houses at Mutton Row and two in Lower Road Swaffham Prior should also be pulled down. Many unfit houses were still occupied at Swaffham Bulbeck but four at Quarry Lane and two in the High Street should be cleared as soon as there was alternative accommodation for the working-class people who would be displaced. 35 12 05

John Whitehead, 65, has been in the fruit and vegetable trade all his life. He started hawking goods on a barrow and then with a horse and cart. About 40 years ago he took a shop in Fitzroy Street and struggled to bring up a big family – he had 13 sons. It was difficult to obtain goods during the Great War but afterwards got a motor lorry and in 1933 went to London for goods for the Christmas trade. They were brought to a garage in Cambridge from which they were stolen. Then a run-away horse smashed up his van and the lorry ran into a lamp post. 35 12 05b

Walter Nicholas told the court he'd started as a confectioner at Little Downham. He knew nothing about the business and only took £8 a week of which thirty shillings was profit. So he added a little vegetable round, buying from neighbouring farmers. He had a motor van and later a lorry for £75, paying by instalments. As business was poor he came to Cambridge in September 1934 and started in the wholesale vegetable business, but lost more money. He disposed of his lorry for £10 and paid off some of his debts. Then he was refused a potato licence, which was a major reason for his failure. 35 12 05c

1935 12 06
Mildenhall water, Littleport electricity – 35 12 06a

1935 12 07
Briscoe Snelson gave a talk, illustrated by lantern slides on 'The River Ouse with the Camera' 35 12 07

A map entitled 'A plain delineation of … Cambridge setting for the inns and taverns thereof' and drawn in the eighteenth-century style has just been produced by Ian Cox. Together with two of his University friends he has been making a tour of the aforesaid inns, sampling the ales sold and the pastimes witch which customers amuse themselves. There is a list of 199 places were beer and ale cane be obtained and notes on the 15 brewers whose products are sold, as well as the Audit Ale. Five pastimes are named: darts, skittles, table-skittles, ring the ball and shove-halfpenny. The map is sold at half-a-crown uncoloured with hand-coloured versions at six shillings 35 12 07c

For the past 14 years Professor P.L. Kapitza, the famous Soviet scientist, has been doing research in England. The laboratory he used at Cambridge was erected specially for him by the University authorities. Now the apparatus has been purchased by the Russians and installed in a remarkable building on the outskirts of Moscow. It has rock-like foundations of special cement to ensure complete freedom from vibration. The walls are lined with barium plaster through which the strongest X-Rays cannot penetrate and the doors covered with massive sheets of lead. His work will deal largely with research into the magnetic and electric properties of metals under extremely low temperatures 35 12 07d

1935 12 10
A local history exhibition in the Central Library Reference Room in connection with the Local Government Centenary Celebrations shows how Cambridge looked in days gone by. Schoolchildren are showing the greatest interest as they make tours of the exhibits. Photographs show the changes more vividly than anything: it is hard to believe that the Hobson Street pictured is the same one today. Political broadsheets from the 1840s comment on the 'horrible extravagance' of police expenditure and hint that all was not well with the painting of the inside of the Council Chamber - it advises local painters to have nothing to do with the job. 35 12 10

1935 12 11
The managers of Coveney Church of England School are not willing for it to be converted into a junior mixed and infants' school. But it would detrimental to the children if they were deprived of the facilities of a senior school and if parents wanted to send their children to Ely there was nothing to stop them, councillors heard. A site for the new senior girls' school in Downham Road could be bought for £1,700 which was less than its commercial value. The Board of Education had objected to plans for the new senior school at Chatteris saying it should be a two-storey building or there would not be enough space for physical training and organised games. 35 12 11

Ely urban council were condemning property without having places to put the people into. They ought to approach owners to see if they could be put in proper repair. People should have decent places to live in but in many cases they did not want to come out. 35 12 11a

Long Road railway bridge photo – 35 12 11d

1935 12 12
Dr William Wooster told the court he was a member of the Scientists' Anti-War Group and had been standing outside Duxford Aerodrome selling pamphlets entitled 'Air Display Special'. It carried a headnote to say it was not to be sold to members of H.M. Forces but they were seized by police under the Incitement to Disaffection Act. Surely people could be reminded of the sheer horrors of the Great War 35 12 12 & a

1935 12 13 CS
The old 'Nancy' on the Cam: Briscoe Snelson's river scenes. 35 12 13CS

John Evison, Fen Drayton, oldest motorist in England. 35 12 13(2)CS

1935 12 14
St Ives rowing – 35 12 14

Papworth Village Settlement is fortunate in its friends. Some years ago Mr Warwick Deeping wrote a novel about it and devoted half the profits to the cause. Now many theatrical celebrities have been lending a hand in making a special film. Gordon Harker plays the part of a consumptive worker, Henry Hawkins, who comes to Papworth for treatment. The film tells of his progress through the hospital to an open-air chalet and occupation in the settlement workshops. Eventually he is provided with a Papworth cottage in which he is joined by his wife and children. 35 12 14a

1935 12 16
Sir – the de-population of Castle End has brought a serious decline in trade in this district. Slum clearance has seen the departure of many young families to the new residential estates in other parts of Cambridge and we are left with the old people whose requirements are practically nil. When a house is vacant it is condemned and pulled down so consequently no new residents come to take their place. Some sites have been empty for years and are growing a plentiful supply of weeds and thistles. When are we going to have new houses built on these vacant sites – Tradesman 35 12 16

1935 12 17
Thirteen girls have left the Home of Mercy in Christchurch Street during the year, nine of whom were placed out in service. Every effort has been made to train them in laundry and housework, cooking and needlework. The Fellowship of Compassion has provided the girls with woollen underwear and rubber aprons. Religious teaching, which was more necessary than ever, has continued and there are always girls in various states of preparation for baptism and confirmation. 35 12 17 # c.32.9

Electricity is the modern housewife's Father Christmas, bringing her so many labour-saving and home-brightening devices and Messrs Bailey, Grundy and Barrett of St Mary's Passage are specialists. Lamp standards, wireless sets and coffee percolators are a few gift suggestions. Harassed husbands and flurried fiancés will find solutions to all their gift problems at Messrs Eaden Lilley's which is packed full of things dear to the feminine heart such as evening gowns, furs and lingerie. The bargain basement has good quality stuff at reasonable prices. 35 12 17a

If you are hard up for ideas for gifts, visit Samuels in Petty Cury. The manager produced an Everite 'King' watch and threw it on the floor. It did not hurt it – a similar watch was dropped from the top of Big Ben and was still going when picked up. Diamond rings are available at prices up to forty shillings and the latest for a lady's handbag is a combined flap-jack and cigarette-lighter. Canteens of cutlery, eminently suitable for wedding presents, are priced from fifteen shillings (75p) 35 12 17a

1935 12 18
More than half the girls attending the Cambridge & County High School are above the average physique for their age and less than one per cent are poorly nourished. Nearly all the pupils are sensibly clothed and school uniform plays a useful part in this. Many take advantage of an excellent school dinner system and systematic training in a good gymnasium is open to all. Taking into account the intensive curriculum and the long distance many of the girls have to travel the results are very creditable, the Medical Officer reported. 35 12 18 & a Death statistics show that measles and whooping cough had caused as much loss of child life as diphtheria and scarlet fever and since 1910 influenza had caused at least 1,400 deaths in Cambridgeshire. Improved travelling facilities and cheap cinema entertainment were great causes of the spread of infections and until people refrained from exposing others to risk in those surroundings there could be little improvement, Dr F Robinson warned Rotarians 35 12 18a

Tipperary Club treat – photo – 35 12 18b

Ely Ratepayers Association wrote to the Council asking for the amount paid to the consulting engineer who prepared a sewage scheme for Ely. The Clerk said £481 had been paid to Messrs Elliott and Brown in 1921 and a further £210 in September 1932. Councillor Merryweather said he did not mind the Council furnishing the information but the whole thing was published in the newspapers and he did not think they should be subject to scrutiny for years back. The Association should not make such requests unnecessarily. 35 12 18c

A short time ago the Land Settlement Association purchased property at Fen Drayton and the work of settling 40 Durham unemployed miners on the land has commenced. At present the first ten are occupying Drayton House and 20 of the 40 cottages are in course of erection. None of the miners have had regular work since the strike of 1926 and some have had no employment at all for five or six years. The men were in rather poor condition and it would take some time for them to become capable of doing a hard day's work on the soil. There is no unemployment in Fen Drayton. The village shows a good spirit and demonstrates not only interest but neighbourliness as well 35 12 18d

Mrs Rackham told councillors that at present a crowd of children was loosed on the labour market all at once and the best were often forced to take the worst jobs, or ones they were not suited for. One County School girl had been compelled to take domestic service. Although the school leaving age was 14 they should not deprive children of the possibility of getting employment and some should be allowed to leave earlier. But she was outvoted. 35 12 18d

1935 12 19
King Street Christmas poultry market picture – 35 12 19

1935 12 20
The judge agreed that police had been wrong to seize copies of a pamphlet from a member of the Cambridge Scientist's Anti-War Group at Duxford aerodrome during the Royal Review. They'd been worried following an earlier incident at Mildenhall when a misguided female threw a paper at the King's car. 'The Anti-War Special' was crude, inartistic and in some respects childish. It had been sold by Dr Wooster supported by a bevy of satellites, mainly ladies, wearing badges of a reddish hue. Various ex-servicemen had expressed themselves in vituperative terms and its distribution might have lead to a breach of the peace 35 12 20 & a

1935 12 28
Mr William Macintosh, a member of the Cambridge firm of ironmongers, died following an accident at Graham's crossing. The express train stopped in Shelford station for five minutes after the accident. In another incident a passenger train from Peterborough to Cambridge was delayed when it ran through the gates at Dimmock's Crossing near Stretham and smashed them. Fortunately no passenger of member of the train crew was injured. The debris was cleared quickly enough not to affect the other trains on the line 35 12 28

1935 12 31
Castle Hotel's demolition to make way for cinema – photo – 35 12 31

Coster's annual barrow race to Bottisham swan 25 years ago – photo – 35 12 31a

1936 Cambridge Daily News

I have scans of these stories

January 1936 CDN

1936 01 03
Much anxiety is being caused among farmers by the countless numbers of wood pigeon which are playing havoc with winter food for sheep, young layers of clovers and sainfoins. Thousands migrate from Norway and assist our native birds in their devastation despite scarecrows, stakes and string being used to frighten them off. Sheep farmers find it is impossible to farm under their conditions and appeal to all covert owners and the sporting public to turn out each Thursday and Saturday to shoot these pests. 36 01 03a

Proposals to establish a greyhound racing track at Caxton or any part of the rural district could injure the amenities of the area, councillors decided. But Mr Pease said there was already a track at Teversham and if the residents of Histon rose up and said they wanted a track to make life more interesting there, they should not object to it. The conversion of The Elms, Great Shelford, into a country club was also opposed as the land was zoned for eight houses per acre 36 01 03b

Ely RDC has accepted tenders from Messrs Grensells of Kettering for wiring council houses in Ely Road and West End Sutton, Tower Road, Main Street and Cross Lane Downham, the Cambridge and Ely Roads in Stretham together with Hillrow, Hop Row and Station Road, Haddenham, Millfield Littleport and Haddenham Road at Wilburton. The Beds., Cambs. & Hunts Electricity Company will make a connection charge of £1 for each of the 94 houses– 36 01 03c

With the enlargement of the drapery section, the Co-operative Society's premises in Burleigh Street comprise the finest Departmental Store in Cambridge. On the ground floor, the Butchery has finest home-killed and imported meat, Grocery sells bread and confectionary, Outfitting has made-to-measure suits while Furnishing has three-piece suites and mirrors. Every Department is equipped in the most modern manner with lifts to all parts of the building. 36 01 03d & e # c.27.2

1936 01 04
Ely electricity, p2
New Co-op, p6

1936 01 05
Cambridge colleges are closed to the public one day in the year. Most choose December 31st 36 01 05

An amazing tame jackdaw has made its home with Mt T.L. Naylor of Blinco Grove. It came as an uninvited guest in January last year when it flew into his garden with a cheery 'Hullo!' and was promptly adopted, At first the bird's flood was placed on the scullery window-sill but as other birds used to join in the feast its tray of tit-bits was placed inside the scullery. Now when it feels hungry the bird taps on the window to gain admission to its snack-bar. It is put to bed each night in a tomato-box which is placed in the garage and surrounded with boxes to keep the cats out. 36 01 05a & b

Cambridge has lost a well-known butcher in the death of Mr James Traylen, aged 82. Born at Oundle he had his first experience in the meat trade at Peterborough and came to Cambridge at the age of 20. He carried on his own business at 122 Newmarket Road until he retired in 1912 after which his two sons took on the shop. Mr Traylen spent much of his time after retirement in gardening. 36 01 05c

1936 01 07
"This coupon'll win us a thousand pounds" jokingly prophesied a Cambridge man to his wife on Christmas day after he had filled in his football pool form while she had a glass of port with a friend.

And no one was more surprised that he when his forecast came true. The lucky man, Mr 'Dick' Morgan of Cambridge Place, was at work when a CDN reporter brought definite news of his success. He had not heard the wireless announcement as the accumulator of his set had run out. 36 01 07

Corpus village, p5

1936 01 08
An amazing roof collapse awakened residents in Broad Street, East Road, shortly after midnight. When they rushed into the street they found that the whole of the roof of a storehouse and garage belonging to Messrs Whitehead, the fruiterers, had crashed down on the contents of the building. It is thought the long-continued rain and damp weather may have affected the wooden beams. One of the three lorries in the building had the engine badly knocked about and some boxes of fruit were smashed by beams and tiles. It is said that when the old All Saints Church opposite St John's College was pulled down, the stone was auctioned off and many loads of it went into the building of this store house 36 01 08

Union Cinemas, the company controlling five Cambridge cinemas have joined forces with Arthur Segal to acquire more sites – 36 01 08a

1936 01 10
Chatteris Masonic Ladies night held at University Arms – 36 01 10

New Chesterton Institute organised grand social at the Dorothy Café to celebrate their Golden Jubilee. The whole of the Dorothy had been booked for the occasion but even then the number had to be limited to 800 and several hundred were disappointed. There was dancing to Reg Cottage's band, a progressive whist drive and a concert in the Oak Room. Miss Queenie Chapman's pupils gave an excellent dancing display and Pat Peddle and Joan Metcalfe produced a version of 'Top Hat'. Suppers were served through the evening when a gramophone provided appropriate music. Many tired people were very glad of buses to various parts of the town.36 01 10a

1936 01 11
Fire at Brook House, Bassingbourn – 36 01 11

With its purchase of the Strensham Court Estate of 2,800 acres near Tewkesbury, Corpus Christi is following the examples of the richest Cambridge college. Trinity, which has an income of £80,000 a year, bought 4,000 acres of agricultural land in Suffolk two years ago. However King's, whose finances have flourished exceedingly under the bursarship of Maynard Keynes, prefer to invest in urban rather than agricultural properties. After the war they held estates in fifteen counties but these have been greatly reduced and they recently bought a valuable site close to the Middlesex Hospital. 36 01 11a

1936 01 15
Cottenham children gathered at the school gates gazing at the remains of their school with unsuppressed glee. The caretaker had been stoking up the fumes when he saw smoke coming from the senior boys' classroom. The floor collapsed and the contents of the room including two pianos were destroyed. The school bed was rescued from the wreckage of the belfry. The portion destroyed was erected in 1860 and is owned by the British School Trustees. The undamaged part is own by the County Council and was built in 1875. 36 01 15

The Queen motored over from Sandringham to visit Mr Stanley Woolston's antique store where she purchased specimens of needlework and some ivories to add to her collection. As word spread the police had a hard time keeping back the ever-increasing throng of sightseers. It was noticed that one of the tyres of the royal car was a little deflated and an RAC Scout was called in to blow it up again. The Queen also visited the Cambridge Tapestry Company in Thompson's Lane where she saw one piece of tapestry that was being repaired. It had been stolen by thieves who were forced to abandon it in a wood where it had been affected by the weather and some children had also mutilated it 36 01 15a

Debate on Women's Suffrage in 1910, the first time an inter-college debate opened by a woman – 36 01 15 b & c # c.33

1936 01 16
Unruly and heated scenes were witnessed at a parish meeting at Burwell to discuss proposals for piped water. Analysts reported that 27 wells were unsafe for drinking from but one man aged 92 said he had been using one of these all his life. There had been cases of diphtheria but they were imported from outside. Many men did not realise the large volume of water that had to be drawn for washing. Were they going to deny a little comfort and ease to their wives for the sake of the cost of a packet of cigarettes a week? But a water scheme would be an infliction and they could not afford it. 36 01 16 & a

1936 01 17
It is many years since Raymond Bennett was a Cambridge semi-professional entertainer who made early appearances in cine-variety at the Playhouse, Mill Road. He has progressed rapidly and Cambridge audiences now have an opportunity of seeing him at the Theatre Cinema with his partner of many broadcasts. Bennett and McNaughton have achieved great success on the music halls, including the Holborn Empire, and have attained great popularity as broadcasting stars. Those who have listened to their broadcasts will be glad of this opportunity of renewing acquaintance with a popular local artiste 36 01 17

An unusual claim for damages caused through infection from a pair of trousers was heard at Cambridge Court. Walter Tarrant, a rick-burner at a brickworks, said he bought a pair of navy blue serge imitation trousers from Messrs Norman Bradley and Co but within a few days he suffered an irritation diagnosed as dermatitis and was in hospital for three weeks. The Public Analyst said the trousers had been made from waste rags. The original wool was dyed with indigo but when the cloth was remade it was dyed with iron sulphate. He thought the problem was caused by the dye bath not containing sufficient alkaline. 36 01 17a & b

1936 01 18
As the Guildhall is being reconstructed the Cambridge Education Committee met in the old Post Office on the corner of Petty Cury. The large hall on the ground floor where the public business of the Post Office used to be transacted has been cleared of the counters, screens and telephone boxes and converted into a committee room. Unfortunately the CDN reporters found the acoustic properties very bad. It is never easy to follow the remarks of some of the members of the Committee and hearing was rendered doubly difficult by the roar of traffic outside. They dragged their table nearer but even then the noise of the traffic was an easy winner. 36 01 18

1936 01 21
The news of the death of our beloved King came to the people of Cambridge by means of the wireless. The late afternoon bulletins prepared listeners for the worst and a solemn vigil began. In hundreds of homes families sat by the fireside waiting anxiously for the quarter-hourly bulletins which were given by the BBC. It was if the whole nation were waiting at the King's bedside. At the Dorothy Café, where the Fulbourn Mental Hospital Staff dance was in progress, the news of the King's death was learned at half-past-twelve. At once the dance was terminated. 36 01 21 # c.02

Sandringham estate – 36 10 21a

The late King George first came to Cambridge as Duke of York in 1894 when he received an Honorary Degree. As King he stayed at Trinity College while inspecting the army manoeuvres in 1912 during which he met a column of troops on the march near Whittlesford and sat on his horse for nearly half an hour waiting for them to pass. He refused to allow them to be stopped in order to give him passage. Earlier he had dismounted to talk to an old soldier at Linton. His final recent visit was at the opening of the new University Library, 36 01 21c

1936 01 22
Proclaiming new king – 36 01 22

1936 01 23
Long before the royal train carrying the dead King was due to leave Wolferton, thousands had assembled at vantage points along the railway route to London line to pay their final homage. Every few yards little knots of people stood in reverent silence. Hundred lined the platform as the funeral train steamed slowly into Cambridge station. 'Charlotte' the parrot, King George's inseparable companion, was on the train. It had been carried to the station in a covered cage, placed on the knees of a royal servant in a royal shooting brake. 36 01 23a & d

Cambridge embroiderers – 36 01 23b

Several thousand packed Cambridge Market Hill where from a special platform draped in purple the new King Edward VII was proclaimed. But proceedings were interrupted by the appearance overhead of an aeroplane and as a result of the noise from the engine the Mayor (Ald Wing) had to pause. Undergraduates crowded outside the Senate House where the University ceremony was held. Many of them had cameras and four or five, determined to get a good view of the ceremony, climbed into the huge bowl which stands on a pedestal in the court. 36 01 23c

1936 01 27
Scene in King's college chapel & other services – 36 01 27

1936 01 28
Last act of homage – 36 01 28 & a

The Air Ministry say it is very desirable that a new Cambridge municipal aerodrome site should be provided in the near future. Land at Milton had been recommended by Sir Alan Cobham but this would cost more than £33,000 and take at least two years to build. Messrs Marshall's existing flying ground at Newmarket Road is quite inadequate for present requirements and they could have a new site at Teversham ready in a year, councillors heard. 36 01 28b & c 36 01 30a

1936 01 29
King George V has a warm place in the hearts of Newmarket people. His frequent visits, during which he moved about as 'a simple country gentleman', endeared him to all the residents and they regarded him as a personal friend. Every shop bore signs of mourning and those who did not wear a black symbol of respect were very few and far between. On the day of the funeral businesses were closed. There was a deep hush and the streets were practically deserted during the two minute's silence. All Saints Church was packed for the memorial service, many stood at the back before the doors were closed. 36 01 29

Arrangements have been made with the Cambridge General Cemetery Company for the Histon Road Cemetery to be transferred to the Borough Council as from February. The cottage, chapel and old mortuary required considerable repairs, the paths regravelled and the grounds cleared up. The cottage should be made habitable for a man to live there and have general charge of the ground, a report recommended. 36 01 29a

1936 01 30
Benjamin Rayment was first apprenticed to the shoemaking trade at a shop in Trumpington Street but decided to try his fortune elsewhere. He walked to Birmingham for work before entering the hat industry in Luton when the first hat-blocking machine was introduced from America. He returned to Cambridge and carried on business in Burleigh Street as a straw and felt hat maker for close on 70 years. When the straw hat industry was in its prime he used to supply 'boaters' to most of the University shops in the town. He had a wonderful memory with recollections of the Crimean War, the Chartist Riots and the great exhibition in Hyde Park and died in his 100th year. 36 01 30

Cambridge beauty spa – 36 01 30a

1936 01 31
There was a need for providing a community welfare centre for the housing estates on the outskirts of Cambridge where a large proportion of the houses were occupied by youngish married couples with growing children. Chesterton is like a new town, the people are isolated, lonely, vague and have no centre. Youngsters wandered aimlessly about with nothing to do and nowhere to go. They need a building for public meetings, concerts, dances, films and medical inspections. But it would not be suitable as a library and a site in Ascham Road would offer quietness and room for any necessary growth, councillors were told. 36 01 31 & a

February 1936 CDN

1936 02 01
G.J. Gray was born in Pembroke Street and entered the firm of Bowes and Bowes in 1876. He was encouraged by the late Robert Bowes to prosecute his bibliographical work beyond the requirements of business and his publications on Cambridge booksellers and printers won him the esteem of University librarians. In earlier life he was connected with the Higher Grade and Camden Cricket Clubs, Old Chesterton Institute and Men's Bible Class. He also organised the Penny 'Pops' concerts held in the Guildhall in years gone by. At his retirement The Publishers' Circular praised his 60 years in the book trade 36 02 01

Chesterton RDC's scheme to enlarge their isolation hospital at Oakington spoiled the County plans for accommodating small-pox patients, the Medical Office complained. In the event of an outbreak it was the usual practice that one of the existing isolation hospitals should be immediately vacated and used for small-pox cases. Oakington was ideal for this. Within 24 hours all the ordinary patients could be transferred and in another 48 hours it could be ready for use. The Ministry of Heath should hold an inquiry. 36 02 01a

1936 02 03
Fire broke out at the Live and Let Live Inn, Stetchworth, during Friday evening. It is believed that the outbreak was caused by some clothes catching alight whilst drying. Damage was caused to beams and to a piano before the flames were extinguished with pails of water. Meanwhile at Burwell, where many of the wells have been found to be polluted, a parish poll urging the adoption of a supply of pure water was overwhelming defeated. 36 02 03

1936 02 04
The Cambridge Arts Theatre opened with a gala performance by the Vic-Walls Ballet Company. It is a beautiful piece of work with furnishings in autumn leaf and includes a restaurant and café bar. The cinema and sound apparatus is of the very latest type with facilities for the reproduction of gramophone records designed by Messrs Morley and Duke. The fresh air supply can be warmed or cooled while the main heating by water-fed radiators is instantly adjustable to meet the vagaries of the English climate 36 02 04 & a Widespread flooding occurred at Huntingdon and St Ives which one motorist says looks like an island. The water in the Old West is within eight inches of the top of the bank and these are being heightened with clay on the low places. There is also heavy seepage on the Wissey, all along the Middle Fen banks, at Southery Ferry and the River Lark. All banks are being patrolled by day and night with tugs and barges in readiness to deal with any emergency. 36 02 04b

Mrs A.A. Moyes' charming, pleasant nature was well-known to countless visitors to the Lion Hotel in Petty Cury hotel. Her memory was outstanding: many commercial travellers recall how she could take up a conversation practically where it had been left off, even after many months. Undergraduates had the greatest respect: even during the liveliest of moments she was able to quell impending trouble without outside assistance. She had the present glass roof put above the former courtyard, which was used for traffic up to 1907. Now the family have severed their links with the hotel after over 80 years. 36 02 04c

1936 02 05
Premier Travel Ltd has been formed to take over the services of Royal Blue Coaches of Chesterton Road and the Harston and District Motor Services. Managing director, E.A. Lainson, says there is a definite need for a good independent transport company. They will offer special excursions to Hunstanton, Southend and Yarmouth, run motor tours to Europe all year round and also conduct a travel agency for steamship, motor coach and aeroplane services. 36 02 05

The world premier presentation of the new GPO film unit production 'Night Mail' was given as the second gala performance in connection with the opening of Cambridge's delightful new Arts Theatre. It deals with the work of the Royal Mail night train from London to Scotland with plenty of novel-angle shots and some quick-fire doggerel which is made to synchronise with the train beats. Other features were a highly-diverting slapstick Mickey Mouse cartoon and the British Movietone News 36 02 05a

1936 02 06
Demolition of property on the top corner, Haddenham would improve visibility for traffic proceeding from Wilburton to Sutton but a more comprehensive improvement could be effected if the adjoining baker's shop in Hop Row could be acquired. Councillors recommended it be acquired and demolished and the existing kerb and footpath line be set back seven feet. At Littleport there would be a small piece of land to spare after improvement at the junction of High Street and Hempfield Road which could be used for the erection of a public convenience. But there will be no more traffic lights as these are an expensive luxury 36 02 06

A demolition appeal heard that two cottages at Great Abington must be 100 years old. The roof was heavy thatch in a state of decay, the stairs were worm-eaten and dark and rain came in around the windows. A family with six children shared a living room and two attic bedrooms, all the cooking and washing had to be done in the living room. The bedroom of one was built into one of the bedrooms of the other and it was impossible to pull down one without affecting its neighbour. Repairs would cost £58 but the houses were worth scarcely £10 36 02 06a

The Cambridge University Mummers, who are still the only University Dramatic Society to admit women members equally with men in all their activities, are presenting 'Heartbreak House' by Bernard Shaw. In the cast there are four members of Newnham, the most prominent of whom is Miss Teresa Mayor. She will be supported by Beryl Eeman, Cecilia Hopkinson and Deirdre Moore. The play will be produced by George Rylands who is well known for productions at the A.D.C. 36 02 06a

1936 02 07
The question of a Municipal Aerodrome for Cambridge has at last been settled. Messrs Marshall's new aerodrome at Teversham will be of sufficient size to enable Cambridge to have a fully licensed airport competent to meet the needs of commercial and civil flying. The council will remove the present restrictions on the site and divert a footpath but will have the option of purchasing the undertaking in 40 years and afterwards every ten years 36 02 07

The proposed formation of an Internal Drainage Board for the Cam, Rhee and Bourn Brook was opposed by owners and occupiers of land in the area. They would be precepted for work in the fen from which they had no immediate benefit. Mr F. Matthews from Shingay said he farmed by the Rhee and had been troubled by floods for 20 years. If the main channel was cleared out the water would flow away. “We want drainage, but we don’t want to let ourselves in for a lot of expense”, he said. 36 02 07a

1936 02 08
Two new pubs in Coldham’s Lane were considered. The Star Brewery’s ‘Haven Hotel’ at the junction of Vinery Way would be like an Elizabethan Manor in red brick with stone dressing and red tiled roof. Greene King planned the ‘Merry Monarch’ opposite Brooks Road as a plain up-to-date pub with a Cumberland turf bowling green attached – far more appropriate than the ‘Brewers Jacobean’ proposal. But this was a new housing area in which many people were starting out in life and taking of a narcotic drug like alcohol was subversive to the economic, moral and spiritual welfare. Both applications were refused 36 02 08 & a

Cambridge Post Office placed new pens on their counters for a six-month trial. But at the end of a month they had all disappeared. A special locking device held the stainless steel nibs in position, but this did not deter the members of the public who took a fancy to them, as both pen and holder were taken away! Many inquiries have been made with regard to the type of nib used and where they could be purchased (possibly following unsuccessful attempts to abstract them from the pen holders). Now a special red pen holder bearing the letters ‘G.P.O.’ is being issued for use at public counters of head post offices. But these are not intended for the purposes of ornamenting writing desks in houses and business offices. 36 02 08b & c

1936 02 10
Skating at Newnham – photo – 36 02 10

1936 02 11
Death Mrs Henry Sidgwick, Principal of Newnham – 36 02 11

1936 02 13
Wells and Winch Ltd, brewers of Biggleswade, announce the opening of the new ‘Yorkshire Grey’ Chesterton. This house has been designed to ensure the comfort of its patrons, both new and old, and is the latest endeavour of Messrs Wells and Winch to make licensed premises clean, healthy and attractive. A spacious clubroom is available for parties – this room having a private entrance and conveniences. Tenant Thomas Evans. Architect E.H.C. Inskip & Son, Bedford 36 02 13

1936 02 15
Shop assistants branch formed at Ely, Newmarket – 36 02 15

Cambridge Beauty Spa is probably the most up-to-date and best equipped of its kind in the country with expert assistants, modern appliances and the best of materials. Zotofoam Baths ensure Cambridge is not behind in the now-awakened national cult of health and beauty. By deep cleaning of the pores they clear the system of poisonous secretions. Aches and stiffness gives way to supple firmness, unwanted weight is pleasurably sweated away and the skin is made clear with real skin-deep beauty – Advert 36 02 15b

River Cam Internal Drainage Board opposed Sawston – 36 02 15c

Buses to Wyton airfield – 36 02 15c

1936 02 17
Thomas Jacobs Stretham cattle-dealer dies – 36 02 17

1936 02 21
A new Blue Boar hotel, refined and distinctive yet homely has been taking shape in Trinity Street. A new Georgian cornice and canopy has been installed with flood-lighting producing a beautiful effect. Internally structural alterations, redecoration and refurbishing make the hotel a place of comfort and restful beauty with every modern refinement to ensure the enjoyment of residents who have a choice of gas, coal or electric fires in the bedrooms. The main lounge was originally a cobblestone yard into which coaches were driven. It was covered in in 1900 36 02 21 advert – 36 02 22a

1936 02 22
'Cambridge Murders' by Adam Broome (Godfrey James) 36 02 22 36 02 28

House purchase through a Building Society – 36 02 22b

Meadowlands Estate Newmarket Road, Cromwell Park estate – adverts 36 02 22c & e

Harvey's Church Farm Estate at Eversden & Harlton offers a brick-built bungalow with an acre of well-drained land suitable for nurseries, glasshouses or poultry fattening - Mr Creighton, who lives on the Estate, is an expert and would be pleased to show you the methods. The basis of a house is the foundations and the material comes from our own sand pits at Cottenham. We use Fletton Bricks and tiles fitted by the Marley Tile Company who give a 40 years guarantee with each roof. Window frames and doors come from Newsums of Lincoln, ranges and locks by Cakebread Robey & Co while Sir William Rose & Company supply the paints and distemper and electrical installations are carried out by A.W. Matthews of Mill Road, Cambridge. Advert 36 02 22d

1936 02 24
Burning the boat at Jesus College following success at Lent Race – photo – 36 02 24

1936 02 25
An undergraduate was discovered with his head terribly injured on King's Parade at midnight. He was removed to a nursing home in the police ambulance but died on the way. He had apparently fallen from the fourth-floor window of the house where he lodged and was dressed only in pyjamas, coat and socks. His landlady found the door of his room sealed up with adhesive tape and there was a smell of gas. A sealed letter was found. 36 02 25

1936 02 28
Cambridge Murders, p6

March 1936 CDN & Cambridge Standard

1936 03 03
Long Road new railway bridge – photo – 36 03 03

Cambridge University Film Production Unit documentary on psychology at Psychological Laboratories – photo 36 03 03b

Cherry Hinton Hall, p5

1936 03 04
Sultan of Zanzibar hoax – photo – at reported death Horace Cole - 36 03 04

1936 03 05
Trinity Hall had purchased Cherry Hinton Hall Estate with a view to development and asked the council to let them proceed or to buy it as a public park for £13,000. This was more than they'd paid but the land had recently been brought within the Borough boundary and if they were to acquire open space in areas ripe for development they should have to pay building land price. They would move the Horticultural Department there and let the grazing but parts of the house would probably be demolished– 36 03 03a 36 03 05a & b

1936 03 06

The Star Brewery want a new pub, The Golden Hind, on Milton Road, an area of 1,010 houses of which the majority had been built since 1927. It was not ribbon development but housing estates on each side and practically built up to the railway gates. Kings Hedges Road would form part of the new Ring Road so further development might be expected there. If granted the brewery would surrender the licence of the 'Racehorse' on Newmarket Road and the 'Plume of Feathers'. The Women's Total Abstinence Union opposed the application. Licence applications Elm Tree, Hare and Hounds & Dog & Pheasant. Licence of Bowling Green Chesterton transfer to new Golden Hind. 36 03 06

Sir - Great falls and breakages in the main line of elms along the Backs began in a gale 40 years ago. They have come at intervals ever since and will certainly continue as the trees are much more diseased and feeble than the public knows. Twelve years ago King's cleared fifty yards of the sad wreckage of old trees and planted a double reserve line. These are now well grown but some have been broken. The public may look forward to more random falls whenever the wind is high and a limited amount of controlled felling and replanting where the trees are judged to be worst. But there will be no sudden large clearances and we are taking the best advice we can – Vice-Provost, King's College 36 03 06c

Byelaws that prevented children doing agricultural work for more than four hours a day during school holidays were a hardship for farmers – they could not even employ their own sons to help with the harvest. But one 13-year old boy had worked in the harvest field from eight in the morning to eight at night, six days a week, for a full harvest, and was paid the magnificent sum of twelve shillings. The farmer did not put his own children in the harvest field – would they allow their own children to do that? Councillors agreed to allow children to be employed in light agricultural work, not involving heavy strain, for up to nine hours during the summer holidays. 36 03 06b

1936 03 07
Ugly scenes were witnessed at a demonstration organised by the University Socialist Club and Anti-War Council at the Guildhall which was addressed by Aneurin Bevan. There was vocal opposition from the gallery with fighting and at one juncture all the doors were opened wide because of a strong offensive smell. Earlier 500 undergraduates took part in a torchlight procession headed by the red banner of the University Anti-War Movement shouting "We want peace" and "Stanley Baldwin must be sacked" 36 03 07 & a

Golden Hind application granted – 36 03 07b & c

1936 03 09
The Rendezvous, in Magrath Avenue has been turned into a modern luxury super-cinema with a new café restaurant. The latest talkie equipment ensures perfect reproduction and sound, the films are of the highest quality and patrons are assured of a three-hour programme. An added attraction is the illuminated Compton organ which is played at every performance. The ballroom has been re-decorated and is one of the finest in the Eastern Counties with popular tea dances and combined tea, picture and dancing tickets. 36 03 09

1936 03 11
Unusual features mark the will of Aubrey Leonard Attwater, Fellow of Pembroke College. He desired to be cremated and the ashes deposited in the precincts of the college. He left five old prints of the University Rakes Progress to a former undergraduate, his wine in the college cellars to another Fellow and his clothing to his bedmaker and college servants. His poems should be sealed up in a packet and placed in the College Library, not to be opened for thirty years. 36 03 11

1936 03 12
"Is any treaty made with Germany more than a piece of paper" asked Sir Austen Chamberlain when he reviewed Germany's action over the demilitarised zone in a speech he made at the annual dinner of the Cambridge University Conservative Association. The Association was flourishing and its numbers and activities greater than ever. There were a disproportionate number of Oxford men in the House of Commons but the Cambridge men made up in quality what they lacked in numbers. However there was a slackness in the Conservative Party which had no counterpart among the Socialists. 36 03 12 & a

Albany Café in St Mary's Passage – painting – 36 03 12b

1936 03 14
Undergraduates last night hazardously climbed to the roof of Emmanuel College North Court and decorated six chimneys with chamber pots. They were removed by Mr S. Burgess of Messrs Prime's the builders who is often called in to remove various objects placed in inaccessible positions by exuberant undergraduates. "Some of them can run up brick walls", he said: one took off his shoes and went down a wall by means of his feet and hands alone to remove a gown that had been placed in a particularly difficult spot. 36 03 14

Broadsheets were once very popular in Cambridge and now Dr F. Carr of Sawston has revived the tradition with one featuring Mr David who has been selling books for 40 years. He pays tribute in a poem printed on antique paper with two admirable sketches of David and his stall by his son, Mr Hubert David. The broadsheet is published at a shilling and should make a strong appeal to the friends and customers (the words are almost synonymous) of one of Cambridge's celebrities 36 03 14a

1936 03 17
Ely councillors considered a parking place in Bray's Lane. The time would come when the streets would be congested with cars left in all directions. The garage charge was 6d but as soon as they started forcing cars off the streets the charge would go up to a shilling and that would not do any good to the trade of Ely. It was a shame cars should park on St Mary's Green and Barton Square and it was about time they got on with a car park of their own. But Councillor Wright thought they could put a dozen houses on the land. 36 03 17

1936 03 18
Folk Museum, p6

1936 03 19
Newmarket old soldier badly gassed during war dies – 36 03 19

1936 03 21
Milk bar at NFU dance at Dorothy – 36 03 21

Many people have wondered about the object of the black and white poles which have sprung up along St Andrew's Street and Hills Road. The Ministry of Transport have finally given permission to the system of unilateral parking and the posts will be adorned with notices warning motorists not to park on the wrong side of the road on the wrong day. There is also some reason for believing that the new 'one-way' streets will also be brought into operation before very long. 36 03 21a

Harry Pitt of Manor Cottage, Church Road has written recalling 'The Walking Lady of Chesterton'. "She walked for a wager 'a thousand miles in a thousand hours' in a private garden in Church Street, Chesterton 60 years ago. I have been told that she walked in tights with high-topped boots, a jockey's cap and whip in hand. The story goes that she kept up her one mile per hour, walking day and night until she completed her task and won the wager." Other readers may enlighten us still further 36 03 21c

Albany coffee shop St Mary's Passage notes; frontage between St Mary's Passage and St Edward's Passage sold - 36 03 21b

1936 03 23

The King's Coronation may be televised as will next year's boat race, Post Office engineers were told. "How are we going to do that? Some think that in 10 years time people who have got the telephone service will want to use those wires for a re-diffusion service for broadcasts. It means that every wire has got to carry a much greater frequency and you will have to re-lay the undergrounds. I cannot see the end of these expansions. None of us can", the Superintending Engineer asked. 36 03 23 & a Unilateral parking came into force in Cambridge on Saturday. Between Regent Street and the Old Post Office parking is now allowed for 15 minutes in any one hour on one side of the road on even dates and on the other side on odd. There is one short stretch against Emmanuel Street in which no parking is allowed, owing to the difficulty of traffic coming in and out of the town through this narrow street. Readers should remember they cannot now leave their cars for any longer than 15 minutes as this is the limit. 36 03 23b

1936 03 24
Ellis Wilkerson of Manor Farm, Barley founded the business of Messrs Samuel Wilkerson & Son, corn merchants, at Bassingbourn 73 years ago, moving to Royston in 1876. He farmed 800 acres, taking a great interest in his sheep, and was a director of the Royston Farmers' Manure Company. He was also a fine judge of barley being a buyer for Mess Bass, Ratcliffe and Gretton of Burton-on-Trent. 36 03 24

Herbert Ernest Fenn – a clever artist and cartoonist – 36 03 24a

Andrew Norfolk, Wilburton fruit farmer bankrupt – 36 03 24a

1936 03 25
Cambridge more one-way streets – 36 03 25

Cold schools – 36 03 25b

Roger Roe carried on the antique business in St Andrew's Street in succession to his father and many times had the honour of waiting upon royalty, dies – 36 03 25a & c

1936 03 26
Modern living with its flats, bungalows and almost stream-lined houses, can no longer accommodate the fine old heavy furniture of our ancestors. Today the cult is for comfort and utility in limited space so Robert Sayle has equipped their basement to show this new furniture. Here you can see complete rooms set out with wallpaper decoration, carpets, curtains, lamps and all the etceteras which make a house a home. There is even a little nursery that is wallpapered with a new type of American cloth which is washable and most hygienic. What home-proud woman will want to refuse such advice? – Advert 36 03 26

Sewage schemes Cheveley Park, Soham, Burwell water, Swaffham Bulbeck ditches and Brinkley smells 36 03 26a

Huntingdon County Library 10th report – 36 03 26b

1936 03 27
Cambridge Police had a busy time when the new system of one-way traffic came into being. They were based at the end of all the affected streets and strangers must have wondered at the cordon thrown round the town. But it was necessary for despite all the notices many motorists attempted to make their way along the street from the wrong end and were stopped. And, by the way, the new restrictions apply equally to cyclists who will not be allowed to walk with their machines against the streams of traffic – 36 03 27

E. Saville Peck said he had not wanted to become a pharmacist as he was always afraid of poisons. But he had carried on the business founded by his father in 1851. He had met some eminent Cambridge doctors including Sir George Humphrey, who frequently had a chat over the counter at 30 Trumpington Street. 36 03 27a & b

Alfred Scales carried on his father's business as wine and spirit merchants, formerly well-known as Scales Brewery. He retired in 1925 when the estate was disposed of and the business taken over by Messrs Barclay, Perkins & Co. During the war he arranged sports and entertainments for the patients at the 1st Eastern General Hospital and took special interest in the bath ward where wounded soldiers used to lie continually in baths of warm water. 36 03 27c

1936 03 27 CS
Cambridge Standard, an Independent weekly Town & County: masthead. Printed and published Regent Street, 36 03 27&(2)CS

1936 03 28
A shepherd of the Cottage, Hundred Foot Bank, Pymore was crossing the railway bridge when he recognised the peculiar whistling noise of the otter and saw three of them in the river. He fetched his gun and approached the spot in a boat. By this time the otters were on the bank. He got within 12 yards before shooting and was astonished to find he had killed all three with one cartridge. His bag consisted of a female and two youngsters. He also possesses the skins of several other otters he has shot. 36 03 28

A Huntingdonshire branch of the Historical Association was formed in the room at Huntingdon Grammar School where Oliver Cromwell learned his lessons. This was the oldest building in England still used as a school. East Anglia was very backward in the study of local history and students suffered a good deal because of the inaccessibility of local records. More trouble should be taken to preserve them and much could be done to make careful copies 36 03 28a

Under new restrictions Cambridge motorists may not travel from Market Hill towards Trinity Street or into Bene't Street from King's Parade. You may not drive into Sussex Street from Hobson Street or into Corn Exchange Street from Downing Street, nor turn at Burton's Corner, Petty Cury to go to the Victoria Cinema or from Wheeler Street into Peas Hill to get to the Arts Theatre. But cyclists may walk with their bicycles either way as they do at present in Petty Cury and Market Street. Restaurants will have to speed up their service if they wish to cater for those who leave their cars outside, for only a quarter of an hour is permitted. Travellers who do not want to get indigestion had better make use of a parking space! 36 03 28b

Charles Rowell running recollections – 36 03 28b
Macleod's 'Overture to Cambridge' play rewritten as a novel – 36 03 28c
Girton Men's Institute cannot become a Jubilee memorial and cannot put up a combined village hall and pavilion on the recreation ground. Want an Infant Welfare Centre – 36 03 28d
Great Ouse training walls into the Wash – 36 03 28d
Policeman and cyclist – explaining one-way rules – photo – 36 03 28e

April 1936 CDN & Cambridge Standard

1936 04 01
The ditch in Harston High Street ran in front of a good many cottages and into it the sewage matter from a large number of houses emptied. At times the odour was so unbearable that people cannot have their windows open. In places the ditch passed under culverts and the flow was interrupted causing a bad stench, especially near the Coach and Horses who complained they had lost a great deal of custom. People living in the houses had a great deal of trouble with their throats and were not well, councillors were told. 36 04 01a

Parker's Piece opening as free car park – April Fool's Day photo – 36 04 01

Queens' College new building – photo – 36 04 01b

1936 04 02
Cambridge Short Wave club set up – 36 04 02

A man was sentenced to four years for burglary at the house of Mr Sidney Smith at Stretham. He used a poker to open various pieces of furniture and ransacked the house. But why he stole some of the articles it was difficult to understand. He took Mr Smith's tweed coat and vest, a tack coat, flannel coat, overcoat, 13 packets of cigarettes and five shillings in silver together with two pairs of stockings, five silk handkerchiefs, one pair of eyeglasses in a case and other articles belonging to his wife. 36 04 02a

1936 04 03
There were lively scenes at Little Thetford when a meeting was held to elect five councillors to constitute the Parish Council. Mr H.E. Kisby topped the poll with 21 votes but an unsuccessful candidate protested that the election was not valid as one of the voters was not on the electoral roll: "There is jiggery-pokery going on", he alleged. The man demanded a public poll which, as it received the backing of four electors, will be held. 36 04 03

1936 04 03 CS
Mid-Anglian Friday Post, successor to the Cambridge Standard. 36 04 03&a,bCS

Room for two… usually new papers have a fortnight's rehearsal … we had twelve hour's notice of the need for this district's second paper, not tied to any news trust … 36 04 03(2)CS

1936 04 04
The Policewoman's Review includes an article in praise of policewomen by Cambridge Councillor Mrs Rackham. The main obstacles to an increase in their numbers are prejudice against women police constables and ignorance of the work they perform. 36 04 04

Cambridge Police Force was established about March 1836 when it comprised a superintendent, two inspectors, eight sergeants and 24 constables. Now it consists of the Chief Constable, a Chief Inspector, three Inspectors, eight sergeants, 79 constables, two policewomen and the Fire Brigade which is made up of a sergeant and six men. Crime was much the same then as now: the 1837 report shows gas lamps were extinguished unlawfully and there was even a case of furious driving, the vehicle being a gig. 36 04 04

1936 04 06
Easter is replete with many quaint customs and beliefs and in Cambridgeshire folklore many of these old observances are still kept up. Centuries ago witches were believed to meet at some lonely spot in the fen district on Good Friday and hold their satanic revelries, Country folk, to prevent becoming 'bewitched', would mutter the charm
Upon Good Friday
I will fast while I may,
Until I hear the knell
Of the lord's bell
They also hung bunches of "palm" (catkins) over their doors as an additional prevention of witch spells
The eating of hot cross buns still remains a popular observance. An old custom of Cambridgeshire housewives was to bake a large bun on Good Friday and keep it until it was dry. It was then grated into powder and kept in stoppered jars to be administered mixed with water, when necessary, to any person in the household suffering from sickness or diarrhoea. Old folk will still tell you that if the sun shines on Easter Day it will also shine on Whit Sunday and that new clothes should be worn on Easter Day, or at least some new articles of attire, if only a necktie, so good fortune may attend you

At least let your clothes be new,
Or else be sure you will it rue
The custom of partaking of Easter eggs growth in popularity every year though nowadays there seems more of the sweetmeat variety than the natural production. Nevertheless many Cambridgeshire folk still serve home coloured hard-boiled eggs at breakfast on Easter morning. No doubt the observance arose from the idea of an egg being an object retaining the elements of future life.
A pleasing an ancient Easter custom which still survives is known as the 'Clipping of the Church', clipping being an old form of the word 'embracing'. This observance takes place in the churchyard on Easter Sunday afternoon. The scholars of the Sunday School, with their teachers and parents, link hands and form a human chain long enough to encircle the sacred edifice, hymns appropriate to be observance being sung. 36 04 06

1936 04 07
The "Buy British" movement will receive a boost with the visit to Cambridge of the All-Electric Propaganda Van. It is a miniature mobile power station generating its own electricity to enable the display in 12-inch letters of electric light that show almost as clearly in daytime as at night. The whole cost of this 'Buy British' demonstration is borne by British firms and concerns of national reputation, prominent amongst them being the New Zealand Dairy Board and Meltonian Shoe Polishes 36 04 07

1936 04 08
"Overture to Cambridge", play by Joseph Gordon Macleod, now turned into a novel – 36 04 08 # c.74

1936 04 09
A distinguished group of architects including the Slade Professor Fine Art and the Vice-Presidents of the Royal Institute of British Architects have offered to contribute £1,200 towards the architectural fees of building Histon Village College provided it is designed by the firm of Maxwell Fry and Victor Gropius. The County Council said the offer came entirely out of the blue and was a great compliment to Cambridgeshire. It would be a model of its kind and used not only as a school but a centre of adult education. 36 04 09 & a Important Notice. Peak's furnishers, King Street, Cambridge have built up the name and reputation for selling reliable goods. We give an expert furnishing service with 150 bedroom, dining and drawing room suites always on show. Don't be misled. We have no branch shop and no connection with any other furniture store. – Advert 36 04 09b # c.27.2

1936 04 11
For those on enjoyment bent Cambridge offered plenty of attractions on Good Friday. That 'hardy annual', skipping on Parker's Piece, showed no sign of waning in popularity; a large-sized crowd gathered to watch and take part. Various stall-holders seized the opportunity to set up their portable businesses beside the Piece. The streets wore their usual holiday deserted look, but neither that nor the temperatures deterred the cycling ice-cream salesmen. The Town football match drew some 5,000 spectators while the brass band concert in the Guildhall was a popular affair and the cinemas were open in the afternoon and evening. 36 04 11a – photos 36 04 11 # c.39

Death Charles Kidman, builder 36 04 11b # c.23

Three minutes before the service at Ely Cathedral began on Good Friday evening, a 20-years-old youth dropped dead in the organ loft. He was an articled pupil to Dr M. Conway, Cathedral organist, and his death was a tragedy of almost incredible suddenness. Just before the Cathedral choir were due to sing he was in the organ loft with the assistant organist, Mr R. Young. The latter turned his back for a few moments, and hearing a gasp found the young man had collapsed on the floor. Rushing from the loft he sent for medical assistance but he was beyond aid. Meanwhile the congregation were unaware of what had happened until the end of the service, when the Preceptor offered a prayer for the dead youth 36 04 11c

1936 04 14
Roger W.B. Jenyns of Bottisham Hall took the welfare of village cricket to heart and presented a cup with the final played in his Park. The first member of the family to live in Bottisham was Sir Roger Jenyns who was knighted for his services in the drainage of the fens. Others included Sarah, the famous Duchess of Marlborough, and Soame Jenyns a great literary character of the 18th century while an uncle was one of the survivors of the charge of the Light Brigade at Balaclava. He is succeeded by Roger Soame Jenyns who after four years in the Colonial Service at Hong Kong is now a Keeper of Oriental Antiquities at the British Museum 36 04 14

1936 04 16
Newmham photo, p1
Smallholding, p5

1936 04 17
Sussex Street, p1

1936 04 18
Lord Eltisley has made extensive use of electricity on his estate at Croxton Park for threshing, pumping, grinding pig food, working sack hoists and operating fruit grading, corn cleaning and potato sorting machines. It also drives a sawmill, heats sites with newly-farrowed pigs, warms milk for new-born lambs and drives elevators for stacking straw and hay. Fourteen motors are in frequent use. He is a director of the Beds, Cambs and Hunts Electricity Company amongst several others and while Cambridge MP served on a parliamentary committee on the development of electricity in rural areas. 36 04 18a

The work of pulling down and building up in Cambridge goes merrily on. Anyone revisiting the town after only a few years' absence must be amazed at the remarkable changes taking place from the old Post Office to the Catholic Church. In a few years this will form the most important and best shopping centre in Cambridge. Now no.14 Regent Street, which was built at the end of the 18th century, will be pulled down by Messrs Herbert Robinson to make an extension of their business. This will mean a further improvement in the building line with a consequent street widening. 36 04 18b # c.44.6

1936 04 21
Members of the Territorial Army Nursing Service and nurses of Addenbrooke's Hospital receiving instruction in anti-gas drill – photo – 36 04 21 # c.21.4 # c.45.6

Central Cinema installation of machine for lighting the screen – photo – 36 04 21a # c.76.9

1936 04 22
Percy Clark left Cambridge for a life of adventure in South Africa. Today he is famous to visitors at the famous Victoria Falls because of his picturesque huts which house photographs and mementoes for the delight of the traveller. In his autobiography, 'An Old Drifter' he tells how, after working as a photographer with Mr R.H. Lord, he went to Rhodesia where he worked as a travelling photographer. Having returned to Cambridge to be married he went back to find that the man he'd left in charge of his photographic business had decamped, having sold nearly all the furniture. But his young wife made the best of it and they have two strong sons. 36 04 22a # c.65.5

Cambridge Photographic Club cine group showed a film by Eric Watson entitled 'East Coast Holidays' with some interesting shots of fisher girls 'gutting' at Lowestoft. 'Neath Arctic Skies' by Arnold Darlington depicted Eskimo life in East Greenland in 1935 while his 'Offence and Defence' was accompanied by a running commentary: the absence of sub-titles made it something of an experiment. The club's combined film 'Springtime for Henry' portrayed a small boy's attitude towards compulsory school attendance on a fine morning. Mr H.S. Johnson, president, thanked King and Harper for the use of their radiogram in relating the musical score accompanying the films. 36 04 22b # c.65.6

Autobiography of an old drifter – P.M. Clark – 36 04 22

1936 04 23
Cambridge Short Wave Club was formed to foster and maintain interest in short wave radio, discuss problems, provide technical literature and exchange 'junk'. They hoped to install a club transmitter and arrange instruction in Morse for beginners. H.W. Scott presided at the first meeting when a large number of short wave fans attended together with transmitters 5JO, 2PL, 6HD, 2KW and 5PU 36 04 23 # c.27.8

The bridges over the Bedford Rivers at Sutton Gault were unable to carry the weight of traffic now using them and were beyond the capacity of the Ouse Catchment Board to repair. They should be replaced by the County Council like the Honeysome Bridge near Chatteris station. But this would cost £8,000 and in times of flood the road between the two bridges would be underwater. To make a good job there would have t0 be a viaduct and the area did not warrant that expenditure, an Inspector was told. 36 04 22c & d photo 36 04 23a # c.44.75

1936 04 25
Hope for heated indoor swimming pool soon – 36 04 25

The Wayfarers' Rest at 3 Union Lane, Chesterton has been open for a year. It provides an opportunity for those on their way to the Casual Ward to spend an hour or two in homely surroundings during which they are given tea, scones and a cigarette or tobacco. They can write letters, read magazines and join in the small chapel for prayers and a short Bible reading. More than 4,700 men and 120 woman have used it so far 36 04 25a # c.32.9

1936 04 27
New bridge replacing old ferry at Horse Grind is now in use – photo – 36 04 27 # c.44.7

"This country will never be saved by young men with permanently waved hair. They may be mother's darlings and favourites of the girls, but they will never be any good to the country because he is a 'she-man' and the country will never be saved by 'she-men'. Women are all very well, but they should know their place and the danger of the present day is that there is too much feminism about. A man has got to be prepared to stick up for his own. The Territorial Army is preferable to spending evenings in cinemas and smoking round corners", the Cambridgeshire Regiment Old Comrades were told. 36 04 27a

The new R.S.P.C.A. clinic for animals at Covent Garden was officially opened. Those who could pay took their animals to the veterinary surgeon but many could not afford the fees and three prominent vets had promised their professional assistance without any charge 36 04 27b # c.19

Some members of King's College went mountaineering last night. A Union Jack and the Abyssinian emblem were fixed to the pinnacles at the east end of the chapel with a large banner slung between them bearing the words 'Save Ethiopia". The flags were still flying during the morning but the banner was blown down by the wind. A man who was astir early claimed to have seen four undergraduates climbing up at four o'clock. Unfortunately he was unable to see what means of assistance they were using in their climb, otherwise one of Cambridge's age-old mysteries would have been solved 36 04 27c # c.38 : night # c.39

Territorial soldiers with machine guns at anti-aircraft exercises on Coldham's common – 36 04 27d # c.45.6

1936 04 29
Thirty of the smallest circus performers have arrived on the fairground at Cowper Road, Cambridge. Well-known on the Continent, these Lilliputian players range up to 36 inches in height and their 30 ponies are of similar build. They make their own village, consisting of hairdressers' shop, a newsagent, café and billiards saloon as well as their own church. There is added interest in the show as two of the tiny performers are to be married shortly 36 04 29 # c.76.2

1936 04 30
John Whitaker, the well-known Cambridge antique dealer who has died in his 92nd year, was a craftsman of skill and taste, a carver of wood and stone and many buildings were enriched by his work. He had travelled extensively in India, the Cape, America and the Continent and also had a great knowledge of local history. The business of a dealer in antiques never ceased to appeal to him and he could discuss items with shrewdness and judgment. He was Bohemian in appearance, whimsical and entertaining and with an optimism unbounded. 36 04 30 # c.27

Nathaniel Mayer Victor Rothschild child – 36 04 30

The Majestic Entertainment Company of Ely appealed against the assessment on the Majestic Cinema in New Barns Road. It was in a back street and it was difficult to get people round there. The prices had been reduced and they had to remove some of the seats, decreasing the capacity to 342. As a result takings were down. Their rates were reduced 36 04 30a

May 1936 CDN

1936 05 01
A famous scholar and poet, Professor Alfred Edward Housman of Trinity College and author of 'A Shropshire Lad' has died at the Evelyn Nursing Home – 36 05 01

Central School May Queen chosen – 36 05 01a

Cambridge University's world-famous Cavendish Laboratory, the leading centre for modern physical research, has benefited by the magnificent gift of £250,000 from Sir Herbert Austin, the motor magnate. The frontage on to Free School lane will be left as will Clark Maxwell's original lecture theatre and the rooms in which Sir J.J. Thomson discovered the electron and Lord Rutherford disintegrated the atom. The rest will be pulled down and a new five-storey block erected with a laboratory for the utilisation of very high voltages to allow experiments in the transmutation of matter by high speed particles and by radiation. 36 05 01a 36 05 02 # c.36.9

1936 05 02
Houghton Mill was given a spring-clean by a working party of 25 Youth Hostellers. From top to ground level they cleaned the floors and 'dusted' the machinery and claim that about half-a-ton of dirt was carried away and burnt. There were over 170 'bed-nights' by Y.H.A. members including visitors from Birmingham, London, Africa and America 36 05 02a

1936 05 04
The proposed road alongside the River Lark from Isleham to Prickwillow cannot be safely built owing to the leaking through the river bank. Instead a road should be constructed along Black Drove and Black Wing Drove with a hard road along Spooner's Drove to the Fen Bank. There would be extra cost due to the need to put in four more bridges and foundations because of the peat soil. Owners felt the construction of a road away from the river was not of use and had reduced their contributions to the scheme but the top of the river bank would be gravelled to enable them to get to their houses. 36 05 04

"I am not at all sure that if I had been a German I should not have voted freely and enthusiastically for Hitler at the last election", Dr Alex Wood told a May Day demonstration on Parker's Piece. Germany as she was today was the creation of the Allied Governments and their policy of repress and unilateral disarmament, he continued before condemning the Government's re-armament police. It would lead inevitably to war. Only on the foundations of International Socialism and co-operation can secure peace be built. 36 05 04b # c.33

1936 05 05
Guildhall rebuilding photo – 36 05 05

Undergraduates, tired of their boring existence at the University, found a new way of letting off their spirits. A party 'invaded' the fair on Midsummer Common and obtained permission from the proprietor of the Wall of Death to give a display. Two mounted on motor cycles and the others on bicycles then gave a short show with plenty of impromptu thrills and spills. Fortunately no proctors appeared on the scene. 36 05 05a # c.27.3

1936 05 07
Friendly rivalry between the owners of two 50-years-old steamboats led to a unique race on the Cam. 'Kathleen' owned by Mr & Mrs Leach, performed so well that, although the older craft, she beat 'Sunbeam' owned by Mr Barlow of Jesus College by a quarter of a mile over the course from Pretoria Road bridge to Baitsbite and back. An old fire engine boiler was a big help to Mr Leach in the construction of 'Kathleen's engine, which drives the boat at about eight knots 36 05 07 – photo # c.26.3

1936 05 08
Sutton sewage – 36 05 08

Huntingdon discuss air raid precautions – 36 05 08a

Ely fishmonger sells cat fish as hake – 36 05 08b

1936 05 09
Did you see this Holliman's furniture van in your district? It was delivering guaranteed furniture that had been bought for cash. Do be wise and furnish for cash. You will then know that the home is your own. Hollimans', the firm that guarantees you satisfaction. The King Street Furniture Galleries, Cambridge - Advert 36 05 09

An inquest on a workman who crashed to his death from the roof of a hangar at Wyton Aerodrome heard that he had been helping to nail the roof on and to do this he stood in the guttering, supporting himself on the boards he was fixing. The contractors said it was not necessary to have scaffolding as erecting it would be more dangerous than the actual work. The men had been told that if they had any qualms about walking along the guttering, they could crawl. None of them did this: they all stood upright as if used to climbing. If a man complained he was given a different task. The firm had offered the relatives financial assistance in conveying the body to Darlington for burial 36 05 09a

Marjorie Moss who is well-known to local dancers as a crooner with Percy Cowell's band has won a round of a £600 light singing competition organised by the Gaumont-British Corporation & the News Chronicle at Peterborough. She will go to the final at Ipswich and if successful to London for the All-England final. Success there will mean that she will broadcast. Miss Moss, who is a member of the Enthusiasts' Concert Party, chose as her song 'Some of these days' and was accompanied by Percy Cowell himself. 36 05 09b # c.69

1936 05 11
Dr William Mortlock Palmer has examined a vast number of old Corporation papers and documents. They have been cleaned, labelled and made up into parcels, listed with cross-references and arranged in cupboards. The result is that order has been effected out of chaos. They contain valuable material for social history with original petitions, complaints of nuisances and opposition to proposed improvements. The most bulky is the petition against making the concrete paths across Parker's Piece. Some have been handed over to the County Council and University Library. Now the Corporation may publish a list of them. 36 05 11a # c.43

1936 05 12
Proposal erect cinema on land adjoining Cattle Market recommended – 35 05 12

The Seed Testing Station, Huntingdon Road was established as during the Great War farmers had not been getting the best seeds and new regulations had to be worked out. The main work is carried out by a staff of 30 girls. There are sections dealing with cereals, grasses and clover – where a bad weed called dodder has to be separated - together with a vegetable germination room where an ingenious devise automatically plants 200 seeds in a pan. Onion and parsnip seeds are tested periodically – they will keep for two years then go off altogether. 36 05 12 # c.18

Marks & Spencer tender £26,000 for 10-11 Sidney Street as a general stores – 36 05 12a # c.27.2
Stretham inquest 2-year-old Alfred Godfrey Parish of Old White Horse, kicked in stable – 36 05 12b

1936 05 13
Haddenham and Wilburton Nursing Association started in 1915, Nurse Lowe was appointed district nurse in 1917 and still held the position. Last year she made 3,851 nursing and casual visits with 31 maternity cases and 505 health and school inspection visits. She had treated six patients sent home from hospital, one of whom she attended daily for seven months. Nurse Lowe had not missed a day's work through illness or any other cause. Her salary and special fees came to £160 7s 5d with a £29 10s. allowance for a car and new tyres. The village Hospital Parade Committees might be approached for a donation. 36 05 13

1936 05 14
Feltwell aerodrome deaths – two painters fall from top of hangar – 36 05 14

A proposal to sell land adjoining Cambridge Cattle Market for the erection of a cinema was defeated. The Market was increasing every week and nobody could foresee what the land would be wanted for in 75 years time. There was not the slightest need for another cinema and it would spoil the area. People who had bought their homes adjacent to the site were very upset, fearing that their homes would be devalued. But others thought it was a jolly good idea: it was a long journey into town and it would be a blessing to be able to visit a show near home. 36 05 14a # c.76.9

1936 05 15
Huntingdon councillors discussed demolition orders on various properties. Slade Cottage in St Peter's Hill needed repair and had no water supply. But the owner said this was not necessary as the occupiers got their water from a near-by spring. Two shops in St Germain Street would become unsafe if the adjacent house was demolished while new drains had been put in and water laid on to Rectory Cottages. But no.3 Newton's Court and 4 Hartford Corner should be demolished within in six months. 36 05 15

There were a large number of single people in Cambridge living under very unsatisfactory housing conditions and few of the public lodging houses were suitable for them. The council could cooperate with the Church Army or Salvation Army but this meant robbing people of their freedom as individuals. It was about time they erected a municipal lodging house where people could live under decent, humanitarian conditions, Dr Wolf urged 36 05 15a & b # c.23

Cambridgeshire Regiment, Major Digby takes command, is University correspondent of CDN specialising in sport and drama – 36 05 15c & d # c.34.4 # c.04

Rose and Crown, Newmarket Road – Greene King advert – 36 05 15e # c.27.4

1936 05 16
Feltwell aerodrome, p5

1936 05 18
Albert Hugh Lloyd, antiquarian – death – 36 05 18

1936 05 20
A travelling squad of service technicians from the Morris factory is visiting Cambridge and will make its headquarters at the premises of the local distributors, King & Harper on Bridge Street. Morris owners may have their cars inspected free of charge by the factory experts who will issue a detailed report and give advice on its care and maintenance. Representatives of the Dunlop, Lucas and S.U. factories will also be in attendance so that on-the-spot service will be available for accessory matters where required. There will also be a display of the latest Morris models with vehicles of every type 36 05 20a

Stretham feast parade – 36 05 20

1936 05 21
At the opening of the new Rock Road library the Mayor said that in these difficult times it was important that there should be in every district a building which would help to circulate the best ideas and information for the guidance of residents. In the days to come the building will become more and more the intellectual home of the people who live around it. All would agree it was the right policy to encourage children to use it. He regretted the absence of a representative of the Carnegie Trust, which had helped with the money for the library 36 05 21a # c.77.4

1936 05 22
Histon station fatal accident – 36 05 22a

1936 05 23
A March grocer told the court the amazing story of a gipsy woman's threat. The accused was a pedlar who lived in a caravan and had nine children. She started telling his fortune, said he had an enemy and that she could prevent curses being put upon him providing he gave her money. This affected his mind and he parted with £50. Eventually a policeman hid behind the glass case in the shop and heard the woman threaten to put a curse on him if he did not fill her basket with groceries. 36 05 23 & a

Mr W.A. Fenton, the Borough Librarian, has seen a tremendous growth in the reading public since he took office. The new Rock Road Library has had an excellent start-off this week. When I looked in last night I found a continuous flow of adults and juveniles. The children's reading room was practically full and some boys to whom I spoke assured me that everything was quite all right. Work on a new branch library at the corner of Milton Road and Ascham Road will begin almost immediately. The site appears to be an ideal one and new building should be complete before 1937 is very far advanced 36 05 23c # c.77.4

Mr Lee told an inquest that when Kempton's fruiterers premises in Ely Market Place were being demolished he'd fetched away about 150 tubs and boxes and put them in his yard. He saw something amongst them that looked like fireworks which he laid aside and soaked with water. There were also some crackers and small fireworks, but he did not dream that they were dangerous. However children found them and lit one causing a loud explosion. Mr Kempton said he had been in business 30 years and never knew about the fireworks which his father had used for fetes and school treats. 36 05 23b

1936 05 25
Hunstanton for health feature – 36 05 25

The new electric clock in the tower of Cherry Hinton Church was given by Mrs Newport-Willson in memory of her husband. She also bore the expense of leading an electric cable into the church. The three feet dial is Coventry blue with gilded figures and hands. The hours are struck on the beautiful toned fourth bell and are heard all over the village. Churchyard trees have been lopped to give an unimpeded view. Over 50 years ago Mr Carter Willson built Brooklyn on Cherryhinton Road which was then the only house between Cherry Hinton brook and the railway bridge and the family is devoted to the parish church 36 05 25a

The Gog Magog Hills are in immediate danger. The rapid progressive uglification of Cambridge means that already the view is spoiled by 'the thoughtless spawning' of houses higgledy-piggledy. The Preservation Society has no money and it is no use leaving the matter to that body. Colleges and private owners should be compensated for the difference between what they would get by selling land for building and agricultural use. The 'Cambridge Daily News' should start a fund and undergraduates organise a flag day, Professor Rattray urges in an article in 'The Times' 36 05 25b # c.49.4

1936 05 26
Sir – May I appeal to persons not to throw into the river metal containers, such as petrol cans, which float about. The cans do not much matter to sail or power boats but might upset a skiff or even a pair. To cast dead dogs and cats into the Cam is a filthy and barbarous practice. I cannot think all the dead animals – five counted yesterday – died by 'misadventure'. Surely unwanted or sick pets would be better disposed of by use of the places where these things are attended to – Navigator 36 05 26 # c.46.5

Town Bumping Races changes to course: to be three finishing posts - 36 05 26a # c.38 : rowing

1936 05 30
Fitzroy Street shop owner blames losses on Corporation slum clearance and multiple shops 36 05 30 # c.49.66

War Memorial site history – Parker's Piece had been suggested – 36 05 30a

June 1936 CDN

1936 06 02
Cambridge Training College for Women celebrated its Jubilee. It had started in two cottages at Newnham when Miss Hughes, the principal, was the sole staff and lectured on every subject. Early staff, if they did receive their salaries, paid them back into the college in some way until the new buildings were started. When it moved into Queen Anne Terrace 1,000 guests gathered in a marquee for the ceremony. So great was the crush that those who were to sit on the platform could only get to it through a hole cut in the marquee. 36 06 02 & a # c.36.72

Whit Monday parade, p1

1936 06 03
Gt Yarmouth, p6

1936 06 04
Nine dwellings in Victoria Street, Littleport should be demolished an Inquiry was told. They were structurally unsound & had a permanent dampness in the walls and floors which were below ground level. Access to the bedrooms was by ladder, the plaster on the ceilings broken and the walls were bulging badly. But owners said they were wind and water tight, each had lavatory accommodation & there had been no case of illness attributable to sanitary defects in the last 40 years. The tenants were employed on lands in Burnt Fen and had no complaints to make. 36 06 04a

"I never let people pose" said Mrs Lettice Ramsey at an exhibition of modern photography. Her Solarised photographs are striking and new, giving the effect of charcoal drawing, while the unusual angle in the beautiful picture of Mrs Victor Rothschild is becoming as well as arresting. But the child studies are the most interesting: none of the usual sentimental darlings, but vigorous, animated children, almost walking out of their frames. Feminine sitters appreciate a women photographer's experience in matters of clothes and hair dressing while men – often vainer than women – can be flattered into good humour. Here is something new and original in photographic technique 36 06 04b # c.65.5

Jack Hobbs unveiled a tablet in the Hobbs Pavilion setting forth his wonderful achievements in first-class cricket. The proceedings had been delayed as Hobbs would not stop making records. Jack said that although wobbly at the knees, he still played. "I can visualise the youngsters coming and looking at the board and saying 'He must have been a real good player'. When I look at that board I begin to think I must have been". (Laughter and applause) 36 06 04c # c.38 : cricket

1936 06 05
Wilburton is the centre of an extensive fruit-growing industry but has a shortage of working-class houses for those employed in agriculture. As owners of existing cottages maintain their property in a good state of repair there are no slum clearance areas and so no public grants are available towards the building of further much-needed houses, the Parish Council say 36 06 05

1936 06 06
An inquest on the body of Thomas Lawrence, miller of Haddenham, heard he had been thrown from his cart in Grunty Fen during a thunderstorm and had broken his neck - 36 06 06

Two-seater car smashed into telegraph pole on corner near the Black and White café, Stretham – 36 06 06

Mrs Arthur Walters book 'My Wayside' describes life in Cambridge where Arthur Walters was minister Hills Road Methodist church - 36 06 06b # c.83

Friends of the Cambridge Town Silver Band will be glad to know that they are to give another broadcast on Saturday afternoon. This will be on the 'National' wave length but all B.B.C. stations are taking the programme. Last time the band opened with an original item by the conductor (Mr R.E. Austin) called 'Cambridge Bells' which featured the melody of the Roman Catholic Church chimes. This time they will start with his new military march 'Cantabrigia'. The band will be having a busy day for that evening they will be playing for the promenade concert on Christ's Pieces 36 06 06b # c.69 # c.27.8

1936 06 08
The Tithe Bill now before Parliament would alter tithe from being a charge on the land to a charge on the person. This meant a man could be distained on his household goods and everything else to pay tithe dues. The burden of tithe should rest on the broad shoulders of the large landowners, but it had now been put on those who had not the shoulders and could not bear it, Cambridgeshire farmers were told. If they owe money fairly and squarely, they are prepared to pay. But they are not going to pay unjust taxes, a meeting resolved 36 06 08 & a # c.22 # c.33

1936 06 09
Rutherford opens exhibition of historic scientific apparatus 36 06 09

1936 06 11
"Sluice" (George Edward) Parker was a street vendor of various things, at one time flowers, at another matches. It was a matter of common knowledge that he was always a little "tipply" on his legs and was ever so deaf. He had been crossing St Andrew's Street when a number of cyclists came round the corner which seemed to daze him. He'd stepped back right into the path of a Homerton student. Police said he smelled strongly of drink but was not drunk. It would only have taken the merest touch to upset his equilibrium. He'd been taken to Hospital in the Police Ambulance where he died of pneumonia. 36 06 11

1936 06 12
St Ives council discussed the possible development of the Ingle Holt, a small island in the main river which had been a gift to the town. With a river frontage and a greensward it could be a beauty spot equal to any in England. The Ouse Catchment Board dredger could deposit soil to raise the level. A suspension bridge from the Waits, a lawn and trees would not be excessive cost, but anything like a recreation ground with a bandstand and beautiful flower beds should be regarded with very great suspicion. 36 06 12

1936 06 13
The foundation stone for home for 40 nurses suffering from tuberculosis was laid at Papworth Hospital. Once restored to health they are employed in their profession, working only half a day so they have ample time for rest. They are paid a salary which together with free board and lodging, makes them self-supporting. If there is the slightest recrudescence of the disease they are at once treated as patients. Nurses from all over the country were contributing generously to endow a few beds for their colleagues who are permanently invalided 36 06 13

1936 06 15
Cambridge Town Silver Prize Band broadcast then return to play at Christ's Pieces – 36 06 15

1936 06 16
Somerlite oil, p1

1936 06 17
Village applications to SCDC – 36 06 17
Histon fire, p1

1936 06 18
A famous scholar and poet, Prof Alfred Edward Housman of Trinity College, died in the Evelyn Nursing Home. As a poet he appealed to a wide public. 36 06 18

Histon fire, p1
Plane mishap, p8

1936 06 19 CS
Friday Post – heading. 36 06 19CS

1936 06 20
Damaged houses, a blocked road and wrecked telephone wires marked the route of the great storm through Cambridge and district. The first ominous rumblings were heard comparatively early but not until the crowds began to pour out of the cinemas after the last performance did the rain stream down and great flashes of forked lightning rend the sky. Cambridge seemed to be almost surrounded by thunderstorms, for sheets of light flashed on the horizon at every point of the compass 36 06 20 # c.12

A bearded man with one eye and a peg leg has been frequently seen in the streets of Newmarket recently. On Thursday he was found lying on the footpath and pedestrians were walking in the road to pass him. He smelt strongly of drink so policemen borrowed a handcart and wheeled him to the police station. The man was a travelling blacksmith who visited Newmarket regularly and was a general nuisance. They could do without his company at any time. He was sentenced to 14 days' hard labour and told not to come back any more. 36 06 20

1936 06 22

The landlord of The Oak in Lensfield Road was awakened by a terrible crash which shook the whole property. He found a Winston Smith van imbedded in the woodwork. It had been crossing the junction with Regent Street and Hills Road at about 4 a.m. when another van ran into it swinging it right round and smashing it backwards into the wooden wall of the pub. At this time of the morning the traffic lights are off and it is against the law to sound a horn or hooter. 36 06 22

1936 06 23
The Cambridge Preservation Society reported that the Three Tuns in Castle Street was in so bad a state of repair that it was unable to put forward a scheme for its preservation and so it will be demolished. Dwelling houses in Cambridge Place will be cleared but a site in New Street was unsuitable for building and should be turned into an open space. The Central Library Reading and Reference Rooms will be closed four days for cleaning with the Corn Exchange used as a temporary alternative, councillors agreed. 36 06 23

Midsummer Fair showmen were in a state of indignation after police banned games and competitions for which prizes are offered, practically paralysing the fair. "They stopped everything, including darts and hoop-la, but these are games of skill or where the element of gambling is of a trivia nature" showmen complained. The games were for amusement, not to encourage gambling and the Home Secretary had said no objections would be raised to people playing for prizes or money not exceeding one shilling in value 36 06 23a # c.27.31

1936 06 24
Somerlite injunction – 36 06 24

1936 06 25
Councillor Wilding asked if the new sewage plant would prevent "the effluvia we all notice so strongly along Milton Road" and if not, whether consideration would be given to the moving the works further from the road. Lately the smell had been terribly bad, although people in the neighbourhood got used to it. The Mayor said he was frequently at the farm and never smelt anything which could be described as "terribly bad". Mr Edwards remarked, amid laughter, that he thought the Mayor should receive nasal attention 36 06 25 & a # c.29.8

1936 06 26
Green King, p4

1936 06 27
Model cruisers, p6

1936 06 29
Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs gathered a thousand strong at Ely to take part in a huge county rally. Six hundred camped over the weekend in the delightful surroundings of the Cathedral Park. The numerous tents dotted here and there among the trees provided a pleasant spectacle. Saturday brought 120 wolf cubs from Cambridge who chose the novel method of travelling by river, starting from Victoria Bridge. Amongst troops present were Prickwillow, Pampisford, Wilburton and the Whittlesford Sea Scouts 36 06 29a

1936 06 30
Newmarket bowls, p5

July 1936 CDN

1936 07 01
A large number of Methodists gathered to celebrate the anniversary of the Swaffham Fen Methodist Church. This is one of the outposts of Methodism, being situated about four miles beyond Waterbeach and three from Swaffham Prior. It is only reached with difficulty after travelling down lonely fen roads and crossing the river in an antiquated chain boat. It has been well served over a long period by the stalwart local preachers of the Cottenham circuit. Afterwards a picnic tea was held in the grass roadway near the chapel 36 07 01

1936 07 02
Improvements have been made at Cambridge station yard to provide better parking accommodation and cope with the heavy vehicular traffic. Three car parks have been allotted with an in-way and out-way for 'through' traffic. The Eastern Counties Omnibus Company's services are located at the south side of the passenger station and will 'set down' and 'pick up' at the same place. The taxi-cab accommodation has also been divided into three parks with an in-way and out-way between them. It is hoped that with the co-operation of the owners of road motor-vehicles this will facilitate safe movement into and out of the station premises 36 07 02 # c.26.2 (photo)

1936 07 03
Friday Post and Mid-Week Post creditors meeting – 36 07 03 # c.04

1936 07 04
Cambridge street lighting is being brought up to standard. Hills Road and St Andrew's Street are already ablaze. So is Sidney Street. Twenty-three miles of streets will be illuminated by autumn. Side lights properly equipped with seven watt bulbs are all that are now required by motorists. Pedestrians and cyclists are now visible from afar after dark. The lamps are lit automatically by clock devices and soon the familiar figure of the lamp-lighter will disappear from the streets forever 36 07 04 # c.24.8

"Cambridge is now almost entirely covered with new street lamps, which will hardly be of any use until the dark evenings. Suggestions have been made as what to do with them during the long wait – as hanging baskets, clothes lines and even wireless aerials. But it is more than likely that owing to the summer holidays our streets will become so congested that we shall have to turn them into - police traps!" (Ronald Searle cartoon showing policemen with telescopes mounted in crows' nests high on lamp posts) 36 07 04a # c.24.8

1936 07 06
Stetchworth villagers celebrated the coming-of-age of Viscount Brackley, son of the Earl and Countess of Ellesmere. Proceedings opened with a luncheon for 200 tenants and employees of the Stetchworth Estate followed by sports and a buffet tea. They presented the Viscount with an inscribed cartridge magazine and a trout and salmon fishing rod and reel. A photograph was taken of members of the family together with employees with at least 26 years service. These included J. Lancaster (59 years' service), W. Jolly (54), J. Briggs, H. Cook & R. Turner (51) together with R. Jaggard (44) and 26 others 36 07 06

1936 07 07
When Justin Brooke took Clopton Hall, Wickhambrook in 1928 his idea was just to grow fruit on modern lines. To those who had farmed there for generations the idea seemed preposterous and they predicted his speedy ruin. But today in place of the semi-derelict land there are 300 acres of fruit together with 410 acres of permanent grass and 30 of nursery. There is also a large rose growing business. He employs 153 workers and even old men are invaluable: they only have to take a look at a field and can drain it better than any machine 36 07 07 & a 1936 07 08

Babraham vicar & ice-cream salesman – 36 07 08

Mildenhall aerodrome, scene of the first Royal Review of the British Air Force, was further honoured when King Edward visited the station during the first flying tour of R.A.F. stations ever undertaken by a reigning Monarch. After the scarlet and blue Dragon Rapide came to a halt the King inspected three bomber squadrons, two of Handley Page Heyfords and the third Hawker Hinds, and toured the Airmen's Barrack Block. As the visit was entirely unofficial only a mere handful of people knew. 36 07 08

Vicar and ice cream man – 36 07 08a & b

1936 07 09
Much regret will be felt at the death of John Morris Bull, the dairyman. Born in Landbeach, he assisted his father who was village smith before buying a diary business from Mr Thompson of Russell Street, Cambridge in 1891. During the War he was one of the organisers of the Dairyman's Association that ensured a regular supply of milk. A life-long Liberal, he had a good record of public service on the Board of Guardians and County Council. He leaves a widow and three sons 36 07 09a # c.27

Royal visit to Mildenhall – photo – 36 07 09

County High School for Girls site agreed in Long Road 36 07 09a # c.36.5

March was likely to be a bull's eye for air attack as it was an important railway marshalling centre, residents were warned. Windows smeared with treacle and covered with paper would prevent glass from flying and one room should be made gas proof by blocking up the chimney and other cracks. No air raid would last as long as twelve hours and they would be able to get fresh air as soon as the 'All Clear' had sounded. Following an attack using mustard, tear and liquid gas decontamination would be carried out by the St John Ambulance Brigade. But people must wear a mask as some gases hang around for long periods.36 07 09b

1936 07 10
Considerable damage was caused by a cloudburst at Arrington where gardens were washed away and crops looked as if they had been flattened by a steam-roller. Several fields were under water and one farmer bemoaned that there were a lot of rabbits high and dry on a hillock, but he could not get to them with a gun. At Toft houses in Brook End and School Lane were flooded with residents 'living upstairs' and empty chicken coops seen floating about outside them. During the thunderstorm the village school was struck and a chimney pot knocked askew 36 07 10

There has been a great demand in Newmarket for convenient facilities for swimming. Now a new pool called 'The Newmarket Dip' will be opened adjoining the White Lion Hotel. It is 75ft by 45ft with depths ranging from nine feet to two-foot-six and the water will be maintained at about 70 degrees. An H.M.V. public address system will relay soothing music to swimmers and sunbathers. At night the whole of the pool and terraces will be floodlit and there is a system of underwater lighting 36 07 10 & a

1936 07 13
Stretham Flower Show and Sports – 36 07 13 & a

1936 07 14
Vicar of Babraham, formerly Fen Drayton, unfrocked – 36 07 14

1936 07 15
James Street was the scene of one of the most serious blazes Cambridge has experienced in years. It started when a Ford van caught fire at the premises of William Scott, house decorators, builders, motor and coach painters. It spread to their motor-body room where a number of cars were in for renovation. The place was soon a veritable inferno as drums of paint and oil exploded. Flames engulfed ladders and handcarts belonging to the Cambridge Window Cleaning Company then Messrs Pate's builders workshops which were reduced to ashes or scrap. The damage must run to many thousands of pounds 36 07 15 & a # c.26.48 # c.34.75

1936 07 18
Samuel Fletcher, a Longstanton diary farmer told the court he had an old motor van that he used as a fowl house. He noticed that the radiator had disappeared; he considered it was worth ten shillings. A cowman's wife said that a Cottenham scrap dealer had offered a shilling for it. But he only gave her three pence together with another three pence for some old rags. Had she got the full amount she would have offered it to Mr Fletcher but as it was so little she did not bother about it. She did not think it wrong as the van was no good. The scrap dealer later sold the radiator for one-and-sixpence. 36 07 18

1936 07 20
Looking back on his 45-year career at the CDN Robert Cleaver remembered when there had been no linotypes but every line had been set by hand – laboriously and painfully slow. The paper was printed only one side at a time, and not folded at all – and the speed about 1,000 an hour! Change had come gradually but the real push and progress had been since Mr Taylor had taken charge. He had transformed the news sheets from their rather dull appearance to a production of which they might justly feel proud. 36 07 20 & a # c.04

1936 07 22
No air raid precautions were being taken in London and it was left to Huntingdon to decide whether they should take any or not. As they had two aerodromes so near it is quite possible that they might be attacked and have 'planes over the town. The Government expects local authorities to provide a gas-proof shelter and appoint air-raid wardens in each street but does not say who should pay for them. It was agreed to form an air raid precautions committee 36 07 22 & a

1936 07 23
The deeds of Bassingbourn Recreation Ground were handed over to the Parish Council as a perpetual playing field for the village. The generous gift was made by Samuel Willmott of Muswell Hill who was born in the village when there was no tennis courts, the cricket wickets were two sticks with a coat thrown over them and at Christmas they played hockey using a large brewers' bung for a ball. He also erected handsome entrance gates at the South End road entrance carrying the words "Willmott's Playing Field" in large letters 36 07 23a

1936 07 24
A large number of civilian aeroplanes were to be seen at Marshall's Aerodrome during a visit to England by foreign amateur pilots. Some 70 were expected but the bad weather upset the arrival of some from abroad. They made a very pretty sight with planes from Belgium, Germany, Holland, Rumania and Switzerland. It is hoped that others from Egypt, Morocco, Portugal and the United States would arrive later. Their occupants took luncheon at Trinity College and made a tour of the colleges before leaving for a reception 36 07 24

A former undergraduate told the court he had hired a plane from Marshall's Flying School and flown to Caxton where he landed and then taxied towards the Gibbet. There was a haystack between him and the hotel and he hit a pole which had been erected with a wind-sock, but there was no wind-sock. The propeller and two wings were damaged. But he disputed the cost of repairs and said the job could have been done in three days and two wings were not necessary: he'd had a similar accident at Lympne when the machine had been repaired next day for £35. 36 07 24c # c.26.1

The Papworth Settlement needed more capital expenditure on workshops, hostels and cottages so men stricken with disease could earn their own living. How large it is going to become no-one could say but judging from the amount of post received every morning from people anxious to come then it would probably encircle both Huntingdon and Cambridge! The new surgical hospital, a magnificent contribution to the fight against tuberculosis, was opened by the Earl of Athlone. It was the 15th visit of the Royal House of Windsor to Papworth 36 07 24a & b

1936 07 27

Landbeach hall opening, p3 & 5

1936 07 28
Cambridge Place houses unfit for human habitation and should be demolished – 36 07 28

A tapestry showing a panoramic view of Windsor Castle that was produced as a personal Silver Jubilee gift for the late King George V and Queen Mary is now on view in London. It represents the very finest modern English weaving and was designed and woven by the Cambridge Tapestry Company in their workshops at Thompson's Lane. The weavers were Ellen Nichols, Sylvia Corby, Ethel Lander, Dorothy Pettit, Elsie Blunt and Alice Haylett working under the direction of Hilda Lister. 36 07 28a # c.27

1936 07 29
New Guildhall takes shape – steel skeleton – photo – 36 07 29

Sutton farm trading as C. Sole and sons in bankruptcy – 36 07 29a

The Fellowship of Reconciliation, a peace movement born in Cambridge during the dark days of 1914 was founded by people united in the conviction that the way of war could not be the way of Christ for righting wrongs and had now spread to many countries. Some 250 people from Germany, France, Italy, Bulgaria and Belgium together with the USA, Japan and the Argentine are attending a conference at Selwyn College on 'Christ: the Peace of the World". 36 07 29b # c.45.6

1936 07 30
The younger generation are not following in their fathers' footsteps and drinking beer, instead they are spending money on cinemas and motor cycles, the landlord of the Rose and Crown at Little Thetford claimed when appealing against his rate assessment. Mr H. Nunn of Sutton said he employed several men in his ice-cream business but the machinery was only used six months a year while Mr G. Cobbin a miller of Downham Road Ely said he had lost trade as the beet industry had hit him heavily; he was grinding very little and the mill had not been in use for two years. 36 07 30 also J.H. Acred said his cottage at Green End Stretham was very old and had not the conveniences of modern houses. He had had a portion added to the building

The Isle of Ely County Council heard that the proposed approach road to the new bridge over the River Nene at Benwick had brought objections from the owner of Cosmo House who said it would be untenable as a residence. An alternative route would entail the removal of the Parish Hall owned by Benwick Parish Council which stood on a piece of land they hired from the objector. He would be prepared to accept compensation of £250 and the Council £150 to remove the Hall to another site when required to do so. This was agreed 36 07 30f

Specimen lamp standards had been put up so that everybody had equal chance of commenting and not one criticism had been received. So standards had been ordered and work was proceeding well. But then criticism poured in from the Preservation Society and Colleges who said the standards were not in keeping with the buildings around them. But while they had antique buildings in King's Parade, they also had modern traffic passing along the road at the modern fast rate. Where were the protests going to stop? 36 07 30b & c # c.24.8

Cattle Market needed modern facilities and expansion – 36 07 30d # c.27.3

Harston flooding, Prickwillow and Sutton Gault bridges, musk rats, Quy Rye Ditch – 36 07 30e

1936 07 31
The High Back Bridge at Jesus Lock was 40 years old and not designed for prams. Recently two little children were trying to push one across when it overturned and the baby was thrown out. However they were getting less bulky and when one of the heavier prams came along people were not backward in giving a helping hand. A long sloping ramp would be very detrimental to the quaint old lock and increase the danger from cyclists. The Surveyor was instructed to provide two cycle ramps on the steps on Jesus Green side of the bridge 36 07 31 # c.44.7

August 1936 CDN

1936 08 01
Various conferences have been the principal means of bringing visitors to Cambridge and when one meeting disbanded over the weekend at least two others were in process of starting. One was the International Conference of the Fellowship of Reconciliation when representatives from nineteen countries met at the Guildhall. The University Summer School on 'Tudor England' includes papers on Cambridge and Cambridgeshire 36 08 01 #

The L.N.E.R. has made provision for a heat wave by giving orders that new trolleys which serve light refreshments to the passing travellers from station platforms should be equipped with refrigerating apparatus to ensure minerals and other soft drinks are kept cool. They also serve tea, coffee, cakes, cigarettes and the dainty modern successor to the railway sandwich of grandfather's day. Two of the new barrows will be placed at Cambridge and Ely stations 36 08 01a # c.26.2

1936 08 04
Conservative fete at Gogs – 36 08 04

1936 08 06
March Urban District Council is to resort to firmer measures to deal with horse-play by adults to the recently-purchased swings on the recreation ground in Robin Goodfellow's Lane. The steelwork had been bent due to rough usage. It was one of their most successful schemes for keeping children off the streets but they needed someone living near the ground to keep an eye on things. Houses had been damaged in Eastwood Avenue where putty was removed from recently gazed windows and glass broken. Some tenants were not worthy of the houses and were an annoyance to the others. The Council was doing all it could to make the tenants happy and appealed to them to put an end to what appeared to be sabotage. 36 08 06a & b

Mildenhall St Margaret's Chapel altar stone re-dedicated – 36 08 06

1936 08 07
It is an easy matter to pull down slum dwellings – many are falling down of their own accord. But it is not an easy matter to re-house the low-paid occupants and give them good living facilities at prices they can afford. The Slum Clearance Campaign runs the grave risk of putting them into better dwellings in which they will be poorer owing to higher rents and other charges. As a result the new dwellings will rapidly develop into slums. The answer is to build new towns around factories in the countryside, like at Corby where a community has grown up around new iron works – A.T. Edwards 36 08 07

1936 08 08
Greene, King and Sons of Bury St Edmunds presented the parish of Mildenhall with their old fire tender that was converted from a lorry by the workmen at the brewery. No longer will the parish council have to hire a motor to haul their steam engine to fires. They will would do all in their power to maintain an efficient brigade as far as funds would allow, for in the event of war air raids would mean the destruction of life and property. Despite torrential rain hundreds turned out on the Market Place to show their appreciation. 36 08 08

Prof A.E. Housman, creator of 'A Shropshire Lad' directs in his will that all his prose and fragments of verse should be destroyed. The eminent classical scholar left all the wine in his cellars to the Family Dining Club of Cambridge University. This small and select body has a membership of a dozen and meets regularly in the houses or college rooms of its members. While the 'Family' dates back to the 18th century, its donnish dining club, the 'Society' was founded in 1857 36 08 08b

1936 08 10
John Herbert Stevens dies - disputed the repair of chancel Hauxton Church – 36 08 10

1936 08 12
Towing Rowing Club crew, p3

1936 08 13
Mrs D.A. Poynter arrived home in Saffron Walden after anxious and terrible days in Spain. "There was street fighting between the Socialists and the Fascist rebels, the dead were taken through Madrid in dirt carts. Rifle and machine gun fire was going on practically all the time and if I went near the hotel window I had to crawl in case a stray bullet hit me", she reported. An English girl-friend saw her husband, brother-in-law and father-in-law shot before her eyes. Nuns were made to walk through the streets completely nude in front of jeering and laughing crowds while British subjects wore red, white and blue armbands to make their identity clear 36 08 13

1936 08 14
The question of the supply of electricity to Saxon Street was discussed by councillors. The Electricity Company required a contribution from Banstead Manor Stud and the District Council together with a guaranteed sum. Although Lord Aston was prepared to use electricity at Warren Stud, if available, he did not feel inclined to make any contribution to the general cost of extending the cable, having regard to the small amount likely to be used at his stud premises. 36 08 14

A retired schoolmaster, F.J. Fuller, has built a large motor-boat in his back garden in Ascham Road with 'tips' from Mr H.C. Banham. He laid the keel in October and it was launched on August Bank Holiday. It has an engine from an Austin Seven car and features oak and spruce steamed to the required curves with mahogany lining. The craft has been named 'Butterfly', reviving that of a steam launch that his father had 50 years ago. 36 08 14a # c.26.3

1936 08 15
Old buildings at the back of shops opposite the 'Blue Boar' in Trinity Street caught fire. This is one of the densest areas with much valuable property including several college buildings. Trinity College fire-fighting appliance tackled the blaze from the back and the brigade's water tower fire engine was soon at work. Onlookers had a laugh when a frightened mouse was seen running along the pavement among the hoses. But the storehouse at the rear of Roper's shop was burnt out. 36 08 15 # c.34.75

The Christian Science Monitor observes: 'In Cambridge, Saturday afternoon shoppers parked their bicycles along the street and left all sorts of packages unmolested in open baskets on the handlebars. Other cycles were left in racks beside the college buildings. If one missed his machine, we were told, he had only to wait till the morrow; someone had taken it by mistake and would return it to its place'. Evidently our American friend has not heard of our undergraduates and their 'taking little ways'. Their 'mistakes' are more frequent than some of us like and both pumps and lights also have a habit of disappearing 36 08 15a # c.26.485

1936 08 17
Sir Henry Lytton, the famous Savoyard, made many appearances in Cambridge in Gilbert and Sullivan operas, the last in 1934 – 36 08 17

1936 08 18
A lorry driver and his passengers jumped for their lives in the nick of time at Main Drove level crossing near Black Bank station. The lorry, belonging to Mr E.A. Cole of The Two Pounds, Little Downham, was being used for carting hay and was on the rails when the driver noticed a train coming. He attempted to reverse, then jumped clear. The train struck the bonnet, smashing it. The radiator was torn off along with the off-side wheel and lamps. Such was the force of the impact that parts of the railway engine were broken off with one heavy metal plate found 60 yards away. 36 08 18

1936 08 19
Fascism in Spain – letter from Madrid - 36 08 19

1936 08 20
Over and Swavesey Skating Association was presented with a 50-guinea solid silver trophy to be known as The Chicago Cup for the English Grand Prix. It will be competed for by amateur skaters from all England over a course of one-and-a-half miles with three turns. The donor, Mr C.A. King, is a native of Over who has spent many years in America. He has taken a great interest in skating throughout his life and has previous given two other Chicago Cups for local competitions. 36 08 20

Lord Fairhaven's Bottisham and Lode garden competition extended to Swaffham Bulbeck – 36 08 20a

1936 08 21
Burwell Ratepayers Association formed – 36 08 21

The newly-formed Friends of Ely Cathedral will help maintain the fabric of the beautiful church and carry out necessary improvements and adornments. They will help make the Cathedral more a source of inspiration and a house of devotion 36 08 21a

1936 08 22
A lady motorist noticed smoke rising from the thatched rood of a double cottage standing a short distance back from the roadway in The Street, Great Bradley. The alarm was given and as the flames were soon making headway it was deemed advisable to set about removing the furniture. Haverhill brigade attended and as a supply of water was available from a nearby pond they were able to prevent the spread of fire to nearby premises. But the two cottages, mainly lath and plaster built, were extensively damaged. A quantity of clothing in an upstairs cupboard was destroyed 36 08 22b

Cambridge – and indeed the whole of East Anglia – has lost one of its best-known and popular auctioneers by the death of Mr A.L. Rutter. He had carried on business as auctioneer, estate agent and surveyor in Cambridge ever since he left St Catharine's College in 1898. He held office in several professional institutions and was at one time a warden at St Botolph's church where his funeral will be held. 36 08 22c

Mr & Mrs Ben Mills of Sleaford Street received a telegram of congratulations from the King on their diamond wedding. Born at Hardwick, he lost his right arm in an accident at the age of nine. Refusing to allow that disability to mar his life, he came to St Paul's School, Cambridge and soon qualified as a teacher. He worked for W.G. Chater, the woollen merchants before joining the Co-operative movement in 1876, starting at the old shop in Fitzroy Street. In 1901 he opened the new shop in Burleigh Street with a silver key and has seen the premises grow. He became Provincial Grand Master of the Oddfellows. His wife has been a familiar figure at the functions, quietly lending a hand 'behind the scenes' and catering for juvenile outings. 36 08 22a

Cambridge has sent its sons and daughters to places all over the world. Miss Freda Mary Sennitt, 27-year-old daughter of F.O. Sennitt of Milton Road, received training in nursing and midwifery and has now been appointed to the charge of one of the hospitals in Nigeria under the Methodist Missionary Society. She will be the only white woman at the hospital where her first spell of duty, owning to the climate and conditions, will be for only 18 months. 36 08 22d

William Allen, retired railwayman, joined Wesley Methodist Church, Hills Road in 1867 when it worshipped in a temporary building at the rear of the present church. He compiled a book telling how he started at Wesley Church but found them unfriendly 36 08 22e # c.83

1936 08 24
A freshwater eel, well over two feet long appeared in St Andrew's Street about tea-time on Saturday. The eel, which appeared to have been dead for some time, first made its appearance through the grating which carries the stream by the side of St Andrew's Street. A passer-by saw it floating and lifted the grating, allowing the eel to fall into the gutter. It attracted great interest until removed by a Corporation scavenger. The water flows up into the gutter from the underground Hobson's Brook and the eel must have been carried along by the stream 36 08 24

Queen Mary paid a surprise visit to Ely and spent an hour in the Cathedral. A man and his wife in the Cathedral noticed Her Majesty without being immediately aware of her identity. He remarked, however, on her 'likeness to the Queen' and the next moment was astonished to receive a gracious 'Good morning' from Her Majesty. Although she had mingled unnoticed with other visitors the news soon spread and there was a large crowd outside the West Door when her maroon Daimler left for Newmarket Jockey Club 36 08 24a (photo 36 08 25) # c.02

1936 08 27
Mystery surrounds the disappearance of a brilliant young organist, Johnnie Francis. Originally he was a musician in a theatre orchestra but when this was replaced by an organ he was given the opportunity to learn that. He fell out of work and made his way to Cottenham when Miss Maud Gautrey found him work picking strawberries. He was given an audition at the Rendezvous Cinema in Cambridge, borrowing clothes to replace his own worn outfit. He obtained the post at once and played there for a week before drawing his salary and walking out. He has not been heard of since. 36 08 27 # c.76.9

1936 08 28
Cambridge meeting on Spain & Fascists – 36 08 28 # c.33

1936 08 29
Rail times for the journey from Cambridge to Oxford have increased since 1886 when the quickest journey took three hours. But although a noisy minority quick through journeys there were insufficient of them to make such a service pay. The railway company had experimented by running an express petrol rail car but it was a complete failure from a commercial point of view: the patronage was so small they had to give up within a few weeks. Additional stations had been opened on the line since the war, necessitating more stops. 36 08 29 # c.26.2

Did you know that coconut shies had their origin at the Cambridge Fair? A Showman's Guild official says: "These old fairground games are a traditional part of England. They have been in existence for centuries. At the old Cambridge fair they used to shy at live cockerels; then an Act was passed forbidding it because of the cruelty. So the showmen substituted lead dummies and these were the origin of the coconut shies" 36 08 29a # c.27.31

'Sunnyfields' Estate at Histon features the latest type of labour saving houses built by F.L. Unwin and furnished by H.W. Peak of King Street Cambridge. 36 08 29b

September 1936 CDN

1936 09 01
Cine-variety is back and all who enjoy this dual form of entertainment should hurry to the Theatre Cinema (New Theatre). The bill includes the Krakajax instrumental sextette, Danny Lipton and his Dancing Debutantes – a tap-dance act, the Lorch Family who juggle with their feet and compere Benny Leven, a humorous entertainer, raconteur and singer. On the screen the principal feature is a new kind of thriller 'Thirteen Hours by Air' with Fred MacMurry and Joan Bennett. Paramount News is also shown 36 09 01

1936 09 02
A car was burnt, wireless set destroyed and a large number of customers' accumulators lost in a fire which broke out at the lock-up showroom, garage and workshop occupied by Mr L. Howard, electrician and motor engineer of Hill Street, Saffron Walden. There was a 500-gallon tank of petrol, but this was not involved. The building, part of which was over 300 years old, was composed largely of timber and was completely gutted but the front of the shop, including the window, survived. Firemen wore rubber gloves as a protection against electrocution as the water from their hoses struck the live wires of overhead cables. The fire was watched by a large crowd, some of whom had come from their beds in dressing gowns and pyjamas. 36 09 02

1936 09 03
Regal Cinema building photo – 36 09 03

When John Brown took charge of Freeman, Hardy & Willis shop on Market Hill in 1897 boots were cheap, and needed to be: "I can remember country women coming in with a dozen children and saying their husbands only earned twelve shillings a week". When he started brown boots were so scarce that people stopped and gazed at someone who sported a pair in Peterborough. Most had hob nails in the sole – even those for infants - and women wore elastic-sided boots – it didn't matter what they wore, because you never saw their feet. The shop was enlarged into premises next door in 1905 36 09 03a # c.27.2

1936 09 04
Fenners cricket ground was opened in 1846 but there have been only three groundsmen, Tom Parmenter who remained to 1862, Walter Watts and Dan Hayward who took over in 1908. He has also been custodian of the University Football and Hockey Grounds. His father used to look over the Rugger and Soccer pitches on Parker's Piece where they played until the Grange Road ground opened in 1896 and the two clubs amalgamated. Dan's own sport is cricket and he once took all ten wickets for 32 runs, though he considers his nine wickets for eight runs against Bury to be his best performance. Now he is retiring 36 09 04a # c.38 : cricket

Dispute over dyke in Grunty Fen at Whitecross Road, Wilburton – 36 09 04b

First ladies' fishing match at Prickwillow – photo 36 09 04c

1936 09 08
March council received complaints from the residents of Robingoodfellow's Lane about nuisances caused by children using the attractions in the recreation ground. But these are new and their enthusiasm would cool off in time. The swings damaged by rough usage on the part of adults had been repaired and other equipment might be installed at the Avenue and Townsend grounds. The present system of street lighting was far from being what it should be. Since the electricity had installed the system, which was done in a hurry, there had been no improvements. 36 09 08

1936 09 10
National Conference of Friendly Societies held at Cambridge Guildhall – 36 09 10 & 12 # c.37.2

1936 09 11
Papworth Hospital nurse murdered – 36 09 11

1936 09 12
Friendly Society, p6

1936 09 14

Haddenham vicar Kirkland leaves – 36 09 14

1936 09 15
Motor Boat Club officials – photo – 36 09 15

1936 09 17
Saffron Walden council discuss water and sewage problems – 36 09 17

Alfred Carpenter has just retired after 32 years as County Court bailiff. He served in the army in Africa and India before taking up his post. When the Great War started he was put in charge of the horses at the Cattle Market that had been commandeered and later was labour supervisor over German prisoners. In the early days his clients were a far tougher proposition than today: "It's a gentleman's job now to what it was". "I never knew when he was coming home with a black eye or broken nose", his wife said. Recently at an East Coast resort he ran into a Cambridge debtor who dashed off at full speed, under the impression he was about to be arrested. "He didn't know I was on holiday", laughed Alfred. 36 09 17a

1936 09 19
A customer died with tragic suddenness in a Cambridgeshire inn. As he had not long arrived in the district, his identity remains unconfirmed. He was in the Three Horse Shoes public house at Stapleford and was about to sing a song to the company when, just before closing time, he collapsed and died. His is believed to have been a native of Chorley, Lancs, and had been working with a party of pea-pickers at Bury Farm, Stapleford. 36 09 19

Alderman W.L. Briggs has been nominated as Cambridge's first Labour Party Mayor. 36 09 19a

St Ives RDC has lodged a strong objection against the installation of overhead electricity cables in the village of Holywell. They would be a tremendous eyesore in one of the prettiest villages which had several thatched cottages that, though modernised, contribute to its antiquity. But people at Hemingford Grey did not want water laid on by the council and could not be forced to have it. However residents of Hemingford Abbots did want a supply 36 09 19b

1936 09 21
Mr H.R. Dimock of Ely, an enthusiastic air pilot, had a lucky escape from serious injury when his machine crashed at Cardiff Airport. He had been demonstrating a Super Drone machine in which the pilot sits at the front, the propeller being above and behind his head. Mr Dimock's hat flew off and caught in the propeller, which snapped. Luckily he was flying fairly low and was able to bring the machine down with only a minor crash. His injuries were very slight 36 09 21 # c.26.1

A pair of cottages at Mepal was completely destroyed by fire. Standing on their own close to the main road, on the Ely side of the village, the cottages, which were thatched, had been empty for about two months. The fire was first noticed at midnight and although the Sutton Brigade, under Chief Officer P. Painter, made a prompt turn-out and were in action until 8 a.m., the flames defeated their efforts and destroyed the buildings 36 09 21a

1936 09 22
An RAF pilot had a remarkable escape when his Bulldog machine – a single engine fighter – landed on the railway line near Six Mile Bottom. He was engaged in taking weather observations in thick fog when he got into difficulties and descended in a field, crashing through a fence and on to the railway track. The force of the impact cocked the tail up into the air and it became entangled on the overhead wires running beside the railway line. This probably saved the pilot's life. An oncoming train was stopped and passengers wheeled the plane into a field. 36 09 22b pic 36 09 22 # c.26.1

Stretham tenant John Sykes given notice to quit 11 Council Houses, Ely Road. Is his 8th notice to quit in two years – 36 09 22a

1936 09 23
The new Folk Museum which is to be opened in Cambridge shortly will not be filled with glass cases containing stuffed birds. The rooms will be authentically furnished – one visitor to the bar-parlour even asked for a pint of bitter. It was unfortunate that the front of the old White Horse Inn had been modernised 25 years ago, but interesting old beams were revealed after the interior walls had been stripped of many layers of paper. A modern fireplace had been removed and electricity installed. They now need everyday objects, craftsmen's tools, toys and an old smock, Mr Saville Peck told Rotarians. 36 09 23 # c.03

Nearly 600 people attended a film show at The Dorothy arranged by King and Harper in connection with Morris cars. The chief film was 'Sahara' showing how a car broke the record from London to Nigeria and illustrated what a standard Morris 25 saloon can do, while the 'Morris Gazette' included boats on the broads and some of the employees social pursuits. The programme included one of Walt Disney's immortal cartoons. It was 'The Service Station' and the audience found plenty to laugh about. – 36 09 23a # c.65.6

1936 09 24
A case under the Official Secrets Act was heard in camera at the Cambridge Police Court when a mechanical and electrical engineer employed by the Air Ministry was charged with having passing information to a person unauthorised to receive it and assisting a man to gain admission to Cranfield Aerodrome, a prohibited place. They were very serious charges but there does not appear to have been any harm as far as the State was concerned. He was bound over 36 09 24

A general dealer of Sutton told the bankruptcy court how he had worked for various market gardeners and then bought some pigs and gone in for breeding. But he lost four sows. He hired ground and began to grow garden produce, then rented a lock-up and carried on a fruiterer's and general business. He moved to Pound Lane but that was more out of the way and he got into arrears. He attributed his failure to bad trade, bad debts and insufficient profit as there was great competition with about ten or eleven general stores in the village 36 09 24a

1936 09 25
The opening and blessing of the new Roman Catholic Schools and Hall at Union Road, Cambridge, presented a picturesque spectacle of stately ceremonial. In the morning Archbishop Goodier preached following a Pontifical High Mass in the Church of Our Lady when the glory of mauve and splendour of gold vestments stood out vividly among the black cassocks and white surplices. The new buildings were opened and blessed in the afternoon whilst the Roswitha Players from London gave the first stage show at the new Houghton Hall in the evening. 36 09 24b 36 09 25a # c.83 # c.36.5

A Horseheath man employed as an ice cream salesman told the court he was in charge of a motor cycle box combination which was stationary in Bardfield End Green. He was serving a girl when a motor cycle combination travelling at 30mph ran into him. The sidecar tilted into the air and the machine travelled some time before stopping. The other rider said there had not been room for him to pass unless he went on to the grass. He was fined but his licence was not endorsed. 36 09 25

1936 09 28
Mr W. Varney Webb was appointed Chief Constable in 1916 and had the task of filling the places of the old men who had carried on during the war so that younger men might be released for military duty. He showed the most paternal care for them in their homes, duties and sports. He brought the County Police to a high state of efficiency and the county enjoys a gratifying reputation for absence of serious crime. He was also a Freemason, Chairman of the Boy Scouts and President of the Cricket Association. 36 09 28a

1936 09 29
Long Road bridge, p5

1936 09 30
Chesterton RDC discussed the Harston water scheme where there had been a breakdown following a collapse of clay into the bore. It was now cleared up. But Coun.Ilsley complained of the quality of the water: it came through discoloured, a grey colour. It was impossible to see through it and had a scum on the top. However the question of charges were 'much more cloudy' than the water. It had been intended to charge people within 200 feet of the standpipes but there had to be a satisfactory supply before this could be done. 36 09 30 & a

A British Legion Club will be formed in Ely. Primarily it would be for the benefit of ex-Service men only, although there was no harm in letting a few others in. They have been offered some premises but these were not up to the standard they wanted. The British Legion tried to help their unfortunate colleagues who were unemployed. There were 600 ex-Servicemen in the district but only 300 had enrolled. They had not joined for what they could get out of it, but for what they could put in: they had the right stuff in them 36 09 30

October 1936 CDN

1936 10 01
The Vice Chancellor spoke of the overcrowding of the Medical Schools and suggested that despite extensive additions to departmental buildings the University would have to consider placing a limit on the number of undergraduates for medicine or any other subject. Unless something is done the situation may become one of even greater embarrassment than already exists. But the donation by Sir Herbert Austin of £250,000 for new buildings and equipment at the Cavendish Laboratory was the largest ever made by a single person to the University 36 10 01b # c.36.9

A pilot summonsed for flying at a low altitude over the Cam at Fen Ditton told the court he was carrying a photographer for the Sport and General Press Agency. Herbert Cook was taking pictures of the Bumping Races from a side window using an ordinary camera with a long focus lens. They had to fly across the river and would not have got good photographs if they'd come down to the tree tops. There were a number of other planes from Marshall's flying about. Spectators complained he was too low and had caused one of the waitresses at The Plough to spill the things on a tray in the tea garden. The case was dismissed. 36 10 01 & a # c.26.1 # c.65.5 # c.38 : rowing

1936 10 02
Fred Bennett, grocer at Ely, dies 36 10 02

G.H. Lavender, fancy draper, King's Parade – photo - 36 10 02a

1936 10 03
Whittlesey lorry driver trapped in burning cab – 36 10 03

A garage attendant in Ermine Street Huntingdon told an inquest that a Morris Minor two-seater tourer had pulled up beside the petrol pump. The driver asked for two gallons of petrol and he commenced to pump it after opening the bonnet of the car to get to the tank. The filler was on the side nearest the pavement. As he lifted the petrol pipe to drain it the engine burst into flames igniting the fuel which blazed along the pavement. The driver jumped out and fell into the burning petrol, her clothes catching fire. Before filling he had noticed that the engine of the car was still running and had not been told this should not be done 35 10 03

1936 10 05
Six people were injured following a collision near Milton Road level crossing. A passenger train struck a light engine which was stationary on the reception goods line and its driver and fireman had a fortunate escape from being buried under tons of coal from the tender. The crossing-keeper said the passenger train was on the wrong line. Its front was badly smashed and a coupling broke but it did not leave the track. The passengers received a severe jolting. 36 10 05 # c.26.1

1936 10 07
Folk Museum receive toll board from cottage at Clayhithe – 36 10 07 # c.03

1936 10 08
Newmarket UDC agreed to purchase Stratford House, Old Station Road for its offices and meeting rooms. There was space to construct a council chamber and the price of £900 was reasonable. They could bring all their staff under one roof instead of being divided between Godolphin House and Hadley House and have offices worthy of the council. But they rejected proposals to purchase allotment land on which to build a central school 36 10 08

Cambridge Borough accounts – analysis – 36 10 08a & b

1936 10 09
Sir – I wish to make a protest about the condition of Barton Road in Cambridge. A few months ago this was tarred and chipped, but why were the holes not filled in where the mains were laid to new homes? Now new light standards have been erected and tremendous holes again left. The other day I broke an axle at 28 mph on one of these holes. The motorist doesn't mind. He's used to paying for things not done and to accidents for which he is not to blame – E.K. Howell. 36 10 09

King & Harper new garage Hills Road – 36 10 09a

South Cambs RDC's water scheme was inaugurated with the opening of the new pumping station between Linton and Hildersham. Previously water had to be carted to two parishes and it is hoped that every household within reasonable distance of the mains would take a supply. Councillors then visited the water tower on Rivey Hill where most climbed to the top and inspected the 87,000 gallon tank. 36 10 09 b & c

1936 10 10
The extension to the Beck Row pumping station sees the completion of the Ely rural district water scheme. There was no good water in the area at all so they'd had to go to Suffolk to find it. The first stage had been completed after the war using money from the unemployment grants. Now they had put in a new set of mains, making a complete circuit, and had duplicated the machinery to pump twice the quantity for 24 hours a day. It had been immensely expensive but 95 per cent of the population had the opportunity of a supply 36 10 10

What a different appearance Cambridge presents from that of a week ago. The shops look busy, their windows newly filled with gowns, blazers and scarves. Theatres and cinemas are filling up; there are traffic jams in the streets and almost everywhere one meets undergraduates making their first acquaintance with Cambridge. They are attired in the 'regulation' dress of flannel trousers and sports jackets. An overcoat is a rarity but most men keep their hands in their trousers pockets. In spite of all the troubles they cause, we are very glad to see 'the young gentlemen' back again. 36 10 10a

March councillors debated bridges. A footbridge should be erected over the river at Marylebone Lane: it would help in getting more houses built in the vacant spaces within the town. But the majority of the inhabitants, many of whom were railway employees, preferred to live on the north side of the river. Coun Ogden thought a light bridge could be erected in Wigstones Road and advocated the building of a highway bridge to which a by-pass could be made. An alternative would be a bridge from Creek Road (through Lambs Yard) to Elwyn Road. 36 10 10b

1936 10 12
George John Gray entered the firm of Bowes and Bowes in 1876 and completed nearly 60 years' service. Encouraged by Robert Bowes he carried out bibliographical work and researches, publishing several works on early Cambridge printing and bookselling. He also indexed the William Cole manuscripts in the British Museum. Mr Gray was a member of the Library Committee, secretary of the Higher Grade Cricket Club and YMCA and organiser of the Penny 'Pops' held in the Guildhall. He also played an active part in Chesterton Institute, Cricket Club and Men's Bible Club, amongst others. 36 10 12a # c.25

Over £120 was collected for the Spanish Medical Aid Committee at a meeting in the Guildhall. If they went to Spain today they would find village after village barricaded. Many people were being killed because they have nothing but their bare bodies to put against the latest legal death which modern science has given to the rebels, the Fascist International, to destroy decency in life in Spain today, Mr J. Langdon-Davies claimed. 36 10 12 # c.45.6

1936 10 13
Precautions to be taken in preparation for air raids were outlined to a meeting of architects, officials, school managers and owners of shops at Cambridge Guildhall. They hoped the dangers would never come to pass but must provide for contingencies. The three main weapons would be the incendiary, gas and high-explosive bombs. The first was the greatest danger. It would burn for seven minutes and could not be put out by water or any known chemical. Food exposed to gas vapour should be thrown away. Respirators would be issued to everyone except tiny children 36 10 13 # c.45.6

Crematorium proposed design – 36 10 13a # c.21.2

Ely shopping week & trades exhibition opening – 36 10 13d

The Housing Committee was told that over 170 people would be displaced by the demolition of buildings in Cambridge Place; the houses would have to be vacated within two months from the date of the clearance order. Plans would be drawn up to build 47 houses to re-home residents on land off Newmarket Road which the Council would purchase from G.P. Hawkins and W. Boyton for nearly £10,000. 36 10 13b # c.23

The Central Library Lending Department is housed in the oldest and most unhygienic part of the building in Wheeler Street. The room is badly provided with natural lighting and artificial light has to be used. When 'open access' was installed in 1921 the annual circulation was 141,968 books and now it is over 309,000. It should move into the present domed Reading Room. Most of the bookcases have been in use since 1862 and would be unsightly; they should be replaced by steel shelving. 36 10 13c # c.77.4

1936 10 14
Willingham recently 'went on the gas' and the Cambridge University and Town Gas Light Company are holding cookery demonstrations in the British Legion Hall. There are already a number of gas cookers in the district and there would soon be a showroom in the village. The parish council had tried for seven years to get street lighting but the Electricity Company had let them down. So they approached the Gas Company who acceded to their request in a business-like manner. They hoped women would do their best to install gas wherever possible and show their appreciation of the Company. 36 10 14

The Ely Trades Exhibition staged in the Canning Factory in Bray's Lane has 102 stands covering every branch of local business activity. In addition to the usual trade stalls there are features of unusual interest such as a talkie cinema, up-to-date television apparatus, a café and the only working model in the world of a roller flour mill. The slogan should be 'Shop in Ely; don't pass – buy! The more local people shopped in the city the better the shops would be. 36 10 14a – photo – 36 10 13d

1936 10 15
More than 737 new street lamps had been installed and from Milton Road to Northampton Street there was excellent lighting. But the council had deliberately left a big black patch along the Backs.

Discussions had taken place with the Cambridge Preservation Society and Heads of Colleges; Queen's Road was unique, they had to reconcile its beauty and character with the efficient lighting which would protect life 36 10 15 # c.24.8

Mrs William Edwards demonstrates mediumship and clairvoyance – 36 10 15a

Some 1,200 children attending Huntingdon schools come from homes where the parents were too poor to provide an extra pair of shoes for wear in schools and for physical training. About 2,000 children were already supplied. The council could purchase these at two shillings a pair, a total of £120, and would need to provide storage on school premises. It was agreed to carry this into effect. 36 10 15b

Exning improvements – 36 10 15c

1936 10 16
Councillors had considered the erection of a municipal crematorium before 1900 and earmarked a piece of land at the cemetery on Newmarket Road. Now a private company had come forward and it was time to act. It would cost £12,000, including land, a chapel, furnace and accessories together with a garden of rest. Running costs were extraordinarily low. Quite half the senior members of the University who died were cremated and it would soon pay for itself. 36 10 16 # c.21.2

1936 10 17
Removing dangerous bottle neck – photo – 36 10 17

County Nursing Association annual meeting – details – 36 10 17a

Two old Churchwardens pipes over the string course of the parapet of Messrs Almond's shop at 11 Sidney Street, now being demolished, are a reminder that it was once used by Joshua Lee for the making of clay pipes. Mr A.T. Potter recalls that there had once been a large kiln in the centre of the shop in which the pipes were baked. There is also a very fine old lead head to the down pipe which has cross clay pipes embossed on it. 36 10 17b # c.27.2

Lending library bookcases too close together and too dark, were designed in days of 'closed access' system when books obtained by assistants – 36 10 17c & d

1936 10 19
Friends of Ely Cathedral newly formed – 36 10 19 & a

Joshua Taylor – 'Our advertisers' photo – 36 10 19b (photo 100.78)

1936 10 20
W.J. Pryor, born Whittlesford, prominent walker – 36 10 20

King's College had employed a firm to supply a pump to serve half-a-dozen jets of water at their fountain. They had intended to use the water over and over again but found that with the heavy wind the water was blown over the gravel and did not go back into the fountain. So they had connected the mains to make up the loss. This contravened Water Company byelaws and there was a danger of contaminating the supply 36 10 20a # c.61 # c.24.2

Sir – I use the Public Library very frequently. The Reading Room is extremely popular and is at all hours of the day well patronised. But the Lending Department might be bettered. The conditions are most undignified and unworthy of Cambridge. The great bulk of borrowers are centred around the 'Fiction recently returned' shelves making use of light from the Wheeler Street windows. However it is a pleasure to watch the extreme precision and incredible speed of the assistants receiving or dating books. 36 10 20b # c.77.4

1936 10 21
A.J. Winship told Rotarians he had visited Germany. The Germans had no more idea of attacking this country than the man in the moon. The attitude to Hitler seemed uniform all over the country. They worshipped him. He was the first real ruler who was absolutely unselfish and sought nothing for himself. He had taken power but was not a dictator. He held a position almost the same as the King did here. But Rotarian Franklin disagreed: Hitler was a dictator who had assumed power by force and murder and the treatment being given to the Jews was diabolical. 36 10 21 # c.45.6

Society for Blind sale of work – 36 10 21a

Ely Isolation Hospital arbitration hearing fixed – 36 10 21a

1936 10 22
Asplin, p2

1936 10 23
Charles Laurence Pemberton Robinson of Hinxton Hall dies – 36 10 23

1936 10 24
Laurie & McConnal 'Advertisers;' feature - 36 10 24
Millers record your own voice advert – 36 10 24a
New telephone calls boxes being installed – cartoon – 36 10 24b # c.27.75

1936 10 29
Cambridge Place, p5

1936 10 30
Eaden Lilley – our advertisers feature – 36 10 30b

1936 November CDN

1936 11 02
Undergraduates demonstrated support for 130 hunger marchers from Durham on their way to London to protest against the Means Test and new scales of benefit. At Girton College girl students served them tea and buns before 250 undergraduates joined the procession carrying torches and banners. There were meetings in the Co-operative and Labour Halls before the protestors had an evening meal in the students' rooms. At Cheshunt College some of the marchers ate in hall. Having slept in the Corn Exchange they continued to Saffron Walden where the Labour Party entertained them with lively tunes from a loudspeaker van. The march is due to arrive in London next weekend. 36 11 02 & a # c.32.1 # c.36.92

1936 11 03
An RAF pilot and observer had remarkable escapes from death when their plane came down and overturned in a field near the Gogs. The pilot thought the place looked safe enough to land on from the air but when the plane touched earth the rain-sodden ground caused it to smash its nose into the ground and turn over. The pilot's helmet was covered with dirt as a result of being dragged along the ground but he escaped with a bruised lip. The observer was entirely unscathed. Jack Utteridge, who has a petrol station nearby, was an eye-witness. 36 11 03a & 03 # c.26.1

A meeting at the Arts School organised by the Child Emigration Society heard about the Fairbridge Farm School scheme which takes orphans and young children from the poorer districts of this country for training in schools in Australia. A similar school had been established in British Columbia and quite recently three boys from the Harvey Goodwin Home have gone to there 36 11 03b

1936 11 04
Charles Frederick Skipper, architect, death – 36 11 04

Work will start shortly on a big railway improvement scheme between Soham and Snailwell junction. Six miles of the L.N.E.R., which is at present single track, is to be doubled. A large amount of labour will be required to complete the work which is part of a general speeding-up scheme. The line forms part of the route used by Continental express trains between York and Liverpool and Harwich. It will mean a reduction in journey time of from two to four minutes 36 11 04a

The Cambridge and County Folk Museum at the old 'White Horse Inn' was opened in the presence of a large company. It would become a clearing house of information on local matters in a town where there is more information about Papua than Pampisford. The Corporation had handed over its old measures, the steelyard used at Stourbridge Fair and the High Constable's stave while the Public Library had loaned portraits and caricatures to give a human touch to the museum. Miss Catherine Parsons has accepted the position of honorary curator with Reginald Lambeth as custodian. 36 11 04b & c # c.03

1936 11 05
The Air Ministry propose to construct a RAF station at Bassingbourn and approached South Cambs RDC about the possibility of obtaining a supply of 15,000 gallons of water a day. This could be obtained from Croydon Hill at a cost of 10d per 1,000 gallons. The scheme would take 20 months to implement and would also serve nearby parishes. But did any of the parishes want piped water? It would mean a rate of over four shillings for Litlington, Shingay and Wendy and there had been too much money spent on water already, all of which was money wasted. 36 11 05c & d

The Isle of Ely County Council approved the erection of a new bridge to carry the Peterborough-Wisbech road over the river Nene at Guyhirn. This was part of a vast scheme which will link up with the Leicester-Great Yarmouth road. At Prickwillow the Ouse Catchment Board had agreed that the new bridge need be only an inch higher than the existing one, instead of 1ft 3ins as originally contemplated. Plans were also submitted for the reconstruction of the bridge on Puntney Hill drove, part of one of the alternative routes for the proposed Isleham-Prickwillow road. 36 11 05b

1936 11 06
Guy Fawkes night disorder, truncheon charges, riotous scenes – court case – 36 11 06 # c.36.94

A. Mackintosh, ironmongers – advertisers feature – 36 11 06a # c.27.2

1936 11 07
Messrs W.T. Thrussell and Sons, the well-known Cambridge firm of shoemakers, held a dinner in honour of Mr F.H. Lucchesi's 70th birthday. 'Fred' has been with the firm for 56 years and recalled many amusing incidents connected with the 'good old days' of shoemaking. Mr E.W. Brett, an employee of 38 years' service also spoke of the early days of the firm. The speeches were interspersed with musical entertainment 36 11 07 # c.27

Cambridge Town Council will make history when it elects a Labour Mayor for the first time. Having retired from the railway service, Ald W.L. Briggs will be able to devote the whole of his time to the duties. But his fellow citizens will not expect him to entertain on the same lavish scale that some Mayors have been able to do. Some people think the mayoral grant is sufficient to meet all demands made upon the holder, but this is not so and it is often necessary to dig pretty deeply into one's own pocket. Ald Briggs deserves further congratulations for he has just passed his motor driving test 36 11 07a cartoon 36 11 07b 36 11 09b # c.35.7

Horace Cole and origins of Dreadnought hoax – 36 11 07c # c.39

Model liners built by F.W. Thiem floated in tank in garden at corner Chesterton Hall Crescent – 36 11 07d # c.26.2

1936 11 09
Gas demonstration platform at Premier Hall, Union Lane – photo – 36 11 09 # c.24.4

Dullingham fire in thatched roof of King's Head pub – 36 11 09a

1936 11 12
Barclays Bank staff count poppy day money – photo – 36 11 12

1936 11 13
Ely Cathedral broadcast – 36 11 13a

1936 11 14
Trumpington petition for faculty to have plain marble kerb to enclose grave – 36 11 14 # c.21.2

Woman council bailiff appointed – 36 11 14a # c.35.7

Trumpington 'The Volunteer' inn sign exhibited in London – 36 11 14b

1936 11 16
Firemen who were attending a Mayoral service at Great St Mary's church were rushed by police car to attend a blaze in Upper Gwydir Street. Mrs Unwin was trapped in her front bedroom but Mr J.H. Turner, a window cleaner placed two of his ladders against the window and, with his son, got her to safety. Neighbours helped to get the downstairs furniture out into the street 36 11 16a

1936 11 17
Croydon fire, p5

1936 11 18
Ely Urban and Rural District Councils had a joint Isolation Hospital which was originally given as a private gift by Mr Cutlack and his wife. However the County Council had decided to include Chatteris UDC as it was too small to provide a hospital of its own. But Chatteris councillors did not want it and objected to having to pay towards its support. They preferred to treat patients in their own home. Anyway it was not a proper hospital: it had no consultant staff and was no different to an ordinary nursing home. 36 11 18 & a

1936 11 20
Gustave David, known as 'David' to generations of undergraduates has died hours after returning by the midnight train having attended a London auction. He came to Cambridge forty years ago, opening his now-famous stall on Market Hill. Later he opened a shop in Green Street before moving to St Edward's Passage. He was the first man in Cambridge to sell rare and old books at low prices. So appreciative were Universitymen of his services that in 1925 a number of distinguished members entertained him to lunch at Trinity in recognition of the 'conspicuous services he has rendered the cause of humane letters'. 36 11 20 a & b # c.25

Grocers' Association dinner. Mayor on need for light industries and guides for visitors – 36 11 20

W. Heffer & sons history – Advertisers – 36 11 20c # c.25

1936 11 24
An elderly man lost his life in a blaze which completely destroyed three thatched cottages at Orwell in the early hours of the morning. Neighbour Harry Freestone got his own family out and then threw buckets of water on the flames. But the thatch caught fire and he had to leave. Royston and

Cambridge brigades arrived just in time to save the Post Office although the Royston pump broke down. The cottages were burnt to the ground, only the chimney stacks being left standing. Deceased always slept downstairs in front of the fire and tied himself to the bed so that he should not roll over into it. 36 11 24a

1936 11 25
Haddenham has lost one of its oldest residents by the death of Henry Thomas Camps of Linden House. He came from an old farming family and had a record of considerable public service as councillor and trustee to Arkenstalls School and the Baptist Chapel. He was correspondent to the Cambridge Independent Press and as Fellow of the Zoological Society was a judge at the Crystal Palace. 36 11 25

An airman challenged the validity of his marriage to a Cambridge woman. He claimed that her former husband, a Cambridge taxi driver, had gone to Canada after getting into financial difficulties. But had still been alive when the two married at Kensington Register Office, though the woman told him she was a widow. As a result the airman had refused to live with her until she produced evidence of the first husband's death. The woman however petitioned for the restitution of her conjugational rights. She lost her case 36 11 25a # WOMEN

1936 11 27
The Territorial Army recruiting campaign at the Drill Hall attracted a large number of people including employers of labour, members of the University O.T.C. and boys from the Perse and County schools. The progress of aircraft means that the channel is now a mere ditch over which planes can fly in a few minutes and a defence force must be efficient. This should be voluntary and employers must make some sacrifices and encourage their men to join the Territorial Army, giving them leave and pay when on service. 36 11 27 # c.45.6

1936 11 28
Billy Cotton, who is bringing his popular band to the Theatre Cinema, St Andrew's Street, has a style of his own. He stands coolly in the centre of the stage and with little more than a flick of the wrist gets just what he wants from the musicians The band is a variety show in itself, best-liked on the stage because the wireless and gramophone cannot do them full justice. The comedians are especially good, there are two Japanese entertainers, a conjuror, dancers and a pair of trick cyclists. But Cotton is also a keen racing motorist and has just bought Sir Malcolm Campbell's original 'Bluebird' which he intends racing at Southport. 36 11 28a & 36 12 01 # c.76

Brazen George Inn was in St Andrew's Street, Alexandra Street was its yard – 36 11 28 # c.27.4

The Truevoice Recording Studio in Jesus Lane is now open every day for the producing of gramophone records. Your opportunity to hear yourself on a perfect 10 inch double sided wax record for a fee of 10/6. Children's voices faithfully reproduced. Specially equipped studio for music and orchestral recordings. These records make ideal Christmas Gifts to your friends. Why not make one and send it to them. They will be delighted – Advert. 36 11 28b # c.69

December 1936 CDN

1936 12 02
A new church banner at St Andrew the Great features a boat, taken from a medieval brass, resting on a sea of silvery waves in which fishes may be seen. It is an interesting example of needlework, linen and silk having been skilfully applied to a handsome hand-woven blue background and richness obtained with stitchery and couching in silks and metal threads. It was designed by Mrs Allworthy under the direction of the Cambridge Embroiderers 36 12 02 # c.67

1936 12 03

A family feud between van dwellers at Turf Fen, Chatteris, had a sequel in court. They had a grievance over some potatoes which resulted in a 'rare tussle' during which one man was hit on the head with a spade causing him to run to his van, load his guns and fire into the air to frighten his attackers. But some of the shot penetrated their van just missing three children. Police found 30 pellet holes in the side. The assault case was dismissed and he was fined £2 for firing the gun and £1 towards repairs. 36 12 03 # GYPSY

Air raid precautions were discussed by South Cambs RDC. The roads and bridges about to be built in the county should have bomb-proof surfaces. Substantial material was to be used and it would not be at all impossible to make them bombproof. Most of the roads were to be constructed above the present ground level and could have shelters under them 36 12 03a # c.45.6

Clara Harris, the grand old lady of showland, celebrated her 100th birthday in her caravan at Haslingfield. She was the daughter of a showman, Larry Shaw, who was the first steam roundabout proprietor. In 1869 she married Moe Harris of Gamlingay and assisted him at fairgrounds around England. Clara worked until she was 93; the last fair was at Royston where she sat behind her stall selling sweets she'd made herself. Two of her five daughters carry on the tradition. 36 12 03b # c.27.31

1936 12 04
Isle of Ely Highways Committee discussed various road improvements. There may be a bypass at Chatteris from Carters Bridge to link up with Warboys Road but this was a huge scheme. A bottleneck on the Lynn Road north of Ely was caused by a cottage standing close to the road: this could be demolished with a new home built further back. In Stretham the Cambridge Road between the new council houses should be widened with an island at the junction of Wilburton Road. They were faced with this monstrous expenditure because of the foolish position in which the houses had been built. 36 12 04 & a

1936 12 05
Bacon's tobacconist history – 'Advertisers' series – 36 12 05 # c.27.2

J.J. Thompson 'Recollections and reflections' reminiscences – 36 12 05a & b

W.A Fenton, Borough Librarian has done much to raise the standard of library books in Cambridge. He is a worthy servant to the public whose willingness to help all and sundry who frequent the Reading Room is well-known. – 36 12 05c & d # c.77.4

1936 12 07
Since 1921 there have been 2,800 allotment holders in Cambridge. One man had entered the national onion competition and came first in all England. There were 187 applicants for allotments from among the unemployed during the past season. Where men had to do work on the soil to produce food it meant keeping in really good health. That 'daily dozen' weeding or hoeing or digging the ground was of the greatest importance. But the allotments should be permanent: it was hard for a man who has to leave his land after about 18 months. 36 12 07 & a & b # c.18

1936 12 08
The draft Cambridge town planning scheme would see the construction of bridges and closure of the level crossings at Histon and Shelford with footbridges for pedestrians. The line of the Ring Road from Huntingdon Road to Shelford was agreed and the difficult question of the aerodrome settled. 36 12 08 # c.49.4

1936 12 09
Whitemoor railway marshalling yards near March is the most up-to-date in England and the first to be equipped with mechanical rail brakes. The 'up' yard was opened in March 1929 and dealt with traffic from the collieries. The main feature was the 'hump' where wagons were sorted. It was very much like the Long Road bridge, only much bigger. It had good floodlighting but it wasn't a very pleasant place at night. The working is very intensive. It attracted visitors from around the world, especially the Japanese who spent days there, Rotarians heard. 36 12 09a

The Cambridge Milk Bar opened on Market Hill where all the shakes and soups can be purchased at the standard price of four pence. You have only to visit it once to become an addict. The first milk bar opened in Fleet Street two years ago and they have spread rapidly attracting business men, workmen and shoppers. In cold weather what could be more sustaining that a bowl of soup made with milk while in summer a cold milk shake flavoured with fresh fruit syrups, made 'crisp' with cream and whipped is a creamy delight 36 12 09b # c.27.47

1936 12 10
King abdicates – headline 36 12 10

There was an enormous demand for copies of the CDN containing official news of the King's Abdication. The first edition was on sale within minutes of the Speaker's historic announcement in the House of Commons. It contained a three-column sketch of the new King and Queen and an appreciation of 'Edward – the Man' together with pictures recalling his visits to Cambridgeshire. The Night Final contained many other interesting details about the crisis. Hours after this London papers were still being sold in the streets that contained only a brief announcement in the Stop Press columns 36 12 10 & b-e # c.02

The depressing fog hung over Cambridge like a gloomy portent of the sad news to come as people awaited the King's decision. Thursday afternoon (early closing day) brought shut shops and deserted streets to add to the atmosphere of depression. The usual football matches were in progress but the only topic of conversation was the Abdication crisis. The first to hear the news was the group gathered in the offices of the CDN awaiting the News Agency 'snap' messages. Shortly after three-thirty it came. Soon after the poster 'The King's Decision – Official' brought people into the streets eager for the latest news 36 12 10f

Thick fog invaded Romsey Town hours before it reached Huntingdon Road. Once it settled it did so in earnest and visibility was practically nil. Buses were reduced to trailing through the streets on the heels of the conductors and even they could not see their way properly: one stopped himself just in time from leading a No.106 into the pit on Newmarket Road. Where conditions were not quite so bad drivers 'convoyed' and as many as six buses were seen in single file. One conductor walked from Cambridge to Ely, leading his bus – and did the journey in 4½ hours 36 12 10a # c.12 # c.26.46

King Edward VIII has abdicated. As Prince of Wales he came to Cambridge in June 1921 to receive an honorary degree and inspect Boy Scouts and Girl Guides. More than 5,000 children lined the route so they could catch a glimpse of 'Prince Charming' as he was called in those days. His last visit in June 1932 was to inspect the Leys School. There have been visits to the County, he opened Sawston Village College in July 1930 and reviewed the Royal Air Force at Duxford in 1935 36 12 10d

Abdication: great demand for copies CFB – 36 12 10e # c.02

How the news was received in Cambridgeshire – 36 12 10f

Cambridge Town Planning scheme – 36 12 10g # c.49.4

Private crematorium at Barton turned down – protest – 36 12 10h # c.21.2

Murkett Brothers, automobile engineers, who have large garages in Huntingdon, Peterborough and Bedford, opened their new premises on the corner of Huntingdon & Histon Road in May 1931. Owing to the satisfactory service they have given business has developed to such an extent that an additional garage is shortly to be built. This will cater for commercial vehicles and heavy repairs, whilst the Huntingdon Road depot will be for new and second-hand cars, with light repairs and service facilities 36 12 10i # c.26.48

When Mr Plumb became landlord of The Prince of Wales pub, Gwydir Street in 1895 the tailors and shoemakers always used to observe 'Saint Monday' and never worked that day. It was common for them to spend the whole time in the bar from early morning until 11 pm. And unless they had two or three sing-songs a week a house was 'not in it'. During the Great War when beer was rationed he had to go out during the day to avoid the crowds who wanted the beer he could not supply them with. When the brewers' drays arrived with fresh supplies they were besieged 36 12 10j # c.27.4

1936 12 10
CDN and abdication, p5
Planning scheme, p5
Murkett, p8
Crematorium, p8

1936 12 12
All Cambridge listened to the farewell message broadcast by Prince Edward from Windsor Castle. At the Theatre Cinema an announcement was made that the feature film would be interrupted for the relaying of the speech by courtesy of the BBC. Just before ten the curtains over the screen were lowered. When they were drawn back a large receiving set was seen in the centre of the stage with a single spot-light shining on it. The lights were dimmed. A tense, almost painful silence fell on the audience. Suddenly it was broken. Sir John Reith was heard. 'This is Windsor Castle – His Royal Highness, Prince Edward' 36 12 12a

When the new King unveiled the War Memorial – 36 12 12 # c.02 # c.45.5

Cambridge and the new King – his various visits – 36 12 12b & c # c.02

St George's school centenary – 36 12 12d & e # c.36.5

Duke of York caught smoking when undergraduate – 36 12 12c # c.02

Farmer killed in aircraft crash near Caxton Gibbet – 36 12 12c # c.26.1

1936 12 14
Proclaiming King George VI – 36 12 14 & a, b

1936 12 15
The King as a Cambridge undergraduate – photo – 36 12 15

Cyril Ridgeon recalled the early days of his business at a dinner in to celebrate its silver jubilee. When the Great War came ruin had started him in the face. But he managed to get some army contracts and started as an English timber merchant selling thousands of trees to the Midlands and Cambridge builders. At times he worked up to the knees in snow. He bought his first lorry, a Wolverine, in 1922 and put up a sawmill in Cavendish Road. It had been hard work and success was due to the loyal staff 36 12 15a & b # c.23

March magistrates express loyalty to King – 36 12 15c

Proclamations at Huntingdon – 36 12 15d

1936 12 17
Lorry fire at Independent Oil Supplies garage by mill at Hauxton – 36 12 17 & a 1936 12 19

R.H. Lavis was bulldog who caught Prince Albert smoking – 36 12 19 # c.02

Smart & Son, Bridge Street – advertisers – 36 12 19a

1936 12 21
When fire broke out near the organ of Swaffham Bulbeck church all the available men and women rushed to save the tower. After buckets of water failed they used sand taken from heaps by the roadside. Two floors in the tower were burnt out, the organ was badly damaged by scorching and water but the bells remained intact. Next morning smoke was noticed from near the wooden casing of the clock where a beam was smouldering. 36 12 21a & b

1936 21 23
Police Poor and Needy fund distributes potatoes – photo – 36 12 23

Ely Upherd's Lane, air raid precautions – motor drivers, issue gas masks, decontaminate streets – 36 12 23a

Littleport's new Regal Cinema is an entirely new building designed on the most up-to-date lines and presents an imposing appearance. The decoration is on ultra-modern lines with bowl lamps in spray plastic and an illuminated clock. All the chairs from the 'sixpennies' to the 'two-shillings' are comfortable, the armrests being sprung with Dunlopillo. The projector is by Kalee while the sound equipment by British Talking Pictures employs three speakers. It will show the finest films and has a park for 100 cars 36 12 23b

1936 12 24
S.A. Rolfe, wholesale tobacconist – advertisers – 36 12 24

Chesterton Gravel Pits have been transformed into a flourishing business working from dawn to dusk. A Priestman dragline gets the gravel out of the ground, grabbing a third of a ton in its great steel jaws and depositing it in a truck which a patient horse drags to a narrow-gauge railway. It needs no driver but stands still while the load is emptied, then lumbers slowly back to fetch more. An ever-moving belt feeds a constant stream of raw gavel into the washing and grading machine from which it pours into appropriate heaps where a fleet of lorries cart it to its destination. 36 12 24a # c.27

1936 12 28
Christmas Day dawned dreary and dismal but everything was bright and happy at the White Ribbon Hostel. It was beautifully decorated and the crackling of huge fires re-echoed the old-fashioned Christmas spirit. On Boxing Day an old gentleman said, with tears in his eyes, "It was the happiest day I've had since I started 'on the road', and the gifts of socks, ties and handkerchiefs were appreciated by us all" 36 12 28a

Christmas in Sanatorium Mill Road, Church Army work aid home, Harvey Goodwin Home, District Nurses' Home – 36 12 28

1936 12 29
Bottisham stores threatened when lorry standing outside caught fire after driver filled up with petrol – 36 12 29

Thaxted Christmas Morris Dancers – 36 12 29a

1936 12 30
Peas Hill windows smashed – including Sennitt – 36 12 30 & a

1936 12 31
Cambridge Place was a long, narrow cul-de-sac with a narrow entrance from Hills Road. It used to have an unenviable reputation but had now greatly improved. It was a convenient place for residents engaged in unskilled work who left their houses early and returned late. But the houses were unfit for human habitation. Nearly all the roofs were sunken, the doors perished, the plaster was decayed, the stairs dark and steep. They were all were damp, thirty-three shared a water tap with another house and none had a water closet inside nor any proper place to keep food, an Inquiry heard. 36 12 30b & c, picture 36 12 31 # c.23 # c.44.6

1937 Cambridge Daily News

Cambridge Daily News January to December 1937

These stories were noted when compiling my Looking Back column. I have digital copies of the complete articles.

January 1937 CDN

1937 01 01
A disastrous blaze broke out in a boiler house in the pig yard at Colony Farm, Manea. Despite the efforts of the Brigade the flames had a good hold and spread quickly to adjacent buildings in which 150 pigs were housed. Forty of the animals were liberated but the rest perished in the intense heat. The buildings, as well as a straw stack, were razed to the ground. Occupants of the George Hotel Chatteris were also awakened by the sound of the fire alarm when a blaze broke out in the kitchen. Its timely discovery allowed staff to quell the flames and prevent serious damage 37 01 01

1937 01 02
Gang activity at Chesterton – 37 01 02
Cam magazine published – 37 01 02b

1937 01 06
Cambridge Festival Theatre has started a million farthing fund to ensure they have money available in case of emergency. The weekly receipts have to cover weekly expenses. When a bad week comes the manager hopes things will pick up next week. During the summer people had come to the theatre but recently there had been a falling-off. The workers' voucher system had increased attendance but the vouchers were finding their way into the hands of people who were not entitled to make use of them. They entitled people to purchase two seats for the price of one 37 01 06

1937 01 07
Dr Paul Dirac was appointed as-old Lucasian Professor of Mathematics at Cambridge University in 1932 a few days before his 30th birthday, becoming the youngest occupant of this famous chair which was once occupied by Isaac Newton, and remains the youngest professor in Cambridge. He has a reputation for being of a particularly shy and retiring disposition." A London newspaper stated: "More than publicity he fears women. He has no interest in them and even after being introduced to them cannot remember whether they are pretty or plain". He has now wed in London. The marriage was unexpected in Cambridge and even his colleagues at St John's College were unaware of the ceremony. 37 01 07

1937 01 08
Tribute was paid to a water-diviner at the opening of Over's new water works. After one bore had been sunk unsuccessfully the Chairman of the Parish Council contacted Mr Charles Adams and when he was walking with his 'magic twigs' they twisted violently. The well was sunk in that position. They had originally wanted a supply from the East Hunts Water Company but this meant paying Swavesey for the use of their main and they had charged too much. The new station had two pumps which stopped and started automatically when the level in the water tower dropped. 37 01 08 & a

1937 01 09
Les Walton, the popular Rendezvous band leader, who introduced the 'Jig' which proved a success, has introduced a new dance to Cambridge for the first time. It is called the St Bernard. One of the bandsmen, George Oldfield, brought it back with him after a visit to Streatham Locarno. It is undoubtedly going to make a 'hit' and was enthusiastically taken by 'Rendy' patrons. It is nice to have something fresh in the way of a dance. 37 01 09 # c.69.2

A plaster case from one of the decorations in the ceiling of the Cambridge Guildhall Large Room fell to the floor during the night. Although from the floor 60 feet below the petals do not appear very large each is about six inches serious across. Had there been an audience it would almost certainly have struck someone's head with results. Now the Mayor is considering whether the Large Room should be closed. 37 01 09b

'Random Journey' novel by R.W. Barnard has short account of Cambridge – 37 01 09a

The Blue Book Directory of Cambridge, published by the St Tibbs Press, comprises not only streets, trades and names of residents but also a wealth of information and a portrait gallery of our civic fathers (and mothers). An endeavour was made in 1936 to cover the immediate environs, including Shelford, Sawston, Milton and Grantchester. Now it has been enlarged to bring in Girton and Cottenham together with details concerning new or extended streets on the outskirts of the borough. It is extraordinary good value for five shillings. 37 01 09a

1937 01 11
At the first open meeting of the Cambridge Left Book Club tribute was paid to the memory of Mr G.C. Maclaurin, who was killed recently fighting for the Spanish Government in Madrid. He, more than anybody, was responsible for the flourishing members of the club in Cambridge where some 400 of the total membership of 35,000 are resident. The speaker discussed 'Must Capitalism Fail?' In a Socialist society, such as the USSR, all the sources of production were utilised to the full. While Russian workers were enjoying the fruits of their labour, the capitalist workers were saddled with debt. 37 01 11

1937 01 12
Albert Stubbs told the Agricultural Wages Board that farmers must pay workers a living wage or they would not get the labour. The minimum should be £2 for a working week of 48 hours. Rates for horse-keepers, cowmen and shepherds should be seven shillings more while women should earn from five to seven pence an hour. He would advise the men to take work on the roads or aerodromes where pay was higher. Young men would cycle 12-15 miles into Cambridge where they could earn more. But farmers had had a monstrous year and could not afford it. 37 01 12 & a

1937 01 13
Cambridge Preservation Society wants to raise £40,000 to preserve the Gogs. There are two ways of spoiling rural beauty: by ribbon development and the erection of houses at spots chosen because of the pleasant view they command, Rotarians were told. But one disagreed that it was spoiling the countryside to build on it. What was the countryside for? The contention that the Gogs was a most beautiful place was denied by a photograph he had taken of the landscape. "The Preservation Society is wrong and the whole thing is as mad as a hatter", he told the speaker. 37 01 13 & a

Sidney Gordon Clark, antique dealer of Collins & Clark, dies – 37 01 13b # c.06

1937 01 15
A fire at a large house at 10 Adams Road in the early morning caused considerable damage. There were six people living there and the haste with which they had to leave their rooms was obvious, for several were still wearing pyjamas and overcoats whilst engaged in salvage work this morning. The Merryweather fire engine was sent for and the brigade fought the flames from the water tower, managing to confine the outbreak to the upper storeys. Mr P. Hirsch, the owner, said several hundred pounds had recently been spent in redecoration and more damage had been done by water than fire. 37 01 15a, pic 15

The head offices and showroom of the Cambridge University and Town Gas Light Company in Sidney Street, where all the most modern and efficient appliances for heating, cooking, refrigeration and lighting can be seen, were built in 1909. Today the total number of consumers is in the region of 25,000. Recently the villages of Willingham, Longstanton and Oakington were supplied with gas and mains are being laid to Sawston. 37 01 15b # c.24.4

1937 01 16
Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth paid her first visit to Cambridge since her accession. Together with Queen Mary she made a number of purchases from Mr S. Woolston's antique shop. Although a private trip, word had got about and despite the drizzling rain a crowd gathered to cheer the two Queens when they arrived from Sandringham. Police had to institute a single-line traffic system to allow vehicles to pass the crush of people who surged round, cheering enthusiastically, when they departed en route to Exning for lunch. It was Queen Mary's fourth visit to the shop 37 01 16c # c.02

1937 01 16
Arthur Hoppett, 73, the oldest organist in Cambridge, started his musical career as a chorister at Trinity College under Sir Charles Villiers Stanford. His first appointment was at the Abbey Church, later moving to All Saint's. He played for five or six services every Sunday during the Great War and was accompanist at the musical evenings given by the late Oscar Browning where he met artistes of world-wide fame. His great hobby was his fine collection of stamps of the British Empire 37 01 13c amusing incidents – bumped into King Edward – 37 01 16f

Herbert George Whibley, ex-Mayor, dies – 37 01 16d

Whittlesey farmer sues drainage board over flooding of his land – 37 01 16d & e

Readers have responded with information on Keith and Tudor's circus on Midsummer Common. Mr R. Bainbridge says it was a large wooden building at the junction of Victoria Avenue, where the lamp standard is, at the corner of Jesus Grove. It was pulled down due to the expense of standing there and rebuilt at the bottom of Auckland Road. Mr Keith was the ring master and Mr Tudor was the clown. Sam George competed for a cup given by the late Charlie Rowell. It was a race 20 times around the ring over four hurdles every round. The circus finished late 1893 or early 1894 just before the Royal Show was held on Midsummer Common. He still has some of the building that was built into a shed. 37 01 16f # c.76.2

1937 01 18
Fire broke out at English Bros' timber yard in Newmarket Road; soon timber stacks, some of them 25 feet high were blazing with over half-an-acre of crackling 70-foot high flames. The Gasworks were far enough away but at Nightingale's garage a number of petrol lorries were in the danger zone and were moved. All three of the Brigade's engines were called into service but it was 13 hours before they were able to return to the station. A timber-drying shed was completely destroyed, a saw-mill damaged and a lorry completely burnt-out. 37 01 18 # c.34.75

The whinnying and neighing of valuable racehorses amid the crackling of blazing wood when their stables caught fire, the rescue of the horses by eager people, and an all-night chase for seven of the animals which dashed away into the darkness, were incidents in an exciting fire at Newmarket. The outbreak at St Gatien House endangered over 20 racehorses seven of which dashed away and disappeared into the darkness. All but three were recaptured on the outskirts of town and the rest lately returned quietly to the stables. 37 01 18a

1937 01 19
Haddenham Rev K.G. Sandberg appointed vicar – 37 01 19

1937 01 21
The Upper House of Convocation meeting at Westminster Abbey discussed a resolution by the Bishop of Ely. He had opposed admission to Holy Communion of persons "who having re-married after divorce and having thereby transgressed the law of Christ and the church, continue to live in disregard of the moral obligations which must bind those who are to be admitted to Holy Communion" Marriage after divorce is a sin against the seventh commandment, he said. But only one other Bishop voted in favour. 37 01 21 & a

Phyllis Osborne, lady artist, makes glass statuettes – 37 01 21b

Sir – Cambridge's dustbins are insanitary. Until late in the morning they decorate the edges of the pavements and their ugly and battered forms render the streets hideous. But worst of all, they stay there without lids, old tin baths, bent and dented zinc tubs, even cardboard boxes, all filled with garbage, scattering their dust and filth in the winds. In summer they stew in the hot sun. In winter they lie open to the bleak rain and drip their dust and ashes on the pavement. Babies have to run the risk of dust and infection in the streets while mothers at home strive to keep them protected from germs. Can nothing be done? – A maternity nurse 37 01 21c # c.21.15

Cambridge University Film Production Unit described their difficulties in making the film 'Psychology Today'. They used various laboratories for studios and when hounded out of one would look for another. The camera was of the hand-cranked type and had to be held down by three people when in use to prevent it rocking. While the film was being made they had no time for work or any other activities. A commentary had now been recorded and the sound track and visual film were in process of being' married'. The unit is not confined to members of the University: townspeople are welcome. 37 01 21d # c.65.6

1937 01 22
Huntingdonshire county council needs new building – 37 01 22 & a
Belfast Linen Warehouse – advertisers – 37 01 22b
Briscoe Snelson lecture 'With a camera in East Anglia' – 37 01 22c # c.65.5

'One with a memory' writes: "My father put Tudor's circus up twice in Cambridge and once in Ipswich and eventually at the Romsey Town Cement Works, where the main part still stands and is used by Messrs Macintosh for their ever-increasing agricultural department". He has a bill, dated June 1895 which includes six shillings and fivepence for 38 pints of beer from the 'Duke of Cambridge' for the workers. Another reader recalls Samuel Murfitt from Manea, the largest man in the world, who died 50 years ago. His girth was 100 inches and as no hearse could be found large enough he had to be conveyed on a flat. The sashes had to be taken from the windows and nearly 20 men were employed to get the body out. 37 01 22e # c.76.2

1837 01 23
Snelson lecture, p5
Lake districts, p5
Cambridgeshire giant, Tudor circus, p6

1937 01 26
Fulbourn Hospital is to have a cinema projector following a demonstration of both a 16mm and 35 mm machine. The smaller one was noisy and while it would project for ordinary purposes it would need to be in the same room as the patients. The projectors were of a delicate nature and if they got men of the labouring class moving it about they would get a lot of damage. The larger one was superior, it was compact, easy to work and the pictures were clear and good-sized. . Mr Stubbs said: "The sound was clear and even with a Yankee voice was tolerable – and sometimes they are not" (Laughter). 37 01 26a # c.76.9

1937 01 27
Flooding at Ely High Bridge – photo – 37 01 27 # c.29

1937 01 28
A report from Linton parish council draws attention to the increased heavy traffic through the village and suggests that the old Roman Road from Cherry Hinton should be made up. But this would cost

£6,000 a mile. An alternative scheme would be the classification of the existing road leading from the Cambridge-Haverhill road though Hildersham and the construction of a by-pass linking it with the Haverhill road south of Linton 37 01 28

The Newmarket Tradesmen's Association was formed to promote the trade and industrial interests and advertise the attractions of the district as a residential and holiday centre. 37 01 28a

1937 01 30
Folk Museum disappointed about lack of interest – description – 37 01 30 # c.03

Horace Coulson, the well-known chemist, was one of the best-liked men in Cambridge. – 37 01 30a # c.21.1

Sarah Campion 'Cambridge Blue' novel – 37 01 30b & c # c.74

Gladstone's visit 1887 recalled – 37 01 30d # c.33 # c.02 : 1887

Cambridge Dining Clubs recalled in old issue of 'The Idler', 1898 – Beefsteak & True Blue – 37 01 30e # c.36.92

Peaks Furnishers of King Street was commenced in 1924 by Mr W.H. Peak and by dealing in reliable goods, together with a sound service, he has rapidly built up business. The premises have been extended and improved from time to time and a very large floor space is now devoted to the display of floor coverings and furniture. Consistent advertising in the CDN for a number of years has helped considerably to make this firm so widely known. 37 01 30f # c.27.2

February 1937 CDN

1937 02 01
Alexander Paul MacAlister was articled to Messrs Fawcett's, a Cambridge firm of architects, before starting on his own in St Andrew's Street 45 years ago. He designed the new block at Fulbourn Mental Hospital and the Tubercular Hospital at Antwerp as well as many houses in Madingley Road. He founded the Cambridge Amateur Operatic Society and played parts in all the Gilbert and Sullivan operas. 37 02 01 # c.61

1937 02 02
The Mayor expressed fears for young people at the Temperance Society meeting. A large number spent their time parading the streets and going to the pictures. Unless occupation could be found for them, people who could see profit in their folly would ensnare them. But Cambridge had some of the best recreation grounds in the country which help to keep children off the road and Romsey Town had a new bathing and paddling pool. The society was up against wealth and convenience. The enormous motor traffic of today could pull up anywhere along the highways and obtain liquor. 37 02 02a

The inadequate accommodation at the Fire and Police Station has now become serious. The proposed changed involve the complete demolition of the Chief Constable's house, garages, policewomen's office and the Remand Home in Downing Lane. There will be a basement for the storage of 320 bicycles and provision for eight motor vehicles together with a workshop with pit for repairs, petrol pumps etc on the ground floor. A flat for the sergeant in charge of the fire brigade will be needed together with a mess room and larder for 12 men, photograph room and offices for the chief constable, coroner and detectives. Above would be ten bedrooms for 12 single men with two bathrooms and various stores. 37 02 02b # c.34.7

St Ives golf, p5

1937 02 03

The death of John Cornford while fighting for the Spanish Government is a grievous loss. He had a brilliant academic career and was preparing for research work in history when the Spanish rebellion broke out. As soon as it was known that Italian war planes were being delivered to the Spanish rebels he went out as a volunteer, joining the British section of the International Brigade and fighting alongside G.C. Maclaurin of Cambridge who was killed in Madrid. He saw continual fighting for five weeks and was commander of the British section on the Cordova front when he was killed reconnoitring in advance of the lines. 37 02 03 # c.45.6 # c.33

1937 02 04
Proposed alterations to the police and fire station were opposed by councillors as it meant compulsory purchase of property belonging to St Andrews Street Baptist Church. The fire station could be moved to Maid's Causeway allowing the police space for the next 50 years. But there did need to be accommodation for constables – recently when a large number of additional men were required for emergency service the Chief Constable had to send motor ambulances and motor patrol vans to whip them up. 37 02 04a & b # c.34.7

Mr W. King's film display at Stapleford Institute featured scenes of the maiden voyage of the Queen Mary together with two of his latest films. 'Armistice Day' included colour pictures of Poppy Day in Cambridge and 'Village Life' showing the British Legion parade, Stapleford school children at their exercises in the playground and many scenes of farming life. Stapleford's ambition is to be right up-to-date. It has a water supply with hydrants in case of fire, gas and electricity though this has not been installed at the Institute and a wire was run from the Old Vicarage to operate the projector 37 02 04 # c.65.6

Magistrates received an application from the Star Brewery for the removal of the licence of the Garden Gate at Little Wilbraham to premises to be erected on Newmarket Road to be known as the Airport Hotel. However Lacons Albion Brewery asked for the removal of the licence of the Cow and Hare at Lode to a new pub to be known as the King George, also on Newmarket Road near the borough boundary. While they might regard one application with sympathy, two were out of the question and the decision was deferred. 37 02 04c # c.27.4

1937 02 06
Motor vehicles are to be substituted for the horses engaged in railway cartage traffic in Cambridge. They will displace 18 horses after which the railway would have no horses in use 37 03 06a # c.26.2

Robert Hensher, draper business – advertisers – 37 02 06

The Star Brewery applied for the transfer of a licence from the Crown and Compasses in Coronation Street to a new 'Vine' pub in Vinery Way. There had been 817 new houses nearby and many residents supported the application. But several residents thought it would devalue their property and Mr Skeel, who has an off-licences in Vinery Road, opposed it. Greene King also wanted to erect 'The Running Footman' in Coldham's Lane opposite Brooks Road. It would be open at all times for the sale of teas and would have a Cumberland turf bowling green. Both were refused. 37 02 06b # c.27.4

Although rebuilt as recently as 1935, Robinson's garage in St Andrew's Street has again been enlarged to meet ever-increasing business. This has enabled them to enlarge their radio department which is quite distinct from the motoring side of the business. It is staffed by men who have made radio their special study and offers hundreds of brand-new sets (some in their original cases) at pounds below list prices. The radio service department is one of the finest in the entire country with engineers from Marconi, H.M.V. and Pye factories. 37 02 06c & d # c.26.48 # c.27.8

Gladstone tree, p8
Boneshaker, p8

1937 02 10

At least 400 Cambridge people took part in Shrove Tuesday dances and Rob Roy Boat Club followed tradition by indulging in pancake scrambles. There were over 100 dancers at Houghton Hall where Geoff Fearn and his orchestra provided a popular medley of new and old numbers. Gay costumes, reminiscent of the days of Uncle Tom Cobley, enlivened the scene at the Dorothy Café for the fancy dress dance held by the Association of West Country Folk while 200 were at the Rob Roy dance at the Rendezvous. 37 02 10

Roy Fox, the famous band leader who is appearing at the Theatre-Cinema, toured Cambridge businesses. He travelled in his own Rolls Royce to the main showrooms of Cambridgeshire Motors in Cherryhinton Road. He always likes to visit the showrooms of the main Ford dealers because so many of his boys use this make of car. "I like Fords. They are a fine job and Cambridgeshire Motors have a wonderful range of them. Their service department struck me as being O.K. Being an American I like this town of yours. It is a great change to find such a wonderful shopping centre in such a beautiful setting", he told our reporter before continuing his tour. 37 02 10a # c.26.48

1937 02 11
A farm cart bore the coffin of Lady Foot Mitchell, of Quendon Hall, to Quendon Church on Saturday, when her funeral took place. Behind it was another cart filled with some wreaths, which numbered nearly 150. Sir William and other mourners walked behind, all the way from the Hall. At the gates of the drive they were joined by the estate workers. There were many sympathisers and the little church was too small to hold a large number of those who attended. 37 02 11

1937 02 12
Mr G.H. Jacob specialises in his tailoring for ladies and gentlemen and holds Gold, Silver and Bronze medals in addition to thirteen trade diplomas. He offers a complete gentlemen's outfitting service. The shop at 34 and 35 Burleigh Street was established in 1859 by Mr P.S. Stevenson and taken over by Mr Jacob in 1912. In 1926 the business was extended by the opening of a branch shop at 23 St Andrew's Street where extensive enlargements and alterations have just been completed. 37 02 12 # c.27.2

Stretham haulage contractors, Algernon, William Gordon and Roland Neville fined for failing to keep records of driving – 37 02 12a

1937 02 13
Sir – I remember Ditton Docks some 70 years ago. It was then a small landing stage, long disused and out of repair. There was also a more pretentious one further down the river – Horningsea Pier we used to call it - and I was told that in pre-railway days this had been extensively used. My father would speak of the times, before the present locks were installed, when strings of barges were kept waiting sometimes for several weeks for the river to rise sufficiently for them to come up. They carried coal and corn to Mill Lane or timber and sand to Walnut Tree Lane (now Avenue). Dant of Dant's Ferry had a fleet of barges at that time – A. Cox 37 02 13 # c.26.3

Cambridge Scientists' Anti-War Group, a technical and advisory body to Peace Movements, has issued a booklet entitled 'The Protection of the Public from Aerial Attack. It is a critical examination of the recommendations put forward by the Home Office Air Raids Precautions Department. They constructed 'gas proof' rooms according to Government plans and measured its resistance to the entry of air from outside. Much of the information is technical with a separate chapter devoted to the protection of children 37 02 13a # c.45.6

Gladstone tree at Newnham College recalled – 37 02 13b
May Week murder p6

1937 02 15
Papworth Colony – old photo taken at Bourn 1916 – 37 02 15

Haddenham football ground has been closed until March 1st by the Cambs F.A. following incidents in the match between Haddenham and Girton in the Creake Shield competition. The referee stated that a section of the spectators used bad language and barracked him throughout the game, ridiculing his decisions when not in favour of the home side. If any similar report is received more drastic action will be taken 37 02 15a

1937 02 16
An inquest heard that a bargeman's son had been in the habit of visiting the Half Acre pumping station at Barway. This had been erected in 1935 and contained a 10 horsepower crude oil engine. The engineer in charge said the lad had been standing with his back to the engine, looking out of the window. He was wearing a mackintosh which became caught in the flywheel. The man had run to stop the engine but the wheel took the boy round four or five times and his head hit the concrete. The flywheel had a projection for fixing a starting handle and this was not guarded. All other drainage engines were larger and let into the floor 37 02 16a. # c.29

1937 02 18
Guildhall and Market Hill site – history by Mrs Keynes – 37 02 18 # c.35.7 # c.44.6

1937 02 19
Work has started on the destruction of houses condemned under Royston Council's slum clearance orders. One of the first to go is the old Well House in Melbourn Street, in spite of the efforts of Mr E.W. Thair to get it preserved. The building had belonged to the Beldams, whose vault lies in the churchyard 37 02 19

Tom Cox motor, p8

1937 02 20
The Jolly Butchers, a famous 17th century inn at Wyton, was extensively damaged by fire. Built in 1662 it contained some fine 18th-century panelling which was practically destroyed. Firemen had to break through the tiled roof to get at the blazing beams beneath. Volunteers worked hard removing furniture and valuables while schoolboys helped to carry to safety bottles of spirits and kegs of beer. Keys to show cases containing chocolates and cigarettes were mislaid, so that the glass fronts had to be smashed to salvage the contents. 37 02 20a

Wimblington and Doddington housing schemes proposed – 37 02 20a

The News made history by holding the first Cambridge and County Press Ball at the Dorothy Café where a gay crowd, some 300 strong, danced, supped and had a really good time. There were two bands – Percy Cowell's and Percy Read's - providing a continuous programme of music for valetas, waltzes and the 'Paul Jones' with spot prizes given by local firms. Two tasty suppers were followed by a midnight cabaret with star turn Tommy Fields (Gracie's brother) who did a spot of female impersonation. His pleasant smile and India rubber legs will be long remembered. 37 02 23 & e – photo – 37 02 20 # c.04 # c.69.2

1937 02 23
John Cornford memorial meeting attended by Communists, socialist, labour, liberals and Bevan – 32 07 23b & c # c.33

New-constructed bus turning point Newnham route, Barton Rd – 32 02 23d # c.26.46

Somerlite, p3

Joseph Reed, the well-known tenor, has retired from his appointment at Trinity College and from the concert platform. He first came to Cambridge in September 1891 as principal tenor lay clerk at Trinity College. He sang in the Mozart Centenary celebrations, at Ely Cathedral and in Dr Mann's musical festivals in King's College chapel. Sir Edward Elgar was a terribly nervous man and when 'The Kingdom' was being performed in King's he was pacing up and down the side of the chapel all the time. Reed undertook concert tours with Dame Clara Butt when a saloon carriage was attached to any train and they sang on the platform every night. 37 02 23 & a, 37 92 24, 37 02 25b & c# c.69

1937 02 24
Men worked in gas masks when two heavily-laden lorries came into collision at the junction of Chesterton Lane and Castle Street. The crash happened at 5.30 am when the traffic lights were not working. The vehicles were an Eastern Railways lorry laden with ten tons of fruit and a lorry carrying 4,000 bricks. The impact threw the Railways vehicle on to its side and it fell on to the street refuge, the lamp standard and two posts. A passer-by was overcome by gas so workmen donned masks to move the load so a cock could be fitted and the gas turned off. 37 02 24a

G.H. Jacob, tailors, silver jubilee – 37 02 24b # c.27.2

1937 02 25
The Gogs preservation scheme is intended to secure the uplands and keep them open for the people of Cambridge at all time. The Prime Minister wrote a letter endorsing the appeal. There was a danger land might be developed for houses and once this started there was every possibility of it spreading. Speculative builders were spoiling the country. They bought materials cheaply and dumped them anywhere they chose, building incongruous houses all over the country. 37 02 25 & a # c.49.4

Joseph Reed, p6

1937 02 27
The Cambridge Light Car Company opened premises in Hills Road about six years ago as Used Car Showrooms. The business rapidly increased and within two years the management found it necessary to take larger garage premises in Norwich Street for car storage and repairs. They were appointed distributors for the now famous High-class Triumph cars that have come rapidly to the fore during the last four seasons. They are also Morris deals and stock Standard, Austin and other popular makes of car 37 02 27 # c.26.48

"May Week Murders" by Douglas G. Browne – novel set in Cambridge – 37 02 27a # c.74
Cambridge rates, p5

March 1937 CDN

1937 03 01
The adoption of automatic traffic indicators on modern cars has led to a great deal of reliance being placed upon them by drivers. But 'trafficators' should be kept clean and in good working order. After prolonged use they become dusty and difficult to see in daylight. A weekly rub over with a soft duster is needed to keep them clean and bright. Who has not seen a car in front which according to its indicator is perpetually about to turn to the right or left, yet never does. The application of a drop of oil (preferably machine oil applied with a brush) is a cheap price to pay for safety. 37 03 01

Cycle history lecture – 37 03 01a # c.26.485

A horse attached to a milk float belonging to Messrs W.H. Onyett, dairymen of Chesterton, bolted while standing outside a house in Ramsden Square. After a run of about three hundred yards during which it rounded two sharp corners, distributing pieces of harness, milk crates and bottles, it came to a halt in Kings Hedges Road when the near-side wheel was wrenched off the cart 37 03 01b

1937 03 02
Wesley church youth rally – 37 03 02

1937 03 03
Newmarket's Doric Cinema and Café is the latest addition to the entertainment of the town. With seating for 1,200 the cinema makes an instant appeal by its novel outward appearance. Inside the tasteful decorations include beautiful curtains for the stage which is equipped for every type of theatrical production. There are special seats with microphone apparatus for deaf people. A small charge would be made for the car park but it will be free for those patronising the cafe which is open to the public. The main film was Will Hay in "Good Morning, Boys" and a Mickey Mouse cartoon completed the programme 37 03 03

Cambridge transmitter, G2XV, is one of the most successful amateur short wave radiotelephony stations in the country. Its semi-vertical antenna enables it to be heard on the 20-metre band in almost all corners of the world, including Australia, New Zealand, India, Honolulu and every state in the USA. It is owned by G.A. Jeapes of Perne Road, whose interest in short-wave transmissions goes back to the days before radio broadcasting was ever thought of. 37 03 03 # c.27.8

1937 03 04
Miss Lilian Clarke gave a lantern lecture on 'Lady Margaret and her two colleges' in the Reference Room of the Central Library. She drew on her wonderful store of knowledge of bygone Cambridge with many interesting anecdotes that kept her large audience entertained. Recently it has been found that the main gate of St John's College was being rattled down by the heavy lorries which passed through the narrow streets every night. It will be necessary to rebuild, but there are problems in getting bricks to match 37 03 04

Sir Alan Cobham, the world-famous airman, spoke in favour of a nine-bedroom Airport Hotel on Newmarket Road. Every Continental airfield had a hotel where accommodation was available in the same way as at a terminal railway station. A man had a terrible inconvenience when he landed at an airport and a first-class hotel was one of the amenities which was going to make people fly. A rival proposal by Lacons Brewery was withdrawn: people like Mr Marshall who were training pilots were doing a work of very great importance and entitled to reasonable facilities. 37 03 04a & b 37 03 05 # c.26.1

1937 03 05
Annual Business review: description of activities:
Dorothy Café, Morlin's, Greene King, W.H. Pratt, Rendezvous cinema, Bowes & Bowes, J. Sanders, Murkett Bros, Otto Wehrle, Provincial Homes – 37 03 05
Arnold Bros, A.H. Careless, Dolphin's shoe repair, Whitmore, English Bros, W. Delph, S.A. Rose, Cherry Hinton Granaries, Coulson, S. Ginn – 37 03 05a
Smart tailors, Sennitt's game, Hayward cycle, Marshall's, F.J. Prime, Bird's Chemical works, Flack & Judge, Banham, Leys Laundry, Bell & co travel agents, Hallen's motor cycles – 37 03 05b
Allen & Welcher painters, H. Tredgett florists – 37 03 05c
Miller's music, Cam electrical, Cambs Permanent Benefit Building Society, George Stace costumiers, Trustee Savings Bank, Hyman & Cox opticians, Edw Harper funerals, F. Winton Smith butchers, Austin coal, Cambridge University Gas Light Co – 37 03 05d
Cambridge Brush, Cambridge Secretarial training school, J. Holliman furnishers, F.W. Drake medical herbalist, Cambridge Steam Laundry, A Sidney Campkin pharmacists, F.M. Wilson insurance, Collins & Clark antiques – 37 03 05e
Williamson's furnishers, Robert Sayle, J. Ward cycle, Riding School, Dale's Brewery, Hockey auctioneers, Cambridge Billposting Co, Electric Wiring & Repair, Cambridgeshire Motors, New Cambridge Tyre co – 37 03 05f
Ivett & Reed monumental masons, Evans Flanders chemist, E.E. Harmer income tax, Layton & Leech masons, H.J. Gray sports, S. Rampling surgical appliance, Cambridge Health Spa, George Bolton removal, Kwick cleaners, Wm Farren furrier – 37 03 05g # c.27

Speaking at the Zion chapel centenary celebrations the Mayor, Ald Briggs, said he'd been born in Bradmore Street 60 years ago and had many memories of the meetings in the building. He associated Zion with evangelical work and for a 100 years there had not been one instance when they'd turned to a 'stunt' to keep their religion going. All the ministers had relied on preaching vividly, strongly and in a clear-cut manner to get the response they'd hoped for 37 03 05h & i # c.83

Magistrates heard that the Old Guinea public house in Russell Street was owned by the Star Brewery who had redecorated it and fitted a new fire and sink. There were seven fully-licensed houses and two off-licences within 400 yards. The Burleigh Arms in Burleigh Street was a beerhouse which provided a living for the tenant who found great difficulty in getting any work. The Rabbit in Gold Street was a comfortable little house; it had two extremely nice trade rooms and Green King had put in new windows. The residents of East Road might be 'scared off' a big place. The Cross Keys in Saxon Street was the only beer house in the neighbourhood which had five fully-licences housed within 400 yards. Beer was drawn straight from the wood, which was an attraction and trade was good. 37 03 05j # c.27.4

The death occurred of Mrs Ann Smith, wife of Gypsy Smith, at their home, Romany Tan in Hinton Avenue. She was associated with Hills Road Methodist Church but led a very quiet life and although she once or twice went on tours abroad, she generally remained at home. The funeral service will be held at the house. The famous preacher is absent in America on an evangelical tour; he is at present in Charlotte, North Carolina. It is not expected that he will be able to return home until April. 37 03 05k

Sir, the new agricultural land settlement by the Huntingdon Road at Fen Drayton daily becomes less picturesque. It would have been more cheerful for the people who have been transplanted to the area if the cottages had been built in a central position around a village green together with a clubhouse and other amenities. The whole layout, although well-intentioned, smacks of the robot mind of the self-appointed planner of other peoples' lives and there is little wonder that one hears rumours that some of the settlers pine to be back in their old haunts – Rusticus 37 03 10
Marshall's Airport Hotel plan backed – 37 03 05l

Proposed Weathervane on Perne Road refused – 37 03 05n # c.27.4

1937 03 08
Cambridge Trades Council and Labour Party celebrated its 25th anniversary with a dinner in the Dorothy Café addressed by Mr C.E. Atlee, leader of the parliamentary party. Mrs Rackham recalled the early Labour candidates: the Rev Rhondda Williams was the first in 1918 while Alec Firth stood in 1922, 23 and 24. Hugh Dalton, hero of the spectacular by-election of 1922 and now Chairman of the National Executive, spoke of the early days of the party in the town. Dame Sybil Thorndike put in an appearance at the close of the evening, receiving an enthusiastic welcome. 37 03 08 & a # c.33

1937 03 09
Conditions at Wyton aerodrome are unspeakably bad; contractors should not permit horses to be worked in such horrible conditions and the Air Ministry should be made to construct better roads, magistrates said. A man had been leading horses with a water cart from a concrete mixer to the sleeper track when the front horse went into the mud. He'd run to release the second horse so that should not also go down, then tried unsuccessfully to raise the fallen animal. But it was ankle deep in mud and it was impossible for it to get up. The owner was fined. 37 03 09 & a

1937 03 10
Fen Drayton, p8

1937 03 15
Ministry of Transport proposals to minimise street parking have called forth dissention from many motorists. We in Cambridge know there has been a steady increase in our shops by the more modern method of road transport. A large proportion of those who come from outlying districts to buy the week's commodities are private car owners. To refuse to allow cars to be parked for a reasonable period outside the place of purchase would cause many to give Cambridge a wide berth. Motorists are already taxed up to the hilt and police courts would be more than ever congested with these trivial offences. 37 03 15 # c.26.48

The next 25 hours are the critical period in the fight against flood waters which are threatening a large area of fenland near Littleport following the recent heavy rain and high spring tides. A night and day watch is being kept on the rivers around Denver Sluice. Dredgers and barges are standing by ready to stop any gaps. The water has been over the banks in several places, but so far there has been no breach. Flood conditions have prevailed for eight weeks now – the longest period in living memory. The superintendent of Mildenhall Fen pumping station had no sleep over the weekend where the sodden condition of the banks has heightened anxiety. 37 03 15a # c.29

1937 03 16
A great battle is going on over a 50 mile front to save the fens from serious flooding. But in the minds of the hundreds of men working on strengthening the sodden banks is the ever present question 'Will the banks hold?' Despite their efforts the Old West River at Aldreth Causeway overflowed and nine inches of water poured into Haddenham Fen causing people to leave their houses. Great anxiety was also caused when water came over the banks at Willingham and at Lt Thetford where a split occurred in a bank 37 03 16 & a

Cottenham Salvation Army Hall stone-laying – 37 03 16b

Photos – Prickwillow, Earith, Stretham, Ship Inn – 37 03 16c

1937 03 17
Floods, p1, 5,8

1937 03 18
Threat to Barway following Lode burst – 37 03 18 & a

Soham Lode breach – photo – 37 03 18b

1937 03 19
Workers at the end of their tether – 37 03 19 & a

1937 03 20
New peril in the fens – River Lark, Hiam inspects – 37 03 20 & a

St Dunstan's organised a reunion of war-blinded men at the Dorothy Café. Their aim has always been to re-establish the men in their own homes and consequently they have lost touch with fellow sufferers. There were demonstrations of the Talking Book Machine, a kind of gramophone which can be used to play both ordinary records and special recordings of books which run for about 25 minutes. The machine has only been in production for a year but already 100 books have been recorded. 600 have been distributed, half to soldiers, and half to civilians. 37 03 20b & c # c.21.4

Gipsy Smith's bereavement – 37 03 20d

1937 03 23
Commons debate fen floods – 37 03 23 # c.29 # c.12

The present flood conditions in the fens were raised in the House of Commons. A titanic struggle was going on between man and relentless nature. Children had been unable to go to school for months, housewives were marooned and unable to provide themselves with the necessities of life, crops had been destroyed bringing ruin to farmers and unemployment to farm workers. Half a million acres of the richest soil in the country were in daily peril during the winter. Much of the flooding had been caused to Government cuts in grants for land drainage, Arthur Greenwood declared 37 03 23 # c.29 # c.12

Easter Sunday will be zero time in the second phase of the great battle being put up against the flood peril in the fens. Ten days ago the calamity of a major burst was only narrowly averted when the spring tides were are their peak. This weekend they return. Today all the cracks in the bank of the Old Bedford River were reported to be satisfactory and airmen who had been working day and night have been withdrawn. The spirit of the troops is excellent but the medical officer has certified that rum is desirable and arrangements are being made for it to be issued. 37 03 23a # c.29 # c.12

Cambridge Scientists have challenged Government claims that the majority of London houses could construct a gas-proof room. They say it would need to be lined with sheet tin and the joints overlapped with Vaseline. Even so tear gas could get in. Mustard gas could be spread in liquid form from aeroplanes as had been done in Abyssinia. It gave off a vapour so toxic it was lethal if breathed for six minutes. Government-issue gas masks would cost two-and-sixpence each but would not stop cigarette smoke that could make people cough and be sick. 37 03 23a # c.45.6

Air raid debate – 37 03 23b # c.45.6

1937 03 24
James de Rothschild, MP for the Isle of Ely, ridiculed reports about problems in the fens. The pictures that had been conjured up of whole villages in a fever of anxiety for their lives and even of a panic-stricken population fleeing from their homes clutching their valuables, were totally fictitious. One village was said to have been evacuated but a very successful Liberal meeting had been held there. However despite the aberrations of the press the situation was still very grave and hundreds of acres were threatened with flooding. 37 03 24 & a # c.29

Army return to fens, cracks in Ouse at Redmere – 37 03 24b

When the Salvation Army first came to Cambridge Ellis Merry gave them what was then his wash-house in which to hold their meetings. He was one of the early sergeant-majors and associated himself with their work in the villages, using a concertina and violin to good effect. He was the first to run a penny bus, from Mill Road into town and also did the horse mail work. Until his retirement Mr Merry carried on the business of undertaker. 37 03 24c # c.21.2 # c.83 # c.26.46

Lorry wrecks house corner Bell Lane Histon – 37 03 24d

1927 03 25
Histon cars, p5

1937 03 27
Good Friday skipping on Parkers Piece – 37 03 27 # c.39

The Ouse Catchment Board received a telegram from the King and a letter from the Minister of Agriculture saying they had watched with admiration the heroic efforts made to control the fen floods. Sadly a breach had occurred which led to the flooding of Soham fen. Last year Padnal had asked for a new engine but it had been turned down. As a result the old engine had broken and fens were under water. Unless something was done the South Level was heading for the greatest calamity it had ever known. 37 03 27a & b # c.29

Have you seen the luxury houses on the Fendon Estate (new road leading from Hills Road to Queen Edith's Way?). Make a visit this Easter. Architect designed houses, built with best materials and labour by a firm which is rapidly gaining a fine reputation. Houses have sold quickly to discerning buyers. Every house is detached and different. Schools and churches nearby. Prices from £975 to £1,500. Advert 37 03 27b # c.23

Waterworks Company new workshop and depot foundation stone, Rustat Road – 37 03 27c # c.24.2

Victoria Friendly Society centenary – history – 37 03 27e # c.37.2

1937 03 30
Death W.P. Littlechild, 56 years chapel clerk at Kings – 37 03 30

1937 03 31
The new Regal Cinema, seating about 1,900 people, includes all the latest luxury features with luxurious tip-up seats. It has equipment to enable those hard of hearing to follow the sound with ease and comfort. The first attraction will be the new Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers show, 'Swing Time', when William Southwold will be at the mighty Compton organ. A resident organist will play at each performance 37 03 31 # c.76.9

Haddenham vicar, p5

April 1937 CDN

1937 04 01 c

Hundred Houses Society annual report – 37 04 01, Water Street estate, 37 04 02 # c.23
Airport Hotel approved – 37 04 01a & b # c.26.1 # c.27.45

1937 04 03
Sutton fatal accident, need traffic island at Brook Corner – 37 04 03a

W.P. Littlechild, chapel clerk at King's – 37 04 03b

One of the big attractions at the new Regal Cinema is the Compton organ, fitted with an illuminated console which produces a wonderful range and combination of colours. It is described as the 'most remarkable instrument of its kind in the world, producing every kind of music from the thrilling peal of a cathedral organ to the colour and tone of a symphony orchestra or the rhythm of a modern dance band'. 37 04 03b # c.76.9 # c.69.4

1937 04 05
Fen floods and compensation, new road at Soham Mere – 37 04 05

The new Regal cinema opened – 37 04 05a & b # c.76.9

1937 04 08
Public conveniences are absolutely necessary in Littleport. It was a town of over 4,000 inhabitants, many people from the surrounding area visited for shopping, there was an up-to-date cinema and hundreds paraded the streets on Saturday evenings. Tenants of licensed houses made a practice of locking the gates of their toilets to prevent the public using them and there was no accommodation for woman. But opponents said the chosen site was away from the shopping centre, there was no footpath and people would need to cross the main road to get there. It was near a butcher's shop and would tend to the breeding of flies. They would be better underground. 37 04 08

The new chapel for the use of troops at Mildenhall RAF station was dedicated. The Bishop said that in the past they had to wait a long time for a camp to be equipped with such a place of worship. Now it came at the start of construction. Everyone was sorry that the state of the world meant they could not do without great defences. But they were proud of the Air Force and the devotion shown in the minds of those ready to join in. The men should consider their influence as a body in the parish in which they were living and take care it was a good one. 37 04 08a

1937 04 09
Civil Aviation Service Corps first open day at Cambridge aerodrome; bomb dropping contest – 37 04 09 # c.26.1

1937 04 14
Emmanuel Road tree, p5

1937 04 15
Housing development, p5

1937 04 16
Nicholes advertisement, p8

1937 04 17
Red Cross members will be trained in air raid precautions and encouraged to volunteer for ARP services. They could be assured that people wearing masks would be unaffected by gas, despite a recent study by Cambridge Scientists. Diffusion of elementary knowledge would prevent many casualties caused by panic. They had held six 'gas courses' attracting 350 people. But these numbers would be hopelessly inadequate to deal with a large-scale air raid. 37 04 17 # c.45.6

Pub fire, p3
3d pieces, p6
Dancer injured, p6

1937 04 18 c
Public conveniences are absolutely necessary in Littleport. It was a town of over 4,000 inhabitants, many people from the surrounding area visited for shopping, there was an up-to-date cinema and hundreds paraded the streets on Saturday evenings. Tenants of licensed houses made a practice of locking the gates of their toilets to prevent the public using them and there was no accommodation for woman. But opponents said the chosen site was away from the shopping centre, there was no footpath and people would need to cross the main road to get there. It was near a butcher's shop and would tend to the breeding of flies. They would be better underground

1937 04 19
The death occurred with tragic suddenness at the Gog Magog Golf Club of Percy William Gray, 65, who collapsed while practicing for a round. The club was immediately closed for the day. He was a member of the well-known auctioneer and estate agent firm, Gray, Son and Cook and was director of the Cambridge Waterworks and Gas Light Companies. In his younger days he played cricket, hockey, golf, rugby and 'soccer' and continued to hold various offices including President of the Cricket Association. He married Miss Strange, daughter of the Chesterton boat builder. 37 04 19 # c.06

1937 04 20
A number of Cambridge police officers have received promotion. Supt. Percy Sharman is in the 23rd year of service, Inspector S.J. Double, Serg W. Ainsworth, Det-Sergt A.E. Robinson, Sergts O. Cornwell, J. Kester, W. Edwards – 37 04 20a # c.34.7
Scientists' Anti-War Group challenge claims about gas proof rooms – 37 04 20b
Midsummer Common, p1

1937 04 21
Fenland is alarmed at another rise in the level of the rivers following heavy rain. The water is now 4ft 6in above normal, the washland is again flooded several feet deep. But the absence of rain so far today gives hope that a further disaster may be avoided. Even so the position is serious. Many fenland farmers have been unable to get on their land which is still completely waterlogged and much will have to lie fallow for a year, as it is too late to sow crops. 37 04 21

Cambridge Photographic Club cine group presented its annual show. Mr W. King's "Flood" was a magnificent epic of the recent Fenland troubles with some really brilliant photography. "Close of the Day" recalled some of the scenes witnessed in Cambridge every afternoon at 5 o'clock and showed the evening's life of a typical couple. Humour and trick photography are the keynote of the film which was written and directed by Mr F.B. Ives and produced by Mr E.J. Twinn. 37 04 21a # c.29 # c.65.6

1937 04 22
Fen Drayton Land Settlement Association bus service – Barker's buses – 37 04 22

A lady who inherited a considerable fortune some 10 years ago and had since resided at Hemingford Grey appeared at Cambridge Bankruptcy Court and told how it had disappeared. She had bought Pear Tree Cottage and been generous in entertaining the people of the village, giving them all a party and dance every year for seven years. She had also given the children a Christmas party. This cost a considerable sum. She kept a stud of beautiful dogs but in November 1932 she had a considerable fire, losing a lot of valuable old china. She lived extravagantly with an expensive wardrobe, including a fur coat. But she never spent the money on cocktails or drink. 37 04 22a & b

Saffron Walden gold chain for Mayoress presented – 37 04 22b

1937 04 23
The Sanitary Inspector reported on flooding in Sand Street, Soham. The sewer which discharged into the river was nearly choked up with silt and water could only get away very slowly. As it was an old brick drain it would be an expensive and difficult matter to clear and they might have to replace it was a new 12-inch glazed stoneware pipe drain. Soham councillors should inspect it and be given power to arrange for cleaning if considered necessary. 37 04 23

Cambridge bus men vote to strike – 37 04 23a

Wicken wells – 37 04 23b

Opening Ascham Road library, the Mayor said it was a great day for Chesterton. In that beautiful building, with good light and accommodation they could look at the books and select them for themselves. The children's library would encourage youngsters to read. At present physical education was the fashion. We were in danger of producing a nation finely developed from the waist downs. The library would hep to counteract it. Ten months ago they opened a branch library in Rock Road and so far 87,799 books had been issued, very close to the number at Mill Road branch which had been in existence 40 years. (Applause). 37 04 23c & d # c.77.4

Wm Scott and Son, art decorators and painting opened their new premises in James Street. On the site of the disastrous fire which gutted the old site in July last has arisen one of the most up-to-date works equipped with the very latest plant and materials for high quality motor-body and van repairs, cellulose spraying, painting, lettering, joinery work etc. They are specialists in glass & sign writing, plumbing and repairs to residential and business property and have achieved distinction for the high quality of all work. – Advert. 37 04 23e # c.27

Barwell Tyre Renewing Company – advertiser – 37 04 23f

1937 04 24
Hundreds of Cambridge people had to walk to work and home again, or to find lunch in the town, because the bus stoppage at the Eastern Counties Omnibus Company's depot was complete. Not a single bus left and two which arrived from March and Peterborough were met by pickets and not allowed to leave. There was no violence, but men surrounded one bus which attempted to leave on the Chesterton-Station service. No other efforts to take out buses were made. Premier Travel services are not affected. Meanwhile Herbert Robinson have taken delivery of 500 Raleigh bicycles 37 04 24 & a. & c # c.26.46

'With detectives round the world' by Frank Longworth – capture at Cambridge of printer of objectionable books – 37 04 24b # c.34.6

1937 04 27
Basque town wiped out, hundreds killed – 37 04 27 # c.45.6

During the Cambridge bus strike a dispute occurred as to whether the Open-Air School bus should go out. Its windscreen was broken and the radiator emptied. One of the strikers said they were willing to let it go provided one of their men drove it. The manager would not agree. The children were eventually taken home in private cars or on a hired motor coach. The bus did not run next morning despite an offer by the Chief Constable to provide a police escort 37 04 27a

1937 04 28
Cambridge Union Society emulated the Oxford refusal to fight for king and country by carrying a motion in favour of complete national disarmament and individual refusal to bear arms. If re-armament were abandoned in the pursuit of peace our economic system would collapse and we would be faced with a military revolution of the property classes on the lines of General Franco. It might involve us in civil war – unless passive resistance was practiced as it had been by Gandhi, opponents warned. 37 04 28 & a # c.45.6 # c.36.92

1937 04 29
Five RAF men were killed when two bombers collided near Methwold. Three machines were flying in V formation when the propeller of one caught the tail of the leading machine. Both 'planes fell, one bursting into flames and coming down in a field, the other crashing on the bank of the river Wissey. Part of this machine was submerged in the river. Men rushed to help from Wissington Beet Sugar Factory, half a mile away, and tugs were sent up river with tools. Inhabitants of Stoke Ferry saw the planes collide and two men make parachute decent. The squadron only moved to Feltwell from Scampton a few days ago. 37 04 29 # c.26.1

Parts of Newnham College known as 'The Slums' include a number of small dark bedrooms which get no light at all and from which the view consists of a blank wall. Owing to congestion and overcrowding these are now used as students' bed-sitting-rooms. Some bathrooms are used for washing crockery and there is insufficient accommodation for food and coal storage. But some new rooms are large and light with basins fitted with hot and cold water. 37 04 29b # c.44.5

1937 04 30
Marshall's Aerodrome's special fire engine meets Air Ministry specifications for fire, first-aid and crash equipment. It is finished in fire engine red and black, the front seats are upholstered in best selected black hide and fitted with outsized fire and alarm bells. It is designed to meet any possible emergency with an impulse magneto which, together with the dash carburettor flooder and emergency gravity feed petrol tank ensures instant and easy starting in all weathers. 37 04 30 # c.26.1 # c.34.75

Mepal seat damaged – 37 04 30a

During the peak of the floods the river in Littleport rose to such an extent that several layers of sandbags were laid along Lynn Road to keep the water in. But a crowd of 250 people in a 'rough temper' had started to remove them. They claimed the bags had caused their houses to be flooded out and they didn't see why others shouldn't be flooded as well. They'd tried to stop River Board officials replacing them. This was a very serious matter as it would have harmed many people and caused damage in the fen 37 04 30b

May 1937 CDN

1937 05 01
The Cambridge bus strike is developing into a test of endurance and there seems little that can be done to bring about a settlement. Motorists, with seats to spare, have expressed a desire to help but are not clear how to set about it. The C.D.N. has therefore had a large number of labels printed bearing a blue cross which, when attached to a windscreen, will show willingness to pick up fellow townspeople going in the same direction who may desire a lift. People should stand at the ordinary bus stops and raise a hand if they see a car approaching. The labels may be obtained free at the News office 37 05 01

RAF stations open for Empire Day, Sutton Bridge – 37 05 01a

1937 05 03
The Rural Community Council's new advisory service for parish councils was launched at Cambridgeshire House. Burrough Green, Caxton, Coton, Gt Chishill, Newton and Longstowe were amongst 18 councils whose wish to affiliate were received. 37 05 03

Labour Party's May Day demonstration on Parker's Piece, 500 marches – 37 05 03a & b # c.33 # c.39

1937 05 04
Busmen march – photo – 37 05 04a #

1937 05 06
Cambridge councillors voted against the erection of a municipal crematorium. The practice was confined to a very small proportion of the population – only two percent – and it was undemocratic to call on the mass of ratepayers to foot the bill, especially when it was the well-to-do who used such a service. A crematorium was being erected by a private company and this would be entirely sufficient, there was no need for two. If the council had money to spend, they should erect an indoor swimming bath which would be a paying proposition 37 05 06 # c.21.2

1937 05 07
Bottisham Village College was opened by the President of the Board of Education. During the day the college houses 240 scholars in the senior school with a provided for the county library which will be used by students at evening classes. The warden's house and a house for women members of staff occupy a site opposite the main building. Adjacent is the junior school with a nursery for the under-fives and the Sir Hailey Stewart Clinic for the medical inspection of pupils. 37 05 07 & a Four members of George Challice's Band had a remarkable escape from serious injury. They were being driven back to Cambridge from a dance at the new Bottisham Village College when their car, a Riley Nine, skidded on the wet road, caught the verge and somersaulted several times. It finished up on the road with the wheels in the air. The occupants scrambled out with considerable difficulty. When an attempt was made to right the car, it fell to pieces. 37 05 07b # c.69.2

1937 05 08
During the last three months as much rain fell on the high lands as fell on the fen land. There has been much more damage to the high lands than ever was done to the fens and thousands of acres will never have a spring crop sown this year. The damage to the high lands is many thousands, compared to the fenlands' shillings and pence. But the Middle Level fen men put up a very fine advertising stunt, they are the finest Press agents that ever were and a tremendous lot of rot had been written about what had happened in the fens, Councillors were told. 37 05 08 # c.29

1937 05 10
Remarkably fine silken embroideries have been prepared for the embellishment of the thrones to be used at the Coronation of their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. The King's throne is adorned with the Royal Arms while the Queen's also carried her newly-granted Bowes Lyon arms. The Cambridge Tapestry Company was entrusted with the work of embroidering the backs of the thrones. All the preliminary drawings on linen were made in Cambridge and the work was completed at the company's premises at Ickleford, near Hitchin 37 05 10 # c.27

1937 05 11
It came as something of a surprise to most Cambridge people to find buses on the streets again after a strike of 17 days. When the Eastern Counties Omnibus garage doors opened on Hills Road pedestrians and even motorists stopped to see what would happen. Then drivers and conductors appeared in uniform. Managers say the men have returned to work unconditionally and there would be no victimisation; every man would be reinstated except those who had caused wilful damage to buses. 37 05 11 # c.26.46

Coronation programme – 37 05 11a # c.02

1935 05 12
Coronation Celebration rejoicing – 37 05 12a # c.02

Cambridge celebrated the coronation of King George V with a decorated vehicle display on Midsummer Common. The entries hardly reached the standard of the Jubilee procession and the crowds did not seem to be quite so thick, but the right spirit was present. Modern decorations in the shape of coloured electric bulbs and weatherproof materials were utilised to the full with triple garlands spanning Market Hill and central streets. The war memorial and the colleges were bathed with floodlighting 37 05 12b # c.02

St Ives Coronation procession, man dies – 37 05 12

At the Coronation celebrations one small tent attracted probably more interest than any other with the possible exception of the tea tent. It contained a Pye television apparatus and during the afternoon many availed themselves of the opportunity of seeing the actual Coronation procession taking place. Although Cambridge is almost out of range of Alexandra Palace, everything came through very well. Almost the only interference was experienced when the motor racing was being held in the area only a few yards away 37 05 12b # c.02 # c.27.8

1935 05 13
Coronation tv, p5

1937 05 14
Ely coronation celebrations – 37 05 14

1937 05 15
Chesterton church bells silent on Coronation Day – 37 05 15

Mayor's coronation medal, Cambridgeshire Regiment return from duty in London – 37 05 15a

1937 05 17
A police cordon was thrown round the Regal Cinema in the early hours of Sunday morning after PC Parker saw a man's head out of a bottom floor window. Two men ran away; one was brought down with a rugby tackle by a passing cyclist, Arthur Wright, another punched Inspector Witham with a knuckleduster. One was alleged to have packets of gelignite in his possession, another was found with fuse detonators. Later Scotland Yard's Flying Squad arrested a fifth man. 37 05 17a # c.34.6 # c.76.9
Crown Prince of Japan visits Cambridge – 37 05 18 # c.02

1937 05 19

Spanish children, p5

1937 05 20
Chesterton RDC told an inspector that the parishes of Histon, Impington and Girton together with Shelford and Stapleford were provided with a piped water supply but were entirely unsewered, although some properties were connected to surface water drains that discharged into watercourses passing through the inhabited parts of the parishes. The development of building estates had given rise to cess-pool areas of considerable magnitude with the danger of pollution of the sub-soil. The pumping plants would be electrically driven and would not spoil the appearance of the countryside, there would be no smell unless one broke down. But nearby house owners claimed they might have an effect on the value of properties 37 05 20 & a

Sir - What we have come to know as the Cambridge War Memorial was part of a three-fold memorial scheme which embraced a substantial grant to Addenbrooke's Hospital for extension work, a complete record in Ely Cathedral of the names of local men killed in the war or who died from wounds and the monument at the junction of Station Road. This was to commemorate all Cambridgeshire infantry and should be 'To Victory'. It was not to be a memorial to the dead but to the living. It is for this reason that we who pass the memorial do not lift our hats as we do at the Cenotaph in London – E.W.R. 37 05 20 # c.45.5 # c.62

1937 05 21
Stretham Parade Committee was favoured with a fine day for their annual event for charity, for the first time for several years. The parade was marshalled at the Cross by Messrs P.G. Lowe, P.W. Hazel and PC Boulton and, headed by Haddenham Silver Band, marched off on the tour of the village. The Parade Committee's banner was followed by a van decorated by ladies of the Nursing Association. Afterwards the procession formed up again at the Cross for a service conducted by the Vicar, Rev. S.S. Stitt, who was supported on the platform by the Rev A.R. Routledge, A. Westrupp and E. Stevens 37 05 21

1937 05 22
A wages tribunal was told that agriculture in the Isle of Ely was totally different from Cambridgeshire; the soil was more productive, the crops were apt to be heavier, the type of agriculture was more profitable. And yet there was a uniformed rate of wages for workers in both areas. Budgets were considered of families from Castle Camps, Swavesey and March where the father of a family of five earned only 35s 6d a week clear; he'd had had no Sunday suit or boots for six years 37 05 22 & a

Tradesmen's token issued by Thomas Powell Cambridge 1666 – 37 05 22b

1937 05 24
Basque refugees alarmed by military aeroplanes flying over their camp nr Southampton – 37 05 24 # c.45.6

An inquest into a worker at Shepreth Cement Works was told that trucks were let down into a tunnel under the lime clamps to be filled. Deceased had been clearing lime that was blocking the rail when he had been hit by a loaded truck that had run back after a rope broke. There was a clearance of six inches between the track and the wall with recesses in which a man could stand. A normal person would have heard the truck coming, but the man was more than slightly deaf. A verdict of 'Accidental Death' was recorded 37 05 24a

1937 05 26
A Melbourn grocer and provision merchant told the bankruptcy court that he'd been employed as a grocer's assistant by his father who'd died 40 years ago. He then left Melbourn but returned in 1905 to assist his uncle who was carrying on the business. It had been successful until 1922 when it was wound up. He'd then started as a grocer at the Cross but after three years the competition became too severe through the opening of other premises offering a dividend. He'd also collected fares for an omnibus company which he'd not accounted for. 37 05 26 grocer was Oscar C. Campkin

Bandstand, p5

1937 05 27
Aerial photo, p5
Congregationalism in Cambridge during C17 – history – 37 05 27a # c.83

1937 05 28
A.P. Herbert's Marriage Bill on divorce backed by University MP – 37 05 28
Ouse Catchment Board discuss floods and dredging river – 37 05 28a & b
Wimbish farm blaze – 37 05 28c

1937 05 29
Within the next few weeks about thirty Basque children brought to England following the terrible air raids at Bilbao and Gurnica will be arriving in Cambridge. They will be taken to Pampisford Vicarage where the children will remain for at least six months being looked after by volunteers from the University. As they are destitute provisions must be made for their welfare and beds, boots and clothes are required. 37 05 29 # c.45.6

Sir – today I wandered down to Christ's Pieces. Hearing the band I came to the entrance and behold there was a sign 'Admittance 3d'. I am told that an ancient footpath crosses there. But it must be kept select or perhaps a poor woman with her pram might mix with the few who have paid their threepence. Besides poor people cannot be expected to enjoy the music of a band. The hedge around the bandstand is thick enough to protect those inside from the gaze of the vulgar crowd. So we listened and looked at the band from the street. Cambridge knows how to keep the common herd in their place. But did I not hear somebody say that the people, not the council, own the park? – Canadian 37 05 29a # c.32.3 # c.69

Bull's diary has cowsheds behind shop in Hills Road – advertisers – 37 05 29a # c.27

1937 05 31
About 2,000 people gathered on Grange Road Rifle Range to see a display of first aid by the British Red Cross Society under air raid conditions. Three bombers from Duxford took part in the raid, exactly as though on active service. As they dived at speeds of 240 mph there were realistic bangs and clouds of smoke. People in the area rushed about screaming and collapsed wounded or from the effects of the gas. When the raid was over the rescue parties, clad in gas masks and decontamination suits commenced work. A musketry party fired on the 'planes during the raid 37 05 31 # c.45.6

Glorious sunshine and the tree-shaded beauty of Impington Park should have promised a record number of spectators at the County Agricultural Show. But attendance was well down. The reason was the Empire Air Display at Duxford Aerodrome – this is notoriously a mechanical age! But there was always something to see with cattle, sheep and goats coming under the judges' eye. His Majesty the King gained several prizes for his sheep from the Sandringham estate while both Chivers and Messrs Towgoods of Sawston had many entries in the pig classes.37 05 31a

June 1937 CDN

1937 06 01
The King of Egypt arrived in Cambridge on the first visit he has paid to the town. He had been expected at Clare College at about six o'clock but was late as he'd waited for His mother, the Queen, who'd booked a suite at the University Arms Hotel. The King strolled about Regent Street and visited Barbara Fuller's dog shop where he purchased a wire fox terrier puppy which he played with in the college. Very few people knew of his visit which was to meet Egyptian students. About twenty were introduced to him, many being members of the Pharoahs Club. 37 06 01b # c.02

Regal cinema raid – more details 37 06 01& a # c.76.9

1937 06 02
An R.A.F. Empire Day display saw hundreds flock to Wyton for their first close-up view of the splendid new air station and the machinery and men behind it. The display consisted of aerobatics by two Hinds, demonstrations by a Blenheim and by an instructor in a Tudor aircraft who showed the right and wrong way of flying. Three Gauntlets flew formation aerobatics and a plane loaded with bags of flour staged a low bombing attack on a motor car. Wyton's debut was a success in every way and there was not a single casualty of any kind. 37 06 02

1937 06 03
Ely Cathedral – 'such neglect should not exist' – 37 06 03

1937 06 04
The sale of building land in St Peter's Road Huntingdon is being held up because of a lack of proper sewage. Builders are only waiting for a decision on the extension of the sewerage scheme before putting the land up for auction. But the council had not said how much owners would have to contribute to the cost of £393. Councillors decided to ask the Ministry to sanction the scheme provided owners made a contribution if and when the land was built upon. A similar resolution was passed with regard to Anchor Lane. 37 06 04

Southery coal merchant trading at Littleport – 37 06 04

1937 06 05
The Cambridge Town Magazine, 'The Cam' comes to an end this month with its sixth number. It had hoped to give readers a better appreciation of the town, take an interest in current affairs and emphasise the importance of local trade. But there was a meagre response and it has not been a financial success. The final issue has an article on Cambridge in the '90s, the benefactors of Addenbrooke's Hospital and Cambridge post office. Illustrations include a drawing by H.M. Brock 'Start of the Mays' and a sketch of Ald Mrs Keynes 37 06 05 # c.04

1937 06 08
Radio Society set ups radio station near windmill at St Ives – 37 06 08

Many Cambridge Youth Hostellers attended the opening by Prof Trevelyan of a new hostel at Castle Hedingham, one of the most beautiful villages in Essex. It was an old malting house now transformed to accommodate 12 men and eight women with a large common room and a well-equipped kitchen with separate gas rings for cooking. Electric lighting has also been installed. It is the second hostel opened by the Cambridge Group which has been in existence for two years. 37 06 08a

1937 06 09
Emperor of Abyssinia at Trinity – 37 06 09 # c.02

A meeting at Cambridge Guildhall to raise funds for the Basque children's hostel at Pampisford brought several promises of 'adopting' children by guaranteeing fifteen shillings a week. There will be 29 young refugees at Pampisford Vicarage and volunteers were needed to do cleaning, carpentry and plumbing. Leah Manning described the terrible tragedy of Guernica and the conditions in Bilbao where everyone from the President to the poorest refugee had only black bread, coarse cabbage and a little rice to eat. 37 06 09a & b 37 06 12a # c.45.6

1937 06 10

The new headquarters of the Cambridge branch of the Royal Empire Society was opened at Harper House. The British Empire had been going through a period of depression and almost apologetic inertia 37 06 10

Nine men who worked on the fen banks at Soham Lode during the recent floods appeared in court charged with stealing a shovel each, the property of the Great Ouse Catchment Board. Several of the men said they had lost their own shovels and took another as 'compensation'. One said he had picked one up and taken it home, burying it in a sack in his back garden after he'd been told he would not get any money for his work. The Board had bought extra shovels which had been handed out before being branded; about 40 had gone missing along with 30 lanterns. 37 06 10a # c.29

The reconstruction of four bridges, Popeleys Bridge (Wisbech), Slade Lode Bridge (Chatteris). Brands Bridge and Benwick Bridge will be deferred as contractors cannot obtain the necessary steel for the work. But estimates the reconstruction of the road between Littleport Bridge and Brandon Creek were accepted by the Isle of Ely council. An application by Stretham Parish Council for a speed limit through the village and the widening of the Fordham Road near Green End was granted. 37 06 10b

1937 06 11
Coads, p3

1937 06 12
Millers audio equipment at Agricultural Show – 37 06 12
Leah Manning, p3

1937 06 14
The picturesque Rose Queen Festival which has become such a charming feature in Hardwick took place in a field on the outskirts of the village. A procession formed at the school and, accompanied by a percussion band of school children, paraded to the flower-bedecked platform erected under an ancient elm. There the retiring queen (Mary Dodson) gracefully relinquished her crown to her successor (Iris Kelly). The new monarch seated herself upon the throne, the toy trumpeters sounded a fanfare and everyone cheered. 37 06 14

George Hawkins, the Cambridge caterer, and his wife both sustained injuries in a motor accident. He was driving along Trumpington Street when one of the car wheels got into the run at the side of the road and the car collided with a lamp post. Another accident occurred at Pampisford Railway Station cross-roads when a van plunged down an eight-foot bank after a collision. The driver, Mr T.H. Marriott, a Duxford butcher, was trapped. When extricated it was found he had suffered a severe scalp wound and other injuries. 37 06 14a

1937 06 15
Car struck a telephone kiosk on Trumpington Road smashing it so completely that only the base remained; the roof land upside-down some distance away – photo – 37 06 15 # c.27.75

1937 06 16
